

CHAS. THOMPSON GAVE ROOSEVELT FINE CHARACTER

Travelled Extensively With Ex-President and Never Saw Him Intoxicated.

At Washington There Were No Rumors of His Being Addicted to Liquor.

[Canadian Press.]—Theodore Roosevelt's final suit against George A. Newett was resumed today in the Marquette court.

Charles Willis Thompson of New York, for many years a Washington correspondent and since 1908 a political writer for a New York paper, testified.

"As Washington correspondent," he said, "I used to go to the White House to see Mr. Roosevelt. I saw him usually alone, sometimes in the morning and sometimes in the afternoon, usually in his office, but sometimes when in order to lose a moment in his work he received visitors while lying in the bath-chair. I never detected the odor of liquor on his breath, never saw him in the slightest degree under the influence of liquor, and never saw his manner in any way changed from his ordinary one."

"Ever go on any trips with him?"

"I was with him on his 11,000-mile swing around the circle last year, which lasted a month. I afterwards joined him at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, when he was shot; stayed there until he went to Oyster Bay; went there with him and stayed until the election."

"On these trips did you see much of him?"

"I saw him constantly, all hours of the day and night, and never saw him take a drink or be affected by liquor. Whenever he left the car I followed him."

Asked whether there had been any discussion in Washington of his drinking habits the witness replied: "I never heard it discussed during the seven years that he was there. It was discussed in the newspapers outside of Washington, and it was my business to know every rumor that was floating around in that city. It was what I was there for."

WILD WEST WAYS BY SAUCY CARS OF ST. RAILWAY

Belt Line Conductor Bucked From His Steed and Turns Triple Flip-Flap.

While a Giddy Ottawa Does the Turkey Trot and Un-saddles Rider.

The street cars of London have been seeing too many moving pictures of the bucking broncho kind lately, or they feel a renewal of life since the new turbine apparatus has been installed, or something like that.

For instance, Belt Line car No. 19 has been feeling very frisky. In so far as a car is able it has been kicking its rear trucks up in the air, switching its tail, and making some plunges that would have struck terror in the heart of a Calgary stampede rider.

Buster F. Cline was in the saddle, and he had been pushing his car for weeks over hard places, and loading it down with passengers. Occasionally he would hammer his fare against its sides, but owing to the fact that the feed was somewhat off, it could not retaliate. But Saturday when the first installment of the new juice filled its veins, it began to realize that it could buck a few yet.

"Wait till we strike a soft spot and I'll throw this guy into the middle of the next week," clattered the car to itself.

Double Flips.

The soft spot presented itself Wednesday afternoon, when the car was bumping along near Victoria Park, where the tracks are close to the grass. The conductor, leaning against the rear end, contemplating the beauties of nature, aided and abetted by the parks commissioner, when the car gave a switch to the windmills and landed the con. after a series of double flips and somersaults, high on the sward. Luckily, cacti plants have not been included in the parks program of civic beautification.

The car was pulled up short, and the conductor took his place again, resolving to get splices in his shoes when next he rode No. 19.

Tried Turkey Trot.

An Ottawa car exhilarated with the new elixir, felt so good the same afternoon that it did the turkey trot all around the line and played crack-the-whip at each of the 232 sharp turns. At one of the sharp curves in the south end it flicked Conductor G. Rodgers into the middle of the road on all fours, and hurt his dignity.

Since the cars started to be playful, the other conductors are talking of flogging themselves to the platform poles. Their trips to the front of the car are now being described as the "Con's Convulsion."

FIVE SUSPECTS

Police Are Trying To Locate Murderer of James Archibald.

[Canadian Press.]—Vancouver, B. C., May 29.—Five suspects are under arrest on account of the murder of Police Constable James Archibald, who was found dead in a vacant lot yesterday with several bullets in his heart and his revolver missing. The police decided to give information, but say one suspect had a revolver when arrested.

An Interesting Letter From Vancouver WESTERN CITY TELLS OF ITS EXPERIENCE WITH INCINERATOR ADOPTED BY LONDON; 78 CENTS TON COST OF GARBAGE BURNING

Mr. P. Wylie Says That Only Certain Kinds of Refuse Can Be Handled and That Plant Must Be Closed Down for Cleaning—Ald. Johnston Still Maintains That Plant Is Too Small

It would need a deep-sea diver to get to the bottom of the incinerator matter. The latest revelation of the change in the penalty clause has called out general discussion among rate-payers, but the end is not yet.

The Advertiser has just received a letter from Mr. P. Wylie, superintendent of the city scavenging department of Vancouver, B. C. In the course of an inquiry which involved a large correspondence The Advertiser was informed that Vancouver had an incinerator of the Heenan and Froude type, and a letter was sent asking the success which had attended its installation. Mr. Wylie writes an extended reply, parts of which have no local application, but those which bear upon the subject are herewith given:

"The first plant built was put in by Heenan & Froude (for whom Laurie & Lamb, of Montreal, are the Canadian representatives). This plant is designed to handle garbage mixed with ashes. The plant is not adapted to handle light refuse, fruit, manure, etc. In order to handle this class of town waste furnaces must have a larger area of drying hearth, without which they cannot handle the class of garbage I refer to."

"The usual method of aldermen dealing with problems of this kind is played out. The most progressive cities now refer matters of this kind to men who are competent to give advice."

"The collection and disposal of municipal waste is a problem that town councilors can know little or nothing about. And when such matters come up they should be dealt with only by men who are competent to pass an opinion. This would be good business, good policy and good common sense."

"The capacity of the plant is 50 tons per day of 24 hours, and the cost of burning 78 cents per ton."

"So far as the burning quality of this plant is concerned, there can be no question as to its efficiency. The main kick on the plant is the high cost of burning. This, of course, is one of the main points to consider. This plant has also to be closed down in order to clean out, and this is an objectionable feature."

Mr. Wylie's information opens up another chapter for the consideration of citizens. First: Is London's incinerator of a type that will handle only certain kinds of refuse? Second: Is 78 cents a ton to be paid to maintain the destructor, and will the eight-tenths of a mill charge against all city property for the maintenance of the incinerator be sufficient to provide the amount that will be required?

London does not know. London does not know anything about it. The mayor of London took the matter out of the hands of the engineers, and did not believe that any engineering advice was necessary.

Ald. Johnston Wanted Tenders.

Ald. Johnston, who sought to have tenders called for while in the council last year, stated at that time that he had figured out that the incinerator would not have a capacity sufficient to handle the garbage collected in the city of London. The mayor said in reply that "London would get another if that was not big enough."

Mr. Johnston is still of the opinion that his contention was right.

