CHAPTER LXII
A DISSEMBLER.

"It is very different to the old times, so the people say. Squire Harry used to have everything under his own eye."

"Ay," said Sir Charles, who seemed relieved by the intelligence that the steward had not heard from Reginald Dartmouth. "Well, there are a few alterations to be made, Thompson, and I am going to see them done."

He kept as far off a direct falsity as he could; but, try hard, as he certainly did, he could not keep down a slight blush at the near approach to a falsehood.

"Oh, indeed, sir!" said Mr. Thompson, who looked quite pleased. "Anything I can do, sir, I shall be too happy. What is it, sir—about the grounds?"

"Yes, it is ugly," said Sir Charles. "I think it would be a good plan to level it. What do you say?"

Thompson nodded approvingly. "Very good plan, indeed, sir."

"Get the rubbish out and level it over," said Sir Charles.

"Well, there will be no occasion to empty it."

"Oh, don't you think so?" interrupted the other, with well-assumed indifference, and stepping up to the important spot with a careless gait—"don't you think so? I think it would be better. By Jove, it would be good fun to lend a hand! Really I have a whim to try a little pick-and-shove work!" and he laughed cheerily.

Thompson, as in duty bound, laughed, too.

"I used to be able to ply a pick and spade as well as most boys in my youth. I wonder whether I've lost the knack. Thompson," he continued, with a sudden laugh, "I tell you what we will do: you get one of your strong and quiet men to bring some tools, and then we will empty this old dust-hole between us."

The gardener was delighted, as Mr. Reeves had prophesied. What a fine thing it would be to be able to say in a careless off-hand way over a glass of ale at the Darrell Arms that he had "just been digging up the old well with Sir Charles Anderson!"

Before he could reply, however, a man came round the corner and gave Sir Charles a respectful "Good-day."

It was the steward; and Sir Charles's luck was on the turn.

"Good-morning," said Thompson. "I'm glad you've come, Sir Charles is thinking of digging the rubbish out of this old well and leveling it. Captain Dartmouth wants shrubs here."

"Indeed!" said the steward, with a look of surprise. "Why, it is not long since the captain had it filled up." Sir Charles's heart beat fast.

Was he to be balked at the last moment?

"How long ago was that? A long time, I think."

"Yes, it is some time," said the steward. "Perhaps Captain Dartmouth has changed his mind. It's very strange, though, for he was so particular to have the well filled. He came down himself and saw the men started to work."

This, as may be imagined, made Sir Charles all the more anxious to gain his end.

"He has changed his mind, no doubt," he replied.

"When did you see Captain Dartmouth, Sir Charles?" asked the steward, respectfully, and with nothing save curiosity in his tone.

It's all of no use. Roses won't do there nor climbers. What it wants is a thorough turning over and planting."

"Just so," said Sir Charles, delighted with the way in which the man was playing into his hands, and forgetting that fortune is fickle and must change with all things—"Just so; that is the very place I want seen to. Planting, you say, would be best; but you still would have that well there to disfigure it."

"Yes," said Thompson, starting at it, thoughtfully. "Captain Dartmouth had it half-filled up and the bricks knocked about to make it look like a ruin, but I said when it was being done it would look more like an ugly dust-bin, and so it does."

"Yes, it is ugly," said Sir Charles. "I think it would be a good plan to level it. What do you say?"

Thompson nodded approvingly. "Very good plan, indeed, sir."

"Get the rubbish out and level it over," said Sir Charles.

"Well, there will be no occasion to empty it."

"Oh, don't you think so?" interrupted the other, with well-assumed indifference, and stepping up to the important spot with a careless gait—"don't you think so? I think it would be better. By Jove, it would be good fun to lend a hand! Really I have a whim to try a little pick-and-shove work!" and he laughed cheerily.

Thompson, as in duty bound, laughed, too.

"I used to be able to ply a pick and spade as well as most boys in my youth. I wonder whether I've lost the knack. "Good-morning," said Thompson. "I'm glad you've come, Sir Charles is thinking of digging the rubbish out of this old well and leveling it. Captain Dartmouth wants shrubs here."

"Indeed!" said the steward, with a look of surprise. "Why, it is not long since the captain had it filled up." Sir Charles's heart beat fast.

Was he to be balked at the last moment?

"How long ago was that? A long time, I think."

"Yes, it is some time," said the steward. "Perhaps Captain Dartmouth has changed his mind. It's very strange, though, for he was so particular to have the well filled. He came down himself and saw the men started to work."

This, as may be imagined, made Sir Charles all the more anxious to gain his end.

"He has changed his mind, no doubt," he replied.

"When did you see Captain Dartmouth, Sir Charles?" asked the steward, respectfully, and with nothing save curiosity in his tone.

"A few days since," replied the baronet, which was perfectly true. He had seen him in the park though he had not spoken to him.

"Well, we must do as the captain orders, of course," said the steward. "Can I render you any assistance, Sir Charles? I will send two or three men down if you will say when you would like it done."

"Oh, no; there is no occasion!" replied Sir Charles, hastily. "Thompson and I are going to have a turn at it for the fun of the thing. I have got a spare afternoon and feel bored. This is a godsend! Go at once, my good friend, and bring the man and the tools."

Then as Thompson started off with gleeful pride the anxious dissembler asked a few questions of the steward and managed to elicit from him that he had an appointment with one of the tenants.

"Pray don't let me keep you," said Sir Charles, promptly, and so he got rid of the steward.

Sir Charles gave vent to a sigh of relief sat down to await the arrival of the tools.

They were not long in coming. Thompson and a stout but simple-looking under-gardener appeared, and Sir Charles, seizing a pick, set to work with a will—with so much energy, indeed, that he found his coat too much of an encumbrance and, pausing a moment, threw it off, tucking up his shirt-sleeves and falling to again as hard as ever.

Mr. Thompson was filled with admiration.

This was something like an aristocratic brick! Here was a man who deserved to be a baronet and a gentleman. Talk of your stuck-up gentry, let some of the prating idiots come and look at this specimen! His admiration was raised to fever-heat presently, when Sir Charles, straightening his back, wiped from his forehead its literal layer of perspiration and with a deep breath started the stupid-looking boy to the Darrell Arms for a gallon of best ale.

"This is healthy work, and thirsty, too," he said, and added, after Thompson's delighted "Yes, sir," "you have no idea how much good it is doing me"—which was true, for the poor gardener could not possibly guess that the amiable baronet was working off a load of inward worry and dissatisfaction with every stroke of his spade.

It was a positive relief to Sir Charles, this plain piece of work in the long road of tangled, hide-and-seek, spy and detective work which Sir Charles had been leading.

The ale appeared and disappeared. Sir Charles and his men fell to work, and now the aristocratic gardener commenced turning over every spadeful of earth as if searching for something.

"What are you looking for, Sir Charles?" asked Thompson.

"Oh, nothing! Fancied I saw a piece of mineral—what do you call it?—ore."

"Ore?" repeated Thompson.

"Yes, ore," said Sir Charles. "Don't you mind me. I am rather given to mineralogy. And he kept his eyes fixed intently upon each spadeful that was turned up."

Away they dug for another half hour.

Sir Charles became more attentive to each spadeful of rubbish than before.

THERE IS ONLY ONE GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

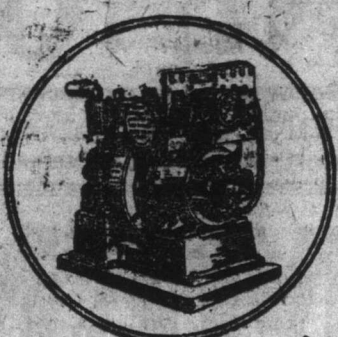

Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Americans and owned by an American Company.

There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross"—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages.

Aspirin is the trade mark (Newfoundland Registration No. 761), of Bayer Manufacture of Monacopolis, Germany. The Bayer Co., Sue. U.S.A.

fore. He had ceased to dig himself and was leaning on his spade, his eyes fixed upon the hole.

Suddenly he uttered a sharp cry and pointed to something white which the under-gardener had just turned up.

Before the cry had quite died away some one from behind said: "Good-morning, Sir Charles."

Mr. Thompson stooped to pick up the piece of folded paper, and then turned to see Mr. Reeves, the lawyer.

"What have you got there, Thompson?" he said, holding out his hand.

"A piece of paper of some sort, sir," said the gardener, carefully handing it to him as he spoke. "We are digging up the well, you see, sir, Captain Dartmouth—"

An exclamation from the old lawyer stopped him.

"What's the matter, sir?"

And, following Sir Charles's example, he dropped his spade and jumped out of the hole.

"Who found this?" asked Mr. Reeves, with almost stern gravity.

"I did, sir," replied Mr. Thompson. "At least, Sir Charles first saw it as Hodges turned it over."

Mr. Reeves folded the paper and held it firmly in his hand. "This is a most important document," he said—"most important. Mr. Thompson, have the goodness to send your man for Doctor Toddy. I left him walking in the road."

"Certainly, sir," responded the rather alarmed gardener, and Hodges was dispatched.

He returned in a few minutes with the old doctor.

