Thanksgiving Linens

Quality Counts in Linens

More than in probably any other kind of goods—and there is no textile manufactured wherein there are so many deceptions practiced for instance—they can be chemically bleached and filled with dressing and made to look just as nice as the genuine Irish grass bleached goods, but oh what a difference in the wearing quality.

Our Linens are Grass Bleached

the quality you can bank on, and we call your attention to the accompanying price list, which will demonstrate to you that our prices are the lowest.

These Direct from the Mills in Ireland

Pure Irish Linen, 72 in. wide, grass bleached, in a variety of patterns to choose from, very special at per yard.... 85c	56 in. wide, good heavy union tabling, unbleached, at per yd.... 25c
Napkins to match at per dozen $2.50	60 in. wide, pure linen tabling, extra weight and finish, even thread, free from blemishes, very special at per yd.... 50c

"And Some Were Wise And Some were Foolish"

The Wise Man

The Foolish Man

Chases up some "Bargain Store" or "Bargain Sale" thinking he will save 50c or so on a pair of Shoes. What does he get? Well, it's hard to tell—gets the poorest of Shoes—gets an ill-fitting Shoe—gets everything but what he wants gets mad and declares he will never do it again. And he won't. LAI D TO REST

The funeral of the late Mary L. Coltart took place yesterday afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence, William street to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. Rev. Dr. Battisby conducted the funeral service, assisted by the Rev. J. J. Ross. The funeral was very largely attended by friends of the deceased from Wallaceburg, Blenheim, Thamesville, Windsor and the city.

The floral tributes were very numerous and handsome, and included gifts from her fellow students and the teaching staff of the Collegiate Institute, the Central School and teaching staff, St. Andrew's Sunday school of which deceased was a member, and the Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's church. The pall-bearers were Roy Campbell, Garnet Park, Chas. Riddell, W. McCorvie, Roy Toby and Harry Mussey.

TARTE PRAISES MAPLE CITY

Says Chatham is a Most Progressive Industrial Centre.—Successful Farmer.

Feeling Which Exists in Favor of a Truly Canadian Policy Admitted Universally.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—Mr. Tarte arrived in Montreal this morning, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the results of his Ontario tour. Mr. Tarte said that his trip through Ontario had been pleasant and full of interest. He praised the industry of Ontario farmers, and said that during his sojourn in Chatham, he had the pleasure of shaking hands with a farmer who had just received a cheque for $9,000 for a sale of cattle. Cattle breeding was carried on extensively. He wished his friends in Quebec would visit the farms of the other provinces.

From an industrial point of view, Mr. Tarte said, Chatham was progressive. He said of the Ontario towns visited he found a Board of Trade or a Board of Trade in name only—was one where business men seriously discussed their affairs.

"What is the sentiment of the people?" Mr. Tarte was asked.

"Unanimous," he said; "I say it without the least hesitation—unanimous in asking for an energetic fiscal policy, capable of protecting us against the invasion of foreign products, which menaces the stability and development of our industries, the labor of our working classes, and the markets of our farmers."

FEELING NEVER SO STRONG.

Regarding public opinion, Mr. Tarte said:

"I met in all my visits business men and farmers of both political parties. I do not exaggerate in saying that I have never at any time during my career noticed so strong and so general a feeling as the one which exists to-day in favor of a truly Canadian policy."

Mr. Tarte will address a meeting of the Montreal Board of Trade to-morrow afternoon. He has now accepted invitations to visit Sherbrooke and Magog in the Eastern Townships.

OPERATORS' PROPOSAL UNFAIR IS NOW GENERAL OPINION

No Settlement Can be Made Without a Convention of Workers, Which is Certain to be Guided by Mitchell's Advice, and it is Believed he Will Recommend Refusal of Proposition.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 14.—From a thorough canvass of the situation as it exists to-night, there is every indication for believing that the new arbitration plan proposed by the president of the coal companies for ending the miners' strike will not be accepted in its present form. There is a division of opinion among the strikers, but there is no doubt that a majority feel that the offer to have the President of the United States to select an arbitration commission along the lines suggested by the operators is not fair, and that it unduly limits the President in making up the board. The miners, it is safe to say, will abide by the advice of their national president, in whose judgment they have every confidence, handed the press the following statement:

MITCHELL'S STATEMENT.

President Mitchell declines to say how he personally looks upon the proposition, but to-night he gave to the press the following:

"I fully appreciate with what anxiety the people of our country are awaiting the end of the coal strike. The coal operators have not addressed the miners' union or its officers in making their public statement. It is therefore impossible for me to take the attitude of the miners at this time. I am now, as I have always been, deeply solicitous of the interests of the public and of the welfare of the mine workers who have been on strike for the past five months. A formal statement defining our position and intentions will be issued just as soon as we are in possession of the full meaning of the proposition of the operators."

This statement was made by him at 8 p.m., after a silence lasting all day. He had no intention of making it until the corresponding representatives of the newspapers all over the country called on him in a body, and informed him that the general public desired to have an answer to the proposition of the operators. After giving him the answer he was asked many questions regarding the attitude of the men and the probability of the acceptance or rejection of the new offer, but he had no reply to make to any of those questions. He denied that he had any knowledge of what the new offer of the operators was until it became public property, and also denied that he was in telephonic communication with President Roosevelt. His attention was called to the fact that most of the information from Washington indicated that the proposition would be accepted, and that the strike was near an end, but he stoutly maintained that neither his officers nor the rank and file of the miners had done anything to cause such an impression to go out.

THE DISTRICT PRESIDENTS

also maintain silence as to their personal views of the operators' proposition. President Fahy, however, who after he arrived from Boston to-day, gave an inkling as to how he viewed the new turn of affairs. In reply to a query he said: "The strike cannot be settled without the consent of the men. We are not dealing in gold bricks of any kind, and you can make your decision from that you want." There will be a conference to-morrow between Mr. Mitchell, the three district presidents and Secretary-Treasurer Wilson, who will arrive here to-morrow. It is fully expected that the sentiment of all the strikers will be known to-morrow, and that action will be taken accordingly. There is talk of a convention being called, but there is nothing definite on which to base this report.

MUST CALL A CONVENTION.

President Mitchell was asked at noon by a press correspondent whether he and the district officers had the power to consider the operators' plan and end the strike. His reply was:

"Speaking without special reference to the statement issued by the coal operators, it is a rule of our organization that no settlement can be made by the officers of the union without the consent of a delegate convention. When asked whether the Shamokin convention, which formulated the demands made by the operators, or the Hazleton convention, which made the strike permanent, gave him this consent, he replied "No."

It is practically certain that Mr. Mitchell's advice will be followed in the conference. While he has not said a word as to what he will do, it is freely predicted by those who understand the situation that he will advise a refusal of the proposition.

