Dress Goods, Dress Making.

We cannot tell too much about the advantage of being able to buy your Dress material and have them made up at the same place. No worry looking for odds and ends of trimmings, linings, etc. We attend to everything and charge you only for what you need. No extras.

A $15.00 Serge Suit for $11.50

How ridiculous, you ask? It looks so, but listen! A great many large clothing houses have been in financial difficulties this past spring, and as a result have had to sell their goods at a sacrifice. This has been to our advantage, and we in turn, give it to you. It will pay you to investigate this matter, and get the PLUM OF THE SEASON at a saving of over 30 per cent. There are only 50 suits in this lot. If you haven't the money, it will pay you to borrow it, but don't miss this chance of getting well dressed at such a low figure.

Blouses, Blouses.

Sizes 32 to 42. Black, white and colored. Some to button in the front, others in the back, but every one is a beauty and a work of art. Our special number is a white lawn waist with insertion trimming at the low price, 50 CTS. EACH.

Base Ball Vs. A Dissatisfied Chathamite.

In the Chatham World of last week there was an anonymous article, under the heading of "A Dissatisfied Chathamite" relating to the game of ball played between the Royal Oaks of that town, and the Y. M. C. A. team of Newcastle on July 12th. The writer of the article stated that the Royals had to play the Y. M. C. A. team, Spectators and the Umpire, which statement is absolutely false. He also stated that the Umpire was the team's spare man, which is no better than his other statement. When a matched game of ball is being played there is always more or less cheering done, but by the writer's talk there is none of this done in Chatham. When a base ball team from Newcastle had to leave the diamond, put their coats on and got into their wagon to go home last year in Chatham, there was never anything said about it, but because there was a little cheering on the 12th, one who calls himself a "Spectator" had to publish an article, condemn, ing their opponents. Newcastle ball players have always been noted for their fairness when playing a game of ball, which is much more than can be said of the majority of the Chatham players. The game played in Chatham Wednesday the 9th inst., was the fairest game ever played there; "No thanks to the players" but to the Umpire, Mr. Wm. Walsh, who is an up-to-date ball player. Mr. Patrick Keating, the gentleman who umpired the game on the 12th inst., is by no means the spare man of the team, but is one of their best players, and not being able to get another person who could umpire the game they were obliged to select him, and substitute another player in his place. The Royals, seeing that they could not win the game, by their playing, began the "Bluff" act but they soon found that they could not bluff the game from the Newcastle boys. Hoping that the Royals and their admirers will learn the game a little better before their next meeting. I am BALL PLAYER.

King Edward's Health.

His Progress Towards Recovery Surprises Doctors—Rises Now For Breakfast.

COWES, Isle of Wight, July 20.—King Edward today attended divine services, conducted by Commodore Lambton, commander of the Victoria and Albert. Queen Alexandra and the others of the Royal Family on the yacht were present. A cold northeast wind necessitated the enclosing of the sides and stern of the deck where the king usually stays. His majesty now rises at 9 o'clock in the morning and takes his breakfast a half an hour later after which he is visited by his physicians. The king's progress continues to surprise his doctor.

TRACY HAS BEATEN POLICE AND HOUNDS.

After 40 Days' Chase, Effort to Capture Oregon Outlaw Has Ended in Failure.

TORONTO, Wash., 19.—After 40 days of continual pursuit by police and blood hounds, all organized effort to capture Harry Tracy, the escaped Oregon convict, has ended. No further hopes will start after him. The pursuit of Tracy, through Clark, Cowitz, Lewis, Thurston, Pierce, Kittap, Snolensh and King counties has cost these counties $10,000. The fact that Oregon declines to pay Mrs. Waggoner of Chehalis the reward for Merrill's body, has done much toward the dropping of the Tracy hunt.

The body of David Merrill, the escaped convict, has been delivered at the Oregon penitentiary after being brought here by Mrs. Waggoner, who found the body near Chehalis. The body was readily identified and interred in the prison cemetery without ceremony. Mrs. Waggoner made a formal demand for the reward of $1,000. Superintendent Lee declined to pay the amount, offering her $300 for her trouble and expense and explaining that the reward could be paid only for the capture of the convict and not for the mere finding of his body by accident.

Mrs. Waggoner refused the amount offered and made a formal written demand for the full reward, to be presented to Governor Geer.

A Triple Tragedy.

ATOKA, L. T., July 19.—Near Strongtown Thursday night, Mrs. Daniel Grant, her daughter, Mrs. John Reeves, and a man named Nuckles, were waylaid and killed while returning from church. Mrs. Reeves had been separated from her husband about eight months, and prior to that time the couple had lived with the Grant family. Thursday night Nuckles accompanied Mrs. Reeves to church. As they were returning to the Grant home in a wagon, they were halted, Nuckles was made to get out and was shot. Mrs. Grant was shot while she was sitting in the wagon. Then as the team bolted Mrs. Reeves was shot. Mrs. Grant and Nuckles were killed instantly and Mrs. Reeves lived only a few minutes. The murder's name is not yet known.

MONSTER FLOODS

Most Costly Deluge in history of Mississippi River.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

Lost by Water. The Devastation is most appalling—Crops Destroyed.

KEOSAUKEE, Iowa, July 20.—Exploration of the flooded districts of the Mississippi River from Keosauke south, shows conditions beyond the appreciation or realization of any but those of long experience with the father of waters in its most destructive mood. The situation is growing worse hourly and a great conflagration in a great city would not be more rapidly destructive of values. There is absolutely not the slightest chance of stopping this most costly flood in the history of the great river above St. Louis.

A correspondent of the Associated Press went all over the most devastated area in the steamer Silver Crescent and found everywhere the greatest crops ever known under water deep enough to float a steamboat.

People at the cities give accounts of losses aggregating many millions of dollars. Hundreds of farmers rich ten years ago, are penniless and homeless.

Careful estimates gathered from the statements of best informed people indicate the loss up to today is about six million dollars, with every prospect of two or three millions additional by the rise above not yet reaching the lower stretches of the river.

Most of this loss is on the Missouri side of the river between Keosauke and Hannibal.

KEOSAUKEE, Iowa, July 20.—The flood thus far is on the Missouri side from Keosauke to Louisiana, with Canton and West Quincy as centres of the country hurt worst. On the Illinois side are three continuous levees for 40 miles from Warsaw to Quincy above the water, which are thus far safe, but farmers are afraid of the crevasse from Muskrat Hollow and every rod of the redbelt is watched day and night. The break of these levees would flood 175 square miles in Illinois and destroy $5,000,000 of corn. The levees below Quincy are in the same situation except that they are lower and less firm.

Opposite Quincy in Missouri is still another centre of special devastation which is appalling. North 12 miles to Language and south to Holton, large prairies are well under water, reaching from the Illinois bluffs to the Missouri bluffs, at least ten miles. Levees hastily thrown around farms are disappearing in a fierce current rushing from above through the draw of the Burlington bridge, carrying everything before it.

Congress Trave, ten miles square, is deserted, the population having fled to Quincy and the bluffs on the Missouri side from which they watch the complete destruction. Facus river, fifteen miles above Hannibal, is high and furnishes a route for the Mississippi to flank the levees, as the Gox river does 40 miles up the Mississippi. This flanking movement makes even the highest Missouri levees ineffective. Around Lamoine, Silverton, Hatch Station, Quincy and Ashburn. North of Hannibal, there is more wheat than at other places and all in the shock is washed away. The chief crop there is corn, however, and there is the same ruin as at other places.

KEOSAUKEE, Iowa, July 20.—Levees protecting the Missouri bottom between Keosauke and Quincy, stood the strain of today's flood which failed to overflow them. The Egyptian levee is still several inches above the Des Moines river, which is now stationary here at its mouth. Reports from Ottumwa show a fall of two feet. The only threatening indications tonight are heavy clouds at Okemo. Our heavy rain should come, the Des Moines will begin to fall here tomorrow. The situation is much brighter. The Mississippi here shows a stage of 15.4 feet, the highest since 1897, and is still rising, but not as fast as it was this morning. The crest of the Mississippi will probably pass here tomorrow. Great damage has already been done, but the worst is probably over.

IN BLONDIN'S DEFENCE.

Council Claims He Will Try to Prove an Alibi.

BOSTON, July 19.—The Post credits to Lawyer John H. Morrison, counsel for J. Wilfred Blondin, under indictment for the murder of his wife, whose body was found in the Chelmsford road in April, 1901, the following statement: An alibi for Blondin himself, sworn affidavits to support it and more than that, documentary evidence which will show, according to them, that Mrs. Blondin was alive and well on the date on which the indictment states that Mrs. Blondin was murdered and after, the evidence in the possession of the defence with which they will attempt to knock the props from the government case.

CANADA'S HONOR ROLL.

Lord Kitchener's Latest Official Report From South Africa.

TORONTO, July 23.—The Telegram's special cable from London, says: Lord Kitchener, in his last official despatch to the Gazette, mentions the following names of Canadians who took part in the action at Bosch-bult on March 31st: Surgeon Devine, Canadian Mounted Rifles, for good service. Lieut. Bruce Carruthers, Canadian Mounted Rifles, who fought until all his men were killed or wounded. Private Kelly, Canadian Mounted Rifles, who as hospital orderly did especially good work under heavy fire. Corporal J. A. Wilkinson, Canadian Mounted Rifles, to be sergeant lance corporal. B. Bond and Private Beth, both promoted to rank of corporal for good work in Carruthers' party. They were especially noticeable in rallying troops. Corporal E. C. Pearce, Canadian scouts, gallantry in action on April 4th. Sergeant J. C. Perry Canadian Mounted Rifles, killed after good service at Boschbult. Private C. N. Evans, Canadian Mounted Rifles, also killed at Boschbult, who after being mortally wounded fired two bandoliers of ammunition and then broke his rifle to prevent the enemy securing it. Sergeant H. A. Lee, at Boschbult, twice tried to carry a despatch through the enemy's lines under heavy and close fire.

St. Vincent.

NEW YORK, July 19.—A despatch has been received here from St. Vincent, cables the Port of Spain, Trinidad, correspondent of the New York American, stating that the island is in consternation over a series of earthquake shocks. The tremblings began Thursday morning and were so severe that all the business houses of Kingstown were deserted. Many buildings were badly cracked by the shaking of the ground, and further news from the island is anxiously awaited.

Large Loss of Life.

NEW YORK, July 19.—A large loss of life is reported in the great fire here, cables the Glasgow Herald, correspondent of the Herald. The number of victims has not been ascertained. The homeless are being cared for as far as possible by government officials. Action is being taken to alleviate distress.

Earl of Minto Returning.

LIVERPOOL, July 19.—The Cunard line steamer Lucania which sailed for New York today, via Queenstown, had among her passengers the Earl of Minto, governor general of Canada, and Lady Minto, and Captain Henry Harford, the British consul at Manila, Philippine Islands, and R. F. and H. L. Deberry, the tennis players.

South African Trade.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Further inquiries at Cape Town into the trade situation in South Africa tend to show that the increase of American trade is solely owing, cables the London correspondent of the Tribune to the war in freight rates from New York to South Africa. So far most of the increase is in produce and breadstuffs, American flour ousting Australian and Argentine. All emphasis of the conservatism of the British, who refuse concessions, says the correspondent, which are cheerfully granted by pliant and energetic American.

