Discussing the war and its consequences, the leader of the Opposition declared that it is impossible to separate the present from the past, and for many a year the war would remain a mighty influence in world affairs. Urging practicability, he declared that the present was no time for theorizing, but a time to look facts in the face and to make an accounting of national assets and liabilities in terms that are human as well as practerms that are human as were partical.

Appealing for respect for differences of opinion, Mr. King referred to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, stating that toward the end of his career he, more than any other man, was misunderstood or misrepresented by many of those who in former days found their delight in makes.

Britain's Standing Army Is to Consist of 300,000 Men

London, Wednesday, Jan. 7 .- The cabinet this week will decide the size of Great Britain's future army, says the Daily Mail. Military heads believe, according to the Mail, that the minimum compatible with natreaty, will total 300,000. This compares with an army of 238,000 before the war. A factor governing the decision is finance, the newspaper says, pointing out that before the war the upkeep of the army totalled about £29,000,000 yearly. It estimates the army in the future, even with radical economy and only partial reorganization, will cost about £70,-000,000 annually.

Death Toll Grew to Tremendous Proportions As Bolsheviki Gained Control in Former Great Empire-Granddaughter of Ulysses Grant Makes Appeal.

New York, Jan. 7.—Thirty million men, women and children have died in Russia from violence, famine and disease during the last three years, according to a statement on present conditions in the once great empire, which was made today by Princess Cantacuzene-Speransky, granddaughter of Ulysses Grant, in an appeal in behalf of the American Central Committee for Russian Relief. The tremendous death toll mentioned by the princess was exclusive, she said, of five million men who had laid down their lives on the Russian front fighting for the allies. Princess Cantacuzene, whose husband is a former commander of the czar's bodyguard, was an eye-witness to many of the terrible scenes which resulted in the establishment of the soviet regime in Russia. She described how hundreds of German spies and agents poured into Russia following the revolution, and industriously spread Bolshevik propaganda

Public school teachers have decided to stand by their request for a flat increase of $300 in their salaries for 1920, and an additional $200 for 1921. Both these amounts include the $100 increase which the teachers receive annually, so that in reality their request is only for $200 this and $100 next year. The 1919 board granted a $100 bonus to all teachers, except in the cases where they were close to their maximum salaries. The bonus in these cases was only sufficient to bring them to their maximums. Will Act at Once. THRIFT CAMPAIGN IS TO BE WAGED BY "Y" DURING THIS MONTH

Will Be Canvassed.

GROUP BANKING IS PLAN

This Work Has Been Included As Special Y. M. C. A. Branch.

To promote thrift among the employees of factories and other institutions throughout Canada, the Y. M. C. A. all over the country will observe a national thrift week, commencing on January 19. Preparations for the campaign are being made by the local

It is not the intention of the association to advocate mere tightwad hoarding, but because of the present economic situation, the high cost of economic situation, the high cost of living and low wages, generosity and profiteering, it is believed that people are in need of advice and instruction in regard to thrift and the careful use of money. To accomplish this many ways were considered, but it was decided that an organized campaign and extensive advertising would be the best way to make work definite and striking.

All to Co-operate.

In these campaigns the Y. M. C. A. will not try to work alone, but will organize as many individuals and institutions as can be interested. Insurance men will be asked to speak to groups, and to issue advertisements not upon the value of their respective companies, but upon the value of insurance in its but upon the value of insurance in it-self. Bankers will be asked to show the value of banking and so on con-tractors, lawyers, merchants, ministers will be enlisted and asked to co-operate in his own field of activities.

will be enlisted and asked to co-operate in his own field of activities.

The work in Canada will be carried on in conjunction with a similar campaign in the United States. Even greater efforts will be made in that country to promote saving. Saving clubs in the factories will be established and the banking done in groups. This idea is said to work in the larger cities, but the local officials say that the scheme does not succeed in smaller centres.

New Department.

New Department. New Department.

So many associations have already done work along this line that at the Detroit convention of the "Y." a short while ago, it was recognized as a new department and so was added to the regular program of activities of the association. So that co-operation between the associations of both countries would be facilitated, literature which is being printed in New York for the campaign printed in New York for the campaign printed in New York for the campaign has as little of the narrowly American tone as could be arranged.

The local campaign will be under the supervision of Robert Liddle, the industrial resortance of the W. W. trial secretary of the "Y." To aid in the work he has secured many films on the value of thrift. These he will show in the different factories.

