Creeds.
If wrong has been my creed,
If through life I've trod
Without the light to read
Of doctrine's aim of God;
If what's beyond me there
I have misunderstood,
I shall not need to care
If I have erred for good.
If I've been wholly wrong
In what I hold to be
The proper manner and song,
Along mistaken ways,
It need not grieve my soul,
If I have lived my way
To what I thought was right,
I need not fear the rod,
The punishment, the frown,
Nor let me fret and fret,
Before Him stand to learn.
He will not ask me then
Of doctrine's aim or end,
But of the living men,
That are discharging men,
That He will search my deeds.

The Present Crisis and Our Duty.
Here in our beloved Canada, where until now we have been pursuing the even tenor of our way, building up our nation on the sure foundation of agricultural development, we are suddenly called aside from our peaceful occupations to enter the age long arena of strife and bloodshed. We do not question the wisdom of doing so, but we deeply regret the cause of it.
We are committed to the war and we cannot look back. We shall soon have 100,000 of our sons at the front and doubtless many more contingents will be needed. These will be sent and we must be prepared to bear the expense, however great it may be. Upon our farmers and upon the great working classes the greater part of the burden will fall, and we must nerve ourselves to bear it like men. We must think, and plan better to manage our business to make our labor more productive. If the supply of foodstuffs is to be kept up to requirements we must farm better.
We should raise all our calves; increase our hog production; prepare to sow more corn, roots and pasture crops; reduce all waste of labor and material to a minimum; be patient, self-reliant and persevering; and do our best and trust in Providence for the rest. The experience will leave us savor and wiser and the future will bring us a larger share of the real and satisfying joys of life.

Farmers' Short Courses.
Never in the history of Nova Scotia has its people's thoughts turned so earnestly to the farm. They set to day the progressive farmer prosperous and in good circumstances, while the stress of hard times is more or less felt by the urban population. The farmer is receiving good prices for the products of his farm and he is in no danger of being thrown out of work. Many there are dwelling in the towns who today regret that they separated themselves from the noble task of tilling the soil, and without a doubt there will be a marked movement back to the land within a year.
In a large measure, the splendid position occupied today by the farmers of Nova Scotia is due to the improved methods adopted as a result of educational campaigns carried on by the Department of Agriculture.
One medium that has played a large part in these bettered conditions has been that of the Agricultural Short Courses, annually held in connection with the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, at Truro. During the past three classes have been very largely attended and the expectation is that the classes of 1915 will out-number any of the previous seasons. A sort of association of goodwillship has sprung up about these courses that makes them year by year more attractive, and the man who has once been there feels a yearning to profit by the instruction given.
At these short courses, every branch of work pertaining to the farm is taken up and discussed in a most interesting manner. Practical demonstrations are carried on, and the student is left to his own free will to devote himself to such subjects as most interest him.
Marked interest always centres around the live stock owned by the Farm, and in this regard the Provincial Farm is stronger today than at any previous time in its history. These animals are paraded daily in the large pavilion and every opportunity afforded the farmer to critically examine them. Of perhaps greater importance to Provincial agriculturists is the possibilities for successful dairy farming. The value of good blood in this respect will be fully demonstrated at this year's course. The College herd contains five cows that have given 75,000 lbs., or thirty-seven and a half tons of milk in the past year. This is an average of seven and a half tons per cow per year. The average production of Nova Scotia cows is close to 3,500 lbs. a year, at which rate the five College cows have produced more than twenty-one ordinary cows.
This production was due in part to extra feed, but as much to good breeding.
Here is a little sum in arithmetic that needs no comment. The average cow eats about fifty dollars worth of feed per year. The five College cows ate about one hundred dollars worth of feed each. At 50¢ per quart, the average cow gives in one year, $49 worth of milk, and eats $50 worth of feed. The College cows gave $210 worth of milk, and ate $700 worth of feed. One did not pay for its feed, the other had $10 left above cost of feed. Good blood in dairy cows is worth money to the farmer. This herd and many others from neighboring dairy farms, will be examined at