Lost A Man Overboard.

CANNING, July 18.—The schooner Ita, Capt. Newcomb, while on her way from Parramatta to Kingsport, lost a man named Albert Phinney overboard by being struck by the foreboom.

Fire At Dorchester.

DORCHESTER, July 18.—Prompt and hard work by the officials prevented a serious conflagration at the Maritime Penitentiary last night. The fire was discovered in the woodworking factory about 8 o'clock. By the quick work of the officials it was extinguished before serious damage was done. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Marged at Toronto.

TORONTO, July 18.—Fred Lee Rice was buried in the parlour of the Toronto hotel at 8.20 to day for the murder of Consable Boyd in June 1901. The execution was carried out with remarkable decorum and was devoid of any sensational features. Only 33 people were present.

CROWNED HIMSELF.

That was a curious sort of impromptu coronation in which His Majesty King William IV. figured. Things did not go very well with Earl Grey's government after the second reading of the first reform bill had been carried by a majority of one in 1881, and one Friday in April they suddenly got the King to go down and prostrate Parliament in person. Somebody went off to the Tower to fetch the crown, and with a search body of attendants His Majesty drove down to the House of Lords. What happened there is described in Greville's "Memories".

The King ought not properly to have worn the crown, never having been crowned; but when he was in the robing room he said to Lord Hastings: "Lord Hastings, I wear the crown where is it?" It was brought to him, and when Lord Hastings was going to put it on his head, he said, "Nobody shall put the crown on my head but myself." He put it on and then turned to Lord Grey and said, "Now, my Lord, the coronation is over."

The crown did not fit very well, we are told, but the coronation was successfully effected.

DIED.

A. Newcastle, July 22nd. McEvoy Roman infant son of Mr. Mrs. Wm. Roman.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents on the 14th inst., by Rev. J. F. Eddy, Mr. James J. Dalby of Newcastle N. B., to Mrs. Marie Brynne, of Breton.

At the Methodist Parsonage on the 16th inst., by Rev. J. F. Eddy, Mr. Edward Travis to Miss Nellie Stewart, both of South Bay.

MOOSE J. W.

Centre of a Wonderful Fertile Prairie
District—Amazing Velocities—Good Luck—Farming Notes.

There was a time when the settlers at Moose Jaw, N.W.T., proposed to get another name, in the belief that the prospects of the town were improved by such a name. The name was Moose Jaw. There is no such idea now. The Moose Jawians are proud of their town, name and all. It is largely a railroad centre at present, being the divisional headquarters for a long stretch of the main line of the C.P.R., as well as the Soo line leading down into Dakota. It has 2,200 of its comfortable-looking people, as there are in western Canada, the men tall and bronzed by exposure to the winds of the prairie, the women pretty and fond of fine clothes.

Moose Jaw is essentially a home town, with a fine situation on the northern bank of the stream from which it takes its name, and which affords opportunity for boating at favorable seasons. How young it is may be best learned from the statement of a gentleman of a statistical turn of mind, who said that when he came to the town in 1895 there were only eight unmarried young ladies above sixteen years, while there were between 400 and 500 unmarried men. The chief import for a long while was young ladies, and now in Moose Jaw, according to one of its merchants, it is necessary to carry a large line of baby carriages, children's chairs and similar goods.

Moose Jaw is rather proud of its flour mill, which has 240 barrels daily capacity, and runs day and night. Mr. Donald McLean, the miller, had the distinction of so "whetting the royal appetite" when the Princess of Wales was at Calgary last fall and tasted some biscuits made from his flour that her Royal Highness specially ordered a barrel to be sent to the royal bakery. In connection with the milling of flour here it is to be noted that the bulk of the product finds its way into the ranching country to the west, and into the mining camps of British Columbia. A portion of the wheat also goes west, so that there is very little of a wheat blockade last fall in the Moose Jaw district, including the town itself, and four outlying elevator points. The production was somewhat over a million bushels in the district, 200,000 bushels being turned into flour at home. Between the town and country trade the merchants are very prosperous.

The greatest natural advantage is the wonderfully productive soil of the district. Granting the one thing needed, moisture, of which there has not been any lack in recent years, there seems to be no limit to the productiveness of the land, which is a rather stiff clay, without the black surface mould of the Indian Head district. The average wheat yield last year in the district was 35 bushels to the acre, probably 95 per cent. being No. 1 hard, of a peculiarly bright color much sought after by millers, and produced, it is believed, as a result of the dryness of the air during the season of ripening. A yield of 50 bushels of this sort of grain in spots here and there means enormous profit to the grower.

The return to the farmer, when everything is down to the lowest basis of cost, will be most gratifying. Even now the price of wheat is grumbling over. Here are some good-luck stories: A farmer last spring bought a quarter section of land, agreeing to pay $1,920. He got 100 acres of it in crop, and got an average of 40 bushels, his money return being over $2,000. Another crop like that will more than pay for the land and leave a handsome surplus. Another man, an Englishman, near Drinkwater, on the Soo line, bought some land last May, planted eighteen acres of flax about the first of June and got twenty bushels of flax seed an acre, worth over $1.50 a bushel. The crop gave enough net profit to pay for his quarter section. Another incident is even more remarkable. A farmer some little time ago, when things were not quite so good, offered his land to another for $1,500. The offer was refused, but the man who refused it said he would give the other half the crop for the privilege of working it for the season. He paid $2,200 for the value of the half-crop grown in one year on land he had refused to buy outright for $1,500. These are incidents that the reader may be inclined to think exaggerated and exceptional, and in some measure they may be so. But my nervous system has been built up, and I rest and sleep well. I can speak very highly of this preparation, knowing it to possess all the properties which I have failed to find in other remedies. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

RICH BLOOD Strong Nerves

When the blood gets thin and watery, as it usually does at this time of year, the nerves are first to suffer; they are starved and exhausted. Headache, dizzy spells, indigestion, weak action of the heart, languid, depressing feelings, weakness and functional derangements of the bodily organs are the result.

You can feel Dr. Chase's Nerve Food doing you good day by day, as it strikes at the root of trouble and creates new, rich blood. You can prove that it builds up new tissues and adds flesh if you weigh yourself each week while using it.

Mr. J. McFaul, carpenter, 315 Manning Avenue, Toronto, states:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for acute indigestion, nervousness and inability to sleep, and now, after a thorough test, I am pleased to say that my nervous system has been built up, and I rest and sleep well. I can speak very highly of this preparation, knowing it to possess all the properties which I have failed to find in other remedies. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto."

A Time of Anxiety and fear for Thousands Around Us.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Will Banish the Summer
Blues and Other Distresses That Make life Miserable and Unhappy.

This is the season when we hear men and women complaining about their unhappy and half-dead condition. They find that physical and mental energy has deserted them, and they are sinking deeply in the pit of despondency.

The hot summer weather always produces thousands of miserable feeling mortals. They lack nerve force, strength and true vitality. They cannot rest day or night, and life becomes a burden.

The great regulator, builder and strength-giver for all weary, worn-out and suffering people is Paine's Celery Compound, now so universally prescribed by medical men. When the great medicine is used at the season, languor, despondency, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, dyspepsia and digestive troubles are permanently banished, and men and women go about their duties and work with a vim, will and energy that indicate health and physical strength.

Mr. Anna Dawson, Wilkesport, Ont., says:

"I consider it a pleasure to put on record what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I have been afflicted with nervousness and sleeplessness. All ordinary medicines failed, and nothing met my case until I used Paine's Celery Compound. Now I never miss a night's sleep. I strongly recommend your medicine to all nervous sufferers."

The early varieties of the apple crop in Nova Scotia are a failure owing to the frost having killed the blossoms, but the prospects are fairly good for the winter varieties. Altogether only 50 per cent of an average crop is expected.

Experiments are being carried out at Toulon to determine what color submarines should be painted in order to render them least visible while under water.

If favorable weather continues in Manitoba and the North West, the estimated yield of wheat is placed at between 70,000,000 and 75,000,000 bushels.

A London despatch states that six hundred and ninety Boers surrendered near Calvinia, Cape Colony on the 9th inst., most of them being rebels. This brings the total number reported up to 19,000.

The failures in New Brunswick for the past six months was 17 against 36 in the same period last year. The assets were $52,025 against $110,310 last year, and the liabilities $142,725 against $206,725 in 1901.

The Department of Agriculture has been advised that the Imperial War Office has placed an order for 400 tons of oats with the Brackmen & Kerr Milling Co. of Victoria, B.C. The oats have to weigh 39 pounds to the Imperial bushel.

OVER THE WIRES.

Her Husband's Pockets.
At St. Louis, Mo., judge has decided that a married woman possesses the right of "visitation and search of her husband's pockets." In other words a wife is justified in "going through" her good man's clothes.

In the case in question the husband of a woman was inclined to spend his substance in riotous living, and the court held that in order to keep the pot boiling she could visit his trousers as they hung upon the bedpost and transfer therefrom necessary household appropriations.

The Cunard Line.
London, July 12.—The reiterated assertion that the Cunard Line has been absorbed by the Morgan Shipping Company is as unfounded as the previous reports of the same tenor. Negotiations in other quarters, however, are presently at issue in these despatches, are still pending.

Boers Object to Oath.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Orange River Colony, July 11.—Difficulty has arisen regarding the oath of allegiance. Many of the Boer commandants, field cornets and officials of the late Free State government, refuse to sign the oath, though few of them object to signing the document called "the declaration," acknowledging King Edward as their sovereign. The oath of allegiance, however, is much more binding.

The Coal Mine Horror.

JOHANNESBURG, Va., July 12.—One hundred and five are now dead from Thursday's explosion at the Rolling Mill Mine of the Amfria Steel Company. It is improbable that this record will be much increased. In no case, it is expected, will the list exceed 110 or 115. The mine workings, which it was dangerous to enter yesterday, were thoroughly explored by a searching party during the night.

Bad Complexion.

Has its Cause in Impure or Impoverished Blood.

To have a soft smooth skin, free from eruptions and unsightly blemishes, the blood must be maintained in a healthy condition.

Face powders, lotions and other toilet preparations may for a short time cover up a multitude of wrongs in the blood, but they cannot remove these red disfiguring pimples that are the bane of so many young ladies' lives.

Why not use Ferrazone? It is an all-purifying cure for the worst kind of skin disease, the most effective of all blood purifiers, and cures bad complexion by removing its cause.

Ferrazone invigorates and purifies, and cures bad complexion by removing its cause.

Ferrazone invigorates and purifies, and cures bad complexion by removing its cause.

Three Kingston doctors did their best for me and when they recommended Ferrazone, I tried Ferrazone. The first box helped me quite a little, and by the time I had used six boxes I was cured. Ferrazone is the remedy for all skin diseases of all kinds and I can highly recommend it." (Signed) Mary Shanley.

Growing girls, women, men, in fact everybody can derive untold benefit from Ferrazone. It is a tonic for the blood, brain and nerves, and worth its price ten times over to everyone who uses it.

Three weeks' treatment contained in a box of sixty-the chocolate coated tablets cost 50¢, or three boxes for $1.25. Sold by all druggists or sent direct to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

King Edward was taken aboard the royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, at Portsmouth yesterday. The embarkation was strictly private.