Sir Charles, with his coat on, now stood pale and motionless, wiping the perspiration from his face.

"Have the goodness to glance at that, Doctor Toddy," said Mr. Reeves, in his dry tones.

"Heaven bless me!" exclaimed the doctor, after a few minutes' bewildered perusal. "Why, this is—"

"Silence!" said Mr. Reeves. "Not a word, if you please, sir. Sir Charles, Mr. Thompson, you, my man, all of you who saw this paper must keep your lips closed concerning it. I shall want you, all of you, to tell some one where and how it was found; but, until I request you, have the goodness to keep the matter a profound secret. Sir Charles and you, Thompson, I can depend upon, but this man—is he trustworthy?"

"I can answer for him, sir," replied the gardener. "Hodges will be dumb if I tell him to hold his tongue. Dear me—dear me, I hope nothing is amiss—that is to say—"

"You have no cause for alarm," said Mr. Reeves. "Only keep silent. Sir Charles, doctor, have the goodness to accompany me."

Sir Charles and the bewildered physician did as they were ordered, and together the three gentlemen started for the Warren.

A POPULAR MODEL.

2739—This pleasing design may be developed in lawn, linen, drill, percale, seersucker, or gingham. The skirt is a four gore model. The waist may be finished with the wrist length sleeve, or with one in elbow length.

The Pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 38 requires 7 1-2 yards of 27 inch material. Width of skirt is about 2 1-8 yards at the foot, with plaits drawn out.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

A YOUTHFUL AND BECOMING GOWN.

Pattern 3283 is here portrayed. It is cut in 2 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18 year size will require 5 5-8 yards of 36 inch material. The width of the skirt at its lower edge is about 1 1-2 yards.

This is a pretty model, for organdie, foulard, tulle or crepe. Ruffles, or rouchings of contrasting material or ribbon form a desirable trimming. The chemise may be of white batista, net or lace. The trimming may be omitted. The waist may be finished in "slip on" style or with back closing.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

Use B-H Paint—it Pays

B-H Paint will withstand the severe "climate test" of many hard Canadian winters. Speaking more definitely still, there is one point that carries a 100% guarantee on every can.

B-H PAINT 70% Pure White Lead (Equivalent to 100% Pure White Zinc) 30% Pure White Zinc 100% Pure Paint

Famous for its covering capacity and durability. It has a base 100% pure, to which is added a fine turpentine and an exceptional linseed oil from the B-H mills.

Some dealers can sell you paint which costs less per gallon than B-H, but it will not have the B-H guarantee of quality and permanence—neither will you have the certainty that a gallon will show the greatest covering capacity.

Even at the slightly higher cost of B-H you will find when the job is done that the ultimate cost is lower—very much lower.

Another thing, just look at any house that was painted, maybe years ago, with B-H and see the "finish" that still remains.

Germany Pulling The Wires

Strong suspicion that Huns are backing Soviets—Fate of Poland depends on battle now on—Financial weapon to be used in Ireland—Graeco-Turkish forces continue Combat—Teheran Fears Bolsheviki Invasion.

CRITICAL BUT UNCERTAIN.
LONDON, Aug. 6. The military situation in Poland is critical but to what degree cannot be estimated on account of contradictory reports.

LOOKS BETTER.
LONDON, Aug. 6. To-day's Cabinet meeting at which the Russian reply to British note on Poland was considered was followed by no official indication of the trend of affairs. The best information, however, was that Great Britain would accept the Soviet reply notwithstanding it is not wholly satisfactory. In the afternoon Leo Kamenef and Leonid Kraasin with several others of Soviet delegation here held conference with Premier Lloyd George.

SUSPICIOUS OF GERMANY.
TORONTO, Aug. 6. The Soviet reply to British demands regarding Poland has aroused it is said that willingness to sign an armistice agreement with the Polish Delegates is expressed and that the Soviet Government again declares readiness to grant Poland complete independence, but insists that the terms of peace be arranged by direct negotiations between Poland and Russia. Suspicion that Germany is acting in collusion with Russia persists.

POLAND'S FATE IN THE BALANCE.
PARIS, Aug. 6. Russian Bolsheviki forces operating northeast of Warsaw seem to have been checked. Despatches received here indicate an improvement in the military situation in that sector. It is felt however that the fate of Poland hangs on the result of a battle now being fought near Brest Litovsk, east of Warsaw.

SIMPLE SIMONS' SAYING.
LONDON, Aug. 6. Declaring that he was not aware whether the Entente intended to march through Germany to help Poland or not, Foreign Secretary Simons said that the German Government will take measures accordingly, so a wireless message from Berlin states.

POLAND'S CAPITAL.
WARSAW, Aug. 6. Poland's defensive line has been pierced in several places according to reports from the front. Preparations for transferring the government, if necessary are being made.

"FAR FROM HOPELESS."
PARIS, Aug. 6. The Temps correspondent at Warsaw telegraphs that General Maxime Weygand assistant to Marshal Foch has said he would consent to assume Supreme Command of Polish forces and take responsibility for their military operations. General Weygand expressed the opinion to the Polish Government that military situation is far from hopeless the correspondent says.

PERSIANS FLEE.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. Because of the rapid advance of the Bolsheviki army, Persians are preparing to evacuate Teheran, their capital, the State Department was advised today by John Caldwell, United States Minister to Persia. This was the first news to reach the United States Government that the Bolsheviki advance in the near East had threatened the Persian capital. The probability of a drive in this direction had been expected, however.

AMUNDSEN READY TO SAIL.
NOME, Alaska, Aug. 6. Captain Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer will leave Nome to-morrow to resume his attempt to reach the North Pole, he announced today. He plans to steer his vessel Maud for Wrangell Island, off the northern coast of Siberia and from that point to drift with the Arctic ice pack.

CRIMES BILL PASSES.
LONDON, Aug. 6. The Irish Crimes Bill was passed on its third reading by the House of Commons this afternoon by a vote of two hundred and six to eighteen.

VICTIMS OF THE MOBS.
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 6. Five companies of State troops left for West Frankfort a mining town, a hundred and forty miles south of St. Louis, where a mob last night killed three men and set fire to foreigners. A general exodus of foreigners with their cattle and possessions is reported by nearby towns.

MONEY AS MUNITION.
BALFAST, Aug. 6. The Government will use its financial weapon on Irish Republic bodies declaring for a Republic. Further payments to local authorities from local taxation in Ireland will be withheld.

PROBABLY UNOFFICIAL.
TORONTO, Aug. 6. Canadian ex-imperial officers are being asked if they are prepared to serve again in view of the present situation in Europe.

A TURK OFFENSIVE.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 6. Turkish Nationalists to-day were opening an offensive against the Greeks in the Brussa region, eastern end of the Sea of Marmora. The Greeks are confident of the outcome.

SHIPPING MERGER.
NEW YORK, Aug. 6. The American Ship and Commerce Corporation yesterday announced the purchase and amalgamation of the American-Hawian Steamship Company, the Livermore Dearborn Company and the Kerr Navigation Company and will operate the per war routes of the Hamburg-American Line.

BOLSHEVIK ADVANCE HELD UP.
PARIS, Aug. 6. Virtual cessation of the Bolsheviki advance in the region to north of Warsaw along the East Prussian border, is declared in reports of allied missions to Poland to be due not only to Polish rallies at certain points but primarily to the Russians lack of ammunition. It has been ascertained from the Grative region on the East Prussian frontier that machine guns were the main weapons of Soviet troops during their recent advance there. The artillery was not brought into play as there was no ammunition for it, it was declared. The Russians have British, German and Japanese rifles but they are short of cartridges to fight. According to reports their cavalry's excellent but their infantry is said to be unclothed and sometimes short of food.

READY FOR BOCKADE.
MONTREAL, Aug. 6. A London cable to the Montreal Star carries the following statement from the British Admiralty respecting an air-tight blockade of Russia should such action be necessary. "We will be able to impose an air-tight blockade upon Russia within twelve hours after orders are received. The British fleet around Constantinople is in a position to seal the Black Sea while three cruisers and a score of destroyers on the Baltic are ready to draw the cordon there. There is nothing to fear from the Red fleet, which is small and ineffective." France and Britain, it is believed, are prepared to join in sending munitions to Poland.

AROUSES U.S.A. INTERESTS.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. The Polish situation has aroused greatest interest in United States Government circles where developments are being closely watched. The general opinion is that it is impossible to save Poland without military assistance on part of the Allies and in present circumstances there seems to be no likelihood that the United States would join in such assistance if it were decided on. In any case it is pointed out that the Government is powerless to act without authority of Congress which does not meet until December unless President Wilson calls an extra session. In event of Allied intervention, however, the United States could undoubtedly be relied upon for moral support and use of such unofficial agents as Red Cross for relieving distress and supplying food stuffs.

SOVIETS WELL SUPPLIED.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. Soviet Russia is in possession of sufficient munitions to carry on for five years warfare on the scale of that now being conducted against Poland according to estimates made here today by military authorities. Practically all of stocks on hand are from supplies furnished by Allied Governments to the old Russian regime during the world war.

