FOSTER FATHER OF 22 CHILDREN

Builds a Schoolhouse for the Little Folks-He Is Not a Millionaire Either.

South Haven, Mich., Aug 5 .- An interesting example of what natural paternal love will do on occasions is found near this place, where Mr. and Mrs. John Shandrow have adopted a whole orphan asylum - twenty-two children in all. Shandrow's twentytwo children are not all infants; innation all that it costs, in discipline of deed, some of them are bright, rosy. cheeked youngsters, already old enough to go to school. Shandrow has built a schoolhouse for the children, and has other troubles of his own on his big fruit farm. His story is another chapter of the doings of the wealthy Samaritan of today. H is not a millionaire, and not able give libraries, but, according to hi means, he has tried to help his fellows, and his first move was to adopt or at least to assume, the charge of all the inmates of a Minneapolis orphan the combined police forces of five towns attacked and defeated a force

> Mr. and Mrs. Shandrow were overcome when the party arrived. This was in the spring of 1901. The couple quickly made the little ones comfortable. As the summer passed they tried to choose one to keep. But all of the little ones had twined themselves around their hearts, and when the 1st f September came Mr. Shandrow wrote the matron offering to keep the children through the winter and see that they were clothed, fed and schooled. The offer was accepted, but, although of them are large enough to help pick the berry crops, but most of them are fees will range from 6d to 5s. too small to give anything in return for the care they receive. Facing the highway on the farm is a little schoolhouse which Mr. Shandrow erected for his family last fall. The nearest schoolhouse was some distance away, and matters were arranged that the district should furnish a teacher if he built the schoolhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Shandrow are devout Methodists. When they discovered that part of the children had never been baptized the minister was promptly summoned, and eight of the little ones were christened at once. Mr. Shandrow says that for menths past he has been trying to pluck up enough courage to send at least a part of the children back to the home whence they came, but he has never found a moment when he could tell them they must go. All of the youngsters look upon the Shandrows as their guardian angels and call them "papa" and

ALL IS READY FOR KING'S RETURN

Great Street Demonstration Will Mark His Majesty's Arrival in London.

London, Aug. 5. - All preparations have been completed for the return of King Edward to London tomorrow. The Victoria station has been brilliantly decorated. It is expected that his majesty's return to the capital will be marked by a great street demonstration en route to Buckingham Palace. The trip to London will be made on a royal special train, but there will be no invalid chairs or other special ar rangements, for it is felt that his majes ty is fully equal to the fatigue of the journey. Gen. Lucas Meyer, who was recently in command of the Orange Free State forces, and Mrs. Meyer, lunched with Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain on Saturday. King Edward invited Gen. and Mrs. Meyer to witness the coronation ceremony at Westminster Abbey next Saturday, but as Gen. Meyer goes to Dresden upon medical advice to take the waters they were unable to accept. Former President Steyn, of the Orange Free State who, with his family, arrived at South ampton, and sailed the same day for Holland, has arrived at Scheeveningen Mr. Kruger has sent him a message, in which he prays for his early recove. y

MANY DEATHS IN SHEEP WAR

Losses Mount Up to Millions-Closing Up Forest Reserves Starts Conflict Anew.

Denver, Col., Aug. 5.-At least a lozen men killed, three times that aumber wounded, 600,000 sheep, with an approximate value of $2,400,000 killed, and thousands of dollars' worth of sheep wagons, outfits, ranch buildings and haystacks burned by raiders during the last ten years is a conservative estimate of the cost of the frontier sheep war, which has now broken out again more virulent than ever. Ten thousand sheep have been killed in the last three months.

This fiercest and most unique of all frontier vendettas is growing in inensity with each succeeding day, and unless the general government soon takes a hand and enacts laws that will control the public grazing lands and establish the rights of the sheep and cattle men the sheep industry of Southern Wyoming and Northern Colorado will be thoroughly demoralized. Conflicts between cattle and sheep men are becoming more frequent, and the slaughter of sheep and killing of flock tenders are rousing the people to a Atch of fury that will result in a genral outbreak unless some relief comes ANTIPATHY TO SHEEP. This odd conflict of grazing interests by wolves and mountain lions. had its inception in the natural antipathy that cattle have for sheep. This lost 2,000 head the next day. antipathy is so strong that it extends days later Mrs. Irving's ranch even to the land upon which sheep raided. have grazed, and the water, unless it be running, of which they have drunk. Sheep are herded closely, in bodies of 500 to 1,000, and are usually moved slowly in one direction. They nibble off every blade of vegetation so close to the earth that even the roots are destroyed, their feet trample what is left into the earth, and as a result the land over which they have passed is left an almost barren waste, upon which grass will not reappear for several seasons. The odor left behind by the sheep is very offensive to cattle, and the latter would rather starve than feed where sheep have been. For this reason land once used for grazing sheep is useless for cattle for several years afterward.

