Quick Thinking Wins

Is your thinker feed right for prompt action?

At a dinner not long ago Thomas W. Lawson was talking on the subject of success. "Success in finance," said Mr. Lawson, "is due in a great measure to prompt action. The doubting, hesitating, Hamlet type of man had best keep out of finance. He is quite sure to be swamped."

It doesn't matter much whether it's finance, a base-ball game, or winning promotion;

Keen Brains Count

Keep on with your "bacon and soggy pancake breakfast" if you choose, and stay in the Hamlet class, but if you really want to get ahead, just begin to live right.

A good start is to cut out the heavy, indigestible breakfast and have a dish of

Grape-Nuts

and Cream

Analysis shows that Albumen, Water and Phosphate of Potash are the three principal essentials for building up one's thinking outfit—the Brain. You get the first two in everyday food, but the third, the vital organic Phosphate of Potash, is often lacking.

Grape-Nuts Food made of whole wheat and malted barley is rich in this vital, brain-building element.

A good, healthy working brain can be built up on right food. That's why Tens of Thousands of get-ahead people eat their regular morning dish of this delicious food.

THE QUEEN'S HOUSEHOLD

She Gives Personal Supervision—Business Like Spirit Pervades All

"The queen has been pleased to appoint the Countess Fortescue to be lady of the bedchamber, in the room of the Countess of Shaftesbury, resigned. The queen has been pleased to appoint the Countess of Shaftesbury to be an extra lady of the bedchamber."

This brief announcement in the "London Gazette" of April 1 calls attention to the fact that Her Majesty's interest in court arrangement does not begin and end, as is popularly supposed, with the appointment of her personal ladies. Since King George came to the throne, Queen Mary has insisted upon superintending the details of the organization and administration of the royal household, work which in the past was delegated to court officials. This has resulted in many alterations, particularly in regard to the number of servants employed, for Her Majesty discovered that she did not require nearly the number of servants and attendants that were formerly deemed necessary, the state maintained being much more simple than was previously the case.

The business-like spirit that pervades the whole of the queen's household is most striking. Everything seems to proceed there as though by clock-work, and while there is no stint, says the "Indice Field," Her Majesty persists to watch the strict economy being enforced in every direction.

It appears that the queen exercises full control over all that takes place in her name, and scarcely a letter is despatched before it is referred to Her Majesty for her approval. It is E. W. Wallington, the queen's private secretary, who deals with the vast correspondence that Her Majesty receives each day, and takes her instructions concerning the replies which should be sent. The queen inspects several hours a day to her correspondence.

Upon what may perhaps be styled the "business side" of the queen's household, the Earl of Shaftesbury is the leading figure. He is Her Majesty's lord chamberlain, and, to a considerable extent, his duties approximate those carried out by Lord Sandhurst in the household of the King. He is charged with the entire conduct of Her Majesty's entourage, and is responsible directly to her for its proper maintenance. All items of expenditure upon behalf of the queen have to pass through his hands, though it is her treasurer, the Hon. A. Nelson Hood, who actually signs the check and sees that they are despatched.

The mistress of the robes, a position now held by the Duchess of Devonshire, is really the head of the Queen's household, among the principal of her duties being the supervision of the maids of honor. Indeed, her former title at court was "mother of the maids."

Next in order of importance amongst the ladies of the queen's court come the ladies of the bedchamber. These, together with the bed-chamber women, are more generally known today by the designation of ladies-in-waiting, but the former title is more correct, and has reference to the days when these ladies were actually called upon to serve a queen at her toilette, and to assist generally at her robing and disrobing every morning forms part of their duties.

It is the bed-chamber women who are more commonly known as the "ladies-in-waiting," and one of these is always in attendance upon the queen. Each of these attends Her Majesty for a fortnight at a time, whenever she may be staying, and is then relieved by the next on the list, the change usually taking place upon a Monday. These ladies, though nominally selected by the mistress of the robes, are really chosen by the queen in person from the ranks of her intimate friends.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP.

(By Elizabeth Akers Allen.)
Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight,
Make me a child again just for tonight!
Mother, come back from the echoes above;
Take me again to your heart as of yore,
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;
Over my slumbers your loving watch keep;
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.
Backward, flow backward, O tide of the years!
I am so weary of toil and of tears;
Toll without recompense, tears all in vain—
Take them, and give me my childhood again!
I have grown weary of dust and decay,
Weary of flinging my soul wealth away,
Weary of sowing for others to reap—
Rock me to sleep, mother; rock me to sleep.
Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue,
Mother, O mother! my heart calls for you,
Many a summer the grass has grown green,
Blossomed and faded, our faces between,
Yet, with strong yearning and passionate pain,

WHEN BABY CRIES

When the baby cries continually do not put it down for pure selfishness—that is not the baby's nature—it is to be happy and laughing. Every baby should cry on an average of fifteen or twenty minutes a day—that is how he strengthens his lungs. But mothers if your baby gives sharp, piercing cries or low sobbing wails, he is in pain and needs attention. Nothing will relieve the little one so quickly as Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels, expel worms, break up colds, and will make baby healthy and happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HOW YOU GET COAL

Coal dealers have to go far afield to get the different kinds of coal to satisfy the demands of their customers.

From central Pennsylvania comes the American hard coal brought to the coast by rail and from New York and Philadelphia to St. John by schooner.

From Scotland via Glasgow by steamer the Scotch hard coal. From the Cape Breton, Pictou and Cumberland Co's, in Nova Scotia are brought by rail and by vessel different grades of soft coal.

All of these sources of supply contribute to the stocks of coal that are distributed from Gibbon & Co's warehouse front property at the foot of Union street, and from their rail branch at Marsh street, and they also import for a fancy blacksmith coal the celebrated Georges Creek Cumberland coal mined in Maryland.

But Gibbon & Co. have had faith in their own province and have been the first to prove on a commercial scale that New Brunswick contains good blacksmith coal high class steam coal and satisfactory domestic coal for house use.

Frederick Gleason—Mrs. G. W. Merereau arrived this week from Vancouver, B.C., where she spent the past six months. She has been the guest of her daughters, Mrs. H. F. McLeod and Mrs. W. J. Scott, and leaves this evening for Quoktown.

RARE BEAUTY AND SPLENDID VALUES IN SUMMER MILLINERY

Many novel and decidedly smart developments in millinery modes are expressed in the dainty summer hats composing the special week-end display of the Model Millinery Co., at 29 Canterbury street, and described in the firm's advertisement in last evening's Times. Paris and New York styles are prominently featured in the fine exhibit which is well worthy of inspection. Prices range from $2.50 to $5.00 each, and it would indeed be difficult to find better values, when styles and quality are taken into account.

Another interesting feature is an exceedingly attractive line of children's warm weather headwear in prevailing European and American effects. These also are marked at very reasonable prices, which mean, really, the best at lowest possible figures. The firm's showrooms will be open until 10 o'clock tonight.

HOUSING IN LONDON

Interesting Figures From Census of Empire Metropolis (London Chronicle)

A novel and very instructive report is included in the sixth volume of the Census Report, published yesterday, dealing with buildings in England and Wales.

For the first time the report contains statistics of the various kinds of buildings enumerated in each area, and shows not only whether they are designed for habitation, but whether they are actually inhabited. The figures now available are likely to be of much value to those interested in the housing problem and in matters dealing with sociology.

The following table gives the general results of the inquiry in respect of buildings used as dwellings:—

Table with 3 columns: Ordinary dwelling, Institutions, Hotels, Inns and Public houses, Offices, warehouses, and factories, and Others. Rows show total population, population in dwellings, and population in other buildings.

The number of buildings in course of erection was 28,178, of which 38,783 were ordinary dwelling houses, and 1,433 were shops. The blocks of flats included 233, 245 separate flats inhabited, 26,799 not inhabited, and 1,606 building. Other buildings enumerated as not being used as dwellings are: Places of worship, 40,707; government and municipal buildings, 10,533; shops, 172,955; offices, 28,727; warehouses, workshouses and factories, 129,271; and theatres and other places of amusement, 2,000.

The figures mean that with an increase of population of 3,500,000 the number of inhabited dwelling-places has increased by 880,000, and the number of uninhabited dwelling-places has decreased by 40,000 in the census period.

During the census decade the average number of persons to each inhabited dwelling has fallen from 5.2 in 1901 to 5.05 in 1911. The averages in London and the urban districts, including the country boroughs, were 5.23 and 5.30 respectively; in the rural districts they were 4.31 and 4.28.

An increase in the average amount of housework per head of population is suggested by the figures, and the improvement appears to be greater in the urban than in the rural districts. In the counties the average number of persons to a house was less than in 1901; in all but two English and four Welsh counties.

In the county boroughs the average number of persons per house was 4.89; in the urban districts, excluding London, it was 4.58; in the rural districts 4.31. The highest average is found in London, which has 7.89 persons per house; then come Middlesex with 5.61, Northumberland and Cheshire with 5.45, Monmouth and Durham

England Feels the Effect Of Emigration

ALL BRANCHES OF LABOR

Even the London Police Force is Hit — Home Securities Suffer Through Large Amount of Money Placed in Dominion

(Times' Special Correspondence) London, May 6.—Yet another sign of the latent opposition in England to the emigration of agricultural workers was contained in a question to the president of the board of trade the other day. He was asked if he could state the number of agricultural workers who had emigrated from the United Kingdom during each of the last three years; and if no such statistics were available, whether he would, in view of the importance to the nation of retaining its agricultural population, institute a system which would keep a record of agricultural as distinct from urban emigrants should be kept.

British statistics are not in a form to render this information available, but that there is a severe shortage of agricultural laborers is clear. Members of farming constituencies are being pressed to express the gravity of the condition in parliament, and it is evident that an enquiry of some kind cannot be long delayed. With wages increasing it will not be long before the general public feel the consequent increase in price.

All the time emigration activities go steadily on, and every sign points to a year of mammoth numbers of emigrants from Great Britain to the dominion.