AMONG THE RANK AND FILE

those who are opposed to accepting the new offer look upon the operators' latest move as a counter proposition to Mr. Mitchell's offer to arbitrate made in the White House at Washington. Their greatest objection to it is that the operators dictate to the President of what class of men he shall select the arbitrators, and charge the operators with lack of faith in the President, when they do not give him a free hand to pick the men he wants. Another objection is that the President is limited to four men in selecting the jurist on the commission. Neither are they sure, they say, that labor would be represented, because the proposal does not specify so, they say, and add that they have no assurance that "a team of prominent, eminent, as a sociologist," would cover this objection. A great many of the strikers think the

and that the miners should trust to President Roosevelt to do the best he can under the conditions laid down by the coal road presidents. An argument was made by one miner to-day that Mr. Mitchell could not well afford to turn down the proposition after already offering to permit the President to select the members of the commission. He thought the President would appreciate the trust put in him, and see that the miners had fair play. Others in the same class thought that not much harm could be done by accepting the proposition, but that in the end much good will result. There is still a third view held by miners, and that is, that they refuse to accept the plan offered, and make a counter proposition, embodying some of the suggestions contained in the operators' offer. One proposition suggested was that the operators, the miners and the President each select a number of men to act as a board. This was mentioned to President Mitchell, but he would make no comment on it.

STRIKE HEADQUARTERS

presented an animated scene all day and evening. The news of the operators proposing to arbitrate spread through the region quickly and a crowd soon gathered and lingered around the hotel all day. President Mitchell had many visitors who called to get the news. He, however, refused all callers alike, and gave out no information. In the early hours the situation appeared mixed, but towards noon reports came in from the various districts to the effect that many men looked favorably upon the operators' proposition, which gave an indication of what might be expected. This was a damper on the enthusiasm of the citizens generally, who thought they saw a ray of hope for the ending of the strike. As an indication of how some of the men felt, a local leader who was among the strikers in the outskirts of the city came into headquarters and quoted the men as saying that they would rather go down to straight defeat than surrender to the employers on the conditions they propose.

AROUND THE MINES.

The situation around the collieries was practically lost sight of, because of last night's developments, but there was no material change from that of yesterday. The arbitration talk has acted as a check upon the movement of men returning to work, and it is probable there will be a great move in this direction unless the men can say that they would rather go down to straight defeat than surrender to the employers on the conditions they propose.

STRIKERS DON'T LIKE IT.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 14.—Despatches from the anthracite region indicate that the strikers do not take kindly to the arbitration plan proposed by the presidents of the coal carrying railroads. Notwithstanding this the belief prevails in coal circles in this city that the sentiments of the strikers who are anxious to return to work will influence those charged with the direction of the strikers' side of the question. President dent Baer, of the Reading Railway, whose name heads the list of the signers of the arbitration plan, started for New York this morning on his private car to attend the regular weekly meeting of the corporation in which he is interested.

CYCLISTS TO MEET

A meeting of all city cyclists has been called for Friday evening in the legal offices of S. B. Arnold to consider the advisability of submitting a proposition for certain sidewalk concessions to the City Council. The cyclists feel that they are entitled to some consideration in the matter and are taking the proper course to submit their requisition.

THE END?

President Mitchell Has Been Summoned to Washington to Confer With Pres. Roosevelt.

Special to The Planet.

Wash. Oct. 15.—This morning President Roosevelt telegraphed President John Mitchell, of the coal miners' union, asking him to come at once to the White House to confer with the Executive concerning the Operators' proposal.

Mr. Mitchell replied that he would start immediately.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15.

COAL OIL GOING UP.

The price of everything that creates warmth has advanced or will advance, points out the St. Thomas Times. That is the prospect now. Coal oil has gone up a fraction in the city, and it is given out by Standard Oil people that general advance is inevitable in the near future. Thus Canada, with plenty of coal oil of her own, is to feel the pressure of the great oil octopus, thanks to the present government.

A United States paper has given figures in regard to the oil situation: "The Oil Trust, owing to the increased demand on account of the coal famine, has increased prices one-half cent a gallon. The trust sells, 45,500,000 barrels of refined oil a year. This is 1,410,500,000 gallons. The increase in price adds $7,053,500 to the trust's annual profits. Most of this will be paid by the poor, already victims of the Meat and Coal Trusts. Another increase in oil is promised."

The same paper goes on to tell of hardships of the poor of New York and other American cities in the present crisis. It says:

"There is nothing more pathetic in the life of the tenements of this city than the appearance of their inhabitants in these times of present hardship and threatening famine. There is a grim realization everywhere that longer crises for them, and so with a stoicism almost marvelous the children and the fathers and mothers, yes, and even the grandfathers, gather in every material that will burn. From the rafters of dismantled houses, from old planking, from boxes that sell at 5 cents and 10 cents each, from every imaginable source have the dwellers of the tenements collected the fuel that is to keep their kitchen fires going and protect them from winter's blasts.

"In a way the tenement house inhabitant is farsighted. If there be the means of warding off disaster, the means are embraced; but it is not withstanding, a relentless fact that the wood which has been gathered and will be gathered for weeks and months can no more supply the necessary heat for the thousands of poor in this city than its sale could offset the impossible prices asked by the coal dealers."

"While we are in anything but a satisfactory condition here as regards fuel, there can be no doubt that we are much better off than the poor in the large cities across the border. And yet the government of Pennsylvania and the government of the United States, are doubtful as to their power to do anything under the constitution.

OSBORNE HOUSE.

The people from Great Britain and certainly the casual visitors from this side of the water know little about Osborne House, which on Aug. 11th last was formally presented to the nation by His Majesty, King Edward VII, commencing the Guelphic. Osborne House lies one mile to the southeast of East Cowes, between the River Medina and the Solent. The present edifice was erected after designs by Mr. T. Cubitt, and is in the domestic Italian style. A striking feature is the square tower 107 feet high, and there is also a clock tower, which rises to a height of 90 feet. The late Queen's apartments are situated in advance of the flag tower and are filled with statuary and pictures, mainly the works of modern artists. The estate, after coming into Her Majesty's possession, was repeatedly enlarged, and now comprises about 5,000 acres, reaching far towards Ryde by the sea shore and to the vicinity of Newport island. It includes terrace gardens and grounds of surpassing beauty, has a private pier on the shore for the use of the Royal household, and on the outskirts are a number of excellent cottages occupied by the workpeople of the estate. Barton Manor House, a picturesque gabled mansion, was rebuilt by Queen Victoria, with careful retention of its old features, as a residence for her principal steward.

The estate was purchased by her Majesty from Lady Isabella Blanchford in 1845, and the mansion house which then stood upon it—a plain and unpretentious building of modern date—was soon after taken down to make room for the existing palatial structure. For a long period the manor was held by the Bowermans, an old Isle of Wight family not yet extinct, and it belonged in the time of Charles I. to Eustace Mann, passing by the marriage of his grand-daughter to the Blanchford family. Originally the name was Austerbourne or Oysterbourne, which has been regarded by some as equivalent to East Borne, by others as derived from adjacent oyster beds. Barton Manor, one of the additions made to the estate, has a long historic record. As early as 1282 an oratory for six chaplains and a clerk had been founded there. It passed to the Bishops of Winchester in 1439 and was given by Bishop Waynflete to Winchester College, from which it was purchased by the late Queen.

It was in the open-air life of Osborne that the Prince Consort often sought renewed health and strength and, in earlier days, superintended the works in progress. Queen Victoria made frequent visits there after the death of the Prince, and it need hardly be recalled that it was at Osborne that the late revered monarch breathed her last.

