THE PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Take Up the Matter of Procedure for the Next Few Days-Rev. J. A. Madill Brought Into Prom'nence.

Ottawa, June 13.-Rev. J. A. Madill, of Winnipeg, formerly of Toronto, and at one time prominently connected with the P. P. A. movement, will be discussed by the General Assembly. The Presbytery of Winnipeg wants to take Mr. Madill into its field, but the Presbyteries of Stratford and Ottawa object. The matter came up morning under the head of applications for leave to receive ministers.

The assembly opened with devotional exercises, and then the programme for the next few days was considered. Rev. J. W. McMillan, of Lindsay, was appointed joint agent to act in the place of Dr. Warden, elected moderator. College reports will be taken this afternoon, and in that connection the signation of Dr. Proudfoot, of Knox College, Toronto, will be taken up. Home missions will be considered tonight.

Tomorrow morning unfinished reports of colleges will be received, afterwards an overture on the term of service of elders will be taken up, to be followed by the Sunday school committee report. On Friday afternoon, the committe on the old and infirm ministers will report. Foreign missions will be taken up on Friday night. The committee on statistics will report on Saturday morning. The report of the committee on probationers will be taken up afterwards. On Monday night Sir James Grant, president of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, will speak about tuberculosis, and afterwards Principal Mae-

Vicar, of Toronto, will speak of French evangelization. An amusing incident came up in connection with Mr. Madill's case. The extracts from the minutes of Paris Ont.) Presbytery, read that Mr. Maill should be received.

Rev. Dr. McMullen arose looking greatly surprised, and told the as-sembly that the Presbytery of Paris declared that the application to re-ceive Mr. Madill should be rejected. A general laugh followed, but Dr Warden held that it would be a dangerous precedent to change the extract in the assembly. All the papers in connection with Mr. Madill's case were referred to the committee on applications. A resolution was unanimously passed sking the government for a grant of land to each volunteer resident of the territories who was engaged in the South African war.

Topeka Daily Capital: The Kansas State Agricultural College has just sold in Kansas City 126 head of calves 12 months old. These calves were taken at weaning time and put in feed lots, and fed the same as fattening steers are usually fed. They gained an average of 400 pounds each and sold at the top market price. The remarkable feature of this experiment is that it required only 500 pounds of corn to make pounds of beef. On this account this experiment promises to bring about a radical change in the methods of producing beef on Kansas farms.

THE COLOR LINE IN MASONRY. Tacoma, Wash., June 13.-The Grand Lodge of Masons have rescinded the resolution adopted two years ago recognizing negro Masonry. The action of the lodge at that time was severely criticised all over the United States, and as a result, the next session of the grand lodge attempted to return to the old established principles, but the resolution was so artfully drawn that sister lodges refused to construe it, as an honest expression. The lodge has now in unmistakable language made its position known.

After paying this, Sir David Barbour considers the mines will be better off than before, as they will save £600,000 per year on dynaamite, owing to the abolition of the monopoly in that commodity. The Orange River colony will be unable for some years to meet the ordinary cost of administration and pay its share of the cost of the constabulary. "It cannot, therefore," says Sir David Barbour, "so far as can be forseen at present, pay anything toward the cost of the war." The Transvaal, he thinks, can, two years after conclusion of peace, begin, out of its ordinary revenue, to pay part of the cost of the war. He is unable ow to estimate how much.

PRISONER'S DESPERATE ATTEMPT!

To Kill Judge Bell and County Constable Cape.

The Man Had Been Convicted on a Charge of Stabbing a Female Companion.

Chatham, June 14 .- A desperate attempt was made by a prisoner to murder Judge Bell and County Crown Attorney Douglas in the county court yesterday afternoon.

Andrew Epherson, who had previ ously served a term for stabbing, was up on the charge of stabbing his paramour, Ida Litson. The crime was committed last April. The jury had 1eturned a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was remanded for sentence.