Canada is blamed for many of the conditions existing in this country. The other day the Methodists found their membership showed a decrease and the reason was found in the large numbers who had gone to the dominion. Whether it be a scarcity of men in the country or empty houses in the towns the cause is always found in Canada.

The latest difficulty is the scarcity of recruits for the police force. The supply is always found to be short of the best recruiting grounds owing to increased emigration. Besides the difficulty of recruiting, recent statistics show that the forces are affected, for an unusually large number of the younger policemen during the last year or two have resigned for the purpose of emigrating. Even older ones hasten their applications for pensions with the same idea.

In the House of Commons, whenever there is a discussion on the existing economical condition of Great Britain, one thing is sure to be said by the Conservatives—they will relate with the increasing emigration, the decrease of the value of consols, and the large amount of money that has been driven out of the country for investment in the dominions.

Establishing state of trade in the country generally, and circles round the funds of the club, but none of that money was invested in securities in Great Britain. The major portion has been placed in Canadian municipalities and railway stocks; the balance in securities in other parts of the world.

A quiet chuckle of amusement went the rounds of the members of the Reform Club when the members of the Reform Club were published. There was some $25,000 added to the funds of the club, but none of that money was invested in securities in Great Britain. The major portion has been placed in Canadian municipalities and railway stocks; the balance in securities in other parts of the world.

The following table gives the metropolitan boroughs with the highest and lowest averages:—

Table with 2 columns: Borough Name and Highest Average per House. Rows include Holborn, Finsbury, Southwark, St. Margaret, St. Pancras, Shoreditch, Sneyden, Bethnal Green, Westminster, Lowest Average per House, Lewisham, Woolwich, Wandsworth, Greenwich, Stoke Newington, Battersea, and Totterdale.

Of the total population 86.6 per cent. were returned as living in ordinary dwelling houses, 5.2 per cent. in shops, 3.0 per cent. in institutions, 2.9 per cent. in flats, 1.4 per cent. in hotels, and the remaining 0.9 per cent. in warehouses, sheds, tents, or the open air.

The number of places of worship is given as 40,707, giving a ratio of one building to 722 people. In London alone the proportion is one to 2,227.

FAREWELL FOR THE COUNTESS: The Daughters of the Empire in Fredericton give a farewell tea today for the Countess of Ashburnham. The Earl of Ashburnham has about recovered from his recent attack of bronchitis and they expect to leave in a short time for the old country.

IMAGINATION VS. THE GREEN FIELDS

We offer city lots on Edward street that are not as pretty as green fields in the country, but we depend on your imagination to see the advantages of our lots over green fields, and prices are the same.

1st, they are below street level, a feature that builders appreciate, because it saves the cost of excavating.

2nd, instead of spending money to build this ground, which would add to the cost of the lots, and have to be dug up anyway, we are saving that money for our customers by offering the lots cheaper.

3rd, it is a city street that will soon be graded, and at the present time contains new water main and sewer.

Edward street will be an important artery of connection between the city and West End, the only street paralleling Douglas avenue between the harbor and river, on the beautiful peninsula of private residences, with its Riverview park, lovely views in all directions, and no objectionable features. This is the last ungraded property in the locality, and the last vacant property in a high class residential neighborhood, close to the centre of the city, affording as it does, city light, police and fire protection, street car service, and the great advantage of desirable neighbors. In a year or two there will be many who will say, "I had a chance to buy Edward street lots at the price of country green fields, but I lacked the necessary imagination, and see what the lots are worth now." Are you going to be one of these, or will you then be among the few who buy, who buy now? Which will it be?

We offer these thirteen lots for quick sale at about 25c. a lot, and we do not believe their equal exists in St. John at less than double that figure. Murray, Laidlaw & Co., room 14, Ritzie building, Main 2656.

THAT DRAW BRIDGE

Without discussing the merits of the two proposed routes for the St. John Valley Railway from Gagetown to St. John, it may be observed that objections to the erection of a bridge at Navy Island on the ground that it would have to be a draw-bridge will not be regarded very seriously by the public. Such a draw bridge would only be needed about an hour at each half tide, since vessels cannot go up and down through the falls at high or low tide. Hence it is ridiculous to suggest that the draw-bridge would be constantly in use. The draw bridge objection would apply with equal force to a bridge across the St. John river this side of Gagetown. Vessels must go up and down the river, and they do go up and down without any limitations as to time or tide. So far as a bridge at Navy Island is concerned, and a draw in that bridge, it cannot be put forward as a reasonable argument against bringing the Grand Trunk Pacific into St. John by that route.

SIR GEORGE ROSS

Liberal newspapers of late have been paying very high compliments to Senator Sir George Ross. They have described him as an eminent and patriotic statesman, who would not stand for any nonsense, but would heartily endorse that gift of thirty-five million dollars to the British Admiralty. Having in mind the high regard in which Sir George is held by the Conservatives, there is special significance in some remarks which he made in the senate yesterday about the Borden highways bill, which has been introduced and is now before the senate. Sir George said that this appeared to be a measure with a good name but not a good character, and he was surprised to see the government bringing it forward again this year in its original form. It was, he said, a distinct infringement upon the rights of the provinces, and seemed to be designed to promote political power through the appearance of improving the roads. Sir George declared that this highway bill was "a work worthy of a Sherlock Holmes to search out the tricks and traps and devices for political advantage which it contained." Having in mind the new-born but profound respect which the Conservative press entertains for Sir George Ross, we may reasonably expect the editors to approve of the amendments to the highways bill which the senate made last year, and which it will probably make again.

MORE ALFALFA NEEDED

Why are the farmers of New Brunswick not giving more attention to the cultivation of alfalfa? It has been clearly demonstrated at Sussex, and some other parts of this province, that the crop can be successfully cultivated. Two or three years ago excellent specimens of native grown alfalfa were exhibited in the window of the board of trade in this city, and at that time there was considerable discussion in the press of the general subject of alfalfa as one of the most profitable crops the dairy farmer could raise.

Alfalfa is a crop "which works for nothing and boards itself," said Mr. J. D. McGregor of Brandon, addressing the Canadian Club of Winnipeg recently. Mr. McGregor can speak with authority, for he has cultivated the crop, and his Aberdeen Angus cattle have beaten world's records at a live stock show in Chicago. He told the Canadian Club that hitherto the west had been handicapped by the lack of succulent forage to combine with grain to make a balanced ration, but now it had alfalfa, which has been grown successfully in Manitoba for several years on a scale large enough to prove its practicability as a staple crop. Canadian Finance, in a report of Mr. McGregor's speech, says:

"It is computed that on its nutritive value, with beef at six cents per pound, alfalfa has a feeding value of $20.16, and timothy hay $7.80 per ton. The yield of alfalfa, three tons to the acre, at $20.16 per ton, is therefore $60.48, according to Mr. McGregor. The yield of timothy, one and a half tons to the acre, at $9.80 per ton, is only $14.70, leaving a difference in favor of alfalfa of $45.78. Hops on an alfalfa pasture will, with a small amount of grain, make cheaper pork than on any other kind of feed. This Brandon cattle expert is emphatic on the point that corn is not essential to the economical feeding of hogs or of any live stock whatever."

Mr. McGregor added that alfalfa, oats and barley make an ideal combination for cattle feed, and he expressed the view that cattle can thus be fed more economically and to as high a finish as on corn. Turning from the west to the state of Maine, we find in the Bangor Commercial that farmers in Somerset county are raising large crops of alfalfa, and that as a result the dairy business is steadily increasing. A few years ago a creamery offered to furnish its patrons with alfalfa seed if they would give it a trial, and furnish a man to add in the work. About thirty farmers accepted the offer, and the great majority of them succeeded so well that they are now making it one of the staple crops of the farm. One farmer, after five years' experience, has found that alfalfa is a crop he can no longer dispense with for his seven hundred hens, as well as for his dairy herd. The Bangor Commercial says:

"So well pleased are the farmers with their success that the whole county has become interested and those that have had experience are now furnishing various farmers information as to how to grow the crop. The Agricultural Fair Association will offer prizes next fall for the best piece of alfalfa grown in this state. Institutes will be held within a short time with speakers on the subject in various sections of the state."

The experience of the farmers in Manitoba on the one hand, and in Maine on the other should encourage the farmers of New Brunswick to give great deal more attention to the cultivation of a crop which is of so much value, not merely as a feed for cattle, but for hogs and hens. The provincial department of agriculture would be well advised to adopt the suggestion made by Mr. J. D. McKenna, of Sussex, at the conference of newspaper men and members of the St. John board of trade a few years ago, when he urged that special encouragement be given and prices offered by the department for the cultivation of alfalfa in the various counties of this province.

The Canadian Pacific Company has let the contract for two splendid new vessels for the British Columbia coast service.

The Times' London cable says that there is plenty of money in the mother country for investment purposes, and it is only necessary to pursue the right course to bring it out.

A financier who has just returned to Victoria, B. C., after an extended visit to Europe says he received assurances that a large amount of funds from Germany would be diverted to British Columbia for investment.

Strikes in the maritime provinces are seldom attended by riots, but there was a serious outbreak in connection with the street railway strike in Halifax yesterday. Such conduct will certainly not be good for the cause which the strikers represent.

St. John already has too many three story wooden houses. It needs more detached cottages, and attention should be directed to the solution of the housing problem, by the erection of such cottages, for which there is ample space within easy reach of the centre of the city.

When the Laurier naval bill was before the senate the Conservative leader, Senator Loughheed, moved: "That this bill until it is submitted to the judgment of the country." Senator Loughheed should now insist that the Borden naval bill be submitted to the judgment of the country.

The Times has been told of a pretty cottage in the outskirts of St. John which contains seven rooms and bath, and can be sold with the lot on which it is erected for less than two thousand dollars. Why should there be a desire to crowd people into flats when detached cottages may be made available on such easy terms? Why not build cottages?

The cable news from England shows that the mother country and Germany have a better understanding than for many years, and that the "German peril" is a figment of the imagination of the Tory leaders, armament makers and those who favor a great fleet and army, and lose no opportunity to foster the military spirit in the country. The Borden emergency has taken another leap into the future.