George Mercier, a barber, jumped into the Ottawa River from the International Bridge on Sunday, saying as he did so, Good-bye, boys!

The first New Brunswick cheese shipment of the season will be made by Dillon & Bowken of St. John at the end of this week. They will send to England 1,200 boxes.

There is not, it is said, a living Japanese thirty-five years old who can say his parents were Christians when he was born. The work done in Japan has been wrought in one generation.

At present out of the 100,000 Chinese in the United States, 1,600 are Christians. Much is being done in the hope of Christianizing the 98,400 who are worshipping the gods of their fathers.

A ROMANTIC STORY.

Deeds of Cecil Rhodes at Place of Peace—Work of Ancient Miners —Seekers' Torches.

One can easily appreciate the circumstances which induced the dead Colossus to select for his resting place the solemn, peaceful grandeur of the Matopos Hills. For it was there that the most tragic episodes of his life were enacted, and it was there also that in the dark days of the Matopos rebellion he so nobly and willingly sacrificed himself in the cause of Empire.

But of the many brave deeds performed by the men who took part in what has been described as "the race for the V.C." near the place where he is buried, none surpassed the act of heroism by which Mr. Rhodes brought the war to an end. Unarmed, he rode into the heart of the enemy's encampment, called a great assembly of the chiefs, and proclaimed peace. The rock upon which Mr. Rhodes sat at this historic assembly is now a tranquil spot, mostly of about one hundred feet, the place of his sepulchre—a tomb more enduring than the Pyramids.

The Matopos Hills stretch in a north-easterly direction from Bulawayo for a distance of a hundred miles, their greatest breadth being forty-five miles. The place of burial is situated about thirty miles from the town.

Near by is a part of the hills which bears the important title of "The World's View." The prospect from any chosen summit makes a deep impression on the spectator. It is impressive without being picturesque. As far as eye can see there is spread out before him a panorama of treeless mountains of varied shapes, mostly of about one hundred feet, the place of his sepulchre—a tomb more enduring than the Pyramids.

The predominant note is massive-ness and stability; for the hills are of granite; but the hardness is toned down by the green of the lower foliage and the soft, velvety azure of the sky above. It was the poet, in Cecil Rhodes put an end to the outbreak.

In places the traveler comes upon groups of ruins which in this out-of-the-world region strangely stir the imagination. It is difficult to realize that these habitations were occupied by gold seekers so long ago as 1000 B.C. When one thinks of Rhodesia it is invariably of the great possibilities which the future holds for the country. But what of Rhodesia's past? Three thousand years ago men as gold-hungry as the "greenest" prospector of to-day scoured the Matopos and the surrounding country for the precious metal. These crumbling ruins once contained the furnishings for the retorting and smelting of the gold.

In many quarters huge excavations are found where the ancients dug far down into the bowels of the earth in search of the metal. Several of these mines are still the largest on the earth's surface. The galleries are caked with layers of soot from the torches of the workers. One historian estimates that the ancient miners discovered millions of pounds' worth of gold in Rhodesia.

These early emigrants are believed to have been Phoenicians who, as the Old Testament shows, were a great colonizing people. Several writers have lately arisen to proclaim Rhodesia as the "certain land of Ophir," a land teeming with gold and precious stones.

It is now a thriving town, reminiscent at each step of the man to whom it owes existence, Rhodes street is the principal thoroughfare. Government House, with a tree-lined avenue two miles long, was the property of the Colossus.

A few miles away, in the heart of the mountains, "the great white man," as the natives called him, will rest in peace. And round about his tomb lies a monument the like of which has never been raised to another man, a monument measuring 750,000 square miles—Rhodesia.

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

THE TIME TO CUT HAY.—

The aim of our farmers in growing forage crops is to produce from a given area as large a quantity as possible of the digestible nutrients in a palatable form. The time at which a forage crop is harvested may effect the crop in three ways, viz:—in the quantity of material harvested, in the composition of the crop, and in the palatability of the fodder. As a general rule it has been found that the greatest amount of dry matter is secured where forage crops are allowed to fully mature and ripen. The only exception is in the case of clovers and other legumes, where the leaves rattle off and are lost, either before or during the process of curing.

It does not follow that when a plant increases in its yield of dry matter that its nutritive value has proportional increase. It is quite possible that changes in texture and composition of the dry substance may offset the greater yield. The dry matter of mature grass contains a larger proportion of crude fibre than the immature. The plant hardens in texture and loses, in both palatability and digestibility. It is, therefore, usually to begin cutting hay early, and where there is a large crop to be gathered work should begin early in order that it be completed before the grass seeds are ripe enough to shell from the heads of the late cut grass. Chemical analysis has shown that plants are richer in protein in the earlier stages of growth than when fully grown or nearly mature. The chief with which our feeders have to contend is the lack of protein in the rations made up of our common feeding stuffs, and they should recognize the fact that by cutting early, they can get two crops of highly nutritious fodder, where they only get one by late cutting. Cutting the first crop even before the heads are fully grown will tend to cause a vigorous new growth and in this way a good crop of rowan is secured.

The two crops are more valuable, especially for feeding dairy cows, than one mature crop on account of the increased proportion of protein. The early cut hay seems more palatable to stock, and weight for weight, more satisfactory. On the other hand by late cutting we secure a considerable larger quantity of carbo-hydrates, which are valuable for feeding, and of crude fibre which is of low feeding value.

For the Dairy cows and sheep, grass should be cut early, since these animals do not relish hay that is woody and lacking in aroma, as is the case with late cut hay. For horses and fattening cattle later cutting is allowable, as these animals subsist mostly on concentrated feed and hay serves more for filling, as horsemen say.

In tests made by Professors Sanborn and Henry in fattening steers with early and late cut hay it was found that late cut hay gave the best results. If cutting is delayed too long the stems of the grass become tough and stringy and the seeds scatter from the heads. Such hay has little aroma and lacks palatability if not nutritious. Though an indefinite quantity, the aroma of grass has real value in rendering hay more palatable. When the sun dissipates the dew from the drying grass in the meadow, we detect the escaping aroma, because the dew in rising, carries some of it into the air. This is one reason why hay should not remain scattered over the field at night. Green colored, sweet-smelling hay is really the best and prudent farmers will not overlook such seemingly small points as preserving the aroma and preventing bleaching.

CURING CLOVER HAY.

In a recent article I called attention to the desirability of cutting hay at a comparatively early stage of naturity. In this connection it may be of interest to have some notes from that well known farmer and Institute speaker, Mr. Henry Glendenning of Manilla, Ont., in regard to his experience with a new plan of curing clover hay. Mr. Glendenning says that he prefers to cut clover hay when it is in full bloom, or when the blossom contains the greatest amount of honey. Cut in the morning after the dew is off, that which is cut in the forenoon may be raked up immediately after the noon hour, and put in cocks. The hay should be put into the barn next day, and well tramped into the mows. This plan can be continued from day to day until all is stored in the barns. Three things must be borne in mind in curing hay by this method: First, Do not cut the grass until dry in the morning; second, do not allow the fresh cut hay to lie on the ground over night exposed to dew or rain; third, if any hay should get wet with rain, let it stand in the cocks until thoroughly dry before taking to the barn.

Last season Mr. Glendenning put up some 75 to 80 tons of Lay in this way, and reports it came out of the mows in the finest condition he ever saw. It was as green as when put into the barn, and the leaves and blossoms were all attached to the stalks. It appeared to have dried out without much heating, as all of the aliske blossoms were pink, and the red clover blossoms were from a pink to a light amber color. If any great heat had developed in the mow the blossoms would undoubtedly have been of a dark brown color. No signs of mould were visible and the hay was very free from dust. No salt, lime or other preservative was used.

Two of the mows in which the hay was stored are 22x25 feet with an average depth of 30 feet of hay. These mows are tight floored with double inch boards over basement stables. Another mow is 24x35 feet with a depth of about 24ft. and the floor on the ground.

The outside of all the mows are of inch boards without battens, with cracks between the boards averaging about three-eighths of an inch, such as are usually found in the barn. The sides of the mows next the drive floor were open. The hay which consisted of red clover, aliske and a little timothy, was equally good in all parts of the mows. Mr. Glendenning says that he knows three other farmers who have followed this system for several years with equal success, and it would seem well worthy of trial by our farmers generally.

HARD RACKING COUGHS.

During accidents, the person who gets along with the least amount of cough will live the longest. Of course, the right time to attack a cough is at the commencement, when it is a simple thing for the right treatment to drive the cough away. As a general thing, however, people spend so much time experimenting with various remedies that the cough is well under way before they know it. Then comes the long siege. You feel the hard, racking all through your system, and get relief from nothing. You fill your stomach with nauseating mixtures to no purpose. Then you use compounds containing narcotics, which deceive temporarily, and leave you slightly worse. Some coughs of this kind hang on for weeks or even months, and of course, they frequently develop into serious lung troubles. A true specific for all coughs is Adamson's Botanic Cough Balm, and it should be kept in the house against any emergency. With a cough that has become chronic the first effect of this remedy is a lessening of the dull sensation of pain which usually is felt with such a cough. Then you are conscious that the extremities are leaving you, and presently the desire to cough grows less frequent. All this process is brought about by the healing properties of the Balm. It is a compound of herbs and gums. You can test it. 25c. at any druggist. Get the genuine with "F. W. Kinsman & Co." blown in the bottle.

The Union Advocate,

ESTABLISHED 1867.

NEWCASTLE, JULY 23, 1902.

FISHERY PROTECTION.

"A resident" finds fault with our criticisms on the fishery protection of the Northwest and in reply we wish to state that at the time of writing the item mentioned we did not wish to convey the impression that the wardens were not efficient, but that a number of new, efficient men be added to the number who now guard our pools.

During the past week the Advocate has been making a few quiet enquiries as to the state of affairs on the Northwest and to state it mildly we are very much surprised at the laxity of the department in looking after this important industry. We understand that from Redbank to the Big Hole, a distance of about seven miles, is left this year without a warden, that at the Big Hole the warden appointed by one of the lessees very seldom leaves that pool and the one appointed by the government has a stretch of nearly twenty miles to patrol, which it is impossible for him to properly guard. This is about the state of affairs on that river. The wardens have altogether too much ground to look after and poachers sweep the pools while the warden is at the other end of his territory.

We also understand that one of the favorite netting places on the Northwest are between Redbank and the Big Hole, yet that section of the river has had no warden up to a recent date. Surely the overseer is lax in his duties and the Commissioner, who knows of these circumstances should find a means to remedy it before the river is completely stripped of its valuable fishing.

The Editor's Mail.

Mr. Editor:—Can you tell us whether the sprinkler is lost, stolen, or strayed? And further, whether the city fathers are afraid of draining the river dry? Some would like very much to have their windows up, but—Oh, the dust!

Citizen.

Northest N. B. July 21st 1902.

Mr. Editor:—I notice in your last issue a couple of items in respect to pool fishing on the Northwest. It does not seem to correspond while in the first instance it said they enjoyed good fishing and in the next the poachers had made a clean sweep; and concluded by saying it was too bad that the Government did not appoint more efficient men as wardens. If the writer of these articles would give the matter a little more serious consideration and tell the Government to employ more efficient means and put on more men it might have a far more beneficial result than to cast far fetched reflections on already overburdened and harassed officers.