"I told the mayor at the time that there would be trouble if tenders were not called for," he said. "I was not satisfied with the manner in which the deal was put through."

Round Robins Being Circulated by Members Asking for an Increase.

Expect That General Election Will Take Place Early Next Year.

[Canadian Press.]—Ottawa, May 29.—An increase in the indemnity for members and senators is one of the developments at Ottawa marking the closing of the session. At present members and senators receive $2,500 a session. A number of them think they are not sufficiently paid, and say the amount should be doubled. Round robins are being circulated among members on both sides of the House asking that the indemnity be increased to $5,000.

If the indemnity is not increased there is every prospect for a "bonus" session of Parliament in the autumn. Many members believe that the Government will take this way of rewarding members for the strenuous work they have done this session. They also believe that the autumn session, at which a redistribution bill is to be introduced will be followed by a general election.

It is held that the declaration made by Premier Borden that he would appeal to the people should the Senate reject the navy bill, will have to be substantiated. The election is likely to take place early next year.

The autumn session would probably last a couple of months, as a redistribution bill is always a contentious measure, and it would take some time to pass it. The two Houses of Parliament.

PREPARING FOR ELECTION; ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED FROM MR. BORDEN SHORTLY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 29.—It is regarded as certain that Mr. Borden will in a few days announce that Parliament will meet in the autumn to pass a redistribution bill. This will give the Government a year in which to organize for an election.

In the meantime it will hope for something to turn up that will give a pretext for further delay.

The Liberal majority in the Senate will have been naturally reduced by death, though it cannot be wiped out in a year.

The redistribution is expected to be an adroit gerrymander.

The Senate will dispose of the naval bill this week. The division on the amendment of Sir George Ross, declaring that there must be an appeal to the people, will be carried by a substantial majority. The division may take place tonight. It certainly will occur not later than tomorrow. It is expected that one, possibly two senators who were appointed by the Laurier Government, will vote against Sir George Ross' amendment, and it is intimated that one or more of the Conservative senators may vote for the reference of the bill to the people.

AMERICAN LINER HAVERFORD RAN ON ROCKS IN DENSE FOG

Has Asked for Help to Take Off the Thousand People on Board—Steamer Was Badly Damaged by Explosion in 1906.

[Canadian Press.]—Queenstown, May 29.—The American Liner Haverford went ashore today in a dense fog in the vicinity of Daunt Rock, which she is supposed to have struck. She is making water forward and has requested tug to disembark her passengers. She is believed to have a thousand persons on board, of whom 150 are second class and the remainder steerage.

The Haverford took a large number of passengers on board at Liverpool for Philadelphia, and about 100 Irish passengers were waiting for her here, but did not get on board.

The sea is smooth, but the shore along this coast is very rocky and the fog continues dense.

Sending Help.

The admiral of the port has arranged to send the Government tug Hellespont to the assistance of the Haverford. Wireless reports received from the stranded liner say that her steam pumps are being prepared to be used in case of need. Hellespont is a pineapple-shaped submerged tug, about 5½ miles southwest under ten feet of water, and rises from the entrance of Cork harbor. It lies a rocky bed of considerable size. It is usually avoided by vessels bound for Cork harbor.

A Dangerous Rock.

On May 24, 1911, the Canadian liner Ivernia struck Daunt Rock during a fog, tearing a great hole in her forward compartments. She was carrying 775 passengers, none of whom were hurt. She got off without assistance.

The Haverford has accommodation for cabin passengers and steerage passengers.

The Haverford suffered from a serious explosion on board at Liverpool in July, 1906, when 12 were killed and 40 injured. She was built in 1901. Her length is 531 feet, and her breadth of beam 59 feet. Her gross tonnage is 11,635, and her net tonnage 7,433.

She is one of the vessels of the American Line of the International Mercantile Marine Company.

Two tugs which left the Haverford with 700 passengers on board, are now coming into Queenstown. The tug Hellespont and another tug are alongside the liner, so there is little doubt that all the passengers and crew will be saved.

INCREASE FOR C.P.R. SHOPMEN

Ten Per Cent Added To Wages of Nearly Ten Thousand Workmen.

FIFTY AFFECTED HERE

[Canadian Press.]—Montreal, May 29.—As a result of the negotiations which have been in progress here for the past two weeks between delegates of the Federated Shop Trades and the officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway, arrangements have been arrived at whereby all the employees of the mechanical and car departments on the company's eastern lines, some 9,000 in number, will receive increases amounting to about 10 per cent over their present rate of pay. Time and a half will also be allowed for overtime, and work on legal holidays.

Acting Premier Mitchell Will Make Speech at Brooks, Alberta.

[Canadian Press.]—Calgary, May 29.—Acting Premier Mitchell, for whom George Lane, Liberal victor in Bow Valley riding at the recent election, resigned, left Calgary for Brooks today to start his campaign. It is understood Harold Riley, who made the race against George Lane, will again stand in the constituency for the Conservatives.

Mrs. Pankhurst in a Very Weak State

Leader of the Militants Has Not Eaten Anything Since Being Arrested.

[Canadian Press.]—London, May 29.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, has taken no food since she was arrested and taken again to Holloway jail. She is said to be in a very weak state, owing to her reduced vitality consequent on her previous "hunger strikes," which lessened her powers of resistance. According to other suffragette leaders her release may be expected at any hour. Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, in the House of Commons today confirmed the statement that no steps had been taken to approach the French Government concerning Miss Christabel Pankhurst, whose extradition it was reported was to be asked for.

THE SURPLUS.

The budget debate brought out the fact that this year there would be an unprecedented surplus of $55,000,000. As indicating the increasing volume of Canada's trade, and the presumably increasing prosperity of the country, the exhibit was highly satisfactory, and the Conservatives are entitled to be jubilant over the fact. Of course, they do not suggest that this surplus came under the operations of the Fielding tariff, and we notice that some of our Liberal contemporaries object to this oversight.

But, after all, was there not some justification for this Conservative silence as to the Fielding tariff, and for the attempt to secure all the credit for the surplus? Nominally, the tariff has not been altered, but there are some features of the case which have been overlooked. Mr. Cockshutt, the Conservative member for Brantford, in the course of the debate, pointed out one. He claimed that the increase in customs returns had been largely brought about by more stringent rulings of the department. Wherever possible, the department always gave a ruling in favor of the highest rate of duty. It never gave the purchaser the benefit of a doubt; it always ruled in its own favor, and thus incidentally gave the Canadian manufacturer the advantage of a higher rate. To put it mildly, the tariff laws have been manipulated to increase the surplus, and help the manufacturer, at the expense of the consumer. This is not the charge of a Liberal; it is the complimentary statement of a Conservative. If it is true, and it is the statement of a friend of the Government, who ought to know what he is talking about, then it means that the Conservative administration has been actually making the tariff more highly protectionist than it was before.