A GOOD RECEPTION.

To-night the Hon. J. Israel Tarte Minister of Public Works, will attend the Industrial banquet here as the guest of the town and should be given a reception worthy of Berlin. He comes as the apostle of Protection, and the advocate of a "Canada for Canadians" tariff, in both of which our citizens firmly believe.

Speaking at Chatham on Wednesday evening he said: "Into the hazards of public life I entered as a loyal and devoted follower of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. I was a young man then, but during all the changes of years, I still revere the memory of my old chief."

It must be admitted that Mr. Tarte has always been a consistent friend of the policy under which the industries of Canada were built up. He is a man of ideas, courageous and outspoken, and one who plays an important role in the affairs of Canada. Therefore, he should receive a fitting reception and prove a guest well worth listening to.—Berlin News Record.

THE CONTESTED ELECTIONS.

The withdrawal and abandonment of election petitions leaves the battle in the courts to be fought out on the following protests:

East Middlesex, against Dr. Routledge, Liberal, Oct. 15.

South Oxford, against E. L. Sutherland, Conservative, Oct. 15.

Lincoln, against Dr. Jessop, Conservative, Oct. 23.

North Perth, against J. C. Monteith, Conservative, Oct. 28.

North Norfolk, against Dr. Snider, Conservative, Nov. 4.

North Westworth, against R. A. Thompson, Liberal, Nov. 4.

North Grey, against A. G. McKay, Liberal, Nov. 11.

Glengarry, against W. D. McLeod, Conservative, Nov. 11.

East Middlesex was Conservative in the last House and was won by Dr. Routledge by a small majority.

South Oxford, an unusually strong Liberal constituency, was carried by Mr. Sutherland by 162 majority. Lincoln has generally been Conservative; Dr. Jessop had over 600 majority. North Perth is a close constituency; Mr. Monteith has two majority. North Grey is also close; McKay has 5. Glengarry swings from side to side; McLeod had 150 majority. North Norfolk is generally Liberal; Dr. Snider got 23 majority. North Westworth is also generally Liberal; it was recaptured from the Conservatives by Mr. Thompson.

BEYOND THE LIMIT.

Under the above caption the St. Thomas Journal, Liberal, reads Mr. Tarte the following lecture:—

With every speech he makes Hon. Mr. Tarte seems to become more rash in his utterances. His address at Chatham was not only in singularly bad taste from a party standpoint, but it had a flavor of ingratitude and disloyalty to the Premier that must offend every thoughtful Liberal and disgust every fair minded Conservative. His statement in effect was that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier does not come to his way of thinking he will be driven out of public life. If Mr. Tarte will keep on in that strain we feel assured that the ultimate result of his conduct will be to deprive him of any influence he may have either in the Liberal party or the Manufacturers' Association.

The Liberal party will not submit to have their leader brow-beaten by a member of his cabinet, and the Manufacturers' Association (who appear to be using Mr. Tarte for their purposes at the present time) will speedily become aware of the fact that an advocate who antagonizes the court of public opinion, is not likely to have much weight in winning a favorable judgment.

While we deplore the conduct of Mr. Tarte, as he reflects upon the Premier, it must be recognized that the method of his attack deprives it of any force that it might have had for the injury of the Liberal Party. It seems plain that Mr. Tarte is unable to control his temper or regulate his speech by good judgment, and failing to do that he will find it impossible to gain the respect and attention of the electorate of Canada, particularly of that section of earnest and thoughtful men who have for so many years fought the battles of Liberalism when the only reward for their efforts was the consciousness of contending for what they believe to be right.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW

To-morrow being Thanksgiving Day and a statutory holiday, there will be no issue of this Great Home Journal.

FOUND DEAD

Mrs. Stevenson, an old lady who has lived alone for many years, and supposed to be quite wealthy, was found dead at her home in Blenheim yesterday. It is thought that she died on Sunday. When found the deceased was in an awful state, scantily dressed in rags.

The finding of the body caused a mild sensation in Blenheim last night. The husband of the deceased is said to live in the country, but the couple have not lived together for some time. On a partial search of the house $25 was found in an old stocking. The direct cause of death is not known, but she has been a great sufferer from rheumatism and had great difficulty in getting round.

BOWLING

The members of the rinks who played against and defeated Thamesville in the final game for the Vongutten trophy in lawn bowling, have pictures of both teams on the grounds, with the trophy in the centre of the group. The picture is a very good one.

FOOTBALL

The team that will represent the local club at Wallaceburg to-morrow will be composed of—

Goal—Sowerby.
Backs—Courtney and Wilson.
Halves—Parrott, Piggott and Simpson.

Right wing—Anderson and Angus.
Centre—Messer.
Frank Brundage spare man.

The team leaves on the morning train for Wallaceburg.

BASEBALL

"WAS HE" TO BLAME?"

To Sporting Editor of The Planet: Sir,—In your last night's paper I saw that Pete McAuley claims that I came out with a challenge to him in an unmanly way. I wish to ask him if he thinks it is mainly to use a game such as is used in his letter to The Planet, Pin-Head Jack. Pete, you have no reason to run the Aberdeen's down as you have been doing lately. I do not think that you can honestly say that the Aberdeen's are below you and your alleged C. M. C. team's notice, as you said in your letter to The Planet when you gave up the game. Now, what is the matter with the papers, but in mentioning names be a man about it. I am aware that you have more people at your back than I have, but time will prove who is right and who is wrong. As for the Aberdeen's, you cannot say anything against them. They never did you or your team any harm, and were always ready to give you a helping hand in your games when you required it, and as you know have played as good as any one of your team. Pete, you have acted unfair to them and myself by saying that they are below your notice and by the main way in which you have of mentioning my name.

In my last letter to The Planet there was one mistake in regards to R. Miller, pitcher, saying that he refused to pitch against a team until it gained a reputation. That mistake was by myself. I intended it to be, that I refused to play the Aberdeen's with Miller against the C. M. C. team until they regained their reputation; that they talk much about it. (For this reason) After our game with Tilbury Labor Day which, I regret to say, we met defeat. I was speaking to one or more of Pete's players in regards to game. The answer I received was that you had better go and get a reputation before you talk to us about a game. I think that the Aberdeen's have gained a reputation that Pete's team will never hold, and this our first season, too. The reason I did not want to play this game Thanksgiving Day is that I will not be in town until Saturday. Am sorry I cannot give a game this year.

JACK AUSTIN.

THE BEAN CROP.

The Planet: For the information of your readers, we report having a letter today from our correspondent in San Francisco, Cal., saying:

"We have not had the pleasure of hearing from you for some time. We write to ask whether you have a large crop of beans in Canada this year, and how prices are ruling. The recent damage to the Michigan crop has had the effect of advancing prices in California and we are getting 3 1/2c for California beans today, which is equivalent to 4c in New York, or 4 1/4c delivered throughout the U. S."

"It looks to us as though the price of white beans will continue to advance right along through the winter as our crop is short and we do not see where people are going to get their beans this year."

Yours truly,
J. B. STRINGER & CO.

Women's Jackets And Furs

These are busy days of full stock and new fair prices and many days now bring such weather as makes one feel the necessity of warm winter wraps.