The Government might make two men and furnish them with the wings and eyes of a hawk or an eagle and let them do their sleeping and eating while soaring over the curves and winds of the thickly wooded river from Big Hole to Call's Pool and the poacher would have his dip between times; and very few fishes would get away with a tell tale mark on them, as the nets they use scarcely ever permit any fish to mesh or leave any mark.

I hope this will be sufficient at present as I am not particularly interested in the matter any further than a fair due to every man.

A Resident.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is food that makes you forget your stomach.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample. Its agreeable taste will cure SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 60, and 61, CO. all druggists.

Hair Falls

"I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor to stop my hair from falling. One-half a bottle cured me."

J. C. Baxter, Braintree, Ill.

Ayer's Hair Vigor is certainly the most economical preparation of its kind on the market. A little of it goes a long way.

It doesn't take much of it to stop falling of the hair, make the hair grow, and restore color to gray hair. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

GEN. BOOTH'S CAMPAIGN.

Will Visit U. S. in October to Conduct a Six Months' Revival.

LONDON, July 11.—Gen. Booth is going to the United States in October to conduct a six months' Salvation Army revival from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He informs the Daily News correspondent that he has plans for several important innovations in the army's work in the United States, but is not ready to outline them at present.

"America," said the Salvation Army leader, is daily becoming a more profitable field for us. The hospitality accorded our soldiers has made us feel as much at home there as here in the land of the army's birth. I shall make no new efforts to heal the unhappy breach between the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America. That disruption is history now and the secessionists must take the course Providence has marked out. We maintain no aggressive attitude toward our erstwhile comrades, but reserve our strength wholly for purposes of defence if they choose to attack us.

Gen. Booth has just acquired 30,000 acres in western Australia, where he will establish a great Salvation Army agricultural and industrial colony, which he intends to populate from the slums of London.

Y. M. C. A.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting Rev. Mr. Cuthbert was the speaker and his address which was one to inspire young men to do their best and make the best of their life while young, was listened to with close attention. At the conclusion Rev. Mr. McKinnis who was present was called upon and spoke for a few minutes emphasizing some of the points made by Mr. Cuthbert. Next Sunday the service will be held in the evening at 8.30 o'clock Rev. Mr. Brown will be the speaker and this meeting will be open to both ladies and gentlemen.

REDBANK.

REDBANK, North. Co., July 18.—Crops, all kinds, are looking very good in this part of the county. The hay crop will be more than ordinary, and the grain crop is advancing very rapidly since the warm dry weather set in.

Rafting at the North-west boom is progressing rapidly. There will be about 21 or 22 million passed out of this boom to the different mills in the Miramichi.

Mrs. Adams, an old and very much respected inhabitant of Strathadam passed peacefully to rest on the afternoon of the 14th inst. She was ill only a few hours, and left a family of three sons and three daughters to mourn their loss. Mrs. Adams was in her 81st year, and had resided with her son, Robert Adams, on the old homestead. Her remains were interred in St. James church cemetery, Newcastle.

On the afternoon of the 15th inst, two young people were made happy when Jacob Siliker, of Southesk, and Miss Clara, eldest daughter of William Matchett, of Northesk, were united in marriage by the Rev. J. D. Murray. The groom was attended by Byron Tozer, and the bride, by her sister, Miss Susie Matchett. After the ceremony was over, the happy couple drove to the home of the bride's father, where a large number of invited friends and guests sat down to tea with them. The wedding presents were very numerous and useful. After tea was served the young couple with a number of friends drove to their home at Lytleton, Southesk.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Murray are on a visit to Buctoche. Mr. Johnston, osteopath at Kouchibouguac, Kent, preached at Redbank and Whiteville, on the 20th inst., and Mr. Murray at Kouchibouguac.

SEVOGLE.

SEVOGLE, July 18th, 1902.—The road plow is at work here, under the supervision of Mr. Patrick Hurly, making the necessary improvements to the highway.

Mrs. Jeremiah Copp and family are visiting friends here.

Mrs. C. McPherson and family of Boston are visiting relatives in this place.

The farmers of this place are engaged in repairing their fences, which were blown down by the heavy gale on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Ronna and daughter Miss Jennie of Houlton, Me., are visiting Mr. Michael O'lefield of this place.

Misses Effie and Maggie Wedden of Lawrence, Mass. are visiting their home, here.

Miss Annie E. O'Shea of Gardiner, Me. is visiting her home.

Miss Mary J. Holland of Redbank is visiting her Aunt Mrs. P. Hurley.

Mr. Wm. Matchett made a flying visit to Nelson one day last week.

Mrs. Jas. Hyland, of the Meadows is visiting her daughter Mrs. Jerry Mullin of Trout Brook.

Messrs Mike Fitzgerald and Jed O'Shea were in town Saturday.

BLACKVILLE.

BLACKVILLE, July 19, 1902.—Where are the Hoguevies and the Poundkeepers appointed by council for the parish of Blackville?

The residents of our village are very much annoyed by the cattle, horses and sheep that are allowed to run at large at all hours of the day and night, particularly during the night as they break into gardens and front lawns when there is no one about to watch them. It is no uncommon thing to find one's garden destroyed when one wakes up in the morning. The writer has on several occasions been forced to leave his bed in the middle of the night and drive cattle out of his yard.

It is very annoying to be kept awake at night after night, (about every other cow has a bell) and the writer for one does not feel like putting up with it any longer; so if the parish officers will not do their duty we will load up a few of our guns with powder and coarse salt and somebody's cattle will suffer.

Thanking you Mr. Editor in anticipation of your kindness.

One of the Tormented.

LOWER LUDLOW.

The long-sought problem of a road up Sewart's hill, has at last been completed, under the supervision of Mr. William Russell, and the assistance of Mr. Attridge, who were ever on hand to advise and put a helping hand to the work. Heavy loads can now be handled either way, the limit of trade was from this hill was to Boiestown and from here to Doaktown, nobody caring to have loads up or down this noted place. Before the railroad was built, the road went along what is now the R. R. bed and was taken by the company for their use, the supervisor at that time was W. Swim. For 16 years we have toiled up this noted hill with a drop of 1 in 4 feet. By the kindness of Mr. Burchill and Mr. Tweedie who have taken up the matter and set the two above named gentlemen to manage the work and by their hard work we have got a good road, the cutting in the solid rock is deep, and heavy charges of dynamite were used, large stumps were thrown out, the reports were like a small earthquake, men worked with a will when they saw what the result was to be. Already heavy loads are passing where they used to unload and take part up at a time. Much credit is due to all who had a part in the work. Mr. Attridge kindly found the money to pay the men as the work was being done, and we hope he will not be the loser. Mr. Russell is the best supervisor we have had for a long time and he is not afraid to take off his coat at any difficult job like this, and Mr. Attridge by his side with his coat off not afraid to pick stone or throw gravel with any of the boys.

Never was money better spent than was that which put the road up Stewart's hill and will be a memorial in after time to Messrs Tweedie and Burchill. We can't help but praise Mr. Russell and Mr. Attridge for their great interest shown in the work, and I think that the whole public will praise the same, for no one thought that so much work could be done with so small amount of money. We must thank Messrs Tweedie and Burchill again and hope that in the near future they may have time to come and see the road for we know that they will be well pleased with the work.

Russell and Attridge do not mind what anyone says, the work will show for itself.

BATHURST.

BATHURST, July 15.—New offices for the People's Bank of Halifax are in course of erection on the bank opposite the Robertson Hotel. The present location is very inconvenient, being so far away from the business part of the town.

Much sympathy is expressed for Dr. and Mrs. Nichol in the death of their only child, Florence, aged six months, which occurred this morning. The remains will be taken to Sussex on Wednesday for interment.

The road leading from the I. C. R. to the Station bridge, which has been in a bad state for some time, is now undergoing extensive repairs.

Net salmon fishing is about closed for the season. Most of the fishermen have taken up their nets. The catch in this locality has been fair. At Pett Rocher fishing is reported to have been poor; at New Mills and Charlo very good, while on the other side of the Baie des Chaleurs fishing has been almost a failure.

The first maceroid of the season was caught here yesterday.

Several St. John commercial men who have just returned from the North Shore are guessing as to the cause of a peculiar occurrence at Bathurst and which is known to them as the Bathurst mystery. One told the story to the Telegraph.

John Rainnie has a farm near Bathurst and for some weeks rappings have been heard in one of his hayfields. The noises which appear to come from the earth are loud enough to be heard a quarter of a mile away. They usually commence after sundown and continue until shortly before sunrise. News of these strange occurrences reached Bathurst about 10 days ago and several parties drove to the scene of the disturbances and heard the noises.

A party of commercial men was made up and, although they were skeptical when they started, they were fully convinced before they returned that some peculiar agency is at work in that hayfield and as a result the noises are produced. The man who volunteered the information to the Telegraph says he visited Mr. Rainnie's farm in company with several others. He remained there for more than an hour and during that time heard noises which he describes as resembling the sound made by bones in a mineral show, only very much louder. When this party returned to Bathurst they interested a professor of science who was visiting there and he made an investigation. He, too, heard the sound and the explanation he gave was that they were due to some disturbance in the centre of the earth. He also went so far as to state that the eruption at Mount Pelee was responsible. Whether as was probably the case, he was geyser, the drummers or whether the noises are really heard, the Telegraph is not in a position to state, but all the St. John men who have gone through the experience solemnly affirm that they are not endeavoring to emulate Munchausen, but that their stories are true.—Telegraph.

Farm, for sale.

The farm formerly occupied by the late Thomas C. ## SHERIFF'S SALE

County of Northumberland

There will be sold at Public Auction in front of the Court House, Newcastle, in the County of Northumberland, on SATURDAY, the EIGHTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1902, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon—

All the right, title, interest, claim, property and demand either at law or in Equity, of Peter Fallon, of into, or out of the County of Northumberland, situate, lying and being in the Parish of Chatham, in the said County of Northumberland, and bounded and described as follows:

First.—That lot or parcel of land bounded as follows:—Beginning on the south side of the Kings Highway leading from Nelson to Chatham at the Northwesterly angle of land now occupied by William Walsh, and formerly known as the Thomson lot, thence Southerly along the Westerly side line of the said Walsh land, twenty-six rods and nine feet; thence Westerly at right angles to the said Westerly line of the Walsh lands, six rods; thence Northerly on a line parallel with the said westerly line of the Walsh lands to the said Highway; thence Easterly along the said Highway to the place of beginning, containing about one acre more or less, being the same lot of land conveyed by Peter Fallon to Daniel Fallon by deed dated the 4th day of September, A. D. 1866, and by Daniel Fallon to Mary Fallon by his last will, and by Mary Fallon to the said Peter Fallon, by deed dated the 24th day of November, A. D. 1890. Also the right of way from the said Highway to the Miramichi River, as shown in the said original conveyance of the above lot.