INSPECTOR GREATLY PLEASED AT SUCCESS OF WESTERN LIBRARY

University library is voiced by W. O. Carson, inspector of public libraries in Ontario, who was in the city this week. Mr. Carson made a careful examination of the university libraries, both as to the resources, the catalogues, technical work, etc., and expresses himself as surprised by the amount of work that has been done in the last two years aimed at bringing about greater unity under the supervision of the university library committee, of which Dr. Waller fore the house had not yet between the two factions, but that legislation which would be brought before the house had not yet below.

Mr. Carson pointed out that the work of organizing a big library is a slow process, but at Western a rate of progress has been achieved that is surprising. He points out that the additions to the library have been extensive and have been exceedingly well selected, while there is everywhere a manifestation of the intelligent direction that has been given to the work.

JAPAN TO DEPORT has been given to the work. Fortunate in Officials.

Fortunate in Officials.

"Western University library is fortunate in having Miss Marjorie Ross as its directing head," Mr. Carson stated. "I can also say that the library committee, under Dr. Waller's chairmanship, has been able to achieve large things on a minimum of expense. Good use has been made of student help, and particularly good work has been done by W. J. Hodder in the libraries of the Medical School and Institute of Public Health, as we'l as at the arts library."

Mr. Carson pointed out that Miss Ross holds a Grade A certificate for library work from the department of education, the highest grade awarded, and that Miss Dona Waller, who is joining the library staff, has recently been awarded similar standing. Out of 140 students passing through the library school in the last four years, only 21 have secured A standing and Western ALIENS TO OWN LAND. school in the last four years, only 21 have secured A standing, and Western University has two of these on its staff, while London public library has two others

Mr. Carson states that in the Barnett collection of books there is a great asset, not only for the university, but asset, not only for the university, but for London as a city, "In many respects Western's book collection is not rivaled in the province," he said. "chiefly by reason of the large number of valuable volumes in the Barnett Hbrary. There is considerable work ahead in organizing its great resources, but Dr. Barnett has the books arranged in the most usable form. The value of but Dr. Barnett has the books arranged in the most usable form. The value of this library will increase every year, as its books become more and more availble for students and inbestigators."

It is understood that the educational authorities at Toronto have been much gratified by the large growth of the Western University libraries, and Mr. Carson pointed out that the citizens of London have in their public library system and the university libraries greater facilities for reading and study than are possessed by any other place of similar size in Canada.

WIFE AND CHILDREN HAVE NO MEANS AS MAN NOW IN JAIL

Factories and Institutions Conviction of Pryor Hard On To Call Conference of Inspec-His Family.

> When Magistrate Graydon ordered Leonard Pryor, colored, of 101 Clarence street, to pay a fine of $400 or spend four months in jail on Monday afternoon, Pryor's two children and his wife were left without the only means of support they had. Mrs. Pryor went to the jail this morning to see her husband, who was sentenced for an alleged violation of the Ontario temperance ending their educational progress with violation of the Ontario temperance act. She stated that she has no money, and that when she applied to the relief inspector at the city hall for help she received $2, which she used to have greaters. buy groceries.

Not Too Certain.

Pryor was convicted of selling liquor to two special officers of the Ontario license board. One officer was not sure whether they bought the liquor at 101 Clarence street or at 101 William street. They agreed that it was purchased from a colored man at 2 o'clock in the morning, and they were also quite willing to swear that Pryor was the man. Both the accused and his wife flatly denied the evidence given, but Magistrate Graydon accepted the agents' version of the affair.

Wanted Witnesses.

J. M. McEvoy, counsel for Pryor, insisted that he would have been able to prove his client's innocence had two Not Too Certain.

WOULD BE NOTHING GAINED IF ELECTED COULD BE UNSEATED

New Election, At Big Cost, Only Result,

There was no official indication to day that steps are being taken to un-seat Mayor-elect Little, but a rumor that such action is contemplated is still current.

If such an attempt were successful it would not mean that H. B. Ashplant, the next candidate, would step into the position. Another election would be necessary As Mayor-elect Little polled nearly a thousand more votes than his nearest opponent, it is doubtful if the would result in any doubtful if this would result in any change in the situation, and the city would merely be put to the expense of another election to no purpose. Almost the same situation has arisen in Ward 2,. where an attempt may be made to unseat Ald. F. E. Harley because of a technicality in his qualification. If he were disqualified, William Tite, who polled the next highest vote in this ward would not step into the office. Another election would be necessary.