Reference was made in the Times the other day to the importance of making the University of New Brunswick serve as far as possible the practical everyday needs of education in the province. It is worthy of note in this connection that the University of Maine next year will have courses in chemical work in pulp and paper making. Some work along this line was done during the past year in that University, and the course covers the different processes used in pulp manufacture of different kinds. It will include the handling of the crude materials for the mill and the control necessary for processes and products. The pulp and paper industry is one of considerable importance in the state of Maine, and the university authorities therefore realize the advantage of providing a course which will qualify young men for positions in the mills.

USES OF OLIVE OIL
Not every one realizes the uses of olive oil. It is quite true that the machinery of the body needs oiling occasionally, like any mechanical machine which is constantly in use and olive oil taken internally will be exceedingly beneficial. A tablespoonful will aid the digestion and ease liver trouble.

This oil should be served frequently as a dressing, and is not only pleasant on vegetables but serves as an appetizer as well. Taken internally either with salads or alone it is beneficial for catarrh, either of the stomach or throat.

BERI OLIVE OIL is the finest olive oil in St. John.

IN THE DANCING HALLS OF PARIS

(London Saturday Journal)
Paris is the ballroom of Europe. No other nation dances so much all the year round, or keeps it up so long. Every industry or trade rejoices in its own particular periodical dance. Butchers, bakers, hairdressers, and even servants, girls—they all have their own exclusive opportunities for "tripping the light fantastic." As a rule they dance in their working habiliments—billowy blouses and baggy blue velveteens for the men, instead of dress suits; but at the waiters' dance evening dress is insisted on.

Then there are the dances for the workers from the distant French provinces, where you will see poor work-girls merrily tripping in the quaint caps and decorations of their native homes. Sometimes the music is provided by a solitary cornet or fiddle, but the natives of Auvergne dance to the sound of their beloved musette, and too often unbridled revelry ends in riot. It is so at most of the dances in the popular quarters—which is perhaps why the Paris police are casting a stricter eye on such a scene today.

Consequently, many unvarnished riverside dancing resorts have now disappeared, and even the bigger and more celebrated dancing halls are degenerating into serious entertainment manufacturing for the delectation of foreign visitors. But the Parisians' insatiable for coquettish revels is not easily to be eradicated, and it only needs the excuse of the anniversary of the taking of the Bastille on July 14 to turn Paris into a vast dancing salon. Professional dancers give street exhibitions free of charge; passers by in their ordinary garb, join in, and bold-eyed demellees spin the gentlemen and soldiers round and don the latter's leader. Numbers of loose affairs date from the grand fete.

Saturday Evening Revelry.
And then there are the artists' dances, at which a very wide latitude is allowed in the matter of fancy costumes; and, as the dancing and posing and rolling is kept up in the public streets after the ball is over, lasting well into the next morning, there is much that a London County Council would never sanction in the streets. The officers of the law seem content to let blooded youth have its way.

Now are the washerwomen, the river-side laborers, and the porters and saleswomen from the Halls Centrales to be denied their eleventh revel? No, no, no! In the evening, and usually admission to their dances is ostentatiously free, though a master of ceremonies exacts a sum per dance.

HANSARD GIVES VIVID PICTURE OF NAVAL BATTLE

Culmination of Big Fight On Saturday Morning

CARROLL AMENDMENT

Speaker Derided by Opposition Members Time After Time—The Tumult Was Supreme—Premier Moved Adjournment Amid Cries of Shame

(Special to The Toronto Star by a Staff Reporter.)

Ottawa, Ont., May 17.—The culmination of the big fight on the committee stage of the Borden Naval bill on Saturday morning, which resulted in scenes as stirring as any which have been witnessed in the Canadian House of Commons, has been reported in many ways, but probably in no more graphic manner than in the unembellished pages of Hansard.

From shortly after two o'clock this battle royal waged round the amendment proposed by Mr. F. Carroll of South Cape Breton providing for the use of Canadian materials in the construction of the ships. Shortly after three Chairman Blondin, shaking himself free from the complicated tangle of points of order prepared to put the motion that the bill be reported.

Thereafter tumult and uproar reigned supreme, as the bald pages of Hansard indicate. The report from that point is as follows:

The chairman: "I am now putting the motion that the bill be reported."

Some hon. members: "Aye."

Some hon. members: "Shame."

Confusion Worse Confounded.

The chairman: "Those in favor of the motion will please rise."

Mr. Pugsley: "I move that you now leave the chair."

Mr. Blondin: "Let me make my point of order please."

The chairman: "The motion is now before the committee that I report the bill. I ask those who are in favor of it to rise."

Some hon. members: "No, we won't rise."

The chairman: "Those who are in favor of the motion will please say 'Aye.'"

Some hon. members: "No."

Other hon. members: "No."

The chairman: "Those in favor of the motion will please rise."

Some hon. members: "Shame, don't vote."

Some opposition members: "Nobody vote on this side."

The chairman: "I declare the motion carried."

The House having resumed with Mr. Speaker, the order of business was as follows:

Some hon. members: "You have a false report."

Mr. Speaker: "Order."

Mr. Speaker: "Mr. Blondin, chairman of the committee of the whole—"

Some hon. members: "No, no."

Mr. Speaker: "Order."

Some hon. members: "The report is not false."

Mr. Speaker: "Mr. Blondin from the committee of the whole has reported the bill with an amendment."

Some hon. members: "Order, false report."

Speaker Closes House.

Mr. Speaker: "When the speaker is on his feet in the reply of hon. members to preserve order, I have no doubt the hon. members are equally interested with me in the business of the house shall be conducted with decorum."

Mr. Oliver: "Where is the decorum on the other side?"

Some hon. members: "The report is false."

Mr. Speaker: "Order."

Mr. Speaker: "The nationalist gag."

Mr. Speaker: "Order. I ask the hon. members of this house, as befitting what should be expected in parliament to join me in maintaining the dignity of parliament and the prerogatives of this house in a proper and orderly way."

Some hon. members: "Why don't they respect the rules?"

Mr. Speaker: "Order."

Mr. Speaker: "The chairman made a false report to you, sir."

Mr. Speaker: "When shall this report be received?"

Some hon. members: "No don't receive it."

Borden Moves Adjournment.

Mr. Borden moved the adjournment of the house.

On the question being put some hon. members: "We won't adjourn."

Mr. Pugsley: "I desire respectfully to call your attention, Mr. Speaker, to the fact that the Deputy Speaker has made a false report."

Some hon. members: "Order."

Mr. Pugsley: "There was another motion before the chair when he left the chair he ignored that motion and the speaker ought not to receive that report."

Some hon. members: "Hear, hear."

Mr. Speaker: "Order. I want to say that it is not the right of a member either to criticize or reflect upon the conduct of the chair in that way."

Some hon. members: "Oh."

Mr. Speaker: "Order. That can only be done by a substantive motion, and it can be done by giving notice at any time. That is the rule."

Mr. Pugsley: "Mr. Speaker, you are asking us to observe the rules, and we ask you to sustain the rights of the minority."

Some hon. members: "Hear, hear."

Mr. Speaker: "In my judgment, the best way to maintain the rights of the minority is to maintain the rules."

Some hon. members: "Hear, hear."

ADVANCED LEGISLATION FOR SISTER PROVINCE

A Review of the Session and a Ward For Premier Murray's Government

(Halifax Chronicle.)

The provincial government has emerged from an arduous session with flying colors. It has placed upon the statute books of the province several measures of great importance, which are designed to keep Nova Scotia in the vanguard of progressive legislation. The acts or the amendments of agriculture and dairying, for the further protection of our great forest resources, for the improvement of our highway service, for the provision of cheap rural telephones, for the encouragement of settlement on lands, and for the suppression of injurious insects will be of the greatest prospective benefit to the largest class of our population. All these measures, which the Murray government is ready to go as far as the resources of the province will permit in bettering and developing the great basic industries upon which the prosperity, contentment and welfare of our communities depend.

In addition to these important measures the government has taken a further step, along humanitarian lines, which we believe will mark an epoch, not only in the history of this province but in the history of the dominion, namely, relaxing and developing its policy for the treatment and suppression of tuberculosis. No matter of greater public concern could engage the attention of the government of any country than the care of the health of the people, and if the Murray government had done nothing during the past session other than to secure the passage of the measure, with respect to the treatment of tuberculosis it would have earned the everlasting gratitude of the people of Nova Scotia.

The events of the last three months have abundantly proved that Liberalism is fully alive to its opportunities and its duties in this province. It has behind it a grand record of honest and progressive government. It has before it the promise of many years of enlightened administration, which will continue to command the whole-hearted approval of the great majority of Nova Scotians. Liberalism, under the wise and statesmanlike leadership of Hon. George H. Murray has given Nova Scotia a government of which all good citizens of this province, Conservatives as well as Liberals, are proud.

Three Years For Arson.

Begonia, May 16.—R. McIntyre, of Pense, charged with arson was today sentenced to three years in the district court. The accused also pleaded guilty to a charge of theft. It is charged that he broke into a hotel at the little town west of Begonia and there committing robbery started a fire with the intention of covering the first crime.

The treasurer of Truroque county, Ile, paid out $84 for crow egg and crow scalp bounty during the month of March and April. Ten cents is paid for each crow and five cents for each egg.

PRICES OF POTATOES IN MAINE MAY BE HIGHER

Frosts of Middle Atlantic May Have Effect—Likely an Early Crop

(Bangor Commercial.)

The farmers all over the State of Maine are discussing the potato outlook for this season, and it is possible that the prices will be high due to the late spring. The crops will be late, and in some sections there have been losses on account of the cold weather. But although no heavy losses have been felt in this state on account of the frosts, the great loss which Burlington county, N. J., received this week by the heavy frost will, it is thought, have a considerable effect on the prices in Maine.

