OVERCOATS

The Overcoat is the distinguishing feature of a man's attire. It proclaims him careful or careless of his dress and it is always the thermometer of his wardrobe.

If there is one thing in which we excel it is Overcoats Nothing but the best makers' best productions are good enough for us.

We have GOOD OVERCOATS for as moderate a price as $6.00 or $8.00. Fabric and Tailoring, of course, improve at $10.00 or $12.00, and after leaving these prices we come to Overcoat Elegance and Luxury at $15.00 or $17.00.

BOILER EXPLODED

Calhoun Mill Wrecked. Norman McEachern Killed.

Word was received Friday that the mill belonging to the Calhoun Lumber Company, at Jacquet River, was destroyed by the explosion of a boiler, and that the night watchman had been killed. Particulars were hard to obtain here but a telephone inquiry to Jacquet River brought the following facts to hand.

About three o'clock Friday morning the residents of that section were disturbed by a terrific explosion and they were not long in gathering at the scene to find Calhoun's Mill almost totally destroyed. One of the boilers had burst, literally into small pieces, and the other was thrown a distance of some 200 feet, so great was the force of the explosion. The mill itself is so badly damaged as to be almost a total loss.

On seeking to learn the cause of the explosion a search was made for the night watchman and his lifeless body was found horribly mangled some distance from the mill. The unfortunate was Norman McEachern, a native of Harcourt, Kent County.

Harcourt, Sept. 8.—Norval Mc-Eachern of Main River, this County,
was killed in Calhoun's mill, Jacquet River, yesterday morning about three o'clock, by the bursting of one of the boilers. Deceased was night watchman. His nephew Joseph McEachern, employed at same place, brought the remains here today, and was met by Jeremiah McEachern and David Targett, brother and brother-in-law respectively of deceased. Mrs. John Larney of Harcourt is deceased's sister.

TARIFF PROMISED EARLY IN SESSION

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—In Ministerial circles it is promised that the departmental estimates will be ready to be placed on the table at the November session immediately the address is disposed of. It is also stated that the tariff will be brought down promptly, and it is expected that good progress will be made with it before Christmas.
Messrs. Fielding, Paterson and Brodeur are meeting daily in the room of the Minister of Finance in the House of Commons. They are assisted by Mr. John McDougall, Commissioner, and Mr. John Bain,
Assistant Commissioner of Customs.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM SERIOUS INJURY

Chatham, N. B. Sept. 10.—Chas.
Rainsborough and his wife were violently thrown from their carriage on Saturday about sixteen miles below town and narrowly escaped serious injury. They were rounding a curve when Mr. E.
Hutchinson and Premier Tweedie bore down on them in the former's auto going at a lively clip. It is said that Rainsborough's horse jumped across the ditch and over a fence throwing out both occupants and severely bruising them.
The horse and team turned over when landing in the field on the far side of the fence.—Sun.

DAN PATCH PACES MILE IN 1.55

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—Dan Patch demonstrated his right to title of King of pacers at the state fair grounds
this evening by breaking the world's record, held by himself. The mile was paced in 1.55 flat, clipping a quarter of a second off the record made at Lexington (Ky.) last season. The big brown horse finished strong, many unofficial watches catching the time a quarter of a second faster than the judge announced.

MORE ATROCITIES

Terrorists and Police have Deperate Encounter
Hundreds Slain

Siedlee, Russian Poland, Sept. 9.—A massacre of police and soldiers began at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Immediately after the troops attacked the Jews.
All today the soldiers have attacked civilians, Christians or Jews, robbing and murdering them without discrimination. Hundreds of persons were killed or wounded. Three Streets were devastated.

It is reported that drunken reservists started the massacre. Troops have surrounded the city and refused access to it.

Warsaw, Sept. 9.—Terrorists Saturday evening shot and killed two soldiers guarding a government alcohol store at Siedlee. A detachment of infantry rushed up and fired a volley into the crowd, killing two persons and wounding two.

This morning the terrorists retaliated
by beginning a massacre of policemen and soldiers patrolling the streets and at noon the infuriated troops attacked the Jewish quarter of Siedlee, destroying the houses and shops.

It is reported that over one hundred persons were killed or wounded and that the town is in flames.

Baku, Sept. 9.—Leslie Urquhart, the British vice consul here, who was decorated by King Edward for heroism in rescuing Englishmen isolated at Balakhan from Tartar insurgents during the massacre of 1905, and who is one of the most prominent men in the oil region, was the victim of a serious attack last night in the centre of the city and miraculously escaped death.
Though he was fired at eight times at short range, his only injuries were six slight flesh wounds. The motive for the crime has not been established, but it is believed to be a revolutionary act patterned after the attack of Germans at Warsaw preceding the attempt on the life of Governor General Skallon.

The authorities are actively investigating the affair, but thus far no arrests have been made.

Siedlee, Sept. 10.—A Jewish massacre surpassing in seriousness all previous one in this vicinity took place here on Saturday and Sunday. It was carefully planned beforehand, the soldiers warning all of the Christian population in advance to hang out their ikons so that they might remain undisturbed. Saturday night some terrorists killed two soldiers and thereupon the Libau regiment broke forth in unrestrained fury. They began murdering Jews on every hand and continued the work of slaughter all night Saturday night and all day Sunday. The ghastly work of murdering and pillaging continued until early to-day, when Governor General Skallon telegraphed for permission to use the artillery.
Batteries then opened fire down
Piennkna, Warsaw and Aliena streets which were inhabited by thousands of Jews. The destruction was horrible. As a result of the general slaughter it is estimated that two hundred Jews have been killed and one thousand wounded. There are three thousand prisoners in custody, a great many of whom are wounded. Not a soldier was killed.

The morning squads of Soldiers were parading the streets selling pillaged watches and jewelry. The army officers openly countenanced
the selling of loot. The local government took no steps to prevent this outrage.

Warsaw, Sept. 10.—Artillery was used in Siedlee this morning.
Buildings on Piennkna, Warsaw and Aliena streets have been destroyed.
According to reports received here
200 Jews were killed and 3,000
were wounded during the pogrom.

THE EXHIBITION ATTENDANCE GOOD

St. John, Sept. 10.—Final returns from the exhibition turnstiles on Saturday evening placed the paid admissions at 71,072, an increase of 782 over the figures of 1904.
Saturday was an ideal day as far as the weather was concerned and there were 1675 more visitors than on the corresponding day two years ago. Considering the unsettled weather throughout the week
the exhibition association feel they have every reason to be satisfied with the result.

ALBERT CO. MURDER

Collins Hears Stories about
The Fateful
Monday

HOPEWELL CAPE, Sept. 11.—The preliminary examination into the charge of murder against Thomas F. Collins, in connection with the horrible death at New Ireland of Mary Ann McAulay, was adjourned this afternoon until September 27. The court will meet next Tuesday with the understanding that it will further adjourn until the twenty-seventh.

The boyish looking prisoner sat,
not carelessly, but without manifesting the exceptional amount of interest which might be expected of him. This afternoon, as the sickening details of the wounds on the murdered woman's body was told of by the finder of the body, and the coroner, he sat and listened. Once or twice he stirred in his chair during the recital, and toyed with his pocket handkerchief. Beyond that, his manner was calm and quiet, even when the blood-stained overalls found covering a pool of Miss McAulay's blood in the wood-shed of Father McAulay's house, were brought out in court for identification.

Seated nearby the prisoner were the newspaper men, and in their doings at times Collins betrayed quite an interest. Once there was a lull in the evidence, while recognizances were being read and Collins turned. He glanced enquiringly at the sheet of manuscript before one of the scribes, looked at the writer, smiled quizzically and remarked
in his broad English accent "You've got lots of paper."

The ice broken, he relieved his monotonous sitting by a little conversation before the evidence taking was resumed and spoke smilingly on many subjects.
Apparently he was in the best of humor, and evidently well satisfied with the progress of the examination, and was in a conversational mood.

The fair sex of the vicinity was well represented in the galleries which surrounded the court-room
and once the prisoner gravely confided to his counsel that in his opinion one of the fair ones had smiled at him and he grumbled broadly in relating the incident.

At noon, before the beginning of the afternoon session of the preliminary examination, the prisoner was photographed by a local artist. In front of the jail, with a sheet for a background, he was seated on a bench. The photograph depicts him as the wearer of a rather grave expression, but it is in the photograph only that his expression is anything but jollity.
The photographs sold readily at a nominal price and were gladly snapped up as souvenirs.

Collins expressed himself to his attorney as being very grateful to Sheriff Lynds, who has provided him with reading matter and treated him as kindly as circumstances would permit during his confinement.

John Long, of New Ireland, testified that on the morning of
Aug. 20 while passing Father Mc-Aulay's house he saw the priest's horse harnessed to a buggy standing in a field, two or three rods
from the house. He saw no person around.

