MEIGHEN WILL ATTACK PROGRESSIVE PARLEY

Hydro Delegation Presents Appeal To Federal Cabinet

MEIGHEN IS READY TO PREACH GOSPEL OF 'NEED A CHANGE'

Conservative Chief Thinks Premier King Hasn't Done Very Well and That the Visit of Progressives to Ottawa Is a Very Naughty Piece of Business.

TORY CARAVAN ARRIVES IN JUBILANT MOOD

When the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen made his last formal jaunt into Western Ontario he came as the prime minister, the first gentleman of this dominion.

When he gave notice here in September, 1921, that he was going to dissolve parliament he was the acclaimed leader of the "National, Liberal and Conservative" party, a by-product of the war.

The "double ly-ch-pin name" has disappeared, but the Right Hon. Arthur is back again today as the Tory crusader to deliver us from the hands of the Phisistines.

For more than two years now, the Right Hon. Arthur and his knights of the round table have been on the outside looking in, and it comes as no staggering blow to learn that the achievements of Mackenzie King's administration at Ottawa fail to measure up to the requirements as prescribed by their Tory predecessors.

Even as the people of this country spoke their belief in 1921 that "It's time for a change," so today, counsels the Right Hon. Arthur and his trusty lieutenants from Quebec that "It's time for a change." They tried to persuade The Advertiser to this effect all the way from Brantford to London this morning.

It's the old, old story. Let the grand old party serve you in the same grand old way. And tonight in the Winter Gardens the leader of the opposition, amongst other things, will denounce the contemplated amalgamation at Ottawa of the Liberal and Progressive forces, branding the move as "the process of bargain and sale with the Progressives to keep the Liberal party in full swing." This would be an accomplishment, Mr. Meighen senses, after "years of calculated planning." At tonight's gathering the leader of the opposition will also deal with imperialism and, fresh from his tour through the highways and byways of the province of Quebec, will urge that time-honored closer feeling of co-operation between the habitants of Quebec and the Tories of Ontario.

French-Canadian Tories travelling into London today with their chief for the love festival in the Winter Gardens tonight do not seem to regard seriously the suggested compact between Premier King and the Progressives. They say that the people of Quebec will place but little faith in the move until it is actually consummated, if at all. They have their doubts as to the latter.

Meighen Dislikes It. Needless to announce, the Right Hon. Arthur is not impressed with the latest development at Ottawa occasioned by the arrival there of the Progressive chiefs from the west. And on board his special coach hurrying into London to-day from Montreal, he was busy framing a "stinging rebuke" for consumption tonight.

The Tory caravan left Montreal at 11 p.m. yesterday, reaching here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. It was a wonderful trip from a "There was no excitement, quarrelling, or fighting." "All the boys were cheerful on their way from Montreal." "There were blue bandannas, short havannas, and bunches of bananas." "For the Tories at the Ball."

The Right Hon. Arthur Meighen and a forecasted Conservative victory at the next federal election are the chief reasons for tonight's ceremonies and attached to the leader's party in his special coach from Montreal were such notable casualties from other conflicts as the Hon. Robert Monty, the Hon. J. G. Bell, Andre Patenaude and John Sullivan, 1 C.

Not Many Left. With there were so many other representatives from Quebec as to round the comment from those not part of the parliamentary caravan but few Tories could have been straggled when the Meighen special pulled out from Montreal. They were in obvious high spirits. Songs and witty sayings emanated from the special coaches. The eastward west at Paris Junction, and it was a pleasing version for the weary Montrealeers when a London delegation boarded the train in the persons of Frank White, M.P., Fred Lawson, Thomas Scandrett and Arthur Ford.

The Montreal Party. Included in the party from Montreal, as well as former members of the Quebec cabinet, were: J. A. Corbett, D. J. Ibbotson, J. A. Lamare, L. A. Gravel, Felix Desrochers, William Loiseleur, Fred Stewart, president of the Montreal Conservative Association, Rod Camirault, Beaulieu, A. Boissimault, N. Brox, A. Dufresne, P. Baillargeon and J. A. Thibault.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS IN LONDON.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative opposition in the federal house, at left, and Hon. Hugh Guthrie, former minister of militia, right. Mr. Meighen addressed members of the Canadian Club this afternoon, while Mr. Guthrie was the guest of honor at the Kiwanis luncheon, at which he spoke.

FRANCE MUST QUIT RUHR SAYS GUTHRIE

The Former Minister of Militia Warns World May Be Involved in War.

SPEAKS TO KIWANIANS

Unless the present situation in Europe is carefully handled with good, common sense, and France is persuaded to withdraw from the Ruhr, the world may find itself involved in another war, more terrible than the last.

This statement was made by the Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia in the Meighen government, in an address given at the Kiwanis Club today. Mr. Guthrie spoke on the Ruhr question and the attitude of France towards Germany and Europe as a whole.

Referring to the years 1914-18, Mr. Guthrie stated that it was lamentable that after so long a period together there should be a strong cleavage of opinion between Great Britain and France, as at present. Outlining the history of the Ruhr invasion and the reparations committee, the speaker showed where Germany had fallen down in its promises, exasperating France, who occupied the Ruhr.

MRS. MEIGHEN GUEST OF HONOR

Luncheon Given by London Women For Wife of Conservative Leader.

Mrs. Arthur Meighen, wife of the Conservative leader, who is visiting in London with her husband, Mrs. Meighen was the guest of honor at a luncheon given this afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party in the Federal House, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given at Smallman & Ingram's tea-room at noon today, by Mrs. Frank White and Mrs. A. T. Edwards. Other distinguished Conservative women of the province were also guests of the occasion. A reception committee convened by Mrs. S. F. Lawson, met the guests as they arrived at both the G. N. R. and C. P. R. stations this morning, and an informal reception was held in the Tecumseh House from there to a reception, which was held in the Conservative Club rooms over the opera house, and where the women of the city were given an opportunity of meeting the wife of the Conservative leader.

Mrs. Meighen was present at the Women's Canadian Club later in the afternoon, where the Hon. Mr. Meighen spoke on "The Place Women Play in Nation Building." A reception tonight, following the banquet at the Winter Gardens, will complete the program for the day. While in the city Mrs. Meighen expects to meet some old friends privately.

POLICE BUSY WARNING MOTORISTS ON PARKING

Police officers are busy these days warning motorists that their cars must not be parked on down town streets for more than half an hour at a time. Four citizens who parked their cars on Richmond street today were told to move them along or a summons would follow.

It Is Unfair

The Advertiser regrets that the Free Press has not seen fit either to withdraw or to make definite its insinuations of intemperance against the members of last year's city council. These insinuations should not have been made unless they were to be followed by proof against guilty parties. Otherwise a slur is cast on men who have served London honorably and well.

CHEER MEIGHEN ON HIS ARRIVAL

Tory Supporters Rally Around To Greet Their Chief.

The Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former premier, and a small advance guard of his supporters, were met by a cheering crowd of Conservatives when their special car pulled into the C. N. R. depot at 1:05 this afternoon. After shaking hands for fifteen minutes, posing for the cameras and acknowledging the cheers with a ready smile, the leader of the opposition motored with Ernest Dennis, Mayor Wenige and others around the block and stopped at the Tecumseh House for dinner.

Mr. Meighen, wearing a heavy coat and battered felt hat, looked the picture of health as he moved slowly through the cheering throng of admirers. Mrs. Meighen, a fine-looking woman; Hon. Rudolph Monty, swathed in a fur coat, and other prominent individuals, lined up with Mr. Meighen for the photographers and gave their best smiles.

Mayor George Wenige, Ald. Jack Greer, and many other civic officials were on hand to receive the party. The mayor and Mr. Meighen had a confidential chat on the station and exchanged jokes, which brought mirth from a group of listeners. Mr. Meighen then proceeded to the rooming house at the address before the through the former premier was escorted by a bodyguard of local Conservative stand-bys into a reserved room in the Tecumseh House where he was to remain during his stay in the city.

MELBOURNE BANDIT SAYS HE WAS HERE CHRISTMAS

William Murrell Sends Letter to Governor Byron Dawson.

"SEASONABLE CHEER"

Officials Look on Epistle as Obvious Fake by Humorist.

While Sidney Murrell was forking away a large and appetizing Christmas dinner behind cell bars at the county jail, his brother Bill, the much-wanted Melbourne bank robber, was eating his dinner in London, according to a letter purporting to come from Bill himself and which was sent to Governor Byron Dawson of the county jail.

The communication was turned over to the London police department and an investigation was made at the order of Chief Birrell. The detectives, however, believe that the communication was a fake from beginning to end, and was written the day before Christmas by some individual who had done more than gaze on the flowing bowl. In fact he must have been drunk according to the authorities to have concocted the following effusion on which he wasted a perfectly good three-cent stamp.

Here's how the letter reads: "Mr. Bryson Dawson, care London Jail, London, Ont.

"Dear Sir:—No doubt you will be surprised to hear from me. But I am right in town to enjoy my Christmas dinner which you will no doubt try to stop. But you won't be within three blocks of where I am going. Put that in your pipe and smoke it while I am eating my Christmas dinner."

"So long for this time. I remain yours truly and as ever your long-wanted friend or enemy."

William Murrell, London, Ont.

Try and get me. Ha. Ha.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

When interviewed regarding the letter, Governor Dawson would make no comment. He would not state as whether he had received a letter or not.

Despondent Foxterrier Discarded, Ends Own Life

"Tony" Jumps From Window When Spaniel Takes His Place.

FOUND ON SIDEWALK

Tony, a foxterrier belonging to a local resident on Ridout street, committed suicide yesterday evening. He jumped out of a third-story window of his owner's large house and was found this morning his master claimed the dog's death had been self-inflicted.

The owner attributes the action of the dog to a broken heart or "melancholia." Thursday his little mistress, a girl of six years, was given a spaniel. She had been with him for six months because he was getting old and would not play. So her father presented her with the spaniel. The little girl played with the pup all day. Bits of sugar which would ordinarily have gone to Tony were given to the pup. When Tony came for his morning bowl of sweetened milk, he discovered the usurper had demolished it. In a fit of temper, he attacked the pup, but the little girl caught him, gave him a sound thump and put him out of the house.

Tony roamed the streets until late in the evening. Unknown to members of the family he must have come back to the house about 8 o'clock last night. He went upstairs to the attic to nurse his grievances and found a window open. Just below the window was a cement sidewalk and it was there that Tony's crushed body was found today. The spaniel saw him lying there, sniffed two or three times, and did not seem to understand. When the little girl went out after him she found them both, the little pup still sniffing and Tony on his side at the edge of the sidewalk.

There were no outward marks of injury on Tony's body, but his skull had been fractured. The body had lain in the same position all night. Today the little girl is grief-stricken and as they cleared away the snow in the backyard, dug a hole and placed Tony in his last resting place, the innocent spaniel, who indirectly caused the trouble, rubbed his nose against her and seemed to comprehend.

Premier King Promises Immediate Consideration Of St. Lawrence Project

Delegation 170 Strong From All Parts of Ontario Present Hydro Case.

NEEDS ARE OUTLINED

Speakers Urge Government To Aid in Power Development at Morrisburg.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—The dread of Ontario, that it may suffer a power shortage in 1926, such as it had in 1920, only worse, shutting down its industries, putting factories on part time and requiring the curtailing of street lighting, was brought forcibly to the attention of Premier King and twelve cabinet ministers today when a delegation from the Ontario Municipal Electric Association, 170 strong, asked that the Provincial Hydro Commission should be allowed to develop 700,000 horsepower at Morrisburg in co-operation with the United States authorities.

Premier King was obviously impressed by the presentation made. But he did not think it was quite as easy as Mayor Maguire of Toronto suggested it was to bring all the interests affected into harmony. He admitted that his worship's remark made him smile.

"If he can bring all the interests into harmony the government will not lose any time acting," he promised, "but the difficulty of the government is to see that the various interests are harmonized. There are different provincial interests, the Dominion, and the relation of this country to the United States. Those are large interests to bring into harmony on any question."

"I don't say that what Mr. Maguire desires cannot be brought about. It is one of the government's chief duties to harmonize conflicting interests."

Promises Early Consideration.

"I am not justified in saying more. I should not forecast the decision of the government without conference with my colleagues in view of the representations today. One of the first matters we will take up—not in a week, but tomorrow or early next week—will be a consideration of the matters submitted to us today."

There were present, representing the government, Premier King, Hon. A. B. Copp, Hon. James Murdoch, Hon. George P. Graham. The delegation was introduced by C. W. Gordon. Please See Page 21, Column 4.

LONDON DELEGATE.

E. V. Buchanan, general manager of London Public Utilities, who was one of the delegates from this city sent by the Ontario Municipal Electric Association who presented to the King cabinet today an appeal for aid in the St. Lawrence power project.

VENIZELOS WILL FORM MINISTRY

Will Assume Premiership With Republican Leader as the Main Support.

DANGLIS FAILS

Aged Greek Statesman Assumes Responsibility as Last Resort.

Associated Press Despatch.

Athens, Jan. 11.—Ex-Premier Venizelos decided this morning to form a cabinet in which he will be premier without portfolio with George Rousfos, Republican Liberal leader, as foreign minister, as the only possible solution of the protracted governmental crisis.

After General Danglis, who censured yesterday to endeavor to form a ministry, had failed in the attempt, despite all-night effort.

General Danglis' failure caused the keenest disappointment to Venizelos and his decision to become premier himself was taken as apparently the only course remaining open. The most prominent orthodox Liberals refused to co-operate in the forming of a Danglis cabinet. M. Koundaris was next approached, but he declined the difficult task, and the situation continued confused.

As showing the impatience of Venizelos, he told a group of Cretans last night that unless his political friends co-operated with him he would again quit Greece.

GIRL STRUCK BY TRAIN IS INSTANTLY KILLED

Margie Macfie, Living Near Milton, Was Walking on Track.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, Jan. 11.—Taking a short cut on the way to high school, Margie Macfie, 17 years old, was struck by a west bound C. P. R. train a quarter of a mile east of Milton and instantly killed at 6 o'clock this morning. Miss Macfie, who was walking west along the track, evidently did not hear the whistle of the train, which was also proceeding west. Engineer Galbraith, who has been on the run since the accident, declared he blew the whistle, but that the girl did not seem to pay any attention to it. The body of the girl was badly mangled. She lived with her parents about a mile east of Milton.

SUNKEN SUB IS LOCATED IN THIRTY FATHOMS

Heavy Sea Prevents British Divers Going Down to Investigate.

MAY USE HOOKS

Searchers Have Slight Hopes of Any of Men Being Saved.

Associated Press Despatch.

Portland, Eng., Jan. 11.—An object believed to be the British submarine B-24, which met disaster off this coast yesterday, in a collision with the dreadnought Resolution, has been located off the coast at a depth of 39 fathoms, according to officials here.

A heavy sea was running this morning, so that it was impossible for divers to descend to investigate. However, if the bad weather continued efforts will be made to drag the submarine into shallower water with grappling hooks.

BANDON HOPE FOR MEN.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Jan. 11.—The British submarine L-24, rammed by the dreadnought Resolution yesterday, is lying thirty fathoms deep about eleven miles south of Portland Bill, according to the latest reports from Weymouth. While it is admitted that the information as to the craft's position is to a great extent conjectural, there is nothing to indicate that her crew of 42 men have not perished. Inasmuch as no oil was noticed on the surface of the water after the submarine went down, it is supposed that the vessel's petrol tanks were not broken when the Resolution rammed her, although some of the searchers point out that any trace of oil would have been dispersed quickly by the rough sea.

Salvagers Kept Busy.

It is taken for granted that all the men were below when the boat left Portland for the maneuvers, in which she was to take part, as the weather was too heavy to allow them to remain on deck. Until further investigation has been made it has been impossible to tell just how the disaster happened. However, one of the latest reports says that the L-24 rose beneath the dreadnought and struck the latter's bows.

Last night was unusually dark and despite the numerous searchlights brought into play little could be done until daylight, but the salvage craft kept busy for some time ashore, equipped with hydrophones tried, though vainly to catch any sounds that might be made by the imprisoned men.

Had Close Call.

Lieutenant Commander Eddis had a close call during the war. He was junior officer of the submarine E-13 when that craft grounded on the coast of the Danish island, Saltholm, in 1915. The Danish authorities gave her 24 hours to get off, but in the meantime German destroyers arrived and opened fire and the E-13 was soon ablaze. Her commander ordered the crew to swim ashore. Nearly all were shot down by the Germans. Lieutenant Commander Eddis, one of the few men to escape, was interned in Denmark. It is reported, but not confirmed, that the submarine K-12, badly damaged in a collision with the K-2 near the scene of the L-24's disaster, has sunk in shallow water.

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS TO COVER WIDE FIELD

FOUR ENGINEERS MAY BE AFFECTED IN HENRY'S SLASH

Minister Plans That Men in Department Cover Greater Area.

MORE SUPERVISION

Which, if any of the Western Ontario provincial resident engineers will be out in the cold after the Hon. G. S. Henry has finished pruning the staff? This is the question agitating local engineering circles today after reading the dispatch from Toronto stating that Hon. Mr. Henry was on the job-slicing warpath.

There are four engineers in the district who will be affected. They are: J. M. Empey, St. Marys; C. K. S. McDonnell, Woodstock; J. G. Smith, St. Thomas, and J. Sear, Chatham. All these men have control over portions of provincial highways which total in all about 550 miles.

"I understand that all these men have been asked to resign," declared one man in close touch with the situation. "They are all splendid engineers, and Mr. Henry will have his work cut out in choosing who will remain. I don't expect that more than two men will be kept on the job. The appointments were made back in 1920 when there was a great deal of construction work to be done. This is practically completed now, and all the engineers will have to do is to see that the roads are kept in proper repair. It will be more supervision than anything else."

"I have been told that Western Ontario will be divided into two sections and two men should be able to handle all the work that will be found necessary."