A DESPERATE DASH. A few preliminaries were being gone through with before proceeding with the next case, when Epherson made a dash from the prisoner's dock towards Judge Bell, the senior county judge. Just in front of him were lying the razors and knives used in exhibit in the stabbing case. Epherson seized the sharp razor and rushed towards the bench. Constable Charles R. Cape meanwhile had made an effort to stop the infuriated man, but he was hurled to the floor as if he were a feather-weight.

The greatest excitement prevailed throughout. The court room was crowded at the time, and pandemonium reigned supreme. In a re-markably short time the court was cleared, the prisoner removed to the cells below, and the court adjourned. The affair has created the greatest sensation here. Never before has such

The Viper's rial was pronounced to be completely satisfactory. Although she was nan-

BRIGADE MARCH THROUGH CITY.

Soldiers From Carling's Heights Made Brave Showing.

Thousands of Citizens Saw the Militia Regiments on Their Route March.

The soldiers' march through the city yesterday afternoon showed the citizens the good effect of a few days' drill. Hardly more than a week ago these men came into camp, having had previously very little drill, and that a year ago. Since coming here, however, they have been worked steadily and skillfully and the result was apparent yesterday.

o'clock and returned by way of Dundas, Richmond, Queen's avenue and Adelaide street. The brigade drum major, Sergt. Cockburn, of No. 1 Company, R. C. R. I., led the brigade at the head of the 26th regimental band, which was immediately followed by the brigadier, Lieut.-Col. Peters, D.O.C., Brigade Major Denison, C.M.G., and other staff officers. Lieut.-Col. McEwen's regiment, the 26th, which was the first in the line, has a number of good companies, which, however, are overshadowed always while on the march by the noticeable superiority of the Indian companies From the showing that they made yesterday, it can readily be understood why Col. Aylmer, in speaking of these companies last year, said that they were among the finest soldiers, physique, shooting, steadiness on parade, and all things considered, he had seen in Canada. The Lambton Regiment, under Lieut.-Col. Ellis, were undoubt edly the favorites among the spectators. The addition of putties to their uniforms, though not wholly attractive in its individual effects, betters the regimental appearance considerably. The Borderers never forgot that they were marching through lines of spectators and that comparisons assuredly follow. They marched their best all the time, and in doing so were in a class by themselves. The white helmets worn by the 32nd. Lieut.-Col. Weir's regiment, were in decided and pleasing contrast to the forage caps worn by the other regiments. it become a matter of show, instead of comfort, the caps cannot compare with the helmets; and the 32nd looked remarkably well. The largest regiment in the brigade was Lieut .- Col. Varcoe's, the 33rd. The splendid size of Col. Varcoe's men, more than their marching, excited comment. The march was a very warm undertaking, but the novelty of parading under the maples instead of on the sun-bleached hill, made amends for other discomforts. Col. Peters complimented the officers yesterday morning on having the best military district in the Dominion. He said that while at Niagara he was told this, but did not believe the statement. Since he had worked in this district, the found the men head and shoulders above any other district. The men were of a better class, older and much steadier and quieter.

The silver cup presented by Col. Ellis, of the 27th Regiment, to the company making the best shooting record in his regiment, will go to the 8th company, under Capt. Coulter this year. During the two past years the cup was held by the 6th company, which was then commanded by Capt. Coulter, who is now captain of the new 8th company. SUNDAY CLOSING OF THE PAN. Rochester, N. Y., June 13.-The appelre the Sunday closing of the Pan-American Expositnon, has ordered the Prospect of a Wholesale Lynching of Negroes at Foster Plantation.

Shreveport, La., June 13.-Late reports from the Foster plantation, where John Gray Foster was murdered yesterday, say a dozen or more frightened negroes

The Foster plantation is five miles east of this city, on the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railroad. Trouble has been brewing for some time between the negroes and the overseers. Foster, thinking he could succeed where the overseers had failed, started for the negro quarters yesterday. The negroes were gathered in a cabin, and he was some distance away when the shot which killed him was fired. was fired. was fired.