Our reputation for great value giving will be proved by the following items.

Women's Ulsters

One of these garments is almost a necessity in every woman's wardrobe, not alone because they are the most protective of all garments for winter wear, but because of their usefulness at all seasons. Grey, fawn, and black, lined ulsters at $10.00. Full range up to $25.00

Three Quarter Length Jackets

Made of handsome Kersey, broadcloth, beaver and covert, in an assortment of black, tan, and Oxford, very stylish shapes; beautifully tailored, body lined or lined throughout. Price range of 36 in. jackets, $5.00 to $16.50. Price range of 42 inch and 45 inch jackets, $5.50 to $17.50

A Word About Furs

What woman does not love furs? Yet, as good furs are necessarily expensive, many careful women resist the temptation for possession. But a good fur garment gives luxurious service for many years. Styles do not change so radically as in cloth garments, so in the end the fur garments are more economical.

A Special Jacket at $25.00

Astrachan jacket of pure selected skins, 24 inches long, storm collar and lapels, lined with finely quilted furmer satin, pockets and fronts faced with fur.

Also 30 and 36 inch jackets at $25.00, $30.00, $38.00.

Electric Seal Jackets at $30.00, $33.00 and $38.00.

All Persian Lamb Jackets special at $125.00.

Our Upholstering Dept.

Possesses all the essential that go to make for thorough and satisfactory work, none but competent workmen are employed, and as for materials, we use only those that we can recommend. Should you choose to let us have your order for a cosy corner, a bed room box, or recovering anything in furniture we are in a position to supply that particular.

In Furniture Coverings

Local Briefs

Mrs. Wm. McKenough and Miss McKenough are in Toronto. Lost, key ring with two keys. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at Planet office.

Mrs. Fagan and Mrs. Crydon McDonald, from Kingsville, are in the city, visiting at A. F. McLeod's, Wellington street east.

Wanted Immediately! An active, intelligent young man, to enter the news room of this office and learn newspaper printing.

The accounts in connection with the administering of the estate of the late Frederick O. Russell, were passed to-day before His Honor Judge Bell. J. G. Kerr appeared for the administrator.

All the Protestant churches of the city join in a union Thanksgiving service at 11 a. m. to-morrow in the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. McCosh, of Christ Church, and Rev. T. T. George, of Victoria avenue Methodist church, will deliver short addresses. The collection will be in aid of the Hospital Fund.

A deputation from the Chatham Lodge, A. O. U. W., visited Valetta Lodge last evening and had a good time. The Chatham Workmen were Clark Tickner, Organizer Chas. Kelly, Wm. Robertson, Master Workman, Gib Arnold, Thos. Scullard, Mr. Martin, Sam Smith, Wm. Somerville, Wm. Connors, Sr., and others.

A very happy but quiet event took place this morning at ten o'clock, when Miss Edith Edwards, daughter of Jas. Edwards, of Chatham Township, was united in marriage to John McIsaac, of the T. H. Taylor Mills. Rev. Mr. Cobblestick, of Park street Methodist church, performed the ceremony. The happy young couple will take up their residence in the Maple City.

The suit of Logan vs. the Gore Mutual Fire Insurance Co., was settled yesterday. This case was to have been entered for trial at the next sitting of the high court. Logan owned a basket factory at Alvinston, which was destroyed by fire. The factory was insured for $1,000. The case was settled by the fire insurance company paying $800 without costs. W. R. Hickey, Bowdell, appeared for the plaintiff, and Edwin Bell, LL.B., for the defence.

"Times must certainly be good," said Ald. Mounteer, "if not in all things, at least in the matter of a builders' supplies. There isn't a bushel of lime to be had in the city, and we are forced in the Board of Works department to use cement instead of mortar. It is a remarkable thing, too, that there is no lime for sale in the city. Cement is scarce, too. There is so much work going in the city that the factories are kept running overtime and the supply scarcely meets the demand."

Crown Attorney Herbert D. Smith was in Wallaceburg yesterday prosecuting for the Crown three young Wallaceburg lads. On Sunday, the 27th of July, the boys got drunk. They claimed to have got their liquor at the Tupperville hotel. When driving home they chased Clifford Bailey and his wife. Mr. Bailey tried to get out of their way but they ran into his rig and upset it. The rig was damaged and Mrs. Bailey was seriously injured. The boys paid all the damages and the costs of the court and were let go with a warning. The damages and costs were over $90.

PIANO RECITAL

Last evening at the studio of the Nordheimer Piano and Music Co., adjoining the establishment of Foreman & Co., Prof. Pinner, of Berlin, Germany, gave an excellent complimentary recital to a good attendance of citizens, all of whom expressed themselves as highly pleased with the instruments and the recital.

At three o'clock this afternoon the professor will give a recital at the Pinner Academy for the benefit of the students and daily, for the balance of the week, he will give short musicals at 2:30 in the afternoon and eight o'clock at night in the studio, to which all are invited.
The Nordheimer Co. also have a special select stock of pianos on exhibition, the exhibit being in charge of A. H. Daziel, assisted by James J. Callaghan, the London manager.

Theatrical

Mr. Samuel Bishop, the principal basso of Exeter Cathedral, England, Mr. Wm. Buckley, an exceptionally clever artist in piano and organ, and Master Danny Campbell, the famous choir boy soloist, will be heard at the Grand Opera House to-night.

Mr. Samuel Bishop, the principal basso of Exeter Cathedral, England, having received an invitation to visit a few cities in Canada and the United States, in order to give some of his popular recitals succeeded in obtaining from the Cathedral leave of absence for five weeks, sails from Liverpool for Boston by the S. S. Ivernia, September 30, 1902. He immediately engaged Mr. Wm. Buckley, Canada's piano virtuoso and solo organist, to accompany him. Also Master Danny Campbell, the choir boy soloist, who possesses a phenomenally sweet voice, and who has sung with great success, received an invitation for the tour.

The Bradford Examiner—"Mr. Buckley's piano recital was an artistic success. The numbers were varied in style and length, but each was played entirely from memory with a brilliancy and grace that could hardly be surpassed."

The Globe—"The organ recital by Mr. W. Buckley was listened to by a large audience. His playing was marked by clearness of touch, great skill in both manual and pedal technique, and a scholarly interpretation. Chipp's arrangement of the 'Empire's Hymn' possesses the most difficult pedal passages, and no organist to our knowledge ever gave the rendering of these extraordinary variations before in Canada. Mr. Buckley was greeted with intense enthusiasm."

The Last days of Pompeii at the Grand to-morrow night. Anyone who saw the out-door production of Last Days of Pompeii at Exhibition Park last summer will doubly enjoy John Fay Palmer's dramatic version entitled "Pharaoh," taken from Bulwer's immortal story, "Last Days of Pompeii." The drama follows the language of the book closely, and all the classic characters of importance appear in a play of strong dramatic interest. Christian and Pagan struggles, scenic embellishment and historical ensemble. Nydia, the blind girl, lone the Neapolitan, Glaucus the Athenian, Lytton the gladiator, Julia the rich Roman lady, Apollonides the boy-priest, Saga the witch of Vesuvius, form a kaleidoscope of characters around that strange and mysterious planet of thought which Lord Lytton drew when he created "Pharaoh" the Egyptian. Mr. Palmer's rendition of the character is forcible, and a copy of the character as drawn by the master-mind Bulwer. He has a magnificent physique, and the carriage of Le Grande Monarque, he has given to the American stage an impersonation not to be forgotten. We have nothing but praise for the production in its entirety. It deserves unqualified success, which it seems to have received.—Kansas City Journal.