PILOTS OF ST. ANDREW'S MAKE GOOD PROGRESS

Trail Ranger Group Has Only Been Organized About a Year.

After being in existence about a year the Pilots, a trail ranger group of St. Andrew's Church, are well pleased with the progress made. The group won second place in the national C. S. E. T. athletic meet, held in June last, and under the leadership of Harold Newell, won the monthly cup competition in December. Robert Rider and Donald Adams are two members of the group who have done much to annex the awards and it is hoped that they will show the same prowess during 1924.

The following is a list of the badge awards gained by the boys of the group: Robert Rider, 22; Rudolph Eberhardt, 15; Donald Gladman, 14; Ernest Smith, 14; Wentworth McPetich, 10; Donald Adams, 9; Stanley Glazier, 8; Bruce Hogarth, 12; Harry Rowley, 5; Donald Carr-Harris, 5; G. Langlois, 3; and Carson Brown, 4.

Dean Fox Defends College Girls Against Drinking and Cigarette-Smoking Charges

"As I Know Her, She Is an Admirable Type," Western Official Says.

IS SUPERIOR, TOO

Physical Director Declares Co-Eds Here Healthier Than Average "U" Girls.

Defending the college girl against the charges of cigarette smoking and drinking, made yesterday by Dr. Charles Smith of Roanoke College, Dean W. S. Fox of the University of Western Ontario, declared the college girl to be of a superior type.

"So far as I know her, the university girl is an admirable type," the dean declared.

Dr. George Smith, director of physical training at the university, speaking on the general fitness of the girls at the university, said that the girls were decidedly above the average. The girls who specialize in athletics and games at the university are superior in physical perfection to the girls of other universities in Canada, according to Dr. Smith.

"At the commencement of each university year, every boy and girl who intends taking part in any form of athletics, has to undergo a physical examination," Dr. Smith said.

"We find from these examinations that the girls of this university are strong and robust. Few of them suffer from weak hearts and in comparison with the girls of other universities they are a healthier lot. The boys of the university are not above the average, but they can hold their own with any other university in Canada."

Dr. Smith attributes the general good health and physical ability of the university girls to regular attendance at the physical culture classes and enthusiasm in sports. It is Dr. Smith's opinion that the physical culture courses which play such an important part in university life should be continued after the second year. The rules now require first and second year students must take physical training. "In many cases," said Dr. Smith, "among third and fourth year students the tendency is to neglect physical training and as a result they are not as healthy a type."

Preparations are being made at the university to develop the physical culture courses. With the completion of more suitable playing fields at the new university and a modern gymnasium, Dr. Smith expects that athletics will make great strides in university life of the future.

EDUCATION OFFICIALS RECEIVE 25 MAGAZINES

W. A. Tanner Requests Instructions re Continuance of Periodicals.

An incomplete list shows that more than 25 magazines, practically all American, are supplied to the officials of the board of education and the collegiate institutes.

This was brought out at the inaugural meeting of the board of education last night, when Secretary W. A. Tanner requested instructions as to the continuance of these periodicals.

Referring to the subscriptions for the colleges, Principal Miller stated that the list was incomplete, and that several Canadian magazines were also on the list. These were paid for from a special grant made to the colleges for this purpose and included in the estimates. The matter was referred to the various committees interested.

WOMAN GARBED AS NURSE GETS MORPHINE SUPPLY

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Jan. 11.—Operating in the guise of a nurse a woman has been obtaining quantities of morphine from druggists throughout the eastern section of the city, and to date has successfully avoided the police.

A warning has been sent to all local druggists concerning her.

Entering a store, the woman would state she was a nurse on a case at such-and-such an address. She would want a hot water bottle or other goods sent over within an hour, but having parcels to carry, would take a dozen morphine tablets with her at once. She presented a regular prescription with her order, and in each case was given the drug asked for. Only when the balance of the "order" was delivered was the fraud discovered.

A. H. KENNEDY, who was appointed to serve on the vocational advisory committee of the board of education for three years.

City Churches

WELLINGTON STREET W. M. S.

The devotional exercises at the meeting of the W. M. S. of Wellington Street Methodist Church yesterday were taken by Mrs. T. Fairies and Mrs. I. Wallace. A questionnaire on the annual report was an innovation, during which many asked questions, which were answered by the different members. A great deal of information about the work being accomplished in the home and foreign fields was received. The questionaire was led by Mrs. E. Brady. Mrs. H. Woollett gave a half-hour talk on the new study book, after which arrangements were made for the Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in January 20, which will be in charge of the W. M. S., and at which Mrs. Gordon Wright will be the speaker. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. J. Currie, Mrs. Bonser, Mrs. J. Bailey and Mrs. A. McCallum.

Ex-Controller J. Q. McCarthy of Toronto will address the mass meeting of the Men's Brotherhoods on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in Dundas Centre Methodist Church. Arrangements for this important meeting are being made by Men's No. 8 Club Brotherhood. Many men of this city will take advantage of this opportunity to hear him.

In spite of the disagreeable weather, there was a first-rate attendance at the monthly banquet of the Men's Get-Together Club of the First Congregational Church held last evening. The speaker on this occasion was Dr. McQuig, who spoke on the debt of the present generation to pioneers. W. Harrison, the vice-president, occupied the chair, and the program included two solos by Mr. Shaw. Following the banquet, the men enjoyed a sing-song and a few minutes of business received attention.

The visit is for the purpose of bringing the Rotary wheel to London, and more than 50 Detroit Rotarians are expected to be in the city either on the 21st or 22nd of this month.

A letter was received this morning by President Dean Fox of the city club from Mr. King, in which he stated that he had just returned from the Boys' Work Conference in Chicago. While there, he boosted the local Rotary Club's "Boys' Hobby" which is to become an annual institution in this city.

RUMANIANS DENY QUEEN WAS INJURED

Associated Press Despatch. London, Jan. 11.—Reports in circulation here today that Queen Elizabeth of Greece had been seriously injured in a motor accident in Bucharest, Rumania, while driving with King George, who was unhurt, were discredited at the Rumanian legation. The Greek king and queen, it was pointed out, are in Naples, Italy, attending memorial services for the late King Constantine.

TWO WOMEN M. P.'S FOSTER "NO HAT" SLOGAN IN HOUSE

Lady Astor Delighted With the Idea and Will Fall in Line.

RECRUITS ARE GAINED

Associated Press Despatch. London, Jan. 11.—The earnest speeches and discussions that occupied most of the time of the women members of the House of Commons at the dinner given in their honor last night, were enlivened by an exchange of views on the momentous question of whether the women are to continue wearing their hats in the House, as Lady Astor and her two first colleagues have done, or go bareheaded.

The new Labor women members departed from this precedent on the first day of the session, and last evening gained a recruit when the Duchess of Athol said: "It is my ambition to be allowed to do my work in the House of Commons with uncovered head. I am ready to obey the wishes and teaching of St. Paul when I enter a divine building, but in the Commons I am prepared to recognize only the authority of the speaker and the rules of the House."

Lady Astor said she was delighted with the no-hat slogan, adding: "I mean not to wear a hat henceforth, when I can keep my hair in order."

One of the ancient odd customs of the House is that when a member raises a point of order he must don his hat. Lady Torington wanted to know how this would apply to the women—would they have to keep their hats under the seats against such an emergency? She thought the speaker would have to make a new ruling on this point.

When the customary formal permission to smoke was given at the conclusion of the dinner, it was remarked that the only woman to avail herself of the privilege was Miss Jewson, Labor member for Norwich.

F. E. PERRIN HEADS BAR ASSOCIATION

Members Indorse J. M. McEvoy as Qualified for Supreme Court Judgeship.

Finley E. Perrin was elected president of the Middlesex Bar Association at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. Other officers elected were: E. T. Essery, K.C., vice-president; Gordon Tennent, secretary, and Alex. Purdon, treasurer. J. W. G. Winnett was appointed to the board of trustees.

A resolution indorsing J. M. McEvoy, K.C., as being eminently qualified for the position of supreme court judge, was unanimously passed. Mr. McEvoy is recognized as one of the outstanding lawyers of Ontario, and members of the Middlesex Bar feel that the government could not make a better or more popular choice for the vacancy in the supreme court bench. It will be no fault of theirs if Mr. McEvoy does not receive the appointment.

A motion was made at the gathering to cut expenses in connection with the probate of wills, by an amendment to the statutes allowing persons the option of registering or not registering all existing will in full.

A further motion dealt with the elimination of the representative of the official supervisor of administration with minor details in connection with wills were being considered.

BOARD WOULD REDUCE NUMBER OF MEMBERS

Resolution Forwarded to Urban Trustees' Association—Urges Religious Instruction.

Two resolutions passed by the board of education have been forwarded to the Urban Trustees' Association for presentation at the meeting to be held in Kingston in February.

The first is one requesting that the association urge legislation reducing the size of the board from 12 to five or seven members. This, in the opinion of several trustees and officials, would make for greater efficiency and would also do away with committees. The board would meet every two weeks and be in touch with all that was happening.

The other resolution dealt with religious instruction in the schools, urging that steps be taken to have it introduced.

The question of delegates from the board to the meeting in Kingston was left in the hands of Chairman Bryden N. Campbell.

ROY CAIRNCROSS, elected to the board of education at the head of the polls. Mr. Cairncross was appointed to No. 2 and No. 3 committees at the inauguration meeting last night.

VOCATIONAL AID TO BE STRESSED BY MARCUS SIMS

Pupils Will Be Guided as Soon as They Pass Their Entrance.

TO WATCH PROGRESS

The work of aiding pupils entering the secondary schools of the city in choosing their vocational as soon as they pass their entrance examinations, is to be taken up by Marcus M. Sims, attendance and vocational officer of the board of education.

Vocational guidance will occupy a large portion of Mr. Sims' time and will call for the following of a student through high school and then into employment for a number of years.

Mr. Sims stated that the first duty was to see that the students started in the line for which they were best adapted. This would be accomplished by consultation with the pupils and the parents. The next step was the following of the pupil through school, watching his progress and special adaptability to anyone branch of a general course. This was followed by getting the pupil into the line of work in which he or she had been trained.

The pupils would be kept in touch with after entering business and if any special ability was shown for which there was no scope in the work being done, a re-arrangement would be made in order to benefit the pupil.

A record would be kept in order that after a period of years, something tangible might be shown as the results derived from vocational education.

COMMITTEE TO DEAL WITH STUDENT FEES

Board Discusses Pupils in the Counties Not Adjacent to Middlesex.

The question of collecting fees from secondary school students attending school in London but residing in counties not adjacent to Middlesex was brought up at the opening meeting of the board of education last night and was left in the hands of the three boards and the vocational advisory committees.

The board decided some time ago that 80 per cent of the cost of educating the students from counties adjacent to Middlesex would be collected from the clerks of these counties, but with these not contiguous to Middlesex nothing had been decided. It was pointed out that either 100 per cent could be collected from the student or 80 per cent from the clerk of the county. The matter must be decided soon in order that the clerks may be notified.

"SAILORS" ASKED TO EXPLAIN PLAN OF SELLING CLOTH

Four Are Brought Before Harry Talbot To Account For Merchandise.

SELL AT LOW PRICE

Four "hale and hearty" Scotch seamen, who have been selling "genuine" Scotch cloth in London for the past week, were rounded up by the police this morning and appeared before Harry Talbot, collector of customs, to tell how they managed to sell the cloth to citizens at such a cheap price and how they managed to evade customs officials at the coast.

The four sailors have been travelling about London for some time garbed in marine uniforms. It is stated they told Londoners they had managed to evade the customs officials at Montreal and had succeeded in bringing to the city some of the finest samples of Scotch broadcloth. Because their wares were smuggled and they desired to go to the United States, they were offering the cloth to Londoners at exceptionally low prices. Enough cloth to make a suit of clothes would only cost the purchaser the ridiculous sum of $2.49.

When their story was unfolded to the collector of customs it was revealed that the cloth had been bought in Toronto and Montreal and had not been smuggled over from Scotland.

The four seamen all expressed indignation at being paraded down the street by the police to be brought before the collector.

Two C. P. R. detectives questioned the men as to why they were wearing sailor uniforms similar to those worn by C. P. R. sailors. They had an answer for the inquisitive officials, but their case will be further investigated.

PROPHECIES OF CHRIST'S COMING DENOUNCED

Mr. Koehler Declares Jesus Said, "No Man Knoweth the Day."

Speaking on "Has Jesus Come Already?" Mr. Koehler, at the Latter Day Saints' Church, on Matland street, said that many have declared his coming at definite times, and in defiance of the statement of Jesus, who said: "No man knoweth the day or the hour when the Son of Man cometh, no, not the angels that are in heaven, neither the Son of Man, but the Father only." He was supposed to have come twice in the year 1841, again in 1847, and a third time in 1873. In 1812 a company of people in Massachusetts went to the top of a mountain dressed in white robes to await his approach at midnight, selling all they had, but found that they had prophesied wrongly.

"Unconsciously the world is calling for this Saviour to lead them," declared Mr. Koehler. "There is not a nation today, but what is demanding a Saviour to settle their perplexing problems. Revolution is universal. Governments change over night. Kings are dethroned and subjects have acquired the seats of masses. Nations are massing troops and collecting them at strategic points. Men's hearts are failing them for fear of the consequences of it all. Man has failed to discover a remedy for the world's troubles. Nations are losing faith in each other, and through it all we find ourselves unconsciously crying out for a deliverer. Jesus will come when the world will need him the most."

VETERAN PROTESTS BEING SENT TO WESTMINSTER

VETERAN URGES OFFICIALS ADMIT HIM TO BYRON

James Toal, Suffering From Tuberculosis, Provides an Interesting Court Case.

DOCTORS ARE CALLED

Refusal of James Toal, tubercular war veteran, to return to Westminster Psychiatric Hospital because he was placed with "insane patients" there made an interesting case in police court this morning.

On an order from Dr. Walter Downham, medical health officer, Toal was instructed to return to Westminster. He declined, stating he would go to another sanatorium in Canada. Mixing with mentally deficient patients aggravated his disease, Howard Cluff, counsel for the defense, claimed.

Dr. Downham, on the witness stand, admitted the expense to the city of sending Toal to Byron Sanatorium was one of the reasons he considered not making out an order for Westminster.

Toal married three months ago. The charge against him is that he refused to be removed to Westminster Hospital, contrary to regulations regarding the control of tuberculosis, thereby threatening danger to other persons in the same house or in personal contact with him.

Mr. Cluff sought to prove that Toal was not insane, despite evidence submitted by both Dr. Downham and Dr. McGhie, superintendent of Westminster, that he was a chronic alcoholic. On the stand, Toal gave evidence in concise, intelligent manner, frequently gasping for breath, owing to his condition.

The defendant charged that while at Westminster he was frequently locked up with mentally deficient men in what was termed the "cage". For six months, however, his desire for alcohol has completely left him, and, according to his counsel, no justification existed for judging him insane.

In several institutions.

Toal has been in five different sanatoriums. On his own request and for minor infringements of regulations, he had been transferred from one institution to another. In the course of the past two years at Westminster he had been under the influence of liquor but four times. The medical board at Westminster sent him back to Westminster, and not Byron, because of the expense to the city his residence at Byron would involve and also because he had been a "chronic alcoholic" and should be placed under restraint.

"All this," defense counsel declared, "is based on what is talking to him. He and Mr. Cluff had quite a tiff while the former was being cross-examined, the doctor frequently refusing point-blank to reply to the attorney's questions."

"If he were not an alcoholic, should he be sent to Westminster?" Mr. Cluff asked.

"I'm not answering it," Dr. Downham replied.

The court ordered him to answer the question. Toal told Dr. Downham he would be willing to go to Westminster if he were not placed under restraint. Alcohol was often helpful to tuberculosis, the medical officer added.

Resorted to Alcohol.

Dr. McGhie said Toal was admitted from the Hamilton sanatorium. He often resorted to alcohol, and sometimes in a disturbed condition and a menace to patients receiving tubercular treatment. He was locked up with mentally deficient patients several times.

Mr. Cluff and Dr. McGhie had an argument over the legitimacy of Toal's discharge by a medical board. The lawyer said he did not think Toal had ever been actually discharged.

The defendant said he had taken one drink in the last five months, and that was at Christmas, but at no time had he been seriously affected by liquor. He admitted being absent without leave on numerous occasions. He said he was willing to go to any ordinary hospital, but objected to Westminster.

"If I had any chance of recovering, I don't think I would much care to go to it as an insane asylum," Toal said.

Major Ernest Chesholm of the D. S. C. R. said it was contrary to instructions from head office to supply information from the files regarding individual patients. He was persuaded by the court to make an exception in this case, however, and revealed that the board which discharged Toal was composed of Drs. Horne, MacLennan and McGhie.

Nurse Testifies.

Miss Livingston, a nurse at Westminster, said she had never seen Toal intoxicated. She would hazard opinion regarding his condition other than that he was being treated for tuberculosis.

"This is a very sad case," the court said. "I cannot but sympathize with apparently severely from open tuberculosis, to mingle with the public and expose others to infection. Dr. McGhie has sworn that Toal was frequently worse than his most violent patients when locked up. He was also discharged for misconduct at other sanatoriums. If he let him go to Byron he will be a nuisance and worry to the unfortunate men out there."

"All we want is this one chance," counsel said. "If he proves dangerous at Byron, then I'll drop out."

"I'll have to reserve judgment and see if some amicable arrangement cannot be made," the court decided.

AGRICULTURAL COURSE.

F. Francis of the poultry department, O. A. C., is spending the week Belmont, giving a short course in culture, and lectures on poultry husbandry. He is dealing with the proper feeding, culling, killing and dressing of chickens.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Special to The Advertiser.

Seaford, Jan. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Box celebrated the golden anniversary of their marriage at a family dinner held in their honor on Jan. 5, at the residence of their eldest son, Mr. H. C. Box.