POTATO FAMINE POSSIBLE. Toronto, June 13.-A potato famine is threatened. Some time ago potatoes were selling so cheap that farmers rather than haul them to market for the 25 cents and 30 cents a bag offered fed them to their stock as a more profitable mode of disposing of them. Now that the new potato crop is late, men are scouring the country in all directions and cannot find potatoes. The price has gone up to 80 cents retail, and this morning 75 cents was asked in carload lots. ANOTHER DOWIE VICTIM. Milwaukee, June 13.—Mrs. H. C. Pendleton died at her home near Allen's Grove, Wis., Monday night in child birth, unattended by anyone but a Dowie deacon and elder. The coroner's jury Tuesday found that the woman came to her death from gross neglect and willful negligence on the part of her husband, H. C. Pendleton, Elder John H. Sayres and Deacon Mary C. Spiker, and recommended that they be held. Justice Ames refused to issue warrants on the ground that the of-fense is not covered by the statutes of Wisconsin.

Col. Loys Endcavoring to Have Fish Protected to Sept. 1st.

Thanks to the energetic action of Col. F. B. Under the existing law the season for bass throughout Ontario opens on June 16.

Col. Leys first sent a letter to Hon. Mr. Latchford, suggesting that the close season for bass in the River Thames, between London and St. Marys and London and Woodstock, be extended to Sept. 1. In the absence of Mr. Latchford, his secretary laid the matter before Premier Ross, who at cnce expressed his hearty approval of the idea. He pointed out, however, that the matter was one which rested entirely with the Federal Government. When Col. Leys made clear the necessity for immediate action, the matter was at once referred to the proper authorities, and the government officials at Toronto express the belief that the Dominion Government will at once empower Commissioner Bastedo to enforce the close season to Sept. 1 in the waters named. The premier also suggested that the close district include

First Case of Sunstroke This Morning—Yesterday's Sham Fight —Permanent Force Officers Surprised.

The soldiers on the heights are not anxious for a continuance of this weather. Though the men who have them are permitted to wear blouse shirts and straw hats, comfort even under these conditions is a very uncertain quantity. During the drilling operations yesterday, the Gunga Dins of the regiments were the busiest men on the field, and the quantity of water consumed was alarming. Envoys Feel It Necessary to Terminate the Dispute Re Chinese Indemnity.

Pekin, June 13.-Indications point to a probable, definite settlement of the ing of ministers, which is expected to take place Saturday. The ministers feel it is absolutely necessary that a strong effort should be made to terminate the affair.

New York, June 13 .- A special to the Herald from Pekin says: At the meeting of the diplomatic corps held yesterday (Tuesday) a reduction of the claims, as proposed by America, was definitely rejected. Secretary Hay's proposal to submit vouchers for the claim to the tribunal of the Hague was taken into consideration. If the ministers voice the views of their governments, there is hope for its acceptance. Russia made a concession by withdrawing her opposition, which has been most pronounced.

It is now apparent that the powers will group themselves together for the purpose of issuing bonds for the indemnity. The opposition of America to the proposed international guarantee has not been overcome.

London, Friday, June 14. Death of Ex-Premier Hon. A. S.

Hardy. The Hon. A. S. Hardy died at Toronto on Thursday night, after an illness of a few days, and subsequent to an operation on the Saturday previous for appendicitis. In a recent issue we gave an outline of the ex-Premier's career as law student, prominent member of the bar, Q. C., and Bencher; member-elect of the Ontario Legislature; member-appointed of the Ontario Government, under Oliver Mowat: Provincial Secretary; Minister of Crown Lands; and, on July 13, 1896, on the retirement of Sir Oliver Mowat, called to the Premiership of Ontario, which office he held up to a couple of years ago, when continued ill-health compelled him to retire. Other recognitions came to Mr. Hardy, such as the honorary degree of LL.D. from Toronto University, 1897. Though only in his 64th year, he had achieved all of success and distinction that could come to a public man in the chief Province of the Empire. It is known, too, he might have gone on the Bench had he desired and his health

We have said the Hon. A. S. Hardy had achieved high success and distinction; but it is more substantial praise to say he was one of the most upright one of the most useful of public men, No suspicion of improper personal advantage was in his case ever imputed. He always stood for the people in the long list of important legislative acts that stands opposite his name.