San Francisco Minstrels at the Grand Saturday night. On their former visit to this city two years ago, the San Francisco Minstrels received generous patronage and favorable comment. Last season the company toured south and west, competing successfully with organizations such as Field's, West's and Son's. This season Mr. Whitney has a much stronger company than ever before, and that he will add to his already favorable reputation here as an up-to-date amusement-producer is a foregone conclusion.—Bangor Daily News.

WILLIAM GORDON
Standard Fashions, the name is the fact. Nov. Fashion Shows Now in.

An Object Lesson That Means Thousands of Dollars to You if You but Grasp the Opportunity.

A TON of trust-mined coal costs $20. Its equivalent in heat and steam producing fuel oil costs $3.57. Is it any wonder that the railroads, the steamships, the warships, the factories and the homes are burning fuel oil?

Fortunes will be made by the men and the companies controlling the output of fuel oil.

3 57/100 Bbls. Fuel Oil for $3.57 equals One Ton of Coal for $20

WHAT DOES IT ALL MEAN?

J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates are spending millions in California oil properties. The Standard Oil Co. is building immense oil tanks and hundreds of miles of pipe lines costing over $20,000,000! Oil properties that could have been bought 3 months ago for $500 an acre are now held at over $3,000 an acre. The manufacturers of oil stoves and heaters cannot begin to fill their orders! All this means that Colossal Fortunes Will Be Made in Fuel Oil.

Only 3 years ago fuel oil was comparatively unknown. See how the Home Oil Co. stock has jumped from a few dollars to $500 a share! See how Mr. Richard Ellis realized $37,500 on an investment and how a dozen other men were made millionaires in the same way. See how oil lands have advanced from less than 50 cents an acre to $5,000 an acre.

Oil is at least 50 per cent. cheaper than coal, even when coal is at its lowest price. The Southern Pacific Railroad saved $1,000,000 for its stockholders last year by burning fuel oil on 63 locomotives. The present demand for fuel oil is simply prodigious, owing to scarcity of coal and the strike. Petroleum oil, especially California oil, will be the fuel of the future.

Leading financiers of Wall Street have been quick to read the signs of the times. They know that there is big money for those who invest in first class oil stocks like the Eastern Consolidated.

Eastern Consolidated Oil Co.

A Strong and Increasing Demand for This Stock on the Market. Stock is Going Up With a Rush.

100,000 Was Subscribed Last Week.

Over Subscription of Stock in Eastern Consolidated Oil Co. Is Certain.

Has 21,000 acres of rich oil lands. Has 104 producing oil wells in Ohio. Has paid 20 c. in dividends in 10 months.

Best paying investment stock on the market. 50 cents a share to-day, will double by Jan. 1. Buy this week and take advantage of advance. No experiment, a money earner and profit maker. $100,000 already expended for development work. Oil sold for cash to the Standard Oil Company. Ten new wells on Kern River property by Jan. 1. Should increase production 50,000 barrels monthly. Dividend paying revenue from this output alone. This company has properties valued at $500,000. Will probably be worth millions in a few months. Bona fide offers of $200,000 more than they cost. New well in Ohio produces 250 barrels per day. Nearly $7,000 monthly income from the one well. Over 100 other oil wells, all richly productive. Has proven oil land enough for 500 wells more. A ready market for all oil produced in Ohio. Every barrel sold to Standard Oil Company.

Facts, not promises, basis of its success. Dividends paid from actual oil sales. Prices of stock may advance any day.

Price May be Advanced to $1.00 a share Any Day Now.

FAMOUS ILLUSIONS.

SOME SECRETS OF PROFESSIONAL CONJURERS REVEALED.

How the Mysteries Are Destroyed and the Tricks Shown of Their Charm by a Peep at the Mechanism Behind the Scenes.

A behind the scenes view of the famous illusions with which conjurers have mystified and delighted generation after generation has peculiar fascinations. There are few of us who value our own childish illusions so highly that we will not part with them for the fun of seeing how we have been fooled.

Here are examples of some of the best known tricks:

The box trick is as clever as well known and as old as any. A heavy, brass bound chest is exhibited. An assistant is placed in a large canvas bag, the mouth of which is securely fastened, and the bag is placed in the chest, which is locked and roped.

The box is concealed for a few seconds, and when it is revealed the occupant is sitting upon it, the closed and sealed bag beside him. The cords and seals on the box are intact.

This astonishing feat is accomplished thus: The occupant of the bag has inserted a wooden plug in the mouth while the tying is being done. When the chest is locked, he pulls it out, slips out his hand, pulls off the cords, gets out and replaces the cords over the top of the sack.

By the time the chest is roped he is free. The chest has a secret opening, usually at the end, and while it is hidden he crawls out. A slim man is usually employed to do the trick.

The vanity fair trick is one of the most baffling in the repertoire of the black art. A woman stands before a large mirror about ten feet high and placed in a heavy frame. About three feet from the floor is a small shelf placed against the mirror, the bottom of which is about eighteen inches from the floor. The glass having been duly inspected, the young woman mounts the shelf. She then turns to arrange her hair by the mirror. She is asked to face the audience, but again and again turns her back, hence the name of the trick.

Finally, losing patience, the performer thrusts a small screen in front of her, fires a pistol at the spot where she was standing, snatches away the screen, and she has vanished.

The top, bottom and sides of the mirror have been in view all the time and only the center has been hidden for a few seconds.

The secret lies in the fact that the lower part of the mirror is made double, the bottom of the upper part being concealed by a second sheet of silvered glass placed in front of it.

The shelf fits against the line of junction, and enables the mirror to be examined by the audience. As soon as the screen is placed the mirror slides up about a foot into the top of the frame. The bottom of this mirror is cut away in the middle, leaving a hole about eighteen inches square, which was previously concealed from view by the double glass at the base.

Through this hole the lady instantly slips, and escapes by a board which has been pushed forward from behind the scenes while the vanity fair by-play was going on. The glass then slides down again, the screen is removed, and the mirror appears just as solid as it was before.

Another of the most astounding feats of modern magic is that of making a person or object apparently float in the air. A couple of ordinary chairs are placed on the stage—well toward the back, which is draped with black cloth—and upon these is laid a broad, thick plank. A young lady is then introduced and is assisted to place herself in a recumbent position on the plank.

He then draws aside the chairs, and the plank, with the lady on it, remains apparently suspended in the air. To prove that the plank is not supported, the exhibitor takes a large hoop and passes it backward and forward over and around the plank.

Yet there is an attachment. As soon as the lady is placed in position on the board a carriage, placed behind the black curtain and supporting a strong iron bar twice bent upon itself, is pushed forward by an assistant so that the iron bar, which is covered with black cloth, comes out through a slit in the curtain while the exhibitor is pretending to mesmerize the lady. The bar has at its end a very strong clip, and the performer, while making his hypnotic passes, guides this on to the board. The chairs are then removed, and the board remains suspended by the invisible iron bar.