BROUGHT ABOUT CLASK. When sheep raising on a large scale was first introduced into Wyoming, when that region was almost exclusive-ly devoted to cattle raising, there affairs with a strong hand it will beseemed to be plenty of room for both. Rapidly increasing flocks of sheep and locality. coincident decreasing of open ranges brought about a clash between the two nterests that has never been subdued. The chief causes were the overcro ng of the ranges by sheep, the utter mpossibility, for the reasons given, of running cattle and sheep together, the ruinous effects left by a flock of grazing sheep and the failure of the government to enact satisfactory leasing laws. Add to these the petty jealousies and neighborhood quarrels of the range and you have fuel for a lengthy REGARDED AS TRESPASSERS. The methods practiced by the cattlemen in driving off the sheep and the flocktenders exemplifies the frontier idea that "right is might and might is right." Being the last comers, the sheep and their tenders were regarded by the cattlemen as trespassers, and the sheriff of Hancock county, with 75 were and are being dealt with accord- armed deputies, is on the scene. The ingly. Warnings to vacate, unheeded trouble arose from an attempt to prethe sheep men, were followed by raids by the cowboys; sheep were slaughtered by hundreds, outfits were destroyed, resisting sheep men were many cases killed outright in the mad struggle for possession of the land, which, by the way, belongs to the commonwealth, and for which neither side pays a cent of compensation to the land as the cattlemen.

SHUT OUT BY GOVERNMENT. The cause of the most recent renewal of the conflict is an order of the last night a car was assailed by a government that sheep must be kept off the forest reserves, the last refuge villagers, and C. This led to a renewal of hostilities that bids fair to last indefinitely, or until the sheep-raising industry is ruined.

DARED THE CATTLEMEN.

There are two figures in this conflict there was no further demonstration, who arouse one's admiration. They are Griff Edwards, now a leading sheep man of Eastern Oregon, the first man to care the cattlemen, and Mrs. Nancy B. Irving, a former Chicago woman, whose goat ranch was recently raided and 1,200 goats slaughtered.

In the years from 1890 to 1895 Edwards was a flock master in Routt county. For three successive years he essayed to graze his sheep on the pub-de range bordering the Colorado line. He disregarded the warnings of the cattlemen and lost his flocks. County

CHICAGO WOMAN'S PLUCK. Mrs. Irving came out here from Chicago about a year ago and established a new industry, the raising of finely bred Angora goats for the manufacture of mohair. The goats were pastured on rocky land that the cattlemen disdained to use. But there were plenty of yucca plants, upon which the goats subsisted well. They did not encroach upon the stockmen's pastures nor interfere with them, but the outlaw raiders swooped down upon this peaceful ommunity, bound and gagged the herder, Lloyd Kellogg, and killed a large portion of the goats. Now Mrs. Irving has placed an armed guard at resist another raid, and has notified District Attorney Mullen at Grand Junction of her act and her intentions. She has also appealed to the humane society for aid, contending that the killing of the goats is cruelty to animals. It is said that she already has

RAIDERS USE DYNAMITE. Cruelty of the most revolting kind has characterized most of these raids. Dynamite has been thrown in among peacefully grazing flocks, killing them by hundreds. In 1895 a flock of 6,000 sheep was driven into a narrow canyon and clubbed to death. A short time later another flock of 4,000 was driven over a precipice and all killed. In 1899 Geddes & Bennett, of Cheyenne, lost a flock of 2,000 in Routt county. In 1900 Southwest Wyoming was the scene of several raids, where human lives were taken. FLORAL POTTERY

East Liverpool, Ohio, Aug. 5. -Flowers shaped as pieces of pottery lay about the casket of Isaac W. Knowles, the pioneer pottery manufacturer, while the last tribute was paid on Saturday by his pastor in this pottery city on Saurday. It was one of the most remarkable funerals East Liverpool has ever witnessed. Business was suspended by a general agreement of the merchants, while the service was in progress, and until the cortege reached the cemetery. Thirty earthen-ware factories shut down for the afternoon out of respect to his memory. Mr. Knowles was the founder of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Company, now the largest and wealthiest earthenware concern in the country. In 1863 without funds he built the one-kiln pottery, which formed the nucleus of the present establishment, using an old blind horse to furnish the power for his machinery for the first two years. Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 5.-Supplies are being regularly issued to the men on strike throughout this mining district, from four different stations, Montgomery, Cedar Grove, Sewell and Glen Jean. New Castle, Aug. 5.-The Shenango plant of the American Tinplate Com-pany, the largest tin plate mill in the world, has shut down for an indefinite period. The shut down of the Shenango mill follows the action of the men employed there in voting last Saturday to refuse the proffered reduction of 25 per cent on export orders. At noon James Sanders, a union man, who refused to quit, was taken from his car and dragged towards the Ohio River. On promising not to resume his car he was escorted home in a roundabout way to escape the crowd. Cars were held up all over the city until noon, when traffic was suspended. Marconi and His Invention.