Mr. Box came to Canada from London, England, in 1852, and settled in Woodstock, where he lived till 1854, afterwards residing near Exeter. In 1858 he went to California, where he remained two years, and, returning, located in Stratford, where, in company with Mr. B. MacVoy, he carried on a furniture factory for three years.

He was married in Ailsa Craig by the Rev. R. W. Williams to Miss Mary Hartleb of South Essex, coming with his wife to Seaford in 1875, where they have since resided. He entered into partnership with the late Mr. J. H. Broadfoot in the Broadfoot and Box Furniture Company, which later became merged with the Canada Furniture Manufacturers.

Mr. and Mrs. Box were made the recipients of a gold locket, suitably engraved, from their family and a handsome brooch. Mrs. Box was also presented with a bouquet of American Beauty roses by her little grandson, Billy Box.

The address was read by A. R. Box and the presentation made by H. C. Box. Mr. and Mrs. Box have a family of four sons, N. C. Box, A. R. Box, E. J. Box and E. L. Box, all of Seaford, also two daughters, Mrs. E. H. Close, Seaford, and Miss Etta Box of Toronto, and three grandchildren.

On the other hand, Manor Park has shown in the last election that they hold the balance of power to a greater or less degree. This was demonstrated in the election of Walter Laidlaw, who was swung into power by Manor Park by a large majority.

"You bet we expect better treatment from the township this year," stated one of the Manor Park ratepayers. "We have the whip hand over here and we know it. Just let those fellows in the council try and put anything over on us and we will defeat them next year just like we defeated them last year."

The council holds its inaugural meeting on Monday next, and it will be interesting to note the attitude of the various councillors toward Manor Park affairs.

A slight decrease in the cost of living has been registered lately since the beginning of the new year. William Turnbull, president of the Wholesale Grocers of Ontario, stated today. While some commodities have recorded small gains, the majority have been reduced, with the general result that a definite downward trend has been observed.

Mild weather accounted for the large holdings in cold storage houses throughout Canada, Mr. Turnbull said. Packaged goods remained unchanged in price during the past year although their consumption increased substantially. Consumers are becoming more particular each year as to cleanliness and sanitation, and their desires in this regard are responsible for the steadily augmented demand for goods in containers and cartons.

Sugar is cheap, when consideration is given to the present situation. The demand for sugar amounts to more than 100 per cent over what it was a little more than a decade ago. This is explained by the fact that boys and girls now receive five times the pocket money they used to and are, therefore, able to buy candies and chocolates as often as they like. Young men and women, too, are able to purchase sugared commodities in greater abundance by reason of the big increases in salaries recorded in the last fifteen years. Sugar is now 11 cents.

Oatmeal is selling less now than twelve years ago. Last week a fractional decline brought the price to a new low level. The cutting-off of the demand from foreign countries and the poor price brought by grains of all varieties makes for this condition.

Although Mr. Turnbull would not forecast food prices for the present year, he was inclined to think they would remain practically stationary with a slight downward tendency. There are no world or internal mishaps threatening any substantial departure from the current range of prices, he concluded.

VETERAN HAS RIGHT ARM AMPUTATED AT VICTORIA

Mr. Williams served overseas with the 12th Battery and was wounded in the second battle of Ypres. A small piece of shrapnel was lodged in his arm, and upon his return from overseas doctors found it necessary to amputate his arm. His arm became infected again at Christmas, and his physician found it imperative to amputate the remainder of the arm.

Manor Park Voters Believe They Hold Whip Hand and Will Act.

WANT CONSIDERATION

Ratepayers of Westminster Township have always kept close tab on the movements of their township councillors, but this year there will be a closer watch than ever on the doings of Reeve Walter Laidlaw and his right hand man, Deputy Reeve William Boker of Byron.

It is an open secret that there is no love lost between the residents of Manor Park and the farmers of the township. The latter are absolutely opposed to any large amount of money being spent in Manor Park, and if any township council or councillors attempt to hand any large concessions to Manor Park, every effort will be made to trim them at the next election, according to farm ratepayers.

THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL MEETS DEATH BY TRAIN

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, Jan. 11.—The name of the 13-year-old Milton girl who was killed by the Toronto-Goderich passenger train on the C. N. Manor Park Voters Believe They Hold Whip Hand and Will Act.

WANT CONSIDERATION

Ratepayers of Westminster Township have always kept close tab on the movements of their township councillors, but this year there will be a closer watch than ever on the doings of Reeve Walter Laidlaw and his right hand man, Deputy Reeve William Boker of Byron.

It is an open secret that there is no love lost between the residents of Manor Park and the farmers of the township. The latter are absolutely opposed to any large amount of money being spent in Manor Park, and if any township council or councillors attempt to hand any large concessions to Manor Park, every effort will be made to trim them at the next election, according to farm ratepayers.

On the other hand, Manor Park has shown in the last election that they hold the balance of power to a greater or less degree. This was demonstrated in the election of Walter Laidlaw, who was swung into power by Manor Park by a large majority.

"You bet we expect better treatment from the township this year," stated one of the Manor Park ratepayers. "We have the whip hand over here and we know it. Just let those fellows in the council try and put anything over on us and we will defeat them next year just like we defeated them last year."

The council holds its inaugural meeting on Monday next, and it will be interesting to note the attitude of the various councillors toward Manor Park affairs.

A slight decrease in the cost of living has been registered lately since the beginning of the new year. William Turnbull, president of the Wholesale Grocers of Ontario, stated today. While some commodities have recorded small gains, the majority have been reduced, with the general result that a definite downward trend has been observed.

Mild weather accounted for the large holdings in cold storage houses throughout Canada, Mr. Turnbull said. Packaged goods remained unchanged in price during the past year although their consumption increased substantially. Consumers are becoming more particular each year as to cleanliness and sanitation, and their desires in this regard are responsible for the steadily augmented demand for goods in containers and cartons.

Sugar is cheap, when consideration is given to the present situation. The demand for sugar amounts to more than 100 per cent over what it was a little more than a decade ago. This is explained by the fact that boys and girls now receive five times the pocket money they used to and are, therefore, able to buy candies and chocolates as often as they like. Young men and women, too, are able to purchase sugared commodities in greater abundance by reason of the big increases in salaries recorded in the last fifteen years. Sugar is now 11 cents.

Oatmeal is selling less now than twelve years ago. Last week a fractional decline brought the price to a new low level. The cutting-off of the demand from foreign countries and the poor price brought by grains of all varieties makes for this condition.

Although Mr. Turnbull would not forecast food prices for the present year, he was inclined to think they would remain practically stationary with a slight downward tendency. There are no world or internal mishaps threatening any substantial departure from the current range of prices, he concluded.

Mr. Williams served overseas with the 12th Battery and was wounded in the second battle of Ypres. A small piece of shrapnel was lodged in his arm, and upon his return from overseas doctors found it necessary to amputate his arm. His arm became infected again at Christmas, and his physician found it imperative to amputate the remainder of the arm.

ST. MARK'S PLAY.

In all respects save the weather, the play given last evening by the Dramatic Club of St. Mark's Church, East London, was a splendid success. "His Uncle's Niece" the play, which is a rollicking farce comedy, with clever lines and an abundance of amusing situations. The cast itself was admirably chosen. The Uncle, "who never makes a mistake" was played in splendid fashion by Mr. Harold Skellett, who has achieved a reputation for excellence in character parts of the sort. John Mirehouse had to play the difficult role of a young lady, and his acting and disguise were exceptionally well-done. Others who contributed to the general success were: Jack Sinclair, Miss Elsie Wright, Miss B. Clarke, Miss L. Gudgeon, A. Neilson, H. Pearson and T. Neilson.

Between acts, songs were sung most acceptably by Mr. E. T. Wright, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. T. S. Holland.

Miss L. Moss was in charge of the refreshments, which were served to members of the club on the conclusion of their successful presentation.

UNITED FARMERS OF MANITOBA ASK FOR FREE TRADE

Delegates to U. F. M. Conference Demand Clause Be Amended.

DISCUSS SENATE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, Jan. 10.—Absolute free trade is the ideal of the United Farmers of Manitoba. The convention this morning insisted on amending a clause in the "declaration of principles" issued by the council of agriculture to make it plain that nothing less would satisfy the members' ultimate hopes.

The clause, as amended, condemned the principle of tariff protection, advocated a tariff based solely on the needs of public revenue but looking forward to a policy of absolutely free trade, and urged an increased British preference and a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States. The original clause had made no direct mention of free trade and it was explained by John W. Ward, secretary of the council of agriculture, that it had been thought condemnation of protection as a principle covered the case.

Almost the entire morning was taken up in consideration of the 15 clauses in the declaration, which was issued some weeks ago.

There was considerable discussion over a clause which advised reform of the senate based on the principal of elective membership. The United Farmers of Ontario had amended this into a recommendation for the abolition of the senate, and there were advocates in the convention today of both courses. J. L. Brown, M.P. for Lisgar, said he had seen instances where the senate had rendered very useful service and he was inclined to favor the reform rather than the abolition. Another delegate suggested that "even a progressive government" might pass legislation which could be improved by revision. Others saw no good whatever in the second chamber, but on a vote being taken the supporters of reform carried the day over those favoring abolition.

Two clauses added by the United Farmers of Ontario were accepted. One advocated prohibition of manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors in Canada; and the other sought repeal of legislation "which permits the deportation of residents of Canada by the immigration authorities without trial by jury."

Mr. Ward explained that mention of prohibition had been omitted from the declaration by the council because prohibition was a provincial matter, and the declaration was federal in its scope. The convention is to be continued tonight.

CONVICTION CONFIRMED IN CORPORAL'S CASE

Catholic Soldier Refused To Parade For Anglican Service.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Jan. 10.—In the case of the Catholic corporal in the Army Service Corps who refused to parade for service in an Anglican church and was sentenced last week to 56 days' detention and the loss of stripes which he had won in the war, the sentence has been remitted by the army council but the conviction is confirmed.

The decision to confirm the corporal's conviction has been made in order to maintain the official view, it is alleged, that religious belief, however genuine it may be, affords no justification for refusal to obey the lawful command of a superior officer.

In connection with the conviction and sentence of the offending corporal it was stated that he was told at the time he was ordered to parade for the religious service that he would not be expected to attend the service itself.

SIR AUCKLAND FEELS FIT AS A FIDDLE

Retiring British Ambassador Will Not Stay Long in Washington.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Jan. 10.—Sir Auckland Geddes, retiring ambassador from Great Britain, returned on the Mauretania today saying that, although he had quite recovered from the eye trouble that prompted his resignation, he would remain in Washington only long enough to greet his successor and bid farewell to the United States.
"Look at me," he commanded newspapermen. "Don't I look fit as a fiddle? Well, that's how I feel."
The ambassador expects his successor to arrive late this month on the Aquitania, upon which Sir Auckland hopes to return to Great Britain. Few matters of importance remain to be attended to, he said. The proposed 12-mile treaty is the biggest current diplomatic job and that "seemed to be progressing fairly well."

TREAT FOR CHILDREN.
Special to The Advertiser.

Wallaceburg, Jan. 10.—At an executive meeting of the Sekirk of Bala-doon Chapter it was decided to hold the Christmas treat for children of ex-soldiers on Friday, January 25. This entertainment was postponed owing to the smallpox outbreak. Through the kindness of Rev. Father J. Brennan, the entertainment and tree will be held in the Parish Hall. It will also be the first reunion of ex-soldiers, accompanied by their wives and families since the war. Mrs. C. Baughman and Mrs. J. S. Fraser are the convener for the L.O.D.E., who are working in conjunction with the local G.W.V.A.

HARVESTERS WILL BE OFFERED JOBS

Ontario Government Offers To Place 150 in Toronto, on Farms.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Jan. 10.—The government is prepared to offer the 150 British harvesters stranded in Toronto work on the farm and will pay their transportation to places of employment. On the other hand, the government has no intention of supporting men who will not accept work when it is offered to them.

The above is a summing up of the answer given by Hon. James A. Robb, minister of immigration, to Albert Chamberlain, of the British Welcome League, who conferred with Mr. Robb, Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, and W. J. Egan, deputy minister of immigration, in regard to the stranded harvesters.

During his absence the services have been conducted by Rev. Mr. Quinn, a retired Methodist minister, and E. W. Mahony, manager of the local branch of the Andrews Wire Works Company of Canada. H. W. Barker, of Toronto, general treasurer of the Congregational Union of Canada, occupied the pulpits of the two churches for one Sunday.

Department of Highways Will Ask Resignation of Many Engineers.

REORGANIZE SYSTEM

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Jan. 10.—Hon. George S.
Henry, Ontario minister of public works, has called for the resignation of 55 per cent of the department's employ, it was announced today. The plan would consist of reducing the number of units into which the province is divided for road administration. At present there is a chief engineer, an assistant to him, and three divisional engineers in charge of all highways. Each divisional engineer, however, has the district under his jurisdiction subdivided into subordinate "residencies." Each residency has its own local office, an engineer in charge, and two or three juniors who are qualified engineers, and receive remuneration as such. The residencies are to be reduced from 25 to 12 in number.

Federals To Repel Invading Insurgents.

EXPECT BIG BATTLE

Associated Press Despatch.
Mexico City, Jan. 10.—The capture this morning of Pachuca, capital and most important mining town in the northern state of Hidalgo, by rebellious forces under Generals Marcela Cavazos, Nicolas Flores and Otilio Villa-gas, was confirmed at noon today by the war department.

The rebels will attempt to hold the city, which is 55 miles northeast of the capital, as 2,000 federal troops from Mexico City have been sent to Pachuca to surround the invaders.
The federal columns commanded by General Pausto Aopete and Juan Andrew Almazan today began their advance toward Vera Cruz against the rebels. The columns comprised all elements necessary to meet the De La Huerta forces. The expectation is that the federal forces will come in contact with the rebels at Jalapa.

Swearing In Members of New Parliament Completed With-

London, Jan. 10.—The work of swearing in the members of the new parliament was completed today without further incident, and the house adjourned until next Tuesday, when the ceremony of opening in state will occur.
A cabinet council was in session for more than two hours, and the speech from the throne to be delivered at the state opening was drafted. Its terms were kept secret, but it is said to have been decided that the speech will only refer to the policy of tariff protection as having been rejected by the electorate. It will propose, however, to go on with the preference duties promised to the British Dominions.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—John T. Smith, who insists that he is entitled to import liquor into Ontario, has failed in his action against the attorney-general of Ontario, both before Mr.
Justice Orde and the first division court, but another appeal is now on its way to the supreme court of Canada.

Smith wants it declared that the resolution passed by the Ontario Legislature to the effect that the province was a "prohibition" one,
was untrue, and he seeks a declaration that "Ontario at the time of the resolution was not a province in which there was in force a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors."

'OP O' ME THUMB
CLEVERLY GIVEN

The London Drama League
Sees University Players' Club at Work.

One of the cleverest entertainments presented by the Drama League this season was "Op O' Me Thumb," a one act play given by the Players' Club of Western University last evening in the collegiate auditorium.

The leading role, Amanda Afflick, was cleverly filled by Miss Helen Berdan, who proved herself a skillful actress, possessing the faculty of calling forth from her audience tears or laughter, as she willed. The play, is a comedy, yet has its central figure, a most pathetic character. Amanda Afflick, a lonely little waif, possessed of a vivid imagination, which leads her into many difficulties.

The scene is laid in an English laundry, where Amanda works, and the remainder of the audience spends most of their time discussing Amanda and her imaginary love affair. All the parts were well cast, and the interpretation of the cockney accent by the entire cast, was exceptionally good.

The impersonation of Celeste, by Miss Jean McIntosh, was a clever bit of work, her acting was refreshing and finished. Miss Florence McDonald, as the owner of the laundry, was splendid and Miss Edna Iverson, as Rose, the buxom young laundress was a most amusing character. The part of Clem, the only married member of the staff, was well taken by Miss Eunice Moorehouse.

The only male role of the cast, Amanda's mysterious beau, Horace, a concealed young chap, was cleverly played by Marcus Auden. The play, which was recently presented by the club at the university, was directed by Mr. Jack Hamblin.

Last evening's program opened with selections by the Little Theatre Orchestra, which gave several enjoyable numbers during the evening. The orchestra is directed by Miss Helen Patterson. A group of songs, "Friend of Mine," "Whisper of Eve," and "Love in Springtime," by Mrs. Frederick Schofield, was a charming number of the program. Readings by Col. George Gillespie, formed an important number on the program, which was greatly enjoyed. His selections were: "Sergeant Blue" and

"ALL A BOARD!" IN AID OF CHILD WELFARE.
At the next meeting of the league, Booth Tarkington's "The Ghost" will be presented under the direction of Mr. Vincent Perry. The play chosen for the public performance in April will be "The Three Live Ghosts."

WEDDINGS

WILLIAMSON-McNAUGHTON.

Watford, Jan. 11.—A quiet January wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 9, when Miss Mabel Alvina, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNaughton of Watford, became the bride of Orval Duncan Williamson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Williamson of concession 4, Warwick Township.

The bride was charmingly attired in a navy blue creoline suit, with a picture hat to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of American Beauty roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Vera O'Brien Williamson, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid, and was attractively attired in open blue canton crepe, while Allan Thomas McNaughton, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

The happy couple left for Toronto and Niagara Falls on their wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Orval D. Williamson will make their home in Sarnia.

New Type of Blouse.

London, Jan. 10.—One new species of blouse seen here today is extremely long waisted. It is without fullness, being a sort of sack slipped over the head and coming to the hips and becoming only to slender figures. The neck is rounded and rather more than usual the sleeves stop just below the elbow.