Impulsive in disposition, sometimes warm-tempered, yet large-hearted, as well as clear-minded, those who really knew Mr. Hardy could not help being attracted to him. Previous to his long illness, and at his prime, the ex-Minmier was a most powerful speaker, whether in parliamentary debate or on the public platform. He had a mastery of humor, and at his best had a sort of instinctive faculty of throwing | er motive, too. off condensed epigrammatic sentences like so many handfuls of literary pearls.

In choosing the Rev. R. H. Warden. D.D., to be Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, the highest honor the church can give has been worthily bestowed. Dr. Warden was a Western Ontario man for a term of years, as minister at Bothwell. For a considerable period he resided at Montreal, coming to Toronto, at the call denomination to the position of Treasurer and General Agent of the church. His erator is a special recognition of his great work in connection with the Million Dollar Century Fund movement. In his modest speech, at Ottawa, on assuming the chair, he was able to say that in all the sum of $1 .-400,000 had been raised. Of this, $800,-000 goes to clearing off local church debts and other local objects; while $600,000 goes to large general objects such as home and foreign missions, augmentation of ministers' stipends, education and various common pur-

Kipling has ability, if not genius; but it cannot be denied he has done much to vulgarize both language and literature.

President McKinley positively refuses to think of a third term for the United States Presidency. The good suggestion has been made that the regular should have. ### Strike.

The adjustment of difficulties existing between capital and labor has been the subject of discussion by economists almost ever since the time those two elements in production have been differentiated. Recent disclosures in connection with industrial conditions as existing in Dayton, Ohio, would seem to indicate that the immobility between capital and labor is something that it is difficult to overcome, or even to mitigate. The recent Dayton strike is significant as throwing some light on this particular phase of the labor problem.

The industrial concern under consideration is the National Cash Register Company, which has for the last seven years been under the presidency of J. H. Patterson. Mr. Patterson recognized the principle that well-paid free labor is cheaper and better in every way than grudging labor; and carried the principle still further, namely, that a contented worker surrounded by many of the advantages of modern luxury, is a cheaper factor in production in the long run than he who is paid a minimum wage and allowed to shift for himseif. He acted upon his belief. He provided his factories with every modern convenience. Not only were his manufactories almost ideal from a sanitary point of view, and his system of dealing with employes perfectly satisfactory, but he extended his liberality beyond the confines of his workshop.

The wives and children of the emploves were furnished with libraries. schools, free entertainments and lectures. Instructors were employed to impart a knowledge of the art of cooking to the grown-up daughters. Every inducement was held out to make home life attractive by surrounding the home with a radiance of flowers and by grassy lawns. Prizes were even offered those who produced the best results in the matter of increasing the attractiveness of their surroundings.

Co-operation was invited and liberally recognized in the matter of suggestions for improving the business. In fact, everything was done to identify each individual with the work of the factory. The fact that no fault was found with the employer on the score of ill-usage, or of parsimony in the matter of wages, is an indication as to the success in this respect. Mr. Patterson himself was satisfied. He said that he had not in the least been actuated by philanthropic or charitable motives. It never entered his head to pauperize his employes. The ideal conditions with which he surrounded them were solely the result of business calculation. He did it because it paid. Perhaps he had a high-

His humaneness is also to be seen in his dealing with his factory girls. Their surroundings while at their work, without doubt, surpassed those of any other establishment in the world where women are employed. "The long, light, airy rooms, with their wax-like cleanliness, and their dainty little touches of feminine decoration here and there," says an observer, "in which these girls worked, suggests rather more a combination of summer resort and girls' boarding school than a place where young women are engaged in the serious occupation of earning a living." The following excerpt describes the conditions with which these girls were surrounded:

"The very hours of work themselves as contrasted with those that prevail in most factories which are not even considered hard seem almost gro-grotesque in their generosity. Eight o'clock in the morning is the hour when they must report. Twenty minutes after 5 in the afternoon is the time when they quit. In the interval the least, refreshing. there is a full hour for luncheon. In addition to this there is a recess in the morning of ten minutes and another in the afternoon of the same in

