

MONTREALERS HEAR PREMIER SCATHINGLY DENOUNCE THE PETTY POLITICS OF LIBERALS

Answers in Most Positive Way Criticisms Levelled by Liberal Opposition at Course Pursued by Him When Attending Empire Conference—Takes Up King's Wobbling on Platform of His Party—Clearly Defines Railroad Policy and Course Government Will Pursue.

(By Canadian Press Correspondent.)
Montreal, Nov. 4.—Criticisms levelled by Liberal opposition supporters at the course pursued by him when attending the conference of Empire Prime Ministers in London, drew from Sir Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada, an answer of the most positive nature tonight. Referring to remarks reported to have been made by Hon. Charles Murphy, Liberal member for Russell, at St. Thomas recently, the Prime Minister, in the course of his address at Windsor Hall this evening, made a declaration embodying his attitude toward Empire and world affairs in their relation to the political campaign.

Believed Course Right.

He had thought that the course he pursued as representative of the Canadian people in London met with their approval, he said. Nothing of consequence which the people of Canada should know regarding the proceedings at the conference had been withheld from their knowledge. "Now, after the conference has been concluded for two months," said the Premier, a case arises to say that I have committed a mistake in some naval policy; that I have made a mistake of judgment given parliament of Canada, and that I have lowered the status of Dominion as a nation. It would be well that matters which appertain to our relations with the world and the Empire should be treated by Dominion as a whole nation, and should not be made the subject of divisions. Such was the desire of my heart as I strove to serve Canada at that conference.

Domination Committed to Nothing.

At the conference this country was committed to nothing whatever beyond what it has always stood committed to, nor was there anything said or done which went a hair's breadth beyond the pale of what I said to Parliament. Not even the "controversy of Mr. Murphy" was he to be drawn into making the proceedings at the Prime Ministers' Conference a subject of political discussion, the Premier said.

Railway Question.

The Premier devoted a short time to a discussion of the railway situation. "This is the issue that Sir Lomer Gouin and others are trying to create," he said. Sir Lomer Gouin had charged that everyone from the president to the businessmen on the Canadian National system must be a supporter of the Government, said the Premier, in view of this statement, the Premier intended to read the names of legal firms which were retained now and had been before the system was taken over by the Government. He read these as follows: "In Montreal, Gouin, Lemieux and Perrault; Ferrin, Taschereau, Rivest and Genest; in Quebec, Taschereau, Roy, Ouellet, Perrault and Taschereau. In Three Rivers, Bureau and Beique." This list was received with great amusement by the audience. The Premier quoted figures to show that the number of employees in the Canadian National system was being decreased. He then turned to a discussion of the tariff.

Various Platforms for King.

"If you name me the constituency in this Dominion, I will tell what platform the Liberal candidate is standing on, and I will name you a Liberal candidate within a thousand miles at least, who is running on a platform directly opposite."

The Liberals are awaiting their tariff policy to the constituency in which they happened to be running, said the Premier. Their whole effort was to get votes.

"Protection for fruit in British Columbia; free trade in the three Prairie provinces; lower tariff on implements of production in certain sections of Ontario; lower tariff on implements of production in others; anti-conspiration in Quebec; and lumber in the Maritime Provinces." This, said the Premier, was the platform of the Liberals. "The Liberals have an issue in every city. Name me the city and I'll name you the issue. Down in the city of Quebec the issue is the size of the ammunition boxes landing at Lévis. There's a lot to be revealed about those boxes," the Premier remarked with sarcasm, "and we'll all wait in terror for disclosure."

Mr. Meighen remarked that last night Hon. Charles Murphy, speaking in St. Thomas, Ont., discovered that he (the Premier) had betrayed the London, Nov. 4.—In the course of the debate on the Washington Conference in the House of Commons today, Austen Chamberlain, leader of the Government, said with reference to the Premier's inability to attend the opening sessions: "The Government sets so great importance upon the Conference that, although the absence of the Prime Minister presented many difficulties, we unanimously requested him to be the principal delegate of our country. We know that under circumstances known to every member of the House, it would be impossible for him to carry out that intention, but we still hope it may be possible before long to carry out that intention, and for him to take the leadership of the British delegation."

Addresses Women

Windsor Hall was crowded to capacity this afternoon when Premier Meighen made the first of two addresses in this city. The great majority of those in the audience were women.

The Premier in opening referred to the fact that women had been granted the franchise. He had never felt that any great credit was due the government for this. "It was done not as an act of generosity but of justice," he remarked that all the opposition to granting women votes in the House of Commons came from the followers of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

"There has been a very hurried scramble all over Canada, but especially in Quebec, to get away from the issue on which Mr. King and Mr. Crozier challenged the government," declared the Premier turning to a discussion of tariff. "The Liberals and Progressives were 'hunting for emergency exits' to get away from it."

Sir Lomer Gouin discovered a grave railway issue. Mr. King was "frightened out of his skin by high explosive shells" and last but not least, "Hon. Charles Murphy, three months since my return from England is thunder-struck by the course I pursued there, and calls upon Canada to condemn me for sacrificing the nationhood of this country."

"That is the way it goes," declared the Premier. "Nail one of these imaginary issues and another springs up in the night."

PREMIER HARA OF JAPAN VICTIM OF ASSASSIN'S HAND

HARDING EXPRESSES SORROW AT OUTRAGE

Event Sounds Discordant Note Among Those Gathered to Settle Peace of the World.

Tokio, Nov. 4.—Premier Hara was fatally stabbed in the breast today at the railroad station in Tokio.

Washington, November 4.—The message to the State Department which was filed at 11 a. m. Tokio time gave no details other than the Premier had been stabbed. An hour later another message, filed by the U. S. Embassy at Tokio at 10 p. m., was received at the State Department, announcing the death of the Premier.

The Japanese delegation to the Armaments Conference was thrown into sorrow and confusion and official Washington, including the delegates from other lands to the Conference were profoundly shocked by the announcement from Tokio that Task Force Hara, the Japanese Premier had been assassinated.

Admiral Baron Kato, the ranking member of the Japanese delegation, and Mr. Hara's most intimate friend, was so affected by the news that he burst into tears—something most unusual for a Japanese—who is trained from childhood to conceal his emotions.

Harding Expresses Sorrow

President Harding, expressed his sorrow at the outrage. It was an unhappy, discordant note, he said, in a formal statement, at a time when all were seeking to come together around the Conference table and add to the good understanding and good will throughout the world. Secretary Hughes went immediately to the Japanese Embassy and expressed his condolences to Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Ambassador. Later he telegraphed to Ambassador Warren, at Tokio, to express to Count Hirota, the Foreign Minister, his profound distress, and to say how much the news had caused a feeling of deep sorrow throughout the United States.

Violence Marked Fourth Day of New York Milk Strike

Two Policemen Injured, Wagons Upset and Milk Poured into the Gutters.

New York, Nov. 4.—More violence marked the fourth day of New York's milk strike, in which the deadlock showed no signs of weakening. From various parts of the city, reports of attacks on wagons of milk sympathizers and the spilling of milk into the gutters. The sharpest of these disorders occurred in Brooklyn, where three wagons leaving a milk station were attacked. More than a score of shots were fired, 2 policemen were injured and nearly a score of men rounded up for questioning.

The wagons, each with a driver on the driver's seat, had been sent out to peddle milk through the Bedford section. Alleged strike sympathizers, taking refuge behind lumber piles, opened with a volley of bricks. The drivers hid under seats. The policemen, with drawn pistols, stood on the running boards. They warned that they would shoot if the barrage of bricks did not stop. "Go ahead and shoot," the outraged replied. Then the shooting began and the crowd scattered. No one was hit. Some reserves arrived and the attacking party was rushed. Two men, arrested for rioting, were held without bail.

On the lower east side, a crowd attacked a wagon carrying milk to a small store and hurled nearly a hundred bottles through the shop's window, narrowly missing some women and children.

Distributors reported more strikes had been reported and that deliveries were being resumed.

London, Nov. 4.—It developed today that the report made public yesterday from Belfast to the effect that all Sinn Fein prisoners in the Ballycotton internment camp numbering about 1700, had been released, was erroneous. Berlin Tax Proposals Constitute Greatest Burden People Ever Carried

Berlin, Nov. 4.—Andreas Hermes, Minister of Finance, explaining the new taxation bill in the Reichstag today, admitted that the new proposals constituted the greatest burdens that any people ever had been called upon to bear. He expressed confidence however that they could be borne, provided that all the forces in the nation were united and exerted to the utmost. "It is estimated," said the minister, "that we can reckon on an increased yield of from forty billion to forty-two billion marks from the proposed new taxation. I must, however, declare that our obligations under the allied ultimatum cannot be met by this great burdening of the taxpayer."

"If a single American soldier had been hanged without trial or it would have come to this country and proper measures would have been taken. The Senator's entire charges are preposterous and incredible."

UNION MINERS SEE VICTORY IN COURT'S DECREE

Suspends Injunction Ordered by Judge Anderson; Check Off to Continue.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Action of the United States court of appeals here today, in suspending that part of the injunction issued by Judge Anderson, of Indianapolis, applying to the check-off system until further order of the court, was acclaimed tonight by officials of the United Mine Workers of America as a decided victory.

The court's action allows the holding out union dues and assessments from the coal miners' pay to be continued by the operators temporarily. An appeal hearing was granted the union for Wednesday, November 16. Union leaders profess to see in the action today a re-opening of the entire case and attorneys of the mine workers said tonight they would prove that the case had not been handled thoroughly.

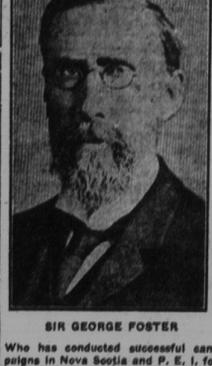

Clear Up Situation.

The action today, union leaders said, would do much to clear up the labor situation in the mine and would help to hold in line men who had been doing work without authority.

The writ of injunction issued by Judge Anderson, forbade the operators to withhold from the miners pay union dues and assessments as the operators had agreed with the unions to do. Union officials asserted that compliance by the operators with the decision of court would precipitate a strike, and in states where the operators have decided to follow the court's decree, there have already been walk outs and mines in other states have had sporadic strikes.

"Since when has it become legal to disgrace the uniform of the American Army by hanging it at the end of a halter?"

The Georgia Senator called attention that in the casualty lists issued during the war there appeared the phrase: "Dead for other causes," and asked what were those causes. "We are just beginning to find out," he declared.