Second.—That lot or parcel of land bounded as follows:—Beginning on the bank of the River Miramichi at the Southeastern angle of lands formerly occupied by the late John M. Johnston, called the Thomson lot; thence running Southerly along the Westerly side line of that land to the Clark's Cove Brook; thence Westerly following the Northerly margin of the said Brook, to the Easterly line of land formerly owned or occupied by the late Richard S. Clark, as a homestead; thence Northerly along the said Easterly line to the Southeast angle of a piece of land lately occupied by William Love, deceased; thence following the said Easterly side line of said William Love's land, being a continuation of the said Easterly line of said Richard S. Clark's bank, to the bank of the Miramichi river; thence following the said bank Easterly to the place of beginning, including the right of way given or described in the original deed of said lands from Alexander Morrison to the late Patrick Fallon; being the lands conveyed to the said Patrick Fallon by Alexander Morrison by deed dated the 29th day of December 1873, the said Patrick Fallon having died intestate, and the said Peter Fallon being one of his heirs.

The same having been seized by me under and by virtue of an execution, issued out of the Northumberland County Court, at the suit of the Singer Manufacturing Company against the said Peter Fallon.

Dated at Newcastle, N. B., the 12th day of July, A. D. 1902.

ROBERT R. CALL,
Sheriff of Northumberland County.

JOKES OF THE DAY.

British Humors as it is found Paraphrased in the Motherland's Comic Newspapers—Samples From Australia.

Brothers in Art.—New Arrival.—What should I charge for teaching 20 pianists? Oh, Stupid—Oh, I do not know. N.A.—Well, tell me you charge. O.S.—I charge five guineas a lesson. N.A.—Hum! I have many pupils have you got? O.S.—Oh, I have no pupils!—Punch.

An Idle Fellow.—Visitor.—I hear you've had the celebrated Mr. Abbot, the artist, staying with you down here. Proprietor of Old-fashioned Inn.—Yes, sir, and he has been here ever since. He does nothing but drink and paint all day!—Punch.

Honesty is the most difficult thing in the world.—Yes, it requires some strength of mind nowadays to leave company promoting alone!—Judy.

Another Lie Told.—Dora.—The papers say you are married Lord Topnot. Clara.—It's a base slander! I'm only engaged to him!—Sketchy Bits.

Answered at Last.—Why do artists wear long hair?—Because they never have the money to get it cut.—Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday.

City.—Order is heaven's first law, but the last one is intended to cut the restaurants between one and three p.m.—Moonshine.

Wages.—Than.—Death.—Mr. Newswell—There is no use talking—I won't eat any more of your cooking. Mrs. Newswell.—(Tearfully)—And you—you said you were going to die for me. Mr. Newswell.—But, madam, there are worse things than death!—Illustrated Bits.

Another Misunderstanding.—Wife.—Oh, Edwin, I can't find that letter you lost anywhere, and I've given myself such a headache about it. Edwin.—(Sympathetically)—Ah! you don't look very well, dear. Wife.—I wish to goodness you'd look yourself, then.—Punch.

A Lost Art.—Mr. Henpeck.—I wish sometimes I had the knowledge of the ancient Egyptians. Friend.—In regard to what? Mr. H.—Perhaps you've seen some of their mummies. They understood the art of making a woman dry up—and remain so.—Moonshine.

And Pa Got It Hot.—I know who it was who licked at the sugar of the cake, ma!—Who?—Nurse.—'cos I heard pa tell her 'she'd got such sweet lips.'—Funny Cuts.

Not Beaten by Small Things.—However do you paint your surprises, Mr. Huddy Darcy? You're never up early enough to ever have seen one?—I paint, suggests, and turn 'em upside down, y' know.—Larks.

A Good Reason, Too.—The Lady of the House.—Why did you charge so much for milk during the cold snap? The Milkman.—You see, ma'am, the pump was frozen, and we had to carry water more than two miles.—Comic Cuts.

Raising.—The landlord raised me last month. Or wish he raise moine. Or haven't been able to raise a shilling as yet.—World's Comic.

Unappreciative.—I s'y, Bill, I wish I owned one-half o' that dog o' yours. Well, he suddenly is a noise dog, Jack, but what could yer do with one-half?—Why, I could shoot me half, and be jolly glad to do so, too.—Halfpenny Comic.

Making It Worse.—Misses.—I told you, even you mustn't have any followers, and yet you've had either a policeman or a policeman's assistant every night. Cook.—They're not followers, mum! Misses.—What are they then? Cook.—Them's my sons!—Coloured Comic.

Foreign Office Despatch-box.—Jammed.—Punch.

He—Then you do not think I would make a good husband? She.—Not very. You see, papa says you're lazy, ma says you're a fool, and you yourself haven't an opinion.—Moonshine.

Misses.—Do you know, Carter, that I can actually write my name in the dust on the table? Carter.—Faith, raim, that's more than I can do. Sure there's nothing like education, after all.—Punch.

Wise Boy.—Ma—Did you wish when you ate auntie's wedding cake last night? Bertie.—Yes, ma. Ma.—And what did you wish? Bertie.—Oh, I wished for more.—World's Comic.

The Language of Love.—She—I have got a horrid cold this evening? It—Oh, do let me kiss you, Miss Flo. I should so love to catch it from you.—Coloured Comic.

He—I wonder why tall women always marry short men? She.—They take the lesser evil.—Comic Cuts.

No Limit to Conceit.—Recruiting Sergeant.—Like to join the Army, sir? You'd make a first-class soldier! Swell.—Why, what's the matter with 'Bobs'?—Sketchy Bits.

They Will Do It.—Yes, dear, and he loves me so much he says I'm the prettiest and sweetest girl in the world. Ah! but you know, dear, love is blind.—Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday.

No Chance Otherwise.—The One With Ool.—Do you know I'm always in dread that I shall be married for my money. The One With Looks.—I should have thought that would have been a matter of hope.—Halfpenny Comic.

He—I've lost a wealthy aunt. She.—By death? He.—No, her niece just died.—Illustrated Bits.

Miss Passy—I dread to think of my fortieth birthday. Miss Port.—Why, did something unpleasant happen there?—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

Mrs. Vassar.—Do you believe that woman is 105 years old, as she asserts? Mr. Vassar.—I presume so. She knows how to knit stockings.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

One Little Girl in the Stum.—Wot d'yer say she died off? The Other Little Girl.—Eating ice cream on the top of puddin'. First Mentioned.—Lor! That's a jolly death!—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

First Earl of Minto.

Sir Gilbert Elliot, first Earl of Minto, was born at Edinburgh April 23, 1751. He was educated privately at first, and afterwards at Edinburgh and Oxford. In 1774 he was called to the bar, and two years later he entered Parliament. From the beginning he occupied an independent position, and in 1782 supported the address of the Commons against an offensive war with America. From this time he became a declared follower of Fox and Burke, with the latter of whom he gradually came to be on terms of great intimacy. In 1807 Governor-General of India, and after filling several diplomatic posts with great success, became in 1807 Governor-General of India. There he consolidated the conquests which Wellesley, one of his predecessors in the position, had acquired. The British East India Company had ordered him to follow a policy of non-interference and he obeyed his orders without swerving. He was created Earl of Minto in 1813, and died in England in the following year.

He Paid for the supper.

Three men had been out on a spree, and on the way home late at night they had made a woman look like a woman who had been with them. They were about to start on a protracted voyage, and as his wife was anxious as to her husband's welfare, she sent the following notice to the village preacher: "Mr. Blank, who is going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation."—London Tit-Bits.

He did so.

The third returned, and, on going upstairs, his wife said: "You miserable scoundrel, fall down stairs and break your neck!" Needless to say, he paid for the supper.—London Spare Moments.

He Was in Need of Pity.

A pious lady of Portsmouth had a husband who was a seaman. He was about to start on a protracted voyage, and as his wife was anxious as to her husband's welfare, she sent the following notice to the village preacher: "Mr. Blank, who is going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation."—London Tit-Bits.

Not in Amm. designation.

He—Then you do not think I would make a good husband? She.—Not very. You see, papa says you're lazy, ma says you're a fool, and you yourself haven't an opinion.—Moonshine.

Misses.—Do you know, Carter, that I can actually write my name in the dust on the table? Carter.—Faith, raim, that's more than I can do. Sure there's nothing like education, after all.—Punch.

Wise Boy.—Ma—Did you wish when you ate auntie's wedding cake last night? Bertie.—Yes, ma. Ma.—And what did you wish? Bertie.—Oh, I wished for more.—World's Comic.

The Language of Love.—She—I have got a horrid cold this evening? It—Oh, do let me kiss you, Miss Flo. I should so love to catch it from you.—Coloured Comic.

saga or northern rattlesnake, they are harmless creatures, and while not so handsome as the garter snake, the fox snake, the grass snake and several others which are rare, they are pretty creatures, and wholly admirable to all who study the wonderful works of God.

The very movement of the snake is full of grace, and as Solomon said in Prov. XXX. 19, one of the four things hardest to understand. The arrangement of its scales is beautiful and their coloring is in all cases harmonious. To see a handsome snake sporting itself in the sun or toying with its prey, small fish, in clear waters, is enjoyable.

There seems to be an instinctive horror of snakes, common to most people. I do not think it comes down from the time when men were tree-inhabiting monkeys, to whom of course snakes were dangerous; it is of much later origin. There are countries in which it is justified, for many are cured with venomous snakes, which are a real danger, and there it may be the part of prudence to avoid them.

But here, where you have to go to the islands of the Georgian Bay to find a rattler, it is rather cruel to needlessly destroy the reptiles, and it is better to try to overcome the inherited repugnance to harmless reptiles, so far at least as to take their lives without necessity.

Kit's Sarcastic Size-Up.

Of all traits, mental and moral, there is nothing so becoming as selfishness. Generosity induces worry and vexation, consideration for others means more or less wear and tear on the nerves, and hence, on the complexion; altruism in all its forms means a giving out of oneself, which, as every woman knows, is exhausting, and hence, unbefitting. But an ingrained, well-guarded selfishness stands for peace and contentment and all else that makes for happiness and becomingness. Consideration for others is a luxury, and one that is not only self-satisfied, but self-centred is past mistress in the art of growing old gracefully. Time goes towards making a woman look like a successful Ponce de Leon. The old ethical proverb: "Know Thyself," might be changed to-day by the British East India Company to "Think of Thyself"; there's no lotion, nor cold cream, nor massage, equal to it for keeping the complexion bright, eyes, cheeks, round, and brow unruined.—Kit, in The Mail.

Common Congratulations.

Canada and Lord Dundonald may both be congratulated on the choice made of a new commander for the Canadian Militia. Lord Dundonald, confirmed in South Africa a reputation began rather than made in North Africa. The Canadians whose devotion and courage were tried in the field, he was to witness new to the battlefield. If Lord Dundonald has shown that the spirit of the ancestors who fought and died for British supremacy in North America survives in him, the Canadians in the struggle of British supremacy in South Africa have shown equally that the spirit of their forebears who held Canada against heavy odds for the British ally for 1312 years ago.

The Wild Pigeon Nearly Extinct.

The American Museum Journal reports as proof of the passage of the wild pigeon that that institution has succeeded only after a good deal of difficulty in securing 12 specimens of the bird for adding to its collection. It was only a few years ago that wild pigeons in countless numbers visited their regular feeding grounds in the Middle and Western States, and now they are so rare that specimens are almost unobtainable. The compiler of this paragraph has seen them as thick as a Canadian blueberry pie, which the late American Consul Taylor at Winnipeg called "the sleeping empire beyond." A

WESTERN CANADA.

The Minneapolis Journal Terms It "The Sleeping Empire Beyond," and Praises Its Possibilities.