In that section on the first days of the week, this frost spread over the country far as Cape Charles, Va. completely devastating the crops in that territory over which it spread. Acres upon acres of promising potato crops were ruined, and not only was the potato crop devastated, but fruit orchards, and other produce crops were in the field of losses. At the present time it is impossible to state the extent of the losses on account of the magnitude and the wide spreading territory which they covered. The president of the Burlington County-Farmers' exchange lost seventy acres of potatoes, and this same condition prevails all over New Jersey.

Pears and beans, which are tender plants, met with the same fate as the potato crops and the yield of strawberries will be cut down one-half by the calamity. This loss will be greatly felt in New Jersey and will to some degree affect Maine. The New York markets are supplied in the early season from New Jersey, and Rhode Island fields, the output from New Jersey being enormous, and the crops ripening early. This calamity will prevent the shipment of large quantities of the potatoes to the markets, and will result in an increase in the price. The New Jersey farmers are about finishing up their potato marketing, when the Maine farmers begin, and the Maine farmers have always had the tendency to regulate their prices according to those of the New Jersey farmers. As this year there will be a high mark on potatoes. Should the crops be later than usual in the state, it is feared that the prices will go higher even than that anticipated at the present time.

As the New Jersey farm owners in all probability will be less able to supply the great demand in the New York markets, a demand may come to Maine early, as the New York jobbers always turn to Maine as soon as the southern markets are run out and this may cause the local farmers to turn to shipping their produce to the eastern markets, where a large market can be found, and should affairs take this turn in the early stage of the crops there may be a scarcity in this section. The farmers are looking forward and hoping for a wet weather and a good spring that the conditions may be more favorable.

Calgary Plumbers Want More Pay.

Calgary, May 16.—Plumbers will demand an increase of from 68 to 75 cents an hour June 1. Bricklayers will also probably ask for 75 cents per hour about the same time.

NATURE DETECTIVES Experts Who Watch Early Plants, Birds and Insects

One hundred and fifty nature experts are now searching the hedgerows from Land's End to John's Brook for the first red headed flower.

They form the little known corps of phenological observers attached to the Royal Meteorological Society, which has furnished them with lists of plants, birds and insects on which it requires a strict watch to be kept. The hotel is the first plant of the year, the arrival into bloom of which will be made the subject of 100 reports from as many different parts of the country.

No secret of country life is hidden from the zealous members of the society's "Nature Investigation Department." From the hael this month to the very next winter, from the first rich note of the song thrush to the disappearance of the swallow, a record will be taken and sent by the "nature detectives" to the headquarters in Victoria street.

The task of the observers is not so easy as may appear to the novice, for nature lays many traps. Flowers must be officially "observed" at the moment when "the stamens of the first blossom first become visible." If this is missed by a day the report loses in value, while the plants observed must not be too sheltered or too exposed to the weather.

"These observations, extending over a period of years, are valuable in determining the effect of weather on nature," pointed out William Marriott of the Royal Meteorological Society. "The reports are classified and studied in conjunction with the weather conditions at an earlier stage—period in each case when the variations in the weather may be taken as influencing plant, bird and insect life."—London Standard.

THE BANGOR TEAM AND THE FREDERICTONS

Manager Magoon, of the Bangor team, in the New Brunswick and Maine League, has already signed three players and is in communication with about a dozen others, many of whom he expects to land. Those already signed are Edward Tewhey, a shortstop, who has played some years with Lewiston; Herbert L. Hammond, an outfielder, also hailing from Lewiston, and B. G. Priestly, a first baseman, who has played for Somersworth, N. H. It is said that they are all fast players.

The Fredericton club have now eighteen men on their roster, fifteen of whom are now working out at Lowell, Mass. George Sullivan, who played first base for the Fredericton team in 1911; Hank Callahan, who will guard second base, and who was with Fredericton last year, and Outfielder Bert White are among those who are in training at Lowell. DROGGED SEVERAL FEET

Many people standing about the foot of King street, about 12.30 o'clock today were given a start when they saw a street car coming along Prince William street with a man dragging along behind, and they wondered that he had not been badly injured. H. Doherty of Church street had jumped upon the running board of the car, but apparently had not a secure hold for he lost his balance and clinging to the car was dragged along several feet in the roadway on his back and side. He was carrying a fishing basket and rod, so that he had difficulty in extricating himself. The car was brought to a stop at the foot of King and he was assisted to his feet, shaken up somewhat, but unharmed.

MR. HAZEN LEFT ALL TO CHILDREN

Late Banker's Will Probated Today — Amount of Estate is $46,500

In the probate court today the will of Arthur P. Hazen, bank manager, was proved. It was made after his wife's death. The testator gives all his estate of every nature to the Royal Trust Company and to Fred R. Taylor, barrister-at-law, upon trust for his two infant children in equal shares, a share to be paid over to each child as soon after such child attains the age of twenty-one years as the trustees in their discretion may deem advisable.

If one of the children die before such share is so paid, then the whole is to go to the survivor. If both such children die before receiving such share then provision is made for the division of the estate among the brothers and sisters of the testator.

For special reason letters testamentary are issued to The Royal Trust Company and to Fred R. Taylor, the executors named in the will, without waiting for the usual lapse of fourteen days. The real estate consists mostly of an undivided fifth in various properties owned by the late Robert F. Hazen, $5,500; personally $35,000; life insurance, $8,000; total $46,500. Edward C. Weyman is proctor.

HUNDRED AND THIRTY YEARS AGO LOYALISTS LANDED AT ST. JOHN

Tomorrow the Anniversary—The Centenary Celebration of 1883 Recalled

The one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the landing of the Loyalists who founded the city of St. John, will occur tomorrow, May 18, and in honor of the occasion the school children will be given a holiday on Monday. There will be observance in Keith's on Monday evening.

The day is an important one to the city of this community and in some other years has been celebrated with due ceremony. On May 18, 1883, the hundredth anniversary of the occasion there was a public celebration lasting from early morning until late at night. A copy of the official programme preserved by Clarence Ward gives an interesting summary of the day's proceedings.

The celebration was opened with a salute of 100 guns at six o'clock a.m. and at seven a.m. there was a parade of the Polymorphians with a pageant by the Loyalist Club representing the landing of the Loyalists at the Market slip. A special memorial service in Trinity church followed at eight o'clock and at ten o'clock there was a great public civic procession.

After the civic procession public sports were held on the barracks square at 2.30 and at three o'clock there was a public meeting of citizens the Mechanics Institute with an oration by Hon. William Wedderburn, J. C. C. This was followed by a special parade with music by the City Cornet Band, in King Square. The evening was marked by a brilliant procession by the fire departments, and a display of fireworks.

ST. JOHN POST OFFICE MEN TO CAMP AGAIN

System of Year Before Last to Be Adopted This Season

Arrangements are now being made whereby two men from the local post office staff will be added to the force at Camp Sussex during the annual training of the troops there this year, instead of taking them from Halifax from the Canadian Postal Corps as was done last year. The first year that a field post office was established at Camp Sussex it was two of the local officials who had its management in hand, and the scheme worked out very satisfactorily. Last year with the change in the military jurisdiction in these provinces and the establishment of No. 6 district with headquarters at Halifax the men chosen were from there.

Orders have been issued now which call for the selection of two men from the local office to supply for the two weeks of camp. It is very probable that Allan W. Langley and John K. McDonald will be sent to take charge. Both are well experienced in this branch of the service having done effective work at Sussex in former years. Mr. Langley in charge of the general office work and Mr. McDonald attending to the matter of distribution and collection.

Death of Mrs. E. J. McCerragle

Many expressions of regret were heard today when it became known that Mrs. Ellen McCerragle, wife of Edward J. McCerragle, of 181 Waterloo street, had passed away a little after midnight. Through the course of her brief but severe illness many had waited each new day for word of improvement, though it had been feared early that she could not recover. She leaves her sorrowing husband and two little ones—one but a few days old.

Mrs. McCerragle was the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary O'Keefe and the late P. J. O'Keefe, of Carleton, and there also survive her mother; her brother, Rev. D. S. O'Keefe, of the Cathedral, and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Fitzgerald of Arlington, Mass., and Miss Frances, professional nurse, both now in the city. To all there will go out the deep sympathy of a great number of friends in their hour of sorrow.

The funeral will be held at 8.45 o'clock on Monday morning at the Cathedral.

KANE'S CORNER EXTENSION

Today finishes the third week in which the St. John Railway Company have been at work on the Kane's corner extension. With the exception of the last two days they have experienced good weather and have made excellent progress. The excavation for the ties now extends from Kane's corner to Cooper's corner and the rails have been laid and ballasted for about three-quarters of that distance.

GETTING READY FOR SEASON OF ENJOYMENT ON THE RIVER

The Power Boats—The Building Bye-Law—Many at Funeral of Alfred Quigg—The New Observatory

Considerable work has been going on quietly during the last winter in boat-building about North End, and the result is that several new launches have already taken the water, and are being given the dip soon. Most of the new craft are of the latest design for motor launches and will be valuable acquisitions to the large fleet of gasoline boats about the harbor at Indiantown and Millidgeville. The old boats, by which is meant launches which have made their maiden appearance either last year or a few years ago, have for the most part been greatly improved during the winter and now, fresh from the painter's brush, are once more riding gaily at their buoys or moorings, ready to make their first start up river, on or before next Saturday, when the initial outing of the St. John Power Boat Club will be held.

This afternoon the new flagship for the club, the "Elizabeth," is expected to reach port. Members of the club are looking forward to her arrival with interest. She was in port at Eastport yesterday and was to have left there this morning for St. John, which would bring her here some time this afternoon. Those who have seen this snappy new flagship, purchased by Commodore S. P. Gerow in Boston, say that it will be one of the finest pleasure craft of her size ever anchored in St. John waters, and that she will be greatly admired by all yachtsmen. She was built for Julia Arthur, a famous actress, about seven years ago, when she was known as the "Julia," but was sold to Commodore Roger Upton, of the Boston Yacht Club, and has since been called the "Elizabeth."