Woolville Girl Weds.
WHITESIDE—HUNTINGTON.
Quiet but very pretty was the wedding which was solemnized at the High Baptist Church at 11 o'clock yesterday by Rev. Dr. H. Francis Perry, pastor of the church. The bride was Miss Mary Adelaide sang. 'Because'. The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Charles Gardner, wore a lovely gown of white charming satin, veiled with lace and trimmed with pearl ornaments. The skirt, fashioned en train, was finished at the hem with a row in which was caught a spray of orange blossoms. She wore a bride veil of Brussels net hemmed with seed pearls, and arranged over her hair under a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, lilies of the valley and white roses. She was attended by Mrs. Wendell B. Farris, as maid of honor. Mrs. Farris was wearing a smart French gown of pale pink tulle, with overspread of white ribbon, trimmed with tulle, ribbon, lustrous in pink rosebuds, and a white hat faced with black velvet and trimmed with white plumes. Dr. Foster acted as groomsmen. Mrs. L. A. Huntington, mother of the bride, was wearing a becoming costume of amethyst silk poplin, and black velvet hat trimmed with plumage. Mrs. D. Whiteside, mother of the groom, wore a pretty gown of dark amethyst with bonnet to match, trimmed with plumes shading from same to light pale yellow. Mrs. F. M. Dockrill, sister of the groom, was wearing a charming gown of Alice with black silk with trimmings of lace, and pink tulle hat trimmed with touches of blue and flowers. After the ceremony the bride party returned to Mrs. Huntington's apartments in Victoria Court. Some beautiful gifts were showered upon the bride, who received from the groom a handsome diamond pendant set in platinum. The groom's gift to the bride was a bar brooch set with aquamarines and pearls, and to the groomsmen he gave a pearl scarf pin. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteside left later in the evening on a short wedding trip and on their return will take up residence in the city. The bride travelled in a smart costume of grey velvet with a black velvet hat trimmed with an egrette.

Mischief Makers.
Our attention has been recently called to the contemptible habit in which some evil-disposed persons have fallen into of trying to make trouble between persons who might otherwise be on the most friendly terms. One way in which this is tried is by writing anonymous letters in such a way that entirely innocent ones are blamed. Some others indulge in tale bearing, which in our times are absolutely false. In such friendships are broken up and many a heartache caused, and the innocent made to suffer, all through the fendish wickedness of some persons, who if they had their just deserts, would be in the penitentiary.
Life is too short for such mean practices, and there are heartaches enough without them being multiplied. If these lines should come under the notice of any who have been guilty in the past, we beg of them to leave off and try the better way of leaving off enmities and pleasantness. It will not only be a blessing to those who have been made to suffer, but the wrong doers will also find this old world a much better place in which to live.

Milk.
The dentist was torturing his victim in the usual doctor fashion. The story he was telling at the moment was on himself.
"When I was young in the profession," said he, "I was working in a country place for a few weeks to help a friend. One day a farmer came in—a big, muscular chap, full-blooded—one of the sort whose teeth come like the roots of oak trees."
"As he sat down in the chair, he asked: 'Will it hurt?'"
"Feeling in a rather focular mood, I answered: 'Well, if it doesn't it shan't cost you anything.' Then I fell to work."

"The tooth came even harder than I expected, so, as the man got up from the chair and pulled himself together—he had not uttered a sound—I said: 'Well, did it hurt?'"
"Not a bit," answered the countryman, and strode out of the office, leaving me minus a few completely uncomplained and the laughing stock of my friend and the two or three patrons who sat beyond the office."

When Blood is Poison.
The blood must be filtered, otherwise you are poisoned. If the kidneys fail the liver is overworked, and becomes torpid. By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you get both these filtering organs working right, and also secure healthful action of the bowels. For this reason these pills are an ideal family medicine. They cure biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion and kidney disease.