Clean Shaving Pays

Why were our soldiers in France ordered to shave every day? Why do big business men shave every day? Why should you and your men shave every day?

Because clean shaving pays.

The five minutes spent each morning with the Gillette Safety Razor makes a man feel more fit, more active, more confident—it helps to maintain "morale" (just as it did in the War). It certainly means a better day's work.

Would it surprise you to learn YOU can shave perfectly with a Gillette Safety Razor in 5 minutes?

The Gillette glides over the chin taking the beard with it. There is No Stropping—No Honing. That is all taken care of for you at the factory. Merely slip in a new blade when one is dull.

There are a dozen double-edged blades included with every set at $5.00, sold by jewelers, druggists and other dealers everywhere.

Set your men a good example by shaving daily with a Gillette.

At the City Hall.

The regular weekly meeting of the City Commissioners took place Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. All the members of the Board were present, and the following matters were disposed of:

Mr. J. J. St. John offered thirty casks of lubricating oil for street purposes. This could not be accepted as lubricating oil was not used on streets.

J. C. Pratt, on behalf of the committee preparing the Ayre Athletic Field on Pennywell Road, requested street line to erect fence. Ordered street line be given him for Lincoln's Lane, as previously adopted, and the City Engineer is to prepare a plan of Pennywell Road and submit it at the next meeting.

John Anderson, on behalf of the Dominion Co-operative Building Association, requested information as to the intentions of the Commissioners regarding the land known as the Nuns' Field. Ordered the City Engineer be asked to prepare plans of same.

R. Hibbs, Secretary Nfld. Road Commission, requested the Council to take steps to collect the balance of the tax due on motor cars. Ordered he be informed that notice has been given in the press calling on all parties liable under the Act passed last session. In connection with this matter the Commissioners want it to be plainly stated they were not parties to this new Act, and it was passed without their approval. It was a Government measure, solely.

The Trade Bakery requested an estimate of the cost of getting water connection from the city pipes for their bakery purposes. Ordered the City Engineer prepare an estimate of the cost.

Mr. F. Barry, Brazil's Square, applied for one of the houses proposed to be erected on Quidi Vidi Road. A similar application came from A. J. Donnelly, Duckworth St. Both applications were ordered to be placed on file.

The following plans of houses were approved, subject to the condition that in all cases water and sewerage must be installed before occupancy is allowed: Jas. Gush, Franklin Avenue; M. Ryan, Merrymeeting Rd.; Bella Stokes, Franklin Avenue; B. W. Mitchell, Franklin Avenue.

Tenders are to be called for 100 sacks of good white or mixed oats; also for 150 tons hay.

Sanitary Supervisor reported on the work of the Impounder for the season.

The plan of widening Waterford Bridge Road, submitted by the City Engineer, was ordered to be referred to the Public Works Department, as the property was outside city limits.

Plan of ground corner Patrick St., and LeMarchant Road, was ordered to be prepared for next meeting. Work on Pleasant Street would be done a little later.

It was ordered that $1,000 be handed to the Health Officer according to estimates prepared early in the year. After several minor matters were dealt with, the meeting adjourned.

SICK OF IT.

The public life of this country needs purifying and that quickly and completely.

There must be an entire breaking away from the old parliamentarian with his corruptly conceived notion of buying up the electorate. An entirely new group of men must come to the rescue.

Where they are coming from is not so much the puzzle as how to keep them from the defiling influence of the old time parliamentarian, who bought his election by distributing public money.

It was believed that Premier Squires would lead the way to a less corruptible system, yet the dismissals and rewards handed out by his party have been an unblushing continuation of the old spoils system.

The country is sick to death of the whole foul business; but it knows not which way to turn for escape.

A HOAXED ELECTORATE.

There is said to be plenty of sugar in the country; and yet the price still goes upward, in spite of the fact that the control of sugar has been under the Government since the first of June.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

DO YOU BEGIN YOUR DAYS RIGHT?
Every day is a fresh beginning every morn is the world made new."
—Susan Coolidge.

Sometimes we think it is a nuisance that we have to sleep a third of our lives.

If we only didn't have to go to bed, we could get so much done, we say.

But after all, even if we were not so constituted as to need sleep for the purpose of renewing our strength of mind and body, wouldn't it be rather dreadful to have the days go on, one after another, with no break, no chance to make, every 24 hours—that blessed "fresh beginning."

The older I grow, the more I am coming to realize the importance of making that fresh beginning a good beginning.

It is told of a certain French count that he had his valet wake him every morning by saying, "Remember that you have great things to do to-day."

Important First Moments.
Of course most of us lack a valet to remind us of the opportunity to do great things, but if we would train our minds to take on a happy key note, if we would teach ourselves to think of the pleasant things in our lives in those first few waking moments, we could thus affect the flavor of the whole day.

The conduct of the breakfast table, so, has a disproportionate influence on the day. Never argue at the breakfast-table, never bring up there any domestic problems or any subjects for which unpleasantness is likely to develop, if you can help it.

Avoid a Keenote of Hurry.
Allow time for breakfast. A hurried breakfast means that you begin the day on a keynote of hurry and are likely to continue it on the same note, with the result that you expend more energy and do less than if you were not harassed by a sense of hurry.

The male of the species, who between breakfast and work has an interval often pleasantly occupied with meeting friends who travel on the same trolley or perusing his newspaper, has a great advantage over the female who rises from the breakfast table to confront the morning disorder of the house and all the clamoring details of housework.

I think, when she can do it, the woman will gain in the end by treating herself to a short interval such as her husband enjoys. Especially when for any reason the day has not begun auspiciously, a few minutes' rest with the morning paper or a magazine, or with her flowers in the sunshine, will help straighten the day out.

And the Patron Saint of Housewives Go-With You.

But of one thing you must beware—and that is not to let this interval be prolonged beyond the few minutes allotted to it. Dawdling in the morning is as fatal as hurry. And don't spend it just sitting at the breakfast table, or in the living room dreading the work that is to be done. That simply means that you do the work twice. Free yourself, in so far as you can, from the whole business, and then go back to it refreshed. Then spend a few minutes more in wise planning and then go at it—and the saint of housewives (if there isn't one, there ought to be) go with you.

Just Folks

MERIT.
You don't need to shout: "Come and see what I do!"
Come and gaze at my speed as my goals I pursue!"
You don't need a bugle to summon the throng
To watch you perform or to cheer you along
You don't need to boast of your strength or your skill,
Or the things that you know or your courage and will;
Put the trumpet away, there is no need to blow it.
Just do your work well and the wide world will know it.

You needn't announce: "I am great in my line!
I rank with the best and my product is fine."
Like a street fakir loud you don't need to attract
A crowd that will gather and look at your act;
If your work is worth while, there is no need to shout
The news far and wide, men will soon find it out;
The whole world is watching for splendid and new things,
And it's quick to discover the man who can do things.

You don't need the spotlight, you don't need to boast,
Success will be yours if you stand at your post;
Merit speaks to the world in all languages known,
Through your work it will tell of the skill that you own;
And if you deserve it, your fame will go far.
Men will know by your deeds just how worthy you are;
There's a task to be done, merely step up and do it—
Success shall be yours. That is all there is to it.

the streets a-buzzing, and sleepless spend the night in bed, all kinds of thunder raising. And when I rise at six o'clock I feel like those poor critters who've lived for weeks on private stock, or home brewed brands of bitters. I drool and gibber as I slide to get a bromo seltzer; in winter Hope walks by my side, but summer comes and melts her. The heat's so hot it cooks the trees and all the fruit is rotting, and I get on my hands and knees to do my daily swatting. It is no use to look ahead to Autumn's frost that dazzle; before they come we'll all be dead, and roasted to a frazzle.

Inspired by Germany

The situation in Europe is regarded by all authorities as very disquieting, and grave anxiety is felt in international circles over the Russo-Polish trouble. So much so that it is quite within the bounds that the continent may be involved in another war, into the cauldron of which every country will be plunged. Russia is and was ever the enemy of Poland, and the Muscovite policy whether of Czar or Soviet, is inimical to the Poles. The iron heel of Bolshevism bears no less heavily on the brow of a proud and courageous race, than did the foot of the Romanoffs, and to-day Poland is fighting for her life and liberties against the menace of the Reds. Reborn by the Peace Treaty, Poland became a nation once more, and determined to hold that which was bestowed upon her, the people are making strenuous, and in a manner, successful resistance against the Soviet hordes. Poles fought in the late war and in their wait for repatriation there was a singleness of purpose that carried them through all difficulties and their day of redemption and loosing from Russia and the Central Powers at length dawned, though the result of the Versailles Treaty was somewhat disappointing. But it was not to be supposed that Russia would look complacently on and see her suzerainty slip away without a struggle. Nor yet was Germany agreeable and it is said that ever since the Brest-Litovsk Treaty that there has been more or less of an understanding between the German and Russian Governments. The former do not love the Poles with any less fervor than the latter, and whatever disasters overtake Polish arms there will be little weeping in Germany, and it is therefore an open secret that Germany may have had some hand in the present combat, or in the brewing of it, as an understanding with the Soviet Government concerning Poland was entered into some time before the Polish offensive against the Bolsheviks began.