"The luncheon is served in a bright very gayly decorated room at the top of the building. It is fairly radiant, this working girls' refectory. Over on one side is a cosy alcove with easy chairs. Over in another corner is a with near it a long table covered with all the latest magazines. The ceiling is hung, from one end to the other with artificial flowers-the same which served as the Easter decorations of one of New York's large mercantile concerns, and were purchased and brought here by Mr. Patterson at no very light expense, considering that it was a mere whim to furnish something bright and cheerful for the eyes of a factory girl to rest upon during her noon-day hour of rest and refresh ment.

"Not one of the girls in the factory has to climb a foot of stairway to reach this cosy resort at the top of the building. For ten minutes after the ringing of the luncheon bell, the elevator runs exclusively for their bene fit, to take them from the place where they work to the dining-room. the luncheon that is served, each girl pays 5 cents. It costs the company 6 cents to put it upon the table, for the work alone of cooking and providing for 300 hungry factory girls is no small item, to say nothing of the outlay for the equipment of the kitchen and the table furniture. "Connected with each dressing-room there is a bathroom with porcelain tubs and every little detail and comfort and convenience that a bathroom free as the water which runs into the bathtub itself. In addition to this, each girl is kept provided with a fresh, clean apron, which covers her street dress, and absolutely protects her from the soil of her work, and with the apron there also go a pair of sleeves to cover the sleeves of her gown. These are laundered by the establishment and furnished free of cost to each girl. But even that is not all. There is the 'Rest Room'—a dainty little sort of semi-hospital, where the girls may go who feel tired and overdone, who have a headache, or any of the little ills which a man is supposed

The Much - Talked - Of Dayton never to mind, but to go on working just the same."

We have dwelt somewhat at length on what we consider are ideal conditions surrounding labor. The question naturally arises as to the cause of the strike, the incentives which induced the employes of the National Cash Register Company to kill the goose that laid the golden egg; for so far as we can learn this industrial Utopia may not continue.

The crux of the trouble lies in the fact that, while employing union labor, the company did not recognize the labor unions; they employed nonunion men also. Those belonging to the labor union objected to this, and the non-compliance on the part of the company led to the closing down of the establishment.

After all that has been said on both sides, it seems that popular sympathy is on the side of the company. They invited arbitration, and evinced every desire to settle difficulties. Trade unions are in many cases doubtless necessary. But after all, they exist simply for the securing and maintenance of the rights of labor as against capitalistic aggression. Looking at matters from such a viewpoint, we cannot exonerate the Dayton strikers in the move they have taken. They were entirely beyond the question of rights; they possessed privileges which surpassed the most sanguine desires of numbers of established labor unions. We fail to see how such a strike can be justified, and feel that if a labor dispute were ever in order in this ideal community of workers, the time for it is when they feel the hand of capitalistic aggression pressing their social liberty.

The employers are said to have offered to submit all questions at issue to arbitration, and it is to be regretted that the employes did not promptly put themselves in the right by accept-

BODY TRAVELED 10,000 MILES

Remains of U. S. Soldier Reach London From Philippines.

Was Son of a Farmer Living Near Crumlin and Died on March 17.

The first body of a human being to come to London after a journey of nearly 10,000 miles, arrived here yesterday on the G. T. R. express from Sarnia. The body was that of Axel Ferdein, a private in M Company, 4th Infantry, United States army, and a son of Mr. John Ferdein, a farmer living near Crumlin. Pte. Ferdein died in the Philippines on March 17, of cirrhosis of the liver. A month later the body left Manila, several thousand bodies of United States soldiers being shipped at the same time for interment in their native soil. The bodies reached San Francisco several weeks ago, but it was not till June 7 that Ferdein's body left that city on its journey east. The remains first went to Buffalo, and were then sent back to Port Huron. All expense of transportation within the United States were borne by the government of that country, and all the charges incurred by Mr. Ferdein, the dead soldier's father, were those from Port Huron to London.