SYRUP PEPSIN
Will restore good humor

Mothers! Apply Common Sense

THIS is the era of the prevention of disease and sensible people do not wait until sickness has actually come before remedying the trouble. The crowded hospitals everywhere are sad examples of the results of neglect. Be especially watchful of children. Restlessness, lack of normal appetite and feverishness usually indicate constipation. Stop it that instant with a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin and you will have prevented real sickness. Mrs. C. S. Bungay, 19 Chatham Av. Halifax, N. S. and Mrs. W. F. Hunter, Biggar, Sask., seldom have illness in the family because of their prompt use of Laxative Syrup Pepsin.

A Great Family Laxative

It may be difficult to decide just what medicine to use out of the many that are offered, but it would not be if you knew the facts. There are laxatives, cathartics, purgatives and physics, and they vary in their action on the system. Naturally, the stronger the medicine the more it shocks the system, so wise parents never give anything but a laxative to children. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and desirable aromatics, and so appreciated that it is now the largest selling preparation of its kind in the world, over 10 million bottles being used annually. The formula is on every package.

Three Rules of Health

Purchase a bottle of Laxative Syrup Pepsin at a drug store and always keep one in the family medicine chest. Give it to anyone from infant to grandparent, for it is safe, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. You can keep a family healthy with just this simple medicine. Give it for constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, colds and other evidence of bowel obstruction. Dr. Caldwell, who was a practicing physician for 47 years and who originated this formula, had three rules of health that he found very effective among his patients and which you can follow with great benefit: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

MASONIC TEMPLE CROWDED
FOR O.E.S. INSTALLATIONS

Forest City Chapter Admits Public to View Ceremonies For First Time—Many Gifts Are Presented During the Evening.

MRS. E. TAYLOR OF PRESTON OFFICIATES

The Masonic Temple was packed

last night to the last available seat when, for the first time in the history of London, the installation ceremony of the Order of the Eastern Star was thrown open to the public. The occasion was the installation of the officers of Forest City Chapter by Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Preston, past grand worthy matron of Ontario.

The members of the order, as they appeared in their pure white costumes against a background of palms and ferns, with the great five-pointed star of the order gleaming at the end of the hall, presented an attractive appearance. Twinkling at each point of the star were the blue, yellow, white, green and red lights of the order, while the points were also marked by silver baskets of flowers.

The drill team put on most effective work. Forming an arch of carnations as they came in, they proceeded to form a second flower arch as they escorted the worthy matron to the east. After they had scattered the flowers to form a cross, two small girls, little Miss Shirley Stewart and Jean McGladvey, under the direction of Miss Gladys Tullett, gathered up the blooms. A very interesting part of the evening's program was a short talk on the history of the order in Canada, given by E. T. Essery.

Many Gifts.

Many attractive gifts were presented, among them a great array of flowers, to Mrs. Arthur Borland, the newly installed worthy matron, from her daughter, Miss Marian Borland. Another gift came to Mrs. Borland from Mrs. Schuch of Sarnia. Mrs. Arthur Linnell, the retiring matron, received a handsome gold wrist watch and a Cluny lace centerpiece from the members of Forest City Chapter and a silver cake basket from Mrs. Weems, on behalf of the staff of officers. Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Preston was made the recipient of some handsome pieces of china, the gift being presented by Mrs. Arthur Borland on behalf of Forest City Chapter.

The presentation of jewels to Mrs. Arthur Linnell, the retiring matron, was made by Mrs. Elliott, past matron of Trinity Chapter. An interesting fact in this connection is that Mrs. Elliott's sister, Mrs. Armour now of Detroit, was in the matron's chair when Mrs. Linnell was installed in her first office in Forest City Chapter some years ago. Fred Staples officiated at the presentation of jewels to Duncan Ross, the retiring patron. When Mrs. J. T. May was installed as chaplain, the officiating officer was her brother, John Dodge, just another of the interesting incidents which marked the installation ceremonies.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Several out-of-town guests were present for the occasion, including Mrs. Evans, Grand Estier of Alberta, who is visiting in St. Thomas; Mrs. Collins of Ohio, who represents the state of Kansas, and who is visiting in St. Thomas, and Mrs. Ellis of St. Thomas, who is also a representative of the state of Kansas.

During the installation ceremony interesting vocal numbers were given by Miss Merlyn Pococke and Mrs. McGuire. The arrangements for the evening were made by an energetic committee convened by Mrs. Fred Tullett, and including Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Cousins, Mrs. James Mills, Duncan Ross, Thomas Shaw, John Staples, Fred Staples, J. W. Wallace, J. Woodward, Alfred Johnston and Charles Henman.

The officers installed were: Mrs. Mary Borland, worthy matron; Thos. Shaw, worthy patron; Mrs. Caroline Connor, associate matron; Mrs. Weems, secretary; Mrs. Mary Young, treasurer; Mrs. Pococke, conductress; Mrs. May Haldane, associate conductress; Mrs. J. T. May, chaplain; Mrs. Allan Dundas, matriarch; Mrs. Williams, organist; Mrs. Murdy, Ada; Mrs. Willis, Ruth; Miss Verdict, Esther; Mrs. Tozer, Martha; Mrs. Newman, Electa; Mrs. A. Wilson, warder, and Charles Westman, sentinel.

WOMEN and THE HOME

Why We Lose Our Friends Says Dorothy Dix

We Lose Our Friends Through Being Self-Centered or Tyrannical, By Grafting On Friendship, and Through Change and Development of New Tastes and Ideas.

"I wonder," said a woman the other day, "why it is that we lose our friends as we grow older? When we are young we have hosts of intimate friends, but by the time we are middle-aged we are lucky if we have one or two friends left whom we love and trust, and who love and trust us."

Most of us have this same experience. One by one the lovely intimacies fade out of our lives, the clinging hands let go, the feet that marched in step with us drop out so gradually that we scarcely know it, until, at last, there comes a day when we suddenly realize that we have hardly a friend left. We have only acquaintances.

We lose our friends for many reasons. Chiefly, perhaps, egotism. We get so absorbed in ourselves and our own affairs that we have no leisure or thought to give to other people, even to those who were once near and dear to us.

A man is obsessed by his business, by his struggle to get money, within it. They are too self-centered really to consider anyone else, and so the visit that would have kept alive a friendship is never paid; and the congratulation at a friend's success, or of sympathy over some misfortune that has befallen him is never written. It is pitiful to think how much friendship is lost for the lack of ten minutes' time, and a postage stamp.

We lose our friends because many of us look upon friendship as a graft, instead of as a special miracle of grace that has been bestowed upon us. Because a man has granted us the privilege of his friendship, we feel free to exploit him.

We feel that he should lend us money that we are under no obligation to pay back. We consider that he should get us going jobs that we are too lazy to find ourselves. We do not hesitate to ask the use of his automobile and to make a free hotel of his house. We abuse his friendship for us, until to save himself he lets us go. That is why some cynic has said that if the Lord would deliver him from his friends he would protect himself from his enemies.

We lose our friends by making friendship a grinding tyranny. Women are especially given to this, for there are more few women in the world who do not honestly believe that if they love you, it gives them carte blanche to boss you.

Therefore, your woman friend supervises your visiting list, and demands that all of your friends shall be her friends also, and that you must only like the people that she likes. Also that you must call in her doctor and go to her dentist and patronize her dressmaker and milliner and raise your children according to her schedule, and treat your husband the way she treats hers.

By and by you get tired of being told where to get on and where to get off, and nagged into doing things that you don't want to do, and weary of having to apologize and explain to one who has no authority over you, and so, as painlessly as possible, you perform the surgical operation that bound you to one who was once your Siamese twin.

Friendship is often bored to death. It is said, but true, that the older we get, the more we like to talk about ourselves. Strangers won't stand for this, but our friends cannot escape us.

Because they love us and are interested in us gives us, we think an excuse to monologue to them by the hour about our own affairs. If we are successful, we boast shamelessly of our triumphs. If we are failures, we tell over and over again the sad, sad story of our lives. If we have children, we descant endlessly about the smart thing the baby said, and Johnny's football record, and Mary's beaux.

Now, true friendship is full of sympathy, it is patient and long suffering. But human endurance has its limitations, and there comes a time when, for sheer self-preservation, we have to drop the friend who has degenerated into nothing but a ten-inch auger. We still love Thomas, and Sally, and Matilda, but their friendship isn't worth having at the price of perpetual boredom.

We lose our friends through the inevitable change and development that life makes in us. We grow apart because we have different interests, and our tastes and ideas and habits are framed by a different environment. Nothing is a sadder experience than to meet again, after a long lapse of years, an old friend of whom you have been very fond, and to whom you have nothing to say after you have thrashed over the little sheaf of old memories.

It is the common belief that the most enduring friendships are those formed in early youth, but this is not true. The friends to whom our hearts cleave, as David's did to Jonathan's, are the friendships of our mature years, those we make with the men and women whose hearts and minds answer ours when our characters are formed, and we know what we demand in human companionship.

Friendship is the most beautiful and the most comforting thing in life, but for it we have to pay a price, for love the gift is always love the debt.

APPEAL OF MOTHER LOVE BRINGS DOZENS OF OFFERS TO CLOTHE COMING CHILD

Little St. Thomas Mother Finds the World Is Full of Sympathetic People—Although But Eighteen Years Old, She Has Her Own Burden To Bear.

HUSBAND IS ILL AND UNABLE TO WORK

The most beautiful thing in the world is mother love. It is big enough to forget self in the interests of the child. Such a love drove a little St. Thomas mother to appeal for help through the columns of The Advertiser, when the hand of fate laid low the breadwinner and father of her coming child.

And as the paper traveled far out over the great district of Western Ontario, every here and there was someone who was able to read between the lines of that tragic little appeal and was stirred by it to offer help. And so they came, letter upon letter, asking for the name and address, until there was such a pile of responses that the answering of them alone was one person's job.

In one letter a money order for $5 was placed. The writer of another stated that she wasn't very well off and had two small children of her own. But just because she had these children she knew how the little St. Thomas mother felt.

Response to Appeal.

Organizations, too, responded to the appeal, among them the members of the Talbot Street Baptist choir of this city, who have promised to make a complete layette for the coming baby, and the girls of Knox Church, St. Thomas, who are also actively interested in the case.

And now, although the father-to-be is ill with ulcers of the stomach, and although the time for the arrival of the child is not much more than a month away, the little mother may cease her worry, because she has found that the world is full of generous and sympathetic people after all.

And it was such a big worry to put up such a very young mother. She is only 18 years old, and hardly looks that for. The Advertiser went to St. Thomas on purpose to see her. Her husband is not so very much older. He entered the army a year and a half before the war was over, at 17 years of age. It was while

No Money Coming In.

Just now there is no money coming in whatever. The city of St. Thomas supplies coal and food. But there is no fund from which to pay the rent, $18, which is due for last month and another eighteen this month. And there will be doctor bills on top of that.

"I just don't know what we are going to do," is the helpless cry of the man, who is up and around, although he should be in bed. Because he feels that if he stays in bed too long he will be so weak he won't be able to do anything. He is an electrician by trade and earned a good living when he was well. Since he has been up and around he has attempted to do an odd job or two of the simplest kind just to help a bit. But the doctor has forbidden him to go to work for another six weeks.

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars and be unable to work," he says. "If someone would only lend me the money for the rent I would pay it back with interest when I am well. And then, there is the baby coming. I don't know what we'll do."

They are such a helpless pair, these two. Only a year ago they were facing life with the happy, care-free, attitude of extreme youth. Today they are utterly subdued. Fate, which seemed so fair, has struck them a cruel blow in the face. And they are left bewildered, not knowing which way to turn.

Yowler the Bob Cat Becomes a New Enemy--He Is Fond of Mice

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who could that terrible fellow be who had climbed the tree after Whitestone the Fox Squirrel? Danny Meadow Mouse wanted to know. He felt that he ought to know. Whoever would try to catch Nanny and himself, if there was a chance. So it was something more than idle curiosity that urged Danny to watch from the doorway to his home.

For a while he saw and heard nothing. But he was sure that the stranger was still in the tree up which he had chased Whitestone. The branches of that tree were covered with long masses of soft, gray moss, such as is found only in the Sunny South. Because of that moss Danny couldn't see into that tree, though he looked and looked.

But Danny could afford to be patient. In fact, he could afford to be. He had to know who this probable enemy was and how he looked. So Danny sat in his doorway and continued to wait. At last he saw the long, hanging moss in the tree move ever so little. Some one was coming down that tree. From the lowest branch a dark form bounded lightly to the ground only a few feet from where Danny was sitting. There it stood for a moment, giving Danny a splendid chance to see just what it looked like.

Instantly Danny knew that he was looking at a cousin of Black Pussy the Cat. There was no doubt that this was a member of the Cat family. His coat was mixed gray and reddish-brown, with faint blackish spots. His chin and throat were white. He was whitish underneath, and this was marked with black spots. His head was round and savage looking and there were a few long hairs on the tips of his ears. He was much bigger than Black Pussy, and had much longer legs and much bigger feet. But it was the tail on which Danny fixed his eyes. It was a stub of a tail, and as he stood there he kept that stub of a tail twitching.

He stood there only for a moment or two, then bounded away lightly. Danny drew a long breath. He never had seen Yowler the Bob Cat up home in the North, but his cousin, Whitefoot the Wood Mouse, had told him about him, and he knew that this stranger must be one of Yowler's family.

"That was a Bob Cat, as sure as I live," whispered Danny to Nanny. "Now we do have to watch out. I guess it won't be as easy to fool this fellow as it was to fool Black Pussy the Cat from Farmer Brown's. My, I'm glad he didn't find us! I guess he is just like Yowler the Bob Cat who lives in the Green forest up home. I wonder if they call this fellow Yowler. I'll have to ask Whitestone when we see him again."

"Yowler the Bob Cat, sometimes called Wild Cat, and whom, I have been told, is properly called the Bay Lynx," replied Whitestone promptly. "My, how I hate that fellow! He is forever sneaking about, and is so soft-footed that one never knows when he is near. You want to watch out for him. Yowler is very fond of mice."

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming the ills of women. It was first made from roots and herbs in 1873 by Lydia E. Pinkham of Cohasset, Mass., for her neighbors and friends. Its fame has spread from shore to shore until it is now looked upon by women everywhere as the standard remedy for women's ills. It has been proved that it benefits 98 out of every 100 women, who try it, which is a marvellous record for any remedy to hold—Adv't.

Practical Recipes

Helps For All Who Appreciate Good Cooking.

GRIDDLE CAKES.
One cupful condensed milk, 1 cupful water, 2 tablespoons melted butter or butter substitute, 1 egg (well beaten), 4 cupfuls white flour, 1 teaspoonful salt, 4 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 2 tablespoonfuls sugar.
Combine the milk and water, add the shortening, sugar, and the egg, and beat in the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Beat thoroughly and fry as usual on a slightly oiled griddle, or on an uncoiled aluminum or soapstone griddle. If very thin cakes are desired, add two more tablespoonfuls of evaporated milk and water.

HALIBUT BAKED IN MILK.
Order two pounds of halibut steak cut half inch thick. Lay it in a dripping pan, or large shallow baking dish. Dust it lightly with a little flour, salt and pepper and a sprinkling of minced parsley and barely cover it with one part of condensed milk diluted with one and one-half parts of boiling water.
Bake in a moderate oven until the fish is tender—about 25 minutes. It should be somewhat browned on top and the liquid will be thickened by the flour and act as a delicious sauce.

CHOCOLATE PIE.
Mix three-quarters of a cup of sugar with two tablespoonfuls of sifted flour, and four tablespoonfuls of grated unsweetened chocolate;
add slowly to this mixture, stirring constantly, one and a third cups of scalded milk and when it is well mixed add the whole egg;
add to the mixture one teaspoon of vanilla, place in a double boiler and stir over a slow fire until thick and smooth; pour into a baked pie shell, cover with a meringue made of the whites of two eggs, and six tablespoonfuls of sugar and brown in a slow oven.

BOILED DRESSING.
This is another good dressing for cabbage salads. Mix one tablespoonful of mustard with one tablespoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika.
Beat three eggs until lemon-colored, add the dry mixture, half a cup of sifted flour, and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter; place the mixture in a double boiler and stir over the fire until thick and smooth; strain through a cloth. Cream butter and add gradually and very carefully the first mixture. Beat until shiny and fairly stiff, adding vanilla a drop at a time.
Spread on cakes, passing some through pastry tube to form tiny roses or garlands for decoration.
Time in cooking, 7 minutes.

PORK CAKE.
One cup fat chopped salt pork, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup dried apple, 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon and soda, ½ teaspoon cloves and nutmeg, ½ cup raisins, 2 cups sugar, 3 eggs, 2 teaspoonfuls cream of tartar, flour to make soft batter.
Directions—Add boiling water to pork; cook together for three hours;
add a cup of molasses and a cup of dried apples which have been soaked over night, add other ingredients. Bake slowly for at least 4 hours.

RICH WHITE COOKIES.
One cup of sugar creamed and
1 cup of butter creamed thoroughly,
3 eggs, 2 tablespoonfuls sweet milk, 2 level teaspoonfuls baking powder and four enough to handle quickly. Roll out very thin, cut and bake in a moderate oven. These are nice if properly made.

PFEFFER NUESSE.
2½ lbs. flour, 1½ lbs. syrup, ½ lb.
sugar, ¼ lb. lard, ¼ lb. butter melted together, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in a little warm water, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon cardamom. Put syrup to boil, take off from the stove, let cool, then pour over all the rest, work well, cover the bowl and set aside for 2 weeks or more in a moderately warm room.
When ready to bake roll out on bake board with your hands until 1 inch thick, cut off inch length, put in dripping pan not too close and bake. Have a bowl half full of powdered sugar ready, and as soon as they are done roll them in it.