The statutes provide that when al-ermen are elected by the city at arge that the next highest man can be pointed, if an elected candidate is equalified. When the aldermen are coted by wards this does not apply. Delighted With Rapid Progress Made At "U."

Warm praise for the work that has been done in connection with the ormanizing and building was of Western the situation.

Elected by wards this does not apply. This being the case Ald. Harley could easily clear up the technicality in his qualification and enter the field again. He polled 300 votes more than his nearest opponent, and in a new contest his re-election is, therefore, considered certain. In this event the city would lose the money to no purpose, as there would be no change in the situation.

ending their educational progress with their departure from the public schools and being inadequately equipped for the tasks before them in the world.

Training men for citizenship, right thinking and right living, as was done by teachers in the pioneer days, was desirable in these days, the premier claimed. One solution of the rural school program suggested by Premier Drury was the appointment of permanent male teachers, whose salary and standing in the communities would be equal to the salaries and standing of the ministers of the gospel.

The premier said the public school teachers should train the pupils along the lines for which they were best adapted, and not make examinations the supreme test. He believed the public schools should retain the pupils till seventeen years of age, instead of fourteen years, and that every pupil should be taught to read books along the line in which he would be most interested, so as to develop the habit of thought. In this way only would the children be trained to become good citizens.

AMERICAN NAVY IS HOST TO JELLICOE AT BIG RECEPTION

Admiral Makes Official Inspection of Washington Navy Yards.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5 .- The American navy was "host" tonight at a reception given to Admiral Viscount Jellicee, of Scapa. Every naval officer stationed in Washington was specially inwashington was specially invited to be present.

The outstanding feature of the day was an official inspection of the Washington navy yards, in the course of which the visiting party was shown not only routine work on the big guns which will comprise the batteries of the new dreadnoughts Tennessea California.

only routine work on the big guns which will comprise the batteries of the new dreadnoughts Tennessee, California and Maryland, but new developments in naval armament of which no information hitherto had reached beyond naval circles.

Admiral Jelligge and the officers of the compression of the com circles.

Admiral Jellicoe and the officers in his party witnessed in the new gun shops the shrinking of a jacket on a 14-inch gun and the "lining" of a 16-inch, 50-catibre rifle. They also were shown an experimental 16-inch rifle which will have an elevation of 50 degrees. Engineers of the yard hesitated to predict the range of this piece, 30 degrees being the highest elevation yet tried. In this position, the gun threw a shell more than twenty-five miles.

Cough STRAINS THE LUNGS

The terrible, hacking lung-racking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it is a great source of danger to your health, and the longer it is allowed to stick the more serious the menace be-

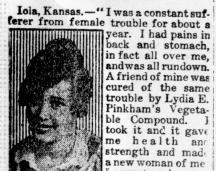

You can easily get rid of the cough or cold at its inception by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy that has been universally used throughout Canada for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Samuel Matthews, Portage, P. E. I., writes: "Last winter I caught a heavy cold, and was laid up for some time. I had such a hacking cough I could not sleep at night, and did not think I could ever get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me, and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so the next day I sent for a bottle and soon got relief, and by the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I doubt there is anything to equal it."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"But the Liberals who stood with Laurier in 1917, if they are to be true to the first principles of Liberalism, must be as ready to accord sincerity of purpose to those who differed from them as they are to demand a like attitude toward themselves."

Describing it as "one of those surprises which lend so much interest and zest to politics." the Liberal leader then made references to the defeat of the Hearst Government at the recent Ontario elections. Of the events of the last year one of the most significant, he said, had been the results attendant upon the political organization of the farmers in different parts of Canada, especially in Ontario.

Surprising as the outcome of the Ontario elections might at first appear, he claimed that one had not to search very far for an explanation. First must be placed the exasperation of the people with a government that had usurned the sovereign rights of the people to govern themselves and had become the chief ally of the federal administration in promulgating and maintaining arbitrary enactments.

Essentially Victory.

Dealing further with the election, he maintained that while farmer candidates were returned in largest numbers, the overthrow of the Hearst Government was essentially a victory for the Liberal forces against a reactionary government, accomplished in

He then spoke of the organization worked up by the farmers in Ontario, citing this as a further explanation of the success which attended their campaign. The organization formed by them, originally for social and economic purposes, became one for political purposes as well.