In November, 1918, when Poland regained the freedom for which she had waited one hundred and fifty years, the Bolsheviks were almost at the gates of Warsaw, fighting, killing and looting, and in self-defence the Poles hastily gathered together an army to oppose the further advance of the Reds. With so much success was the operations carried out that by June, 1919, when the Peace Treaty was signed, the invaders had been driven some distance eastward. Six months afterward, December, 1919, Poland's Eastern boundary was fixed provisionally, and in the meantime the Poles, organizing as they went, had continued to drive back the Reds and maintained a strong strategic line just east of Minsk, roughly one hundred and eighty-five miles east of Brest-Litovsk, where the new boundary lay, but well within the ancient Polish boundaries. Unaided, the Poles had done this from a dismal beginning, both America and Britain having withdrawn from Northern Russia, leaving that country to work out its own problem and Poland to survive or not according to circumstances. Being invited by the Supreme Council to fall back from the position they had won, the Poles naturally refused, no provision having been made to prevent the enemy from following them in their withdrawal and turning their gains into losses with perhaps a disastrous rout of the Polish army. "This," says Major A. B. Richeson, in an article on "Poland—the great problem," "left the Poles in the technical position of being the invaders of territory they had delivered from the Bolsheviks, where they were feeding and protecting the inhabitants, and doing what they could to put it in a productive state as they were doing at home. They pointed out that they neither warred on White Ruthenia, nor conquered the inhabitants who were their former nationals and did not lay claim to this territory by virtue of occupation and former affiliation. All Poland clamored for the right of self-determination for the inhabitants of White Ruthenia, and proclaimed disavowal of any forcible annexation."

The cry of imperialistic Poland comes from Berlin, hence will be seen the why and wherefore of the probable German inspiration and the Bolshevik hostility. The Poles are intensely patriotic. Their fight for freedom against Austria and Russia occupy much space in history. Men and women gave life and treasure against leagued oppression, but the door of a redeemed Poland was only opened little more than a year ago. Bolshevism as exemplified by the Russian Soviets, look with alarm on the regeneration of Poland, seeing in it a strong menace to their peculiar propaganda. Thus the "imperialistic" cry gives them a pretext for attack, and being made in Germany the motif is obvious. Poland desires to retain her newly conferred independence and make her future according to the national spirit. It is not jingoism with the Poles. They are animated by the purest patriotism. Their love of country is a creed, something altogether misunderstood by the exponents of German kultur and Bolshevik socialism. "Nations who know nothing of such zeal for country as Poland has given evidence of in the past, will hardly be likely to define such a sentiment except for the satisfying of their own ambitions." The support of the Allies must be given Poland but the outcome will depend upon the answer which the Imperial British Government is now waiting to receive from other Allies.

A Bower of Beauty.

THE NURSERY OF TESSIER BROS.

Yesterday afternoon we had the pleasure of being shown through Tessier Brothers Nursery and Conservatory by the manager, Mr. H. R. Medlock, who until coming here, was employed at similar work for the London County Council. The place is situated between the Topsail and Waterford Bridge Roads, the main entrance being on the latter, next west of Germondale property. The owners are Messrs. William and Ernest, returned service men, the latter being with the Canadian Forces. This spring they had erected the most modern conservatory on this side of the Atlantic. The structure is steel frame on concrete foundation, measures 225 feet by 41 feet, and has 19,000 square feet of glass. It is of very neat and pleasing appearance, being well proportioned and situated in an ideal spot. The ventilators are worked from the inside and 10 operations open all apertures, the temperature at all times, being easily controlled. A smaller structure, 195 x 14 feet, is situated a few yards to the south and is steam heated by pipes from the boiler room at the western end of the main building, where is also situated the potting house. Messrs. Tessier are specializing in such vegetables as cucumbers, tomatoes, vegetable marrow, squashes, mush melons, beans, cauliflower, and celery, all of which they have growing in abundance. In the larger conservatory thousands of tomatoes are in all stages of growth, some are ripening and are of extra good size. Here also are the squashes growing under the immense leaves of the plants and vegetable marrow, nearly full grown are to be seen in hundreds. The whole building is filled with healthy plants, but withal there is neatness and order. Rows of beans in perfection are at the eastern end of the building. These are now being marketed. In the smaller building, which is devoted chiefly to cucumbers and musk melons, the same care and attention may be observed. The cucumber plants trained to the front wall, are loaded down with their fruit. The musk melons growing here will soon be ready for market, and some there are as large as any imported. In the garden, in beds, in drills, and in frames, flowers are growing in abundance. The sweet peas, of which ten shades are grown, are all in bloom, and attract attention by their harmony and contrast. Large type purple and white stocks, astors of numerous shades, snap dragons, carnations, mammoth verbena are to be seen in all stages of growth. Thousands of chrysanthemums are ranged along the walks in pots. In hotbeds geraniums, cinerarias, carnations, primulas, amilax, primroses, asparagus ferns, winter flowering stocks, are thriving so well that better conditions could not be expected. In addition to the above there are Canterbury Bells, wall flowers, delphiniums, Iceland poppies, dahlias, Jerusalem cherries, Frezian Narcissi, Hyacinths and numerous varieties of ferns, which will be ready later. Operations at this Nursery did not begin until June 10th and the progress made in such a short while is marvellous. Cut flowers, potted flowers and seedlings can be had here in any quantities. Messrs. Tessier are also specializing in wreaths, which they undertake to make at the shortest notice. The framework for these, recently imported, is of the latest design. The place is well worth a visit, and shows what can be done in the way of growing vegetables and flowers when right methods are adopted. The indications are that Tessier Brothers Nursery has been successfully established and with the patronage which their enterprise deserves, it should prosper.

Police Court.

A resident of Waterford Bridge Road, charged with the manufacture of moonshine, through his counsel, Mr. W. J. Higgins, pleaded not guilty. The prosecution had a still, 2 bottles of liquid, one of which showed 40% of alcohol put in evidence. The defendant's wife gave evidence and said that the apparatus was brought to her home by two men, and had lain in a trunk room, where she put it, without since being used. The bottle of liquid contained over 40%, on which the crown rested its case, was proven to have been brought home by the witness' husband, who received it from another party. Mr. Higgins moved for a dismissal of the case, as no evidence that manufacture had taken place was produced. The case thereupon was dismissed.

Obituary.

There passed away, suddenly, Aug. 6th, at Battle Creek, Mich., U.S.A., Herbert Lionel, eldest son of Mrs. and the late R. J. Channoy, of Freshwater Road of this city. The cause of death at present is unknown here, as the deceased gentleman was never known to have had a day's illness in his life. Herbert was educated at the Methodist College, while the late respected Robert E. Holloway, Esq., was principal. For a while he worked with the Duder house, with whom he was accountant for some years, but for the past 15 years has been Masseur at the Battle Creek Sanitarium. He was a genuine sterling character, upright and attentive to the details of his work, a man to be relied upon to do the right, a devoted son, brother, husband and father. Mr. Channoy came home to visit his parents last summer after some years of absence. He leaves a wife, nee Miss English of this city, three little children, Paul, Gertrude and Beatrice, a mother, two brothers, Rev. Sydney of Vancouver, and Hedley, Jeweller at Calgary, Alberta, one sister, Beatrice, who is at home nursing an invalid mother. The Telegram joins with the sorrowing relatives, who not six months past lost a dear loving father.

Nancy Passion Play to Resume.

Despite the efforts of the Germans to destroy by shellfire and bombs the Passion Theatre at Nancy, the Abbe Petit, who sixteen years ago founded the theatre among his parishioners of St. Joseph's Church, has announced that the world-known religious festival would be reinaugurated this month on a scale grander than ever before.
Unlike Germany's Oberammergau, where the characters are paid as high as 12,000 marks a year from the profits obtained from tourists, the French people devote the entire receipts to charitable work in Paris and the Nancy district.
Through the generous assistance of friends the Abbe has been able to restore the partially damaged theatre and re place the costumes, and a renewal of the sacred drama promises to attract visitors from all parts of Europe, as well as American tourists who may come from visits to the Lorraine battlefields nearby.

Christ's Passion, from the entry into Jerusalem to Calvary, is the theme presented with music by the Gregorian Choir of St. Joseph's, the characters appearing between the scenes after the manner of the Greek theatre for poetic commentary and hymns. Unlike many garish plays, the Abbe insists that the part of Christ must be portrayed by the humblest civilian. Although richer members of the congregation yearly seek the privilege, their spiritual director points out the necessity of the world realizing humanity as the chiefest Christian virtue.