APOHAQUI

Apoquah, N. B., Nov. 3.—Hallowe'en was duly celebrated in various ways—the traditional wiles were thoroughly reproduced by the younger set, about the road and imparted solemn warnings to those who responded to their spirit rappings. In the darkness of the midnight hours the sturdy youths of the village generation worked strenuously and when morning broke, the village was in a veritable chaos, every movable article having been overturned or tossed. The result of which, though somewhat of an inconvenience to the residents, was endured in good form since, happily, all were possessed of a sense of humor and were not undisturbed of the time-honored customs.

Several hostesses entertained informally in Hallowe'en, when the entertainment and decorations were in keeping with the season.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McAuley entertained a large number of guests at their home at Lower Millstream, when the youthful guests were given a very happy evening by their hosts and hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Thap. McKnight entertained at a Hallowe'en dance at their home, when their spacious residence was filled with the many who accepted their invitation.

Miss Emma McKnight also entertained at a Hallowe'en party at her home at Lower Millstream, when the guests included the young people of that community.

In the Public Hall on Wednesday evening a Hallowe'en was celebrated by a popular committee and upwards of 100 guests accepted. The hall was seasonably and artistically decorated for Hallowe'en, with hangings of yellow and black, adorned with black cats and pumpkins, were used for the window, while streamers of yellow and black sprang from each corner of the room, and cats were in evidence on every side, while many pumpkin lanterns were suspended which practically illuminated the room with a weird and softening light.

Rev. C. Saunders Young and Mrs. Young have returned from a pleasant holiday of three weeks, during which time they spent at Mrs. Young's former home at Benton, Carleton Co. Rev. Mr. Young also attended the Baptist convention at Woodstock during his absence.

Miss E. G. Fawcett and Mrs. H. S. Jones were guests on Saturday of Mrs. G. N. Pearson, Sussex.

Mrs. J. Archibald Cronke, of Saint Martins-by-the-Sea, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. McKnight. Mr. Cronke motored over from the Bay Shore on Saturday and spent the week-end.

Major and Mrs. Jones and sons motored to Bellisle Bay on Sunday, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Erb.

Mrs. L. J. Leard, who was summoned to Hallowe'en, is recovering from the illness and subsequent death of her sister, Miss Frances Theakston, is still at her former home there, having been detained by the very serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Theakston. Mrs. Leard's many friends sympathize deeply with her in her bereavement and additional anxiety.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lison and children, of Sussex, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Lison's sister, Mrs. Coby Jones and Mr. Jones.

G. E. Connors, manager of one of the branches of the B. N. S. at St. John, paid a brief visit to his home here on Wednesday.

Gompers Makes Attack Upon Judge Anderson

Calls Him "Modern Jeffreys" for Injunction Against Mine Workers.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued tonight attacked Justice Anderson of Indianapolis for issuing an injunction against the coal miners in the Williamson coal fields of West Virginia and Kentucky.

"The fight for liberty and freedom cannot be stopped by an order from an autocratic judge," Mr. Gompers said. "One man clothed with temporary authority cannot stay the progress of the multitude nor can he kill the aspirations of humanity."

"The miners are enjoined from organizing on the ground that the act of organizing on their part restrains interstate commerce. The god of commerce always finds some way to serve and betray humanity into bondage."

Gompers, asserting that the Clayton law gives workers freedom from "judicial usurping injunctive process," went on:

"The injunction just granted does violence to this entire section. The injunction forbids men to organize. The bill of rights gives freedom and the Clayton act gives them the guarantee of the statute law."

"Justice Anderson sweeps away both of these guarantees as if they were but the merest scraps of paper. He plays the part of autocrat well; indeed, sooner of later every autocrat has his fall. Injunctions cannot be put on forever. Organization of the workers will rise superior to injunctions. Justice Anderson may fill jails with liberty loving men, but he cannot and will not destroy the cause for which they give their liberty. There is a great moral issue at stake and the side of justice, freedom and humanity will not be abandoned, even at the behest of this modern Jeffreys, Justice Anderson."

Departing from his set statement, Gompers declared that Justice Anderson is an advocate of the open shop and had thrown the weight of his position against working men and women.

"His attitude toward defendants in his court has been that of a slave driver, especially toward counsel representing working people."

Naturally holders of Russian securities, which have recently had significant rise on the Bourse, are in favor of the proposed parity. French official circles these points are stressed:

First—The Soviet proposal is put out on the eve of the Washington conference for limitation of armaments with the evident aim of having Soviet recognition brought there not only in connection with the Pacific problem, but also Russia must be taken into account.

No Plan Offered.

Second—The Soviets have virtually demanded recognition as a condition of holding a conference before offering any evidence of good faith and guarantee for payment instead of first offering a plan which France could submit to expert study.

Third—The Allies must make no loans to Russia in return for getting the old loans recognized.

It is not reasonable, the Liberty says tonight, "under the pretext of aiding Russia to accord political and financial facilities to a Government whose doctrines and principles have caused Russia's ruin."

This question with Communism always alert here, is a knotty one for the French Government to solve. The Communistic organs are already describing the Soviet note as a "dreadful blow administered by Moscow to the capitalist world."

Attention is called today by French officials to the fact that the French position is exactly in accord with President Harding's view and undoubtedly will be made the subject of conversations at Washington. The Temps tonight sums up the situation by saying that "if the Soviet Government is merely seeking to lay waste talked about and to find a new pretext for propaganda on the eve of the Washington conference, it is also to understand the conditions and the procedure suggested. But it really manifests an effort to make Russia solvent and prosperous the procedure appears to us as an operation destined to put the cart before the horse."

A Close-Up View Of Unemployment

The letters from the trenches used to bring home to us the realities of war more strongly than pages of official reports. Neither can the whole truth about unemployment be learned from columns of Labor Department statistics, reports of the Unemployment Conference, or even from the formal statements of such well-informed men as Herbert Hoover and Samuel Gompers.

While the editor of a trade union paper in Bridgeport, or South Omaha, may not be able to make an elaborate analysis of nation-wide unemployment, he does have something to tell us about the proportion of jobs to workers in his own city. And this editor is also likely to have a very definite idea of what ought to be done about it.

To bring together for LITERARY DIGEST readers these various close-up views, and thus to give a more vivid realization of what those nearest the workers think about the lack of work, THE DIGEST has asked several hundred labor editors to tell whether they find things growing better or worse, and what remedies they would recommend. As a whole, the answers, which form the basis of the leading news-feature this week and which come from thirty States and forty important industrial cities, bring cheer, for they seem to show that the Unemployment Conference program for immediate relief is succeeding, and that the situation is improving.

- Other striking news-articles of importance in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week (November 5th) are:
- Mr. Harding's British-American "Doctrine"
 - The Forlorn Hapburg Hope
 - The Anarchists and Our Ambassador
 - Must Uncle Sam Forgive His Debtors?
 - Chinese Labor Organizing
 - Peril of "Empty Australia"
 - Japan's "Official" Propaganda
 - A Plan to Give Each Man a Job to Fit His Brains

Hon. FRANK W. MONDELL, Floor Leader of the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., says:—"I believe THE LITERARY DIGEST is doing a valuable service for the Nation. The greatest difficulty I have is to secure the benefit of current discussion of public questions in the limited time at my command. THE DIGEST is the most helpful agency for this purpose."

SEE ADMISSION OF DEBT RUSE OF BOLSHEVISM

Paris, Nov. 3.—The Soviet Government must get down to specific cases and offer substantial means for payment and guarantee for the liquidation of the debt of the Imperial Russian Government to France amounting to $5,000,000,000 francs before the French Government will consent to equal recognition which would be given in the international conference on this subject which the Soviet Government has proposed.

That is what is gathered from conversation of French officials today regarding the Soviet note which has been delivered in London, but which has not yet reached the French Government. While the old Russian debt has been a great stumbling block to recognition of the Soviet Government by France, the point is made here that France is not yet ready to make recognition a mere matter of financial consideration and that anxious as all is that French investors should receive what is due them she must be convinced that the Russian people have the government which they desire before she consents to anything which would officially recognize the present regime.

As is the case with anything emanating from Moscow, the Soviet proposal to recognize the old Russian debt in return for recognition of the great suspicion among French officials, but nevertheless the feeling here is that within a few months this will be accepted.

The Russian redneer group, which has always exercised a great influence on the French Government regarding Russian matters, has now split, and one faction, called the Intellectuals, now urging the French Government to accord recognition to the Soviet Government and accept its offer.

Already members of that faction told The New York Herald Tribune today that he was convinced the offer was made in good faith and that it is evidence of a tremendous revolution in the government of Russia. He added that he believed it was certain the French Government would accept the offer.

Naturally holders of Russian securities, which have recently had significant rise on the Bourse, are in favor of the proposed parity. French official circles these points are stressed:

French Suspect Ulterior Motive in Offer to Liquidate Indebtedness.

Paris, Nov. 3.—The Soviet Government must get down to specific cases and offer substantial means for payment and guarantee for the liquidation of the debt of the Imperial Russian Government to France amounting to 25,000,000,000 francs before the French Government will consent to a quasi recognition which would be involved in the international conference on this subject which the Soviet Government has proposed.

That is what is gathered from conversation of French officials today regarding the Soviet note which has been delivered in London, but which has not yet reached the French Government. While the old Russian debt has been a great stumbling block to recognition of the Soviet Government by France, the point is made here that France is not yet ready to make recognition a mere matter of financial consideration and that anxious as she is that French investors should receive what is due them she must yet be convinced that the Russian people have the Government which they desire before she consents to anything which would officially recognize the present regime.

As is the case with anything emanating from Moscow, the Soviet proposal to recognize the old Russian debt in return for recognition excites great suspicion among French officials but nevertheless the feeling here is that within a few months this will be accepted.

The Russian refugee group, which has always exercised a great influence on the French Government regarding Russian matters, has now split, and the faction, called the Intellectuals, now urging the French Government to recognize the old Russian debt, is in the majority. It is believed that this group will be successful in its efforts.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever seen how? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that their coughs really have been without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Fill a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated white sugar to the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. NEW YORK

CHINA LEANS ON AMERICA FOR DEVELOPMENT

Dr. Sze, Minister to U. S., Explains Country's Attitude Towards Arms Parley.

New York, Nov. 4.—Dr. Sze-Ko-Ab-fred Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, delivered an address at Columbia University last night in which he made direct reference to China's attitude toward the coming Washington conference on problems of the Far East.