Of course, there is another reason for an increased revenue from customs duties, and that is the increased price of goods imported. If a consumer has to pay much more for a certain imported article today than he did five years ago, then he will have to pay a larger sum in duties than he did, even though the actual tariff remains the same. How far this has been the case we have no means of estimating, but it doubtless has had its effect.

Under these circumstances, what would seem to be the proper course for a Government having the welfare of the people at heart? Evidently to reduce the tariff. To collect from the people $55,000,000 more than is necessary for the needs of the Government is to levy an exorbitant tax. To accumulate such a surplus is simply to give opportunity and excuse for extravagance in administration.

When a Liberal Government was in power it lowered the tariff as far as it could, consistently, with the requirements of the country, and without unduly injuring any Canadian interests. Finally, it went to defeat in an effort to take the tax off natural products, and at the same time give our farmers a larger market. The main object of the Conservative Government seems to be to get all it can out of the people. That may suit the vested interests of protected beneficiaries, but it is hard on the average man. He finds the cost of living increasing, and at the same time the Government runs up the tax bill.

EXIT OPIUM.

A good deal has been said and very loudly of late about the iniquitous opium traffic between India and China. That has been the blot on the British seutcheon for 60 years and more. It is a bad stain to rest under the words "Honi soit qui mal y pense."

What can missionaries do with a people degraded below the gospel capacity by a paralyzing vice? It has been bad enough to take bad whiskey to the "lesser breeds without the law," but opium is damnation that no gospel antidote can cure. And yet the great British nation has been forcing China to receive it.

Now the Chinese people is awakened to self-conscious national pride and longs to work out its own salvation, with all the help, at the same time, that the accident can give. They have been doing wonders in the suppression of the opium vice, but as fast as they house-clean British India, backed by British power is throwing dirt in through the windows. At last, however, the British Government has made the satisfactory announcement that the traffic is coming to an end. In the House of Commons recently a question from a Welsh member elicited the information that after about one year hence "we should never again send an ounce of opium to China."

This is good news. The opium trade has been an unpleasant page in British history and given John Bull, after the old slave trade, a sinister fame. He repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes of the slave trade horrors, and did much to undo the evil done. So may it be with opium. The traffic was a legacy to the Indian and British Governments from the former East India Company's regime. It is said that its discontinuance now is due less to British repentance than to the Chinese measures, in defiance of treaties, which have made the once lucrative business unprofitable and dangerous. Repentance may at any rate become easier under the circumstances.

LORD AVEBURY DEAD.

The sudden death of Lord Avebury, better known of old as Sir John Lubbock, removes one of the finest of British Victorian figures. Very few instances can be given of such all-round excellence and fame as his. Life's cup was a brimming one to him through his 79 busy years.

Not long ago the English world had to lament the sudden loss of Andrew Lang in the midst of his activities at 68. His was an amazing career of Protean literary achievement. Then came the death of General Booth, greatest of philanthropic and pious reformers. Lord Avebury had something of them both, with a touch of Bagehot, of Huxley, and of Ruskin, a boot. Son of Sir John W. Lubbock, a London banker, whose house he entered at 14 years of age, becoming a partner at 22, he was elected to Parliament in 1870, represented London University there from 1880 to 1900, and was raised to the House of Lords in 1900. He has been on numerous Government commissions, prominent in many scientific and other associations, and a well-known author on both technical and popular subjects. He was an immense favorite with the British people of all classes. He may rank not so far as Lord Shaftesbury as a philanthropist, having introduced legislation to provide playgrounds for children, to regulate the hours of labor for shop clerks, to establish the bank holidays, long called after his name, and to stimulate municipalities in the founding of public libraries. Lord Avebury was a great believer in popular education and an authority on the subject.

Of his written works perhaps the most widely read or perused has been his "Pleasures of Life," a standard book "for a good boy." Various books of popular science, on insects, flowers and nature are well known. Lubbock was one of the greatest popularizers of the Victorian scientific movement. For his gigantic acquisitions, powers and energies he was a king among men, clear, honorable, a typically English gentleman, financier and scholar. Somewhat reactionary in his attitude of late towards the new Liberalism, a Cobdenite both in free trade principle and in individualism, he has grown old. But his life and pen were dedicated throughout to the service of humanity and of knowledge.

Nationalism is the gangrenous wound in the Conservative body that will not close.

"An increase in the indemnity of members would undoubtedly be popular."—Ottawa dispatch.

Very strange, this!

While the country saves money, according to Mr. Cochrane, on the grades of the N. T. R., it hands out a fine bunch of bills to the C. N. R.

"What will England think?"—Free Press.

Who is England, the dukes who objected to paying something nearer their fair share of the cost of Dreadnoughts?

The new Conservative senators will not be shouting for reform or abolition. They might prefer even an election now that they are lifted up out of the casualties of life.

The Georgian Bay Canal project is in the limelight again. A Royal commission will investigate its commercial advantages, it seems. Sir Robert Perks, the English engineer, said recently in Montreal that he believed the scheme would be an incalculable success.

Mr. Borden can't get away from his Nationalist connection. It didn't look so bad in Opposition, but it is a horrid appendage to cling to in power. It is a sordid reminder of the hard times when unpleasant shifts were thought to be necessary. Mr. Borden speaks Imperialism with a Nationalist growl and accent that he can't throw off in his palmer days.

Mr. Rogers will now be studying up a "reform" of the Senate. Having reformed or deformed the House of Commons, he will be just the man to tackle the other question. The dice are not loaded in his favor this time. But perhaps he will read up on Col. Pride and engineer some sort of Rogers' Purge. All that is necessary is to put certain unworthy members out of the Senate and fill their places with men bearing the mark of Rogers on their foreheads. The Conservative press would loudly applaud.

CANNED OPTIMISM.

[Vancouver Province.]
Bury the past. Yesterday is a fleeting reminiscence. The sun will shine tomorrow. The world is not going to the devil. Men are better than ever before. Conditions are better than ever before. Civic ideals are higher than ever before. Life is cleaner than ever before. People who toil live better and have greater liberty than ever before. What the world needs is builders and not shirkers. The man who builds something is a thousand times more useful than the man who says something—and his saying a knock. Forget yesterday and think of tomorrow. Look at the rising and not at the setting sun. Why fret or worry over what happened last year? If you can't pull, then push. If you can't either pull or push, then get out of the way of those who can.

SEA FEVER.

[John Masfield.]
I must go down to the seas again, to the lonely sea and the sky
And all I ask is a tall ship and a star to steer her by;
And the wheel's kick and the wind's song and the white sail's shaking,
And a gray mist on the sea's face, and a gray dawn breaking.