The yacht is luxuriously furnished, and is also very speedy. Built on most graceful lines, she has a beam of 14 feet, fourteen feet beam, and draws about five feet of water. She is well equipped both for the accommodation and comfort of guests and crew, and has engines capable of developing 150 horse power. Besides Commodore Gerow, there are on board the yacht now approaching what will be her home port in future, for she will naturally make her quarters with the fleet in Marble Cove. Captain Frank Aklev, who piloted her along the coast, F. F. Burpee, Wm. Casey, Harry Ervin, L. Gallagher and Wm. Blount.

While it is true that in some sections of the city opposition to the by-law providing for buildings not higher than two stories between the streets, has become much less keen than former-warded this morning to Ottawa by Mr. Wilson, the architect in charge of the plans, to be considered by the department there.

RIOT IN HALIFAX STREET CAR STRIKE

A riot occurred yesterday afternoon in Halifax when the striking street car employees clashed with the striker breakers. None of the regular employees reported for work in the morning and about a third of the cars were sent out in charge of strike breakers imported from Montreal. About five o'clock a car was held up by a collision with a wagon and strikers who had gathered at the spot jumped on the car and threw the motorman off. Three more cars joined the blockade and a battle between the opposing forces ensued. The cars were practically wrecked before the police arrived and arrested five men. Three of the cars were run to the barn, but the others were left in the street under a police guard. The glass in the car barn was smashed and the head office was also wrecked. The strike breakers refused to continue work until better police protection was provided.

A NICE JOB

Net Goodwin tells an amusing story of how, while travelling in a western American town, he was asked to take a Sunday school class in the absence of the teacher. Nat agreed, but great was his consternation when he saw that he was to teach a body of beautiful maidens instead of a bunch of small kids, as he had expected. Still, he was game. "Now, then, young ladies," said Nat, becoming more composed as he took a seat and picked up his lesson book. "I want to follow the procedure of your teacher to the letter. What does she do first?" "Why, the first thing she does," demurely replied one of the pretty ones, "is to kiss each member of the class."

MAY GET MILLION BECAUSE OF THEFT OF HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Washington, May 16.—Theron Ridd, when he absconded with $6,000, less $188, awarded to a British shipowner for the seizure of his vessel on the Great Lakes two weeks before the outbreak of the War of 1812, not only impoverished the United States District Court of New York, of which he was clerk, but also started a controversy that has existed since. The case now comes up before the international tribunal for the settlement of pecuniary claims, which is in session here. Henry James Bethune, of Canada, is the claimant. He is the heir of the shipowner and he has pressed his claim under many administrations, and before many congresses. Its legality never was seriously questioned, but for some reason or other the legislation necessary to meet it always has failed. The $5,812, minus $188, plus 6 per cent. compound interest, since 1812, more than a century, reaches a handsome amount. "Just how much is it?" a British member of the tribunal was asked. "My word!" he ejaculated, tearing up a bit of scrap paper on which he had jotted a small army of figures; "don't ask me. But it makes a bally good bit!"

A verdict and a check, it is expected, will be won by Mr. Bethune. The accumulation of $1 a day per cent. compound interest for 100 years is $399,500, so the verdict may be in excess of $1,500,000.

DUEL WITH STILLETOS FOR LOVE OF A GIRL

Boston, May 16.—For love of a pretty dark-eyed Italian girl, two men fought a duel almost to the death with keen-edged stiletos in a dark alley in the rear of 288 Hanover street, North End; one escaped, while his antagonist was left unconscious, sorely wounded and bleeding.

Patrolman McDonald of the Hanover street Station found the loser in the fight just before daylight and, calling the ambulance, took him to the Hanover street Station, where Dr. William Dunn dressed his wounds and later accompanied him to the Relief Hospital.

The wounded man is Joseph Cottelano, aged 26. He is believed to live in DeLham. His wounds are severe. One is a deep gash extending from the left ear down the face along the throat, to the point of the chin. Both of his hands and his thumbs are so badly lacerated and there are other cuts upon his face and body where his deft antagonist managed to slip inside his guard.

Cottelano refuses to tell the police anything of the affair or who his antagonist was.

Lieut. Crowley, who was in command of the station at the time managed to get at the facts by questioning an Italian who appeared to be familiar with the man and his history. He said that Cottelano came originally from a fine old Italian family. In his youth he grew up with a beautiful Italian girl, daughter of one of the prosperous men of the province. But he had a rival in another young man who was the playmate of himself and the pretty girl. Both had sued for the love and the hand of the pretty maid and she loved them both and was unable to decide between them.

Finally, when her family came to Boston, two years ago she came with them, still undecided which of the two playmates of her childhood should be her fiance. First one of the youths came to America and after diligent search found the girl at the North End and began anew his suit for her hand in marriage. Then came the second playmate, now a handsome and industrious young man, and he also soon found her and began his efforts to win her for his wife. The young man became enemies and it is said they often sought a means of settling the question of who was to win. The police also will take a hand in the affair. They diligently seek the other man.

ARE INTERESTED IN CANADA'S CHINA CLAY

London, May 16.—The discovery of deposits of china clay in Canada is a topic of interest in the pottery districts. Several of the largest firms there have obtained small consignments and are submitting the clay to extensive and severe tests. So far the results are eminently satisfactory.

During the recent tour of Their Majesties through the Five Towns, which comprise the pottery district, some samples made from this Canadian clay were shown to the king and queen who evinced much interest and asked to be informed of the ultimate results of the experiments which are now being conducted.

The representatives of two of the larger pottery firms in the midlands will go to Canada for the purpose of making a complete report. It would seem that the results justify expectations, there is a probability of large pottery works being opened in Canada, thus providing a further impetus to Canada's progress.

Had Weak AND Dizzy Spells.

Those feelings of weakness, those dizzy spells and "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded. They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves. One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious. Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes hopeless. They have no equal for reviving and strengthening the heart, and invigorating the nerves. Mrs. A. E. Martell, Rockdale, N.S., writes:—"I was troubled for a long time with my heart, had weak and dizzy spells, could not sleep, and would have to sit up the greater part of the night. Few Germs on Bank Bills

Washington, May 16.—Those who have hesitated to amass wealth because of the warning to "beware the billions of bacteria that lurk on every bill" need hesitate no longer, according to Dr. W. C. Rucker, assistant surgeon-general of the public health service. He says that tests and examination of currency, both washed and unwashed bills, showed them to be singularly free from germs. He attributed this to the ink used in printing the bills, which, he said, he has improved to be almost a perfect germicide.

The ingredients used in the government's ink are not made public, the recipe for the manufacture of the ink for the bureau of engraving and printing being jealously guarded.

EDWARD BECK IS NOW A TRAVELER

Jack Henderson is in His Company—Donald Meek Has a Close Call—Theatres for Montreal—Tabloid Drama Next

Edward Beck, the big fellow with the rich basso voice, who sang here with the New York and Robinson Opera Companies, is now joint manager of the Empire Theatre in Pittsfield, Mass., the other partner being W. D. Lombard, of New York. They opened this week with the presentation of comic opera and musical comedy, with an old friend of St. John audiences, Jack Henderson as chief fun-maker. Hazel Kindermann is prima donna.

Donald Meek, a former St. John favorite, now playing at the Castle Square Theatre, Boston, narrowly escaped death several days ago, when a heavy beer barrel dropped from a team and struck his head, just as he was stepping out of the stage door of the theatre after the morning rehearsal.

Julian Hittage has brought his three years' engagement in "The Fascinating Widow" to a close. He has appeared in the role 1076 times and visited practically every city of importance on the continent. He has started to work out the details of the new play, "Miss Swift of New York," in which he hopes to appear next season.

Law Docket, famous in the world of minstrelsy as F. F. Barnum in circusdom, will be an Opera House attraction early in June. It will be the first professional minstrel show in St. John for several years, and is under the direction of Primrose & Docholator. It is billed for June 9, 10 and 11.

Much interest is being taken in the grand opera attraction at the Opera House next week. In musical circles about the city particularly, the event is being anticipated with much pleasure. Mitt & Jeff, the two popular comedians, appearing nightly in the "Times-Star" will undoubtedly be given a warm welcome next week at the Opera House. The company has come across the continent, playing to a successful tour.

Sidney Tolson, who played here for two weeks last Christmas season, who headed the Academy players in Halifax all last winter, and Violet Henning, who has been playing with the Keith Stock Company in Portland this summer. Donnie Hay and Albert Gehbart are also to be members of the company.

Frank Powell, a favorite player in St. John some years ago has won success in the states as a motion picture director and called this week for Europe. Another prominent actress has been induced to exchange the "legitimate" boards for the motion picture field. Miss Maud Fealy has accepted a tempting offer from one of the well-known motion picture companies to appear in several events. The name of the company which will have the benefit of this charming young actress' art is as yet a secret, but it is understood that within two weeks Miss Fealy will be directing some of the company's screen-play productions.

Among the new members of the Reliance Stock company is Ethel Phillips, the well-known Australian actress, who will make her first American appearance in Reliance films. Thomas B. Mills and Alan Hale have also been added to the Reliance ranks, as has the beautiful child actress, Russa Higgins.

Irving Cummings has been elected captain of the Reliance baseball team, which is practicing daily and will meet the challenges from Lubin, Edison and a number of other teams here being recruited.

Mr. Bromberg, one of the Gaumont directors in England, has been in Canada for many months looking into business conditions and the negotiations now brought to a successful issue have been in progress for a long time.

For the present there will be little or no change in the Gaumont arrangements and Gaumont will co-operate from the other side with the Mutual Corporation in Canada. Naturally, the augmentation of the Gaumont connection will materially strengthen the hold of the Mutual upon the American film business.

Questioned upon the subject of the paucity of British films shown in Canada Mr. McBeath could give no information as to any change being contemplated in the direction of a stronger British element.

PROBLEM OF SCHOOL LUNCHEONS

Hygiene Congress in Buffalo to Take it up—What it Means and the Results Hoped For

New York, May 16—Not the least interesting part of the general program of the Fourth International Congress on School Hygiene, which is to be held in Buffalo in the last week in August, will be a special discussion devoted to the problem: "What do little Johnnie and little Susie eat for their school lunch?"