GINGERBREAD BANANA SHORTCAKE.
Three tablespoonfuls shortening, half cup sugar, one egg, half cup molasses (sour), one and three-quarter cups flour, one teaspoon ginger, half teaspoon cinnamon, salt, half teaspoon

APPLES EPICURE.
D. L. E. Pasadena, has a friend in Boston who wrote her about cooking little sausages in apples and asks the we tell exactly how it is done. Select large red apples and carefully remove the core with a large column cutter, place the apples in an earthenware baking dish, and in the hole left by the core place a pork breakfast sausage, leaving one-half of the sausage project from the apples.
Bake until the skins are black, basting often with the fat from the sausages. Serve in the baking dish. Nice with fried hominy.

GINGER CREAM.
One box gelatin, ¼ cup water, 1 cup milk, yolks of two eggs, ¼ cup sugar, one pint whipped cream, few grains salt, one teaspoon lemon juice, three teaspoonfuls ginger syrup, one-quarter cup preserved ginger cut in pieces. Soak gelatin and add to custard prepared in double boiler with egg, milk, sugar and salt. Strain the mixture, chill and add flavoring.
When it begins to thicken, fold in whipped cream.

MOCHA CREME.
Four egg yolks, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup strong coffee, ½ cup unsalted butter, ¼ cup vanilla. Beat together yolks, sugar and coffee.
Place over boiling water and cook and beat until thick. Let cool and strain through a very fine strainer or cheese cloth. Cream butter and add gradually and very carefully the first mixture. Beat until shiny and fairly
stiff, adding vanilla a drop at a time.
Spread on cakes, passing some
through pastry tube to form tiny
roses or garlands for decoration.
Time in cooking, 7 minutes.

OXO ONION SAUCE.
One pound Spanish onions, 2 tea-spoonfuls Oxo, a little flour, a little dripping. Cut the onions into thin slices; fry in dripping until a nice brown; mix the Oxo in ½ pint hot water; put into a saucepan with the onions, and add 2 pints water. Simmer for 1½ hours; thicken with flour; bring to the boil, and serve.

ESSEX CORN MEN SEEKING CHANGE IN THE TEST LAW

County Improvement Association Would Place Responsibility With the Grower.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Special to The Advertiser.
Essex, Jan. 10.—Officers of the Essex Corn Improvement Association elected this afternoon are: Hon.
president, Edward Teller, M.P.P., of St. Joachim; president, Ed J. Mullins of Woodlee; first vice, Ira Graham, Windsor; second vice, Walter C.
Anderson, Amherstburg; third vice,
Russell Rogers, Kingsville; secretary-treasurer, Justus Miller, Essex.
The directors for the 14 townships will be appointed by the above executive, and the directors will meet and appoint the five county directors.

Amend Seed Act.
At this meeting, committee of Edward Teller, E. J. Mullins and Justus Miller was appointed to draft the proposed amendments to the federal seed act. Mr. Miller will draft out a scheme of certification of seed corn which will be inaugurated this year in co-operation with the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The amendments to the federal seed act to be urged are:
Cancellation of the germination certificate attached to each bag, as this is not deemed feasible owing to the delay of ten days waiting for certification from the department laboratories; to establish definite grades and have shippers responsible for the grades; to have place of origin printed on the tag to accompany the bag so the buyer will know whether the corn is from Ontario or from the United States.

The county growers are greatly in favor of the germination tests, but strongly believe that responsibility should rest with the individual, thus avoiding the delay of the government sanction before shipping.

Children's Day.
Today was Children's Day at the Essex County corn show, and about 5,000 men, women and children were present, which broke all attendance records.

During the course of the afternoon
a special children's program was arranged. Ira L. Graham of Windsor was chairman.

Among the speakers were Lewis
Wigle of Leamington, Rev. H. Miller of Essex and Miss Florence Reek of Ridgeway.

Children Like Corn.
Rev. Miller compared the growing corn to the children, showing that the growing child needs care, supervision and training as well as the corn needs its attention.
Miss Florence Reek, assistant principal of the girls' department of the

PROFESSOR GIVES PROPER METHOD TO PRUNE TREES

Speaks To Fruit Growers' Association On Farm of Pur-dom Love Yesterday.

HINTS ARE VALUABLE

Some valuable hints on the proper methods of pruning fruit trees, currant bushes and grape vines were given the members of the London and Middlesex Fruit Growers Association yesterday afternoon by Prof.
J. A. Neilson of the Vineland Horticultural Experimental Station at the fruit farm of Purdom F. Love, Love, Springbank.

Professor Neilson pruned a number of trees for the interested fruit growers, giving his reasons for cutting out certain shoots and limbs.

He recommended the improved
Kniffen system for training grape vines and pruned several vines for the assembled crowd.

Answering an inquiry, Professor Neilson recommended McIntosh Red, Tolman Sweet, Snow, Northern Spy and Wealthy apples for a commercial orchard of 25 acres.

In pruning currants, twelve shoots to a bush were recommended, four shoots of one, two and three-year-old wood being all that was deemed necessary. Varieties of black currants recommended for planting were Kerry, Eagle, Saunders, Eclipse and Chinax.

Heavy pruning was not recommended for cherry trees, while pear trees should be cut back to laterals and not allowed to grow too high.
Cultivation around pear trees should be held to a minimum, the demonstrator stated.

A prominent speaker on fruitgrowing topics will be secured for the next gathering of the association to be held two weeks hence.

MOST of them are women—thrifty housewives who "set a good table" but buy where they get the most for their money.

They trade at Dominion Stores.

Here in these stores, each a part of the greatest retail grocery organization in Canada, they shop—and save. Many are wives of poor men. Others are well-to-do. Yet, one and all, they are guided by a sturdy sense of thrift.

If you, too, would save on your grocery bill, shop at a Dominion Store, as these women do. The same high standard quality, the same goods, the same nationally known brands as elsewhere, but the price tag tells the story of Dominion Stores' economies and savings.

EXTRA CHARGE ON FLOUR SUSPENDED

Canadian Product To Enter United Kingdom On Rate Applied To U. S.

MAY BE PERMANENT

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Discriminatory rates on shipments of Canadian flour to the United Kingdom have been removed temporarily, and efforts are being put forth to make the change permanent. It was announced today at the department of trade and commerce.

For several years a discriminatory rate, averaging about 5c per 100 pounds or 10c per barrel has been charged upon all ocean shipments of Canadian flour to the United Kingdom in excess of the rate applied on similar shipments from the United States. For several years the quantity of Canadian flour shipped to the United Kingdom has been on the increase, while United States shipments have declined. Removal of the surcharge will, it is believed, still further strengthen the Canadian trade.

for action. As a result the extra charge has been suspended, and the imperial shipping committee is considering the advisability of making the suspension permanent.

STOVE BURNS BESIDE DEAD BODY OF WOMEN FOR WEEK

Windsor Police Break Into Room With Temperature of 120 Degrees.

LIVED AS RECLUSE

Other Tenants Had Not Seen Mrs. B. Read Since New Year's.

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, Jan. 10.—Police, breaking into a room on the third floor of the old Windsor Record building here tonight at 10:30, found a body badly decomposed thought to be that of Mrs. Bessie Read, a tenant in the building for several months.

The first indication that anything was wrong came when the caretaker returning from Windsor on the ferry noticed a flickering light in her room and notified the police.

When the police entered the room the six burners on the gas stove were going full blast, while the temperature in the room was 120 degrees. From the position in which the body was found Dr. Crasswell, coroner, did not think that death was due to gas or poisoning, but that she had old, and lived alone. She had not been seen by other tenants of the building since New Year's eve. It is thought the fire had been burning for a week or more.

Christmas Mail Is Long Delayed

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—A carload of Christmas mail from England bound for Toronto that arrived in New York several days before Christmas, reached here only last night.

BRITISH MINERS VOTE ON WAGES

Expect Men Will Decide To Terminate Present National Agreement.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Jan. 10.—The taking of a vote by ballot among 700,000 miners in the United Kingdom on the question of terminating the national wages agreement has begun. The executive of the Miners' Federation has recommended the termination of the agreement, and there is every indication that their decision will be supported by a large majority.

The coal mine owners will now confer with the union leaders on the wage question on January 17 in London.

It is thought the miners may attempt to obtain through parliament a higher minimum wage than that of the present time. The miners' representatives in the House of Commons are in a sense a party to themselves, and probably would not be overcareful to cause a Labor government embarrassment in pressing their demands.

Failure on the part of the miners and mine owners to reach a settlement will mean that another ballot will be taken, this time on the question of a strike.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1924.

A Good Start.

Bryden Campbell is chairman of the board of education for 1924. He should make a good presiding officer.

He is also a good businessman, and his work takes him around enough to keep in touch with a good many people in the city. No man in public office loses anything by keeping in touch with the people.

Chairman Campbell, in his address, referred to the building program, especially for secondary education. The burning of the Central Collegiate is the place where the trouble started, as the new building is not nearly as large as the old. It is sufficiently large for the district it is supposed to serve, and was built with the idea of there being one central, one south and one east collegiate.

Consideration of these buildings must be given preference over any such plan as an auditorium or gymnasium for the Technical School.

Mr. Campbell is right also when he says the board of education and the city council should work together. The ratepayers have a right to expect this, in fact to insist on it. Both bodies are serving the same people, and spending the money of these people, and there is no reason at all why they should not at times sit in together in an effort to make every dollar spent do a dollar's worth of service.

It was also intimated in the chairman's inaugural talk that if there were no increase in some classes of the public schools it might be possible to make readjustments that would save money. If this situation exists it is the plain duty of the board to proceed with the adjustments.

As far as co-operation with the department at Toronto is concerned, this is necessary by law and precedent. There is a growing feeling in many cities, though, that it is time the department at Toronto caught the viewpoint of some of the various boards of education.

The London Board of Education has a real situation to handle this year. The ratepayers did well in the selection at the first of the year. They have every reason to expect a fearless distribution and accounting of the funds entrusted to their care.

Making Appointments.

The London Free Press charges R. L. Brackin, of Kent, with lamenting before London Liberals that there was no patronage to hand around.

On the same page is an editorial speaking of the appointment of a Conservative, Albert M. Judd, as the crown attorney for the Conservative government at Toronto.

Mr. Judd will do the work well, but the fact remains that he would never have been noticed had he not been a Conservative.

There's a Difference.

An Austrian baron is washing dishes and doing other work to pay his way through an American college.

His pictures have appeared in print, showing him at work and the place where he used to live.

Interesting, no doubt, but there are thousands of boys who have worked their way through college, and they were never photographed.

The glory and dignity of a bit of hard work seems to depend on who is doing it.

A String of Pearls.

The London Daily Herald, the Labor organ, described a duchess and other titled women who were singing on the streets in aid of a Dockland Settlement. The Herald states if they wanted to show sympathy, the "duchess" string of pearls and ermine wraps would have been, not round her neck, but among the contributions, if she really felt deeply the sufferings of those whose toil keeps her and the other rich masqueraders in ease and luxury.

There is no denying the apparent and painful discrepancies between the position of the duchess and the poor people of London, but there is a point in connection with the possession of that string of pearls that should not be overlooked.

When those pearls were bought, or when anything else she possessed was purchased, it was represented labor. The pearls had been secured by labor, prepared and mounted by labor, shipped and sold by labor. In the place where they were sold there would be a lighting system, perhaps a heating plant; all those things mean labor. The woman who bought the pearls unconsciously helped to pay a number of people who had had something to do with the pearls prior to their coming to her possession.

Money put into circulation in a way that it touches useful labor is one of the sure ways to assist employment.

Judged By Its Enemies.

Mr. Bok's peace prize—at least half of it—has been awarded. The suggestion offered is fairly logical, although rather "American" in its outlook.

It would have United States recognize the League of Nations with certain very definite reservations. It seems that it would go in on a different basis to any other nation. It smacks of touching European matters with a ten-foot pole.

But the plan has its strong points, and evidence of this comes from the opposition it has aroused from the enemies of the League of Nations.

If the plan were a joke they could laugh and forget it, and if it were a dud there would be no need of getting hot under the collar about it.

The winner of $50,000 has advocated co-operation through the means already provided for such a thing. Simple, you say? Perhaps so, but it seems to be acting like the hives on some of the league haters in United States.

Too Many Bullets.

Mabel Normand, moving picture star, pleads for a square deal. The reason is that she is threatened with being banned from having her pictures shown in the theatres.

She has been more or less mixed up in two shooting escapades, one of which was fatal and the other nearly so.

Mabel Normand is putting up quite a scrap or a plea for the square deal. She is trying to hang on to the favor of people who have the good sense to drop off when the pace gets too fast or the shootings too close together.

It may be that she is innocent, but if so, she has been peculiarly unfortunate in the selection of the spots in which to spend her spare time, as well as the people she has around her.

At any rate she does not make a very pathetic figure posing as a martyr.

Starving the Soul.

A church magazine makes a survey of salaries paid to Congregational ministers in United States.

Twenty-three per cent received less than $1,000 per year, and 28 per cent less than $1,500.

The journal making the survey adds that from $600 to $800 constitutes the average salary of the country and small town minister in other fields.

One minister says he was driven from his pulpit "because I could no longer endure the degrading experience of looking down from my $600 pulpit into the faces of people to whom I was forced to owe money."

Even with the readjustments that have been made in ministers' salaries in recent years there is nothing to justify the idle remark often carelessly made about going into the ministry for money.

U. S. and Mexico.

It is easy enough to condemn the U. S. government for allowing arms to be exported to the Oregon government in Mexico.

Washington recognized this government some time ago as being the best chance to restore order in that land.

When a revolution starts in Mexico the U. S. government can let the situation alone, or it can justify its former move by giving assistance to the Oregon government.

It is unfortunate that such assistance has to take the form of arms and munitions.

The rebels are using these tools, so there is no choice in the matter.

Note and Comment.

A Hamilton paper was asked to give an outline of how to put a permanent wave in hair, and the bald-headed editor told the inquirer to consult any of the beauty parlors.

Life insurance figures show $8,000,000,000 as the total new business in United States this year. Signing on the dotted line is becoming the national habit of the Americans.

The city officials in Hamilton have organized an orchestra. When the taxpayers file in to drop their offerings, said orchestra, sitting behind a palm tree, will play "Bringing in the Sheaves."

Western Ontario lost a familiar figure in the weekly journalism field in the passing of Thomas Harris, for many years publisher of the Watford Guide-Advocate. He turned out a paper that reflected well the doings of his own community. Mr. Harris had high ideals of what a weekly paper should be, and he lived up to them.

CAN EUROPE HOLD TOGETHER?

Chapter IV.: "Inflation and Deflation Twin Brothers in Crime."

This series of articles is a simple but accurate explanation of world conditions, from the point of view of a distinguished specialist. These articles are the result of his most recent tour of Europe, made especially for securing the data—a trip on which he visited thirteen countries, talked with the premiers of half of them and the finance ministers of twelve, and in field observations secured a mass of facts. Mr. Sinclair says finance and economics can be told so simply a child can grasp them. His articles prove his claim.

By JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

Dr. Adolph Helffer is one of the great physicians of Vienna. He was born in America. His family lived in St. Louis. In 1912 his father died and left him $50,000, which was sent to him in Vienna. He was a careful, prudent man. He deposited the $50,000 in a savings bank in Vienna and received three per cent interest annually. I met Dr. Helffer in Vienna a few weeks ago. He had not taken a dollar, either principal or interest, from the original fund. He was hoping for an old age free of worry. Then we figured up what his $50,000 was worth in the summer of 1923. It came to exactly $315. The money has quietly slipped away—disappeared—and Dr. Helffer found himself holding an empty sack. That is what inflation does.

Mr. Jonas Leid is president of the North Germania Fire Insurance Company of Berlin. I called on him in the summer of 1923 to find out why the German insurance companies were not getting along well. He had been thirty years in business. He took me to the window of his office. "Do you see that business block over there?" he said. "In 1913 our company placed a loan of 100,000 marks on that building, payable in ten years at six per cent annual interest. At that time the building and grounds were worth $1,200,000. We thought it a choice loan. A few days ago the loan was paid off. Our $600,000 had shrunk to just $12. Perhaps that will help you see the difficulties we are working under."

It was just another tombstone among the millions now in the graveyard of inflation.

How Inflation Comes.

Inflation in a nation is caused when government credit comes from any other source than from the savings of the investor. So a rise of prices during a war is caused by the demands of the government and the increased supply of credit or currency. Inflation results from a lowering of the value of money. If goods to the volume of money in circulation increases more rapidly than the volume of goods produced, prices are bound to rise. This has always been true and it has been known for hundreds of years.

In the preceding article we saw how inflation debauched the currency and broke the machinery for international trade. While inflation always means higher prices it also means lower real wages. This lag of wages behind prices makes profit-making possible. When profits are made at the expense of wages it means that the laborer bears the brunt of the war, and the war profiteer clinches his gains by investing them in war loans, preferably tax exempt securities. The real contribution made by the workers of a nation in a war does not show itself primarily in the amount of liberty loans which they purchase but in the amount by which wages lag behind prices. The burden of a modern war is borne by a class least able to bear it. Income is shifted from the hard-working, shifty wage owner to the careless profiteer. Inflation is "an unrecognized form of taxation" which falls upon those with fixed incomes from labor and investment. It is an income tax on the salaried class, and a capital levy on the bond owner and the savings bank depositor. And while inflation does increase prices and stimulate production and reduce consumption by cutting real wages, it is not a deliberate theft—for it cold-bloodedly takes the earnings and wealth from one class and gives it over to the debt-owing class.

Calls It Financial Opium.

This financial opium, given to a weary and disillusioned people, can only mean that nation's debauch and destruction. It can have no place in any well ordered society, either in peace or in war. It is the very antithesis of national wealth. It is the cruel and terrible messenger of social death. Modern society must destroy inflation, or inflation will destroy modern society.