New Auto Fuel.
Motorists will be interested in a new substitution for gasoline that was successfully tried at Indianapolis last week. It is called Zellon, and can be manufactured from a sort of oil and a half cent a gallon. Better still, several more miles a gallon can be procured from it than gasoline. In the experiment conducted a Marmon car was used, and ran 500 miles at an average speed of 33.14 miles an hour. Experts from the leading car works were present and watched every movement of the test, expressing themselves as satisfied that the discovery will be of immense benefit to motor vehicle use. The inventor is John Andrus, a Portuguese of McKeesport, a. who was recently paid $20,000 by the U. S. government for a discovery he made in the toughening of armor plate. Andrus has discovered a new way of breaking down water without the use of gas or heat, and the new fluid consists mostly of water, a little naphthalene, and two other ingredients that can be bought at any drug store. Mr. Andrus mixes these in a still, to which heat is applied, and the result is a fluid that is superior to gasoline. At Indianapolis the still was set up under the eyes of the experts and the fluid made. Five gallons of the fluid was put into the car, and it did sixteen miles on a gallon, which is four miles more than could be normally done on gasoline.
Interested in the discovery are several of the leading automobile manufacturers, such as the Packard and Marmon cars.

Cream of Tartar
Many people use cream of tartar for quick baking. They value its superior qualities and will not knowingly accept substitutes made of alum or lime phosphates, such as are sometimes offered.
But even the most careful cannot always know. The high price of cream of tartar has led to efforts to substitute alum and phosphate of lime compounds which are vastly inferior and not as healthful to use.
The easiest way in which the housekeeper can be sure of quality and economy is by using Royal Baking Powder, which is made from pure cream of tartar.
Royal Baking Powder gives perfect results, is less trouble to use, and has not been advanced in price.
Anyone who has once become accustomed to using Royal Baking Powder never reverts to home-made mixtures or any other product for raising biscuit, griddle-cakes, doughnuts, or cake.

The Finest Chimes in America.
The bells that are in the tower of the city hall municipal group at Springfield, Massachusetts, are said to be the finest set of chimes in America. Their distinction lies in the fact that instead of being hung in a tower erected on another building, they are suspended in sets of two from each of the eight window openings of a regular story.
One would have to visit Amsterdam, Holland, for an example of chimes similarly placed in a municipal building. Even then those in the Dutch city hall fail to lead them selves gracefully to this method of grouping, for its tower is erected on the building, and does not stand alone as does this beautiful 'campfire' in the New England city.
The chiming device consists in part of a hardwood case, or keyboard, measuring about five feet square, and containing sixteen handles, the latter being marked with the letters of the musical notes of the sixteen bells in the chimes. This case is placed in the room below the bell, each handle being connected with the clapper of the corresponding bell by means of rod and chains. So carefully are these adjustments made that slight downward pulls on the handles sound the full notes.

New Milk Bottle.
The glass bottle is doomed in the milk trade at least apparently. Containers made of wood fibre or paper are about to be put on the market. When filled with milk, the container is hermetically sealed, only to be broken when the milk is used, then the container is to be thrown away. It saves most of the waste and much of the space used by bottles and glass. The containers will be shipped flat so that the dairyman or creamery can form them up as desired. This device may render the shipment of milk by parcel post feasible. This container is not yet on the market, but may be in a few months.

Locomotor Ataxia.
"My nerves were very bad, and I could not sleep at night, nor could I control my arms or legs," writes Mrs. Robt. Burtard, Maxwell, N. B. "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured me of what I believe was the early stage of locomotor ataxia or paralysis. I cannot describe what I suffered, but now I am entirely cured."