I must go down to the seas again, for the call of the running tide,
Is a wild call and a clear call that may not be denied,
And all I ask is a windy day, with the white clouds flying,
And the flung spray and the blown spume and the sea-gulls crying.
I must go down to the seas again, to the vagrant gypsy life,
To the gull's way and the whale's way, and the wind like a whetted knife;
And all I ask is a merry yarn from a laughing fellow-rover,
And quiet sleep and a sweet dream when the long trick's over.

POOR SPORT IN GEORGIA.

[Patriot.]
John D. Rockefeller and a party of friends were taking a trip across country in Georgia last fall when they came to a stream which they had to cross by ferry. The ferryboat was operated by a white-haired old negro, and while they were floating across, Mr. Rockefeller tried to make conversation.

"Jack," he asked the old man, "have you caught any fish today?"
"Now, suh," replied Jack, dejectedly.
"The fishing," observed Rockefeller, "must be pretty poor."
"I spec' it is," agreed Jack sadly.
"You haven't caught any fish at all?"

"Not a one,"
"That seems strange," continued Rockefeller.
"It do," said Jackson, and still his bearing was that of a man weighed down by woe.
"Well," asked Rockefeller, "why is it, do you think, you haven't caught any fish?"
"Humph," said Jack, still mournful, "it ain't been fishin' today."

First Horse Race In Over Two Years

Eighteen-Day Meet To Be Held at Belmont Park, Long Island.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, May 29.—After a lapse of more than two years in horse racing in New York state, due to obstacles besetting the sport by anti-betting laws passed during the administration of Governor Hughes, a revival of turf activities starts tomorrow with the opening of an 18-days' meeting at Belmont Park, on Long Island.

The Westchester Racing Association, under whose auspices the meet will be held, and other associations, which have planned meets at other tracks, circulated today two announcements that the law in relation to bookmaking and betting would be enforced to its strictest interpretation. Notice is served that if any attempt is made at bookmaking, as it is feared there may be among the crowds within the inclosure where only $1 admission is charged, this popular-priced section will be closed entirely.

The right of individuals to bet among themselves will not be interfered with by the police, it is understood, if only oral wagers are made. The feature of the opening day will be the Metropolitan Handicap.

Freed for Killing Wrecker of Home

Woman Suicided After Her Husband Shot Man Found With Her.

[Canadian Press.]
Vallejo, Cal., May 29.—The unwritten law freed Joseph Hoversly, slayer of a man who had been too friendly with his wife, from a charge of murder here last night at his preliminary examination. He previously had been exonerated by a coroner's jury.

Hoversly, an employee at the Mare Island navy yard, returned home unexpectedly the night of May 17 and found J. E. Rainey, a navy electrician, with Mrs. Hoversly. He shot and killed Rainey, and his wife committed suicide immediately afterward.

Acting as his own counsel, Hoversly related to the court a shipwreck story of the tragedy of his home life. He had not seen the wife with the dead woman, and made no other attempt to justify the shooting.

Peevish Celestial Was Gathered In Use Language That Jars the Finer Feeling, For Which He Pays.

Charley Lee is an oriental who has not been in London very long. In fact, he has not been in Canada very long, either. It is English is the country that is known as "shaky." Be that as it may, Charley has acquired a few healthy English cuss words, according to evidence given in police court this morning. He was booked for disorderly conduct. It is a rather unusual charge to be faced to a Chinaman. It cost him $2.50.

According to the evidence, Charley went to the "movies" yesterday afternoon. He didn't stay long. As he had not seen the entire show he returned again at night. Then he demanded free admission. It was refused. Charley was alleged to have taken the refusal in rather a peevish attitude and to have used certain words that are banned in the best parlour circles. These words were addressed to the manager and cashier jointly. His arrest followed.

More Men Needed For Police Dept.

Chief Williams Says It Is the Most Necessary Thing at Present.

Chief of Police W. T. Williams wants more men. Additional officers are a more crying need than any other improvement to the police department, according to the statement of his head made this morning. In view of a number of changes contemplated in the department and the purchase of better equipment it had been suggested that it would be an opportune time to install a police signal service and a billion identification system. The chief, however, wants men more than he does either a signal service or a bureau of identification.

"A signal service would be an assistance to the department all right," opined the chief this morning, "but I would rather have two more men than a telephone telegraph service. They would be more valuable than the other. As to the Berdillon system, I don't think we need it here. It is all right for the big cities, but we know all the men we want here."

CORRESPONDENCE

Sale of Debentures.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
The statements attributed to me in your issue of yesterday, that Canadian municipal debentures are not understood in Great Britain, is misleading. So far as the bonds of our leading municipalities are concerned, the best buyer is the English investor, but he knows little of and is not attracted to the smaller debentures issued by rural municipalities, and payable in installments. It was to the latter debentures I had reference.
Allow me to express my strong approval of the statement of the city treasurer, that it would be wiser to place our own debentures abroad rather than at home.

The issue of London debentures made in December last was sold at a price to yield the purchaser a little better than 4½ per cent. A local investor can readily obtain this rate from London trust and loan companies, on almost any sum he chooses to place with them. The security these institutions offer is of the best, and the term of years during which investors' funds are tied up is not so long as in the case of municipal debentures. To attract the local investor the city would, therefore, have to offer a higher rate than that quoted, or in other words accept a smaller price for its issues than it might obtain in the outside market.
On the other hand, if even one-half of the present issue were subscribed locally, it would mean that at least a quarter of a million dollars would be withdrawn from our home institutions and would not be available for local loaning purposes, while if the same amount were brought in from abroad a considerable part of it would find its way into local channels, and aid, instead of hindering the progress of the city.

To the June Bride

[By Idah McGlone Gibson.]

You are going to marry the best man in the world. Every girl does.

You love him better than any girl ever loved a man. Every girl loves just that way.

And you know that he loves you with a greater and more enduring love than ever man gave to woman since the world began. Every girl knows that.

Like the princess in the fairy tale, you are going to "be happy ever after." Every girl is quite sure of that.

What are you going to do to make this happiness last? "Why, I love my husband with my whole heart," you answer.

Do you know, my dear, that many a woman has loved a man with her whole heart and made him perfectly miserable while doing it? You must do something else in the long run of married life besides loving if you would be "happy ever after."

Do you realize that, outside of the covenant which you have made, "Love and honor," you have tacitly assumed obligations which are just as binding and as necessary to your future well-being and happiness as this all-engrossing love which has been the subject of most of the conversation between you and your lover until now.