The Regular Quarterly Meeting of the St. John's Mechanics' Society will be held in their Hall on Monday next, at 8.30 p.m. By order of the Secretary, JAS. A. LEAHY.—aug 7, 11

Sagona's Labrador Report.
S.S. Sagona, Capt. Burgess, arrived from Labrador ports at 3 p.m. yesterday, after a quick round trip. Reports of fishery brought along are very discouraging, but there is still time for an average voyage. From Grady north to Hopedale the fishery was an absolute blank when the Sagona was coming south, some of the traps being as clean of fish as when put in the water. At Sandy Island, Bateau, Indian Islands and Sand Banks the crews were doing well, and a little was being done at Battle Hr. The total catch, however, along the coast is considerably shorter than at the same date for several years. A large number of the "fosters" have gone north hoping to pick up a voyage and prospects are considered fair. The Sagona's brought 70 packages of freight and the following passengers: T. L. Harrington, S. K. Johnson, C. E. Bryan, D. F. Pearcey, P. B. Blueharn, J. Clouston, R. Clouston; Mrs. D. Lewis and two children, Miss Roberta Klare, E. R. Thomas, Chas. Moore, H. Buckingham.

Row in McNeil Street Causes Excitement.

On receiving a telephone message at 3.30 last night that a murder had been committed in McNeil Street, off Merrymeeting Rd., Supt. Grimes with Dr. Fallon, Sgt. Fitzgerald and Constable March hurried to the scene of the supposed tragedy and on reaching there found a woman named Stevenson lying unconscious, resulting from a blow given her by a man named Young. The latter had been engaged in a fistie encounter with the father of the woman, when he landed the knockout blow. Mrs. Stevenson was unconscious for over an hour and had to be revived by the doctor. Hundreds of residents of the locality assembled when the news of the tragedy spread. The police instructed Mrs. Stevenson to take proceedings against her aggressor, who had fled on the approach of the police.

Injured in Gasoline Explosion.

Three men, Alexander Parsons, William Gilbert and J. Murry, members of the crew of John Best's schooner Tack's Beach, were injured in a gasoline explosion which took place on Thursday while the vessel was lying at her home port. The men had to be brought on here to hospital to receive medical attendance, although luckily, neither was seriously injured.

Personal.

Mr. Charles McLarty, son of Mr. J. McLarty, who for many years was proprietor of the well known forge on Holdsworth Street, is arriving this evening by the Kyles express. Mr. McLarty has been out of the colony for the past 35 years. He will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Williams, Florence Grove.

Mr. R. Bartlett, son of Ex-Inspector Bartlett, Bay of Islands, who conducts an extensive business in Detroit, Michigan, is at present visiting the city with his young wife. They leave again by to-morrow's express.

Mr. Ebenezer Vey, formerly of Grate's Cove, but now of St. John, N. B., left for that city on Monday, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Vey. Mr. Vey has been on a short visit to his people at Grate's Cove and Old Perlican after an absence of sixteen years.

Badger Flourishing.

Badger is a hive of industry at present and new offices and stores are being erected by the A.N.D. Co., together with many dwellings for their employees. To-day's Messages.

IN THE BALANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 6. The fate of Witkawa still hangs in the balance, and later news reaching Paris to-night which is somewhat sparse, indicates that the Bolsheviks are making little progress and that the impulse which carried them forward continuously during the past week, has spent itself, but that they apparently are gathering force for a fresh onslaught. Military observers here still cherish a hope that the situation may yet be saved.

SCENE IN COMMONS.

LONDON, Aug. 6. By an overwhelming majority the Government this evening jammed through the Irish Crimes Bill, designed to restore order in Ireland. Lengthy debates preceded the voting in the House of Commons, but lacking the presence of Premier Lloyd George and Herbert Asquith, they did not stir the same interest which attached to yesterday's discussion, and were far less acrimonious. One notable exception was a furious outburst by Joseph Devlin, Nationalist member from Belfast, who defied the authority of the House to bring him to order, and precipitated an exciting scene, as a result of which he was suspended, and walked out, followed by all the other Irishmen and almost the entire Labor representation.

DISCUSSED PRICE OF NEWSPRINT

OTTAWA, Aug. 6. Newsprint, and the supply of this commodity to newspapers, formed the chief theme at the afternoon proceedings of the Imperial Press Conference. Reports on behalf of both Canadian and Imperial publishers were heard on the subject. Newsprint difficulties at the Antipodes were emphasized by a number of delegates. In Australia, one delegate said, they paid as much as four hundred and fifty dollars per ton for newsprint when they could get it, and they had to depend on Canada for it. Why it should increase one hundred per cent. in price over Canadian and United States prices, was another thing they could not understand. The following resolution was carried: "The question of paper supplies, being of vital importance to members of the Empire's Press Unions, steps should be taken to insure adequate supplies throughout the Empire, and that a standing committee be appointed to give effect to the above, such committee to consist of two representatives of the British Isles, and one delegate appointed by each delegation and the president, who is to be chairman." Many other important resolutions were passed, including one sponsored by Sir Gilbert Parker, seeking cheaper postal rates with a view to the re-establishment of the penny post.

HOPEFUL OF SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, Aug. 6. The Polish crisis is still grave, but as a result of to-day's developments it is regarded as being easier. There has been no rupture in the negotiations with the Russian delegation. Much, it is now held will depend on the attitude of France. It has been decided that Premier Lloyd George, who will be accompanied by Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, will meet M. Millerand the French Premier and Marshal Foch on Sunday, either at Folkestone or Boulogne, to decide upon the future course of events. After a Cabinet Council to-day, held to consider the answer of the Soviet Government to the British representations, sent through M. Kameneff of the Russian delegation, and which was regarded on the whole as conciliatory, Lloyd George and Bonar Law, Lord Privy Seal, were in conference with M. Kameneff and M. Krassin, another Soviet representative, for more than five hours at the Premier's official residence in Downing Street. The entire situation was exhaustively reviewed, and the Government's view communicated to the Russians, special emphasis being laid on the necessity for stemming the advance of the Red Army into Poland. As a result of the Conference M. Kameneff will now be in a position to communicate with Moscow and get the Soviet answer by Sunday, when it can be considered by the Allied Conference, and decisions taken, which will be communicated to the House of Commons, Monday, as already has been promised by Lloyd George. It is believed that if France is willing, Lloyd George will agree to peace being negotiated direct by Poland and Russia. It is generally granted that in accordance with the practice of previous wars, Russia is not called upon to suspend operations until an armistice is signed. The Conference were expected to arrive in London were expected to arrive in Minsk to-day and begin negotiations.

NOT AT LIVERPOOL.

London Clergy

MAKE CAMPAIGN AGAINST DIAPHANOUS DRESSES.

London, July 31.—(Canadian Press)—A campaign against diaphanous dress among women church-goers is being conducted by high church dignitaries in England, and it is understood that the question of "sketchy" women's attire may be taken up shortly by a big church association.

Monsignor Jackman of Westminster Cathedral, said that some women attend places of worship in clothes which are not in accord with Christian principles. No rule about wedding dress is laid down, however, the matter being entirely one for the taste of brides, he said.

The campaign is also being strongly waged in France and Belgium by the clergy in those countries, and several high dignitaries of the church have spoken strongly on the subject. Notices are posted at the doors of many French churches to the effect that women who wish to enter must be decently dressed.

BOTH THINK TANLAC A WONDERFUL MEDICINE

James Sims Says His Wife Had Almost Despaired of Ever Getting Well Before She Got Tanlac—Now Enjoying Splendid Health

"I never saw such a change in any person as that which has taken place in my wife since she began taking Tanlac," recently declared James Sims, ship's rigger, living at 29 Mullock Street, St. John's, N.F.

she almost despaired of ever being a well woman again. "We had seen by the papers that a great many people had been wonderfully helped by Tanlac and when a neighbor of ours urged my wife to give it a trial, she decided to do so. Well, it was surprising how it overcame her troubles and built her up until by the time she had finished the fourth bottle she was in fine health again. She now has a splendid appetite, and can eat anything she wants and never has a touch of indigestion afterwards. Headaches are a thing of the past and she is so much stronger that she can do the work of the house without any trouble. We both think Tanlac is a wonderful medicine and you can always depend on it to do the work."

RE C.E.L. PROTEST.

The protest of Manager Thomas was placed in the hands of the League Secretary, but up to present writing no meeting has been called. An informal discussion among the umpires elicited the fact that Umpire Chesman is inclined to the belief that Clouston was trying to avoid the ball when hit, and Manager Hartnett, of the Wanderers, informs us that this view is shared by Umpire Montgomerie.

Further, according to the Herald (who reported the game by innings) only one man was out at the time. Mrs. Britt's long fly which was caught by Carter. The next man out was Smith who died on first scoring Hartnett, but this was some time after Clouston had been injured, for in the meantime Dobbin had scored. Donnelly and Brown and Hartnett had scored O'Regan and Dobbin; so that if the above is verified by the Official Scorer the protest would have no weight.

Harvey's contention is that two men were down at the time, and that Clouston made a deliberate swing at the ball but missed it and got beamed.

Were this position maintained it certainly looks as though the protest would have to be upheld though it could be thrown out by the League on the technicality that according to the bye-laws and constitution of the local league the umpires and opposing captain must be notified on the field of play that a protest will be entered.

Doubtless the whole matter will be cleared up this afternoon.

The 1917 championship nine of the B.I.S. will step forth once more at the Irish Outing at Donovans on the 18th to see how fast they can mop up the youngsters now wearing their uniforms. The players will include, Herbie Power, Jack Campbell, Ted Ring, Bill Carew, Pat Brien, Dick McGrath, Har Phalen, Larry Doyle, and the two Graces.