One of the arguments now being urged in behalf of the school lunch is that by having something to eat in the school itself, Johnnie and Susie are kept in closer touch with their class room interests. They are less likely, in other words, to play hooky in the afternoon, according to their school teacher. A light school lunch gives them greater energy for their work in geography, arithmetic, spelling, reading and history.

Other Countries in Advance Up to date while attending the elementary schools, Johnnie and Susie are enabled to get a school lunch in only forty-one cities in the United States, while in England alone there are 200 cities in which they might satisfy their little appetites with a properly prepared luncheon inside the school building.

Johnnie and Susie might have had a school lunch in Germany as far back as the year 1790. In France school feeding was taken up for them in 1846, while Great Britain followed in the year 1868. United States in the year 1893. Some idea of the amount of money spent on the school lunch may be shown by the statement that in each school year in Philadelphia Johnnie and Susie and their 170,000 fellow pupils pay out something like $200,000 for food.

Those teachers and educators who have been looking into the subject of feeding Johnnie and Susie and their fellow pupils have recently been getting together some information about the results of this work. They say: 1. Non-rising food increases the mental efficiency of the children.

2. Lunches prepared and served under school supervision make for the formation of good habits of diet. 3. Supervised meals eaten in the group cultivate between teachers and children, and among the children themselves, a spirit of friendliness, of courtesy, and of democracy.

WHERE "CONSTITUTIONAL FATHERS" REALLY "BIG BUSINESS" GRAFTERS?

Columbia College Professor "Discovers" The Document Was "Shoe-Horned Through" and "Cleaned Up" $40,000,000 For Its Farms! "No Wonder Wall-St. Reverses This Property Reversing Instrument," He Says

The celebrated "fathers" who met in secret conclave at Philadelphia in 1787 and, without authority, framed the constitution of the United States, actually represented a powerful group of business men, which by virtue of one clause alone cleaned up $40,000,000 in profits through its adoption!

Hamilton argued that one great advantage of encouraging manufacturing would be to better utilize the labor of "women, girls and children of a tender age." The people, as "Father" Gerry put it, was "a great beast," to be "restrained." They feared democracy, and for good reason.

For example, they provided for the payment in full of the state and national debts as soon as Washington was elected and Hamilton's "funding" scheme was established, 40 of the men who drew that provision turned up at the United States treasury with quantities of soldiers' scrip and public securities which were promptly exchanged by Hamilton for government bonds. This scrip and paper had been bought by the fathers and their friends.

By the author in his conclusion: "The constitution was essentially an economic document based upon the conception that the fundamental rights of private property are anterior to government and morally beyond the reach of popular majorities."

President Wilson has selected George Wilkins Guthrie to be ambassador to Japan.

Farms are changing hands every day at prices which were considered high a few years ago and the best of it is that, on the whole, the farmers hereabouts are making and saving money. guarantee peace. Every country sees security in the growth of its own military power, and a menace in the corresponding growth of its neighbor's military power. But it is evident that these increases counterbalance one another. As it has been in the past so it will be today and in the future. And what will be the result of these huge efforts? As far as the sole object which can be proposed is concerned—that is to say, a modification of the relation between the military forces—nothing, absolutely nothing is gained.

But two other results will certainly be attained. The first, contrary to the hopes unanimously and solemnly expressed by the powers at The Hague on July 20, 1864, will be a diminution of the moral and material welfare of humanity. The burden of taxation on the nations will become yet heavier; youth in its full productive vigor will be yet more monopolized by military service; and thus the material means and live forces which are so necessary for the work of pacific civilization and the economic development of the masses will be squandered away. Secondly, discord, distrust, and animosity between the peoples themselves, as also between the peoples and their governments, will be dangerously aggravated.

The arrangements for the celebration of the raising of the siege of Orleans by Joan of Arc have aroused friction between the Bishop of Orleans, Mgr. Touchet, and the radical mayor of Orleans, M. Rabier, as the result of which the religious ceremonies and processions which have been held annually for 448 years with only two breaks—the first during the Revolution, and the second during the stress of political feeling in 1807—will not be held this year. The mayor insisted that the clergy and the religious portion of the procession should follow that of the Prefect, the mayor and the local authorities at a distance of about 200 yards. Mgr. Touchet has refused to agree to this arrangement, which he considers humiliating to the church and to the clergy, and will not take part in the celebration.

Excavations have been in progress since 1911 in a field at Capet, near Montreal du Cers, have resulted in the discovery of a Roman villa of the third or fourth century. A splendid polychrome mosaic, about thirty yards in length and four yards in width, has been brought to light. It is decorated with a design of cubes, vases, and rose ornaments. Fragments of marble statues and of pottery and glassware have also been found. There are indications that the villa was built by a rich patrician named Severus, who settled on the plateau with his family and a large number of slaves, and that it was destroyed by fire at the beginning of the fifth century.

Testing New Bullets

M. Etienne has ordered more tests to be made with the new Derguesse bullet, which is said to be greatly superior to the "D" bullet now used for the Lebel rifle. It is claimed for the new bullet that it does not penetrate the inside of the barrel like the "D," and that its penetrating power is much greater. The new tests will appear in the next issue of the question whether a new service rifle is to be introduced or the Lebel retained with the new Derguesse bullet.

Fighting Diphtheria

The Congress of Medicine at Wiesbaden has closed with an important statement by Professor Behring on diphtheria prophylaxis. Professor Behring's serum has for some time past been injected into healthy persons to render them immune against diphtheria, but experience has proved that the method is not very satisfactory, because, although immunity is undoubtedly secured, the prophylactic effect of the serum is not of long duration. Professor Behring appeared before the congress and announced that he had discovered a new prophylactic substance, consisting of a mixture of diphtheria poison and antidote. Doctor Hahn, of Magdeburg, reported that he had treated prophylactically with this substance several persons who ran risk of contracting diphtheria.

In the first place, he said, the substance proved to be perfectly innocuous, and in the second place proof that real protection was afforded was given by the fact that a sufficiently large quantity of prophylactic material was found in the blood of the inoculated persons, none of whom contracted the disease.

Doctor Matties, of Marburg, reported that he had made similar observations, and added that from one particular case he had transferred the serum to another child, this being the first time that passive immunity had been produced with human diphtheria serum. Experience proved that immunity could be secured for a much longer time with this substance than with animal serum.

Doctor Weintraud, of Wiesbaden, said that he had injected the serum into the vertebral canal of a patient who was in an extremely critical condition, and thereby saved his life.

Doctor Rumpel reported that, during a recent serious epidemic in Hamburg, the mortality was very high in spite of the serum.

Doctor Lennhoff, on the other hand, produced statistics which showed that since the introduction of the serum into Berlin the sickness and mortality figures had fluctuated, but that the proportion of deaths to cases of illness had fallen to one half. This meant, he added, that one half of the persons who formerly would have died were now saved, though perhaps in severe epidemics not so many.

Professor Behring described the progress of his latest work and said that he was now ready to place his material at the disposal of clinics, on condition, however, that the most careful and accurate observations were made and reported. It was said that the results of further treatment must show whether it would soon be possible to safeguard many healthy persons from danger of infection in diphtheria epidemics.

Poor Pay Temples

A remarkable feature in the case of a bookkeeper named Kohler, who was sentenced recently by the Imperial court at Leipzig to seven years' penal servitude for espionage, was revealed by the terms of the judgment. It appeared that the prisoner, while employed as a clerk by the military authorities, and entrusted with plans and documents, of which he sold copies to the Russian and French intelligence departments for considerable sums, was in receipt of no more than half a crown a day. His poverty seems to have been the cause both of his crime and its discovery the fact that he was in possession of money soon roused suspicion.

GERMAN VIEW OF THE U. S. TARIFF

(Continued from page 12) that are stored up in this record of a nation's life. There are, for instance, the records of abolished jurisdictions, as they are called—ancient courts which no longer exist. Among these are the courts of the Marshals Court, which recall Dickens' "Little Dorrit," and the infamous Court of the Star Chamber, made the vehicle of such tremendous power in the reign of Charles I. "From then we learn, too, that the Chancellor was formerly the king's principal secretary and had charge of the direction of foreign affairs. Sometimes he was also the king's confessor, hence the term, 'Keeper of the King's Conscience.' Two other officials of ancient days, now no longer in existence, were called, 'Clerk of the Hanse' and 'Clerk of the Petty Bag.' The duty of the former was to collect several ancient revenues of the crown, and was so called because he kept all his papers in hanse (a Latin term indicating a large hamper). The Clerk of the Petty Bag got his name from the little sack or bag in which he kept his papers, which were the writs of summons to parliament, and the appointments of bishops and archbishops. "A most interesting series of papers is that showing how the king spent his money. All the expense account of the treasury, of the royal household and there, even to the amounts spent by the king and queen on their clothes. There is the amount paid to the royal palatine every year, and there are the king's payments to players, inventors and discoverers by means of the two last items, the exact dates of many discoveries have been noted. It would interest Shakespearean students to know that there was a William Shakespeare who lived in Warwickshire at the same time as the poet and had the same number of brothers and sisters. In fact, William Shakespeare seems to have been quite a common name there at that time, for we have discovered that there were eighteen of them contemporary with him. "Of course the Domesday Book is here among the records, and another extremely interesting document is the muster roll of the army of the battle of Agincourt. Coming down to later times, there is Mary Queen of Scots' 'diet account,' a quaint way of designating her household accounts; and also her funeral expenses. "For many centuries there was an official king's cat at the Rolls Chapel, and it was transferred to the Record Office. His duties were to keep down the rats and mice, and bring up his children. A fine of sufficient what to cover its body was imposed upon any one who killed it. The last official cat has just died. "Mrs. Stapes, who has been delving in these historical treasures in search of knowledge of the Shakespearean period, on which she is a recognized authority, is a little white-haired old woman with a strong Scotch accent, her bonnet and mantle hardly suggesting the student. Yet she has many books to her credit and has taken up the cat's paw on the great poet's part against those who are fond of asserting that Bacon is Shakespeare.