A Prayer that Saved a Young Man.
One night many years ago two young men were put into the same room in an English country inn. One of them was a heedless thoughtless youth. The other, when the time for retiring came, quietly knelt down beside the bed and prayed in silence. His companion was strangely impressed. Fifty years afterwards he wrote: "That scene, so unostentatious and so unaccountable, aroused my slumbering conscience and sent an arrow into my heart." The result was the young man's conversion to God, followed by long years of service as a Christian minister and as a writer of books which have greatly blessed the world. "Nearly half a century has rolled away," he wrote again, "with its multitudinous events, but that old chamber, that humble couch, that silent 'praying' youth, are still present in my imagination and will never be forgotten, even amid the splendours of heaven and through the ages of eternity."

For there ain't a man in a thousand, In a charge with prayer on his lips, He just grips his lance or rifle, His tongue—well, it sorter slips. Suppose you lie in the trenches, With your 'end on your rifle butt, And yer pal's shot dead beside ya— You should say—I suppose—"Tut, tut."

But ye don't, oh, blimey, ye don't, There's a lump in yer throat that 'urts, And zip from the mouth of yer rifle Yer revenge goes out in spurts, And ye cuss and cuss and cuss

Is nasal breathing impaired? Does your throat get husky or clogged?
Modern science proves that these symptoms result from run-down health. Snuffs and vapors are irritating and useless. The oil-food in Scott's Emulsion will enrich and enliven the blood, and assist nature to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membrane.

A Prayer.
O, Lord! I acknowledge Thy existence—also the existence of a host of other things, more or less good, and which I can overcome only by the help of my own backbones. I fully realize that on every hand are invisible forces that seek my distraction, and that, if I am to come through unscathed, I must fight every inch of the way.
Give me strength to lightly bear my burden of living, and to smile until my burden becomes a joy, for verily this is the secret of all earthly gladness.
Teach me that sixty minutes make an hour, sixteen ounces one pound and one hundred cents one dollar.
Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, and without a care on my pillow, and undisturbed by the faces of those to whom I might have brought pain.
Grant, I beseech Thee, that I may earn my next ticket on the square, and, in the doing thereof may I not stick the gaff where it does not belong.
Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money.
Blind me to the faults of the other fellow—'not reveal to me mine own.
Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at the wife, who has been to me a blessing, I will have nothing to conceal.
Keep me young, enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play.
And then—
When there comes the smell of flowers—and the tread of soft steps—and the crunching of the horse's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place—make the ceremony short and the epithet simple—
'Here lies a man!'

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., DEC. 11, 1914.

Editorial Brevities.

There are five million men in England and Wales between the ages of 20 and 30 available for military service. A fifth of these will probably be at the front next spring.

From the Front.

Extract from a letter received by Mr. D. B. Adamson from his son, Lieut. Leslie Adamson, M. D. (Reg.) R. A. M. C. With British Expeditionary Force, France, N. - General Hospital, Nov. 19th, 1914.

"I have been here nearly four weeks encamped on the race course about two miles from town. It is a large hospital, of course all under canvas, wards, corridors, etc. The weather during the past few days has been bad, fog and rain chiefly, but now the winter really seems to have set in with hard frost and at present snow, so you can imagine it is not too warm sleeping under canvas in the tent. But I manage to sleep soundly and well in a waterproof valise on a macintosh sheet. I have also a double blanket to sleep in and one over me and a sleeping bag, so you can see that that is the most comfortable place and I usually turn in about 10:30 and get up about 7:30. The breakfast, go to the wards and work all morning and do anything necessary in the afternoon, such as operations, note-taking, etc. Each of us has about forty patients and there are usually about eighteen lieutenants, colonel, major and captain. Those of the wounded who are not likely to be sent to hospital within thirty days are sent to England as occasion offers. Those who will be fit within the thirty days after being discharged from here go to a 'rest' or convalescent camp close by and are then sent to the firing line again. The men are really splendid. They are exceedingly well looked after here, in fact everything, everywhere through, as far as one bears is splendidly well organized and managed. I think it likely that a time will be here but that does not mean that the medical staff will be, as frequently the medical officers (lieutenants) are sent to the front and others from... take their places. So one is never quite sure how long one will be here. There have been heavy casualties among the R. A. M. C. One was awarded the V. C. but died from wounds received. I am exceedingly well and as comfortable as one can be under the circumstances... Things over here appear to be going satisfactorily but big forces will be required before the end.