What has been said about inflation applies with equal force to deflation. It results in taking property from the debtor class and putting it in the pocket of the creditor class. It is just the reverse of inflation. After disease has destroyed the right arm, it is of no use to demand that the left arm be also cut off. That is exactly what the policy of deflation means. When the increase in the volume of goods becomes greater than the increase of money, prices decrease, depression sets in, unemployment grows, and deflation results. Income withers. With less money to purchase goods with and more goods to sell, prices become cheap and money dear. In particular after a great war, deflation favors the creditors of the state, those to whom the state is owing money on bonds at the expense of the taxpayer.

If the French government borrowed 10 billions of dollars on a five per cent basis, when the French franc is worth one-quarter of what it will be when the franc is deflated, or brought back to par, it is very clear that the owners of these government bonds will be repaid more than they lent to the government. In terms of goods, and the taxpayer, the debtor, in this case, will pay more to the government than he should in terms of goods.

Civilization Must Choose.

The money income of individuals falls under deflation, while the amount which the creditor of the state receives remains the same. It is seen therefore that the policy of deflation is as ruinous and as dangerous to a nation as that of its vicious counterpart inflation. Both must make the supreme choice, either to throw into the discard these twin brothers of social crime, inflation and deflation, or face the inevitable breakdown of modern industrial life as we now understand it.

WHAT OF FARMERS COSTS?

FARMERS in various portions of Ontario have for some years been keeping very complete cost records. There are sections in Oxford, Middlesex, Peel, Wellington and other counties where farmers have made rapid advances in their work. True, the final work of summing up all the year's work and placing all the labor charges in their proper places is still done at the farm accounting department at the O. A. C., yet there are thousands of farmers in Ontario now who can tell you what the cost of their year's work has been. They can go over their fields of wheat, oats, hay, turnips, mixed grain, and tell what it cost to produce them, how much it was worth per bushel or per acre. They can take their hogs or cattle or sheep in the same way. Also they can show records of milk production on a very scientific scale, and they know quite accurately what these things have cost.

Now, all this is very excellent, but it is not enough.

Take the case of a manufacturer making an article. A sewing machine is something used in every home, so let us take a sewing machine. The man who makes it knows his costs, material, labor, taxes, power, investment, overhead, distribution, and so on. On the basis of all these he adds his profit and names his selling price. It is not contended for a minute that he can eliminate the element of chance, for he meets it all the time, but he can at least know his cost and name his price. On the basis of his known figures he takes his produce to the market. There is no chance of his coming to London, if he did such a thing, and hearing the buyers say "The price we are paying for a sewing machine today is $25."

The farmers in several parts of Ontario have studied their cost statistics, and they have the satisfaction of knowing whether they are winning or losing.

They must take the next step in order to justify the first.

In other words, what is the use of their keeping cost sheets if they are not able to go ahead and sell on the basis of their known costs?

THAT LOAD OF OATS.

SUPPOSE, for the sake of argument, a farmer from Middlesex who had kept a very careful record of his costs were to drive to the market in London with a load of oats. He would produce his figures and say, "I have a well-kept table here that shows me that by the time I fertilized and worked the land, bought the seed, kept out the wild oats, the mustard and thistles, cut it and bound it, and had it threshed, it cost me 60 cents per bushel, and I must have at least that much if I am going to break even on my oats."

The buyer on the market might look impressed, although there is the chance that he would also look amused at this new turn in events.

But in the long run he would name the price for oats at 48 or 49 cents. The farmer could argue if he wished, he could back up his figures in a way that could not be doubted, and it might make excellent material for a debating club. But in the end what would happen?

Simply this. The buyer would say in effect, if not in so many words: "That's all very well, Mr. Farmer. I can't for the life of me show you where you are wrong in your figures, and I guess they are just as you state them. But, you know, they mean very little to me. I am here to buy oats at the market price—that is all I go by. I don't know who made it, or where it was made, but all I know is that I will offer you 48 cents a bushel for your oats, and if you don't want to take that you can go back home with your load, because I can get all I want at 48 cents."

And the farmer would have to put his records back in his pocket and take the 48-cent price, knowing that it cost him 60 cents to grow the oats—or else take the load back home. If he went off to any other market he would meet the same unbending conditions. He would find the market price had been named without regard to the figures he had been keeping all year.

LIKEWISE IN PORK. NOT more than four weeks ago a farmer who ships sometimes at Komoka and sometimes at Ailsa Craig told of his experience. He had a good showing of pork. He found that he had to sell to get money. He took his pigs to the railway station, shipped them. The price he received was lower than he had anticipated, because there was a full market on the day his stock got there. Had he taken the train to Toronto he could have carried his documents along with him showing exactly what he had paid for feed and labor on those hogs. He would have named a price for selling based on his known costs, and it would have been above what "the market" said could be paid on that day. He might have argued the point with the buyer there. As far as the discussion would go he would have had the best of it. And when it was all over he would have been told, "That's all very well, mister. We admit what you say is true. But the market price for your hogs today is so-and-so, and you can take it or leave it."

The farmer need not look to outside influences or agencies to help him out. "Markets" are out to buy his produce just as cheaply as they can, because the lower they can buy the more they can make on the transaction.

The only agency that is going to help the farmer out of this selling below cost is the farmer himself, and he cannot do it on his own hook.

To him co-operative selling may be a vague term, that has not worked out as well as he had hoped for when he tried it some time or other. There is no other way out. It may be argued that the machinery necessary to retain control of farm produce in order to sell at a profit is not in existence, and that it would be a hard thing to bring about. There are plenty of objections to be made, and many of them are stubborn. But make them all, and the farmers will be still where they are today, selling for what is offered instead of selling their goods at a profit, as they must do if their business is going to occupy the place it is entitled to.

The Forester's Case.

Member of Dozen Years' Standing Shows What Has Been Done To Protect the Older Members.

Sir,—Yesterday I read with interest a letter published in your correspondence column dealing with the rates of contribution in fraternal societies. The writer, if I remember rightly (I have not the letter before me as I write), complained of the misfortune of the older members of these societies who in many cases are finding the new rates a great burden, to say the least, and in many cases cannot obtain insurance elsewhere at the present time. These older members certainly deserve every consideration for it is largely due to their efforts in the past that there is any society in existence at all at the present time. I do not know what the situation is as between the older and younger members in any other society, but I do know, however, that in one of the societies mentioned in the said letter, the older members are receiving every consideration. I refer to the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Your correspondent mentioned the C. O. F. and the Chosen Friends, I believe, as being societies whose rates have recently gone up, and at another point in his letter he spoke of a member of a fraternal society having had his rates raised to seven dollars per month. Today I was told that a certain member of the C. O. F. now had to pay $7 per month for one thousand dollars' insurance—"It was having read in yesterday's Advertiser." There was no such statement made, and I also happen to know that if such a statement had been made it would not have been true, as the oldest member of the C. O. F. only pays $4 per month per thousand dollars' insurance. Of course, he pays lodge dues in addition to this, but for this extra fee he receives more or less the same benefits as if he joined a club, and he may also, if he wishes, have sickness and accident benefits at a slightly-increased premium.

I know that some of the agents of the old-line life insurance companies are endeavoring to turn the increase in the C. O. F. rates to advantage, and I do not blame them, for it is their business to get business where they can, and I have no doubt they are doing it in good faith in most cases. The argument they use, however, in many cases, is absolutely without foundation. They point to other fraternal societies which in the past have made several increases in their rates, the first increases having been mere guesswork in an effort to stave off the day of reckoning, with the result that these societies which adopted such methods got themselves into such a condition that they finally had to charge very excessive premiums to place their insurance on a permanent reserve basis. They state, or at least leave it to be supposed that this will be the case with the C. O. F.—that the rates will again be increased, perhaps several times. The C. O. F. however, is now on a reserve basis, much the same as the companies these agents represent, and if the C. O. F. rates are not now guaranteed rates, then neither are the rates of the old line companies, and the agents who adopt such arguments are either ignorant of the real situation of the C. O. F. or ill advised, for they are knocking their own companies and all life insurance, even though they may not realize it.

The readjustment committee, appointed by the late Ontario government, to fix the C. O. F. rates, consisted of an accountant, a barrister, and an actuary, all foremost in their profession, so that the new rates ought to be sound from every angle. Professor Mackenzie of the University of Toronto, the actuary of the committee, is engaged in teaching actuarial science to our budding actuaries, and his work is so well thought of that the graduates of the University of Toronto in actuarial science are in such demand among American insurance companies that it is very rare indeed that one can be secured for a Canadian company, and they are able to command better salaries than the graduates of the American colleges. The members of the C. O. F. may safely rely on the rates vouched for by Mr. Mackenzie, and these rates are lower than they can secure anywhere else, I believe.

know in my own case (I have been a member of the order for some dozen years), they are lower even than the government rates for returned soldiers' insurance, some of which I carry also, and which is issued at net rates. These lower rates for members of the C. O. F. were made possible by apportioning the existing funds (some seven million dollars) among the members in an equitable manner, with due consideration for the older members especially.

I trust that the above may be of some general interest, and thank you for space to make these statements.

London Will Present Stronger Lineup Against St. Mary's Tonight

TONIGHT'S INTERMEDIATE GAME PROMISES ACTION

London Lineup Partially Made Over For St. Mary's Battle.

London's intermediate hockey team will be partially made over for tonight's tilt against St. Mary's here. "Bud" Kelly, who used to cavort around wing or defence for intermediate teams in the past, has been coaxed back out of partial retirement, and Doolittle has been grabbed up for front-line work, probably as an alternate with Pete McGeech.

It promises to be a strenuous game. Pete McGeech's goal in the last moment gave London a win in the Stone Town, but it was close, perspiring work.

The St. Mary's team, like their lacrosse brothers, always play a fairly strenuous game, but slicing off huge chunks of stone out of the quarry is heavy work, so the local players do not feel that it's so much intention as habit on the part of tonight's guests.

The game should bring enthusiasm for the intermediate team, who, if they get working properly, have a nice comfortable lead in the group. In their last workouts they have shown some nice work, and Wednesday night's Manufacturers' League games brought out the fact that individually they were right back at themselves.

SPORT SNAPSHOTS

"One-Eyed" Connolly, world's champion gate crasher, who has seen every championship fight in the past thirty-five years and has never had to pay, is disconsolate. He is at Waterloo at Universal City and for the first time in his life is forced to use a ticket. He wanted to see Billy Sullivan and Phil Salvador box.

The bout took place in an episode in "The Leather Stocking" directed by Edward Laemmle, and a delegation of fight followers from the Hollywood Legion Stadium showed up at the audience. Suddenly in the midst of the battle, Tommy Regan, assistant director, stopped the action. "Something's wrong here," he asserted. The something wrong proved to be "One-Eyed" Connolly, who had "crashed the gate."

He was "bounced," and the filming went on. Suddenly there was a yell from Regan. "He's in again!" shouted the assistant. Again Connolly was ousted from the scene.

Four times he was "bounced." Each time he'd slip back into the crowd and get on the set again. "This here's a fight, ain't it?" he protested. "Always see fights and I never need a ticket. I know Jim Jeffries and Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey and Ed Kennedy."

"Well, you'll have to have an extra ticket or a yellow pass," declared Laemmle. "However, you're so much trouble, being fired off this set, that I'll give you a pass."

The world's champion gate crasher accepted the pass, but he was near to tears.

"It's the first time in thirty-five years I've ever had to use a ticket!" he almost wept.

C. A. C. AGERS PLANNING SENIOR BOYS' LEAGUE

Athletic affairs at the local Catholic Athletic Club are looking up. Last night saw between twelve and fifteen candidates on the basketball floor getting in shape for the Senior Boys' League, which it is expected will get under way soon with two games a week, Tuesday and Thursday.

It is expected that four teams, and possibly a fifth, can be got together for this league. The league will be run along lines similar to the C.A.C. baseball and hockey circuits. A meeting will be held early next week to draw up a schedule.

JUNIORS PREPARED FOR BATTLE TONIGHT

Promise To Show Improved Form Against Woodstock in O. H. A. Mix.

London's junior O. H. A. sextet will go to Woodstock tonight a different team than that which went down to an 8 to 4 defeat at the hands of the Baby City youngsters last Monday. The local lads have put in some strenuous workouts since then, and will have an assortment of new tricks up their sleeves when they get into action tonight.

The Woodstock crew is heavier throughout, but the London outfit is not letting this worry them, as they know by now just about how to work together, a fact which a few games against stiff opposition is bound to bring out in any team.

Bill Howard, the husky young local net guardian, who had his head in a sling for a few days after stopping a hot one with his left eye, is around again, and may be included in the line-up.

Poke and Cross Checks

The unofficial pickers of London's O. H. A. material saw three or four prospects last night. Doolittle and Gowdy, the big boy who played defence on the Bell Telephone team, were two of them.

Doolittle, although it was his first time on skates, looked awfully good and caused much comment. However, he wasn't overlooked when the O. H. A. squad was picked—he over-looked the workouts. He is sure to be seen in action in the intermediate O. H. A. ranks.

Charlebois was another prospect. However, Western "U" wanted him to play for the college team exclusively, and he would not be available.

The Western "U" team has a hard struggle ahead, and they'll need every bit of Charlebois' pep.

The goal-tender always stars! The report of every hockey game concludes with: "Had it not been for the great work of Stopen in goal the winners would have run up a cricket score." And perhaps the reason may be that every time the goalie makes a stop, half the crowd heaves a sigh of relief that sounds like a young cyclone, while the other half yells: "That guy's got horse-shoes hanging on every corner of him."

Managar Arthur Barrett of the St. Thomas intermediates has made arrangements with the McGeech's team of London, Ont., to play an exhibition hockey match at the Granite rink tonight. A good battle is predicted.

Stratford Beacon-Herald: "Among any large crowd of fans there is bound to be a few who show their displeasure at the efforts of players on either team or the referee in a manner which more broad-minded devotees find hard to interpret. It is the same all over the Big Four circuit, and Stratford is far from being an exception.

"Fifty people can make their efforts sound like the unanimous hooting of 2,500 if they are scattered about the rink. That was the case last night. Every time the Greenshirts came on the ice the players stopped to tie his shoe lace, there was hissing. It wasn't by any means general, but it had the effect of making the visitors think the home crowd was unsportsmanlike. The mere fact that such a crowd went to see the game was a tribute to the playing abilities of the visitors, as well as the homesters.

"And, by the way, one has to hark back to the good old days to find the sportsmanship. Last night the visitors dressed at a downtown hotel rather than use the dressing-rooms at the rink. It's the same all over the Big Four. Years ago a visiting team was welcomed by the band and banqueted after the game. Now they come and go without even a kindly round of applause now and then."

STIRLING GETS K.O.
Miami, Fla., Jan. 10.—Young Stirling of Macon, Ga., knocked out Mike Nestor of New York in the fifth round of a scheduled 12-round match here tonight.

M'GRAW SAYS SCOTT DESERVES HARD JOLT

Giants' Manager Declares Long John May Be "Grateful" Next Time.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Jan. 10.—Baseball followers were puzzled today by the waivers granted by all other fifteen major league baseball clubs on Jack Scott of the New York Giants, pitching sensation of the 1922 world's series. Not only did all the majors pass up the tarheel souponner, but the Louisville American Association Club refused to accept him as part of a deal for Dean.

Scott is the second pitcher of note to leave New York for nuzzling reasons this winter, his predecessor being Carl Mays, who was grabbed by Cincinnati. The Mays case was not so mysterious as Scott's, however, as several clubs dickered to buy him, while Scott, who won more games last year than the submarine twirler, was completely refused.

It was suggested today that Manager McGraw might be getting under Scott's hide to force him to keep better discipline this year than he did last, and really intends to retain him, though McGraw himself gave no such indication. He said he hoped Long John could be more "grateful" to the next club which hired him.

Scott's case, like Mays, was more a case of inability to get along with his manager than anything else.

PETROLIA HIGH TO OPEN WOSSA SERIES IN SARNIA

Special To The Advertiser.

Petrolia, Jan. 10.—The local High School hockey team will invade Sarnia tomorrow to open their "Wossa" schedule with the fast Collegiate sextet at the arena. The Hard Oil kids are considerably weakened this year, having lost four of last year's team, but they have been showing up well at practice. "Dad" Donald will mind the nets with "Connie" Boges and B. Churchill on defence. Tanton, Bryant, Thompson, O'Dell, Wilson and Lindsay will form the forward line.

This game will be watched with keen interest by both Sarnia and Petrolia hockey fans, as it is the first time that the blue and whites and the Hard Oil have ever met on ice as far as can be ascertained from old times. Sarnia Collegiate will play the return game next Friday afternoon.

SETTING FAST PACE IN MANUFACTURERS' LEAGUE.

McClary's puck chasers, shown above, on the form they have displayed so far this season, look like one of the teams that will be reckoned with in the Manufacturers' race.

On the Side Lines

With C. S. G.

IS NOT ALL IN MUSIC.

The value of rhythmic action in all sport is not newly discovered by any means, but it has been emphasized by the slow-motion camera. A strong physique, keen brain and courage are not alone enough to land an athlete to the heights of achievement. They fall short unless there is present a keen sense of rhythm.

Before the days of the slow-motion camera this need of the sense of rhythm was known about and vaguely expressed by the word "form." Now prize-fighters, golfers, swimmers, trackmen, all manner and sorts of athletes are shown doing their stuff all under the eye of the slow-motion camera, and the obvious feature in all these films is the rhythm, the perfect co-ordination of eye, brain and muscle which the pictures bring out.

USES MIRROR.

Alwyn, the crack Hamilton C. I. quarter-miler, whose running form when he performed at the Ontario track championships here last summer drew comments from even the uninitiated, and who will be almost certain to make the Olympic team, lacking a slow-motion camera, finds, according to reports, a long mirror a good makeshift arrangement.

He is said to practice constantly before the mirror, and corrects his own form as he does his tread-mill stuff. Athletes who take their work as seriously as this are needed on Canada's Olympic team.

WRITER'S CRAMP.