On the arrival of the train here, the body was taken in charge by Clark & Smith, and removed to their undertaking rooms. The outer covering of the casket was a stout pine shell. Its removal disclosed an attractive casket of imitation antique oak. This, on being opened, was found to contain a hermetically sealed copper shell. The removal of the cover, disclosed the remains, which, though somewhat dis-colored, were found to be in a good state of preservation, considering the time which has elapsed since death. The dead man was a fine-looking soldier, about 30 years of age. The body was clothed in a white duck uniform, with gilt buttons, bearing the figure of an eagle. Over the top a strip of

Toronto Syned—Hon. S. H. Blake's

Warning Note.

Toronto, June 13.—The "Puritan Sunday" got some hard knocks this morning at the meeting of the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto. A deputation was present from the Lord's Day Alliance, led by Mr. J. K. MacDonald, asking for the co-operation of the synod in preserving the Lord's Day. After they had been given a hearing it was moved that a committee be appointed to co-operate with the alliance.

Mr. C. R. W. Biggar made a vigorous protest against any indorsation of the Whole course of the alliance. Some of its members regarded the restoration of the Puritan Sunday as the sum of all good, but the synod would be false to its duty and to Scripture teaching if it did anything toward the restoration of the Puritan Sunday.

No man in public life could desire more consideration at the hands of honorable members than that which has been extended to me during that time, and I need hardly assure them that it is with great regret that I am them as a public man. #### SCIATICA.

Strong Testimony of Emigrant Commissioner the Hon. George Starr, as to the Power of Radway's Ready Relief in a Case of Sciatic Rheumatism.

Van Ness Place, New York.

Dr. Radway—With me your Ready Relief has worked wonders. For the last three years I have had frequent and severe attacks, sometimes extending from lumbar regions to my ankles, and at times to both lower limbs. During the time I have been afflicted I have tried almost all the remedies recommended by wise men and fools, hoping to find relief, but all proved to be failures.

I have tried various kinds of baths, manipulation, outward application of liniments too numerous to mention, and prescriptions of the mest eminent physicians, all of which failed to give me relief.

Last September, at the urgent request of a friend (who had been afflicted as myself), I was induced to try your remedy. I was then suffering fearfully with one of my old turns. To my surprise and delight the first application gave me ease, after bathing and rubbing the parts affected, leaving the limbs in a warm glow, created by the Ready Relief. In a short time the pain passed entirely away. Although I have slight periodical attacks, approaching a change of weather, I know now how to cure myself and feel quite master of the situation. Radway's Ready Relief is my friend. I never travel without a bottle in my valise. Yours truly, GEORGE STARR.

RHEUMATISM

I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for more than six months. I could not raise my hands to my head or put my hands behind me or even take off my own shirt. Before I had finished three-fourths of a bottle of Radway's Ready Relief I could use my arms as well as ever. You can see why I have such great faith in your Ready Relief. Yours truly, W. C. BAKER, your Ready Relief. Yours truly, Eoet and Shee Factory, 939 Julia st., New Orleans.

IMMEDIATE ASSISTANCE.

There are many complaints where immediate assistance is required to suspend and check diseased action. In cases of this kind R. R. Relief is an important and intallible assistant, in many cases curing the patient "before the doctor reaches the house." Croup, Diphtheria, Influenza, Cramps, Spasms, Burns, Scalds, Accidents, Bruises, Falls, Gunshot Wounds, Poisonous Bites of Dogs, Snakes, Stings of Insects, etc., etc. In a few moments the wonderful properties of the Ready Relief are exhibited and the disease arrested and exterminated before it is developed.

Dr. Radway—I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicines. Some time ago my husband was taken down with the grip and lung fever. It came on him with a chill in the night. It happened I had a supply of your medicine in the house at the time. I rubbed his chest and back with the Radway's Ready Relief. I gave him a teaspoonful ma little hot water to drink, to help warm and stimulate him, and in about half an hour three of the Radway's Pills. By the time the doctor came the next morning he was much better. The doctor wanted to know what I had been doing. I told him. He said that was good, that they were good medicines. Another case I had was with my little nephew who was staying with me. He was taken with croup. I rubbed his chest, throat and back with the Ready Relief, gave him doses about an hour apart, followed it by a dose of pills. By the next day he was running about all right. I have been using this medicine, with my family and my neighbors, for about thirty years, and never knew it to fail. I would feel greatly obliged to you to please forward me your book "False and True." You are at liberty to make use of this testimony as you may think proper.