"Whether its plunge into the arena of politics may not bring disruption to the whole organization in its many splendid activities," he said, "is something which its members cannot weigh too carefully, and which time will serve to tell. The point I wish to make at the moment is that, as Liberals, Liberals in the truest meaning of that word, we mistake altogether the significance of these agrarian movements if we do not see in them evidences of Liberal thought and feeling on the part of those who are advocating and supporting their policies."

part of those who are advocating and supporting their policies."

Must Be Appreciation.

The attitude of Liberals toward the Labor movement must be one of appreciation, he cautioned. "Can we, as Liberals, fail to appreciate the aims and aspirations of that movement? Can we fail to share something of the feelings of the men and women who are a part of it?" he asked. "Speaking for myself, my interest in industrial problems is bred of my Liberalism. What the workers in one form or another are seeking is what we as Liberals have all along been speaking of as more in the way of equality of opportunity. If that is not part of Liberalism, then Liberalism has ceased to exist."

Speaking of the Liberal attitude toward war veterans Hon. Mr. King stated that there was no class more entitled to consideration than those who had risked their lives in battle and who now hope for a realization in larger measure of the freedom they fought to preserve. In an attempt to reconcile differences Mr. King saw Liberalism's supreme task.

Result in Conflict.

"Either we shall have an increasing growth of class consciousness on the part of each of the great groups I have mentioned," he continued, "resulting, as all class conscious growths are destined to result, in conflict with each other and with forces that sooner or later will oppose them, or we shall have a great progressive movement which shall lead to a new era of social progress and social justice. It will all depend upon whether the spirit of goodwill is sufficiently strong to overcome the spirit that war breeds and that continues to lurk in its wake."

Mr. King appealed strongly for the elimination of all differences, with the resolve that no cleavage should be allowed to destroy our national unity, which, he said, had been established in no uncertain manner by the war. "National unity we must at all costs maintain," he declared. "Our political platforms must be so drafted and our political policies so conceived and carried out as to make that unity at all times a great reality Never were the affairs of a country in a more hopeless state of muddle nor an administration more disorganized than is the case at the present time, "A policy of drift" is the characterization that can be made of the present government."

Review of Government.

Mr. King entered into an exhaustive review of the Borden Government during the last two years, claiming that affairs had been allowed to drift.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy: the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water: also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoon. ful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to falks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble, Winnipeg Convention Passes Resolution To Leave the Scheme As At Present.

(Canadian Press.)
WINNIPEG, Jan. 6.—As in the past, the farmers' political movement will be conducted on a provincial basis. This was unanimously decided upon at a convention here today of representatives of all farmers' associations, including the Canadian Council of Agriculture.

It was contended by some of the speakers that the farmers' movement should be more centralized, but it was ultimately concered that, as the present political strength of the movement had developed on the begin ment had developed on the basis of organization within the provinces, it would be wise to continue as before, for the time being, at any rate. The resolution was as follows:

"Whereas political action amongst the organized farmers of the provinces here represented has been taken in response to the demands formulated in resolutions which were adopted by the pro-vincial associations at their last annual conventions.

Convention Opens At Brandon With Large Attendance.

BRANDON, Man., Jan. 6. — With farmers gathered from all corners of the province, and with the last year full of interest on the entry of agricultural men generally into all phases of political activity, the annual convention of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, which opened here tonight, promises to focus attention of a Dominion-wide character.

The convention, according to old-timers who have watched its growth during the decade, promises to crystalize the growing sentiment among farmers of Western Canada to the extent that independent political action will be favored in hearty support of the farmers' platform.

Among many important resolutions to be discussed will be one temporary

Among many important resolutions to be discussed will be one to strongly oppose the idea of appointing a tariff commission, another to inaugurate a grain growers' Sunday, a third to better the rural telephone service, and a fourth motion will ask that military forces in Canada be reduced to a minimum.

Relief Director Takes Exception To Statements of Financial Needs.

(Canadian Press.) YORK, Jan. 6. - Herbert loover, on his way east in connection with relief work in Europe, today telegraphed to his headquarters in this city a statement in which he took emphatic exception to opinions of "European propagandists" both concerning the volume of Europe's financial needs om the United States and the conention that the great bulk of those needs cannot be met by ordinary comnercial credits.