The many friends of Arthur Cohen—the plucky little catcher of the Grand Falls baseball team—were glad to see him in town this week. He reports that the papermen are right down to brass tacks on the proposition of holding on to the R. G. Reid Intertown trophy.

Among other things they have out there is a little old pool of one thousand iron men which they would like to see covered on the result of this season's clash.

After this little old burg of ours is through with the Sydney lads Manager Orr will bring the St. John's nine to the Falls to play the challenging series of three games on the cup owners' diamond. Then they in turn will journey in here to wind up.

Some dissatisfaction is expressed among the fans owing to the fact that not one B.I.S. or one C.E.L. player is listed on the City team—even among the spares.

When the frost is on the pumpkin, And the fodder's in the stock, And the interest in the waning season dies, The manager and his fans Start to take a count of stock, And frame a nifty set of alibis.

The next game will be on Tuesday night when the B.I.S. and Red Lions will try conclusions.

The ball bugs are hoping to see Jack Canning step out in the forthcoming series but we have it on good authority that he stipulates that the Wanderers must beat the Red Lions, in their next League game in which event he will step out with his old team—the Cubs—in an endeavour to stop Hill's rush for the pennant. This being so he will then participate in the Sydney and Grand Falls series.

The scorers are busy making up the batting averages to the end of round 1, and we hope to publish them sometime this week. Thanks Hump!

Babe Ruth may pole even 50 home runs this season but he won't endanger one major league record—that held by silver-topped "Wooden Shoes" Gavy Cravath of the Philadelphia Athletics. Gravath began to win a race against other trained rowers—E. COOPER, Cox, Nellie R.

Handicapped.

It may not be generally known that the Coxswain of the Nellie R. in the Juvenile Race on Regatta Day, had to take two untrained boys off the bank and enter them to row the race right away, without any training or instruction. Two of the regular crew, Power and Estrom could not participate, the latter signing on a steamboat leaving port. Power who was a few weeks over the qualified age and had no certificate of birth did not care to take a chance with the Committee. In justice to the boys and also to convince their backers, who may have lost money on the race without knowing the circumstances, I make this explanation. It takes six thoroughly trained men to win a race against other trained rowers—E. COOPER, Cox, Nellie R.

Mr. Thos. Thistle went out by Wednesday afternoon's train, on a few days visit to the city.

The schooner Marjorie McGlashan, Gordon W. and motor boat E. L. Stewart are on dock undergoing repairs.

Mr. F. J. Goff of Messrs. Ayre & Sons, Ltd., St. John's, arrived by Tuesday night's train, on a two weeks holiday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Sullivan. His many friends are pleased to see him.

Mrs. Geo. Stewart and baby of Bell Island are in town on a visit to W. A. McKay and family.

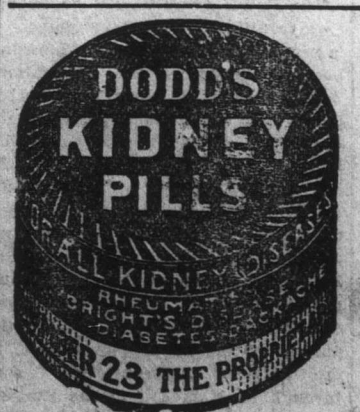

The S.S. "Seal" arrived here on Tuesday evening, and having discharged her freight, etc., left port again after a short stay. Among the passengers landed here was Constable Geo. Bussey, who had been on a visit to his home.

Mr. Herbert Abbott of Bear's Cove has been very ill of late, we are sorry to learn. But his friends hope to see him around again in the near future.

Mr. William Madigan, of the cable office, North Sydney, came in by Wednesday night's train to spend a while with his parents and friends in the old home town. His many friends are pleased to see him, and trust his stay will be an enjoyable one.

On Wednesday morning about 1 o'clock the S.S. "Othar" arrived from Bell Island, with a number of excursionists to spend the day with us. In the afternoon a football match was contested, in Shannon Park, between a Wabana and Harbor Grace team, the result being a tie. Quite a number of our townspeople were present in the Park to watch the game, which was a very exciting one. The C.L.B. Band, which accompanied the party over, was present also; and with their good music, added much to the enjoyment of the afternoon. In the night the party held a dance in the Academy Hall; their Band providing the music during the whole night. The boat with the excursionists left again for the "Iron Isle" at 5 a.m., and, no doubt, all of the participants thoroughly enjoyed themselves—for—

"Mr. Grace is a pretty place. No pictures fully show it; But, you my friend, who have been there, You know it, yes you know it!"

The S.S. "Sagana" arrived here this morning from Labrador.

Jewish State Not Feasible.

It would appear that certain busy-bodies are now trying to make trouble for Great Britain over the mandate given her to govern Palestine. A world-wide appeal is being made to support the creation of a Jewish National State; that is to say, a dependency exclusively governed in both a civil and military sense by Hebrews, and garrisoned by Jewish soldiers or "Jordan Highlanders." A demand has even been made by delegates to the Zionist Congress in London, that all British troops be withdrawn and the task of administration handed over to a Commission appointed by this international organization. It is gratifying to note that Sir Herbert Samuel, the British High Commissioner (himself a Hebrew of the highest character and intellectual attainments), has set his face against these proposals, and has announced that all races already established in Palestine shall be treated on an equal basis. Nor is Great Britain disposed to permit an indiscriminate immigration of Hebrews from other parts of the world, a policy advocated by eminent representatives of the race like Israel Zangwill and Max Nordau.

The claim that Palestine should become inhabitants of Palestine, and Great Britain, as an impartial mandatory, must consider their rights as of equal importance with the legendary claims of the Hebrews.

Advocates of Jewish domination base their claim on the ground that the Hebrews are a distinct nation. A more accurate statement of the case shows them to be a distinct sect which has maintained its integrity through the ages by excellent social customs. The national claim is a reversal of the attitude taken by leading Hebrews throughout the world at the time of the Dreyfus case twenty years ago. The charge was then made by the French that the Jews were a separate nation whose loyalty as soldiers could not be relied upon. This charge the members of the sect in all parts of the world justly resented; and as a matter of fact Hebrews in many nations, and especially in Great Britain, have given convincing proofs of loyal and complete citizenship. Since comparatively few of them really desire to go to Palestine to reside, it would but increase their difficulties in the countries where they live and cast doubts on their fidelity if official recognition were given to a Jewish nation.—Saturday Night.

Stopping the Poles and Reds.

The Entente, which refrained, having the power, from carrying active warfare into Germany, is logically justified in forbidding Bolshevik Russia to invade Poland, no matter what the provocation. War's hurts are not salved by more war. It is time for peace in Eastern Europe. Peace was not likely while Polish aspirations were based upon the boundaries of 1772, which embraced not a nation but an empire; aspirations which brought the veterans of Denekine and Yudenitch to those of Trotsky as in a common cause. But beyond the boundaries set forth for Poland by the terms of peace, Russian defence would become aggression. It was nobody's secret that Delegate Krassin's errand in England concerned political quite as much as trade negotiations. Much as Russia needs trade, she needs peace even more after five years of warfare and a slaughter unmatched in history. The prospect of active intervention in Poland's behalf in a plain issue of aid against invasion, is sugar-coated with an opportunity for peace. From the United States Lenin already has the proffer of trade without political undertakings. By much playing of the Bolshevik game the Entente has learned some wisdom. In aiding attacks upon the Bolsheviks the Supreme Council merely called Russian patriots of all parties to their defence. It is quite a different matter to raise the standard of peace on the Polish frontier and say, "This is the place to stop." Probably the Russian people also have had enough war for the present.—New York World.

Made Millions by the Get-Rich-Quick Route

BOSTON, July 29.—The accounts of Charles Ponzi, the dealer in international postal coupons, who has obtained several millions of dollars from the New England public on his promise to pay fifty per cent profit, will be audited by both the county and federal authorities. United States Attorney Gallagher announced yesterday that he would place an auditor on Ponzi's books with a view not only to learning whether his business was solvent, but also to determine whether his juggling of international stamps involved any violation of federal laws. The rush of people to withdraw their money from Ponzi's hands, begun after he had concurred in a suggestion by District Attorney Pelletier that he takes no more money in, continued to-day.

"Pi Alley," where he established temporary quarters to accommodate the crowds, was the scene of a day long line of people who wound from the former taproom, where the quarters were located, into City Hall Avenue. Ponzi ordered sandwiches and coffee served those who forsook luncheon to get their money back, or to collect on notes matured with the 50 per cent interest paid by Ponzi.

All those who applied for their money and who conformed with the simple conditions laid down by Ponzi, were paid. He said he had paid out several hundred thousands dollars yesterday and thought the run would cross the million dollar mark to-day. He has estimated his total liabilities at $3,000,000 and says he has $13,000,000 in this country and abroad to meet them. With the publicity recently given his operations, it has developed that Ponzi came to this country from Italy a few years ago with only $2.50, and until late last year was a low-salaried clerk in an exporting house.

Old Egypt's Gift.