Do you understand that the roses and moonlight of love, like the roses of the garden and light of the moon, are intermittent joys? There always comes a time when the rosebush is naked and bare and the nights are dark and dreary.

You will soon find that life is not one round of pleasure. Duty plays a great role in it. The mere physical part of living—the feeding of hungry mouths, the keeping comfortable of tender bodies, the culminating of worn-out, tired nerves, the shouldering of numberless little cares and responsibilities—these are duties which belong to the wife.

Most Canadian girls grow up with too little sense of responsibility; they seem to think that life is to be "one grand, sweet song" and they will not even be asked to play the accompaniment. My dear girl, it is as much your duty to work each day in your home, if you have one, as it is the husband's duty to work at his place of business.

The duties of a wife mean something more than to dress up in the pale blue dinner gown and greet the husband with a kiss every evening when he comes home from the office, tired and discouraged. It means doing your duty to yourself, to your husband, to your family, your country and your God.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

A Most Helpful Letter.

Dear Miss Grey—This is my first letter to you, and I would like to know a good recipe for keeping pineapples so they can be used next winter. How much sugar to the pound, and how long they should be cooked, in return for your kindness, I saw where Sylvia wanted to know a cure for pimples. Here is a recipe which I know is good by experience. "My face" used to be covered and now it is real clear. Get your druggist to fill this out for you:

Two ounces dandelion, 2 ounces sarsaparilla, 2 ounces sassafras, 1½ ounces of Turkish rhubarb, 1 ounce mandrake, 2 ounces burdock. Boil this in 2 quarts of water, and take two tablespoonfuls before meals.

And another place I saw where an anxious mother wanted to know what would straighten her daughter's shoulders. My advice is to get her to look at herself in the mirror, and whatever you do never discourage her. Teach her to carry her shoulders and head erect, and long and deep breathing is the secret of a good figure. No shoulder braces are required. Many thanks, BIRT.

A—1. What a good, helpful letter you write us, "Birt"! I cannot tell you how much I appreciate your desire to pass on these leaves-out-of-your-own-book-of-experience. Regarding the pineapple, this has been found a good recipe for its keeping qualities: Put the fruit out with a skimmer, add 1 pound of sugar to 1½ pounds fruit; stir until it is dissolved, then put in the pineapple and let it boil gently until it is transparent throughout; remove the syrup into glass jars and simmer the syrup gently until it is thick and rich; pour

The Poets' Corner

TO THE SKYLARK.
Ethereal minstrel pilgrim of the sky!
Dost thou despise the earth where cares abound?
Or, while the wings aspire, are heart and eye
Both with thy nest upon the dewy ground?
Thy nest, which thou canst drop into at will,
Thou quiverest, wings composed, that music still!

To the last point of vision, and beyond
Mount, daring warblers—that love-prompted strain—
Twixt thee and thine a never-failing bond—
Thills not the less the bosom of the plain;
Yet mightiest thou seem, proud privilege! to sing
All independent of the leafy Spring.

Leave to the nightingale her shady wood,
A privacy of glorious light is thine,
Whence thou dost pour upon the world a flood
Of harmony, with instinct more divine;
Type of the wise, who soar, but never roam—
True to the kindred points of Heaven and Home!

over the fruit and seal. If a preserve not quite so rich is desired, it has been found that pineapple will keep if but one-half pound of sugar to a pound of fruit is used.

Dyeing a Switch.

Dear Miss Grey: Kindly answer the following question:
What would you advise me to do with a switch that is too light? I am a blonde, but my hair has turned darker the last year, and the switch is very noticeable in color. Could I send it to a professional dyer to have it dyed satisfactorily by sending a sample of my hair? Thanking you,
PERPLEXED.

A—Yes; I feel quite sure the switch could be dyed to match your hair by sending a sample, as you suggest.

A Variety of Queries.

Dear Miss Grey—1. What is good for a yellow neck?
2. Should a fern be kept in the sun, and what causes the leaves to turn yellow?
3. Recipe for peanut butter?
4. Would a pink silk dress be nice trimmed with white lace and insertion for a little girl 3 years old? Or what would be nice to trim it with?

5. What will cure a fellow of jealousy?
6. What is the meaning of Henry?
7. What would make a nice inexpensive birthday present for a girl of 20? Thanking you for your trouble,
K. B. S. F.

A—1. You might whiten it by applications of diluted lemon juice or by washing in buttermilk.
2. A fern requires a moderate amount of sun. Perhaps the yellow leaves are caused by "sour" soil, which will result in time if water is allowed to collect in the jardiniere or saucer in which the flowerpot is placed. Perhaps there is a grub eating at the roots of the fern. In either case, it is as much your duty to repot the plant and feed it from time to time with a little fertilizer, which you may buy at a florist's.
3. Pass the nuts through the meat chopper, or pound them very fine; mix with one-third the quantity of butter and pass all through a sieve. Some prefer the addition of a little salt.
4. It would be quite dainty for the little one, but I think a washable mull or muslin would be more sensible for such a small child. The trimming you mention would be nice for any of the three materials.
5. Jealousy, which I presume you mean, is a very difficult thing to overcome either in oneself or another person. I wonder how it would work to reverse the tables and pretend to be jealous of the young man's attention to other girls. Then if he declares your attitude absurd and unreasonable, point out to him that it is equally foolish for him to be jealous of you.
6. Henry, the head of a house.
7. A pretty ribbon sash, or a ribbon and lace jabot, might be made at home

THE SWING
BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

How do you like to go up in a swing,
Up in the air, so blue?
Oh, I do think it the pleasantest thing
Ever a child can do!

Up in the air, and over the wall,
Till I can see so wide,
Rivers and trees, and cattle and all
Over the country-side.

Till I look down on the garden green,
Down on the roof so brown—
Up in the air I go flying
Again.

Up in the air, and down!

NEW SLEEVELESS COATS.

Some curious sleeveless coats are being worn. These are taken over back and front like scapulars, but they are not cut on quite such straight lines. The sides are entirely cut out until toward the hem, where they are back and front are continued round to button over and meet each other. A belt, which is often of black satin and matches the collar, holds the coat down at the back, then passes under the material, showing again at the sides, and is continued over the front.

FIRST AID.

At the close of his talk before a Sunday school the bishop invited questions. A tiny boy with white eager face at once held up his hand. "Please, sir," said he, "why was Adam never a baby?"

The bishop coughed, in doubt as to what answer to give, but a little girl, the eldest of several brothers and sisters, came forward and said: "Please, sir," she answered smartly, "there was nobody to nurse him."—Columbia State.

Mrs. Betts Re-elected President of the Women's Canadian Club

Annual Meeting Yesterday — The Officers—Mr. Norwood's Address.