Asserting that "with our taxes 600 per cent over previous rates" there is no need for drawing on the United States treasury for further loans, Mr. Hoover states that "aside from some secondary measures by our Government the problem is one of ratification of peace and ordinary business proof peace and ordinary business pro-cesses." He adds that "by secondary measures I mean that some dozen cities in Central and Southern Europe need breadstuffs on credit from the grain Germany, he says, could obtain commercial credits if the reparation commission would allow her to use her domestic resources and unpledged foreign assets until she gets further on her feet.

Have Enough Food.

Asserting that the East Baltic States have enough food except milk for their children, Mr. Hoover says Bulgaria, Greater Serbia, Rumania. South Russia and Turkey, except Armenia, have a surplus of food this year, while Hungary could feed herself if Rumania would return cattle and grain abstracted last summer.

"We are, therefore, left with Finland. Belgium, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and Austria to consider," says Mr. Hoover. "Austria is the sorest point in Europe.

[Canadian Press.] PARIS, Jan. 6 .- It is reported in diplomatic quarters that while it will not be impossible for the exchange of ratifications to take place Saturday, the ceremony may be delayed until Monday, January 12. This is due to the difficulties encountered by the commissions of experts.

An allied note handed to the German delegation late this evening refused to decrease the number of troop effectives destined for the territories in which plebiscites are to be held.

The note says that non-participation by the United States in the proposed occupation already has decreased the effectives by one-fourth, and Germany's expenses will be reduced accordingly, and that therefore Germany's request for a lessening in the number of troops is unwarranted.

OLD COUNTRY POLITICS.

defeat of the Lloyd George candidate in the Spen Valley by-election is a heavy blow to the British Unionist Government. A year ago the riding was won by a Radical, backed by the Coalition, with a majority of 2,000. This time Tom Myres, (Labor) defeated Sir John Simon of the Asquith Liberals and Col. Fairfax, a Coalition Liberal. Fairfax had the strongest support the Coalition could furnish, but along with Simon he went down before the Labor candidate, who polled 11,962 votes to Simons' 10,244 and Fairfax's 8,134.

The result of the contest is significant. It must be considered a severe reverse for the Lloyd George Government and is a spectacular indication of the rapid advance Labor is making in British politics. It is reasonable and safe to forecast the early ascendency to power of Labor, if we are to judge by the sweeping success of Labor in recent borough and by-elections. The Liberal party, that is, the party of the Asquith Liberals is leaning more and more towards Labor and this combination will almost certainly sweep out the Coalition forces at the next general election.

MONEY NEEDED TO PREVENT PLAGUE. Sir George Paish seeks a huge loan in America to help prevent a plague that might decimate Europe. This is decidedly new in the way of prospectus for a loan, but it should not be treated lightly. Privation of all kinds, much of it extreme, has touched every part of Continental Europe. The nations are under-nourished. The war has wiped out millions of the strong and vigorous, and tens of thousands of others have been permanently incapacitated from resuming life in the former way. To meet and overcome the terrible conditions that prevail, especially in central and southeastern Europe, there is left only the old, the weak and the very young. Countless numbers of these will perish because of insufficient food, clothing and warmth before the spring, and such as are left will be in no condition to resist such diseases as fatten on lowered vitality. It will require great quantites of foodstuffs to combat this peril and, as well, an army of sanitation and medical experts. Western Europe must bend to this great task if swift death in the form of plague is not to sweep across all lands and possibly leap the Atlantic to the new world. Sir George Paish is right. First make Europe healthy and clean: restore physical vitality and presently Europe will be producing once more to the saving benefit of herself and the rest of the world. But if Europe is decimated by some plague or series of epidemics everything else will go down in

