"Chalk Your Own Door.

His proper name was Jeremiah Marden; but he had not been in the wilage a week before everybody called him Jerry Marden, and within six weeks he was known as Jerry Muddler. But it is, why Muddler? Who gave him that was i name, and why was it given? The giver is unknown—for whoever knows the giver of nicknames?—but the reason for its being bestowed was that Jerry was always muddled with drink. He was a very good shoemaker, but he stood no chance with George Stevens, a sober man, and so drifted into

"That's something," said Mr. Rewitt, tartly.

"It'is everything to a man who has a wife and children to keep," replied Jerry. "The best of us have sickness and trouble and rainy days, and then it's a great thing to have something to fall back upon. It is better to be able to keep yourself than to go to the "parisht There's another thing, too, about these chalks of mine—yours went down before mywife and children were fed; mine godown after that's done; and I think that my chalks are the better of the two. So I say to all, "Chalk your