"The development of China," said Dr. Sze, "is properly directed can be a great world benefit; if improperly directed, it may become a world menace. There are two ways of obtaining supplies from China. One way is accomplished by force to the neglecting of something which the world war demonstrated cannot exist in the modern world. The other way is through Chinese self-development that will benefit the whole world, commensurate along with you."

"The development of China is not a matter that can be played with. Not only is it vital that America lead in this development, but we must remember that the development is going on and will go on whether we participate or not. Every stage of Chinese development will vitally affect our own industrial status."

Confidence in America. "China is entering this Washington conference wholeheartedly, with full confidence in the motives of the American people in their attempt to bring about better conditions in the Pacific and the world generally. American policy toward China has always been friendly and constructive. We have a full appreciation of American altruism toward Asia, because one of the only two foreign policies which the United States has ever developed since it became a nation, applies to Asia. It refers to the open door policy of equal opportunity, which was announced originally by John Hay, Secretary of State a quarter of a century ago.

"The open door policy has been happily likened to your Monroe Doctrine, which applies to the young republics of the New World. As I understand your Monroe Doctrine, it simply means that the new republics of the New World are to be protected from foreign aggression while they work out their own self-development.

"In assisting in this development of the republics of the New World you do not claim monopolistic privileges to the exclusion of others. You are quite willing that all nations of the world shall compete with you in the business and industrial development of the American continent.

Sincere Friendship of China. "Now, that is a doctrine which we understand, and as we view your open door policy, we believe that it means almost exactly the same thing. You are fighting for the principle of self-development on the continent of Asia, and as such we are fighting for exactly the same principle. We want the right of self-development, the right to preserve our national existence, and that it what you would have us enjoy.

"You have demonstrated the benefits of this doctrine in your relations with the countries of South America, with Mexico, with Cuba, with Canada. You have brought about a condition of peace among the nations of the New World that closely approaches the ideal. We believe that ultimately you will accomplish the same ideal among various nations that border on the Pacific, and in your efforts you can count upon the fullest possible assistance of China's 400,000,000 people, whose friendship you have and who treat you to a tremendous degree.

"If China can be given the right to self-development unhampered by outside aggressive political, territorial and economic influences, China will make her contribution to world reconstruction, and when that day comes there will be confidence, prosperity for all our near neighbors, as well as our distant neighbors."

Red Star and White Star Sailings From Halifax. Commencing in January next a regular weekly service between Halifax, Great Britain and the continent will be inaugurated by vessels of the Red Star Line, first second and third class passengers being carried, in addition to freight. The line's four largest ships have been assigned to the route, the Lapland of 12,694 gross tons, the Kroonland of 12,341 tons, the Finland of 12,322 tons and the Zealand of 12,626 tons.

The four liners will provide a weekly service throughout from Halifax. Sailing dates are not yet available, but are expected to be announced in the course of a few days. Owing to the withdrawal of other liners from their regular routes for winter cruises, the four Red Star steamers will be the only liners carrying first class passengers calling at Canadian ports this winter. The White Star-Dominion Line, Montreal, will have charge of the Halifax business.

Announcement is also made that the White Star liner Celtic, 3,518 tons, will sail from Halifax on December 7 for Naples and Genoa, where she is due December 20 and 21 respectively.

UNITED STATES DRIVING AWAY BEST CUSTOMER

New York Herald Strongly Urges Extension of Larger Credits to Canada.

(By Canadian Press.) New York, Nov. 4.—The trade of the United States with Canada "right now is waving a red flag," declares the New York Herald in an editorial discussing the fact that the value of United States exports to Canada is increasing much more rapidly than that of United States imports from the Dominion. The Herald suggests, in this connection, the advisability of extending larger credits to Canada.

"Canadian values are not very far apart from our own," the paper says. "If, therefore, we lose two dollars of sales to Canada for every dollar of sales that Canada loses to us, we are moving decidedly in the wrong direction."

The paper declares that this is what the United States has been doing, quoting figures to show that for every dollar that Canada's exports to the United States have gone down in the last year, United States exports to Canada have gone down two dollars and a quarter.

"And Canada, let us not forget, had become our second largest and best customer in the whole world," continues the Herald. "With our Canadian exports of approximately a billion dollars a year, only the United Kingdom surpasses Canada in the volume and value of goods bought from us. The whole of South America, with Mexico, Central America and the West Indies thrown in, did not equal Canada as a buyer in the markets of the United States. Now this relative swing is heavily against us."

Discussing possible remedies, the Herald declares: "We have plastered loans all over other countries which never can be normal customers of ours, while we have been stingy with credits to the one country destined naturally to be our very best customer."

Another mistake made by the United States, the paper asserts, was the putting up of trade barriers "particularly irksome and exasperating when strung along our northern border, trying to shut out imports from Canada, while wanting to continue exports into Canada." The United States tariff system, it is also pointed out, allows "a paper-wage or debarment currency like Japan's or Germany or Czechoslovakia to slip its goods through the United States customs houses with negligible duty payments, but enforces the limit from a solvent, dear-labor country like Canada, in conclusion.

Sydney Miners Will Oppose Wage Cut To Last Ditch. Whole Strength of Their Organization Will Be Thrown Into Fight Against Cut.

Sydney, N. S. Nov. 4.—Strong protest against proposed wage cut and an intimation that the whole strength of the organization will be thrown into the fight against the proposed wage cut, are the salient features of the reply of the operators of the Province drafted by the Executive of the United Mine Workers of America, District 26, in an emergency meeting at their Glace Bay headquarters today.

District officers tonight declined to make public the text of their letter, which is in reply to one from the operators, giving notice of the expiration of the Montreal agreement on November 30, and proposing that wage cuts be accepted in a new schedule of wages and working conditions to be drawn up by a joint committee of miners and operators which will open its sessions at Halifax, November 10.

U. S. SHIPPING CONTROVERSY BEING WATCHED. Board Demands That Its Vessels Shall Share in Cotton Cargoes from Alexandria.

Alexandria, Egypt, Oct. 31.—The controversy between the United States Shipping Board and British shipping interests resulting from the Shipping Board's demand that American vessels shall have a fair share of the cotton cargoes carried from Alexandria to the United States has been watched with intense interest here.

American shipping interests in Egypt have grown rapidly within the last few years. This is shown by the fact that 95 American vessels entered this port in 1920, as compared to only 30 vessels entering here in the previous year. In 1913 there were no American vessels calling here. In 1914 there was one and in 1915, three.

A similar increase is shown in the number of American ships passing through the Suez canal. In the years 1912 and 1914 no such passage was recorded but in 1920 the number had reached 162 American vessels.

In consequence of this increase, the United States Shipping Board has opened offices at Alexandria and Port Said and the State Department at Washington has established a consulate at the Port Said. Americans have

Make New Brunswick Solid For Meighen

There are three parties in this election, the National Liberal and Conservative party, led by Premier Meighen, the Mackenzie King party and the Progressives or Farmers' Party led by Hon. T. A. Crerar.

Which Party should New Brunswick support? NEW BRUNSWICK has 1,363 factories, employing 20,000 people and with a payroll of $17,000,000. Is it worth while to take the chance of bringing a party or group of parties to power which would make such changes in Canada's fiscal policy as would seriously affect these New Brunswick industries?

The National Liberal-Conservative Party is the ONLY Party with a "four-square" Protective Tariff Policy. The Fordney Emergency Tariff shuts New Brunswick potatoes, New Brunswick apples and New Brunswick live stock out of the United States markets. Surely the only salvation for the New Brunswick farmer is the maintaining and the developing of our Home Markets.

NEW BRUNSWICK's population during the ten years from 1911 to 1921, increased by 10.29 per cent, as compared with only 6.27 per cent increase during the previous ten years. Thus the Liberal-Conservative rule, under Borden and Meighen, brought a much greater gain to this Province than in the same length of time under Liberal rule, and this despite the fact that the four years of war saw complete stoppage of immigration, and later came world-wide depression. Great Britain's gain in population during the last ten years was the smallest in any decade since 1832-42.

NEW BRUNSWICK has shared generously under the Borden-Meighen governments in Federal Agriculture and Highway money grants. For Agriculture in the last five years we have received $581,242, and under the Highways Act $438,303,—more than $1,000,000 in all for these services.

NEW BRUNSWICK profits from the Meighen Government's shipbuilding policy. The steamers of the Canadian Government Mercantile Marine are running regularly to St. John, creating work for St. John labor and drawing their supplies from local business houses. Despite the fact that practically all shipping companies are operating at a heavy loss since the slump in ocean trade came, the Government's ships showed, last year, an actual operating profit of $1,293,525.55. After providing for depreciation, insurance, and all overhead expenses the balance remaining amounted to $781,460.09, or equal to 2.35 p.c. on the war cost of the ships.

NEW BRUNSWICK has the assurance from Premier Meighen and his ministers that Moncton is to be the Headquarters for a Grand Division of the Canadian National Railways, thus assuring prompt and intelligent attention to local railway needs and the further building up of one of the largest of our provincial centres. The Mackenzie King party has no Railway Policy with the most powerful wing of the party committed to the turning over of the National Lines to Corporation control.

NEW BRUNSWICK is fortunate in having in the Meighen cabinet the ablest man of the province in many respects and our interests will be safe in his hands.

Altogether, New Brunswick Should Support Meighen and His Candidates

organized firms as agents and contractors for American ships. The increase in the trade between America and Egypt has led to the creation of a regular steamship service between these two countries. Americans here say that the American steamship service cannot be maintained unless American ships can obtain a fair share of the only important return cargo from Egypt, namely cotton.

Domestic Difficulty.
"What is your new little brother's name, Elsie?" asked the kind old grandma.
"I don't know yet. We can't understand a word he says."

People wonder why the population of the Maritime Provinces does not increase faster than it does. Well judging from the Evening Times, New Brunswick at any rate is not a very desirable place in which to live.

These people who have not as yet succeeded in making their mark in the world, may have the opportunity of doing so on December 6th.

A man I know was fool enough to get into an argument with a woman on the labor question. He wanted to make out that in no state in the world were women liable to work sixteen hours a day. She said that when they entered the married state, that was what they might expect. The man "opped it." He had no reply ready.