Bruce Harbill swore that on Monday, Aug. 20, he drove his brother out towards Albert and on his way back he met Collins about a mile from Father McAulay's house. Accused, who carried two valises and a pair of horse reins, asked him if he saw anything of Father McAulay. Witness answered in the negative, but said he saw his horse standing in front of his door as he came past. Collin's asked him if he would give

I. C. R. EARNINGS

Increase of $221,000 in Traffic Department

Moncton, Sept. 7.—That the I.
C. R. is buoyant and that the Minister of Railways, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, has met with energetic cooperation in his efforts to place the road on a paying basis is evidenced by the fact that in the traffic department the increase of revenue is slightly more than $221,000 over the same two months in the year previous.

In the whole history of the Intercolonial railroad there is not another such record. The fact is encouraging, and especially so as it was expected that the short fiscal year of 1906-07, nine months, three of surpluses and six of deficits,
would result "in a deficit. If Mr.
Emmerson can, on March 31, 1907,
make the revenue meet the expenditure, as now seems hopeful and even very probable, he will have accomplished what was never accomplished by a predecessor.

him a ride back as far as Dwy-He did so and landed him at his past Father McAulay's house
the road going to Elgin. A leaving him accused went Tilman Bannister, whom they
on the road.

Tilman Bannister, of Elgin
parish said the prisoner told him
he had harnessed the horse to go to Albert for goods. Father Mc-Aulay ordered Friday, that he had left the horse standing; that Mary Ann called him in to get breakfast; and while he was eating the horse had gone away and he could not tell where he went. As they passed Father McAulay's house
the accused said the priest had gone to the Fredericton Road to attend service Sunday. They came eventually to Kent road,
leading to Elgin, and witness suggested the horse might have gone that way. Accused got out, took his valises and reins, and started towards Elgin.

Aylesforth Mitton, Coverdale,
testified to driving Collins to Elgin
from Alex. Bannister's Monday afternoon about four o'clock. He had two valises. Accused told him his name was Connors. When he asked to hire a horse from Mitton
he said Father McAulay's horse took lane, back on the road, and he wanted to go to Elgin to meet Father McAulay.

William Berry, a farmer near Elgin, said the prisoner got his supper at his place on August 20th last. He was walking carrying a valise and came along about half past six and asked for tea. Accused told him he was a stranger and a sailor.

Michael Teahan said that on Saturday night the witness' wife and son, Collins, Mrs. Williamson and daughter, and Miss McAulay went fishing. They looked everything up securely, and when they returned Sunday afternoon they found things as they left them.
When witness left the priest's house
Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock
Mrs. Williamson and daughter were there with Miss McAulay.
The best of friendly feeling prevailed among the party at the lake.
Miss McAulay told her she had $250 in the bank and said when she had money in the house she kept it under the carpet. Miss McAulay told Mrs. Williamson she was going to Albert Monday morning, returning in the cool of the evening. Collins was going with her. She was going out for stoff
for the house.

On application of the prosecution the hearing was adjourned until Sept. 27.

WINSTON CHURCHILL ON COLONIAL RELATIONS

Solid Defensive League of Britain and Her Colonies

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—Hammer Greenwood, M. P., read to-night at a banquet given him by the directors of the national exhibition, a letter written by Winston Churchill, after referring to the change in the disposition of political power produced by the last general election in Great Britain, said:

"What you must try to do, as far as may lie in your power, is to convince your friends and kinsfolk in Canada that this change in England, great and far-reaching though it has been, does not imply any weakening in the affection of the British people towards their kith and kin across the sea, or in the earnest and vigilant efforts of the colonial office to render the colonies every legitimate service, military, diplomatic or commercial, that may be in our power. There are new men, there are other principals there will be different methods; but in the guiding aspirations, in the central impulse, in the ultimate aim, namely, a solid defensive league of free democratic communities, animated by a love of peace and justice under the leadership of the British crown—there that there is no change, no sign of change, no expectation of change of any kind or sort whatever."

"And what, I should like to know, has the British empire to fear from Liberal principles? It is one of the oldest things in modern history that there should be any question on this point. It is to liberal social principles, tried in some ways far more logical extremes than in this old country, that Canada and Australia and New Zealand ascribe no little share in their progress and prosperity. It is upon liberal principles of tolerance and trust in racial matters of freedom and equality in religious matters, that they built their own internal peace. It is by liberal imperial principles of colonial autonomy, of a lofty humanity, and, above all, of a peaceful foreign policy, that the structural cohesion of British empire has alone been achieved and will alone be maintained."

Him—"Miss Buddington has a complexion like a peach."

Her—"Why, how can you say so I don't think her face is at all fuzzy."

TUMORS CONQUERED

SERIOUS OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Case of Mrs. Fannie D. Fox.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

The growth of a tumor is so slow that frequently its presence is not suspected until it is far advanced.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse monthly periods, accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice if you will write her about yourself. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly that I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation. Soon after I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After trying five bottles as directed the tumor is entirely gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around once more, and I am entirely well."—Fannie D. POWER OF THE KING

His Majesty's Influence on British Politics

Lecturing on "British Institutions" at Cambridge, Professor Masterman, who took for his subject "The King," said that the position of the British King to-day differed from that of the British King of the past in the substitution of influence for authority. It was a mistake for any one to minimize the importance of influence as compared with authority.

It was only by degrees that we were beginning to learn how very strongly the influence of the late Queen Victoria affected the course of British politics, and the succession of our present King might be said to mark the revival of the political importance of the British monarch.

The King had an undoubted influence in determining policy in foreign affairs. The best guarantee for the continuity of foreign policy was to be found in the influence of the Crown. No treaty could be made by the King, but the King could do a great deal in preparing the ground for the work of diplomacy. When the King held out his hand to a foreign nation, to a very large extent that represented the right hand of friendship of the British people.

How was the King in our country appointed? Most people would reply that it was by hereditary succession. That was only partly true. There was in the university library a list of 6,083 people who had a larger claim on that ground to sit upon the English throne than our present King, being nearer related to James I. than King Edward VII. The fact was that our kingship was a combination of hereditary and elective methods of appointment. By Act of Parliament the Crown was entailed in the House of Hanover, being Protestant.

With regard to the maintenance of the King, the fact was not generally known to the British nation that we get our King considerably under cost price. About a hundred years ago the Crown lands were taken over by the nation, and they now brought in far more than it cost the country to maintain the monarchy.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

GOLD DISCOVERED

Will Put Mines of the Rand to Shame if Surface Indications are Filled

Edmonton, Alberta, Sept. 6.—The McDonald Dominion Government survey party which arrived in the City yesterday brings a story of gold discovered in the Peace River country, which it answers to the surface indications, will put the Rand to shame. The samples of rock brought down by the crudest kind of assay made with mercuric and mercury gave values of $7 to $32 to ton but these tests are certainly unreliable and no mining man familiar with gold values would accept them as indicating a like real value of the rock. The discoveries were made thirty miles below Fort St. John and seventeen miles from Alberta on the British Columbia line. The gold bearing rock is a bed of shale 200 to 300 feet of rock projecting out of a bank and overhanging the river. About it is a gravel bed, then three or four hundred feet below is another gravel bed. The shale is an intermediate deposit. It is located in a big horse shoe bend in the hills forming an escarpment along the river. The party located seventeen claims, one for every member and one for each of the several mounted police officers who were in the neighborhood at the time the discoveries were made.

ARE BADLY CARED FOR

Ernest Terry on Emigrant Conditions Aboard Boat

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Ernest Terry, a member of the Leeds distress committee, who recently visited Canada, inquires into the condition and prospects of emigrants sent out by the distress committee through the agency of the Salvation Army, and says in his report that the conditions under which the third-class emigrants were carried on the boat were not satisfactory. The steerage and fore-cabin were greatly overcrowded, the sleeping and dining accommodation wretched, the lavatory accommodation primitive. The inadequate quarters smelt disagreeable and could only be described as bad. The food was of good quality and plentiful, but badly cooked, and always roughly served. Describing the conditions prevailing in Canada, Mr. Terry remarks that the glowing accounts given by various immigration agents Government and private, must be largely discounted. The conditions are much harder than in England. The cost of living is very much higher than in England, and the standard very much lower. The greatest difficulty is the housing problem. Throughout the whole of Canada it is almost impossible to get shelter. Mr. Terry concludes his report by saying that he found that Englishmen are not popular in Canada. Employers undoubtedly prefer Swedes, Russians, Germans, even Italians, as these men are credited with being unused to doing what Canadians consider a fair day's work, and also with being too independent after they have a few dollars in their pockets.

"An Emigrant from Leeds," writing "The Yorkshire Post" from Winnipeg, challenges any man to prove that there is not a prejudice against the English there. "Emigrant" refers to a recent article in "The Toronto Globe" on the "Incorrigible English."

FEEDING BY FORCE

WINNIPEG, Sept. 5.—Because they refused to eat, fourteen Doakhobors in Regina jail had to be fed by the scientific method of pumping nourishment into them. It was a case of being either forced to take food or of their starving to death, and three times daily they are forced to eat.