Cleopatra Lives in Fashions as Well as in History.

Indeed Cleopatra lives in fashions as well as in history, and Ancient Egypt inspires some of the best of our new models. Egyptian effects, observes a fashion writer, supply the new and dominant note in many of our clothes. On the Egyptian type of evening dresses the embroideries are marvellous. Many of them are absolutely true to the design of the period of the Ptolemys, from the tombs of whom archaeologists have wrested some of the most beautiful examples of needlework known to the ages.

Nothing is lacking in these Egyptian-style frocks to make them true to their period and origin. The skirts are long and wrap closely to the figure. The wonderful embroidered panels rest flat. There are the long, looped bands which pass over the shoulders, seemingly suspending the tightly drawn draperies of the frock. There are also the closely drawn hip girdles, but always with the up-to-date touch to modern usage and makes it practical as well as acceptable.

One of these modern touches is the use of mantlelike train which adorn many of the most extreme Egyptian styles. These mantles, flowing out to form long trains, make a modest covering for the almost nude back given through the Egyptian cut of the dress. They are, however, weighted with embroideries in metal, spangles and mock jewels. The mantle is often in brilliant contrast to the robe itself. Many of these startling dresses, which are in dull metallic tones as if darkened by the mold of ages from resting in tombs, have mantles of geranium, flame red or vivid green.

From the Egyptian girdle to the modern sash of some of the models pass abruptly with nothing in between to link the two, and yet after all they are not so far apart in the final effect, especially when the broad ribbon sash is tied at a low waistline with a peppy butterfly or oblong bow at the left side.

The Officers' Mess of the 1st Cadet Battalion Newfoundland Regiment, C.L.B., held their Guest Night on Tuesday last, the following guests being present: Sir Edgar R. Bowring, High Commissioner for Newfoundland; Hon. Tasker Cook, Col. R. G. Rendell, C.B.E., C.L.B.; Rev. A. Pittman, Dr. F. W. Burden. Dinner was served at 7.30 and the following Toast List was honored:

The King.
Absent Friends—Prop. Major A. Raley, M.C., Camp Commandant; (drunk in silence).

The British Empire.—Prop. Colonel R. G. Rendell, C.B.E., C.L.B.; Resp. Sir Edgar R. Bowring.

Our Guests.—Prop. Lieut.-Col. R. F. Goodridge, C.L.B.; Resp. Rev. A. Pittman.

Our Hosts.—Prop. Rev. A. Pittman; Resp. Lieut. R. G. Ash, President Men's Committee.

An enjoyable evening was spent, the speeches of Colonel Rendell and Sir E. R. Bowring being well received. Colonel Rendell, in a splendid speech, pointed out what the British Empire was and what the flag that flies over it stood for. Sir Edgar R. Bowring who, when on the Royal Commission a few years ago, visited all parts of the Empire, gave a most interesting speech. Starting from London, he took us to Gibraltar and then around the world to our island home and then back to London again, and told of the various commercial industries, the traits and customs of the many peoples who live under the Union Jack, and was listened to with great interest by all present. The gathering closed with the singing of the National Anthem, and the guests left after the camp prayers had been read, and all present spent a most enjoyable evening.

On Tuesday night an enjoyable dance was held by the W. & N.C.O.'s Mess in the Fishermen's Hall, and was attended by a large number of people who enjoyed themselves until the wee sma' hours.

Wednesday was Sports' Day, and a large number of visitors came to camp. The sports were well conducted by Lieut. F. Reid and the various items keenly contested. Following is a list of the events and winners:

Thursday was Inspection Day. His Excellency the Governor, attended by Capt. Saltmarsh, A.D.C., arrived at Topsail at 1.30 p.m., to take luncheon with Sir E. R. Bowring. The following C.L.B. Officers were also guests: Major A. Raley, M.C., Rev. A. Pittman, Rev. A. Clayton, Major G. R. Williams, Lieut. R. G. Ash. At 3 p.m. the Vice-regal party proceeded to the Camp grounds where the following programme was gone through:

1.—Royal Salute; Inspection by His Excellency the Governor; Advance in Review Order; Colors March Off.

2.—Demonstrations: Correct and Incorrect Methods of Guard Mounting; Arm Drill; Forming and Wheeling; Putting out Markers; Saluting; Falling In; Dismissing.

3.—Attack Drill by A Company.

Afterwards His Excellency inspected the Camp and at the Orderly Room Tent wrote out the following Order of the Day:

(COPY.)

It has been a great satisfaction to me to inspect again the C.L.B. Camp at Topsail. I feel that by this action I can in a manner bring you into touch more direct than usual with His Majesty the King, who is Colonel-in-Chief of the King's Royal Rifle Corps to which the Newfoundland Regiment of the C.L.B. is now affiliated. I congratulate Major Raley and the Officers under him upon the efficiency which I have witnessed to-day. I have thought much of the work—especially some of the marching—very smart and good; and all quite satisfactory.

C. ALEXANDER HARRIS,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief, Newfoundland.

Among the visitors were Sir E. R. Bowring, Sir J. and Lady Outerbridge, Mrs. Campbell, Colonel R. G. Rendell, C.B.E., and Mrs. Alderdice; J. Lockyer, Esq., and wife, Mrs. Pittman and others. Afternoon teas were served in the Officers' Mess Tent by Mrs. R. G. Ash and Miss Balrd. at 4.30 p.m., and at 5.30 His Excellency left for the city.

At night the Battalion Band gave a Band Concert in the grounds, and afterwards a dance was held in the L.O.A. Hall which was largely attended and an enjoyable evening spent. To-day the lads break camp and march back to town. The Battalion Band are expected to meet parade at Albany at 7.15 p.m. en route to the Armoury, and thus end one of the most successful Camps ever held.

The thanks of the Brigade are extended to kind friends, one and all, too numerous to mention, who helped in various ways to give the lads such an enjoyable holiday.

Poor Fishery at Change Islands.
Report from Change Islands to the Board of Trade states the total catch of codfish there is 3,300 qts. Most of the traps have been taken up but about 12 are still fishing with 100 dories and skiffs. Fishing with both traps, hook and line is very poor. A message from one schooner at Belle Isle in the Straits reports one loaded and another well fished. Codfish have slackened off but are expected to have another run.

FOOT COMFORT for $1.00.

A Complete Home Outfit for only $1.00

DR. SCHOLL'S FOOT POWDER.
(Antiseptic)
An ideal antiseptic foot powder for hot, tender perspiring feet. Dr. Scholl's Foot Powder is sprinkled on the feet and in the stockings and shoes, giving a cool, restful feeling. Takes away the friction of the shoe and stocking upon the foot and has truly antiseptic, deodorizing qualities.
Put up in an original shaped attractive can which makes it convenient for reaching either the tip of the toe of the shoe or the foot of the stocking. Dr. Scholl's Foot Powder should be used by all. It is a true medicinal and toilet necessity of great merit. Price per can, 35c.

DR. SCHOLL'S PEDICO FOOT BALM.
This is a soothing, cooling and healing cream-like preparation which should be rubbed well into the skin. It is refreshing and penetrating and relieves various foot discomforts and keeps the feet in good condition. It tones up the foot muscles, making them respond more freely, and leaves the feet as smooth and soft as nature intended. Prior to this treatment we strongly recommend bathing the feet, using Pedico Granulated Foot Soap to cleanse the pores of all impurities. Price 35c. per jar.

DR. SCHOLL'S PEDICO FOOT SOAP.
Blood circulation is slowest at extremities and careful attention to the feet is absolutely necessary, particularly regular washing with a real cleanser. Washing with ordinary soap and water is not sufficient to deodorize, purify and thoroughly cleanse the feet.
Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Soap is chemically compounded in granular form in order that the rubbing massages the tissue and increases blood circulation thereby. Cleanses the pores of the skin of all impurities, leaving the feet soft, smooth and healthy.
After this bath, feet should be dried and a little Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Balm applied. Price 35c. per can.

Wednesday's Garden Party.
At an enthusiastic meeting of the promoters of the C. of E. Garden Party held in the Canon Wood Hall last evening, final arrangements for the Garden Party which will take place on next Wednesday afternoon, were discussed. It is hoped that the affair will be attended by a record number of people, and there is no reason why it should not. The object is a most worthy one. The grounds are ideal and conveniently situated being just inside the city limits and may be approached from Smithville, Allendale, or Newtown Roads. Every preparation has been made by the various committees for the entertainment of visitors. There will be a large number of tea tables this year, and as tea will be served during all the afternoon it is hoped that no one will go short. Mr. E. Hawkins, Mr. J. Wellman and aides will be in charge of the gate, and assure the visitors a hearty welcome on reaching the grounds. The gentleman who gave $20.00 as an entrance fee last year has assured them that he is going to do so again. Mr. Farndale has a very active band of workers who will serve liquid refreshments. They have a special brand which will be put on the market for the first time. Rev. Fletcher and the C.L.B. have the sports programme well in hand and exciting contests are looked forward to. A hundred men are needed at the orphanage grounds on Monday and Tuesday evenings next to help arrange the tents, etc.