BIGGEST DRY DOCK IN WORLD

Great Work Being Done in The Mersey

TO BE READY IN JULY

Crews Have Been at it Since September, 1910—Ready Graving and Wet Dock in One—Still More Wonders to Liverpool

(Manchester Chronicle)

After many months' work, an army of men has scooped two-thirds of a million tons of earth out of the shore at the north end of the Mersey.

Into the space thus provided more than fifty million gallons of water is to flow in July.

The cost is about half a million pounds. This is a brief summary of the remarkable work which, on the completion, is to be visited by King George.

That big cavity is the Gladstone dock, and it is worth while considering what the huge enterprise represents. The ship's greatest function will be that of a ship's hospital. Into it the greatest liners will be able to come in order to be doctored.

Ships, after all, are just as dependent on such institutions as the human beings who construct them. Accidents may happen at any moment, and at such a time the most possible attention must be given.

Existing hospitals for certain ships are inadequate, and the Gladstone dock will meet a quite unusual condition of affairs. It will be the biggest graving dock in the world.

It was in September, 1910, that the work was begun. The site at that time was simply the foreshore at Seaford, and for three months a bank was slowly erected for the purpose of keeping out the water.

Then, in January, 1911, the work of excavation and dock building was begun. It has proceeded continuously, and now the great task is on the point of completion.

Two Docks in One

Instead of an uninteresting shore, one finds a commodious dock, more than a thousand feet in length, lined with half a million tons of concrete that has a coping of granite.

Several hundreds of men were busily engaged when I visited the dock this week. The greatest proportion, of course, were navvies, and in the distance those big old men became specks. One thought of them as ants as they moved about, ceaselessly working.

Day after day the earth has been turned up by those workers and taken out of the way by cranes or railway trucks.

The hand labor was supplemented by that performed by the "steam navy," a great machine which makes light of obstacles.

Gradually the hole in the ground became bigger, and at last the gigantic space was ready for the lining. Thousands and thousands of tons of concrete were utilized for the purpose until thick walls had been erected.

A similar thickness of concrete was being placed on the bottom of the dock at the time of my visit, and the work was so well advanced that it was easily possible to see how huge a thing is the Gladstone dock.

The striking feature lies in the fact that the new receptacle may be used not only as a graving dock, but as a wet dock, and that achievement is an interesting one.

The ordinary graving dock is constructed in quite a different way from the wet dock. The sides slope and are provided with steps to facilitate the shorting of the vessel. The Gladstone dock is planned differently; it is so constructed that the giant vessel can either discharge cargo, as in the ordinary wet dock, or be repaired when the water has been run off.

Exceptional circumstances necessitated the experiment, the plans for which, prepared by A. G. Lytton, have been carried out by W. H. Jones. "Docks gates were found to be impracticable. Two sets would have had to be fixed, and to obviate this it was decided to provide a sliding case. The casing, when not in use, is kept in a chamber that runs off the dock, and is operated with ease.

Five 1,000 H. P. Engines

In another chamber the pumping machinery is installed. A commodious place, very like a small dock, it will be fitted with five Diesel engines, each of a thousand horse-power. The employment of oil engines is an innovation, for all the other pumping machinery on the dock estate is dependent on steam.

The whole scheme emphasizes the wonderful enterprise that is being shown by the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board, and at the same time indicates the amazing developments which have taken place in shipbuilding within recent years.

The greatest ship ever built, the Aquitania, will be launched for the Cunard Company tomorrow, but there is no other graving dock in the world, apart from this, which can accommodate her. Liverpool is entitled to every credit, for constructing what no other port has attempted; by her action she is helping this country to maintain its position in shipbuilding.

There must, of course, be some limit to the size of ships, but it is difficult to forecast what that limit is going to be reached. The men who ought to know, the designers and constructors, tell you quite frankly their knowledge on this particular subject is most painfully incomplete. They can only point to tendencies and talk tentatively of possibilities.

STRONGLY ADVISES "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because They Cured Him, and They Will Cure You

MR. ALEX. MCCARTER, Walkerton, Ont., May 28th, 1911.—"I have been in Walkerton in business for a good many years and many of my townsmen know that my health for long periods was precarious. My trouble was extreme Nervousness, brought on by indigestion and Dyspepsia, from which I suffered in the most severe form. It was so bad that I could not sleep before about four in the morning. I noticed one of your published testimonials of how someone had used "Fruit-a-tives" for similar trouble and asked Mr. Hunter, my druggist, his opinion on the matter and he advised their use. I immediately procured several boxes and I am pleased to say that I now enjoy splendid health and could not possibly feel better. I can eat with every degree of satisfaction and sleep without an effort. I strongly advise anyone suffering from like complaints, to commence using "Fruit-a-tives." ALEX. MCCARTER, 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50—trial size, 25c. At Dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The 50,000 Ton Ship

Following the same line, the Mauritania and Lusitania appeared as "absolutes" in the "last word" in floating architecture. But they have already been left behind, and the newest ships are more than half as large again.

The construction of the Gladstone dock is directly attributable to the arrival of the "fifty thousand tonner." By now much further can shipbuilders go?

Lord Pirrie is credited with having said once that a ship of a hundred thousand tons was possible, but he did not touch on whether it would be financially practicable. And that is really the vital point. These vessels are not built as an interesting hobby, and they are too costly to be constructed for mere purposes of advertising.

A shipowner does not build a vessel costing from one and a half to two million pounds without being tolerably certain that there is to be a good return.

To increase the tonnage by ten or twenty thousand tons has proved a satisfactory investment, and that is why the fifty thousand tonner is here, but the increase must always depend upon dock and harbor accommodation.

Dues Comparatively Slight

Possibly that accommodation will always be provided. Still greater graving docks than the one which is now being completed are certainly possible, but will the authorities provide them? One has to remember that such docks are built "one-off" for what one may call the "super-liners." These vessels are built, first and foremost, for the service of the Orient.

Aunt Sally's Advice To Beauty Seekers

Lydia says: "I've tried most everything for my freckles, but can't get them. What do you suggest?" See answer to "Stella." The treatment suggested I've never known to fail in any case of freckles or other cutaneous blemishes.

F. J. K. asks: "Is there anything better than massage to remove wrinkles?" Too much massage may aggravate a wrinkled condition, leading to softening and loosen the tissue. I advise bathing the face in an astringent lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half pint witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.

Stella writes: "My complexion is horribly muddy. What shall I do for it?" Get an ounce of mercuric iodine at your druggist's, apply this mildly to the face with cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will cause the offensive cuticle gradually to peel away, by a process of gentle absorption, for the clear, velvety, healthy-hued skin underneath.—Woman's Realm.

APOL & STEEL For Ladies PILLS

Forty years in use, twenty years the standard, prescribed and recommended by physicians. For women's ailments, Dr. Martel's Female Pills at your druggist.

STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACH

Can Only Be Had Through Rich Red Blood.

When the blood is poor and thin and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with oxygenated blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentations of the food goes on, with the formation of gas and certain acids. The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; sometimes it affects the heart. When the gas is belched out through the mouth the patient is temporarily relieved, the sour risings in the throat, and the burning sensations in the throat and stomach are caused by the acid fermentations.

There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or to "sweeten the stomach" as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure, rich blood which will tone up the stomach and enable it to do the work nature intended is the only road to a cure. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood—that is why they cure even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. The following is a bit of proof. Miss Minnie Green, of Hills Bridge, Ont., says: "About a year ago I was greatly troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate caused me pain and distress. I would feel as though I was starved, but when meal time came the sight of food caused a feeling of loathing. There were days when I could not even hold milk on my stomach, and my head would ache so that I could hardly keep from screaming. Only those who have suffered from stomach trouble, know the torture I suffered. I tried almost every remedy recommended, but found not the least benefit until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These I used for a couple of months and they worked a perfect cure and I am again enjoying good health and able to eat freely all kinds of food."

Sevens Miles of Dock

The new dock, however, represents only a small portion of the work which Liverpool is doing in extending its seven miles unbroken frontage of docks. To the southwest of the Gladstone dock a start has been made on a scheme which is to cost three and a quarter million pounds. This embraces a vestibule or half-dock, with a 150-foot wide entrance 200 feet long and 130 feet wide, and access will also be provided to the Hornby dock, which is alongside.

Out of the half-dock, two branch docks will run, and amongst the double story sheds to be provided will be one about 1,665 feet in length.

To the northward of Gladstone dock still further accommodation is promised for the future, so that the wonders of Liverpool's dockland are not likely to cease for many years to come.

THE WRONG OWNER

A benevolent old gentleman was walking through the outskirts of a town when a woman shot out into the road, beating miserably a little child. "My good woman," exclaimed the kindly one, as he seized the woman's arm to stop her, "you must do that. What harm has he done?" "What I mean to do that? What harm has he done?" she shrieked. "If you would like to know, he has opened the hen-roost, and all the fowls have fled away." "Well, if that's all its nothing so very dreadful. Children, you know, always come home to roost in their own's run." "Yes, that is it," said the woman, gloomily.

Rev. O. L. Bricker, of the First Christian Church of Atlanta, Ga., has had an excellent result in the faculty of finding chiefly the little, neglected, even the partly decayed specimens of the fifty thousand tonner. By now much further can shipbuilders go?

Lord Pirrie is credited with having said once that a ship of a hundred thousand tons was possible, but he did not touch on whether it would be financially practicable. And that is really the vital point. These vessels are not built as an interesting hobby, and they are too costly to be constructed for mere purposes of advertising.

Amendments to Criminal Code Under Way

MATTERS IN THE SENATE

Appointment of Tory Workers as Special Constables to Be Checked—Government Aid in Typhoid Fight is Urged

Ottawa, May 16.—Provisions for the more severe punishment of persons engaged in the "white slave" traffic; for persons leasing premises for prostitution purposes; for persons selling instruments or drugs for the prevention of conception; for wife and child deserters, and also to restrict the possession of dangerous weapons, are embodied in a bill introduced in the commons this morning by the minister of justice to amend the criminal code.