Willie St. Lomer Gouin has not yet definitely come out in favor of the Shaughnessy plan as the solution of the problem of the National Railways, but he is generally believed that he does favor it. Such references to the railway problem as he has made in his nomination speech in Montreal a few days ago support this belief. He said: "Can we continue to spend a hundred millions a year perpetually for our railways? Can we do it for two years, can we do it for three years, for five years? I say no. It is not for me to know how we will settle this problem, how, about all, we will try to do this, to reduce the railway problem to these disastrous deficits. "When Laurier resigned, he left the Transcontinental we did not have the world war, which brought trouble all over the world. Laurier could not foresee the disaster, but it was not Laurier who acquired the C. N. R. It was not Laurier who imposed the Grand Trunk on the people of Canada, and it was not the C. N. R. and the Grand Trunk which are the cause of the trouble which we are suffering from, and from which position the Government cannot extricate us."

The Liberal and Agrarian tariff policies must be something to be ashamed of when the candidates of the two parties try to dodge discussion of the platform and allege that it doesn't mean anything.

Mr. Crerar and Quebec.
(Vancouver Province)
Quebec is the province where the Liberal party is strongest. It is also the province where a vigorous campaign by the Farmer party might do the Liberal party the most harm.

THE FUTURE OF THE CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY.
(London Free Press)
The report of the earnings of the Canadian National Railway for September, following the report for the month of August, should silence the violent attacks of Hon. Mackenzie Bowden, who has been so long and so loudly denouncing the railway system of apparently hopeless deficits the tide has turned. The figures for the month of August showed that the earnings exceeded the operating expenses by $47,000. Now the September figures on the top of the exhibit net earnings of $294,000. This statement included the operations of the Grand Trunk and Canadian National, but the hitherto unprofitable National Transcontinental, Grand Trunk Pacific and Intercolonial railways. The splendid showing is due to two causes. First, to the fine work of the board of directors under the leadership of President Hanna and Sir Joseph Flavelle. They have coordinated the Canadian National and Grand Trunk systems and have introduced economies. They have established duplication and have established methods. The second cause is the improving condition of business in Canada. During the past few months business has been steadily looking up. The showing of the C. N. R. should about silence the croakers.

The people in voting the coming elections should show in no uncertain manner their approval of the public ownership policy of the Meighen Government. It is the policy of the Liberal party? Apparently there is none. The Liberal party does not mention it entirely. Hon. Mackenzie Bowden only devotes himself to abuse; he has nothing constructive to offer. In Quebec, however—and Quebec is the Liberal's stronghold—the Liberal party are out and out for public ownership. They are advocating turning over the road to the C. P. R. or incorporating it entirely. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Hon. Walter H. Howland, Hon. Robt. Robt, chief Liberal whip, and a host of other Liberal candidates, have expressed themselves against public ownership. H. M. Martin, Liberal candidate in opposition to Hon. C. C. Balfour, expressed himself as against public ownership. He declared in his nomination speech last week: "As has been shown by past experience, the best interests of the nation are not served by public ownership or operation of railways, ships or other public utilities or industries, and as the primary or normal functions of a government are those of administration and control, any such operations already undertaken should be discontinued at the earliest opportune moment."

"I had been going down hill for a year when I began taking Tansac, but I'm on the road to health now and feeling better every day," said Frederick Humphrey, 96 Chestnut St., Halifax, N. S.

"All my ill-health was due to my stomach. I had to give up eating vegetables, as they seemed to hurt me worse than anything else. My back hurt me so I couldn't bear to bend over, as it felt like a wood break in two. I had touches of rheumatism in my legs too, and such awful headaches at times that I almost went wild."

Gompers Makes Attack Upon Judge Anderson
Calls Him "Modern Jeffrey" for Injunction Against Mine Workers.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued tonight attacked Justice Anderson of Indianapolis for issuing an injunction against the coal miners in the Williamson coal fields of West Virginia and Kentucky.

"The fight for liberty and freedom cannot be stopped by an order from an autocratic judge," Mr. Gompers said. "One man clothed with temporary authority cannot stay the progress of the millstone nor can he kill the aspirations of humanity."

"The miners are enjoined from organizing on the ground that the act of organizing on their part restrains interstate commerce. The god of commerce always finds some way to serve and betray humanity into bondage."

Gompers, asserting that the Clayton law gives workers freedom from "judicial usurpation of injunctive process," went on:

"The injunction just granted does violence to this entire section. The bill of rights gives freedom and the Clayton act gives them the guaranty of the statute law."

"Justice Anderson sweeps away both of these guarantees as if they were but the mere scrap of paper. He plays the part of autocrat well, indeed, sooner or later every autocrat has his fall. Injunctions cannot go on forever. Organization of the workers will rise superior to injunctions. Justice Anderson may fill the jails with liberty loving men, but he cannot and will not destroy the cause for which they give their liberty. There is a great moral issue at stake and the side of justice, freedom and humanity will not be abandoned, even at the behest of this modern Jeffrey's, Justice Anderson."

Departing from his seat statement, Gompers declared that Justice Anderson is an advocate of the open shop and had thrown the weight of his position against working men and women.

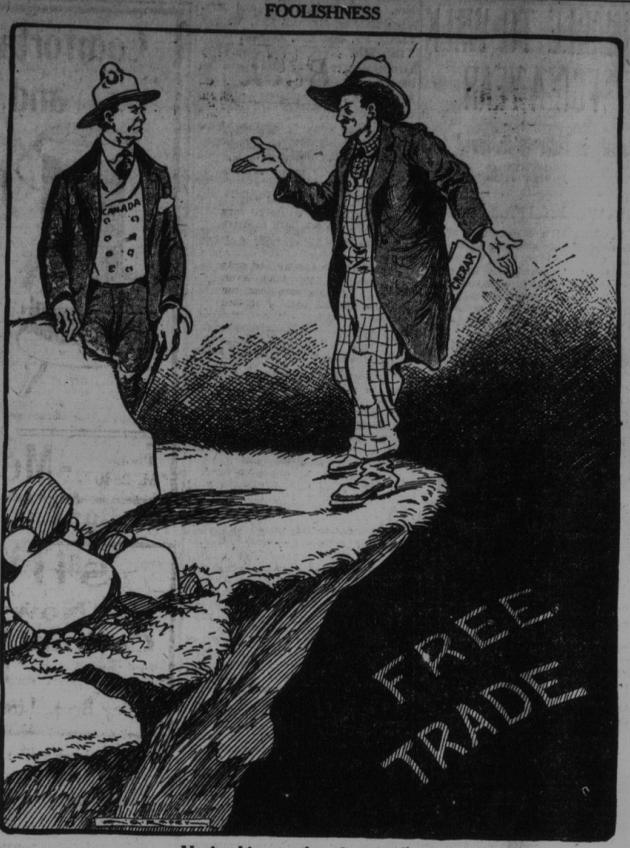

"His attitude toward defendants in his court has been that of a slave driver, especially toward counsel representing working people."

Chairman O'Connell of the labor committee of the Operators Association of the Williamson field, issued a statement tonight commenting upon the effect of Judge Anderson's injunction, which said:

"The ruling of Judge Anderson, as embodied in the injunction order frees the coal industry of the nation and restores the right of individuals, both operator and miner, to contract with each other, as guaranteed by the Constitution and laws of the United States. This right has for years been ignored by the arbitrary mandate of organized labor."

"It will restore the merit system. Honest employees will be compensated by their more efficient work, which has not been possible heretofore under the practices of labor organizations."

Domestic Difficulty.
"What is your new little brother's name, Elsie?" asked the kind old gentleman.
"I don't know yet. We can't understand a word he says."

U. S. SHIPPING CONTROVERSY BEING WATCHED
Board Demands That Its Vessels Shall Share in Cotton Cargoes from Alexandria.

Alexandria, Egypt, Oct. 31.—The controversy between the United States Shipping Board and British shipping interests resulting from the Shipping Board's demand that American vessels shall have a fair share of the cotton cargoes carried from Alexandria to the United States has been watched with intense interest here.

American shipping companies in Egypt have grown rapidly within the last few years. This is shown by the fact that 99 American vessels entered the port in 1920, as compared with only 30 vessels entering here in the previous year. In 1913 there were no American vessels calling here. In 1914 there was one and in 1915, three.

A similar increase is shown in the number of American ships passing through the Suez canal. In the years 1913 and 1914 no such passages were recorded but in 1920 the number had reached 162 American vessels.

In consequence of this increase, the United States Shipping Board has opened offices at Alexandria and Port Said and the State Department at Washington has established a consulate at the Port Said. Americans have organized firms as agents and contractors for American ships.

The increase in the trade between America and Egypt has led to the creation of a regular steamship service between these two countries. It is beginning to be understood here that American exporters have learned that without a regular steamship service their business is at the mercy of foreign shipping interests and that it is essential to the American exporter to have, without coddling, the shipping the American flag.

American exporters here say that the American steamship service cannot be maintained unless the United States obtain a fair share of the only important return cargo from Egypt, namely cotton.

It is felt here that American shipping offices do not properly appreciate the significance of the Suez Canal as a converging point in the world's trade. The British, on the other hand, have not failed to note its importance. They have consolidated their interests in shipping in the hands of a few powerful English firms so that English ships have other eastern or western port can safely accept cargo for any destination and use Port Said as their advantage as a point of transshipment.

Complaint has been made that heretofore American shipping interests have been handled by foreign and rival concerns which have other interests to consider before those of American vessels. It has been urged that until American ships at the Suez Canal are in American hands which have the incentive and feel the necessity of building up a transshipment business, America cannot secure a grip on the huge freight traffic through the Suez Canal.

Importers and exporters who have been endeavoring to build up American foreign trade say there are three services of fundamental importance which must be developed before this can be accomplished. These services have been called the "3 R's" of foreign commercial success and they are set forth as follows:

(A) American banking institutions in every important port aiding the local importers and exporters to finance their trade with America and to finance American ships in foreign ports.

(B) American insurance companies to insure all goods shipped to America and to prevent discrimination against American vessels.

(C) Americans to organize and handle American shipping in foreign ports; to reduce expenses and to procure cargo which now goes to foreign ships through intentional and unintentional neglect.

Three Men On Serious Charge
Evidence Heard in Case Against Saunders, Ketchum and Reynolds.

The preliminary hearing in the case in which Theodore Saunders of Gonsola Point; Harry Ketchum of New Brunswick and William J. Reynolds of Rothesay, are charged with a statutory offence against Marguerite Josephson was begun yesterday morning in the police court. W. M. Ryan appeared for Saunders, J. A. Barry for Ketchum and D. Mullin, K. C., for Reynolds.