Every great poet has been accused of plagiarism and every great inventor of appropriating somebody else's ideas. One Marquis Solari declares that he ks the real author of the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy and he has the validity of Marconi's patent. As a matter of fact no living scientist can claim to be the "discoverer" of wireless telegraphy in the literal sense. Marconi has perhaps advanced it a stage further than anyone else, but he has done this by utilizing the combining the results of other investigations in the same field. hundreds of the most intelligent and The "heroic" theory of invention-that of an idea flashing suddenly from the brain of a single genius—has been dispelled by the history of inventions in both science and the mechanical arts. There is nothing fortuitous or mysterious in it. The discovery of the law of gravitation by Newton was not an intuition, but the result of laborious research and was only made possible by the science of astronomy, just as astronomy is based on mathematics. The textile industry is a good illustration of the gradualness of invention. No one of the inventions greatest in their effect, the spinning jenny, plant designed for the manufacture of the water frame, the power loom, was attributable to the effort or ability of a single man. Each represented in its successful shape the addition of many successive increments of discovery. In most cases the successful invention was the slightly superior survivor of many similar attempts, and that is precisely the case with wireless telegraphy in the present day. Evidence given before a House of Lords committee as far back as 1857 showed that the spinning machinery used at that time was a compound of about 800 inventions, and the carding machinery was a development of 60 patents.

"The pressure of circumstances directs the intelligence of many minds don Advertiser that in considerable places, where telegraphers have much towards the comprehension of some single central point of difficulty; the common knowledge of the age induces many to reach similar solutions; that solution which is better adapted to the facts or 'grasps the skirts of happy the robber is crowned as a great inventive genius. It is the neglect of these considerations which gives a false interpretation to the annals of industrial invention by giving an irregular and catastrophic appearance to the working of a force which is in its inner pressure much more regular than in its outward expression. The earlier increments of a great industrial invention make no figure in the annals of history because they do not pay and the final increment which reaches the paying point gets all the credit, though the inherent importance and the inventive genius of the earlier attempts may have been as great or greater." In the same way Marconi has been prompted in his experiments by preriously ascertained facts of science. He has been fortunate in hitting upon a practical solution of a problem upon which others were also working. Perhaps some of them had advanced it in the laboratory stage as far as Marconi, but he was the first to demonstrate it to the world and he gets the world's applause.

This year the area under cultivation is much greater, and 80,000,000 bushels of wheat alone are expected. The yield per acre in wheat was 25.10 bushels in 1901, but even this high figure may be exceeded in the present season. Four large steamers have grounded with considerable loss in the River St. Lawrence this season. The Montreal papers will be better occupied in agitating for the improvement of the channel than in insisting that the proposed fast Atlantic steamers shall make Montreal their terminus.

The Woodstock Times complains that under the preferential tariff the sales of British goods to Canada showed a gain of £461,040 in the six months, ending June 30, 1902. The increase in the importations of woolen and worsted tissues was £120,000. "And this in face of the fact that the woolen factories in Canada are being closed down and hundreds of men forced to seek employment in the United States," adds the Times. How can this be reconciled with the constant taunt of the Conservative party that the British preference is a sham?

The total loss from the coal strike is estimated at $65,000,000 in press dispatches. This is not even good guesswork. The sum of $29,500,000 is included as loss to operators, but it is doubtful if the operators have lost a cent. The coal is still in the mines and the operators have made a handsome profit by selling their surplus stock at higher prices. The main sufferers have been the coal consumers, and the strikers have lost something, but they have been supported out of the accumulated funds of their association and by the soft coal miners.

Two Love's.

George Eliot. Mary Ann Evans, better known by her nom de plume of George Eliot, was born in Warwickshire, England, about the year 1820, the daughter of a poor curate, but adopted by a wealthy clergyman who gave great care to her education. Her first literary effort was a translation of Strauss' "Life of Jesus." This was followed by novels, the most famous of which is "Middlemarch" thought by more to be the greatest panel of the century. "Middlemarch," thought by many to be the greatest novel of the century.