The U. S. hockey body will restrain hockey players from writing articles on the games. As it is popularly supposed in Canada that U. S. "amateur" hockey players are paid by check, and therefore don't have to sign receipts even, there will be little danger of writing cramp now among the ice stars.

THE SAME, YET NOT.

Siki has probably found out by this time that Monsieur Jacques Barleycorn and John Barleycorn, U. S. A., may have a family resemblance, in outward appearance, but there the resemblance ends.

ALL TO YANKS.

Many of the American League teams are conceding the pennant to the Yankees. None of the National League teams is conceding the Giants anything.

It is true that Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis are not among those who consider the Yankees winners before the race starts. Ty Cobb believes that if he can dig up a second baseman and one more pitcher he will make the Yanks hop along pretty merrily, and Tris Speaker is another manager who is not doing any conceding.

Baseball is a queer game. At the opening of last season it looked as if the Giants would have a walkaway. The Yanks were favorites in their league, but it was thought they might have a tough fight. Things didn't happen that way. Nor does anyone know what may happen this season. It doesn't take a very big money wrench to play havoc with the works of a baseball machine and four pennants in a row have been shot at and missed by more than one great club.

DUNDEE OFFERED $12,000 TO DEFEND HIS TITLE

Associated Press Despatch.

Meriden, Conn., Jan. 10.—George Dwyer of Bridgeport, matchmaker of the local National A. C., wired Jimmy Johnston, manager of Johnny Dundee, the junior lightweight champion, an offer of $12,000 to meet Louis (Kid) Kaplan of this city, for a bout with the title involved. The offer was made yesterday.

Manhattan Lassies Will Brave Unknown Bushes

Mixes Baseball With His Hockey

Special To The Advertiser.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—Here is another one for the book—Garrison, the Oshawa junior, uses a baseball infield's finger glove in goal. Cobourg protested last night, and Referee Bobby Armstrong of Toronto ordered Garrison to remove the facing from between the first finger and the thumb on the ground that it might come under the rule governing equipment which gives a goalkeeper undue assistance.

Armstrong says that Garrison was making one-hand pick-ups like Frank Frisch. Knotty Lee is invited to look this boy over. Years ago a goalkeeper named Despard, who played for Toronto Rowing Club, used to drop his stick and catch them like a ball player. St. Paul had a goalkeeper last year who cut his club down to three feet. He used to bat them out or tuck it under his arm and catch them baseball fashion.

"SID" RANKIN TO REFEREE CHESLEY-MITCHELL MIX

"Sid" Rankin will referee the Chesley-Mitchell senior Northern League game at Chesley tonight, providing the ice is not so soft as to cause the game to be postponed.

He was slated to handle the Guelph-Stratford mangle in the Classic City last night, but was informed early in the evening that the battle was off, due to the mild weather mashing up the ice.

OLYMPIC TEAM DEFEATS MARITIME CHAMPIONS

Canadian Press Despatch.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 10.—The Canadian hockey team tonight defeated the Maritime amateur champions, the Abegweit, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., here in the final game to be played by the Canadian representatives on this side before sailing to uphold Canada's honors at Chamonix.

Leave Bright Lights Behind To Meet Shamrocks Here Tomorrow.

WESTERN PLAYS VARSITY

Intercollegiate Series Opener Billed For Preliminary Game.

The London Shamrocks are providing girls' basketball fans with a bang-up tilt as the opener of their winter campaign. The Manhattan Lassies, routed direct from "Ole" Broadway—the Great Way—and with their eyes still blinking in the semi-darkness of the bushes, will be here tomorrow night. As a curtain-raiser the armories cage fest tomorrow night. Varsity opens the intercollegiate season here against Western University quintet in what would be a main event if it were not contrasted against the big task Shamrocks have assumed in bringing the Manhattanites here.

It's a long trip for the Broadway girls, the longest they've ever taken, but as they've toured the New Jersey and New York state wilds, they are rural broke, and won't be so depressed with the lonesomeness of the wild open spaces and lonesome howling of the wind as to be off their game.

The New York Herald sport department discovered the Lassies were making this trip, and apparently the New York Herald's Gotham gave explorers and other hardy adventurers when they sail off into the "unknown and uncharted."

The Herald has this to say: "The Manhattan Lassies, a strong combination of girl basketball players of this city, will leave tomorrow night for Canada to play the London (Ontario) Shamrocks, contenders for the championship of the Dominion Basketball League. The game will be contested under boys' rules, which are seldom employed in games played by the Manhattan Lassies. Nevertheless the New York girls expect to make a good showing, says Miss Mae Kahl, manager of the team. The record of the Manhattan Lassies to date shows 15 victories and one defeat."

BOUGHNER

Dempsey To Defend Heavyweight Title Against Gibbons In June

DEMPSEY-GIBBONS BATTLE IS ASSURED FOR NEXT SUMMER

Tex Rickard Comes To Definite Agreement With Challenger's Manager.

OFFERS NUMEROUS

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Jan. 10.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Tommy Gibbons, challenger, will fight a match in New York City in June, promoter Tex Rickard announced today, after a conference with Eddie Kane and Confe.

Rickard came to a definite agreement with Kane after an hour's conference at Madison Square Garden.

Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, has not yet signed articles with Rickard, but a few days ago he assured the promoter there would be no hitch in arrangements if Gibbons were signed.

Several promoters had been dickering for the right to stage the latest offer having been made by James Mulen of Chicago, who asserted he had negotiations well under way. Both Kane and Kearns, however, denied that they had given Mulen any definite assurances.

No details of the agreement reached between Kane and Rickard were revealed, but Kane, who barely made expenses at Shelby as a result of the financial debacle of the fight there, indicated he was well satisfied with the promoter's proposition.

Kearns declared he would have no hesitancy in signing for Dempsey if terms and conditions are agreeable. It was understood, however, that he already has come to an understanding with the promoter.

Kearns said any date and place were agreeable to the champion, but mentioned Decoration Day, May 30, as a favorable time.

According to Rickard he has no definite site planned out, but his choice would be limited to the two baseball parks here and Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City.

GIBBONS CONFIDENT

Associated Press Despatch.
St. Paul, Jan. 10.—Tommy Gibbons, when informed tonight that a return match had been arranged between himself and Dempsey, declared "It is the best news I've heard in a long time. It means that I am going to be the next heavyweight champion of the world. Ever since the fight at Shelby, Montana, I have tried hard to get a return match, for I honestly believe I learned more about him than he did about me. I feel sure that I can defeat the champion."

"O.K." SAYS CHAMPION

Associated Press Despatch.
Miami, Fla., Jan. 10.—"It is O.K. with Mr. Kearns; it suits me fine," said Champion Jack Dempsey when told tonight that it was announced in New York by Tex Rickard that the champion and Tommy Gibbons would meet in New York, probably next June.

ICE IS IN POOR CONDITION FOR SENIOR TILT TONIGHT

Special to The Advertiser.
Kitchener, Jan. 10.—Soft ice will probably be in order here tomorrow night for the Parkdale-Twin City senior O. H. A. game. The management at the Auditorium has suspended all practicing and skating in an effort to save the surface as much as possible.

This will be the opening game of the Twin City club, their first game on New Year's with St. Marys having to be postponed owing to lack of ice.

FRANKIE FRENCH OFFERED $18,000 YEAR CONTRACT

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Jan. 10.—Frankie Fritsch, the second baseman, valued by Manager McGraw of the New York Giants as a greater player than Rogers Hornsby of St. Louis, has been offered a two-year contract for $18,000 a season, $5,000 more than he received for last year, it was understood today.

WALLACE BILL INCLUDES STAR BOUTS

A. A. Arranges Top Notch Boxing Card For Friday Next.

Special to The Advertiser.
Wallace, Jan. 10.—Final arrangements have been made for the boxing and wrestling tournament to be staged by the Wallace-B. A. A. on Jan. 18.

Every one of the six boxing bouts will be "star turns." It. McKinley of Chatham, who made such a fine showing against Wallace, will fight this time be matched against Frobel, who made such a sensational and lucky start against the Sarnia whirlwind, Smith. Both McKinley and Frobel are more evenly matched, and a real fight should be forthcoming. Another star bout will be between Ivan Holen and D'Arcy McGee. Holen is an ex-light-heavy champion of Belgium, while McGee is an ex-champion of the Montreal A. A.

Roy Claxton of Sarnia and C. C. Gordon of Chatham will again oppose each other.

In addition to these bouts, there will be several others, and Carey, who made such a favorable impression with the local fans last winter, will engage in a wrestling contest.

When the list of ineligible in amateur baseball is published this spring, London may have a good team left as any of them.

St. Thomas Times-Journal: "There appears to be a marked determination on the part of the sporting editors of outside newspapers especially those in London, Ontario, to locate Jack (Lefty) Williams, the elusive southpaw who pitched for the Belleville O. B. B. A. team last year, in St. Thomas. The Indian disappeared from Belleville, according to reports, a few days before the first of January and the next day or so a London sporting scribe announced that the nomadic moundman had stepped off the train in the Flower City and would be a member of this year's pitching squad."

If Williams stepped off the train in St. Thomas, as reported, then he must have kept under cover and did not make known his presence to any of the officers of the St. Thomas Baseball Club, for none of them has seen or heard of the pitcher around here.

It is possible that some sporting scribe, blessed with a vivid imagination, saw an Indian named Johnson, a hockey player who has been working here, around one of the local depots and immediately sent forth the wonderful tidings that Jack Williams of Belleville had arrived. Manager George Nethercott of the St. Thomas Club suggests that this may have been the origin of the report.

Johnson was employed in the local G. T. R. Wabash shops about the time Williams was supposed to have been here.

Joe Stecher, former world's heavyweight wrestler, has signed a contract to try out for first baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics in the National League club and will accompany them to Florida, if "Strangler" Lewis refuses to meet him for the title. Stecher said here today.

Stecher has never had any league experience, but has played semi-pro ball for several years with his home town of Dodge, Nebraska.

Hans Wagner's Own Story

One of the Greatest of Baseball Players Gives Fascinating Account of His Long Experience From the Inside Angle.

By HANS WAGNER.

FAMOUS FANS IN BASEBALL HISTORY.

CHAPTER 32.
In picking out some of the famous fans of my time I will start by naming the president of our club, Barney Dreyfuss. He was the only club owner I ever knew who was just as much a fan as I was.

He got in the game first as a fan and not merely to start a new business, as a lot of people think.

So much has been said of Barney Dreyfuss as a wise baseball owner, a smart trader and a man who understands every angle of the baseball business that few know of him as a fan. Barney has calmed down in his later days and can take the games as they come without getting excited.

If you ever sat next him in the grandstand in the old days, though, and didn't know him by sight you'd never think he was the owner of the Pittsburgh club. His comments would run something like this:

"Oh, there's a hit!" I knew it when Johnny gave him a low ball. He couldn't hit a high one with a shovel!" Huh, there he goes again—walking Jones, a weak hitter, so as to get Smith who's been slugging the ball hard all season. Huh! That's fine judgment, I don't think!"

Then a ground ball would go for a clean base hit between third and short.

"What's that shortstop playing next second for on a dead ball? Hold him!" Well, that's fine! What's Johnny watching that runner for—he's an ice wagon on the bases. Sure. He can't run the length of a base without stopping. G'ad, pitch to the batter, never mind the base runner!"

With Barney's own club at bat he would go like this:

"Scout's snout to him—look, that third baseman is playing back a mile." The batter does bunt and beats it. "That's the boy, that's playing the game. Now, there's a chance for a sacrifice. Batter hunts a pop fly that is caught. "Huh, bunts like a drunken shoemaker—picking on a high ball to bunt—bound to pop it in the air."

"Next two batters go out on long flies. "No runs, huh! Bum ball playing!"

He Knows Every Hovel.
Mr. Dreyfuss would travel with the team, mix with the players and engage in any of their games, their amusements. He would mix up in practical jokes, and give and take. But, above all things, he was crazy to see his ball club win.

I remember once we were defeated by the Giants in a remarkable game that went 18 innings, the Pirates being defeated in the last inning 2-0.

"That was certainly a nice game of ball," I remarked to him when we got to the hotel, "and a great crowd present, too."

"Huh," he grunted, "but don't forget, Honus that we lost."

Barney Dreyfuss probably knows more baseball than any other owner in the game. There are no plays or players with which he is not familiar. He has made the study of players all over the country a science. You couldn't stump him to this day on any ball players in the country, major or minor league. When it comes to a system of knowing what ball he could make a Scotland Yard detective look like a bushier.

Mr. Dreyfuss gets a line on youngsters even before they enter high schools, also young players who go back in the woods that they only come but once in a year. I found this out while hunting in the different backwoods of the country. Old farmers and woodsmen would mention Barney Dreyfuss having had a scout out there on certain ball players. He keeps a line on them, and when they are ripe he either gets them or marks them off his little dope book.

Once he runs that mark through a youngster's name you can bet that young fellow will never make the big league. Barney never makes a mistake on them. He has a wonderful memory and knows the good and bad points of young players whether he ever has seen them or not. Just mention any young fellow to him and you'll find that Mr. Dreyfuss knows lots more about his playing than you do. He can even tell you the boy's personal habits.

Where He Got Some of Them.
Barney Dreyfuss is a hard worker. All he asks of a player is to give him his best and obey the rules. It is his belief that a ball player owes it to the public to give the fans a run for their money. If they deliver the goods he was in a league with Barney's remembering them for their efforts.

Mr. Dreyfuss has been more successful in developing youngsters than in paying high prices for men who never have and never will win their spurs. For instance here are some great stars that he dug out of the backwoods, and now they are shining about cities or big leagues: Deacon Phillippi, Redfield, South Dakota; Sam Leever, Goshen, Ohio; Jack Chesbro, Massachusetts; Brickyard Bill Kennedy, Martins Ferry, Ohio; Rube Waddell, Blanco, Pennsylvania; Clarence Beaumont, Honey Creek, Wisconsin; Babe Adams, Mount Morris, Missouri; Ham Hyatt, Northwoods; and I might say myself from Mansfield, Pennsylvania. It's a cinch I didn't know much when they grabbed me and put me in a league with them.

Dreyfuss has a good sense of humor and used to get many laughs out of funny cracks made by players. One time when we were in New York and having a very disastrous trip we crossed over to some town in New Jersey on a ferry. Just as we landed and started for the ball yard for an exhibition game we noticed a sign board, to direct traffic, which read:

"SLOW MOVING TEAMS THIS WAY."

We all stopped and looked, almost afraid to laugh.

"Looks like they got us right," one of them said.

JUNIOR HOCKEY LEAGUE OPENS SEASON MONDAY

Meeting Will Be Held Tonight To Draw Up the Schedule.

Monday will see the London Junior City Hockey League swing into actual action at Westminster Rink, providing, of course, the weather is cold enough to insure a good sheet of ice. Failing this, the opening will be staged Thursday.

The league will be definitely launched at a meeting tonight in the Y. M. C. A. A constitution which should keep the teams in line and develop players to a high degree has been adopted.

Players who have reached their twentieth birthday before Jan. 1 of the year in which they are playing are ineligible. Each club is limited to twenty players.

Embodied in the constitution is also a clause to the effect that the L. A. A. may use all players for trial purposes without affecting the standard in the league.

The East End Club, one of the most enthusiastic in the league, is getting all kinds of support from the east end businessmen.

Willie Hoppe Defeats Challenger in First Block of Title Match.

Associated Press Despatch.
Boston, Jan. 10.—Willie Hoppe, champion 18.2 bailline billiard champion, defeated Welker Cochran of Los Angeles in the first 500-point block of their 1,500-point challenge match here tonight.

Hoppe went out with an unfinished run of 43 in the nineteenth inning. Cochran's score was 376. Throughout Hoppe played consistently good billiards, although only one of his runs, in which he tallied 109 points, approached Cochran's high run of 142.

The champion took the lead in the opening inning, when he ran 90 against 6 for the young Pacific coast star. He was never overtaken.

Cochran, playing his best, ran 142 in the eleventh inning, and cut Hoppe's lead to 32 points. But from the fifteenth inning to the end Hoppe set a pace which Cochran was unable to follow.

WILL OBSERVE WISHES

Associated Press Despatch. Pittsburgh, Jan. 10.—Officials of all clubs of the United States Amateur Hockey Association were notified to-night by Roy D. Schooley, secretary-treasurer, that under no circumstances were they to schedule exhibition games with teams of the Ontario Hockey Association until further notice. Mr. Schooley explained that on December 20 the Ontario association had decided to discontinue exhibition games after officials of the United States Association had found it impossible to attend a conference called by the Canadian officials to discuss migration of players from Canada to this country.

"We will see that their wishes are strictly lived up to, and that none of their teams come into the United States, for the time being," he added. "As I understand it, this affects only those teams that are members of the Ontario Hockey Association and not clubs affiliated with other leagues under the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association."

WESTERN JUNIORS LOSE FAST EXHIBITION TILT

Central Collegiate Passers Romp Home Winners 38 to 17.

Central C. I. quintet defeated Western "B" juniors 38 to 17 in a fast and slightly one-sided exhibition basketball game yesterday afternoon at central gymnasium. The Westerns were unable to keep going in the first period, and the Collegians played circles around them, the score at the end of the period being 11 to 0. In the second the juniors' work appeared faster, and they began to work good combination. They failed, however, to keep Central from scoring, and the period ended with the collegiate squad at the long end of a 25 to 9 score.

In the last frame the pace was faster, and good basketball was staged on both sides. Referee Doolittle had some trouble watching the fouls, most of which were personal, but, on the whole, both teams played a clean, snappy game.

Barbour and Logan were the best for the Collegiate, while Simpson and Bunting did most of the scoring for Western.

The line-ups: Western Juniors (17)—Forwards, Simpson and C. R. Lilley; Referee, F. Rose and McManis; subs, Borton and Kennedy.

Central C. I. (38)—Forwards, Barbour and Murray; center, Logan; defense, Cummings and C. B. Chapman; subs, Rice, Obeay and Foote.