The hoop is passed along from one end until it reaches the bend where the bar passes through the curtain. The performer passes it round the end of the board and himself walks behind, passing the ring along in the opposite direction. Next it is brought back again, and the effect is such that the average spectator is convinced that the hoop has really been passed over the lady and the board from end to end.

Another very effective illusion, arranged upon the same principle, shows the head and bust of a lady supported on a three legged stool resting on a small table. One can apparently see not only between the legs of the table as the back of the stage, but through the space between the stool and the table.

In this case the three legged stool is arranged with mirrors precisely as in the tripod illusion, but the table, which has four legs, is managed differently. A large mirror is placed diagonally under the table, joining to opposite legs. Thus the spectators really only see three of the legs, the fourth being simply the reflection of the first.—New York World.

Good Advice. The Farmer's Guide says: "We are asked how much debt a man with a quarter section farm should carry. That depends. Assuming his farm to be worth $12,000 and the man a hustler, turning his attention wholly to the production of meat products on his farm, and not running a steam thrasher, he might swing a debt of $7,000 at 5 per cent. Still, this will make him sweat and grunt before he gets it paid. We believe it is a mighty good time to shorten sail in the matter of indebtedness during these days of agricultural prosperity and not load up to the limit, as so many are doing. The money lenders will have their innings again some day."

Deacon De Good—"Um—bring some beer anyhow."

SEA FLOWERS AS PETS.

The Queer Little Creatures Known as Anemones.

The queerest pets in the world are kept in a beautiful row of clear, flashing, round glass tanks on an upper floor of a large aquarium. As you approach the tanks you behold glowing little groups of color and artistic blending and mingling of fantastic weeds and shining stones. Then when you peer into the tanks you see what at first seem to you just like particularly handsome and gorgeous flowers growing all over the little rockeries. Some of the flowers look like dainty pink and white and yellow and purple and crimson dahlias. Others look almost like daisies, with lacelike petals. Others look like little star flowers, all pure white and perfect. These flowers are of all sizes, from tiny ones barely large enough to see to great ones almost large enough to fill a saucer.

But if you will watch these "flowers" for a few minutes you will jump suddenly, for all at once you will see one move its petals. Then you will see another and another do it. Slowly the petals unfold or contract, with little jerking movements, sometimes twining in the water like snakes. Tap smartly on the table on which the tanks stand, and like lightning all the petals will have disappeared. These sea flowers are really not flowers at all. They are living creatures, known as sea anemones.

For many years a scientist has tended and fed them, and the little animated flowers actually have come to know him. When he feeds them, he puts a little bit of fish on the end of a long pointed stick and puts it carefully down into the water until it is near the anemone. It did not take long for the beautiful things to understand it, and whereas at first they used to withdraw their petals and shut up tightly when the stick approached, now they twine gracefully and stretch their dainty arms out as far as they can go in order to reach it.—London Answers.

LONDON CAB SERVICE.

Why It Is the Best and the Cheapest in the World.

"Everyone knows, either from experience or hearsay, that the cab service in London is the best and cheapest in the world, but few of us know why. So when I was over there I made it a point to find out."

The woman who occupied the other seat in the hansom looked as if she would like to hear the result of his investigations. "It is mainly due," he continued, "to the fact that licenses to drive cabs and buses through the London streets are hard to get. An applicant must furnish the most satisfactory proofs of his honesty when he files his application at Scotland Yard, and his references are carefully verified. Then he undergoes such a rigid examination as to his knowledge of streets and localities that but little more than half the candidates manage to pull through it. Those who do are then tested as to their ability to drive through the crowded thoroughfares, the test being a practical one, with an inspector of police, who is himself an expert driver, seated by the side of the would be Jehu as he threads his way through the jam. Probably 20 per cent of the applicants come to grief during this test, as the slightest infraction of the rules of the road or the exercise of bad judgment in controlling or guiding his horse means absolute failure. If successful, the applicant is impressed with the importance of returning all articles left in his cab to headquarters without delay and told that an attempt to make excessive charges means the forfeiture of his license. The result is comparative safety to the passengers in cabs and a reasonable certainty that there will be no attempt upon the 'cabby's' part to overcharge his fare."

A Story of Cervantes. Cervantes was a poor, but at his generosity was fully equal to his genius. In the early part of his life he was for some time a slave in Algiers, and there he devised a plan to free himself and thirteen of his fellow sufferers.

One of them traitorously revealed the design, and they were all brought before the dey of Algiers, who promised them their lives on condition that they revealed the contriver of the plot.

"I was that person," at once cried Cervantes. "Save my companions and let me perish alone."

The dey, struck by his intrepidity, spared his life, allowed him to be ransomed and permitted him to go home.

Changes to His Misery. "Ah," he sighed, "I was happier when I was poor."

"Well," they answered coldly, "it is always possible for a man to become poor again."

But somehow the idea did not seem to impress him favorably.

The Viewpoint. "That man is extremely suspicious, as he thinks every one he sees is a shady character, and naturally too."

"It's his nature, I suppose."

"Not at all. He wears smoked spectacles."

ALL BETS DECLARED OFF

By LUELLA LATHROP

Copyright, 1921, by Luella Lathrop

Roanoke, Coteau Queen, Prairie Belle, Wild Rose. This appeared on the bulletin board as the jockeys who had ridden the first heat of the running race wheeled their horses and, riding before the judge's stand, waved their hands in signal.

The latest country hand began to blare. The race track was a mass of jostling, sweating, betting men. Gold clicked against silver, bills were waved in air, everywhere rose cries of "Two to one!" or "Ten to five on Roanoke!"

Bucksin Jones, a saloon keeper, seemed to be the only taker for the horse.

He had staked a small fortune on Coteau Queen and bet against Roanoke freely.

The jockeys were leading their mounts to and fro, wetting the animals' mouths and rubbing their limbs. Many hands were stretched forth to pat the winning Roanoke, a black Kentucky bred mare, whose slender, refined beauty in some subtle way suggested the Gibson picture of American women. She seemed proudly conscious of her triumph. Her nostrils dilated, and the pupils of her eyes widened.

Beside Roanoke stood her jockey, Bud, and her owner, Jim Harcourt, a clean cut, lithe young ranchman. Men pressed about them, paying the homage the American is so eager to render to his god—Success.

A grim faced, thin lipped man stood quietly beside Roanoke, passing his hand admiringly over her glistening flanks and slender limbs.

"What'll you take for her?" he asked in an undertone.

"Not for sale," replied Harcourt. "I'll give you $2,000 if she wins," murmured the grim man without moving a muscle of his face.

"Two thousand dollars? Jim thought rapidly of a neat cottage on the ranch, where he could take Jessie in spite of the disapproval of her stern old father, Judge Osborne, but the caution of the natural horseman was strong. He puffed his cigar a moment in silence, while the grim man watched him closely and murmured carelessly, "I'll see you after the race."