As a poet she published "The Spanish Gypsy," "Agatha," and "The Legend of Jubal," with a number of fugitive pieces, enough to establish the poetical reputation of an unknown writer, but have scarcely added to the fame of the great novelist. She died in the year 1876.

The total authorized bond issue is 5750,000, 5 per cents, but only $20,000 per mile can be issued, and not to exceed the amount of capital stock subscribed. At the present time the total amount of bonds outstanding is $400,000, the greater portion of which are closely held in England, being listed on the London Stock Exchange.

cent per annum are paid in semi-annual installments, 4 per cent each in January and July.

The Company owns the exclusive Street Pailway rights in London, ratified by the Ontario Legislature, so that no other company can operate in London nor parallel their line, which is a decided advantage over the franchises of an American city. The city requires the Company to increase its mileage by one mile for every 2,000 increase in the city's population. It has been customary for the Company to carry an overdraft at a bank, occasioned by extensions and improvements, to an amount sufficiently large to warrant an increase in the capital stock issue of not less than $50,000 at a time, and then disposing of $50,000 of bonds for the next expenditure when the same total again reaches $50,000. The right to subscribe to the new issue of stock at par is a privilege enjoyed by the stockholders.

The shares are $40 each at par, but quotations are based on $100 shares. For instance, the stock is at present quoted at 165, yielding approximately 5 PER CENT NET INCOME. When a sale is referred to at 165, it really means $66 per share. Eight percent on $40 is $3 20 per year, $66 invested so as to receive $3 20 per year, $66 invested so as to receive $3 20 per year, is yielding 4.88 per cent income on the investment, or practically 5 per cent. For a high-grade safe investment, such as London Street Railway unquestionably is, the present quoted price of the stock, considering the fact that there is no water in the stock issue, is too low. Any special demand for the shares would bring about a

COMPOUNDING INCREASED

EARNINGS. The remarkable increase in Street Railway earnings all over the country is more remarkable in that each recurring annual increase is compounding over pre-vious years. We all know to what heights compound interest will climb, at current interest rates; but when doubled and quadrupled, as in Street Railway earnings, the result in a decade is mar-

Street Railway earnings are showing compound increases of from 10 to 30 per cent per year. The increase in Gross Receipts of the London Street Railway last year was practically 20 per cent over 1900. No well managed Street Railway in any locality is showing less than 10 per cent increase in gross receipts per in any locality is showing less than 10 per cent increase in gross receipts per annum. This has been going on steadily every year since the innovation of electrically propelled roads.

The possible earning capacity for the future is surprising when one figures it out. Take for instance the earning statement of the London Company for the year 1901. Assume that the gross earnings will only show an average annual increase of 10 per cent, which is a minimum basis. Allow at the outside 60 per cent for operating expenses, and note from the following table how the earncent for operating expenses, and note from the following table how the earn-ings multiply:

Gross Earn- Expenses, Net Earnr ings. 60 p.c. ings. $141,845 59 $84,556 95 $57,288 64 171,633 15 102,979 89 68,653 26 113,277 87 75,518 59 124,605 66 137,066 22 150,772 84 165,850 12 182,435 13 200,678 64 228,443 71 251,288 08 276,416 88 304,058 56 334,464 41 367,910 85 110,566 76 121,523 43 138,785 77

The above estimate furnishes an interesting study. You can figure out for yourself if the stock now selling on a 5 per cent basis around 165, it should be worth on the same basis in 10 years 635. It should be remembered that up to the present time the London Street Railway has never operated cars on Sunday. It is only reasonable to assume that it will not be a great while before their cars will run on Sundays, and consequently add materially to the earnings. In fact, the earnings would increase from 15 per cent to 20 per cent by the addition of Sunday receipts.

cent to 20 per cent by the addition of Sunday receipts.

The object of this market letter is to call the attention of investors to a security of unusual merit. The opportunity to buy Franchise Corporation securities in which there is absolutely no inflation, but where the proceeds from the sale of the Company's Stocks and Bonds have actually gone into the construction and building up of the property, is not always to be found. Again, the Franchise of the London Street Railway is one of the most desirable of any Company on the Continent. It runs for 23 years longer, at the expiration of which time the city has the right to buy the property, the value of which is to be fixed by arbitration. The property has been in successful operation for many years, sufficient to establish it firmly as to its permanency and unquestionable earning power.