Punishment for any person found guilty of engaging in vice is stipulated on the lines of the English act, which is more severe than has heretofore maintained in Canada, and it will be rendered less difficult to make arrests and secure convictions upon "reasonable suspicion." The wording of the code is made more specific for the purpose of minimizing the chance of persons escaping conviction on technicalities.

The bill was given its first reading. Ottawa, May 16.—An intimation was given in the senate today by Sir George Ross, that the government's bill to aid the provinces in highway improvement would be amended as last year by a clause providing for distribution of the money among the provinces according to population.

The naval bill did not reach the senate during today's sitting, but will probably be received at the next sitting on Tuesday next.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, administrator, appeared in the senate and gave assent to a number of measures including the bill conforming the West India trade agreement.

Tory Healers as Special Constables.

On motion for third reading of the bill amending the dominion police act, Senator Watson offered an amendment providing a penalty for impersonating a dominion police officer as he said had been done by one Marshal Jackson in an election.

Senator Davis said that in Manitoba, Liberal workers had been arrested without cause. Constituencies had been flooded with special constables to intimidate electors.

Things had come to such a point that white men would not stand there would be more protection than if authority were left with a single minister. In a few hours he could flood the province with special constables to intimidate electors.

On the assurance of Hon. Mr. Longhead that the point would be covered by the criminal code, Senator Watson did not press his amendment, and the bill was given its third reading.

Ottawa, May 16.—The dominion government spends about $10,000,000 a year on military matters, and not a cent to fight typhoid fever, which is killing thousands of our people every year. It seems to me that the government would do well to spend as much to protect the health of the public as it does on military matters," said George Bradbury, M. P., chairman of the special committee appointed to deal with the pollution of rivers and streams in Canada, during the sitting of that body today.

"We need continually to be on the lookout that we keep ourselves up to par, so to speak, both mentally and physically. Our modern American life especially demands this. The practice of taking a quiet hour or even a half hour a day, alone by one's self, for quiet, for relaxation, for rest, will be found to be of inestimable benefit to the one who is wise enough specifically to adopt this practice."

STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACH

Can Only Be Had Through Rich Red Blood.

When the blood is poor and thin and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with oxygenated blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentations of the food goes on, with the formation of gas and certain acids. The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; sometimes it affects the heart. When the gas is belched out through the mouth the patient is temporarily relieved, the sour risings in the throat, and the burning sensations in the throat and stomach are caused by the acid fermentations.

There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or to "sweeten the stomach" as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure, rich blood which will tone up the stomach and enable it to do the work nature intended is the only road to a cure. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood—that is why they cure even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. The following is a bit of proof. Miss Minnie Green, of Hills Bridge, Ont., says: "About a year ago I was greatly troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate caused me pain and distress. I would feel as though I was starved, but when meal time came the sight of food caused a feeling of loathing. There were days when I could not even hold milk on my stomach, and my head would ache so that I could hardly keep from screaming. Only those who have suffered from stomach trouble, know the torture I suffered. I tried almost every remedy recommended, but found not the least benefit until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These I used for a couple of months and they worked a perfect cure and I am again enjoying good health and able to eat freely all kinds of food."

Sevens Miles of Dock

The new dock, however, represents only a small portion of the work which Liverpool is doing in extending its seven miles unbroken frontage of docks. To the southwest of the Gladstone dock a start has been made on a scheme which is to cost three and a quarter million pounds. This embraces a vestibule or half-dock, with a 150-foot wide entrance 200 feet long and 130 feet wide, and access will also be provided to the Hornby dock, which is alongside.

Out of the half-dock, two branch docks will run, and amongst the double story sheds to be provided will be one about 1,665 feet in length.

To the northward of Gladstone dock still further accommodation is promised for the future, so that the wonders of Liverpool's dockland are not likely to cease for many years to come.

THE WRONG OWNER

A benevolent old gentleman was walking through the outskirts of a town when a woman shot out into the road, beating miserably a little child. "My good woman," exclaimed the kindly one, as he seized the woman's arm to stop her, "you must do that. What harm has he done?" "What I mean to do that? What harm has he done?" she shrieked. "If you would like to know, he has opened the hen-roost, and all the fowls have fled away." "Well, if that's all its nothing so very dreadful. Children, you know, always come home to roost in their own's run." "Yes, that is it," said the woman, gloomily.

Rev. O. L. Bricker, of the First Christian Church of Atlanta, Ga., has had an excellent result in the faculty of finding chiefly the little, neglected, even the partly decayed specimens of the fifty thousand tonner. By now much further can shipbuilders go?

Lord Pirrie is credited with having said once that a ship of a hundred thousand tons was possible, but he did not touch on whether it would be financially practicable. And that is really the vital point. These vessels are not built as an interesting hobby, and they are too costly to be constructed for mere purposes of advertising.

A shipowner does not build a vessel costing from one and a half to two million pounds without being tolerably certain that there is to be a good return.

To increase the tonnage by ten or twenty thousand tons has proved a satisfactory investment, and that is why the fifty thousand tonner is here, but the increase must always depend upon dock and harbor accommodation.

Dues Comparatively Slight

Possibly that accommodation will always be provided. Still greater graving docks than the one which is now being completed are certainly possible, but will the authorities provide them? One has to remember that such docks are built "one-off" for what one may call the "super-liners." These vessels are built, first and foremost, for the service of the Orient.

Aunt Sally's Advice To Beauty Seekers

Lydia says: "I've tried most everything for my freckles, but can't get them. What do you suggest?" See answer to "Stella." The treatment suggested I've never known to fail in any case of freckles or other cutaneous blemishes.

F. J. K. asks: "Is there anything better than massage to remove wrinkles?" Too much massage may aggravate a wrinkled condition, leading to softening and loosen the tissue. I advise bathing the face in an astringent lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half pint witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.

Stella writes: "My complexion is horribly muddy. What shall I do for it?" Get an ounce of mercuric iodine at your druggist's, apply this mildly to the face with cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will cause the offensive cuticle gradually to peel away, by a process of gentle absorption, for the clear, velvety, healthy-hued skin underneath.—Woman's Realm.

Senator Davis said that in Manitoba, Liberal workers had been arrested without cause. Constituencies had been flooded with special constables to intimidate electors.

Things had come to such a point that white men would not stand there would be more protection than if authority were left with a single minister. In a few hours he could flood the province with special constables to intimidate electors.

On the assurance of Hon. Mr. Longhead that the point would be covered by the criminal code, Senator Watson did not press his amendment, and the bill was given its third reading.

Ottawa, May 16.—The dominion government spends about $10,000,000 a year on military matters, and not a cent to fight typhoid fever, which is killing thousands of our people every year. It seems to me that the government would do well to spend as much to protect the health of the public as it does on military matters," said George Bradbury, M. P., chairman of the special committee appointed to deal with the pollution of rivers and streams in Canada, during the sitting of that body today.

"We need continually to be on the lookout that we keep ourselves up to par, so to speak, both mentally and physically. Our modern American life especially demands this. The practice of taking a quiet hour or even a half hour a day, alone by one's self, for quiet, for relaxation, for rest, will be found to be of inestimable benefit to the one who is wise enough specifically to adopt this practice."

WOULD THE AUTHORITIES STOP FOOTBALL, BASEBALL OR AUTO RACING IF FATALITIES OCCURRED?

By TOM ANDREWS

In Jackson, Mich., a lad named Billy Allen died from the effects of severe exercise in an amateur boxing bout, at least it was alleged that such was the cause, but the coroner's jury decided that death was due to a weak heart and the rupture of a heart valve. No sooner had the announcement been made than the boy was dead than the state authorities gave notice that the "lid was on" and that there would be no boxing bouts.

Now supposing that the death had been due to severe exercise on the football field instead of in boxing, would the governor have clamped down the "lid" on football games? And it can be stated here that there were twelve deaths on the football field last fall from rough playing.

Would the authorities have stopped all ball games had the same lad been killed in an accident of this kind? And still there were numerous auto drivers killed last summer and fall where they were driving their cars at dizzy speeds.

Would the state authorities have prohibited auto racing had the same lad been killed in an accident of this kind? And still there were numerous auto drivers killed last summer and fall where they were driving their cars at dizzy speeds.

And auto racing! Well forget that sport, for the deaths are too numerous to mention.

Why the authorities should always pick the boxing game out is hard to fathom, unless it is that there are not enough defenders of the sport to give the officials worry. What a howl would go up should they attempt to stop football, baseball or auto racing!

It only proves more conclusively than ever that we are badly in need of a law to govern the sport of boxing; a law that will make it possible to control the sport properly and thus lessen the chance of serious accidents. If the law makers really want to prevent such accidents the surest way is to put the sport under proper control, where all boxers will have to undergo thorough medical examination, where rings are to be where referees will be amenable to the authorities for infractions of the rules.

That boxing is popular goes without saying. The thousands who attend the shows two or three times a week in most big cities is ample proof of the popularity of the game. What we want now is a law that will help to prevent just such accidents as cited.

LACROSSE. Ottawa Ladies, Too. Ottawa, May 15.—Ottawa ladies will play lacrosse. The Globe Lacrosse Club are negotiating with the Cornwall High School girls lacrosse team for a game in Ottawa some time during July or August. Cornwall can boast of having about the only girls' lacrosse team in Canada.

CRICKET. It is not expected that the Australian cricket team will play here as they ask for a guarantee of $1,000. The visitors will likely play the Wanderers of Halifax.

THE RING. Gibbons Brothers Both Win. New York, May 17.—The Gibbons brothers, Mike and Tom, St. Paul middleweights, outpointed Jack McCarren of Philadelphia, and Young Mike Donovan of this city, respectively, in ten round bouts in the Madison Square Athletic Club last night. Mike at no time gave McCarren a chance, as he kept up a continuous jabbing with his left and crossing his right occasionally, and with clever side-stepping and blocking made McCarren look like a novice.

In the other bout, Tom Gibbons had the better of Donovan in every round save one and that was even. Donovan, like McCarren, was game, but he was outclassed and outfought.