The Montreal Gazette draws attention to a warning issued by Sir Charles Parsons, a distinguished English scientist, given before a meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. Sir Charles declared, that, viewing the rapid manner in which coal and water powers were being used, in an age of machinery and invention, one had to admit that unless science could realize fresh discoveries, taking the place of energies on the way to exhaustion, the great position of England could not be maintained for an indefinite time. Sir Charles referred to the fact that Canada revealed 20,000,000 horse power in her water supply, which is an enormous factor in the case; and that other parts of the empire also offered great resources, whereas England, the centre of the empire, only had one per cent of the water powers of the world. Even in the outer parts of the empire, ex haustion would occur in measurable time; but, in the meantime, as impoverishment began to be noticed in the natural energies of the Mother Country, the people would emigrate to those parts of the empire which showed, for the time being, at any rate, those potential powers which guaranteed industrial activity and prosperity. Thus, England, which has made deep inroads into her industrial power during the war, would show waning resources, and unless science could come to her aid, the future would be grave indeed. Happily, the history of the empire has shown that whenever a great need has disclosed itself. that need has been supplied. There may have been muddling in respect to large policies; there may have been "flanneled fools at the wicket," but in the emergent moment, the need has always been met. The statesman may have blundered; but, at the critical moment, the right man was found and the situation was saved. Germany showed resource in the instrumentalities she employed in the war; but the British retorted with superior skill and effect, and the Huns were "hoist with their own petard."

PREPARING TO STAGNATE.

In view of the fact that they expect to have little to do during the absence of the prime minister, the Cabinet at Ottawa is beginning to draw itself in, as far as bulk is concerned. Two departments that were created to meet special war-time and post-war needs will probably be merged in old departments, it is unofficially stated. The department of immigration and colonization is likely to be merged back into the department of interior, and the department having to do with the civil re-establishment of the returned soldiers will be swallowed up by the militia department. The minor department of mines is to go to the interior department as well.

It is not so long ago that there was a great blazon of trumpets from Ottawa to proclaim the energy and interest of the Government in having established these newer departments. Immigration was to be looked after as it had never been cared for in the past. But, today, almost before we have welcomed any after-war immigration, the department ceases its separate existence, and from now on it will be in the hands of some under official at Ottawa, receiving such scraps of time and attention as the minister of interior may be able to spare to it from other duties

Surely immigration is of greater concern than this. More than anything else we need population, we need to pump in the right sort for fifty years to come to people the millions of acres of this country. Half a continent with little more than eight million people is the situation at the beginning of the third decade of the twentieth century. If the Unionist Government is satisfied with that state of affairs it is more than the people of Canada are satisfied

Nor is there likely to be any general sympathy with the proposal to merge soldiers' re-establishments in the militia department. We do not want a militia re-establishment. we want a civil re-establishment, and it is very doubtful if the militia department, as constituted today, can handle that problem satisfactorily. There is a vast amount of work to do in dealing justly and wisely with all the phases of the returned man's situation. Evidently the Unionist Cabinet thinks it can most easily dispose of a troublesome situation by handing the business over to the militia authorities.

One quite obvious reason for the curtailing of departments is the dread the Cabinet has of by-elections at the present time. With several ministers retiring or taking minor posts it is a case of getting in new blood or abolishing the offices. And since new blood for the Cabinet has to undergo the public analysis that is provided for by our system of by-elections the authorities at the captial adopt the alternative and abolish the offices. It is quite an interesting device for maintaining in office a group who have for some time past lacked the confidence

OUR BOND THE COMMON TONGUE. [Lathrop Stoddard in World's Work.]

The eminent English litterateur, John Galsworthy, while asserting the existence of wide physical and temperamental divergencies between the English and American peoples, believes that these are more than offset by the English tongue. In an entitled "The Community of Language," recently delivered before an American audience in the Academy of Arts and Sciences, Mr. Galsworthy do not think that you Americans and we English are any longer strikingly alike in physical type or general characteristics, no more than think there is much resemblance between your selves and the Australians. Our link is now mon unity of language—and the infinity which this connotes.

"We, who possess in common the English lan guage-"best result of the confusion of tongues, Lowell called it—that most superb instrument for the making of world music, for the telling of the truth, and the expression of the imagination, may well remember this: That in the use we make of it, in the breadth, justice and humanity of ou thoughts, the vigor, restraint, clarity and beauty of the setting we give to them, we have our greates chance to make our countries lovely and beloved, to further the happiness of mankind, and to keep immortal the priceless friendship between us."

The voice of God! SENSE OF SPEED.

W. P. Beazell says in an article in a New York paper, telling some of his flying experiences: "Very little sense of speed comes to one in the air. There is, of course, the tremendous rush of air past one's face, but a whirling propeller will give that before one has left the ground. There are no landmark in the air, and it is by landmarks that we measure the speed of trains and automobiles, for instance The earth is so far below that it seems to be passing at about the rapidity of a horse car. After a time the landlubber begins to realize that what he was regarding as suburban plots are really farms, that the fish ponds are town reservoirs, that the brooks are rivers, and that by holding out his hand he can blot from view a county. When that happens he begins to get a proper perspective of The Christ, on to thy glorious home with God.