Marguerite Josephson was the first witness. She gave as her residence 88 Marsh Road. On the night of October 13, she, together with Laura McIntyre and Josephine McIntyre had gone for a car ride with three young men. They left this car somewhere on the Loch Lomond Road and later with the three defendants for a ride. The other two girls were taken home but when they arrived at her home the men refused to stop the car. She said Ketchum struck her on the head and later she was struck twice after which she remembered nothing. When she came to her senses she and the people kept her there the next day and in the evening she was taken home. Dr. Fleming had ordered her sent to the hospital.

Laura Menzies and Josephine McIntyre gave corroborative evidence but could identify only Saunders and Ketchum. They said that they had asked the accused to give them a lift. They were both taken to their homes before ten o'clock.

Mrs. Marie Truscott testified that she was the mother of the Josephson girl, and lived at 88 Marsh Road. She said the girl told her she had been beaten by three men.

The case was postponed until Wednesday at two o'clock.

POLICE COURT CASES YESTERDAY

The case against George V. Parker was resumed yesterday morning. After evidence had been given by Vincent Allen the accused was sent up for trial.

Four men charged with being drunk, pleaded guilty and were given an alternative of an $5 fine or two months hard labor.

Robert Aldred, charged with exceeding the speed limit at the corner of King and Charlotte streets, pleaded not guilty yesterday. A fine of $20 was struck.

George Flood, charged with speeding at the corner of Union and Prince Edward streets, pleaded not guilty. Fined $20.

Norris Humphrey pleaded guilty to exceeding the speed limit near the Dufferin Hotel. He explained that the car was coasting. Fine of $10, allowed to stand.

D. W. Land pleaded not guilty to exceeding the speed limit in City Road. Fine of $10 was allowed to stand.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels With "California Fig Syrup."

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

A Regular Saturday Page for the Kiddies

Answers to Letters

EMMA G.—It is fine to keep busy but I hope you won't be too much occupied to write to the Children's Corner and tell us more about that hen who brought out thirteen chickens. It must have been the unlucky number if you had to loose seven of them. Thanks for the welcome to the C. C. and for your birthday date.

MARGERY B.—So glad you missed the Corner for then I know you like it. Your letter was very nicely written. It would have been a honor if you had finished the postcard as you meant to. Maybe some day I will print a picture of "Uncle Dick" and then you may decide for yourself. I should like the gift but it will please me better if you will give it to a returned soldier or some lonely old man. I think your papa would approve of me all right though I'm not saying yes or no.

AGATHA B.—What a nice family to belong to and what good times you must all have together. Brothers and sisters can be so jolly together and help one another too. Nobody played any more tricks on me—Hallowe'en and you're the only card I received. Notice how to spell that word Hallowe'en for when you are older you will learn its meaning. Write again soon.

LAURA S.—Such a clearly written story Laura, and thank you so much for all the trouble you took in sending it to me. You did not say if it is your very own. I shall try to print it some time soon. Please send me your birthday date and keep up the good work of writing to the Corner for I am so glad to hear from all friends.

A TEASER

A Child Could See It

After myself, behold! I come! But see, still myself preceding. I make you pause, understanding some that I am in these times unobscured. Shakespeare has used me without No lengthy period's duration. Yet, when you quote his words of wit, I am four times in the quotation.

The I confess I follow—crisis. I lack the soul to feel repentance. Let learned Judges give me "time." They cannot make me, and a sentence.

Small wonder, hence, a character. They call me. Could I help-but be it? A point that a philosopher. Might slur, and yet, a child could see it. Answer: A comma.

OCULIST-NEEDED.

An early morning customer, a young woman with a determined air, addressed the salesman at an optician's shop. "I want to get a pair of eyeglasses of extra magnifying power. While visiting in the country I made a very painful blunder which I never want to repeat."

Comforting. Some time ago a troopship was returning from abroad and among the passengers was an old lady, who had a favorite parrot, which she placed under the special care of one of the sailors.

On going to attend Polly one morning he was surprised to find the poor bird dead, and knowing how very much upset the old lady would be to hear of the death of her favorite, and not feeling equal to imparting the sad intelligence himself, he employed a young fellow, who was famous for his guilelessness in matters of that nature.

Going up to the old lady with a very sad face, and touching his cap, the deputy said: "I don't think that 'ere parrot of yours will live long, marm."

"Oh, dear," said the poor old lady. "Cos he's dead," was the comforting reply.

HOW AN IRISHMAN SHOT A BIRD.

No one had a greater fond of amusing anecdotes than the late Lord Charles Bessborough, and some of his best were about Irishmen. One concerned a certain son of Erin who described his first day's shooting in the following very Irishman way: "The first bird I ever shot," he said, "was a squirrel, and the first time I hit him I missed him altogether, and the next time I hit him I hit him in the same place. After that, I took a stone and dropped him from the tree, and he fell into the water and was drowned, and that was the first bird I ever shot."

DICK DORLING'S RIDE INTO SAN TOMAS

Ten minutes later Felipe left the office of Dorling and Co. for ever. When "carpeted" by his employer he had chosen to be impertinent, and had been promptly discharged.

As he left the premises the Spaniard turned and, shaking his fist at the window of Dick's room, hissed out:

"Ben vienes, si vienes solo!" Dick overheard the little speech, though he did not know enough of the language to grasp its import.

"What's the fellow mean, Diego?" asked of a junior clerk who happened to be near. "Ben vienes, si vienes solo!" repeated Diego. "Thou comest well, if thou comest alone!"

The senior would do well to heed the warning. Felipe is a dangerous man!" "I shall go to San Tomas tomorrow," returned Dick. "If a hundred Felipe's bar the road. Who and what is the fellow?"

"Until today he was an overseer in the packing-room of the San Tomas branch," said Diego. "His home is on the hills this side San Tomas, where, in his spare time, he may always be found with his dogs. Felipe has many dogs—ferocious, fighting dogs. He breeds and sells them. Now the senior understands! He will not go to San Tomas!"

"Won't he!" was the instant rejoinder. "You don't know Dick Dorling. Not a word of this to your master, Diego. It would upset him and do no good."

At 9 o'clock on the following morning Dick, with his precious burden strapped securely to the frame of his bicycle, left the office of Dorling & Co.

"Bah!" ejaculated Diego as he watched him depart. "These English men are fools!"

Before leaving San Lucas, Dick had a purchase or two to make. There was nothing uncommon in the demand for a stout dog-whip, but when Dick invested in a pound of pepper and in-

Helping Rhoda On.

A Girl Guide Story. BY ETHEL TALBOT.

Rhoda was the youngest kid in the school, and she was perfectly "gone" on Rho. Take it all around she was as jolly a kid as you could find on a day's march; rightlily keen on sports and everything. Tenderfoot, though she was, she was only a Tenderfoot in the Guides; but she was passing her tests jolly well, and it was that which brought her first up to Rhoda's notice.

For Rhoda is the leader of the Daffodil patrol. We've four patrols in our school—Daffodils, Dandelions, Dahlias, and Daisies—and she's the best leader we've got. She's been awfully decent to Rhoda, too, and coached her in the Guides' law and given her tips in First Aid, to say nothing of helping her over her Union Jack to cut out all she knew all about it. In fact, she had been the second-class badge.

"I'd do anything in the world for her," I heard Rhoda say. But, of course, I soon shut her up; what's the use of the kind of talk when there's such lots of things in the world to do as I told her. "I said, 'If you fraze on like that, if you get into her patrol later on, you'd better buck up and get your second-class badge. She doesn't care about shirkers, and never did.'"

"I'm not one, even if I do like her awfully," said Rhoda; which was true—she's got spirit, that kid. "And I'm working rightlily hard; but, all the same, I'd go through fire and water for Rhoda. I'd—Well, just wait and see!"

"It's a bit hard on you, Rho, old girl," I said one afternoon when, whole crowd of Brownies, the Tenderfoots, was all around her showing "knots" and asking questions. "Let them worry their own heads off over their knots; it'll do them good."

Hilda was there, and she pressed closer to Rhoda with some kind of a muddle she was in.

"Oh, I'll help you on too some day in exchange," said Hilda excitedly. We all shouted with laughter. But it seemed that she hadn't meant to be cheeky; for she looked frightfully squashed. "But—I will, anyway!" she said, looking round. "You've got to forget the story about the lion and the monkey, I suppose, but I haven't. Rho's the Lion, and I'm the monkey!"

"Shut up, kiddie!" said Rhoda. "If you want help I'll give it; if not, not at all!"

"How many badges has Rho got?" Hilda asked me in the dormer that night.

"Cyclist, swimmer, signaller, and needlewoman's their own heads off attend, I said—I was rather glad to show Rhoda off—and she's working for the Pathfinder."

"No doubt she wouldn't object to the bronze cross if you'd kindly bring it along," I said.

Now, as every Guide knows, the bronze cross is the special distinction that every Guide longs to win some day; it can be gained by some special sort of heroism, or for frightful risk in saving life. I've only known one person that ever won one. But I said what I said meaning to rag Hilda a bit; and I thought no more about it.

I've only known one person that ever won one. But I said what I said meaning to rag Hilda a bit; and I thought no more about it.

And that was just about half-term; the and I were out together working up for our Pathfinder badge. We'd been making a map for ourselves, and marking in the various points that we wanted to remember; suddenly Rho gave a start.

"Whatever's up?" I said.

"Lock!" said Rhoda; and for the life of me I didn't see that there was much to start about—just a scout sign on a piece of paper, which, as every Guide knows, means in scout language, "This road to be followed."

When a monkey finds this, in its greed it inserts a paw at each opening, closes them on the sugar, and then starts to eat. I was just about to open them again and dropping the sugar. Rather than do this the greedy rascal will attempt to escape with the sugar on his paws, and so he easily escapes.

Rejected Advice. Alice—Which of his letters did you give your bunch of prominent little kittens? The ones he told me to—

No Money Needed

There is a tiny island in the South Atlantic ocean where the inhabitants will not cook at money.

During the whole of last year they had only $100 on the island, and that was locked up on the sands. If you could visit them and offer them your purse they would turn it aside with a curt "No thanks."

These weird people live in a little British "Garden of Eden," nearly world. Ships pass far out to sea, but only one British battleship stops to call every year. For ten years they saw no ship, and knew not what was going on in the lands beyond their ocean. When the war was nearly over they learned all about it in one day—the day when the battleship called with newspapers and mails from England.

This loveliest island of British Dominion is Tristan da Cunha. It is really a volcanic peak, rising some 8,000 feet above sea-level, in the middle of the ocean, midway between Cape Horn and South Africa, with St. Helena, where Napoleon was banished, the nearest inhabited land, 1,700 miles away. It has been a British possession more than 100 years, and its population of British origin now numbers only 119 men, women and children.