Yours respectfully,

Yours respectfully, MRS. ELIZA DUNN,

Jacksonville, Morgan County, Ill.

and loving heart, had been employed in their arrangement, while on a small table, just in front of the altar, and draped to the floor with graceful vines, there stood an immense basket filled solely with great perfect water lilies, mingled with lilies of the valley.

As her eyes fell upon this lovely tribute, Shirley felt a conscious thrill run through all her nerves, and she knew at once that Neil Wallace alone had adorned the place for her bridal.

Her intuitions were correct; for, at an earlier hour, the young man, together with a florist, had taken possession of the place and personally superintended the arrangement of everything; while his own hands alone had grouped, with tender care and reverent touch, the spotless flowers in the basket, which, though much larger, were the exact counterpart of the one he had server to the much larger, were the exact counterpart of the one he had sent up to Shirley's room on the morning after that ever memorable battle for the life of his child.

ever memorable battle for the life of his child.

Shirley thought, with starting tears, that nothing could have been more delicately thoughtful or beautiful, and a solemn joy thrilled her heart with the consciousness of possessing the friendship of a man so noble and true.

The service was short and impressive; and when at last the vows were uttered which made them husband and wife, the happy couple returned to the hospitable home of Mrs. Wilbur, who had prepared a dainty wedding breakfast in honor of the fair girl who had so endeared herself to every inmate of the house during her brief residence there.

Everything passed off very pleasantly, in spite of an undercurrent of regret on the part of Clifton that none of his family were present to sympathize with him in his new happiness, and at one o'clock the carriage came to take him and his young wife to the Grand Central Station, whence they were to start upon their tour through the mountains and lakes in the northern part of the state.

Madame Marton found it difficult to gleam of intense satisfaction in her eyes.

"But—but it must have cost a great deal to have them reset," faltered Shirley, puzzled to know where the money had come from. "And can you bear the part with them after having had them so many years?"

"Well, I have some left even now." said madame, with significant emphasis; "and as for the cat—if I am to be taken care of all the rest of my life, I reckon I could afford to make you a little wedding present—eh?"

"A little-one!" repeated Shirley, wi an appreciative sigh. "They are very lovely, and will be all the more precious to me because you have had them so long and worn them yourself."

"Bless you, child! You couldn't have thanked me in a sweeter way, that's what I call a spirit of true appreciation." And the deeply-moved woman bent, and for the second time, voluntarily kissed the lovely face uplifted to hers. The morning of the wedding dawned in cloudless beauty, while the day proved to be unusually cool for the season, owing to a brisk easterly breeze, and at the hour appointed the happy young couple entered the chapel of—ther solemn yow to each other.

The bride was very fair and lovely in her dainty traveling suit of delicate gray cashmere, exquisitely trimmed with silk of the same shade, and a becoming little hat of the same hade, and a becoming little hat of the same material, simply adorned with a beautiful algrette of pearls, mounted in silver, on her golden crowned head. "I felt a sudden chill in spite of the heat; but it has passed and I am all right now."

He entered the vehicle and, lifting his hat to the group of watchers on the steps, they were driven away.

"I's bad luck to go back for anythine" muttered Madame Marton, as she slowly went up to her room to wipe away in secret tears which she had fought so hard to restrain while Shirley was in secret tears which she had fought so hard to restrain while Shirley was in sight.

The same thought had forced itself upon Clifton just as he reached the sidewalk, and with such startling abruptness that it sent a shiver of dread thrilling throughout his frame.

He was not supertitious—he had a sensible contempt for everything that savored of belief in hackneyed signs or omens; but that strange sensation had come upon him with such an appalling impression of impending evil that he involuntarily betrayed something of it.