ST. MARYS SENIORS LOSE FAST BATTLE TO AURA LEE

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Jan. 10.—Aura Lee seniors defeated St. Marys here tonight, 4 to 3. Aura Lee opened the scoring and retained the lead for the first period, but were behind, 3 to 2, at the end of the second. It was while four men were serving penalties, three of them St. Marys' players, that Aura Lee scored a one-man defence and tied the score. From then on both teams remained on the ice, and played good hockey. Ed Burke of St. Marys and Dismore of Aura Lee were the stars, the former being the best man on the ice.

SIX THOROUGHBREDS LOSE LIVES WHEN BARN BURNS

Associated Press Despatch. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Six horses, including Eva Guy, by Guy Axworth, and one of her colts by Justice Brooke, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the main barn of the Hudson River Driving Park owned by the Jacob Ruppert estate, here last night. The loss is estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000.

CENTRAL C. I. CONFIDENT OF BEATING ST. THOMAS

London Central Collegiate's basketball squad will go to St. Thomas tomorrow night to open the district "Woosa" cage series against St. Thomas C. I. with a world of confidence in their club bags, acquired after their beating Western U. Juniors in an exhibition tilt last night.

Central has defeated St. Thomas C. I. before on the basketball court, which partly balances their "ex consuetudine" losses on Railroad City gridirons, and they vow to come home with a large young conquest under their belts tomorrow night.

MORE ACCOMMODATION IMPERATIVE PROBLEM

Board of Education Told That Something Must Be Done At Once.

COLLEGIATE IS WORST

Chairman Campbell Places Some Cold Facts Before His Colleagues.

Accommodation for students who desire to secure a secondary school education in London is the most serious problem facing the 1924 board of education, and immediate action must be taken, according to the newly-elected chairman, Bryden N. Campbell, who, in his inaugural address last night, laid emphasis on this point.

The question of accommodation has been the fore since the burning of the old collegiate some years ago, and its solution at present is little better than at that time. The increasing attendance during the past few years has taxed the capacity of all available buildings, and the peak has not yet been reached, he declares.

Referring to the Central Collegiate, Chairman Campbell stated that a conservative estimate of the attendance next fall would be 550 students. With this number of pupils the best service cannot be rendered, and accommodation is increased, owing to the congestion which at present exists.

Already Crowded.

London South Collegiate will have

J. B. WRIGHT, re-elected to the board of education in December, who was appointed a member on No. 1 and the vocational advisory committees, as well as the salary committee.

An attendance of 400 by September, and no place to put them in the building, being now crowded with 340. The solution of accommodation here must be found before September, and Mr. Campbell laid stress on the fact that it is one of the most important of the collegiate questions.

At the London East Collegiate, where 245 pupils are now crowded into the old Princess avenue school, there will be 300 in September.

"We must face the problem of securing considerable additional collegiate accommodation at no distant date," he continued. "The difficulties in connection with the attendance of next fall were evident. While a solution may be found for now, the situation as it will obtain in 1925 would seem to be impossible of solution unless additional permanent accommodation is provided. We must bear in mind that even if a collegiate were started this year it could not be available for use before September, 1925."

"There seems to be no advantage to be gained by an attempt to defer the matter to a later date. It should be solved in the immediate future."

Mr. Campbell touched on the work of every committee and the possible problems that face them.

He urged co-operation between the board and the various municipal bodies, as well as with the department, the Urban Trustees' Association and the Ontario Educational Association.

Referring to No. 1 committee, Mr. Campbell stated that if the present enrolment of the public schools did not increase in the coming year it might be necessary to make readjustments in the public schools staff so as to practice economy. Very few extensions would be carried out.

The building of public schools has been completed for the present, but No. 2 committee will have to see to the redecorating and painting of several schools, some of those mentioned being Pottersburg, Tecumseh, one avenue and Chesley avenue. In addition, the grounds at several, notably at Lord Roberts, will need attention.

Reference was also made to the acute need for adequate provision for physical training at the Technical School, where there is neither gymnasium or auditorium. He mentioned the fact that a new course in printing was to be introduced at this school.

Mr. Campbell lauded the work of Marcus M. Sims, attendance and vocational officer, stating that much of his time would now be devoted to the vocational side of his work, the attendance having been put into shape.

Just before Mr. Campbell made his address Rev. James Mackay was called on for the opening prayer. This was followed by a brief address, in which he said he was glad to see so many Presbyterians on the board.

"Your task is an arduous one, albeit, honorable. The youths with whom you have to deal are like young saplings in the garden of God, and it is your work, you who have charge of them, to train them and see that they grow symmetrically," he said.

One letter that aroused some comment was from H. B. Asplund, city auditor, requesting that provision be made in the estimates for his work.

"There seems to be a desire on the part of the city council to charge the board with every little expense," said Secretary Tanner when asked what it meant.

"Does he get paid for auditing the books of the L. and P. S. and other city enterprises?" asked Trustee Lawanson.

The letter was referred to Chairman B. N. Campbell and Secretary Tanner.

A lengthy report was received from the secretary, which was referred to the various committees interested to make their reports.

N. F. WILLMOT, member of the board of education, appointed on No. 2 committee and the vocational advisory committee for the coming year. Mr. Willmot served on these last year.

COMMERCE TEAM WINS BANKERS' LOOP OPENER

In the opening engagement of the local Bankers' Hockey League at the arena last night the Bank of Commerce crew proved too fast for London Life and slipped three counters on the tally sheet to their opponents' one lone goal.

Sumner and Morton were about the best performers on the winners' line-up, while Reuter and Robinson did their stuff in a consistently capable manner for the insurance salesmen.

Tonight Huron and Erie will stack up against Bank of Montreal in the second battle of the series.

The line-ups: Commerce—Rueter, goal; Grigg, Foot, defense; Robson, center; Menzies, Dean, wings; Plastow, Baker, spurs.

London Life—F. Summer, goal; Henderson, Norton, defense; Jardine, center; R. Summer, Mowatt, wings; Dalgleish, McLeod, spurs.

Referee—Somers.

THINK EPINARD TO RACE AT COVINGTON, KY., TRACK

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Jan. 10.—It has been tentatively decided that the Kentucky appearance of Epinard, the French champion three-year-old, will be at the Latonia track, Covington, Ky. The race there probably will be at a mile and a half. The amount of the stakes, the added money and the exact date will be determined at a later conference.

His eastern appearances probably will be at Belmont and Aqueduct Park in the Metropolitan district.

PREMIER SILENT AS OTHERS GUESS ON NEW CABINET

Believe Crerar Will Not Enter Government At Present Time.

HOLD CONFERENCES

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Premier King today conferred at Laurier House with Hon. T. A. Crerar, former leader of the Progressive party, and Hon. C. A. Dunning, Liberal premier of Saskatchewan. Subsequently Mr. King met his colleagues in cabinet council, to whom it is presumed, he conveyed the nature of the conference.

As to what results, if any, were reached at the conference, there is as yet no official information. Premier King states that the conference has no particular significance; that all he is doing is to confer with the people from various parts of the Dominion on the political and economic situation.

May Not Enter.

It is assumed, although there is no official intimation to this effect, that there is no present likelihood of the two Western men entering the federal cabinet. Both Mr. Crerar and Mr. Dunning decline to make any statement either way. They are remaining over until tomorrow, however, and it is expected that further conferences will be held. An interesting feature of the situation is that the two men conferred with Mr. King, not together, but separately.

The presence of Messrs. Crerar and Dunning in Ottawa has let loose a maze of speculation. There are rumors that Mr. Crerar has come armed with terms with which he is bargaining with Mr. King for a measure of Progressive support next session. It is asserted that principal among these are reductions in the tariff, particularly on agricultural implements and instruments of production, and greater economies in public administration, changes in the levying of station, rural credits and a more rigorous immigration policy.

See Election Coming.

Reports have been revived that a dissolution of Parliament is likely to follow the coming session. The redistribution bill, supply and other necessary legislation will be passed—or such is the rumor—and the government will then appeal to the polls.

Today's conference and previous conferences which Mr. King has had lately with more prominent of his supporters have given some force to predictions that the present year will see a general election.

In such an event, it is argued, Premier King will necessarily have to get more seats in the West even to maintain his present standing. In the House. Among Liberals it is admitted that there is every likelihood of the government losing seats east of Ottawa, losses which could be made up only by gaining ground on the prairies. In some quarters, it is thought that Premier King has that object in view in addition to securing any Progressive support he can during the coming session.

Watkins pitched for the Hussars and Arnold was his working partner. The Garrison games will be continued Tuesdays and Thursdays during the winter.

REPAIR WORK STARTED ON WELLAND CANAL

Leak Under Retaining Wall Tied Up Navigation Last Summer.

Canadian Press Despatch.
St. Catharines, Jan. 10. — Repair work is in progress on the Welland Canal for the permanent stoppage of the leak under the retaining wall in the level between locks 23 and 24 which tied up navigation for several days on three occasions last summer. The leak is believed to have been caused by a strata of gravel between the present canal and the Welland ship canal excavations, a few yards away, through which the water seeped until it wore away a hole.

Ontario Mineral Wealth Means Much To Canada

Minister of Mines Emphasizes Need of Consideration When Division Talked.

CAPITAL SQUARE DEAL

Special to The Advertiser.

Simcoe, Jan. 10. — The Hon. Charles McCrea, minister of mines in the Ontario government, was the guest of the Canadian Club tonight and spoke on mines and mining in Northern Ontario.

He said that the area between North Bay and the Manitoba boundary had been called the hump that was breaking Canada's back. Citizens west of North Bay had spoken of setting up a separate province there, and this was an attitude, he said, with which we should have patience and should realize that Kenora is as far away from Toronto as Halifax.

The area which comprises 356,000 square miles had caused Ontario alarm in the past, but through the discovery of vast mineral wealth there it would yet prove to be the salvation of Canada.

Mineral Production.
At Sudbury they are now producing 85 per cent of the world's nickel supply, and some $25,000,000 worth of nickel is being produced annually. At Cobalt the silver fields have produced $221,000,000 worth of silver. For a time 30 tons of silver per day were produced and the country is on the eve of a great revival in the silver industry. At Porcupine millions had been made out of the Hollinger gold mine.

Nearby the town of Timmins had grown up, which, with environs, had now 12,000 inhabitants, and an area of expansion was before it. For Hollinger was planning to double its output and McIntyre was sinking to 5,000 feet and doubling its capacity.

Very Optimistic.

When offered the ministry of mines he accepted it gladly, for he felt that as a Canadian citizen he could do most in that office for the country he loved. He had two objects before him: first, to let the world know more fully about the enormous undeveloped mineral resources, and secondly, to attract capital and give it a square deal when it came. He touched interestingly on the possibility of coal at Cobalt, and went on to speak of the spirit of optimism in the north. If prospecting or mining did not interest them, there were business commercial possibilities sufficient to make men wealthy. In this way our young men would be saved to the country.

POULTRY SHOW PLANNED.

DENNY BROOKS

A STORY OF COURAGE.

By ELENORE MEHER, N.

CHAPTER LXVII.

Joan's Story.

Doors opening and closing, familiar faces coming, others going. Sometimes we get up and shut the door, thinking: "There, now, they've gone! I'll just move this chair here and the table there and get comfortable once and for all."

So we do and have just accommodated our feet to a new chair, when, lo, they are again in the room where we dwell. They have not knocked nor have we answered, yet here they are at our very hearth, and whether we like it or not our place is shoved about to make room for them.

Well—does any one own his own house? And who is the keeper at the door admitting without a whisper those others come to share our habitation?

It was months—many months since Denny had thought of Joan Lewis. The night of his first visit to Petra Channing he had recalled her, but there was no poignance in the memory—a pleasant elation followed by a transient regret. There was a finality in his thought of her as there was of Violet, of Queenie, of Sid. They were gone.

Now came this astonishing meeting—this pushing of the door—Joan returning.

The pleased elation he had felt walking along the street with her remained all the afternoon. Why, it was just as though she had come back after a week's absence. And she was warmer, not as lonely as she seemed to him before. It was startling—what eyes she had.

But this was the thing that stirred him; that sent him back to the office with a surging enthusiasm for work; that set him all at once with a boundless sense of power. It was Joan's eager faith that he was destined for greatness; that he had only to decide what he would have and it would be given him.

And she was right. Why, sure she was! He knew it himself.

"Yes, tell me about it—about what you've done," she urged, the magnificent eyes glowing. When he had talked, color came into her face. She said simply: "You will reach the star."

He wanted then most valiantly to strain out and grab it. Of course, Katy said things like that. She was always saying them, but then Katy thought he could do everything. Besides he expected Katy to believe in him.

It was a little different with Joan. She was a stranger to him—yet not a stranger—a deep friend, he felt very gay when he went home that evening. So he came bursting into the room with a bubbling, "Say, hello! Where's the world?"

He stopped short. Katy, sitting at the piano, her head buried in her arms, swung around. "Oh, hello, Denny. I thought you'd never get here. Never!" The listless tone sharpened, broke. Katy swung quickly back to the piano.

"Say—well, say Katy!" His throat dried. He put his hands on her shoulders. "What's up, Katy. Gee, you're not sick, are you?"

"No." She was crying, looking up, trying to stave him off. "Oh, Denny, we have to go. We have to go. Oh, isn't that terrible—terrible!"

"Go where? What do you mean?" But it was just that they had to move. The Carletons were going to build a home for Pay on the ground where the old barn stood. They would have to leave the scarlet rambler and the fireplace and the dear view from the west window. They would have to find another home. And Katy it seemed that in all the world there could be no other home.

"Say, is that all? Is that all?" Denny was shaking with relief. Then he began to laugh. "Say, I'm glad. I tell you right out I'm glad."

When he had rattled off the thousands and advantages of living in San Francisco, when he had topped them off with: "Say, I can even run home to lunch now and then," Katy rubbed her hand across her eyes. Denny? You honestly don't care? Well, what do I care, then? Oh, I thought you'd just be crushed!"

He roared. "Crushed! Say, I'm not you, Katy-kid. Besides, I've wanted to move. We can go to a show now in the evening, and you won't be so much alone. That's worried me. I've just hated the idea of your being here all alone all day and sometimes in the night."

Her Children Had Whooping Cough

This is one of the most dangerous diseases of children. It starts with fever and cough. The cough is at first short and sharp, but gradually increases in severity, and occurs in sudden spasms; vomiting follows, and sometimes there is nose bleed. The child turns livid in the face, the eyes appear as if they would burst from their sockets, and suffocation seems imminent, till relief is brought on by the "whoop."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucus and phlegm, and in this way ease the racking cough, and in a short time make it disappear.

Mrs. L. Ambrose, Sarnia, Ont., writes: "My little ones were both sick with whooping cough. I read where Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was good, and I only used two bottles and they were better. I had chronic bronchitis for three years, and tried everything, until finally I got Dr. Wood's. I would not be without this remedy."

Price 35c a bottle, large family size 60c. Put up only by The T. M. Burn Company Limited, Toronto, Ont. —Adv.

RED PEPPER FOR RHEUMATIC PAIN

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once. When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the quick, tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Adv.

The BREATH of the AVENUE

Hints of the Mode for Spring.

No effort is spared by this store to be fashion-first. Owning the exclusive rights in London the Breath of the Avenue forges just another link in our fashion-right chain. We are in constant communication with this organization of New York fashion specialists, and this assures our patrons of the invariable rightness of fashion in this fashion store.

Leonora Hughes' Wardrobe for Palm Beach

Leonora Hughes is perhaps the most outstanding figure in the world of style. She is more than a dancer. She has a head for fashions.

WE INTERVIEW LEONORA HUGHES the day before she sails for Havana. The famous dancer and her partner, Maurice, are sailing South to dance in Havana. And then they are to open the exclusive Montmartre Supper Club in Palm Beach.

Miss Hughes' apartment is cluttered with half-packed trunks, opened and unopened packages. And, as she talks, more and more clothes arrive in distinctive boxes from the fashionable specialty shops. We see some of the frocks she is to wear. She tells us of others. And the fashions that she sponsors are significant because they are the fashions that many women will want—and will wear next spring.

For daytime wear in the tropics, Miss Hughes prefers simple, straight-line frocks of flannel or crepe.

White, which offsets her golden beauty to advantage, is her first choice. And she assures us that most of her wardrobe is white, indicating at the moment a trim flannel suit tossed carelessly over a chair.

Prints, too, she says in a decided tone—flower prints first of all for afternoon dresses. A white crepe frock with an all-over design of tiny green flowers peeps from a box to confirm that important statement.

For Miss Hughes' tropical engagement, Patou has sent her six new dancing frocks from Paris. These evening gowns have that close-fitting bodice and diaphanous skirt that she wears so well.

JEWELLED CHIFFONS AND CRISP TULLES are the fabrics she favors. Chiffons in pastel pink and orchid that glisten with rhinestones and pearls. Tulle in all-white except for a colorful giraffe.

Although the silhouette is the same, we notice a few notes that distinguish these new frocks from previous evening fashions.

ROUND, HIGH NECKLINES both in the back and front. And you know, of course, that Miss Hughes was the first to introduce the backless V effect.

SKIRTS WITH UNEVEN HEMLINES for grace and interest. Many folds of chiffon or tulle with each fold a different length, is one version that she likes. But a newer one that she likes even better is the deeply scalloped hem.

SHE PROVES HER FONDNESS for higher necklines and scalloped skirts by using both in the gown she is to wear when she makes her premiere at the Alhambra Hotel in Havana. It is a brilliant affair of orchid chiffon, a broad band of purple violets bordering the scalloped hem.

And Leonora Hughes has not forgotten the shoulder flower that she introduced in Paris and New York. She takes it to Cuba in the new guise—a large cluster of violets that falls half way to the waistline of that exquisite chiffon frock for her Havana premiere.