WILL MAKE TEST OF SUSPENSION BRIDGE

Hon. C. H. LaBaillois is in the city and this afternoon with Gilbert Murdoch, Jr. He will survey the hospital field, divided into lots, and the lots will be numbered and on up-set price will be placed on them.

An important matter has been brought before the notice of the commissioners by George Robertson, M. P. P., D. J. Purdy, M. P. P., and E. Landalum, M. P. P. In a joint letter they represent that on account of the increasing traffic over the suspension bridge an expert should be obtained to test the stability of the structure. Mr. LaBaillois states the department thinks the bridge to be safe but will meet the wish of the members and get an expert from New York or elsewhere to test the bridge.

Hon. Mr. LaBaillois states that the summer work on the bridge is about completed. The chief commissioner is thoroughly satisfied with the result of the new highway act.

Albert E. Smylie, of Albert Co. has been awarded an important bridge contract in Kings Co. and in the near future Mr. LaBaillois will begin a tour to examine the work done on the various bridges this summer.

A. R. Wetmore, provincial engineer, passed through the city yesterday en route to Montreal on business in connection with the iron superstructure of the Hawkshaw bridge over the St. John river.—Evening Times.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION

Kills Inventor and President of Company and Injures Many Others.

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 7.—Two men were fatally, one seriously and ten or a dozen others slightly injured by an explosion on Lennox hill here late today. The fatally injured are Frank Wardenberger and George Tattall, of New York. The former died in the hospital tonight. Francis Chicoine, an Italian laborer, was seriously injured, but he will likely recover. Wardenberger, a German by birth and a chemist by occupation, was the inventor of the new explosive and Tattall was the president of the company formed to exploit it. The two had been touring New England, demonstrating the new explosive in the presence of contractors and quarry workers. Some forty contractors saw the demonstration given here today. Five holes had been drilled and filled with dynamite and three other holes containing the new explosive. Wardenberger was tamping one of the holes containing the new explosive. Suddenly there was a terrible explosion, the detonation causing the compound of the other two holes to explode. Wardenberger and Tattall were blown nearly thirty feet and were pitiable sights when picked up. Nearly every stick of clothing was torn from their bodies and their faces and bodies were unrecognizable. The flesh hung in shreds and they were bleeding profusely. Both men were filled full of the minute particulars of the splintered rock. Chicoine was badly lacerated by falling fragments of stone.

MILK SAMPLES FROM THE PROVINCES

P. E. I. Had two Adulterated Ones, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Had None

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—The chief analyst of the dominion has examined 319 samples of milk taken from all over the dominion. There was 189 genuine, eighty-five doubtful and forty-five adulterated. None of the samples from Nova Scotia or New Brunswick were adulterated. There were two adulterated from P. E. Island, two from Quebec district, six from Montreal, seven from Toronto, six from London, five from Manitoba, three from Calgary, four from Ottawa, and six from British Columbia.

MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES.

American Ambassador Describes the Situation

Washington, Sept. 7.—Declaring to be false the reports of a bitter anti-American feeling in Mexico and an organized revolution against President Diaz, David E. Thompson the American ambassador, has made an exhaustive report to the State Department setting forth in detail information which could not be conveyed in his previous confidential despatches. He has renewed his request that, in compliance with the wishes of Mexico's President, the United States government should take steps to suppress the Mexican revolutionary junta at St. Louis, which publishes in Spanish a paper called "Regeneration."

From observations made by Mr. Thompson, under instructions from the State Department, he gives his opinion that the situation is not at all critical, but that the presidency with which many American papers have insisted that a revolt in Mexico against foreigners is imminent has created a feeling of unrest among the foreigners and excited the common Mexican to thoughts of what might be done along lines discussed in the publication, and he adds: "After all this agitation, for nearly all of which the American papers are responsible, if there are not local disturbances in the middle of September, the fact will speak marvellously well for the Mexican government and people. If there should be any local disturbances, they will be handled rightly by the Mexican government. Such a thing as a general uprising is not to be seriously considered."

EDISON PHONOGRAPHS!

The EDISON PHONOGRAPH is to-day the most versatile musical instrument in the world. It stands alone as an entertainer. A piano, even in the hands of a master or operated by a mechanical player, will only play piano music. Nothing but violin music can be produced by the violin. The banjo, guitar, flute, or any other instrument will play but one kind of music. A singer can only sing in one voice. The EDISON PHONOGRAPH plays and sings everything. At your pleasure it will give you band, orchestra, piano, violin, flute, banjo, or any other instrumental music. It will sing selections in any quality of voice, and in solo, duet, trio, quartette, quintette, or chorus. It will do all this in a manner that amazes and delights its hearers.

The smooth, pure-toned, and natural reproductions of the Edison Phonograph are due to its improved reproducer, which does not wear itself or the record. Its reproducing point does not require changing. It obviates all harsh, scratching sounds. Let us explain this to you, and tell you how little it costs to have an improved Edison Phonograph in your home.

Does Your FOOD Digest Well?

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body and the purpose of eating is defeated; no matter how good the food or how carefully adapted to the wants of the body it may be. Thus the dyspeptic often becomes thin, weak and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vim are lost, and in their place come chills, lost appetite, depression and languor. It takes no great knowledge to know when one has indigestion, some of the following symptoms generally exist, viz.: constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, headache, heartburn, gas in the stomach, etc.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

is constantly effecting cures of dyspepsia because it acts in a natural yet effective way upon all the organs involved in the process of digestion, removing all clogging impurities and making easy the work of digestion and assimilation.
Mr. R. G. Harvey, Ameliasburg, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for several years and after using three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters was completely cured. I cannot praise B.B.B. enough for what it has done for me. I have not had a sign of dyspepsia since."

ENORMOUS EXPANSION

OF I. C. R. REVENUE.

One of the pet charges by reckless critics against the Intercolonial Railway is that no effort is made to expand its revenue. The fact that in defiance of easily ascertained facts, such an assertion is frequently noted in Upper Canadian newspapers, shows how difficult it is to live down the reputation established under Conservative rule. But since 1896 conditions in that respect have changed. During the decade from 1896 to 1906 the revenue was about stationary, but when the Liberal methods were applied, the revenue increased steadily until it actually doubled. During recent years, the annual increase has been heavy, and this year already the indications are gratifying.

The I. C. R. revenue is buoyant. The Minister of Railways with the energetic co-operation of the traffic department is in a position to report that during the months of August and September, 1906, the income of the I. C. R. over the preceding months in 1905, exceeds $221,000.

The whole history of the Intercolonial Railway, there is not enough to say, is a record of success, and especially so, as it is expected that the short fiscal year of 1907—nine months, three of surplus and six of great deficits—would result in a deficit. If Mr. Emmerson can on March 31, 1906, make the revenue meet the expenditure, as now seems hopeful, he will for those nine months—July to March—have accomplished what which was never accomplished by a single predecessor. Hitherto—April, May and June have been depended upon by their surpluses to lessen or efface the net deficit for the preceding nine months.

The question is can the minister of railways keep the expenses down so as to make both ends meet in the nine months—it looks as if he can.—Transcript.

It appears that since train auditors were placed on the Intercolonial trains the receipts have increased by several thousand dollars. This is all the excuse required for the innovation. With results so marked as this, it should be an easy matter to give a clean bill to the honest conductors on the road by firing the dishonest ones.—Montreal Gazette.

NOT AT TRURO.

Hon. Mr. Foster not only did not attend the Sydney meeting of the conservatives, but he also absented himself from the great conservative assembly at Truro last Saturday. Whether Mr. McLean, of Toronto, will be in despair or in delight when he hears of this it is hard to tell; but it may be easily believed that the conservative party will deeply regret that Mr. Foster did not feel himself able to assist Mr. Borden. Indeed, the liberal party will also regret—sincerely—that Mr. Foster did not go upon the platform on one or both of these occasions. He is a man who can present a case clearly and effectively. He is both a philosopher and a prophet, and philosophy and prophecy are ever effective in the affairs of life. It is quite true that for the last eight or ten years Mr. Foster has not been as successful in the field of prophecy as some of his friends hoped that he would be. When the liberals took the helm of state he prophesied many dire results from their effort to manage the public affairs of Canada; but all the facts indicate very prosperous conditions in the country, a rapid development of resources, a great railway project, a wonderful influx of population and a considerable increase of wealth. These conditions, which are so difficult from what Mr. Foster thought they would be, no doubt create difficulties for him which he cannot care to encounter. Then, again, the conservative party has nothing new to offer the country. They cannot, at least they have not yet, improved upon the liberal programme.—Globe.