"The motto of every member of the Women's Canadian Club should be, 'Ich Dien,'" said Mrs. F. P. Betts, president of the club, in her address at the third annual meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Normal School.

"One of the principal aims of our club," said Mrs. Betts, "is the fostering of patriotic and civic spirit, and there is only one kind of patriotism as expressed in service. If we truly love our country we will do all we can to use our individual efforts to make that country worthy of our great motherland, England. And if our club is to be useful in this work we must first of all undertake it in our own city. Until we have a clear idea of what is needed to make London a model city in Canada, we can do little."

Members to Study Problems.

The president urged the value of the three hundred members of the club uniting with the object of learning the best means of meeting the various city problems which arise. "We have great opportunities in London. It has a beautiful situation, wide streets, and much that should be made a happy city, but let us learn from the experiences of older cities to avoid mistakes, and by wise building laws insure beautiful surroundings."

She said that the condition of club-women were the condition of blind children, mental deficiency of women, welfare of men, and the need of supervised playgrounds as a means of education was also emphasized. Mrs. Betts, who said that formerly the mistake was made in believing education to be entirely mental. Today it is recognized that it should also be physical and moral. The Women's Canadian Club could not show their patriotism better than by taking an interest in these vital subjects.

A change in constitution for the club was proposed by Mrs. Betts to the effect that in future a nominating committee be appointed by the executive committee a week before the annual meeting. Mrs. Talbot Macbeth suggested that the nominating committee be appointed at a public meeting held prior to the annual meeting next year. The amendment was carried after a slight discussion.

The Officers. Mrs. F. P. Betts was unanimously re-elected to the office of president, and a sincere motion of regret passed at the withdrawal of Mesdames Belton, Stevely and McCann, the retiring secretary, treasurer and corresponding secretary.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: Honorary presidents, Lady Gibbons, Mrs. Becher; president, Mrs. F. P. Betts; vice-presidents, Mesdames Donald McLean, J. M. McEvoy, John Stevely and P. E. Leonard; secretary, Mrs. (Dr.) Hughes; treasurer, Mrs. A. T. Edwards; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bowker; executive committee, Mesdames B. C. McCann, H. Barty, C. W. Belton, P. H. Irwin, Jos. Marshall, Talbot Macbeth, George Reid, Gordon Wright, (Dr.) Ross, Miss McCall.

Mr. Norwood's Address. A pleasant feature of the afternoon was a short address on a portion of Maeterlinck's Blue Bird by Rev. R. W. Norwood, rector of Cronyn Memorial Church. He told in a most sympathetic manner the visit of Mytil and Mytil to the "kingdom of children yet to be born," and of how each waiting child-spirit possessed some gift which was to be their special message to the world. Mr. Norwood impressed the fact that mothers should realize the opportunities attending each child and do their utmost to develop the highest and best in each.

The yearly reports of the secretary and treasurer were highly encouraging, showing marked progress during the year. Receipts were $778.14, disbursements, $632.55. Each member of the club was urged to get one more member to join before the next annual meeting.

The meeting was largely attended.

HOW TO WASH SILK FABRICS.

The woman who has a clean white China silk or crepe de chine shirt waists, princess slippers, petticoats, and underwear, should never allow these things to go to a laundry. China silk is one of the most economical materials to use for all these things—that is, if it is properly treated in the laundry. If it is not properly washed it is the most wretched of materials. But, says a woman at a time, the methods which bring snowy whiteness to muslin underwear bring ruin to silk.

In a second suds bath. After they are clean rinse them in two changes of clear luke warm water and wring them gently dry. Hang them out of doors in the shade or in the house near an open window where there is no sun. When they are almost dry iron them. If possible iron them with a piece of thin muslin between them and the iron. This method prevents a shiny gloss from coming upon the silk. Some think it better to allow crepe de chine to dry thoroughly and then iron it on the wrong side. After the garments are ironed they should be thoroughly aired before being put away.

Much the same method applies to China silk. The great thing to remember in washing all white silk is never to use hot water. Borax is always good to use in the water since it keeps off the evil day when yellowing begins. And white soap— Ivory soap is best—is as essential as luke warm water. As to the drying of China silk, I find it much better to wrap the shirt waists or corset covers and what not in a big linen towel instead of hanging it up in a few moments it absorbs all the moisture and the silk is then ready for the iron. By the way the iron should not be used when it is too hot as this has a yellowing effect.

SOCIAL PRECAUTION

The maid had resigned from her culinary and scrubbing job, and an hour or so before she left the house she was accosted by the mistress, who was in anything but a sweet and joyous mood.

"I hope," said the mistress in a voice that was full of emotion, "that you leave here in a better manner than you came! If I remember rightly, your goods were brought here in a wheelbarrow!"

"I am going away in a motor car," exclaimed the maid, as an automobile actually drove up. "My new mistress is sending one for me!"

"Is that so?" was the scornful response of the mistress. "Then why don't they drive up to the front door in a respectable manner instead of stopping down along the street?"

"I don't know," caustically replied the maid, "but I suppose they don't want people to think they are on visiting terms here."—Exchange.

Tea-Table Talk

A Pleasing Incident.

"Olive" contributes the following to this column: Did I hear you say politeness was fast becoming a lost virtue? Let me tell you that is a pretty incident that I witnessed, and which appealed to myself and many others while riding to town the other day.

The car was crowded, and a goodly number of women, including myself, clung to the straps, as the car lurched and swerved along. A little old lady entered. She appeared to be about 80 years of age—one of those motherly souls that we instinctively love to protect, with soft, silver hair, framing a kind, wrinkled face. She advanced slowly, for she was feeble, and her withered hands shook with the palsy. I glanced about me for the men to see if they would offer their seats. A janky youth shifted closer to his lady friend and generously proffered a third of his seat, which, considering they are meant for two, was a small portion indeed. Our lady of the silver hair rode thus for about five minutes, looking very uncomfortable. Then something happened.

A little fair-haired lassie of about 12 or 13 summers, with a sunny face, wriggled from her seat next the window, and pushing her way down the crowded aisle, she came close to the little lady and in the sweetest voice said: "Won't you please take my seat; I'm tired of sitting."

The big boy and several men looked disconcerted. But the little old lady stooped gracefully down and kissed the rosy lips of the child, as she said: "Thank you, my dear."

Hasn't this incident touched a vibrant chord in your heart? I thought it would.

SEEK THE BEAUTIFUL AT HOME.

A man once resolved to seek and find the beautiful. He thought of the mountains of Switzerland and the beautiful plains of Italy and the forests of America and other wonders of the world; but, before his plans were settled, a voice seemed to say to him, "Begin at home."

RATINE FROCKS ARE VERY POPULAR.