The Dakota sun beat down mercilessly on the grand stand where gathered the shoddy aristocracy of a boom town; upon the fringe of farm wagons outside the inclosure, where occupants craned their necks to see the races without money and without price, and upon a single Indian tepee standing near the course. The last was occupied by Shunka Li, who had set up his household gods, including squaw, papoose, dogs, cats and ponies, within the inclosure, thinking to while away the tedious of his abundant leisure by the excitement of the races.

The last strain of "Just One Girl" dies away, there is a burr of drum, and the first heat of the pacing race is on. But interest in this event is mild. Anxiety—and cash are centered on the second heat of the running race, the next on the programme.

At last the hideous, goggle eyed blankets are removed and the sunlight glances on shining flank, bridle and stirrup. Jim Harcourt, standing beside the Osborne carriage, in which sit Jessie, dainty, patrician and lovely enough to turn the head of any man, sees Bucksin Jones press through the crowd and slip a folded paper into the hand of Bud, Roanoke's jockey, who is already mounted. Fear, anger, excitement are plainly written upon his low browed, dissolute face as he reads. With a sinister smile he tears the paper in bits.

Jim whispers to Jessie: "I am offered $2,000 for Roanoke if he wins. You know what that means for us, dear?"

Jessie's face flushes.

"You know he will win, but will that help matters? Nothing will make father feel differently about it, and I cannot disobey him."

There is the usual friction of starting, but now they are off. Roanoke forges steadily ahead. But see! Something happens! She rears—wheels—Coteau Queen gains. Again Roanoke plunges and rears. Great beads of sweat start on Jim's ashy face. By heavens, Bud is holding her in, and a breast ahead forges Coteau Queen, her slender body all iron and fire. She's under the wire.

"Hurrah for Coteau Queen!" is the cry of Bucksin Jones and his satelites. The infuriated men gather round, the judge's stand. They bid fair to tear it down, and with fierce cries of derision is mingled the name of Bud, the jockey, who barely escapes rough handling through the intervention of Bucksin Jones.

What Jim Harcourt said to his jockey is not a matter of history, but when the third heat is called Bud has disappeared and Jim is mounted on Roanoke.

"Win her, and the two thousand is yours," whispers he of the grim face. A voice shouts: "Don't disappoint your friends, Jim. We've put our money on that mare of yours."

"You fool, don't you see they have changed riders?" cries another.

As he passes the Osborne carriage Jim catches just a fleeting glimpse of a fluttering fichu, and he knows without looking how white and tense is the face above it.

Roanoke responds to the magic of his touch and voice. They are one length—two lengths ahead. They are almost home. The two thousand will be his.

But what is that in the course? A papoose—a tiny, dusky bit of humanity that has strayed away from the tepee of Shunka Li and is playing contentedly in the dusty course.

The horses are forging almost abreast. There is no time to hesitate. It is certain death to the child if it remains, defeat for him if he rescue it, but there is only one thing to do.

The crowd takes in the situation and after one mighty groan is silent. Then in an instant Jim swings himself out of the saddle and seems to cling as if by magic to Roanoke's side. For one awful second Roanoke's hoofs thunder in his ears; then he grasps the bare, brown arm of the shrieking child and is back again in the saddle. Earth and sky reel before him. The shouts of the people reach him like the far-off echo of another world. He is dimly conscious of the tiny brown body tightly pressed against him, but Roanoke never swerves.

Coteau Queen's driver is slashing her mercilessly. They are almost home. Faster! Faster! Now Roanoke is under the wire like a flash. The race is won.

Pandemonium reigns. Every one shouts as in a common voice.

"Bravo! Bravo! Hurrah for Jim and the kid!"

"Won after all an' carryin' extra weight, an' every pound a foot in a runnin' race!"

"She's the best mare in South Dakota!"

Pla-Soule, the papoose's mother, hangs on the outskirts of the dusty throng, her green and yellow blanket sounding a dominant note of color. Though anxious to recover her baby, she is too timid to assert herself.

Seeing Judge Osborne approaching, Jim dismounts. The judge parts the throng with outstretched hand.

"Well done, my boy; well done! My daughter tells me you are thinking of selling Roanoke. Don't be in a hurry about it. We'll talk it over at home. Or come you'll be up at 7—yes?"

Just then from the bulletin board flash the ominous words, "All bets declared off."

But Jim, handing the papoose back to his eager mother, neither sees the words nor hears the exclamations of the men around him. He is thinking of the evening after dinner.

Very Helpful.

A provincial clergyman during his sermon caught sight of a member of his congregation wearing a very worried look. Suddenly the man's face brightened, and during the remainder of the service his appearance betokened a perfect triumph over care.

remarked the clergyman after the service, "that my words helped you somewhat this morning. I noticed during my discourse that your face lit up and the sunshine of smiles chased the clouds of worry away. Now, what portion of my sermon appealed so strongly to you, sir?"

"To tell the truth, sir," replied William, "I wasn't payin' so much attention to your preachin' as I ought to have done. I was balancin' up the week's cash in my mind and found myself two and three pence short. I worried and worried about that money, but couldn't fit it in nohow."

"Then I happened to catch a word or two of what you said about the preparations that man made for his prodigal son, and it came into my mind like a flash of lightning that I'd spent two and three pence for a new horse-whip to give my boy Jim a thunderin' good hidin'." It's wonderful, as you say, sir, what a help a chance word may be. Good mornin', sir.—London Tit-Bits.

Buying a Cigar in Italy.

"Some people who rave about Italy," says a man who has just made a tour of the country, "may have Italy on their hearts as deep as they please, and perhaps in her art, her sky, her atmosphere of history and romance they find sufficient reason, but I admit that all these were for me spoiled, the 'Italy' rubbed off, every time I went into a store to buy a cigar, or one of the tiny objects that pass for cigars in that country. You pay for your cigar, then you look about the shop for the light that is always to be found in America. Failing to find it, you try to ask for a match. Failing to make yourself understood, you begin to gesticulate, making imaginary scratches on your trousers and holding your fingers before the end of the cigar. Then the storekeeper begins to comprehend; light dawns over his face. He passes you out a box of wax matches with a colored picture on the top. But as you proceed to pocket it and go out he in turn begins to talk and hold up his fingers. So you pay him to get a light. Indeed, it is one long pay, pay, pay.—New York Tribune.

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did."—Miss GUNNA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Corresponding Sec'y Mich. Amateur Art Association.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

It is clearly shown in this young lady's letter that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will surely cure the sufferings of women; and when one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of hundreds which we have, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all.

YOUNG MEN OF CHATHAM
WILL ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Important Decision Arrived at by Provisional Representatives
Last Evening—Will Equip Modern Club Rooms—Generous Offer by Mr. Brisco—The City Council Will be Asked to Co-Operate.

In response to the requisition—so generally signed by all our representative citizens—setting forth the need and advisability of organizing some club or association, under an elevating auspices, for the young men of the Maple City, the initial meeting of the provisional representatives to the district church lecture hall last evening. The members of this provisional Board were appointed by the city churches, each church nominating two members. They were as follows:—

Christ Church—Dr. R. V. Bray and Jos. Barassin
St. Andrews—D. McLachlan and Jas. Eckerley
Park St. Methodist—W. H. Westman and J. R. R. Cathart
First Presbyterian—Frank D. Laurie and Harry W. Anderson
William St. Baptist—H. Macaulay and T. M. Tennant
Victoria Ave. Methodist—Fred. Thompson and J. W. Humphrey.