Surprising Debut of Evelyn. CANADIAN VIOLINIST PROVES ONE OF SEASON'S WORTH-WHILE ARTISTS. There was a surprise in store for many a music lover on Tuesday evening, November 24th, when Evelyn Starr, a young Canadian violinist, made her initial bow at Acadian Hall, New York. Even in view of the reports of her London success, it was hardly to be expected that she would prove so exceptional a violinist as her playing last week proclaimed her to be. In the matter of her program Miss Starr showed judgment, too. It read as follows:

Vitali, 'Chaconne'; Corbelli, 'La Folia'; Bruch, 'Scottish Fantasy'; Fibich, 'Poem'; Ciaikovski, 'Perpetuum Mobile'; Schubert Auer, 'Moment Musical'; Wieniawski, 'Souvenir de Moscow.' Miss Starr, who is an Auer pupil, is the most admirable performer of all the Auer products heard here since the advent of his famous trio, Elman, Parlow and Zimelins. Miss Starr disclosed those qualities of which the serious observer of musical happenings can conscientiously approve. Her style recalls that of Kathleen Parlow, for she produces a fine tone, which in its texture recalls the intense quality of her esteemed compatriot. Technically she has at her command a remarkable virtuosity, of the variety which defies the flimsy technique that astounds rather than satisfies. Her pure and precise double-stopping in the beautiful Bruch work, was evidence of her ability, and her conception of it, as a unit, showed her musical understanding, as did her playing of his old Italian works. She successfully avoided the sentimental manner in Fibich's 'Poem.' A slower tempo in the Ciaikovski and the Schubert piece would have been desirable, yet given as they were they proved the artist capable of much imagination in the matter of managing the smaller parts. She was applauded with enthusiasm by a good sized audience.

Richard Epstein, a London accompanist, now in this country, played the accompaniments admirably and demonstrated that the orchestra leader is even so colorful work as the Bruch may be made interesting on the piano. These will be a case of fancy and sentimental articles, suitable for Christmas gifts, also known made early, at the home of Mrs. David Thompson, Main Street, Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening, December 17th and 18th. Christmas trees, with base, deliver etc, etc, and upwards, depending on size, to fully 100 yards for looking homes or decorating in quantity, so Telephone or address MADRID. Have notes. Observance of Peace Sunday.

APPEAL OF THE DOMINION WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

The swift seasons have rolled by to the eternity that lies behind us and another Christmas tide approaches us. But what a Christmas season! The glad music of the angel chant, 'Peace on Earth, to men good will, drowsed in the boom of cannon and the clash of arms; the harmonies of the skies out in the discords of earth. The spark which Queen Alexandra once predicted would set the vast arena of Europe in a blaze has fallen, and so, a conflagration involving three continents. A war map published by the Christian Herald has the countries involved in war printed in red and is entitled, 'The Blood Red World.' It is, says the Sunday School Times, a startling and solemnizing picture, for by far the greater part of the globe is now directly or indirectly war territory. And never before was war waged on so colossal a scale, for never before had man's Satanic ingenuity devised instruments of such wholesale slaughter. Never before have the slain—men made in God's image—been counted by miles, or whole villages around which the batties have raged been described as charnel houses.

The Christmas bells this year of grace, 1914, will ring out to a wild sky resounding with exploding bombs, dotted with contesting aeroplanes, and shot with relentless revolving searchlights. They will ring across waters taded with embattled ships, across treacherous waves con-fused by submarine, tor, in pursuance of the fateful motto—'In time of peace, prepare for war,' the nations of Europe have run a mad race for supremacy in such preparation, prostituting the brilliant and benign discoveries of science to the base purposes of slaughter and destruction. Small wonder that forty years of such preparation should culminate in the present conflict. What a climax to our vaunted Christian (?) civilization!