THE STATE OF TRADE

That excellent trade journal The Maritime Merchant says:—"We doubt if there has ever been a time when general business conditions were better and more solid, than at the present time. On every side there are indications of a healthy and normal state of trade. There is no boom, but everywhere people are busy, money is in good supply and paper is being well met. The severe winter of 1904-05 does not now appear so serious as it seemed for the country has more than recovered showing a great degree of resourcefulness. In the meantime, all branches of industry have, on the whole, fared very well influencing all branches of trade for good. There is no doubt about agriculture being in a good state, for crops are generally reported good. Hay promised to be very short, not long ago, but what we have heard since leads to the belief that the farmers have harvested a good average crop. This is satisfactory, for hay is quite an important item in these provinces. As for the fruit crops, indications point to conditions in the market which will make the returns from apples very good this year. The lumbering business was not very hopeful in the early months, but it now appears that the cut was very much larger than expected, and with a good demand and good prices the situation as affected by this industry, may be considered good.

All lines of industry seem to be active, and all over the provinces our factories are busy. Along with this the signs of the time seem to point to industrial expansion.

The only weak spot in the whole situation—and perhaps it is not quite fair to call it weak—is the fishing industry and its allied trades. But as those engaged in it are well prepared to meet the exigencies of the case, it is not a matter of such great moment and things for the better, no doubt, before long. At any rate, taking the situation as a whole, it is good, and prosperity is very general."

An objectionable feature of the moonlight excursion on Monday night was the presence of a number of boisterous drunks on board. It seems a shame that men should so forget themselves as to imbibe too freely of the ardent on an occasion where ladies are present and thereby make themselves obnoxious by their boisterous conduct and profane language. To these persons we would say "Buck up," be men, and above all be gentlemen.

AT BAIE CHALEURS

Curing Spring Herring For Export Trade

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—According to reports received at the Marine and Fisheries Department, a new and valuable industry promises to be established on Baie des Chaleurs. It is that of spring herring, which at the time of the Washington treaty was profitable because of admission to the United States market. Since the revocation of the treaty, however, the spring herring industry has languished, and the only use the farmers on Baie des Chaleurs found for the fish was to spread it over the lands as manure. Early this summer Mr. J. J. Cowie, the Scottish herring expert, accompanied by a number of Scotch girls at Mr. Brodeur's request began to give demonstrations in curing along Baie des Chaleurs. He has had a number of barrels of spring herring cured and packed, and these he will dispose of in New York for from $10 to $12 a barrel. Moreover, Mr. Cowie has shown the fishermen that when the herring disappear from in shore they can be followed out to sea and caught, so that the supply can be maintained.—Toronto Globe.

"Yes, Rounder was addicted to poker and cocktails before the marriage. She told him it was never too late to mend, and he reformed."

"That was fine."

"Yes, but he is telling her it is never too late to mend."

"In what way?"

"Why, he keeps her up till long after midnight mending his shirts and stockings."

The Bridesmaid—"You were awfully nervous at the altar, dear."

The Bride—"Yes, I suppose so. George is so timid, you know, and I was afraid he would run away before the minister got through."

Eva—"No; I am not to marry that foreign nobleman."

Edna—"But the rumor gained currency?"

Eva—"Yes; but the nobleman didn't."

No, said the conscientious saloon-keeper, "I never sell a man any more liquor after he has had as much as is good for him."

"But how can you tell when he has had enough?" queried the cigar drummer.

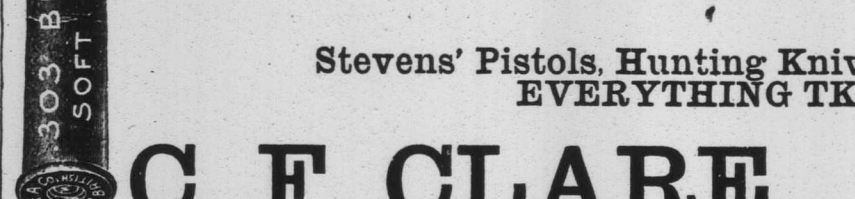

"He has had his share," explained the man behind the white apron when he hands me a nickel for a ten-cent drink and insists that it is a quarter."

"There is such a difference between the classes in Russia," remarked the little man who always reads the cable news over his breakfast food. "Now, the aristocracy over there own so many castles."

"That's nothing to the peasants," replied the tall boarder as he dissected a fish.

"Nothing to the peasants! Why what do the peasants own?"

"Why, they have castles to burn."

Mr. William Murray, barrister, and ex-Mayor of Campbellton, who was in the city yesterday said that Campbellton is in the midst of a big boom at the present time. The town is growing and forging right ahead, times are good and labor is in demand. Mr. Murray says if times continue as they are at present and Campbellton has no draw back, that she will soon be as large and important as Moncton.—Transcript.

Hon. C. H. Labllois is in the city to place a valuation on the lot of land belonging to the Provincial Hospital. There are about thirty-one of these lots, situated between the hospital and Fairville station, all of which will be sold. Mr. Labllois, in conversation with the Sun, said that his department is very busy, as they have a very large number of bridges on hand. He says that next week he intends making an inspection trip of the bridges throughout the province. Mr. Labllois also said that he has received many reports from all over the province highly commending the new road law. These reports state that in nearly every case it is working out very satisfactorily.—Sun, Sept. 7.

Rev. H. E. Thomas, pastor of Wesley Memorial church, Moncton, in a sermon on Sunday night on the responsibility for enforcement of the Scott Act, poured hot shot into the city council for non-enforcement of the law. He charged the chairman of the police committee with being a protector of criminals. He alleged that when Police Magistrate Kay committed violators of the Scott Act to jail without the option of a fine, the parties sentenced rushed to the chairman of the police committee and since that time practically no convictions had been obtained against the liquor men, not withstanding a resolution was passed by the council instructing the committee to enforce the act.

News reached here Tuesday from Bellefleur to the effect that Mr John Culligan of Culligan's Siding, was suddenly stricken with paralysis on Monday evening, while alighting from his carriage at his gate. Mr Culligan is a well known lumber dealer and owns a large mill which is situated near the I. C. R. track at that place and the news is learned with much regret.

No better evidence of the great popularity of the Edison Phonograph could be wanted than the fact that for the first time since the invention of this wonderful device it has been necessary to run the Edison factories at Orange, N. J., to their full capacity right through the summer in order to keep pace with the demand for Phonographs and Records. When it is considered that the capacity of these factories is 1,000 Phonographs and 100,000 Records a day, it will be seen that the demand for Mr. Edison's great invention has become phenomenal. Ten large concrete buildings are now in process of construction, and when they are completed, within the next four months, the output of the Edison plant will be increased fifty per cent more. It is confidently expected that even this great increase will be insufficient at times to meet the demand for Phonographs and Records. Every indication points to an unprecedented sale of Edison goods this fall, and it behooves everyone contemplating the purchase of an Edison Phonograph to do so early. This is not merely an argument to make sales as later events will prove.—New Phonogram.

The Committee of the Caledonia Excursion is pleased to find, that when all the bills were paid, there was no loss, and the Society will not be called upon to pay a dollar. The crowd while not as large as was anticipated, was a social and most agreeable one, and not a complaining word was heard throughout the whole day.

The Com., is indebted to Mr. Malcolm and other friends, and take this means of thanking them. This reference to the days outing on the part of the Caledonia Society is due the public, to offset the wrong impressions sent forth by both our local papers, the "Tribune" and "Events".

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON.

COPYRIGHT, 1898, BY HARPER & BROTHERS.

"I, Sir Ralph Tyvian, being now in my thirtieth year and upon the eve of exile through the malicious treachery of friends, this 15th day of April, in the year of our Lord 1640, do hereby, as follows hereunder, give and proclaim to all or any of my descendants, lawfully begotten, or their heirs, the ensuing information. It being in the twentieth year of the reign of our beloved sovereign his gracious majesty and in the fifth of the lamentable and abominable strife with the disloyal houses, I was besieged in Ivor castle by one Colonel Morgan, attached to the army of the houses and more particularly to the notorious traitor Sir Thomas Fairfax. I held this castle for the king for three days and three nights, but upon the fourth day, this said 15th day of April, through the accused act of traitors, the enemy hath gained entrance by the towers and even now is pressing upon the garrison. And thus I set down these several facts here upon the instant of the final essay—to wit, that I, being the custodian of divers cases of treasure, gold pieces, jewels and the like, destined for his majesty's use, having taken counsel with my steward and my friend Sir John Clunes, have concealed this great treasure in a privy place within the castle precincts and do hereby deposit this said writing also in a secret hiding place. And to whomsoever of my descendants or their lawful heirs this shall fall, in the event of my death or exile, I charge them to deliver the same unto his gracious majesty King Charles or unto his heirs, the sovereign kings of this realm, as a dutiful subject, being held in trust for that purpose.

"And here is how ye shall find the treasure. If ye will descend by the stairway in the guard room within the northern tower ye will find a gallery among the donjons of the basement. Keep upon this, feeding upon the walls, until ye shall touch the corner where the castle turneth to the south."