Upon their arrival at the Grand Central Station they found a great crowd. Large numbers of people were departing upon their summer vacations. It seemed as if there had never been an exodus from the city before, while the baggage which was fast piling up, waiting to forwarded to its various destinations, was something heretofore unknown in railway experience.

Clifton was unable to find a seat for Shirley in the waiting-room, so she told him she would wait by the door and watch for him until he came back from having their baggage checked, when they would go directly to the parlor car, where they had chairs already engaged.

"These porters are very careless," Clifton muttered, as he eyed the overloaded truck, "and there will be a serious accident here some day if they do not use more caution."

OMAHA'S OLD BOYS IN LINE

Western City Will Send Big Contingent to Reunion.

Interesting Sketch of the Old Boys Movament by an Omaha Writer.

Love of "Old Nick" brought the "London Old Boys" into being, says the Omaha Sunday World-Herald, and now each year the old city of London, Ont., has a day fixed on which the whole population turns out to welcome the "old boys" on their home-coming from the four quarters of the earth. And they all go to see "Old Nick," including over a score of Omaha men. Fifty-four years ago and over "Old Nick" arrived in London to become one of its pedagogues. He was not called "Old Nick" then, but was addressed as Mr. Nicholas Wilson. Boys who now are old men and have traveled many decades the weary round of life, learned their first school les-sons from Mr. Wilson. Middle aged men by the hundred did the same. Next came the young men to whom Wilson is a recent memory. And now are the boys who are just beginning heights. While the whole affair was school life with the same tutor who instructed their grandfathers away back in the first half of the century that is gone. It was in January, 1897, that "Old Nick" completed the fiftieth year of his career as a school teacher, and the his career as a school teacher, and the notion came to a number of his old pupils to make him a present. The idea spread like wildfire among them all, and delegations of Nick's old boys came in from all around the boys came in from all around the country to help him celebrate the jubilee. A silver casket filled with one thousand dollars in gold was the prin-cipal present, but tokens of all kinds | The fact is that the invaders greatup to a big celebration.

Then in 1899, Chicago had also organized, and there were three associations at the reunion. And last year the climax was capped by not only these three, but also associations from Hamilton, Sarnia, Windsor, Aylmer and St. Thomas, Ont.; Cleveland, O.; New Haven, Conn.; Omaha, Neb.; Des Moines, Ia.; and Cincinnati, O. heavy was the outpouring of the "Old Boys" that Chicago alone had two special trains, with the First Regiment band, and all the accessories of a swell

It is a handsomely and profusely illustrated periodical, filled with stories of the old home town row! the old home town and the people that live there, and of the other cities throughout the whole world, where there are colonies of the Old Boys, with stories of their good luck and mishaps.

These are the stories told the little monthly gatherings, sometimes with luncheon and cigars, and always informal and cheerful, such as the Omaha Old Boys enjoy.

THE BATTLE OF CARLING'S HEIGHTS

A Spirited Conflict Under Active Service Conditions-Opinion of a Spectator.

A camp correspondent writes: Last Wednesday occurred the famous battle of Carling's Heights, when all the forces under canvas were busily engaged under actual service conditions. The 26th and 32nd Regiments, with the Hussars as a scouting and flanking force, were the invaders, while the 27th and 33rd Regiments defended the

That very summer, the Londoners other around the railroad cars like a soon as the attackers so exposed them selves, a withering fire was poured in on them that would certainly have annihilated them had the business been "for keeps." On the right, some of the invaders appeared near the barracks, and were repelled at such close range that some were almost put out of business by the force of the concussion. The opinion of African campaign veterans on the grounds was that, had the affair taken place in earnest, all the attacking force would have been hurriedly interred the day after the conflict. In fact, Major Denison was heard to remark that about three of

The mock fight easily demonstrated the tremendous advantages enjoyed by a defending force entrenched against any number of attacking forces. Many deeds of great heroism were performed during the day, and a long list of whom is Brevet-Major O'Neil, of the 27th, a veteran of the American civil