The representatives for Holy Trinity and St. Joseph's churches have not yet been appointed, but both Rev. T. Beverley Smith and Rev. Father James have both expressed themselves as heartily in accord with the movement and appointments will be made prior to the next meeting of the committee.

On motion Dr. R. V. Bray was appointed as chairman of the Board, while J. R. R. Cathart was asked to assume the duties of secretary.

The chairman briefly stated the object of the meeting. A requisition from the citizens had been presented to the clergyman recommending the inauguration of a project of forming some club for the benefit of the young men, and the pastors had decided to appoint the present provisional Board to investigate the matter and see what could be done.

T. M. Tennant, who handled the requisition, strongly advocated the formation of some club and the equipment of club rooms for the young men. James Eckerley, who has had considerable experience in Y. M. C. A. work, gave an interesting and profitable address. He advocated the re-organization of a Y. M. C. A. in Chatham and the possibilities of such an institution.

The chairman, Mr. McLachlan and Mr. Macaulay, all of whom were actively identified with the former Y. M. C. A. in Chatham warmly endorsed its aims and work, but pointed out that the financial campaigning of such a project was a serious consideration and it had been found impossible to continue the old organization.

W. H. Westman favored the re-organization. He believed it was needed in the city and would be a most valuable institution and do a great work. He was prepared in every way to accord it a hearty support.

Fred. Thompson also spoke strongly in favor of the movement. His experience in Epworth League work had taught him that if one went to the young men, they would come and assist in their turn. He had exceedingly regretted that the old Y. M. C. A. had fallen through.

Frank D. Laurie made an exceptionally vigorous and helpful address. He hoped the members would not allow the misfortunes of the past to discourage their ambitions and that the disappointments of the past should become guides and helps for the future.

Two facts were universally conceded—the absolute advisability, even necessity, of doing something for our young men; and that, as the members of the former Y. M. C. A. had said, the old institution had been unsuccessful in securing the membership of the young men for whom it had been primarily designed. Why was it, he asked, that the churches, the Sunday schools, the Christian Endeavors and even the old Y. M. C. A. had failed, and were failing, in securing the young men? The young men of to-day would be the citizens of to-morrow, and as citizens, and not alone as members of the churches, it was a duty to seek to surround them with helpful influences and make them feel both welcome and at home—in the biggest and widest sense of the words—among elevating associations. This must be done, Mr. Laurie felt, by going to the young men and not standing off from them, by making their interests, to a large extent, ours, and by heartily and enthusiastically encouraging all manly and moral recreations and amusements in which they took a part. He (Mr. Laurie) had been associated for some years with the football and lacrosse clubs. He was an ardent supporter of all healthy and moral athletics and he had found the young men of Chatham, both at home and travelling around the country with their athletic teams, a fine body of young men—physically and intellectually far above the average—destined to become good, enterprising and worthy citizens. But he had always thought it a great pity that if these young men wanted to hold a football meeting or gather together socially in the evenings there were no other places available but the hotels and billiard halls. What he would earnestly advocate would be the formation and equipment of club rooms that gave the young men all the cheery, bright opportunities for social intercourse and the amusements that they enjoyed apart from all influences that were not helpful. Let them have music—lots of it—athletics, billiards, everything to have a right royal good time. As Booth, of the Salvation Army, put it, "Don't let the devil have all the good things." Make it a place where the boys are welcome and glad to go to and a place where the pastors can go too, and meet them and enter into their interests—a common centre of good-fellowship and enthusiasm. Such an organization would be a grand thing for Chatham, it would mean much to our future citizenship.

H. W. Anderson spoke briefly in hearty endorsement of the suggestions of Mr. Laurie, after which J. R. R. Cathart expressed his thorough accord with the organization of such an institution and its value to the city. He felt assured that all loyal citizens would accord it an enthusiastic support.

Mr. Macaulay asked Mr. Laurie if he would have special times set apart for religious exercises in his proposed association rooms.

Mr. Laurie replied that he would not. The aim of such an association was not to become a religious centre, in the common acceptance of that term, it was to provide a social or athletic centre where the young men and the church workers would meet and mingle with mutual pleasure and interest in one another.

Mr. McLachlan said he concurred to a large extent in what Mr. Laurie had said. He thought that there had, perhaps, been something in connection with the old Y. M. C. A. that had weakened its influence with the young men.

The chairman said the matter had been well discussed and asked for motions expressing the views of the meeting.

It was then moved by F. D. Laurie, seconded by H. W. Anderson, that in the opinion of this committee a young men's association was needed in Chatham and that it was desirable that one should be formed as early as possible.

The motion carried unanimously. Some little discussion followed regarding the name for the organization, the following motion being finally carried:—

Moved by W. H. Westman, seconded by D. McLachlan, that the proposed organization be known as the Chatham Young Men's Association.

Regarding a temporary site for the Association rooms, it was moved by F. D. Laurie, seconded by T. M. Tennant, that the chairman, Mr. Eckerley and Mr. Macaulay be a committee to look over the upper flat of the Market building with power to approach the Council in the matter.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Macaulay, seconded by Mr. Eckerley, a committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Laurie (convener), Westman and Tennant, to consider ways and means of financing the institution and the mapping out of a campaign, said committee to have power to add to their numbers.

It was pointed out that Manager Fred. H. Brisco, of the Opera House, had generously offered to donate the use of the house free of charge for the purpose of putting on a benefit concert or some other attraction to raise initial funds. The offer was thankfully received and referred to the committee. It was decided not to accept the offer of a concert for a moving picture entertainment.

The Board then adjourned till Thursday evening, 23rd inst., when they will meet in the Boardroom of the First Presbyterian Church and receive the reports of committees.

A Granton Man is Now able to Make this Answer.

Inquiring Friends Did Not Always Get Such a Cheery Reply Because For Many Years Mr. Fletcher Suffered With Lumbago.

Granton, Ont., Oct. 12.—(Special).—Mr. John Fletcher, a well-known farmer of this place, who suffered for a long time with Lumbago and Kidney Trouble, has at last found a cure.

Now, when his friends inquire as to his health, he cheerily tells them that he is well, something which he has not been able to do for a long time, till quite recently.

Mr. Fletcher tells the story of his illness and how he was cured, as follows:

"I was troubled for a long time with Lumbago and Kidney Trouble. My urine was of a very red color. I tried many medicines but could get nothing to help me.

"I consulted the best medical doctors in Granton and St. Mary's, but they could do nothing for me.

"At last one day a druggist in Granton suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills as a cure for my Lumbago. I purchased a box and began to take them right away. The first box helped me and I kept on till at last I was completely cured.

"I am now as well as ever I was and have not any trace of Lumbago about me. I am perfectly sound and I thank Dodd's Kidney Pills for it.

"I recommended them to all my friends, and as for myself I never intend that my house shall be without them, for I believe them to be the greatest medicine in the world."

Mr. Fletcher is a man who means every word he says and is prepared to substantiate the truth of every statement above made.

There seems to be no case of Lumbago, Backache, Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.