Yet the Lord re-remembereth, and though for the present, it seems that 'clouds and darkness are around about Him,' we know that 'righteousness and judgment are the establishment of His throne' and His word of promise is sure. We read, 'And He shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, nor shall they learn war any more.'

It is too much to hope that even now this prediction is being, in part, fulfilled—that the Lord is judging among the nations and rebuking the people, and that, as a result of the present conflict, we shall see 'the nations at peace,' and 'will seek peace and pursue it.'

In any case we earnestly call upon all who name the name of Christ to reverse the motto which seems hither-to to have controlled the nations, and in this time of direct war to expect and prepare for peace. No time is more opportune than the present for pointing the lessons of the waste, the futility, the savagery of war, and we rejoice that so much of this is being done, by pulpit and press.

Sunday, December the 20th, will be observed all over the United States and doubtless also in Great Britain as Peace Sunday. We ask for this day, in this Dominion, a much more general observance than has usually been accorded it, and we ask this more particularly in the name of that portion of humanity who are always and everywhere the greatest sufferers from this barbarous system of 'legalized murder,' the women of the nations. Voiceless, voiceless and therefore largely blameless, in regard to this gigantic evil, women have yet ever born the larger share of the misery, the privation, the anxiety, the mental torture, the outrage resulting from it.

We ask, therefore, that on Peace Sunday the people of our Dominion should by a common method of settling international disputes and with appeals for the application of rational and Christian methods. We ask that Sunday Schools and Bible Classes bring the lessons of the time home to those under instruction, and, most earnestly we urge that all who believe in prayer and in an ever-ruling God, who is able to make even the wrath of man to praise Him, make daily application for the speedy overthrow of militarism and for the establishment of peace and righteousness. Prayer moves the Arm that moves the world.—3rd let us pray.

SARAH M. WRIGHT, President Dominion W. C. T. U. ELLA G. ANDERSON, Cor. Secretary W. C. T. U. A. R. GORDON, Supt. of Evangelistic Dept. MARY R. CHESLEY, Supt. of Peace and Arbitration.

Two More Verses to Tipperary.

Mr. T. A. B. Brown, of the Immigration branch of the Department of Interior, Ottawa, has composed two additional verses to Tommy's marching song, which have been well received generally. They are:— Back to Tipperary started Paddy on the run, But when half way he heard them sing, He wrote to Molly saying, 'Dear, although I love you so, My country's callin' darlin', as I'm Irish, I must go.' Now Paddy's in the trenches, fightin' like a lion bold, And Irish Molly's waitin' with a heart as true as gold, But when the Kaiser's down and out, and Belgium's free again, He'll start for Tipperary town singin' this refrain.

Danger Signals Warn You of Approaching Paralysis

Slowly and Surely Exhaustion Goes on Until Collapse of the Nerves is the Natural Result.

You may be restless, nervous, irritable and sleepless, but you think there is nothing to be alarmed at. You have no appetite, digestion is impaired, and there is weakness and irregularity of other bodily organs. You feel tired in body and mind, and find that you lack the energy to attend to the daily work.

MRS. ALLAN, warn you that some form of paralysis is the next step of development.

This has been proven in many thousands of cases similar to the one described in this letter. Mrs. Thos. Allan, R. P. D. 3, Sombrook, writes:—'Five years ago I suffered a complete breakdown, and frequently had palpitation of the heart. Since that time I have had dizzy spells, had no power over my limbs, tremor, nervous spells, with heart palpitation, and would shake as though I had the ague. I felt improvement after using the first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after continuing to use it for several boxes, I have had several of my neighbors all the splendid results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 68 cents a box, 4 for $2.55, all dealers, or Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, Limited, Toronto.