In 1885 a disaster befell the inhabitants, then numbering ninety-three. A vessel was in distress off the island, and the sixteen males set out in their small boat to attempt a rescue. Their boat foundered, and fifteen of the men were drowned, leaving only one man among a community of widows and fatherless children.

Then the British government took parental interest in the Community and provided educational and other facilities, and permitted a vessel to call there once a year.

The people live entirely on their own exertions. They eat mostly potatoes and meat, keep large numbers of cattle, sheep and pigs, make most of their necessities, and rely upon the outside world for clothing.

This romantic little island counts the ordinary things of a larger rare delicacies. Tea, cocoa, sugar, flour, and sweets or toys for the children are welcomed with festive days when they arrive from friends in England once a year.

POEM TO LEARN.

It Can't Be Done. How did the world get started, son? Why some one said, "It can't be done!" That settled it. The troglodyte came out of darkness into light.

"It can't be done!" somebody said. And lo! the green fields grew as broad. With taunt ringing in his ears, Has man gone upward through the years.

You should have seen the mill wheels run. When some one said, "It can't be done!" "It can't be done!" they said before A sail put out to sea from shore.

Since world's remote and dismal dawn Those magic words have spurred us on.

It drove Columbus where the sun Went redly down, "It can't be done!" "It can't be done!" the weakling said, And lo the Wrights flew overhead.

"It can't be done!" was what they cried. When Fulton offered them a ride. They said it, and Marconi sent His message through the firmament.

That is the way it happened, son. Prate God for this, "It can't be done!"

No Money Needed

There is a tiny island in the South Atlantic ocean where the inhabitants will not cook at money.

During the whole of last year they had only $100 on the island, and that was locked up on the sands. If you could visit them and offer them your purse they would turn it aside with a curt "No thanks."

These weird people live in a little British "Garden of Eden," nearly world. Ships pass far out to sea, but only one British battleship stops to call every year. For ten years they saw no ship, and knew not what was going on in the lands beyond their ocean. When the war was nearly over they learned all about it in one day—the day when the battleship called with newspapers and mails from England.

KATIE DID! DIDN'T! "I got there first!" "You did not, Roy Allen, and you know it!" cried Alice in an angry voice.

Grandma had been hearing shrill words like that every day of her visit. She saw it had become such a habit for the children to contradict each other that the sharp answer would slip out before they thought whether it was true or not. All this made Grandma Allen sad.

Would you guess that was the reason why she asked their papa to bring on Friday? Anyway, Grandma Allen did not plan for them to get a tire puncture just by the turn of the long woody hill.

"I like to sit here and listen to the kattydids," said Alice. "Listen; there's one that says 'Katy didn't!'" "That was true. It seemed even as if two of the queer little insects were answering each other.

"Katy did!" "Katy didn't!" "Katy did-did-didn't!" The children laughed. "That time is stammered," said Roy. "Just like an angry little child," said Grandma, gently; "one that has got so in the habit of contradicting that the words pop out the second its brother or sister speaks."

Everybody was quiet for a while after that, but the little kattydids were not. Their noise got to be very tiresome before father was ready to drive on again.

Just as they reached grandma's house Alice said something that Roy at once started to contradict. But remembering, they both cried out, "Katy did!"

"Maybe we aren't cured yet, but we will be soon. Come back and see if we aren't, grandma," they whispered.

NOT TOO SAD. There was a picture of Daniel in the lion's den in her aunt's drawing-room, and when Betty went to stay with that relative the picture interested the child a great deal.

The story was told to her, and she quite understood how the lions had been ordered not to hurt Daniel because he was a good man.

One day, however, her aunt came into the room and found Betty on a chair, beneath the picture, whispering in an excited tone to the lions. "Bite him a little bit. Betty wants to see."

"There's water power going to waste all over the country. We certainly ought to get that power turned into electricity. You young fellows shouldn't be led wrong on subjects like the St. Lawrence. There's power there to produce. That's where we go astray—not producing as much as possible as cheaply as possible. It's simple, nothing simpler, making things lighter and cheaper as far as possible."

On German manufactured power dumped on this market Mr. Ford said:

"They've got the mark banged down as far as they can bang it over there, so that they can get their work cheap. They give the workman a lot of cheap marks, a bushel of them. Buy a bushel of cabbage."

Before the war we were producing. During the war we were producing. We could have covered there if the dirt stop. Business brought on the war. I saw it coming when I was over there on my peace ship. I'd like to name for you the men that produced the situation where the rain strike seemed inevitable. I call some them and the time may come when I shall. I said last night there wouldn't be any strike. There's a need of talking about it now, but I'm sure as they're paid now have no particular reason to strike."

Mr. Ford, when noting, does not mention his own president, but transports his language. He rides in a $25,000 imported car.

Uncle Dick's Chat.

Dear Girls and Boys— Sometimes I feel like making one word out of girls and boys and calling them "Gyrs" or "Boys," so as not to make you feel I think more of the girls than I do of the boys, or the other way round. There's nothing finer than a happy, healthy, brave boy unless it is a healthy, brave, happy girl.

This week we have to celebrate two days and the Government of the Country has said that we shall put them together and on Thanksgiving Day give thanks in remembrance of the Armistice when the dreadful war ceased and it was time for peace to be once more. While we are remembering Thanksgiving Day, all the good things which we are given by our Heavenly Father—fresh air, sunshine, the lovely country where all good things grow for us to eat, our homes and the love we have in them, we must never forget that it was to keep all this safe for us that the soldiers went to fight. The best way to show our thankfulness to soldiers is not just to feel thankful, but to do whatever we can to care for or help returned soldiers. Many are still in hospital, some have not as much money as they might have had if they had stayed home, and some have sickness in the family.

Societies like the Red Cross, the Daughters of the Empire and others in towns and villages will be glad always to see that any help in the way of money or books gets to the men in hospitals. Or it may be there is someone near to you to whom the Children of the Corner may be kind for the sake of showing how much we honor those who were brave enough to fight for us overseas.

The same is true about those just generally grateful for everything we have. If we are really thankful, we will see that others who may not be so fortunate get a share.

Last week I told you about the dog who shared his drink of water. I know a lady living in the country who has not much money to give away, but she has a garden. In summer very often when she comes into town she brings a lot of flowers laid loosely in a box. These she gives to the little poor children who cluster round her as she walks through the city streets. Can't you think of some one in town who would like a bunch of pine, or evergreen with pretty cones on it, or rose haws if they have not all shrivelled up, or ground pine, "ragged robin," we used to call it, or tiny ferns to keep green all winter?

Almost everybody has something which they can give away if we only search to the right person to give it to. There's nothing such fun as being generous.

Uncle Dick is thankful for a lot of things and among them for all the splendid boys and girls of New Brunswick who can grow up into such fine men and women to make Canada a better place.

With much love, As always your Friend, UNCLE DICK.

TOM has been on his pocket farm for a number of weeks now and he's been having the time of his young life playing around and watching the hired men as they went about their daily chores. During lunch hour this afternoon, while one of the hired men was setting Tommy's feed trough, he saw a monkey in a play with it, but was soon warned by the hired man to be very careful or he'd get hurt. The dots will show you what it was and you'll readily see that Tommy would have been severely injured had he slipped with the — in any way.

ABOUT ANIMALS.

Novel But Effective. The South American Indian employs the following peculiar but effective method of capturing wild monkeys. Taking a cocoon, he cuts a hole in each end and just large enough to enable a monkey to insert its paw, but some lump sugar inside, and then places it in a growing spot.

When a monkey finds this, in its greed it inserts a paw at each opening, closes them on the sugar, and then starts to eat. I was just about to open them again and dropping the sugar. Rather than do this the greedy rascal will attempt to escape with the sugar on his paws, and so he easily escapes.

History of Little Moment Says Ford To Interviewer

Declares America is Greatest Land and Has Greatest People in World.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The one thing necessary in the nation today is for employers and employees to awaken to their opportunities, declared Henry Ford, who stopped here on his return from his automobile trip from Detroit to the East.

There is nothing wrong with industry, education, religion or politics, he said, if one's eyes are open to the truth, which is that life is really as simple as a Ford car.

The solution of all this discontent with which every one is pestered, he said, is just keeping busy and getting a decent return for it. The boys on my railroad out West keep so busy eight hours a day that they haven't time to think of striking. They know how to run a railroad and they get paid for it.

"Railroads should throw their stocks and bonds away as mine did and get down to business and make some money. The strike was threatened for the purpose of stock manipulation. It was called off because the manipulators accomplished some of their purpose and because they were scared."

"Necessary education is learning how to read and write and then working out ideas, mixing with people, getting experience. The schools are all right and their organization should go right on the way it is.

"History is bunk. What difference does it make how many times the ancient Greeks flew their kites?"

"America is the greatest land and has the greatest people in the world. We are the pioneer stock of the world, the ones who dared. We all came from the Old Country, in some sense. Your people were probably Irish or English. My own father was Irish. My mother was Pennsylvania Dutch. We can't help but win. We won the war not on a fluke, but we use it was right to win."

To Provide More Work. Ford is interested just now in providing work for as many thousands of men as possible. He is going to put 10,000 to work at the Green Island water electric power plant he looked over yesterday. He is going to put tens of thousands at work at Muscle Shoals, if he goes to it. What he would do with the power there he is not ready to say yet. The plant at Green Island, near Troy, will make half bearings. It will be ready about a year later.

Mr. Ford said that the St. Lawrence River ought to be made a canal. "The St. Lawrence route," he said, "from inland America, shortens the route to England, but it does not shorten it much to Germany, less to Poland, not at all to France, Spain, Italy, Africa or India.

"How about Scandinavia? How about Russia? The Northern ports haven't begun to handle the traffic they're going to handle. Russia is a storehouse. The Bolsheviks are just holding out for the best buying price on concessions there, and when they get what they want you'll see business boom.

"How about Ireland? I've got a plant there with $25,000,000 in it. We're just getting into Germany. You say they confiscated some of our Ford cars over there. I'll blame it on the Jewish business men. You blame it on any you want. They're the government over there, but remember it's business.

"It's a surprise to me that they confiscated them after they won the glowing contest. It was no surprise they won. I knew they could beat any damned thing put out over here.

"Now about the St. Lawrence again. I've been over that three or four times thinking about a canal.