Now I paused for a moment, for here the document which Sercombe had given me was ended. I cast a glance at the others as I laid it aside and took up the other portion. Sercombe's face was appalling in its marks of greed. The rapture shone from Hood's eyes. I resumed:

"Turning this corner, it is necessary to proceed upon the western side of the castle for the space of thirty footsteps, and at the close thereof to pause and survey the walls. If ye will then determine a height of five feet from the footstep, there will be hereupon disclosed a small knob, the which revolving will give access to a large cupboard within the wall. Observe diligently upon the back of the cupboard and where the oaken lining adjoins the stone. Here will be a spring, the which pushing a doorway shall open behind the cupboard, and ye shall find entrance to an interior vault. A flight of stairway leadeth."

"At this point, as you will remember, the document grew illegible and nothing but the blur of faint characters was discernible. But we had all that was necessary in that explicit narrative of the dead Cavalier, and in proof of this up jumped the captain, his green eyes shining with emotion, and—

"You will give me a copy of that, sir," he asked sharply.

"You are welcome," I said. "If you will write I will dictate." And forthwith, pen and paper being fetched, we proceeded upon the odd task. When we had finished he gave a look at Hood, who joined him, and the two pored over the sheet together.

Then Sercombe rose and, putting the paper in his pocket, remarked: "You see I have trusted you, Mr. Greston. I take your word. And as you have piece of paper from its owner is morally guilty of his death."

"Fish!" he exclaimed lightly. "We can't make an omelet without breaking eggs, Mr. Greston. And now I must reluctantly wish you goodby. I owe you an excellent dinner, and if fortune favors me I shall look forward to returning it. There is no need to part on bad terms."

He held out his hand, but ere I could accept or refuse it Sheppard sprang forward. "Allow me, captain," he said.

"Ah," smiled Sercombe, in no way abashed by my hesitation, "it is a pity you and I are not cast for companions, Mr. Sheppard."

"At least," said Sheppard, "as scoundrels we can respect each other."

Sercombe broke out laughing, and with one glance at Hood, in which, as I thought, he appeared to offer a question, he marched out of the room. The blackcoated followed, and Sheppard went after them, full of geniality to the last and calling for Captain Sercombe's cloak. Out of the window I saw them pass under the dim light of the oil lamp before the doorway, and Sheppard was still ushering them across the courtyard to the gateway of the castle.

Suddenly I heard my name called in a loud voice, and Montgomery started to his feet and threw open the window. This gave upon the courtyard from the northerly side of the castle. In an instant I recognized the cry of Sheppard, piercing shrilly through the noise and clatter of a struggle. Shouting to Montgomery to follow me, I dashed out the window and down the staircase, almost falling upon the slippery cobble of the courtyard in my haste. As I rose a man grappled with me; but, being more strung to fighting pitch by my excited anticipations, I flung him heavily to the stones, where he lay inert, and I leaped over his body to the assistance of Sheppard.

"What about this wound, Montgomery?" I asked anxiously.

The boy stood straight, his well cut face severe and immobile.

"It's no wound," he rejoined. "A pin prick."

"Oh, well, let us see," I said carelessly.

He stripped off his shirt and coat, and a great red bulging spot met my eye below the breast. Sheppard put his fingers on it.

"That wants a bandage," he said, and meeting my eye—"no, there's nothing much in it. A nasty place, but merely superficial."

"We'll have old Toms over tomorrow," I said.

"The doctor?" queried Sheppard.

"But what about?"

"Oh, I dare say we can compose some sort of lie. Besides, as a medical man, our confidences are sacred."

"That's true," said Sheppard, and a little silence fell between us. "Well," he resumed presently, "can we sleep, do you think?"

"I think we are likely to have a lively night," I answered. "And for me, I am in no mood for bed."

"Nor I," declared Montgomery.

"Very good," says Sheppard. "Then what about this treasure?"

"Precisely what I was thinking," I said.

"Let us see the papers," said he.

"Oh, I have them burning in my mind," I answered. "And if all are

"I thought we were likely to have a lively night," I answered. "And for me, I am in no mood for bed."

Down into the archway. Sercombe stood in the light expostulating. Montgomery's weapon stretched some one foot upon the stones as I entered, and the man crawled off. I fired another chamber of the revolver aimlessly, and the flash lit up the passage, while the sound reverberated dully from the gloined vault. The portcullis fell lower and Sercombe was driven across the drawbridge by his retreating allies.

"Dead or living, they shall have him," said some one in my ear, and I beheld Sheppard, his face smeared with blood, dragging a body in his arms. Together we thrust it forth, and it lay half-way across the threshold. The portcullis dropped inexorably and was now within a foot of the ground. The man lay under the range of its iron spikes. The wheels creaked above, and the distance shortened. Montgomery ran forward and shoved the body outward. But it still hung halfway. And then Sercombe came rapidly back and, stooping, by a swift movement drew the inanimate form from beneath the iron spikes of the drawbridge. He said no word, but merely glanced at us as we stood behind the grille.

As Sercombe's figure faded blackly into the night I turned and peered into the gloom of the archway where my companion stood.

Sheppard struck a match, and the very flame cast a precocious light upon the three of us. Two streaks of blood crossed Sheppard's forehead.

"First blood and first honors," he said.

Montgomery breathed like a blacksmith.

"It was a mean trick," he observed.

An acute pain struck suddenly through my shoulder. "The foreigners use their knives aptly," I remarked.

"They do that," said Montgomery fiercely. "One devil has pierced my stomach through."

"Let us go back to the house," I said and, setting the example, turned. Sheppard's light went out, and as the flame vanished the blue-black darkness fell like a pall again. We walked back into the castle.

"What about this wound, Montgomery?" I asked anxiously.

The boy stood straight, his well cut face severe and immobile.

"It's no wound," he rejoined. "A pin prick."

through the grating, set with heavy iron bars, we were able to perceive that the floor of the sepulchral corridor was buried some feet below the level of the most itself, for the gratings stood high above our heads and were only reached by climbing. I assumed that they stood just above the proper level of the water.

We were now, we judged, upon the western face of the castle—that is to say, upon the back parts which looked upon the park of trees and the brook behind, where the hill (or pitch, as it was called) rose in a thick to its utmost summit. We had twice turned at right angles and, pausing, consulted the document once again for the sake of certainty. We had now to proceed some thirty paces. Suddenly I stopped.

"The wall," said Sheppard, who had the paper by heart as well as myself, and forthwith set to fingering upon the right hand.

"There is no doorway here," he observed in a low voice, "and yet this should be a chamber such as we have passed already."

"Five feet from the ground," I said in equally low tones; "that is what it says."

"It is here!" he whispered.

Sheppard gave vent to an exclamation. "Got it," he said sharply.

"Turn the light this way."

I moved the lantern forward, and sure enough there under Sheppard's hand stood out a round iron knob or handle of the masonry.

"Tress," said I.

"No; turn," said he.

Nothing ensued upon his action. "Let Montgomery try," I suggested.

The boy stepped forward and wrenched at the knob.

"It's stiff with rust of centuries, but it's set in iron," said Sheppard. "We shall wait a bit."

"Oh! be hanged!" said Montgomery. "I'll do this or die."

He swung, doubling on himself, and the veins jumped in his forehead.

"You will move your wound," I protested. Montgomery said nothing, but renewed his exertions, and with a creak the knob turned and a gap grew in the wall.

"Hurrah!" said Sheppard, his voice ricocheting down the musty corridor.

"Tush!" I enjoined. "Pull it open."

The two tore back the cupboard door, and my lantern flashed on an appalling space of blackness.

"There is nothing here," said Montgomery.

"We're not finished, you duffer," said Sheppard eagerly. "Feel along the back wall. Here, let me. Oh, the devil! I'm too short!"

Thrusting the lantern into Sheppard's hands, I sprang at the wall, and with a leap seated myself on the floor of the cupboard.

"The back is wooden," I said. My fingers ran swiftly across the oaken surface and presently stopped. "The lantern," I called to him.

Sheppard let the lantern fall in his excitement, and in a moment we were plunged in darkness. At the same time there arose a sound on the grim silence of the corridor. I drew in my breath, and I think every one did the same. I felt rather than heard Montgomery fumbling with his revolver. Ten, twenty, thirty seconds passed, and then Sheppard struck a match.

"It's the infernal wind," he exclaimed.

The light flared in his face as he relit the lantern, and I noticed that it was wild and burning. With tremulous fingers he held me the paper, and the light shone on a bit of steel I held under my thumb. I pressed, and with a jerk the oaken screen fell back. I put out a hand and encountered nothing.

"I'm going through," I said in a whisper. "Follow me. I'll leave the lantern here. Heaven knows what we shall find."

I let myself softly down below, and my feet struck the stone of the floor once more. Sheppard and Montgomery followed. We cast the light about us. We were in a dungeon closed with in absolutely blank walls. In the corner some rugs and paper lay heaped. I pushed them aside, and they crumbled at the touch of my foot.

"It's not here," said Sheppard.

"Turn the light this way. Ah, I thought so!"

Ere he had finished he was halfway up a flight of stone steps, and we followed pell-mell. A door of heavy oak barred the way at the top.

"We wanted oil after all," said Sheppard impatiently. Montgomery flung his weight against it, and with a crash it opened.