That invalid's Port Wine.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:
Mr. Editor:—It is always a source of gratification, if nothing more, to a person who has been the subject of wanton injury inflicted on account of the discharge of the duties of an office, to find the course taken by him the subject of subsequent justification.

A friend has sent me the following clipping from a Western newspaper:
"That invalid port wine cannot be considered a temperance drink and that its sale by druggists can be legally carried on only under the regulations governing the sale of other alcoholic drinks, is the effect of the decision in the court today when on prosecution by the Saskatchewan Provincial police, C. J. McIntosh, representative of the Parisian Wine Company, was fined $100 and costs for selling liquor without a license. The Proprietary Medicines Act provides that in no medicinal preparation may alcohol be present in a larger quantity than is necessary to preserve or dissolve the ingredients. It is stated that practically all the invalid ports offered for sale contain alcohol to excess of this amount."
This I am advised is the first judicial deliverance in Canada on the abstract question of the intoxicating character of the liquor known as Invalid Port Wine and of the legality of its sale as a patent medicine. The decision may not be very pleasant reading for Dr. Covert or Mr. Wick, but notwithstanding all that, I think it is due to my friends who have so nobly stood for my defence in the injustice meted out to me no less than to myself, that it should be made public through the press of this County and Province.

This I am advised is the first judicial deliverance in Canada on the abstract question of the intoxicating character of the liquor known as Invalid Port Wine and of the legality of its sale as a patent medicine.

THE BLOOD IS THE STREAM OF LIFE

Pure Blood Is Absolutely Necessary To Health

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" PURIFIES

These Wonderful Tablets, Made of Fruit Juices, Are The Best Of All Tonics To Purify And Enrich The Blood.

Pure, rich blood can flow only in a clean body. Now, a clean body is one in which the waste matter is regularly and naturally eliminated from the system. The blood cannot be pure when the skin action is weak, when the stomach does not digest the food properly, when the bowels do not move regularly, when the kidneys are strained or overworked.

Pure blood is the result of perfect health and harmony of stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

"Fruit-a-tives," by their wonderful action on all these organs, keeps the whole system as clean as Nature intended our bodies to be clean.

"Fruit-a-tives" tones up, invigorates, strengthens, purifies, cleanses and gives pure, rich, clean blood that is, in truth, the stream of life.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Brown. The tendency of the day is for children and parents to have less and less in common. In my youth parents and children played together and studied together, and stayed at home together. We see a little of our children as possible nowadays, to the great loss of us all. But at least we can go to God's house together on the Lord's day! The children would soon enjoy going if it were a family custom, and if they didn't enjoy it, it would be a wholesome thing for them to discover that there are lots of things in this world to be done, whether we enjoy doing them or not. That is the kind of lesson the coming generation particularly needs.

"But going to church has above all a religious value. And let me tell you, if you were setting deliberately about abolishing the church altogether at the end of another generation, the surest way of doing so would be to let that generation grow up without the habit of church attendance. Whether or not you help them to form the habit certainly seems to me important!

Miss Jenkins no longer smiled. "And so it seems to me," she said.

We have now in the United States 3,640,000 hard drinkers of alcoholic beverages, 125,000 of whom die annually from direct effects of alcohol; over 5,000 of these take their own lives. During the past four years, 440,000 more people in the United States than were killed by bullets during the four years of our civil war. In 1917 there were 1,782 suicides in the United States.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

A school concert, of all things! Four little girls were dressed to represent the word "Star," and each had one letter of that word pinned on her snow-white dress. Each letter began the verse of a touching little song.

"Now, my dears," said the mistress, form yourselves in position, and wait until the curtain goes up.

The little girls did as they were told, and while the piano played the accompaniment the curtain went up.

Instead of applause to greet the little girls, howls from the audience met them.