Capitalisis and investors of both large

Capitalisis and investors of both large Capitalisis and investors of both large and small amounts are satisfied to put their money in safe quarters, where the income derived is 3 to 4 per cent. They can, of course, invest so as to yield 5 and 6 per cent, and even higher; but to buy a 5 per cent income where there is no element of risk is always inviting, particularly so when to this condition is added the practical assurance of future increased value.

added the practical assistance of future increased value.

London Street Railway Stock has sold as high as 180. The majority of the capital stock has until recently been owned by the Everett-Moore Syndicate, of Cleveland, Ohio. In conformity with their policy of reducing their holdings in the various companies in which they are interested, a block of the syndicate stock has come on the market and is being taken by Canadian investors at the present level of quotations, which is a decided improvement over previous efforts to buy the stock at reasonable figures. Incidentally, Messrs. Everett and Moore are conceded to have no superiors figures. Incidentally, Messrs, Everett and Moore are conceded to have no superiors in the management and building up of street railways in which they are intersted. All of their properties are in ex-ellent condition physically and financial-y. Messrs. Everett and Moore will con-inue to manage the London Street Railway as in the past.

London Street Railway Stock is listed on the Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges and can be obtained from brokers in either city, or from my firm. A careful analysis of the merits of the trestment is so clearly convincing as make it exceedingly desirable as an absolutely safe investment. CLAUDE ASHBROOK. 48k-yv Mounted Rifles: We have taken the liberty of coming to your home tonight to welcome you again to Canadian soil, and to have the pleasure of spending an evening in your company. It was with pleasure we learned of your safe return, for it is such as you that Canada cannot spare. In you we recognize not only those sterling qualities which constitute the man, but also those which constitute a true soldier. As a soldier you have faced the awfulness of war; at Hart's River you upheld the honor of our flag and country; you faced the deadly hail of bullets from the Boers, and we know you paid them back with deadly interest. You have fought our battles; you have assisted in making a name for Canada among the nations; you have taught us a lesson in loyalty.

Such gallant action we cannot allow to pass unnoticed, for each one of us is indebted to you for the service you have rendered, and our appearance here tonight is an assurance of our gratitude. We cannot repay you. No price can be set upon a life, and you risked yours in our interest. Such being the case, we cannot reward you; but as a slight token of our appreciation, please accept this gold watch and chain. When you look at it may it give you courage to fight on in the battle of life to victory. May it bring you health, wealth and prosperity, is the sincere wish of your many friends. Signed on behalf of your friends, Fred Bedkin, Eli Adams.

Trooper Monteith was completely taken by surprise, but recovered himself sufficiently to make a suitable reply, thanking all for their kindness and generous gift. During the evening he related to some of his intimate friends a few of the daring, hairbreadth escapes at Hart's River, where his faithful horse was shot from under him. Three rousing cheers were given for Trooper Monteith and King Ed-ward VII. After the usual votes of thanks were tendered the company dispersed in the wee sma' hours.

CURIOUS FREAKS OF LIGHTNING.

It Often Plays With Victims Before Killing Them.

Hundreds of Lives Are Taken Yearly and Millions of Dollars Damage Done.

Seven hundred and thirteen persons were killed and 973 more were injured by lightning in the United States during the year 1900, and from the records to the present time this year it would be fully equaled.

This year marks the 150th anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's kite experiments, from which he made his conclusions regarding the identity of intervening 150 years lightning has engaged the attention of many able investigators, and meteorology has attained the dignity of a science. Notwithstanding the common belief total number of persons killed in a given summer in the United States is extremely small compared with the four recovered. population. The destruction of proprty by lightning, however, is considerable In cities it is very small, for the reason that the many metallic roofs and tower and stunning many spectators structures seem to rob the lightning and pupils. The building caught fire of most of its destructive power, even if buildings are struck, and there is also the means at hand for quickly Rich suppressing any fire that may originte from this cause. It is the country listricts that suffer most from light-

Among the curious cases of the effect of lightning stroke is that of Henry Longman, of Summerville, Pa., who was struck this spring. Ever since then anyone who shakes hands with then anyone who shakes hands with him gets a shock. By passing the blade of a knife between his thumb and finof a knife between his thumb and fingers during the progress of a storm, he charges the metal so strongly that weights may be lifted with it.

It is dangerous for a person to touch Longman when a storm is approaching, but he himself feels no inconveni- and while the escape of all was naring, but he himself feels no inconvenience from his odd condition. Trowbridge, of Philadelphia, discovered this year that lightning never strikes the susrface of the water. At Gloucester, R. I., a horse was recently struck by lightning and apparently recovered, but since that time if a hand is placed on the animal's back it will drop to the ground. If harness is put on the horse it will fall ike a shot.