All through the summer the raitine frocks will be very much in evidence. The one pictured is a model from Ferrand, of Paris. The skirt is perfectly plain and for that reason particularly pleasing, as one is growing rather tired of the loopings and drapes so universal. This dress is of old rose ratine with simulated buttonholes of black satin and a wide black satin belt, over which is a short coat of the old rose ratine. The hat worn with this costume, which is particularly girlish, is of black straw, with a band of dull blue satin ribbon and a single flower of old rose in the front of it. This would make a charming costume for travelling.

TIGERS BEAT BROWNS

Cleveland Ramped Away From Chicago White Sox in Both Games of Double-Header Yesterday.

St. Louis, May 28.—Detroit made it four out of six here today by taking the last game of the series with the Browns by the score of 6 to 3. This winds up the local team's stay at home, and they take the road. One of the features of the game was developed in the third inning, when Stovall pulled the old hidden ball trick on Bush after that gentleman had turned first safely on a hit to left. The joke of the play was that it seems as though the misery you ever had has settled in your feet, look at the happy TIZ man in the picture.

When your feet are so tired they feel like stumps, when they ache so that they hurt you up to your heart, when you shamble your feet along and it seems as though all the misery you ever had has settled in your feet, look at the happy TIZ man in the picture. Americans Decided to Adopt It for Matches in States.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, May 29.—As a concession to the Australian tennis players, an English ball is to be used in the Davis cup matches here next week. It is the first time that an English ball has been used in international matches in this country. The Americans were persuaded to try the ball by the argument of the Australians that one of English make would be used in the matches in England, and that if the Americans were fortunate enough to win the tie matches here it would be well for them to try the English ball.

WILL FIND OUT COST OF CANAL TO GEORGIAN BAY

Government to Appoint a Commission To Go Thoroughly Into the Question.

Mr. Pardee Thinks Project Would Cost Two Hundred Million Dollars.

Ottawa, May 29.—A commission is shortly to be appointed by the Government to ascertain whether it will pay to construct the Georgian Bay Canal. Announcement to this effect was made by Hon. Robert Rogers in the House in connection with an estimate of half a million dollars for "French River waterways improvements."

The minister intimated that he was carrying out the recommendation made some years ago by the royal commission on transportation to the effect that it would be advisable to have investigation and report made upon the commercial feasibility of the Georgian Bay project. He said the investigation would be made at once.

In regard to the French River end of the route, the minister estimated that sufficient water power would be developed to repay interest on the outlay of the proposed half million dollars. The Minister of Public Works said the policy of his predecessor in regard to the Georgian Bay Canal had resulted in complete information with reference to the engineering feature of the work. In this respect he regarded it as feasible. But it was necessary also to ascertain the commercial value of the undertaking and the Government proposed therefore to follow the recommendation of the royal commission on transportation in obtaining this information.

Meantime it was proposed to develop the French River section, as it would prove to be a good investment, and then if the Georgian Bay Canal were reported to be advisable from a commercial standpoint the Government would continue the work.

Mr. Nesbitt and Mr. Pardee (East Lambton) both thought the canal would cost two hundred million dollars or more. The latter said that when it was constructed it would not be as useful as the enlarged Welland Canal.

This, Mr. Rogers considered, a good argument in favor of further investigation by a commission, as the Government proposed, and the item passed.

If Your Color Is Bad, If You Suffer From Pimples, Here Is Good Advice.

Fine Results in Two Weeks.

Miss Nettie E. Callaghan, a well-known young lady in Middleton, writes as follows: "I was affected for two years with a rash, and ugly-looking pimples that spread over my face. My color was poor, and my blood evidently completely out of order. Certainly it was a most despairing sort of a case, because various treatments did but little to help me. A friend of mine in Toronto, Ont., advised me to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills, so I sent at once for five boxes. In two weeks I felt like new—looks improved, spirits rose, and I felt I was getting well. I have used this remedy for a long time, and now wouldn't be without it."

All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butterum, 25c per box, five for $1. Sent postpaid by the Catarrhus Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

GENERAL STRIKE OF CARPENTERS WILL BE CALLED

Three Thousand Men Expected To Go Out in Toronto Saturday.

Employers Have Refused to Grant Increase of Three Cents an Hour.

Toronto, May 29.—The long-threatened disruption of the entire building trade of the city will become a reality on Monday next, when 3,000 carpenters will be out on strike.

Prolonged efforts have been made by the officials of the men's union to effect a friendly arrangement with the employers. These have proven abortive, as the employers absolutely refuse to pay more than 42 cents per hour this season. The men's irreducible minimum is 45 cents.

Realizing that it is useless to attempt further negotiations, as all overtures are ignored by the employers, the joint executive of the Amalgamated Society and Brotherhood of Carpenters last night decided to exercise the powers vested in them and to order a general strike forthwith.

This decision will be reported to the mass meeting of the members of both organizations to be held at the Labor Temple on Friday and Saturday.

Will Hold Meetings.

The executive is so confident of a prompt response to its recommendation that arrangements have been completed for holding daily meetings of the strikers, and the appointment of pickets.

The duty of the latter will be to patrol the streets, to see that the employers do not employ strike-breakers. The only possible way trouble can be averted now will be for the employers to concede the men's demands within the next 48 hours.

It is understood a meeting of the employers has been held at the Exchange to discuss the situation. No agreement was reached, owing to the divergence of opinion. Many of the employers freely expressed the opinion that there would be no strike, and that if there were, they would have no difficulty in getting all the men they required at 42 cents per hour.

Situation Complicated.

The situation is somewhat complicated by the fact that the structural ironworkers are on strike, and by the decision of the bricklayers not to strike in sympathy.

The latter, together with stone-masons, plasterers, laborers and men of the allied trades will be unable to work if the strike is prolonged.

The plasterers' laborers, who have been on strike since the first of the month for 40 cents per hour, an increase of six cents over the rate in effect, have decided to declare the strike off and to return to work immediately. The employers have agreed to pay them 25 cents per hour at once, the matter of a further increase to be referred to arbitration. The men accepted these conditions.

German Leviathan Will Sail Shortly

Every Berth Is Taken for Maiden Trip of the Imperator.

Berlin, May 28.—Officials of the Hamburg-American Line brand as "utterly nonsensical" the stories afloat in reference to serious constructional shortcomings of the Imperator. It is stated that her mechanical trials are now completed, and that arrangements for her scheduled maiden trip to New York on June 11 have been definitely made.

On the last trial trip to the Norwegian coast, on which Herr Bathin and other directors of the line were passengers, the Imperator is said to have developed a speed of twenty-three knots without having had to use forced draught.