The Minneapolis Journal has gathered together some interesting facts in regard to Western Canada, the land of the warm, wet, western wind, and the far-flung, endless prairie, which the late American Consul Taylor at Winnipeg called "the sleeping empire beyond." A

What are Piles

Piles, or hemorrhoids, as they are sometimes called, are small tumors, which form in and about the orifice of the rectum. They are caused by an enlarged and inflamed condition of the veins, which are very numerous in this part of the body. As a rule, every form of piles becomes at times acutely inflamed, and extremely painful. The itching and burning usually increase at night, and the misery which many people endure is beyond description. There is no guesswork about Dr. Chase's Ointment, as a cure for piles. It has been tried by the credible of time, and gradually won its way into favor with the medical profession, as well as with the public in general. It is a wonderful soothing and healing effect, and wherever applied to burning, itching, inflamed skin affords the most instant relief, cooling the fires of disease and healing the raw ulcerated skin.

Ask your friends and neighbors about Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is recognized by a surprisingly large number of people as the only actual cure for piles. It will not fail you, sixty cents a box at all dealers, or by mail post-paid on receipt of price, by Edmundson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

contemporary observers that in Manitoba and Assiniboia alone there are 60,000,000 acres of rich arable land, which could easily support a population of over 320,000. Much of this land has been sold for $3 an acre, but owing to the present land speculation the price has advanced to $15 an acre. Even $30 an acre has been offered for choice lands in Southern Saskatchewan. The soil of this land is so deep that its fertility is practically inexhaustible, and many fescue-covered prairie lands are perfectly adapted for cattle raising. Pass Around the Bier. "It is queer," says Dr. Lorimer of New York City. "What a liking young students have for long words and Latin quotations, and what a dread possesses them of appearing conventional. I once knew a promising candidate who was given charge of a funeral in the absence of the pastor of the church. He knew it was customary for the minister to announce after the sermon that those who wished should step up to view the remains, but he thought this was too hackneyed a phrase, and he said instead: 'The congregation will now pass around the bier.'"

That this is possible is shown by an incident which occurred in Quebec Province.

After remaining some time, however, I left no better, notwithstanding the careful treatment there received, your agent here, Mr. R. Power, then asked me to try Gates' Medicines. I began a course of your Bitters and Syrup to purify my blood, and made external applications of your Nerve Ointment and Canadian Liniment to the sore. When I had used 6 bottles of Syrup, 6 boxes of Ointment and 2 bottles of Liniment the soreness had entirely disappeared from my leg which was completely healed except a very small spot. THE UNION ADVOCATE, WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1902.

The WHIRL of the TOWN

The wild strawberry crop was a total failure this year.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. A. Rundle on the advent of a daughter.

The S. S. Bangor, captain Brown completed loading Monday night and proceeded to sea yesterday morning.

Messrs. Ed. Johnson and Jas. Miller of Chatham have gone to Culls pool for a few days fishing.

The Moonlight excursion on the Alexandra advertised for last night has been postponed until Thursday on account of the rain.

The Town of Chatham has borrowed Newcastle's crusher engine to run their crusher. About 300 tons will be broken up to repair Chatham street.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Moss and Mr. Geo. and O. N. Brown spent a few days at "Brown's Pool" at the Big Hole last week. The fishing was poor for various reasons.

The picnic at Barnaby River last Wednesday was largely attended and the proceeds about up to the average. Showers during the evening made things a little unpleasant.

We want a hustling boy in each village to sell our Souvenir Edition. It sells on sight. Already we have boys in Millerton, Doaktown and Ludlow who are earning pocket money for themselves in this way. Write for a dozen copies at once.

Miss Elliott, St. John, a pupil of professor Jordan (Boston) in Shampooing, Manicuring and Facial Massage will be in Newcastle July 24, 25, 26. Ladies wishing work done in her line will kindly call at Waverley House where she will be found.

We have on our subscription list a number of names in arrears since 1898 and 1899, to these we will give on the 1st of August to make settlement. If not settled by that date we will be obliged to use harsh means to collect as we must have our dues.

Circulars and newspaper correspondence, since the new rules came into operation, must be prepaid at the rate of two cents for each two ounces or fraction thereof. This applies only to matter mailed in Canada. Residents of the United States can send circulars into the Dominion at the one cent rate as formerly.

Mr. Charles Reinborough has completed the fencing of the park and Mr. Bryenton, of Bryenton, Derby, has been awarded the contract of grading the track. The price of this contract is $1908. He commenced work Thursday. The contract is a large one and has to be completed by August 1st. It is hoped that races will be held on the new track about the last of September.—World.

The ladies of St. Mary's Church will hold their annual picnic on the church grounds and not in the Davidson field as advertised. This has been necessary on account of the digging up of the road in putting in the water system. The picnic is next Wednesday, July 30th.

St. Margaret's Guild sold held in the Davidson store which was appropriately decorated for the occasion, was a decided success, over $65 being realized from the sale of fancy and useful articles made by members of the guild, supplemented by numerous contributions from friends, home made candy, strawberries, ice cream, etc. The members of the guild have proved their capacity for work and their evident desire to take their part in all that contributes to the success of the work in St. Andrews' Parish.

Haying has commenced. The crop is above the average.

The bk. Valons, Capt. Barnley has sailed for this port.

Rev. Mr. F. Brown's subjects for next Sabbath will be Morning—"The Origin of Man"—Evening—"Neglecting."

The Rev. H. A. Meek, rector of Richibucto, will preach in St. Mark's Church, Nelson, Thursday evening. Service—7.30.

Meeting in Y. M. C. A. rooms next Sunday evening at 8.30 o'clock. Addressed by Rev. Mr. Brown, Ladies and Gentlemen invited.

A large number of American Tourists arrived here Saturday and left later in the day for Cornell's pool on the Tabusiac to enjoy a few days fishing.

The Newcastle Lawn Tennis Club has had their courts fenced and repaired, building painted, etc., which adds much to its appearance. The club is in a healthy state.

Messrs. S. and W. T. McLeod spent a day fishing on the Kaguadetic last week. They had good sport catching eighty-eight speckled beauties, some of which weighed about two pounds.

Alderman Williston, has taken the initiative among the members of the council in the matter of lighting by electricity. He has had his new house wired for electric lights, the work being done by J. A. Follansbee of Hay & Follansbee.

The Campbellton Event appeared last week as an entirely home production, the "Trotting" inside having been done away with and those pages to more local matter the improvement is commendable.

St. Andrews' Church, Sunday, 11 a. m.—"Working and Waiting", commencement of second year's pastorate. 7 p. m.—"Has the Religion of Jesus Christ been of Benefit to the World?" Trio by Mr. Sargeant and Misses Churchill and Harley.

A son of Ed. T. Carter, who formerly belonged here was drowned at St. Johns, Newfoundland July 16th. The deceased was to have sailed on the 17th to visit friends on the Miramichi. A young man who went to rescue him was also drowned. The young man's name was Francis and he was 16 years old. He was a nephew of Rev. T. Carter of Peterborough.

The contract for the building of the town reservoir has been let to J. R. Fish for $5,870. The tenders were as follows: J. R. Fish, masonry reservoir $5,870; W. M. Scott, concrete reservoir $5,990; Maritime Mining & Contracting Co. $6,396; Concrete reservoir $6,277. Work has commenced at the Grenley field on the C. I. road.

The County Court met here yesterday. His Honor Judge Wilkinson presided. There was only one case, Bourque vs Buckley. Landry for plaintiff and Butler for defendant. As plaintiff's Attorney was not present, case was over for next session of the court.

The moonlight excursion on the S. S. Alexandra last Thursday, drew a large crowd there being over three hundred and seventy persons on board, of which one hundred and thirty-five were from Newcastle. The evening was not as fine as it might have been, and light rain fell before the steamer arrived at Newcastle. The sail was enjoyed by all and the new steamer clearly showed that she has accommodations for a large crowd. There was music for dancing on the lower deck which many enjoyed, while those on the upper deck, spent the evening in pleasant conversation and singing. We understand that evening sails on the river will be a feature this summer.

Social Personal

Miss Aggie Thimney is spending a short vacation at her home.

Mr. Geo. Ingram of Stillwater is visiting his old home.

Miss May Stothart of Chatham Ferry spent Sunday with friends here.

Mr. Arthur Anslow of Boston is visiting friends in Newcastle.

The Misses Troy entertained a number of friends at their home last Friday evening.

Mr. Fred Duffy of Duffy Bros. Boistown was in town Saturday.

Miss Addie Taylor and Miss Nellie Duncan of Chelsea, Mass. are visiting their former home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. James spent Sunday at Bathurst.

Misses McRae of Campbellton who were visiting Miss Norman returned home Saturday night.

Mr. Allan Troy a graduate of Mount Allison Business College left last Saturday morning for Amherst, where he has accepted a position with the Robb Engineering Company.

Miss Maggie Sullivan who was visiting the Misses Fox at Baribogue has returned home.

Miss May Williston has gone to Bay du Vin to spend the vacation with friends.

Mrs. Steward and children are spending a few weeks at Bay du Vin.

A. B. Copp of Sackville spent Sunday here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Brown were visiting Mr. Brown's home here last week. They left Saturday night for Campbellton.

Mr. W. T. McLeod of Salt Lake City is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. S. McLeod. He has been in the West for the past fifteen years.

Miss Phillips of Woodstock is visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. McLeod.

Mr. A. M. Grant of Boston is visiting friends here.

Mr. Wilfrid Levesque, night agent here has returned from a pleasant vacation in Quebec province.

Mrs. McKewen and children of Brockton are visiting Mrs. Wm. Park.

Mrs. Cecil Rippe of Montreal is visiting Mrs. Wm. Hickson.

Mrs. McLellan, Mrs. Hickson's mother, is we are sorry to learn, seriously ill.

Dr. Lunnam of Campbellton was in town Thursday.

E. Hutchison went to Montreal Saturday night.

John C. Miller of Millerton was in town yesterday.

Miss Alice Dalton and Master Charlie Dalton left Tuesday morning for St. John.

Miss McMann who has been visiting the Misses Dalton, has returned to her home in Memramcook.

Mrs. R. R. Call was taken suddenly ill last week but we are pleased to learn that she is very much improved and is now considered on a fair way to a speedy recovery.

The remains of the late Walter Gratton, a native of Miramichi, N. B., who died on Friday last at the Royal Jubilee hospital, were shipped to Chemainus Sunday morning from the Victoria Undertaking Parlor.

The funeral took place at 3.30. Rev. Father Donohoe conducting services at the grave. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers: Messrs. John Sullivan, John Kemp, Charles Robinson, Simon Dore, Harry Northup and Edward Bergea.—Cor.

We understand there is a little difficulty in procuring a local man capable of acting as inspector on the reservoir contract and it is said that a Toronto man will have to be imported. The Advocate suggests that Mr. A. Vye, who was a foreman on the Stillwater N. S. reservoir, and who thoroughly understands the work, be engaged and we have no doubt he will prove himself a competent man. As long as we have capable men in our town let us employ them.