"Rats!" was the word they spelled, not "Star."

Fun in Parliament

Who Raked up an Act of Henry VIII, Was Bitten by It

An incident which highly diverted the House of Commons occurred recently when Mr. Rupert Wynne announced with a stately judicial air that under an Act of Henry VIII, which he had discovered, all members absent from the House were to be fined.

The Act which Mr. Wynne alluded to in his speech, it was pointed out by the Speaker and the Clerk, had no reference to members of the House who were absent from the House.

Mr. Wynne was calm. "The matter does not appear to be one in which I take any action," he answered.

Meanwhile, Mr. Joseph King had been so curious as to look up Mr. Wynne's record. "The hon. member himself has been absent from 424 divisions," he announced solemnly, and the House laughed so long and so long that Mr. Wynne, palpitating with explanations, was quite unable to make himself heard in response.

Sharing a Stream

As the centre of a stream is the boundary between the farms of the Rev. W. J. ## LAWLESS LONDONERS

Mr. Justice Darling Likens Modern Doings to Those of Middle Ages

A glimpse of lawless life in the neighborhood of Brick Lane, London's famous Sunday dog market, was afforded the Old Bailey, which knows it well, when Mr. Justice Darling sentenced two Horsey men, named Daniel Curtis and Edward Curtis, to twelve months' hard labor, a third, Richard Curtis, to eighteen months' and a member of their gang, John Craig, to three months. The affair arose out of "civil war" between rival gangs in the district. One gang struck the notion of raising funds by blackmailing a number of street betting men who "did business" there. The Curtises and Craig were four of the betting men.

Manifestly shy of calling in the police against the blackmailers, the betting men set about collecting a force of mercenaries, who they employed to fight the gang. The rivals knew no law against each other but the law of the strongest. One night the betting men and some of their mercenaries caught a man named Charles Callaghan alone in a public house. He was one of the men whom they accused of forcing a bet upon them. Callaghan was immediately attacked, beaten on the head with an iron bar, and shot. He was left in the street, and eventually carried to hospital, where he recovered from his wounds, while the police ran down the four prisoners.

Addressing the prisoners, the judge said: "You live in the neighborhood of lawless men, and apparently in order to carry on your business you have to pay blackmail to a gang of people of whom Callaghan is one. The state of society in this part of London is very much that of many medieval towns, very much the state of Verona, when the Montagues and Capulets flourished, very much the state of Florence at one time.

"It has, I daresay, certain picturesque attractions for you and men like you, and people who choose to go there and write about them. But in England you cannot be allowed to shoot people and beat people on the head, even if they do get their living by blackmail.

"This man was very grievously wounded; had he died all four of you would probably have been hanged, and society would not have had cause to regret your disappearance."

The Farmer Needs Grit.

Farming requires grit. There are difficulties to be overcome. The rough places sometimes appear to overshadow the smooth places. But it is not so. It merely appears that way so as to call forth the best that is in one. The quality which enables one to succeed in the face of defeat is grit. It is one of the greatest qualities that a man can have. It is essentially a mental quality, and without it the giant is about the same mental value as a child. It is the quality with which to confront obstacles, to overcome difficulties, to hang on grimly to that one cannot be shaken off. It means endurance and the man who can endure most is the man who possesses most grit.

A man who is wise, careful, conservative, energetic, persevering and untiring, need have no fear of his future. But there is one other thing. He must have a steady head, one that can weather the rough seas of adversity, from which no life is free, and one that will not become too big when success attends his efforts.

Sit tight, hold fast, go ahead, deal squarely, but beyond all do not remain passive, immovable, without initiative. It is a man not going forward he is going back although he may think to himself that he is simply retaining his old position. The farm is the best place to develop initiative, but in order to do so it requires that the individual best himself, reaching out continually into the new, and in doing this, difficulties are often met with that require the concentration of both mind and body, together with that indelible but essential quality—grit—Country Life in Canada.