"Where does our wool go to from the Central West? It goes to England. Why shouldn't the boats that take it over bring back suits? Why should we load those suits from big boats into little boats when the big boats can be made to go all the way from one end to the other?"

"Now, don't mistake me. I'm going to put barges on the Barge Canal. I believe in it. We use water all we can. It's cheaper. The Mississippi is going to be the same way some day not so far away. It will be dammed down around St. Louis.

"There's the water power going to waste all over the country. We certainly ought to get that power turned into electricity. You young fellows shouldn't be led wrong on subjects like the St. Lawrence. There's power there to produce. That's where we go astray—not producing as much as possible as cheaply as possible. It's simple, nothing simpler, making things lighter and cheaper as far as possible."

On German manufactured goods being dumped on this market Mr. Ford said:

"They've got the mark banded down so far they can hang it over there, so that they can get their work cheap. They give the workman a lot of cheap marks, a bushel of them to buy a bushel of cabbage.

"Before the war we were producing. We could have covered them all with bollards over there if they didn't stop. Business brought on that war. I saw it coming when I was over there on my peace ship. I'd like to name for you the men that produced the situation where the railroad strike seemed inevitable. I can name them and the time may come when I shall. I said last night there wouldn't be any strike. There's no need of talking about it now, but the men as they're paid now have no particular reason to strike."

Mr. Ford, when motoring, does not sacrifice his own product, but transports his baggage. He rides in a $25,000 imported car.

British Attitude Towards Soviets Not Settled

Feeling That Soviet Note on Indebtedness Does Not Go Far Enough.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The official British attitude in regard to the Russian Soviet Government's proposals for an international conference cannot yet be indicated for the simple reason that the British Government has not yet come to any considered conclusion on the subject. The Foreign Office which is a stickler for diplomatic language is not prepared to admit that Moscow has made any move which it can take cognizance of for the simple reason that Chamberlain's note was not communicated directly to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, but was issued to all and sundry by wireless from Moscow, and distributed from the Russian trade delegations of course in London. None the less, it is recognized in official circles that this further abandonment by the Soviet Government of its original position, is important, both as an indication of the situation in Russia and as a potential opportunity of putting international relations on a better footing than hitherto.

The Soviet offer to acknowledge certain Russian indebtedness does not go far enough. It is conditioned by claims which Great Britain, among other European governments, will be reluctant to admit. The success of the commercial agreement entered into between London and Moscow has not been great enough to encourage optimism in regard to Soviet undertakings. It is the contention of the British Foreign Office that the Soviet Government has broken some of its pledges given under that agreement. On the other hand it is held that Lenin and his colleagues are learning wisdom and should be encouraged to walk the path not for their own sakes but for the sake of the world at large.

The Prime Minister, it is believed, by those who know his habits of mind, will be inclined to give the Soviet Government the benefit of every doubt, because of his conviction that until Russia is brought again within the community of nations, the world cannot be set right. Liberal opinion here is generally disposed to take such a view.

Communism's Collapse. The Westminster Gazette hails Chamberlain's note as final proof that the great Communist experiment has collapsed, and argues that a recognition of the defects of the Government of Russia is elementary wisdom for other governments, because by restoring the normal trade it will hasten the national progress which are bringing Russia back from Communism, and will, at the same time, help to reopen one of the great markets whose closing is the chief cause of unemployment in other countries.

"The nations," it says, "are shortly to enter upon the great Washington Conference and they must be aware that the continued outlawry of Russia will leave a note of interrogation hanging over some of their decisions. Russia is potentially a great Pacific power and to leave her unpugged and her intentions unexplored, must be a dangerous hazard. We need not suppose that the Soviet Government itself has quite overlooked the Washington Conference. Lenin and Trotsky have shown more than once that, for all their economical aberrations they have a very shrewd eye for real politics and it is at least significant that they put in among their conditions that the Great Powers shall put an end without reserve to every act menacing the security of the Soviet Republic, and of the Far Eastern Republic also, and serve scrupulously their sovereign interests, the inviolability of their frontiers, and their territorial integrity." At the moment this may mean high language to be issued from Moscow about certain territories and governments which are very imperfectly within its control, but every sound political instinct warns us that what ever has to be reckoned with in those regions they should not, in the meantime, be left a "no man's land" and a temptation to ambitious expansionists in other countries."

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises. If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing, or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Farnin (double strength), add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breath-ing become easier and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Important Event in Methodist Circles At Detroit Nov. 15-17

Conference for Three Days of Prayer on Theme "World's Need and Our Reply."

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31.—One thousand delegates representing every part of the world and including thirty or more bishops of the church are expected here November 15-17 to attend a conference of the Methodist Episcopal church that is intended to become one of the most important meetings in the history of Methodism.

Objects of the conference are set forth in the following call that has been sent out by the committee on conservation and advance of the church:

"The purpose of this conference is to assemble representatives of the Methodist Episcopal church for three days of thanksgiving prayer and counsel on the general theme, 'The World's Need and Our Reply.' The conference will be held for information, inspiration and the deepening of the spiritual life of the whole church. It is hoped through this conference that America and all the world will hear the solemn voice of a great church, reiterating its loyalty and devotion to Christ as the hope of the world at a time when the moral and spiritual forces of the world are chaotic and unroused."

The conference is described by church officials as a "follow-up" of the centenary movement. The regular meetings of the council of boards of benevolence, the bishops, and the boards of the various missions and church extension will be held in conjunction with the conference.

It is announced that the bishops and the boards of the various missions and church extension will be held in conjunction with the conference.

In addition to the delegates, several hundred churchmen of both the clergy and laity from many parts of the country are expected to attend the sessions.

If Your Trouble Is Scrofula

As Often Acquired as Inherited. You have eruptions and sores, and perhaps enlarged glands of the neck. This blood disease affects the internal organs, especially the lungs, and if neglected may develop into consumption.

It causes many troubles, and is aggravated by impure air, unwholesome food, bad water, too much heat or cold, and want of proper exercise. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the blood-purifying medicine that has been used with so much satisfaction by three generations, is wonderfully successful in the treatment of scrofula. Give it a trial.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed, take Hood's Pills.

HEARTBURN A SEVERE CASE

Many people are troubled with heartburn who really do not realize just what it is. In cases of this trouble there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite. It is generally caused by great acidity of the stomach, and whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment and become extremely sour, causing heartburn. In such cases vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter. The one way to get rid of heartburn is to keep your liver active by using MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles such as constipation, jaundice, water brash, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, foul breath, etc. Miss Agnes Cutting, Shallow Lake Ont., writes: "I have had heartburn for a long time. There were gnawing and burning pains in my stomach, and then when I vomited there was a sour and bitter taste. I used two vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of my heartburn. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine." Price, 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Women of Canada. I ask from all the people of Canada an earnest review of the real issue before Canada today. I ask from men and women a calm, thoughtful consideration of serious public questions; and, so far as I am concerned myself, I ask for justice and fairness.—ARTHUR MEIGHEN. WOMEN OF CANADA, the coming General Election will be one of the most momentous in Canadian history, and Arthur Meighen asks YOU to give the issue fair, unbiased consideration. Women and men alike are called upon to decide whether political, industrial and economic stability is to be replaced by class rule, political and industrial chaos and possible economic bankruptcy. The facts are clear, and every Canadian woman will do her own thinking. She will not be misled by others. She will not blindly follow family political precedent, neither will she be carried away by the false theories or empty "isms" of theorists and extremists. Every woman will arrive at a personal decision by the application of practical common sense. The great issue is the Tariff and here are briefly the facts. The present Canadian Tariff, so far as it affects the necessities of life, is a very moderate one. It is simply a tariff maintained to keep Canadian factories in Canada, employing a steadily increasing volume of Canadian labor and developing Canadian resources. Meighen stands firm for the continuance of a reasonable tariff. It is now even more imperative than in the past. All other important countries are retaining or increasing their tariffs in order that they may hold their home markets for their own people. Under Crerar's Free Trade policy Canada would be swamped with foreign goods, principally from the United States. Canadian industry would be ruined, thousands of men and women would be out of work with all the hardships to themselves and their children that must result. The farmer's great home market would be seriously affected, taxes would be increased, and Canadian working men would have to go to the United States for employment. While King's Tariff policy is wobbly it nevertheless tends toward the destruction of the Tariff and would bring with it practically the same results. MEIGHEN'S POLICY EVERYBODY KNOWS. It is the only means whereby confidence may be maintained and employment given to all classes of the people. The foregoing is a plain statement of logical conclusions arrived at from the facts. Think the matter over carefully "without favor but with fairness". Make your own decision, stand by it unmoved and be sure to exercise your vote. Canada Needs Your Vote; and— Canada Needs Meighen. Bonds Held Sway In Trading On New York Market

Various Domestic and Foreign Issues Floated During War Registered Highest Prices.

New York, Nov. 4.—Trading in bonds again overshadowed dealings in all other securities on the stock exchange today. Various domestic and foreign issues floated during the war registered highest prices for a year or more.

Liberty bonds and Victory notes continued to move forward under the impetus given the investment demand by nationwide indications of easier conditions. Most of the Liberty series, at their new high records, showed extreme gains of ten to one hundred points. Victory 3 1/2's were at their maximum for the year and Victory 4 1/2's duplicated yesterday's record quotations of par.

Among the foreign bonds—many of which suffered acute depression while the war was in its most uncertain stages—today's strength was most marked in French government issues and Belgian government 7 1/2's, those gaining 1 1/2 and 3 points respectively.

Other European bonds, including many municipal issues, displayed notable strength and Chilean government issues sold at a premium over yesterday's subscription price. Railroad bonds and similar issues of domestic companies were only moderately better reflecting the uncertainty tone of the stock market. Total sales (par value) aggregated $22,275,000.

Dealings in stocks were altogether governed by technical conditions. Issues in which the short interest was believed to be dominant moved hesitantly, but became heavy in the final hour when call-money rose from five to five and a half per cent. Sales amounted to $7,000,000.

The foreign exchange was featured by another slump in German marks to 43 cents and weakness in Greek and Central European currencies. British, French and Italian bills were firm, improvement in sterling being associated with latest aspects of the Irish situation.

CHINA LEANS ON AMERICA FOR DEVELOPMENT

Dr. Sze, Minister to U. S., Explains Country's Attitude Towards Arms Parley.

New York, Nov. 4.—Dr. So-Ke A-fred Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, delivered an address at Columbia University last night in which he made direct reference to China's attitude toward the coming Washington conference on problems of the Far East.