The Imperator was thrown open for public inspection in the harbor of Cuxhaven today, and was visited by 3,000 persons, who were permitted to roam about the leviathan at will.

For the first eastbound sailing from New York on June 25, there is not one berth obtainable. The ship will arrive in Europe with more than 2,000 first and second cabin passengers and no less than four full captains in command, headed by Capt. Ruser, well known as the former commander of the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, who will pilot the giantess across the Atlantic with the rank of vice-admiral of the Hamburg-American fleet.

The car, which went all the way to the bottom of the ravine through a strong board fence, was only slightly damaged.

The father is the complainant, and the case will be heard in the police court on Thursday. Highly Indignant When Whiskey Came Owen Sound People Never Ordered Ten Cases That Were Sent.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Owen Sound, May 29.—Ten cases of whiskey consigned to ten different persons in Owen Sound have been seized by License Inspector Beckett, of Owen Sound, and, since the ten residents indignantly disclaim any knowledge of the whiskey, the authorities are trying to discover to whom it was sent.

Under the liquor license act it is an offence to ship liquor into a local option district or to import it for private use, but that act holds that when liquor is shipped in under fictitious names, which was apparently done in this case, it is evidence that it is intended for sale and therefore subject to seizure.

The provincial authorities have decided to summon the shipper, an Ontario dealer, and endeavor to find out from him whom the liquor was intended for. There has been a good deal of whiskey going into local option districts at times, and the method adopted in the Owen Sound case is a common one. The whiskey is consigned to some fairly well-known reputable resident, and then a man giving that name calls and claims it. Seizure seems to be the only method the authorities have of discouraging them.

Wyoming, May 28.—Mrs. Thomas Ewart, aged 87 years, is lying dangerously ill at her home, second line west, from a third stroke of paralysis. When a girl of 11 years of age, William Lyon Mackenzie, of rebellion fame, proposed to her with a lead nurse, which is still in her possession as a valued souvenir. The noted patriot was a frequent visitor at her parents' home at that time. She also had the honor of taking tea with him and conversing with the famous African explorer, David Livingstone, in 1857, at his brother's home in Glasgow, where he was then visiting.

Studying Canada's Progress.

For the purpose of getting facts at first hand regarding the development of Canada, its trade, people, and prosperity, the directors of the Guinness Brewery of Ireland have sent their special representative, Mr. Arthur T. Minerva's Mishap

"The Mishaps of Minerva," a farce in two acts, was given in the Parish Hall of St. John the Evangelist Church under the auspices of the A. Y. P. A. Wednesday night in aid of the building fund, and was greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

The cast was selected from the members of the A. Y. P. A., and well merited the hearty applause they received for their individual acting. Miss K. Ashby, as Minerva, was excellent, showing exceptional acting ability. This also applies to Miss E. Boomer, as Clara Sterling, mischievous girl, whose idea is to teach her sister Minerva a lesson and thereby starting complications.

Dr. A. Woods, as officer "Molke Shannon," a conscientious policeman of scrupulous principles, endeavoring to do his duty and incidentally win promotion, scored a success, as did also Mr. C. Mitchell as Dr. Victor Brown.

During the evening piano solos were contributed by the Misses McDougall, Eccleston and Woolley; Miss L. McKee delighted the audience by her readings; Mr. H. Ellis was forced to respond to the hearty applause he received for his solos, while Master Selby Young accompanied on the violin. Those taking part in the cast were as follows:

SPECIAL SERVICE OF INTERCESSION FOR THE CONGRESS

Rev. Dr. McCrae Tells of Problems That Face Presbyterian Church.

One of the Greatest Needs Is More Missionaries for New Towns of the West.

A service of special intercession for the work of the great Presbyterian congress, which opens Saturday in Toronto, was held in the Sabbath school room of New St. James' Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening. Rev. Dr. McCrae, of Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, was the speaker, and reviewed in an interesting manner some of the problems which are facing the church at the present time and for which the delegates to the assembly will endeavor to find an adequate solution.

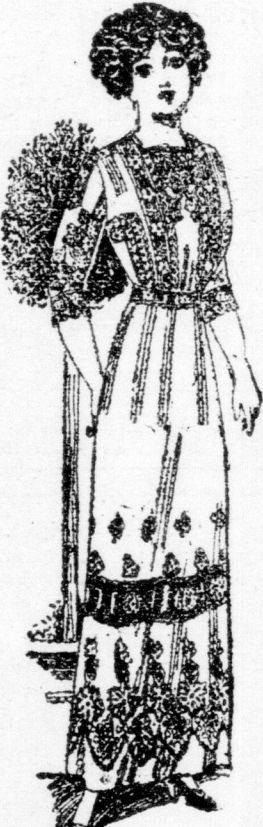

Budget for Missions.
The budget for missions, which will be brought down, will amount to $1,400,000. This seemed like an extremely large amount for the church in Canada, to raise, he said, but when it was figured out it was found that if every member of the church contributed only 10 cents a week the amount would be realized. The needs of missions were extremely pressing at the present time, especially in our own Canadian West. "One hundred new towns will be founded when the line of railroad is opened up between Edmonton and Prince Rupert," he said. "What are you going to do about it? Are you going to let the saloon and the house of prostitution go in and take possession, and not have a missionary there?" He related many incidents which had come under his own notice while travelling in the West. He met many young men whose parents and relations he knew in Ontario, splendid Christian people, but

PLAYGROUNDS ASSN. WILL EQUIPE SEVERAL SCHOOLYARDS

Apparati Will Be Under Supervision of Male and Female Teacher.

The board of education Wednesday passed the report of the special committee appointed to confer with the Playgrounds Association on the disposal of the playgrounds question, by which the association will equip four or more schoolyards, to be under the direction of the board of education during the school year, the board to appoint a male and a female teacher to supervise each schoolground, thus equipped. The additional salaries to be paid the teachers appointed to this extra work were discussed, the announcement being made that the teachers would be willing to undertake the work for a bonus of $10 a month each.

During the summer the Playgrounds Association will remove the apparatus to four public places, parks or other suitable grounds located in north, east, west and south sections of the city, and will ask the municipal authorities to provide funds for the summer supervision of the playgrounds.

The provision of special training for the supervisors appointed was on the motion of Trustee A. M. Hunt left to Public School Inspector Edwards.

Barbers Satisfied With the Bylaw

The bylaw requiring all barber shops in Toronto to close within certain hours was quashed at Osgoode Hall on Wednesday. The bylaw was passed by the city council on March 10, 1913, and an action was started by Charles McCoubrey to have it invalidated. A similar bylaw came into effect in London on Jan. 1. Local barbers are satisfied with the bylaw and it is not likely that any action of a like nature will be made here.