"Mr. Montgomery's pistol went off by accident," said Sheppard promptly. Mrs. Main apologized and retired.

"I think we shall have to square the old lady or get rid of her," I observed.

"Leave that to me," says Sheppard cheerfully.

"Well, come along," said I, and, seizing the lantern, I stepped out into the courtyard and made for the entrance to the northerly drum tower.

Sheppard broke a jest or two at the entrance as we stumbled up the stairs, but once we were in the passage and had descended into the basement a deep silence enveloped us. The corridor rang with our feet, and the great slabs of stones were damp, to be felt even through our boots. As we proceeded on the way I noticed that now and then a narrow passage branched off to the right, and on each occasion, at the farther end, I caught the soft glow of the external lights of the night. From this I gathered that the chambers were passing whatever was the use to which they had been put were cut off by exigent channels to the outer wall of the castle and breathed by gratings upon the moat. One of these passages we explored, and by peering

HEADACHES

Tablets, powders, drugs, of any kind will NOT cure headaches. Simply because they never reach the CAUSE of the headache.

What causes headaches? Poisoned blood, always.
If the bowels are constipated—
If the kidneys are weak—
If the millions of pores of the skin are not active—
There are bound to be headaches.

Fruit-a-tives

OR "FRUIT LIVER TABLETS"
cure headaches because they cure the cause of headaches. They do not drug the nerves. They go to the root of the trouble, invigorate and strengthen the liver and increase the flow of bile into the bowels, which cure constipation. Act directly on the kidneys, heal all kidney irritation. Act on the skin, stimulate and open the pores.

With bowels, kidneys and skin all healthy and working in harmony, the blood is kept pure and rich and there can be no headaches.

FISH CULTIVATION

The Salmon Fishers Promised a Good Season—Illicit Traffic

"Our Medicine Bag," in the September Rod and Gun, has the following talk:
Mr. G. D. Smith, the Fishery Commissioner for New Brunswick, has kindly supplemented the account we gave in the June number of his experience in fish cultivation by further particulars which we are sure will be of particular interest to the great body of our readers. He says:

"There is no question as to the advantages of planting wall eyed ova either salmon or trout instead of keeping them in the hatchery to develop to the fry stage before distributing. In May, I placed nearly 200,000 trout ova in natural waters where I would have, later, placed the resultant fry, 15,000 of them being put where Mr. Alex. Johnston, the well known Loch Lomond Fishery Guardian, could daily note their development. These eggs were packed at the New Brunswick Government's hatchery, Bartibog, in boxes designed and made by myself, the whole lot, including their envelope of moss and snow, weighing only 250 lbs. I transported them 200 miles—twenty-six by railway. The loss in transit was less than one-tenth of the per cent. and between the time of planting and hatching the mortality was even less than that. Mr. Johnston weekly reports to me until the fry had absorbed their saca, where hatching, that the experiment was an unqualified success. In this quantity of ova, which was not half a load for a single horse buckboard wagon, had been kept in the troughs until hatched out, the resulting fry would have required at least forty cans for their transportation to the planting places, and these cans, with the necessary water, ice, etc., would be carried in at least five double express wagons. The experiment has therefore demonstrated that the loss by this method of planting is very much less than when the work is done in the fry stage, while the expense is, comparatively, only nominal."

SALMON FISHING IN N. B.
The present season promises to be the record one for salmon in Northern New Brunswick for both anglers and netters. A number of the latter have taken more in a single night than during the whole of last season. All the rivers—the Restigouche, Upsalquitch, Jacquet, Nepisquit, Miramichi and smaller ones share in the great catches being made and which will no doubt exceed those of 1906, which has heretofore held the angling record.

SEA TROUT A FAILURE.
The run of sea trout in New Brunswick has on the other hand been a failure. It is stated that for some years the wholesale fish dealers have been carrying on an illicit traffic in the young of this valuable game fish. The shipments have been quite heavy to Canadian as well as to United States centres. The principal guilty parties—those who hire the poor hand and the fishermen of out-of-the-way places to scoop the fingerlings with bag nets—are persons of influence, some of them in parliament, and these men get transportation certificates to the effect that the contraband fish have been legally taken. A crusade was made against this traffic last winter, and it is hoped it will have a repressive effect. Prominent citizens ought to be ashamed to be detected in promoting ing and profiting from illegal traffic in baby fish, but those in the wholesale fish business are said to entertain no such sentiments.

GREAT FISH CENTRE.
The importance of the Miramichi, N. B., as a fresh fish shipping centre is strikingly illustrated by the railway returns of two stations in the parish of Chatham alone for three months of last winter. There was in the shipments about one car load of frozen salmon. With that exception the fish were the catch of the winter months named and consisted of smelts, tomcods (frost fish), flounders and eels. In December 619 1-4 tons were sent from Loggieville, and 252 1-4 tons from Chatham; in January 467 1-2 tons from Loggieville and 267 from Chatham; in February 436 1-2 tons from Loggieville and 205 1-2 tons from Chatham, making a total of 1532 1-4 tons from Loggieville and 725 1-4 tons from Chatham, a grand total of 2257 1-2 tons from both stations.

ANOTHER STARS AND STRIPES INCIDENT.
Overloyal Citizen Made Frantic Effort to Prevent Flag Being run up in Honor of Americans Present.
Toronto, Sept. 6.—The Stars and Stripes waved off the flag pole on the exhibition grounds to a reminder to visitors from the United States that the day had been particularly set apart for them. While it was being run up, an excited and over-loyal individual attempted to stay the proceedings. Later the man made a bitter complaint to the management.

Large delegations from Buffalo and other border cities arrived this afternoon.

It Imparts Strength.
Just think of the enormous strengthening power Ferrozene possesses—consider what it did for H. V. Potter, well known in Kingston, "I was subject to spells of dizziness. For eight months I had intense pain in my right side between the shoulders. I was almost incurable with weakness and lack of vigor. Often I scarcely eat any breakfast and felt miserable all day. Nervous, easily excited, troubled with heart weakness, I was in bad shape. Ferrozene restored and nourished me back to health in short order." Whatever your weakness may be Ferrozene will cure. Price 50c. per box at all dealers.

GOOD PRICES FOR SEASON'S APPLES.
Toronto, Sept. 5.—The Ontario Co-operative Fruit Growers' Association met here yesterday, when a comparison of reports showed there would be no difficult about selling apples this year. Indication pointed toward good prices.

No, said the conscientious saloonkeeper, "I never sell a man any more liquor after he has had as much as is good for him."

"But how can you tell when he has had enough?" queried the cigar drummer.

"He has had his share," explained the man behind the white apron when he hands me a nickel for a ten-cent drink and insists that it is a quarter.

"I know how America was made," said the youthful prodigy. "North America is made out of solid stuff through and through."

"And how about South and Central America?" asked the proud father, why they are made out of scraps."

GOLD IN PEACE RIVER

Valuable Discovery Made by Government Survey Party

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7.—The Macdonnell Dominion Survey party arrived in Edmonton yesterday, and brought with them a story of a discovery of gold in the Peace River country, which if it answers to surface indications, will establish a new record in the history of mining. The samples of rock brought by the party are peculiar, being a slate shale, scattered through which are minute specks of gold, which by the crude assay give a value of from $7 to $32 per ton. The discoveries are made 37 miles below Fort St. John, at 17 miles from Alberta, British Columbia boundary, in a big horseshoe bend in the hills. Mr. Macdonnell, chief of the survey party, is taking a large number of samples to Ottawa to get a reliable assay made. Each member of the party staked a claim in the district.

TWO BATTLESHIPS

The accident to the British battleship Dominion in the St. Lawrence the other day, and the narrow escape from infinitely more serious disaster, give Canadians a special interest in the circumstances attending the loss of the battleships Montagu in English waters a couple of months ago.

The finding of the court-martial that tried the captain of the lost ship leaves a large measure of blame on him and his navigation officer, and both are reprimanded. Captain Adair has further been dismissed from his ship, and Lieut. Dathan loses his seniority. The punishment is severe where the fault is a slight dereliction of duty that would usually be unnoticed and even unrecognized; but the value of the lost battleship was $7,500,000 and an officer who is entrusted with so great a charge on his single responsibility must practically never lose sight of it.

The Montagu had been engaged in some important wireless telegraphy experiments, and on May the 29 last moved from her anchorage off Lunenburg, in the British Channel, and steamed in the direction of Scilly. The captain had orders from the Commander-in-Chief to return to Lunenburg, and under took to carry out these instructions, although a thick fog settled over the channel. Discipline is, of course, the very soul of the navy, and obedience is the essence of discipline. Nevertheless, the greater genius is he who knows when duty calls upon him to disobey commands. Had Nelson died before the battle of Trafalgar he would still have been famous because of the unique eye he made of his blind eye at Copenhagen in deliberately turning it on the Admiral's signal to retire.