Frank Beehler, of St. Louis, has been struck three times this year by light-ning. The latest shock nearly killed him, and he was numb and paralyzed for three hours after the occurrence. At Port Antonia, Jamaica, this breast milk ever devised by medical month there was an electric storm last-science. At Wilkesbarre, Pa., recently, the child of a Russian family was struck by lightning as it lay in its cradle. It was immediately placed in a grave dug two feet in the earth, with only its head protruding. When it was discovered by the town authorities the rain was falling upon it in torrents. The Russians explained that they nad been taught that the earth would absorb the electricity, and, indeed, the measures taken certainly did no harm the child. It has since recovered. When a severe thunderstorm is raging the safest place is in the open, and as near as possible to the earth. If the body is erect it acts as an excellent conductor for the electricity to find its way to the earth. Of course, it is dangerous to remain under a tree, and also to huddle near threshing machines, sheds, or in the grand stands at race tracks, or at country fairs, especially under or near the flagstaffs that usually adorn these structures. One should not stand in doorways, near chimneys and fireplaces, close to cattle or near the end of a wire clothesline. Small articles of stele or iron like knives, kettles or keys do not attract lightning, as is popularly sup-

Viola Bogart, a 17-year-old girl, was killed at Florida, N. Y., in May, by lightning, and a girl companion was so shocked that she was crazed. KNOLLWOOD PARK CONTESTS

Mrs. Spriesser Was the Handsomest Woman on the Grounds.

Saturday at Knollwood Park was a day of unusual interest. The proprietors of this newly prominent piece of real estate had issued an invitation to the public to spend the afternoon there, and nearly 1,000 people accepted their invitation. The chief attractions, besides the chance of making an investment, were two contests-one for the finest baby on the grounds and another for the handsomest woman. The latter was won by Mrs. Charles H. Spriesser, of 213 Queen's avenue, and Master Wesley Williams, son of Mr. Charles Williams, of 696 Queen's avenue, was declared the best-looking baby among the 38 contestants. The sales of lots at the park have been exceptionally numerous, and Mr. Draper, the owner of the property, says that the public is showing keen 'nterest id this chance to procure a building lot.

The Ladder of Love.

To Mr. and Mrs. Mills:

Though bitter be your anguish, Think not you weep alone; From many a nursery window There comes a childish moan. In many a toy-strewn playground His little friends at play Are listening for his laughter --They're calling him today.

We know not how to tell them, It's hard to see them weep; Their hearts are yet so tender, We tell them he's asleep. We say that angel fingers Have closed his tired eyes, And angel hands will wake him Beyond the far blue skies. Then the confusing questionings,

The puzzling Why and When, And if we make no answer, The tear-tide turns again. But grief brings Heaven nearer, And somehow, by and by, Their love is like a ladder That bridges earth and sky.

THEIR HOLIDAY

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 5.—There Day Was More Quiet Than Any in Recent Years.

THOUSANDS WENT OUT OF TOWN

Springbank Park and Port Stanley Were Meccas for Many Individual Pleasure-Seekers.

The citizens of London, who have always shown themselves possessed to a high degree of the faculty of surrendering themselves freely to the undivided enjoyment of a holiday or other festal occasion, made no exception of Civic Holiday-the day which is peculiarly their own. For the past four invested with a special interest as being the principal day of the Old Boys' Reunion, but this year the citizens' observance of the day took a quieter form. Next year, however, should again witness a recurrence of the scenes which have made the civic holidays of former years so memorable.

Although so quietly celebrated, yesdow of apprehension over the merry parties which, with laden lunch baskets, wended their way to various pleasure resorts. The evening was cool and clear, and provided a fitting close to a glorious day.

The excursions to Ingersoll, Sarnia, Detroit and other places were all largely patronized, while there was also the regular holiday traffic over the various lines, it being as extensive as usual.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 5 .- The pursuers of Tracy are proceeding on the theory that he is somewhere in the southeastern part of Lincoln County. Sheriffs Cudihee and Debolt arrived at Reardan, fifteen miles east of Davenport, at an early hour yesterday, having traveled all night. Miss Edyth Doyle, a soprano soloist, sang a number of songs, which took very well, and the cornet solos rendered by Mr. Clarence Robinson were popular and were encored. Gilbert and the stranger still slept soundly and peacefully side by side, dreaming, it might be, each of them, of the fresh English glades and the cool the fresh English glades and the cool English breeze; of rich waving meadow or smiling upland farm; perhaps of a fair English face, that itself made the fatherland emphatically a home. John Soon roused them; "Bill," as he requested his entertainers to call him, proving himself no mean adept in the art of roughing it, and improvising with ingenious skill a multitude of little comforts astonishing to his less experienced comrades. As he became more familiar with them, too, he seemed gradually to recover the manners of a man who had recover the manners of a man who had lived in good society. His tone lost much of its coarseness, his expressions many of those quaint Yankeelsms which have become the colloquial slang of adventurers in every part of the world. Without quite coming up to the standard Without quite coming up to the standard of a gentleman in the somewhat fastidious opinions of Orme and Gordon, he had evidently the trick and turn of speech habitual to certain circles, and which, once attained, is never lost again. Altogether "Bill" puzzled both of his entertainers considerably.