WHAT IS EDUCATION?

[New York Times.]
The truth is that "education" is finally and maturely picked up in the fields and streets, among would men and women and realities, much more effectively and really than in the formal courses of schools and universities. However and wherever hit or missed, "education" is multiform and protean, hard to grasp or define. One of the best concrete illustrations of it was made by Lord Morley. He said, in effect, that "an educated man knows when a thing has been proved and when it hasn't."

EXPENSIVE SLANG.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.] Vulgar slang is execrable. No tongue should Cheap slang should be avoided, not only because its use discloses poor taste, lack of refinement and lack of appreciation of the beauties of the English language, but because it is detrimental to the interests of the user. But the occasional use of a slang word which is vigorous and expressive of an idea more fully than any accepted word of longer use is not to be condemned.

INDIA'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Indian people have made rapid progress since the outbreak of the war, both towards national unity and towards greater local expression. The limited liberties they have won are the reward for services to the Empire during the war with men and money. In working for the war and in giving vocal expression to national demands, the ancient division lines of race, and to some extent of caste, have been obliterated. India is now embarked on the lesson of courage with self-discipline. For the development of Indian liberty, selfrestraint is needed on both sides. The people must prove its fitness for self-rule. The British Government must not allow itself to be driven into reaction by the inevitable mistakes of a people that is just learning how to walk and speak.

WHEN TICKLES PLAYED LION

Now, you'll agree with me that five pounds isn't very much for a little dog to weigh, but that is all Tickles weighed. He was a French poodle, and the cutest little white dog you can imagine. Tickles was small outside, but he certainly had a brave little heart and a bold spirit inside—if he hadn't, why this story would never have been written.

It all happened after Tickles had been "clipped." The clipper-man had run his clippers all over Tickles' body, leaving just a little ridge of long hair on his neck and a big tuft of hair on the end of his tail.

"Why, he looks just like a lion," Tommy, Tickles' master, cried when he saw his little pet after the clipperman had finished with him, and so he saw his little pet after the clipperman had finished with him, and so Tickles did look like a lion—but a very small lion he was, to be sure.

The next day when Tommy's playmates saw Tickles they thought he looked like a lion, too.

"Let's have a circus," Teddy Brown suggested, and the other boys all clamored for a circus. suggested, and the other boys all clamored for a circus.

Soon all the little boys in the neighborhood arrived with their carts and a circus procession was formed. In a box on the first cart Tickles was caged with the little was caged. up. At first the little dog was frightened, but when he saw what fun the boys were having he knew what was expected of him and looked as much like a lion as he could, although he didn't really know what a lion looked like

Now, to hear oneself called a lion Now, to hear oneself called a lion for a whole day, and to have dozens and dozens of little boys and girls come to see one, is apt to make any little dog feel like a lion, so it was that at the end of the day Tickles' head was in such a whirl he wasn't sure whether he was dog or lion. He was a very tired little dog at the end of the day and was glad he had a nice soft bed to sleep on that night. The next morning Tickles woke up feeling very fresh and gay. "Hello, Tickles." Buster called, for "Hello, Tickles," Buster called, for he had been away the day before and had not seen his little pal.

"Please don't call me Tickles," the poodle answered, "I'm a lion now."

"A lion! Ha, ha!" Buster laughed.
"You are as much like a lion as I am like a dog biscuit. Who told you you were a lion?"

"Why, everyone says I'm a lion," Tickles spoke up, and with that he "Why, everyone says I'm a lion," Tickles spoke up, and with that he walked away, for he did not like to be laughed at, especially by little dogs that weren't as old as he.

Buster was a saucy little dog and he loved to tease, so he ran about and told all the other dogs nearby that Tickles was making out he was a lion. Somehow word got to Rover, the big dog at the real circus that had arrived in the city that day. Rover went to in the city that day. Rover went to tell the real lion and the real lion was quite disturbed to think that a dog was bold enough to make out he was him.