"The development of China," said Dr. Sze, "if properly directed can be a great world benefit; if improperly directed, it may become a world menace. They are two ways of obtaining supplies from China. One way is accomplished by force to the upbuilding of something which the world was demonstrated cannot exist in the modern world. The other way is through Chinese self-development which will benefit the whole world, ourselves along with you.

"The development of China is not a matter that can be played with. Not only is it vital that America lead in this development, but we must remember that the development is going on and will go on whether you participate or not. Every stage of Chinese development will vitally affect your own industrial status.

Confidence in America.

"China is entering this Washington conference wholeheartedly, with full confidence in the motives of the American people in their attempt to bring about better conditions in the Pacific and the world generally. American policy toward China has always been friendly and constructive. We have full appreciation of America's altruism toward Asia, because one of the only two foreign policies which the United States has ever developed since it became a nation, applies to Asia. I refer to the open door policy, of equal opportunity, which was announced originally by John Hay, Secretary of State, a quarter of a century ago.

"The open door policy has been happily likened to your Monroe Doctrine, which applies to the young republics of the New World. As I understand your Monroe Doctrine, it means that the new republics of the New World are to be protected from foreign aggression while they work out their own self-development.

"In assisting in this development of the republics of the New World you do not claim monopolistic privileges to the exclusion of others. You are quite willing that all nations of the world shall compete with you in the business and industrial development of the American continent.

Sincere Friendship of China.

"Now, that is a doctrine which we understand, and as we view your open door policy, we believe that it means almost exactly the same thing. You are fighting for the principle of self-development on the continent of Asia, and as such we are fighting for exactly the same principle. We want the right of self-development, the right to preserve our markets open to all that it that you would have us enjoy.

"You have demonstrated the benefits of this doctrine in your relations with Mexico, with Cuba, with Canada. You have brought about a condition of peace among the nations of the New World that all nations approach the ideal. We believe that this ideal by you will accomplish the same ideals among various nations that border on the Pacific, and in your efforts you can assist upon the largest possible assistance of China's 400,000,000 people, whose friendship you have and who trust you to a tremendous degree.

"If China were to be given the right of self-development unhindered by outside aggressive political, territorial and economic influences, China will make her contribution to world reconstruction, and when that reconstruction will be sufficient prosperity for all our near neighbors as well as our distant neighbors."

Her officers report weather conditions favorable. Last week the Acadia worked from the L'Anse-au-Loup, St. John. Those in charge of the work state there is little or no deviation in soundings as marked in the charts and taken by the survey of 1862. On her way back the lanes leading south from the Luncheon were re-surveyed.

LIPTON MUST WAIT
 Another Chance
 Possibility of Having Yacht Race Next Season is Very Slim.
 It will be several years before Sir Thomas Lipton gets another chance for America's cup—if he wants one. Recent activities of the titled tenniser in England indicate that he has not given up the ambition of his life to own the fastest yacht in the world, and that he may challenge the New York Yacht Club for another race next summer.
 In a period when money is not just the looziest thing on the market, a million dollar yacht race is not the best thing to get back to normalcy, and for that reason the New York Yacht Club probably will discourage any attempt for another race next year, according to opinion prevalent here.
 The yacht club cannot discuss a challenge until it has been received, but, nevertheless, prominent members of the club have expressed the individual opinion that the cup will be kept on the shelf for at least two more years.
 Lipton is said to be considering plans now for another addition to the Shamrock family of challengers. When he falls in his million dollar venture to beat Resolute last summer and win the cup, it was thought that he would be through. But he is persistent.
 Two of his Shamrocks are now high and dry at Jacob's shipyard, City Island. They will remain there however, it is believed, and a new Shamrock will be built and sailed over to compete in the next race.
 For the same reason that an American cup race is not probable in 1922, it is logical to believe that King Albert's cup race across the Atlantic will not be on the 1922 programme.

Sailing Dates
 Announced for New White Star Liners
 Routes and initial sailing dates have now been definitely fixed for the big new White Star liners Majestic and Homeric according to an announcement made yesterday by the White Star-Dominion Line. The Homeric, formerly the 36,000 ton German liner Columbus, will make her first sailing in the company's service from Southampton on Feb. 23 next, and eastbound from New York on March 8, while the Majestic, which is the 36,000 ton ex-German liner Blamark, will leave Southampton April 5, and New York April 16.
 The Homeric, Majestic and Olympic will maintain the company's regular service between Southampton, Cherbourg and New York. The Adriatic, which is at present on this route, will be transferred to the Liverpool-New York route, which it will maintain in company with the Baltic, Celtic and Celtia. It is expected that initial sailing dates for the new White Star-Dominion liners Regina and Droie, both of which will be seen on the Montreal route next season, will be announced within a few days.
 Sir Bertram P. Hayes, now commanding the Olympic, will take over the Majestic when commissioned, while Captain A. E. E. Hamblaton, who is at present commanding the Olympic, is expected to fall to Captain P. B. Howard, now in charge of the Baltic.

Many Seamen Unemployed
 There are 32 master mariners states and second mates out of employment in Halifax, caused by the depression in shipping. It was learned last night that one captain yesterday stated that he has been going to sea for 33 years, paying his taxes all that time, and is unable to get a position of any kind aboard the Canadian Government Merchant Marine fleet, he claimed that the C. G. M. M. fleet is officered principally by men others than Canadians.
 He also cited an instance where an ocean-going man holding first-mate's deep-water certificate applied for a position aboard one of the C. G. M. M. boats. The application went to Montreal but he never even received a reply thereto, it was said.

SPRUCE LAKE WATER EXTENSION ENQUIRY WAS CLOSED LAST NIGHT

Principal Evidence Was "No, I Did Not See It Myself But Somebody Told Me So." — Other Evidence Was That Pipe Was More Than Up To Specifications.

"No I did not see it myself but somebody told me so," was the principal evidence at City Hall last night in connection with the supposed faulty work on the Spruce Lake water extension, while on the other hand the evidence that the pipe was more than up to specification was direct and to the point from men who made a personal inspection and testified from first hand knowledge.

Herbert Nerin. The first witness called was Herbert Nerin. His duty while with the company was to put the cement into the mix and he had put at least two bags in every batch and sometimes more. This year in addition to the sand, gravel and cement there had been added a small quantity of clay. He had added between ten and fifteen years experience in concrete work. He would consider all the pipe made was good, although that last year was a little rough on the outside. The clay added this year had made a smoother and better looking pipe.

In answer to a question of Mr. Mullin the witness said he had had some conversation with Mr. Bruce about the application of Mr. Ryan for the job as inspector and Mr. Bruce had said Ryan would not get the job but had not said anything about using his influence to that end.

Thomas Sharkey was called and again failed to answer and Robert Harris was sworn and told of serving the notice on Mr. Sharkey.

Harry Smith. Harry Smith was then called. He said his work was to cement the joints of the pipe after it was laid. So far as he knew the cement was put on to save the iron pipe from rusting and to keep out dirt from the joint. He had not seen any broken pipe and he had seen all but 26 pipes. In answer to Mr. Mullin the witness said he had never patched any broken pipe in the yard. In answer to Mr. Weyman the witness said the iron was painted and the concrete would not stick to the painted surface.

Mr. Mullin said a name had been given to him, that of Fred B. Hazen who had promised to be on hand between 8.30 and 9 o'clock and he would like to have this man on the stand. Commissioner Jones said all the names given to him had now been called and unless the Company wanted to call some witness he would call the city witnesses. Mayor Schofield said Sharkey was the important witness as he was the man who was said to have seen the broken pipe and he decided to send the police after him. Mr. Ryan had stated that it was from Mr. Sharkey he got the information about broken pipe.

Mr. Ryan here interjected "Sharkey told me Smith fixed broken pipes in the yard and Smith says he did not." Col. Weyman said the company had no witnesses they desired to put on the stand and the city engineer said so far as he was concerned he did not think the evidence as already given stand, for it showed the city had received a good job.

Mr. Ryan again interjected, "Sharkey told me he saw pipe cracked from end to end in the yard and saw the pipe leak at eight pounds pressure."

The City Engineer. G. G. Hare, city engineer was asked to take the stand and tell what had been done in the way of inspection. He said that last year he had visited the works between six and ten times and the specifications were more than lived up to in the pipe made. In no case would the specification call for more than eleven bags of cement to the finished pipe and more than this.

George Ballantyne. George Ballantyne said the materials going into the concrete were all good. He had never seen any broken pipe and there had been no broken pipe laid. Had seen chips taken out of the gravel but had never seen any go into the mix. He had seen the leaks but had not counted them, was sure there was not more than twelve.

Arthur Blake. Arthur Blake, inspector on the work from July 1st last until pipe making was completed said the materials going into the concrete were good and put in in the right proportions. The concrete was the highest class he had ever seen made. In answer to the Mayor the witness said he had never seen any broken pipe laid.

C. C. Kirby. C. C. Kirby, resident C. P. R. engineer made an inspection of the work and seen all the processes connected with its manufacture. He considered the finished product a splendid piece of work and he considered it a first class job. He thought the introduction of the clay a good idea and the system of laying could not be improved on in his estimation. The mixture was an exceptionally rich one, in fact the richest he had ever seen in pipe work.

In answer to the Mayor he said he did not think the evidence as already given stand, for it showed the city had received a good job.

Gave Some Figures. George Ballantyne gave some figures to show the leakage in the pipe was gradually diminishing. Two pipes had been placed under test on October 28 at a pressure of 20 lbs. to the square inch, a 23 1/3 overload and developed a leakage a little in excess of that allowed for in the 12 feet in 24 hours. The next day under a pressure of 18 pounds the leakage had been 31 gallons; with the pressure reduced to 15 pounds the pressure it was designed for the leakage had gone down 19 1/2 gallons. This ended the enquiry.

King's Daughters' Regular Meeting. Arrangements Made for a Service on Second Sunday in November.

Arrangements for a service on the second Sunday in November to be held under the auspices of The King's Daughters were made at the regular meeting of the society held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. A. Clark, President, presided. The devotional service was led by Miss Alice Rising, her subject being "Trust." Miss Laura McLaughlin, reporting for the Spiritual Committee, told of plans for a service at Central Baptist Church to be addressed by Mrs. Whitmore whose special subject will be Work among Girls. Mrs. Whitmore is a Social Service Worker.

For the Hospital Committee of which Mrs. Robt. McLaughlin is convener, it was reported that the hospital has been visited by members of the Ministering Circle.