After breakfast—consisting of the remainder of the "steamer," and the tin mug filled with weak tea—a council of war was established, and future measures taken into consideration. Two of the war was established, and future measures taken into consideration. Two of the party must walk—there could be no question on that point; and as John's horse was the only available animal, it was settled that he should ride up the creek to a certain bay from which he knew the way to the spot where their people had camped, while Gilbert and the stranger should remain where they were, till fresh horses could be sent for them, when they would all proceed together toward Sydney, that being the ultimate destination of the whole party. So the two new acquaintances watched John's retreating form as he rode away through the bush, and prepared to spend the long summer's day in the society of each other and the care of their enfeebled animals.

Being Englishmen, the latter topic afforded them an inexhaustible fund of conversation, and the points of "Bill's" ount, an animal possessing extraordin conversation, and the points of Bins mount, an animal possessing extraordinary powers of speed and endurance, were banvassed at considerable length.

"He is a right good one," said his master, eyeing with no small disgust the running wound in the poor beast's back.
"And yesterday was the fifth day he must have carried me from seventy to bighty miles. I've been far up the country to look at a sheep far up the country to look at a sheep farm, and now I'm on my way back to Sydney about paying for it. It's a queer life, this, for a man who once had a decent house over his head, and drove his own cabevery day into London; aye, and could give a friend as good a dinner as a duke. It's been a queer time, mine, from first to last—mostly in a gale of wind, always a heavy sea; not the steadlest fellow alive at the helm, and a strong tendency to carry too much sail in all weathers. I should have been a different man but for three things—I never could man but for three things—I never could resist making money, I never could resist staking money, and I never could resist staking money. I sometimes wonder whether I shall drop my anchor in smooth water at last. I sometimes think I should like to have done with these ups and downs; to make one more good hit that would make me straight again, and so go home to my wife, lead a new life, and toddle peacefully on toward my

"What! are you married, then?" asked Gilbert, with increasing interest in his That am I." was the reply; "and to "That am I," was the reply, and as nice a woman, and as pretty a woman, and as good a woman, as you'll see in a summer's day. There was a of them yet that I could depend upon when the wheel turned. There was a time in my life—to be sure, I was very young—when I thought a sworn brother would have seen me through anything. I have learned better since then, but I don't think I owe these any thanks who taught me the lesson. Well, as I was telling you, they turned me loose in Paris at sixteen, with plenty of money in my pockets, and no so very green for my age. Before I was twenty I found out one or two things that are better not learned quite so soon. I found out that there's only one person a man of sense ever considers, and that the more you make men and women subservient to your own interests, the better they treat but to win, whatever it costs; and, above all, I found out that if once a woman bets your head under water she ducks till you are drowned. fool as I look, and one lesson was all needed to teach me that. There was something repulsive in his farring laugh, as he gave vent to this vindictive reflection; something grating to his listener's feelings. The latter was one of those men whom a woman might have ruined, body and soul, and he would have ruined, body and soul, and he would never have visited it on her.