That afternoon Tickles was strutting about the front lawn, thinking how nice it was to be a lion, when he heard a great growl right behind him. Tickles turned quickly, and there, with mouth wide open showing the biggest teeth ever, was the most ferocious looking animal Tickles had ever seen. "Now I'm going to eat you up," said the real lion, for it was he. "I'll teach you to make out you're a lion." you to make out you're a lion."
"Who are you?" Tickles gasped. He

"Indeed, I'm not," Tickles answered.
"But, you see, I had never seen a lion and they said I looked like one."
"Well, I'm going to eat you up," the real lion said, and with that he opened his mouth wider.

Now, if Tickles hadn't been a brave little dog he would have dropped dead with fright, but instead he took to his heels and ran as fast as he could. But closer and closer the lion seemed to be coming to him. There was the sound of a swish in the air, and Tickles heard a great howl.
"Back there, you brute," said a harsh voice, and when Tickles looked around he saw a big man with a long whip, thrashing the real lion for all he was worth.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have noticed daily in the paper your Mail-Box, and sevited for the control of the same plood stream which nourishes the liver and the brain; it is under the control of the same nervous system which controls the heart; it is vulnerable to the same germs which vulnerable to the same germs which frequently invade other organs of the body; its condition, appearance, beauty and functional activity are each and all as directly dependent upon the func-tional integrity of the ductless glands as is the individual's mental alertness as is the individual's mental alertness or circulatory efficiency.

All of this is mere physiology. Yet when Alicia Prinklerrimps has something the matter with her complexion she consults the press agent of a movie actress; when Mrs. Corsette Ada Pose grows sallow she visits a massage parlor; and when E. Z. Pickin, Esq., has an infected follicle under his chin he bids the barber to explore for a hypothetical "incrowing hair!" It's a great game, the skin game. And it's a great skin, a game skin, to endure so much abuse so well.

Dear Miss Grey,—I. like many others, have been a silent, interested reader of your page, and like Florrie, have picked up courage, too. I would greatily appreciate that wonderful stocking. In fact I don't care how many years a patient has lived; I deem it not only impertinent but superfluous to ask a patient how old he or she might be, if I can but feel the pulse. Any doctor can estimate age as accurately as I can in that way. But I have still another trick up my sleeve, which perhaps, does not occur to some better doctors than I; that is estimating the patient's age by feeling of the patient's skin along the back of the hand. That is easily done, very easily with one's more pulchritudinous patent's skin along the back of the hand. That is easily done, very easily with one's more pulchritudinous patients. AS YOU WERE

The sale of Ruth has broken the quiet of the baseball trading and selling market with a vengeance. The shake-ups predicted at the close of the season, have not materialized, and the annual meetings were unusual in that no trading was done right on the spot. However, there is reason to believe that plans were laid at the meetings for trades which will shortly be announced.

It sometimes happens that weeks go by without announcement of a trade in the off season. Then somebody starts things rolling, and deals are numerous. There is not a club in either major league that could not be improved by the discarding of talent that has been with it too long, and needs newer fields to bring out fading energy. Even championship teams can be improved by the transfusion of new blood, and for the second division teams, the need is greater, and the gamble on a trade becomes less.

One thing is certain. It doesn't matter how much Ruth went for. He'll think it's just about half what he's worth.

The movement to co-operate with Canada in hockey in the States is exending to other sports, and the prophecy is made in well-informed circles that few years will see all winter sports carried on internationally, and with one incomplete the former's rushes absorbed. et of governing rules. O PEND you winter at the Pacific Coast-where the climate is mild and luxurious, and where zero weather is unknown. Vancouver has golf the whole year round, splendid roads for motoring, and a number of beautiful spots within easy reach, such as Victoria.

And it has perfect accommodation at the magnificent Hotel Vancouver, the finest hotel on the North Pacific-one of the Canadian Pacific hotels.

W. B. HOWARD, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

An exceptionally small amount of hay has been offered on the local market this week owing to the bad roads and cold weather. This morning $29 a ton, the highest price in several months, was being paid. Only four loads were offered up to a late hour.

Oats are scarce on the market, but as cold weather. This morning $29 a ton, the highest price in several months. Was being paid. Only four loads were offered up to a late hour.

Oats are scarce on the market, but as many carloads are being shipped into the city from outside points, the price remains steady at $3 a cwt.

Little wheat is being offered. For milling purposes $2 a bushel is being paid, but for other grades the price is $1.90.

There will be a shipment of live hogs today, but no quotations were obtainable early.