The Rev. J. M. McLean was in Blackville on Tuesday evening attending a special meeting of the Presbytery of Miramichi held for the purpose of inducting the Rev. A. D. Fraser, late of St. George, N. B., into the pastoral charge of Blackville and Indiantown. The Rev. T. G. Johnstone presided and inducted the Rev. J. M. McLean. MacLean preached the sermon. The Rev. D. Mackintosh addressed the minister and Rev. Wm. Aitken the people.—Advance.

You Don't Gain Anything

By buying low grade wheels at either a high figure or a low figure. They are a poor possession. The wheels which we have been selling have given satisfaction and our customers come in frequently to tell us how pleased they are with their bargains.

Then about repair work, you might perhaps tell us a long story about the way in which you wheel was doctored by some other fellow. We do our work in the best manner possible and there by always give satisfaction although we cannot make a cheap wheel a wheel of high grade, except in outward appearance.

We keep always on hand a stock of first class suetries and endeavour to furnish old parts at short notice.

Just a word about electrical work. The same idea applies to that as it does to bicycle work. Work which is done carelessly in the start is bound to give trouble.

We do all our work in accordance with the rule of Canadian Insurance Company. Let us put in an electric bell for you. In case of illness a button in the bed room which calls the maid from below is great comfort.

DEERING

Those who have used it say: Buy a DEERING.
WHY? Because it is the BEST.

There is no lost motion. The knife starts instantly with the machine. There is no side draft. In fact there is but one "Ideal" mower—The DEERING. It is faultless in its construction, perfect in its mechanism. It is the model that has often been imitated but never equaled. This mower is within reach of all, can be seen, examined and tested at The Lounsbury Block, Newcastle, N. B. It will pay you to call before purchasing elsewhere. This mower's merits do the selling. We invite inspection. A full line of repairs always on hand.

HEAD OFFICE, NEWCASTLE, N. B.

HER GIANT FOLDING BED

By C. B. LOOMIS

Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Loomis

It was against Mr. Bentley's advice that Cora bought the giant folding bed. They lived on the sixth floor in a small "five-rooms-and-a-bath-steam-heated-improvements" flat, and he said that such a huge folding bed was out of all proportion to the size of the bedroom. But Mrs. Bentley had set her heart on it, and Mr. Bentley has not been husband so long as to feel like thwarting any legitimate wish.

When she went down to the store, she found she was just in time to get one at half price. What luck! She had expected to pay $35 for the bed, and she got it at $25, although by what process of arithmetic twenty-five becomes the half of thirty-five she did not stop to inquire.

But with the reduced price of the bed her good luck ended, and she entered upon a chapter of annoyances that would have made the bed dear as a gratuity.

The bed people were just moving out and were too busy to send the bed home. Five separate expressmen refused to stir their wagons when they learned that it was a giant. She began to wish that it was a trundle bed. But at last an expressman who was just starting in business and who was therefore inexperienced contracted for $2 to deliver it.

She reflected that the salesman had told her that it was a very convenient size, as one side of the room did not need to be papered when the bed was up, for it took up the entire wall space.

So she went and waited for the bed with all the ardor of a small child. Every time the dumb waiter blew she ran out to see if they were trying to send it up that way, but when it finally arrived after a wait of four hours it came in at the front door.

After ten minutes or so Mrs. Bentley heard mastodontic footsteps on the stairs, the swish of tearing wall paper, the crash of falling glasses, and she knew that they were bringing the bed up stairs. So did all the other flat dwellers. When she looked over the staircase, there were from three to four heads beneath her, all looking down.

The arrival at different landings was punctuated by the crash of glass and the fall of plaster. And on the third floor the bed fell on the head of the man. Luckily he was a fat German, and he escaped with a barked shin and a mild temper.

Long before there was a string of home returning heads of families separated from their little ones by the Chinese wall of a bed. Those who were athletic enough climbed over and escaped to their apartments, but the rest had to content themselves with throwing kisses to their beloved ones and telling them not to despair.

Mrs. Bentley had not hitherto known there were so many people living in the house. The stairs were blacked with them, and the bed moved with the deliberation of a glacier.

When the men reached the fourth floor, they clamored for beer, and Mrs. Bentley, being inexperienced, sent for two bottles, which were brought in by the janitor's son.

The two men sat down, or, rather, up, way up, on the bed and opened a bottle apiece amid groans from the belated flat dwellers who lived above the third. It is probable that they had already soiled themselves with beer, for they became very merry and loquacious after the bottles had been emptied, and many of their jokes would not have been allowed at a variety theater.

There is a saying that there is always room at the top. This did not prove to be the case in regard to the giant bed. The hallway at the top flat was a joint affair, two suits opening on it, and it was the narrowest in the building. When the men finally arrived with their tripods, they found that it was going to be a Chinese puzzle to get into Mrs. Bentley's. They shattered the last globe and then sat down on the stairs to ponder.

They finally came to the conclusion that they could not get it in unless the door of the opposite apartment were opened to admit of its being slewed around.

Mrs. Cochran was the opposite neighbor. She and Mrs. Bentley had been as distant as such contiguous flat dwellers could be. Their boys in the hall were as icy as the hall itself. Mrs. Cochran thought Mrs. Bentley a foolish little new wife, and Mrs. Bentley thought Mrs. Cochran common.

Still, there was nothing for it but to ask Mrs. Cochran to open her front door and let the men swing the bed into the doorway for just one moment.

The fat man rang her bell. She opened the door, with fire in her eyes. She had been trying to get the youngest asleep, and the constant thumping and crashing and the obnoxious and beery laughter of the expressmen and rolled the not too placid waters of her disposition to a boiling point.

"I should hope so," said Mrs. Cochran, looking at the dents in the wall and the broken globes. And then the two expressmen put their shoulders to the bed and swung it into the doorway with such vehemence that it stuck like a fat cork in a small bottle and refused to budge.

"Well, this is a pretty state of things," said Mrs. Cochran from behind the bed. "How do you suppose we're going to close our front door with that great bed in the way?"

"You don't need to close it. No one will come in while the bed is here. It is better as a door." And the German laughed uproariously and fatty.

"Oh, but this is too awful!" said Mrs. Bentley, wringing her hands helplessly.

"If I should think it was," came the voice of Mrs. Cochran from the other side of the bed.

"Is your husband in there? Can't he help push?" suggested Mrs. Bentley.

"No," snapped Mrs. Cochran. "He hasn't come home yet, and, what's more, he can't until this barricade is removed. How do you suppose a fool could have bought such a monstrous thing I don't see?"

At this juncture Mr. Cochran came up stairs, with Mr. Bentley just behind him. Mr. Cochran looked puzzled. Mr. Bentley groaned. He had come home too soon.

"What are you doing to the bed?" asked Mr. Cochran.

"You can't expect it to fit," said the fat German joyously.

Bentley and Cochran laughed, but Mrs. Bentley saw no humor in the remark, and certainly Mrs. Cochran saw no funny side to the bed. Both sides seemed tragic to her.

"Is that you, George?" she called out.

"Yes, it's me. Shall I come in?" "You can't," except by the fire escape," said Mrs. Cochran despairingly.

"What are you doing with it in the wrong door?" asked Mr. Bentley of the expressmen.

"Sure 'twould have shook as fast in any door," said the Irish expressman, and the German roared sympathetically.

Mr. Cochran is a man of action. "Here, we four men ought to be able to move a little bed—a bed. Now, altogether, pull!"

Mr. Cochran is a successful politician, but he is in the wrong place. He pulled with him, and the only result of the effort was that Mr. Bentley pulled off some of the molding and fell on his back.

Nothing daunted, Mr. Cochran said, "Let's go around by way of the fire escape and push."

The two expressmen and Mr. Cochran made nothing of passing from Mrs. Bentley's parlor to Mrs. Cochran's parlor by the fire escape, but Mr. Bentley is light headed and had to be helped across by his wife. Then the two entered the Cochran apartments, for the first time, like thieves in the night.

Now all six combined their strength and pushed, but the bed only laughed at them.

"Well, nothing more can be done now," said Cochran. "The bed is here, and it's got to stay here for the present. Now, you men might as well go about your business. You've done what you can do—the bed is up here fast enough."

"How much do I owe you?" asked Bentley of the German.

"Two dollars. I'll sent around a carpenter if you want."

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Bentley. "He'll be able to move it."

Back across the fire escape was Mr. Bentley helped by his faithful wife, and then they had the Cochran good night. It was such an impossible thing that had happened that everybody felt good natured once more, just as in a blizzard or a period of excessive heat people make light of their misfortunes and passersby joke one another.

Next morning immediately after breakfast Mrs. Bentley went down to the bed company to see whether they could suggest a way of getting the bed out of Mrs. Cochran's doorway.

They had moved, and a big sign in the window bore the legend, "To Be Opened in a Few Days as a Ladies' Luncheon."

For the space of two days that bed stood in the doorway while carpenter after carpenter came and looked at it and shook his head and went away.

Then came one who said: "I've seen those beds before. They ain't worth the money they cost. They ain't worth the money they cost. They ain't worth the money they cost."

Mrs. Bentley halted the scheme as a barren sent proposition. Mr. Bentley was down town, and Mrs. Cochran, who was on the other side chatting with her—for in spite of what had come between them they were now good friends—seconded the plan.

The carpenter borrowed an ax of the janitor, and in a half hour's time, with the exception of the mirror, which was preserved intact, there was not a square foot of the bed unbroken.

The carpenter sent the pieces down on the dumb waiter and then took them away and presumably dumped them. Mrs. Cochran spent five minutes shutting and opening the door.

Mrs. Cochran glowered.

"Oh!" said Mrs. Bentley, with a nastily made veneer of sweetness. "May the men just swing the bed into my doorway? I didn't suppose it was so big. I don't think it was so big in the store."

Mrs. Cochran snuffed at the innuendo of the remark, but she said: "Oh, I suppose I can't refuse. I hope you'll quit your thumping after you get it in. I can't get my child to sleep while it's going on."

"I'm sure it will only be a minute. You see, the worst is over."

BREAKING HORSES.

How They Do It in Australia—A System That Seems to Be Exceedingly Cruel.

The Australian horsebreaker's methods of "breaking in" a horse would make the ordinary horse-trainer stare.

The term "breaking" is, indeed, a very proper one, as will presently be perceived. His custom—and I would emphasize the fact that the practice I about to outline is not only variable, but it is the one and only method of procedure employed by bush horsebreakers throughout the length and breadth of the continent—is as follows: A dozen young colts or fillies, sometimes less, sometimes more, are driven into a stockyard.

This stockyard is a small paddock, about 100 feet square, enclosed with a stout post and rail fence, 8 or 10 feet high. The horsebreaker singles out one from the herd, skillfully casts a running noose at the end of a stout rope over its head, and then he and his assistants haul quickly on the rope, bringing presently the half-strangled and desperately frightened colt to earth. The horse now resigns the rope to his companions, then darts forward and sits upon the head of the prostrate, wildly kicking animal. The colt, so blinded, immediately resigns himself for a time to fate, and for a time lies still.

The assistants approach, each grasping his legs, bind a strong, steel-framed saddle to his back with girths, a stout leather surcingle cupper and bridle, and then the horsebreaker, with a whip in his hand, begins to pass the straps and girths around him. This done, the horsebreaker rises. The colt tries to get up, but cannot, for his legs are securely tried together. While he lies there struggling madly, a cruel, steel snaffle bit is thrust into his mouth, and a bridle drawn over his head. The horsebreaker then grasps the reins in one hand, and with the other he strikes the panic-stricken brute, coolly cuts the cords confining his limbs.