Captain Adair's obedience was that of a martinet and showed no touch of genius; otherwise he would surely have awaited the lifting of the fog. In this respect he was no however, derelict, but painstakingly dutiful. His negligence lay in not having paid heed to the King's regulations, which in article 977 provide that in hearing dangerous or unlighted land during darkness, except in cases of emergency or other necessity, he (the captain) should consider whether, instead, the service he is employed upon will not be more certainly performed by standing off until daylight. As a matter of fact, Captain Adair had not read the regulations, which was negligence on his part; and the fact that he did not of his own accord decide on such a course shows a certain mediocrity of judgment. As to the navigating officer, he was in his cabin resting when the ship's soundings showed her to be in a dangerous position, and though he had the excuse that he was up the whole of the previous night, there was again undoubted negligence on the part of Lieut. Dathan in remaining below at such a time, and on the part of the captain in allowing him to remain below.

A properly equipped system of signal lights and signals might have saved the ship apparently, though Captain Adair admits there was confusion between steamer sirens and land signals. One would have expected an island around which English ships have been sailing for a thousand years would have had signals that could not have been mistaken for steamer whistles. But we have little occasion for throwing stones. Our own St. Lawrence channel has been ploughed for two and a half centuries and it is more from good luck and good management than good signals that Captain Kingsmill's splendid ship did not the other day share the fate of the Montagu. The smoke of a bush fire obscured the Paspébiac light, and, on the other hand, the blaze of the fire was mistaken for the light. A modern revolving light or a siren would no doubt have made Captain Kingsmill aware of his danger. As it was, the ship touched a hidden reef and narrowly escaped wreck. The action of the captain in calling out the crew of 850 men and ordering them one and all to dance a hornpipe to keep the ship from settling was as original as it was salutary, and is probably unique in the history of the navy. A commander who thus proves his readiness and versatility would, moreover, prove, we fancy, to have the higher genius that knows when to disobey as well as the discipline essential to naval life. The incident furnishes additional reason for congratulating that Captain Kingsmill is a Canadian.—Toronto Globe.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES
When Hon. L. P. Brodeur admonished the Quebec liberals a few weeks ago to go slow in the matter of pressing for increased subsidies from the federal treasury for provincial governments there was such an outburst of dissent that the minister of marine was obliged, as the Ottawa Citizen puts it, "to follow up his speech with a published explanation which amounted to nothing short of a backdown from the original position." But even this was not sufficient. The irritation appears to have been deep-rooted. The postmaster general was therefore "deputed to exercise his eloquence in pacifying the clamor" that Mr. Brodeur's utterances had raised throughout Quebec. And on Sunday last Mr. Lemieux made a vigorous speech at Chambly.

After reminding his hearers how he had, as "a disciple of Mercier," from his place in the house of commons advocated and defended the better terms programme of the conference of 1887, he assured them that his principles remained unaltered in this respect, and bestowed unstinted praise upon Premier Gouin for his persevering efforts "to bring about a definite and permanent solution of a question which has been in abeyance for over twenty years." With the increased resources which would accrue from an augmentation of the federal subsidy, he told them, the provinces would be able to impart a more energetic impulse to elementary education, agriculture and colonization. Mr. Lemieux continued:

"But my mission is not to present a brief for the provinces. We are very shortly to hear this plea formulated in clear and vigorous terms by the provincial delegates. This means—and I do not think I am violating any government secrets—that a conference between the federal and provincial authorities will soon be convoked at Ottawa. What will be its result? It is not my place to tell you; but what I can state is that the delegates will be heard and that justice will be done."

The Citizen, which is stoutly opposed to an increase in the provincial subsidies, says that Mr. Lemieux's "justice" means "a surrender, reluctant it may be, on the part of Sir Wilfrid and his cabinet colleagues to the importunities of provincial leaders who have political claims upon him that can only be liquidated; it would seem, by a draft upon the federal treasury. The conference is to meet shortly in Ottawa, and we have now the indisputable evidence that all there really is to counter about is the exact amount in which the Dominion is to be mulcted to make good the past extravagances of provincial governments."

The Citizen continues. "What these figures up to in permanent liabilities to Quebec alone may be estimated from the fact that the province is paying annually a million and a half dollars in interest on its public debt. The exact amount paid during the financial year ended June 30th last was $1,588,988. The net debt of the province is now $28,085,331. In 1904 the net debt of Quebec was $11,933,466, and the similar obligations on that date of the other provinces having standing public debts was: Nova Scotia, $4,466,771; New Brunswick, $3,415,637; Manitoba, $381,818; British Columbia, $8,164,412."

There is no doubt that the wasteful extravagance in the administration of provincial affairs is very largely responsible for the distressing financial situation which several of the provinces are obliged to exhibit at this date, and there are many who insist that the federal treasury should not be called upon to lend further encouragement to the provincial executives by providing additional revenue. But increased subsidies will come. Sir Wilfrid is not in a position to resist the importunities of Quebec.—Fredericton Gleaner.

ADVENTURE WITH A BEAR

The Review says: Three plucky girls, Misses Mayne O'Leary, Marguerite O'Leary and Katherine Stevenson, had an exciting adventure with a bear at Tweedie's Brook last Friday evening. They went with a party of friends to spend the night at the Adogwanook Fishing Club house. One of the party went up stream to fish and remained there fishing until after dark. The girls set out to see what had become of him and some distance above the house ran into a huge bear directly in the path. The bear stood up to receive them but they declined further acquaintance with him and made their way back to the club house in some haste. After getting back they suddenly remembered that the absent member of the party was ignorant of the bear's presence, and as the footpath was narrow and closed in with bushes, the chances were that on his return from the pool he would fall into the animal's clutches. It was then pitch dark, so they armed themselves with a lantern and a sheath knife, which they found in the house, and started out to warn the absent of his danger. They had not gone more than fifty yards from the house when they again encountered brin on the side of the path. They shouted and waved the lantern to frighten the animal, and at the same time called out a warning to their friend whom they heard approaching. They failed to make him understand and he brushed past the bear blissfully ignorant of its presence. The girls returned to the club house quite unconscious that they had displayed a pluck and coolness seldom found in girls of their age. Next morning the bear's tracks were plainly visible in the soft ground near the club house.

BURIED IN AVALANCHE

Hundreds of Lives Lost in Asiatic Russia By Land Slide

Tiflis, Sept. 10.—Practically without warning the side of a mountain rising above the township of Kwareli broke away, and in a sea of semi-liquid mud, sand and stones swept down on the township and overwhelmed and obliterated it. Some 255 persons have been buried alive.

Fifty-five bodies already have been recovered from the mire, which is about six feet deep. In addition to the lives lost, countless head of cattle perished and the crops were destroyed. Kwareli township occupies an area of five kilometres in the district of Telavi, in the Caucasus. Similar disasters are of common occurrence in Caucasian valleys.

Tiflis is the capital of the government of the same name in the Caucasus, Asiatic Russia, on the Kur. It is celebrated for its hot baths. The city has a population of over one hundred thousand.

DIED SUDDENLY AT HARCOURT

Harcourt, Sept. 7.—This morning, A. J. Duguay, son of the late Hypolite Duguay of St. Anthony, Kent Co., died in the Canadian House, where he registered last night. Mr. Duguay, who was a famous athlete, holding the world's championship for walking tight wires, contracted a cold in Northern Europe about four years ago, which settled upon his lungs. Later he had consulted Rev. Father Morrissey of Bathurst, who advised him to go west. He intended to go to Calgary soon. Last night he complained of feeling very tired.

Early this morning he left his room and advancing to the top of the stairway asked the landlady to call a doctor, for which a boy was immediately sent. Michael O'Meara, a boarder, went to the room as soon as possible, but Mr. Duguay was then dead in his bed. Dr. Fairbank's pronounced pulmonary hemorrhage to be the cause of death. Dr. Bourque of Richibucto had an inquest today. The jury found verdict of death from natural causes.

The remains of the late A. J. Duguay were taken in charge by his brother this morning.

LEATHER GOES UP IN PRICE

Toronto, Sept. 7th.—Leather is to go up in price, which will effect the consumers through the entire Dominion of Canada. This was decided upon yesterday when at a meeting of the tanners section of the Board of Trade, resolutions unanimously adopted that in view of the hides and tanning material harness leather be advanced two cents per pound above the August prices, measured leather one cent per foot, and that all other leather be advanced in proportion, and that the discount on all leathers sold to retail trade be 25 cents in accordance with the cash discount now given by jobbing and wholesale trade.

BETTER TERMS FOR PROVINCES

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—A conference of the provincial premiers with the Dominion Government will take place in Ottawa on October 8. Notice to this effect has been sent to the different premiers of the provinces. All the provinces will be represented. Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be present, and increase of provincial subsidies is the principal theme.

TRYING TO SAVE STRANDED BAVARIA

Montreal, Sept. 10.—Capt. Leslie of Kingston, is now at work with a gang of between thirty and forty men in an effort to get the stranded Allan liner Bavarian afloat before the ice forms and put an end to the work for the season. The effort is a speculation on his part, and he has secured the Davis wrecking plant at Quebec for the purpose. Even if the steamer is not got to a safe harbor this fall it is not considered that another winter in the ice will make much difference.