Baby Girl Born at Sea.
On Board British Royal Mail Steamship.
London, July 31. (Canadian Press)—The Royal Mail steamer "Dary" which arrived at Liverpool recently reported that a baby girl had been born at sea. The child was given the Christian names of Marina Darr, the latter being the feminine of Darry.
The child was of Spanish parents, and although born under the Union Jack, which carries with it British nationality, the question was discussed among the passengers whether the new-comer was a native of the Argentine, being born when the ship was in Argentine territorial waters. The parents disembarked with the baby in Spain.
Children born at sea under the British flag are entered in the registers as natives of Stoney, London.

Britain's War Debt Estimated $27,000,000,000.

(By Canadian Press.)
New York, July 20.—There is no reason for apprehension regarding financial position of Great Britain. This is the message brought to United States by F. R. Shortis, recently appointed a vice-president of the Guarantee Trust Company of New York, and has just arrived here from London. A statement issued by Mr. Shortis clearly indicates the present economic situation of the Old Country and indicates that Britain is not only balancing her budget in a satisfactory manner, but also has a surplus in hand sufficient to meet her outstanding debt within a reasonable time. Mr. Shortis' statement is welcomed by Canadian and other British interests here as it is believed it will counteract the effect of propaganda which has been published in United States by certain newspapers seeking to convey the impression that Great Britain is in desperate financial straits. Mr. Shortis for many years was in charge of the foreign business of the Inverness and Company, merchant bankers of London, and subsequently became manager of the firm. He resigned that position last year to become financial adviser to the Allied Rhineland Commission, in which post he recently obtained release. In discussing the financial position of Great Britain, he said: "I think there is an impression in well-informed quarters of the amount that has already been raised in revenue during the last four years. Decidedly favorable. "Considering the extent of her expenditure on the war, the financial position of Great Britain is decidedly favorable. It is gratifying to know that she is not only balancing her budget in a satisfactory manner, but has moreover, a considerable surplus in hand which should provide a sinking fund sufficient to redeem the entire outstanding debt within a reasonable time. "Trade throughout Great Britain has, until quite recently, been excellent, and statistics demonstrate the healthy condition of her export trade. "The big joint stock banks with a view to bringing about some deflation in credit, have been exercising discriminations regarding loans, and have declined all applications based upon stock exchange securities, or commodities of a non-essential description. They are, unfortunately, compelled to carry a large amount of the floating debt of the Government in the form of treasury bills, on account of a disinclination of the investing public to purchase the treasury bonds which the Government hoped to sell for the funding of this debt. The banks, therefore, are unfortunately not in a position to give the assistance to trade that they would otherwise have been willing to do, and moreover, dear money has had the effect of depreciating the very securities which the Government desires to sell for the purpose of relieving the situation. "Industrial Flotations. "The last nine months have witnessed an enormous number of industrial flotations in the London market. These have been quickly absorbed by the people who have acquired new wealth during the war. By reason of the large amount recently left on the hands of the underwriters in recent issues, it would appear that the public appetite has, for the time being, been satisfied. It is possible that this apathy may pass away, but doubtless it is partly due to uncertainty concerning the Government's action in regard to the war-wealth tax, which is still the chief concern of the business world. At one time it was thought that this tax had been abandoned, but that does not appear to be the case, although public opinion against it is continuously growing. "Taking the situation in general, the position of Great Britain cannot be regarded as unfavorable, although the fact that sterling expressed in United States currency shows a depreciation of more than 20 per cent, may be taken as an indication that the credit of Great Britain is severely impaired. But people who are well acquainted with the actual economic position, and the reasons for the present level of exchange, are, of course, aware of the cause. It is not that Great Britain is not prepared to

"Light as Colgate's Talc"—passed through a silken mesh

IMAGINE a spider's web which only the shining dew makes clear—then imagine a silkworm's thread as fine.

Imagine a mesh formed by thousands of such gossamer-like threads contained within a single square inch. Conceive this weave to be so fine, so fine that only dust of flower-bloom, or powder as microscopic, could sift through it.

Through so incredibly minute a filter Colgate's Talc is passed. By what other means could come its delicate, breath-like quality—its airiness lighter than thistledown, lighter than gossamer?

To the tender, sun-sensitive or wind-whipped skin what can be more gratefully cooling, what be gentler or more fragrant than Colgate's Talc?

What talc, while adding its charm to the complexion, merges with it as does Colgate's Talc?

So fine, so very fine it is, And perfumed to your liking.

pay its debt to the United States, for it possesses plenty of assets, but it does not, unfortunately, possess any tangible assets which can be removed from Great Britain to the United States. It is, therefore, necessary to wait until such time as she can export or render services in sufficient quantities to produce a trade balance in her favor.

Adjusting Trade Balance.

"The war has made the United States so great a creditor country to Europe that she must now give her creditors an opportunity to pay her by exporting goods and rendering services. For this purpose, it is not necessary for Europe to export to the United States alone, but she must export to all other countries, and in particular, countries that the United States purchases from. For instance, by means of European countries exporting to the East in excess of her imports from the East and at the same time by an excess of American imports from the East over her exports in the same directions, the balance of indebtedness by Europe to the United States could eventually be liquidated.

"For the purpose of adjusting the trade balance, it does not matter whether Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy export in large quantities one than the other, as the balance of trade of the latter countries all favor Great Britain, and these exports will relatively at the same time, not only adjust the trade balance between Great Britain and the United States, but they will bring about an adjustment between those countries and Great Britain."

Grounds for Divorce.

Lady Astor, in a speech to a Plymouth audience, in England, caused a painful sensation by defending herself against the attacks in connection with her American divorce. It was as much an ordeal to the audience as to Her Ladyship, and when she attempted to go into details there were vigorous interruptions and cries of "We don't want to hear it." Lady Astor persisted that she wished to make her reply to the attacks upon her and, despite further interruptions, and speaking with considerable emotion, she completed her statements. Afterwards a resolution of confidence in her and condemnation of the attacks upon her was carried, the audience rising to its feet and cheering enthusiastically. Lord Astor, who was visibly affected, said he never felt so grateful to an audience as he did then.

Lady Astor in her speech replied to an article in John Bull, which, she said, charged her with collusive conduct in regard to a divorce in which in 1903, she was the petitioner and with insincerity and hypocrisy and alleged that while in the House of Commons she urged that desertion should not be made the ground for divorce, and she tried to obtain her own divorce on that very ground. That statement, said Lady Astor, was absolutely false. The ground of her divorce was adultery on the part of her former husband, and adultery alone. There was no petition on the ground of desertion. For her part, she preferred separation and for a time she and her husband lived apart, she having the custody of their child. That separation without a divorce might have provided a permanent method of dealing with her unhappy marriage and that was what she desired. Subsequently, on the advice of her father, she was left with no alternative but to take proceedings for a divorce on the ground of adultery, which she did. That was the story of those painful occurrences. There was, from first to last, no collusion of any sort, and the counsel of her former husband testified to that all through those wretched family difficulties. She did not wait a divorce at all and did not believe in or intend to take any proceedings for a divorce on the ground of desertion. Adultery was the ground for the divorce in which she believed, and when proceedings became inevitable these were the principles on which she acted.

Notice to Taxpayers.

Section 7—(1) Income War Tax Act:— "Every person liable to taxation under this Act shall, on or before the thirty-first day of March in each year, without any notice or demand, deliver to the Minister a return on Oath, in such form as the Minister may prescribe, of his total income during the last preceding calendar year. The Oath shall be in the Form V prescribed in the schedule to this Act.

Section 8—(1): "If the Minister, in order to enable him to make an assessment, desires further information, or if he suspects that any person who has not made a return is liable to taxation hereunder, he may, by registered letter, require additional information, or a return containing such information as he deems necessary to be furnished him within thirty days."

NOTE.—Persons to whom forms have been sent under this Section are bound to return them filled in in accordance with their income for the period named, even though no tax has to be paid.

Section 9—(1): "For every default in complying with the provisions for the next two preceding sections, the taxpayer and also the person or persons required to make a return, shall each be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars for each day during which the default continues."

NOTE.—Taxpayers and those suspected as being liable to taxation under the Income War Tax Act, and who have not yet made returns as required by the Act, are now given Thirty days from the Second day of August instant, to complete and send in returns for the accounting periods of 1917, 1918 and 1919. Persons who are in default with their returns after the expiration of the above number of days will be prosecuted, in accordance with the Act.

Strangles Prevalent.

The dangerous disease of strangles is again becoming prevalent amongst horses, several of which have recently perished from it. Owners of animals free from the disease should exercise care when giving them water at the fountains, as the ailment is contagious, and an affected beast may have drunk there previously. Bedrooms & Beds

There's nothing more important to the bedroom than the Bed itself, is there? From the point of usefulness or ornament it ranks first. Does your Bed suit your taste? Does it harmonize with your room? Does it give you the sleep-comfort you need? No? Well, then it's time to discard it and get another, quick.

We are showing All-Brass, Brass and Enamel, and All-Enamel Beds in all sizes and very fine designs. Each and all of which Beds can be fitted with Springs and Wool or Felt Mattresses if desired.

Prices quoted on request.