The colt, feeling himself free, struggles about, but he has now a mysterious burden on his back. At first he cannot understand, but stands stupidly still, trembling like a leaf, and shuddering with mortal fear. Next second the cruel spurs go to his sides. He springs forward, snorting and astounded. A rushing whip then descends upon his ribs, and always the spurs bite home. The colt, a wild, unbroken, hot-blooded thing, struggles vainly to escape. But when his head is wreathed this way and that, he is by the iron torture in his mouth, he commences to understand, and to associate the burden on his back with the blows he receives. His temper rises. Of a sudden he stands stock still. The spurs bite, the whips sting—still he does not move, but his eyes flash, and his ears prick.

The horsebreaker has waited for this moment.

With a reckless laugh, he sets his knees hard against the great kneepads of the saddle, and waits, his body swaying like a reed. Suddenly the colt springs into the air, arching his back as he rises. He comes down on his forefeet, and lashes viciously out with his hind legs. The breaker recoils, and the whip and spur have an engine and laughing like a devil. The colt, now mad with rage, plunges, rears, swings round, and round, then flinging all his efforts fruitless, commences to buck in earnest.

The horsebreaker is now seen at his best. His body swaying with the movements of the beast, his jaws set tight, his eyes shining like stars, he never leaves his seat, and he knows of an inch, but rides like a centaur or a god, a set, grim smile upon his face. The exhibition is magnificent and never fails to excite the spectators, always numerous, his very assistants, break out in a storm of plaudits.

Ten minutes later the colt, exhausted with his terrible exertions, covered with sweat and foam, his sides streaming blood, gives up the struggle by way of a handle. He knows. He stands, dejected, quivering, but still.

Chinese Antiquities in Ireland.

A paper was recently read before the Belfast Literary Society by a friend of mine, a Chinese porcelain dealer, which have been found in that country. About fifty have been found, some in one place, some in another, scattered over the country from Belfast to Cork. How they came there is a query; nobody can tell. They are of great antiquity. They have all inscriptions on them in the ancient Chinese language, and Mr. Grotz has translated a number of them. Each seal is a perfect cube, with the figure of a Chinese monkey by way of a handle. It is supposed they may have been brought there by the ancient Phoenicians, but it is our opinion that they were brought here by some of the ancient Irish tribes, who no doubt journeyed through and came down from China. No such seals have ever been found in Britain. This may account for the difference in the Scots and the Celts. Smith asserts, in his treatise on the Hibernian, that the Irish are a different mixture from the Northern Celts; but some more light on the subject may clear up the mystery. Extract from "The Scientific American in The Globe of 1852."

Article of our Frederick Young.

Sir Frederick Young, who has a book appearing, is a veteran worker in the cause of human federation. He says in a preface to his volume: "It may be probably will be the last time I shall raise my voice publicly on behalf of this vital national question. My life has already been prolonged far beyond the Psalmist's memorable limit. My sands are inevitably almost run out. Sir Frederick is a able, however, last autumn to visit Canada, and this book is a record of what he did and saw in this country. All through it his text is the federation of the British Empire, which he regards as the supreme problem we have to settle."

PASSING OF OLD PLAY-HOUSES.

London Theatres That are No Longer in Existence.

Theatres and places of amusement are very like human beings—they have their births and deaths, and very often their marriages. The marriages (or amalgamations) and deaths are not as frequent as births. Some think the births are too prolific and speak of a surplus population in the playhouses. Comparing the millions of to-day with the thousands of Shakespeare's time, the places where "stage plays" were represented were more numerous three centuries and a half ago than they are in the reign of King Edward VII.

written John Hollingshead in London Sketches.

Among the few London theatres that have left a substantial architectural record behind them to keep their memory green, the chief is the Pantheon, in Oxford street, which, after transforming itself into a bazaar of the Solo type, was acquired by the great wine merchants, Messrs. Gilbey, and presents the same front as it did in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

The Pantheon was started to be the great rival of the King's Theatre, in the Haymarket, at a time when Italian opera had partly got over the narrow-minded prejudices of the Londoner, when the humor of calling every tenor or soprano Signor or Signora Squallini was getting a little threadbare, and Italian ballet dancing had almost ceased to be compared with the stalking of a pair of compasses across the stage.

Next to go was the Milton street (ancient Gresham street) Theatre, just outside the City Wall at Cripplegate, and at the back of old Morrison's great soft goods emporium in Fore street. It has a few interesting records worth searching for, and in one instance of a theatre turned into a chapel.

An opposite instance is that of the old Court Theatre, at Chelsea, now supplanted by "residential chambers," which was a chapel before it became a theatre under the late Miss Litton's tactful management.

Among the old theatres which have turned their backs on the drama and welcomed the tenancy of the Young Men's Christian Association ("Y.M.C.A.") is the "City of London" (so called), which clung to the borders of the city. It was largely used as a "starring" house, and here I saw Elton, the celebrated legitimate actor, a short time before his fatal voyage across the Atlantic.

"Astley's" after a long period of depression, finally fell into the hands of those very "superior" landlords, the ecclesiastical commissioners. They have left the public its broad (pardon the phrase) slang for the "stuff of life," but they have taken away its circus. The site is now devoted to cheap boot shops, cheap hats and cheap food.

But after and under the sight as they will. The scene of the saddest will cling to it still.

Within the last few years several familiar theatres have been doomed—the Olympic bought by private treaty by the London County Council, and the Opera Comique, bought after a semi-judicial investigation: a general strike, and the "Holborn" (also in Holborn), which is now a portion of the First Avenue (Gordon's) Hotel.

In a short time the Globe Theatre (31 years old) will be cleared by the London County Council for the new street-subject. I presume, to proper valuation, "Old Lyons Inn," which was cleared in the middle of the sixties for an Anglo-American Hotel that ended in a six-half covered with a speculative builder's failure, would have afforded good house-room for a spacious central theatre, but it was cut up into two theatres, built side by side, like Siamese twins, having many defects and few merits.

The Globe was the best twin-house in which the "line of sight" was happy—but the Opera Comique the original home of Gilbert-Sullivan opera, was a house that ought never to have been built, and certainly ought never to have been licensed.

Side by side with the vanishing of the Globe Theatre (but without history) comes the transformation of Niagara Hall, in York street, Westminster, into a show hazard for electric coinage.

Niagara began as a panorama building, and will end its amusement career as a skating rink. The King and Queen visited it a few weeks ago as a rink, having before visited it to see "The Falls of Niagara." It was opened in 1888. To build the

This house came into the possession of Jeremy Bentham, the utilitarian philosopher, who left it first to James Mill, the historian of British India (the father of John Stuart Mill, the political economist), and afterwards to William Hazlitt, the essayist and dramatic critic. There are about 31 York streets in London and Westminster, but probably not one with such an interesting record.

The WHIRL of the TOWN

THE MISTAKEN TOAD.

A small toad woke, one morn in spring,
Brushed back his hair and tried to sing.
He felt the world was all his own,
And swelled and swelled in flesh and bone.
Though his conceit was purely vain,
The fault arose from his small brain,
Which only grasped part of the plan
By which is ruled Immortal man.
It chanced a band played loud that day:
A coach and four dashed on its way;
A donkey brayed; a train rushed by;
A cannon boomed; a howl gave cry;
The thunder rolled; the lightning flashed;
The sun withdrew from view, abashed.
The toad sprang up and gave a shout;
"Oh, what a time; 'cause I've come out!"

The S. S. Alexandra made her first trip down river yesterday, Captain Goodfellow in charge. A large party of Newcastle young ladies and gentlemen went down to enjoy a day at the sea shore.

The M. S. N. Co. ran the Alexandra to Burnt Church for St. Annes Day. The steamer left Newcastle at 10.10 Saturday night, but had few passengers. A crowd went from Chatham. Arriving at Burnt Church it was found that the celebration among the Indians had been called off.

Some public joker put a large placard, "for sale" on the watering cart Saturday night where it remained until noon on Monday. It had the desired effect, however as the streets were sprinkled during that afternoon. The rule seems to be to sprinkle the streets once a week whether they need it or not.

Last Thursday evening the S. S. Alexandra ran a moonlight excursion for the benefit of Newcastle, Nelson and Douglastown people. About two hundred were present. The night although cool during the early evening moderated and was perfect at midnight. The citizens band and McEachern's orchestra furnished music. A crowd of vocalists made merry on the homeward journey. It was a most pleasant sail and all enjoyed it very much.

At a school meeting of the Newcastle School Board the matter of appointing a principal for Harkins Academy was disposed of and A. G. McKenzie B. A. of Campbellton was selected. The Campbellton Events thus speaks of Mr. McKenzie—Mr. McKenzie's school life has been, throughout, a series of brilliant successes and the school board of Newcastle will find they have not chosen amies. We notice in the published report of the New Brunswick South African Graves fund that the thirty-three dollars forwarded from Newcastle by Col. Call which was collected by Misses Sargeant and Malby and Mr. Charles Dickinson, is credited to Chatham and nothing from Newcastle. Credit should have been given where it was due. We fail to find any amount from Chatham except the above so conclude that Chatham contributed nothing, but thus gets the credit of Newcastle's contribution.

A sad drowning took place last Thursday when George, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Black lost his life. He was playing about Messrs. Ritchie's wharf when he accidentally fell over and drowned before help was summoned, his playmates being too excited to give the alarm. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the community. Deceased was nearly eight years of age.

On Monday July 21st Rev. Mr. Curtis of Newfoundland and Miss Annie Simpson of Tabusintac were married at the home of the bride by Rev. Geo. Harrison. Mr. Curtis, while attending Mount Allison College spent the summer months at Tabusintac as pastor of the Methodist church and made hosts of friends there and on the Miramichi who wish the happy couple a pleasant life. They left for Newfoundland Tuesday.

The large party of Americans, of which Dr. Talson of New York is one, is having such a good time on the Tabusintac that when the teams went in for them last Saturday as prearranged, they would not return but decided to stay for a few days longer. The Miramichi's attractions have only to be seen to be appreciated.

You Don't Gain Anything

By buying low grade wheels at either a high figure or a low figure. They are a poor possession.

The wheels which we have been selling have given satisfaction and our customers come in frequently to tell us how pleased they are with their bargains.

Then about repair work, you might perhaps tell us a long story about the way in which you wheel was doctored by some other fellow. We do our work in the best manner possible and there by always give satisfaction although we cannot make a cheap wheel a wheel of high grade, except in outward appearance.

We keep always on hand a stock of first class sundries and endeavour to furnish old parts at short notice.

Just a word about electrical work. The same idea applies to that as it does to bicycle work. Work which is done carelessly in the start is bound to give trouble.

DEERING

Those who have used it say: Buy a DEERING. WHY? Because it is the BEST.

There is no lost motion. The knife starts instantly with the machine. There is no side draft. In fact there is but one "Ideal" mower—The DEERING. It is faultless in its construction, perfect in its mechanism. It is the model that has often been imitated but never equalled. This mower is within reach of all, can be seen, examined and tested at The Lounsbury Block, Newcastle, N. B. It will pay you to call before purchasing elsewhere. This mower's merits do the selling. We invite inspection. A full line of repairs always on hand.