TWO BRITISHERS BEATEN BY RUSSIAN GUARDS

Mr. J. Foster Fraser, of London Standard, maltreated at St. Petersburg.

London, Sept. 6.—The Standard correspondent at St. Petersburg says that Mr. J. Foster Fraser, the Standard's special correspondent, and his secretary, were arrested in Tuesday's roundup of 2,000 persons in the streets, and were taken to the yard of the governor's palace, where they were beaten by the Cossack Guards. Probably only the intervention of the adjutant of Governor-General Scallan saved their lives.

Jumped Overboard

New York, Sept. 9.—The Canadian ship Carpathia, which arrived today from Mediterranean ports, reports that on the outward voyage on August 9 a Hungarian interpreter jumped overboard. An alarm was given, and electric buoy was thrown overboard and a boat lowered. After an hour's search in the darkness the boat returned to the steamer without finding the man.

The next day the Carpathia stopped at Gibraltar and then sailed for Naples. At 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon she overtook a Liverpool steamer which signalled that she had a man on board belonging to the Carpathia. A boat was sent and to the astonishment of the officers of the Carpathia the man proved to be the interpreter. It was then learned that after swimming about for seven and a half hours the Liverpool steamer came along and picked the Hungarian up.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR ADULTERATED.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The inland revenue has just issued a report on maple sugar and syrup. Out of eighty-five samples of syrup, only twenty-two were found to be genuine, and fifty-three adulterated. In Toronto none genuine and ten adulterated. Only twenty-six samples of sugar were taken. Of these only eleven were genuine. In New Brunswick three genuine and two adulterated samples of syrup were gathered, and two adulterated samples of sugar.

HOUSE BURNED NEAR BATHURST

Bathurst, Sept. 11.—The residence of Andrew Kerr, Miramichi Road, two miles from Bathurst, was destroyed by fire, with most of the contents, on Sunday afternoon. The fire originated in the kitchen. Loss $2,500; insurance $400.

BIG BOAT RACE

Cambridge Defeated Harvard on the Thames Saturday

PURNEY, Eng., Sept. 10.—Saturday's boat race between crews of Harvard and Cambridge universities, which was won by the Englishmen by two lengths, was probably the most surprising ever rowed on the Thames, not so much because of the result, as it had been considered anybody's race since the crews moved to Putney, as of the way in which it was won.

Cambridge, as had been feared by the supporters of Harvard and hoped for by Englishmen, got away better than their opponents, securing a lead which they maintained and which they increased to three lengths before Hammenamith bridge was reached. Both crews as they went under the bridge were rowing steadily at 28 strokes to the minute, neither apparently exerting itself. Suddenly Harvard began to put more power in her work and although Cambridge already had the race won and had the advantage of water conditions, her men were compelled to increase their stroke to 32 and finished a tired out crew. The Harvard men, on the other hand, apparently were quite fresh and took their boat across the river at a brisk rate.

Cambridge's time was 19 minutes, 16 seconds. The record for the course is 18 minutes, 47 seconds, made by Oxford in 1893.

The English experts say there is but one explanation for the result, that of superiority of English oarsmanship and of the English stroke. Harvard the experts declare was one of the finest crews physically ever seen on the river, but they were unable to overcome that training which English oarsmen receive from childhood. The Cambridge crew had the advantage of choice of sides; but those who know the river bed say this was little in their favor with tide and wind as they were Saturday.

TEN KILLED IN WRECK.

Harvesters, train and East Bound Express in Collision

Montreal, Sept. 12.—The C P R harvester train at Azilda, the first station west of Sudbury, was run into by the east bound Winnipeg express at one o'clock this afternoon, and ten killed and many injured. It is not known yet whether it was the harvester train from Montreal or Toronto. The engineer of the express says his air brake had been tampered with and he could not stop as he was running into the station. The stop-cock had been opened.

OBITUARY

MR. DUNCAN McDONALD

Mr. Duncan McDonald, of Flat Lands, passed peacefully away Sunday evening Sept. 9th after an illness of four weeks, which he bore patiently. He leaves a widow, three sons and three daughters: viz, James, of Campbellton, John, of Flat Lands, David at home, Mrs. Jas. McLeod, of Flat Lands, Mrs. Thos. Moore of Washburn Wis., U. S. A., and Annabella at home.

He was one of the oldest residents at Restigouche County being 87 years of age, and was widely known. The funeral took place on Tuesday, 11th inst., Rev C. A. Hardy conducting services at house and grave.

BLACK POINT

Harvesting is about over across reported light on account of the extremely dry season, potato crop reported also light.

Mr. H. Connacher of Campbellton and Mr. L. Connacher Salem, were visiting friends in Black Point lately.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. R. Dickie for the death of their baby girl. The funeral was largely attended and the floral offerings were beautiful.

Miss Clara McMillan is spending her vacation with her friend Mrs. Albert Fowlds.

Mr. Alex Ward has greatly improved the appearance of his residence by a coat of new paint.

ACCIDENTS AT CHATHAM

Child Nearly Drowned in a Tub of Water—Woman Badly Injured

CHATHAM, Sept. 10.—Richard Whelly, an employee in the American Lumber Co's mill here, met with a serious accident Saturday. He fell off the roller and fractured his leg between the knee and ankle.

Miss Eliza Toussaint, of Salem, (Mass.) visiting her sister, Rev. Sister Toussaint, of the Hotel Dieu.

The little son, aged eighteen months of Thomas Green, of Lower Napan, died Saturday after a short illness. Funeral took place Monday.

The lawn party on the manse grounds, Logville, held Friday afternoon was a great success. There was a large attendance and the cash receipts were satisfactory.

A little child belonging to J. Barnes was almost drowned Friday morning. Mrs. Barnes had left the house for a few moments and on her return found the child, who is just able to walk, had toddled into the kitchen and had fallen into a tub of water, which had been left on the floor. When discovered it was unconscious, and was with difficulty resuscitated. It is now apparently none the worse of its accident.

The moonlight excursion for the benefit of the crew of the Alexandria, held last evening was well patronized.

While Mrs. S. Jardine and daughter of Napan, were driving Saturday afternoon the horse became frightened and ran away. Miss Jardine jumped but Mrs. Jardine was thrown from the carriage. Her arm was broken and she received other injuries.

Wilson England is visiting here, after an absence of fourteen years.

MORE EARTHQUAKES IN VALPARAISO

New York, Sept. 12.—A Valparaiso cable to The Herald yesterday says another violent earthquake shock at a quarter past eight last evening, caused a terrible panic. The people fearing another catastrophe spent the whole night in the parks and other spaces. The quakes continued at short intervals but were less violent.

Brutal Attempt At Murder

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 8.—Goaded to madness by continual teasing, William McLaren, a section worker on the Canadian Pacific, near Ashcroft, attempted to murder Foreman Albert Dow, stabbing the latter nine times with a pocket knife.

McLaren is a simple sort of fellow and Dow had made him the subject of many practical jokes. He brooded over his humiliation and misery until finally, when he found him asleep in bed, he threw himself upon Dow, and before the latter was thoroughly awake inflicted nine gashes. One stab in the temple came dangerously near the right eye. Four other gashes were made on the head and the rest are in the arms. The would-be murderer fled to the hills after the stabbing, but was easily captured.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Act on Nature's Plan

The most successful medicines are those that aid nature. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. Take it when you have a cold and it will allay the cough, relieve the lungs, and expectoration, open the secretions and aid nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Thousands have testified to its superior excellence. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. Price 25 cents Large size, 50 cents. For sale by All Druggists.

"You are always wanting something," growled the aged millionaire.

"Oh, I don't know," rejoined his young wife. "Since our marriage I have had only one wish ungratified."

"And what is that?" he asked.

"That I were a widow," she replied.

MASSACRE IN RUSSIAN POLAND.

Russian Soldiers Shoot Jewish Women and Children

Warsaw, Sept. 11.—The correspondent of the Associated Press interviewed a refugee from Siedlee this morning. The man said: "I was staying Saturday at the Kupie ki Hotel in Siedlee. Suddenly, at 9 o'clock in the evening I heard two shots, which were at once followed by a volley. In a few moments a number of Jewish women and children rushed into the hotel pursued by soldiers. The shooting continued for an hour and then came to an end. The only noise from the street was the crying and moaning of the wounded. At midnight several soldiers passed the house singing martial songs. I learned that troops had been searching houses in an effort to discover members of the terrorist band. To this end they went through the Witkoria Hotel and pillaged the wine room. They got drunk rapidly, and coming out on the street began wholesale murder and plunder."

"At 2 o'clock in the morning the terrorists, who were defending a house on Pienkna street, threw a bomb at the soldiers. Batteries were at once brought into play, and bombarded houses on Pienkna and Warsaw streets. The Kupiecki Hotel, where I was staying, was destroyed."