"Well, sir, when I came to England I led a pleasant life enough. I had plenty of floating capital, and I knew how to make the most of it. I wasn't one of your fine gentlemen, who can ruffle word floating them on. I could make the most of a good thing and the best of a bad one; so before I had spent the whole of my first fortune I had taken but three times its value in amusement t three times its value in amusement à dissipation. I liked the life. Hang sir! I should like the life over again. It wasn't bad fun to go to Epsom and Ascot. Newmarket and Goodwood, with champagne and sunshine, pretty bonnets and kind looks, and a good guess at the colors that would be first past the judge's phair. There's nothing like it in this cursed country. But it was worth while the stand in a barouche up to your peck. to stand in a barouche up to your neck in muslin with the fast ones who had won their glove-bets, thanking you for putting them on, and the quiet ones, who wanted to have a look at the winner, leaning over your shoulder to see his jookey go to scale; and a 'monkey' at least to the credit side of your own book her, leaning over your shoulder to see his jockey go to scale; and a 'monkey' at least to the credit side of your own book anded in about a minute and a half. Sut what's the use of talking about it? You've seen it all yourself. Bless you I know your face as well as my own and forgive me for saying if it wasn't for your beard I could put a name to it. I'm ture. Well, sir, this sort of thing has but one fault that I know of-it's too good to last. The better the liquor, you know, the sooner you get to the end of the bottle. I made a bad hit or two in the money market, and I lost a cracker backing Armstrong's lot for the Derby. If you were there' you'll agree with me since. I was forced to go abroad for awnile, but I got into some money from a cousin soon after, and paid up everything. I had enough to live on, and if could have kept out of the market I might have done well. I married a wife, too, and took a pretty little house near London, where we lived quietly and comfortably enough. I have often that this was the hapfest time of my life. She was a good, contented soul, and a pretty one, too. It's so long since I've seen a real freeh Englishwoman, it does me good to think of her, with her soft brown hair and gentle, quiet ways. There's nothing like 'em, to my fancy; and I daresay you agree with me."

Gilbert subscribed willingly to his companion's sentiments. He had formed his own ideal of woman's beauty, and sentiments. He had formed his own ideal of woman's beauty, and sentiments. We have each of us our different pattern. I have each of us our and Canova's, and nearly all the Madonnas. I can fancy the Anadyomene rising

Gilbert's standard was a fair one enough. He liked to think of her while he led his companion to talk on of those peaceful days.

"There's a great deal of confinement about a married life," proceeded the latter, "and at last, what with speculations failing, and consols dropping all at once, not to mention a continual run of illuck with the 'bones,' I saw no way out of it but 'to bolt.' So I broke it to 'the missis' one fine morning, and sailed that same night. Short notice, you'll say, sir; and so it was. But women are like horses and so it was. But women are like horses in many ways, and in none more than this: that we never know what they can do till we try them. She was a regular trump, that wife of mine. I left her what I could in the way of furniture and adds and ends, but she made me take every rap of money she could muster, poor thing! And she put up all her-little trinkets in a packet and thrust it into my hand when I started. There's only one of them left, but I'll never part with it as long as I live. Look ye! Here

He drew a small gold bracelet from his breast as he spoke, and handed it to Gilbert, who examined it with the reverence due to a husband's last memorial from his wife. It wanted cleaning sadly, and was worn and frayed here and there, where it had nestled against bowieling or revolver or some such was constant. knife or revolver, or some such uncongenial companion. Many a strange scene had that little keepsake witnessed, many an unholy orgie and wild midnight car-ouse. Yet, bad as he was, the man had the grace to lay it aside upon occasion, rather than pollute the only link he had with a purer, fairer state of being, passed away for evermore. There were times, too, in his adventurous life, when he was penniless, that the sale of such an article would have brought twenty times its cost among his reckless, half-savage associates. But no; some inward feeling he could not define bade him rather starve than part woth his wife's fare-well gift. He said as much while he laid it away once more within his breast; and Gilbert, keenly alive to all such impressions, vowed in his heart that there was good in the man, after all, and that he would do everything in his power to benefit him eye they should part.

"I'd a curious run of fil-luck." he proceeded, "after I came to the colony. First failed in one line, then in another; at last I got so involved I was forced to cut and run. Come! you're a good chap and ed away for evermore. There were times.

There, yeu've broken your pipe!" In effect, Gilbert started and turned pale at the name, breaking in his confusion the cherished pipe that had been fusion the cherished pipe that had been so artistically colored by many weeks cliqudicious smoking. It took him a minute or two to reflect that there might me more Adas than one in the world, and that it was neither rational nor manly to allow the enunciation of three letters to produce such an affect on his de-

The chamterly put to confusion by a discerning little lady five years of ago. The cham-pion good-humoredly asked her name. "Dore," answered that matter-of-fact personage, in one of those clear, childish trebles which command immediate attrebles which command immediate attention from a whole dinner-table; "you know it is, because I heard you say it twice when you were looking at Aunt Dottie's picture in the library."

Ambrosial whiskers somewhat shaded and toned down the blushes of that helpless dragoon; but poor Aunt Dottie, who wore her hair a l'Imperatrice, remained considerably pinker than usual for the rest of the evening. Well, well, Frank Grant has painted a better picture of her now than the one in the library; and she has got a rival already in the affecwho had the worst of it when all was her now than the one in the library; and she has got a rival already in the affec-tions of her incautious captain, a sturdy little rival whose name is also Dora, and who screams and tussles lustily to

The adventurer picked up the broken fragments of the pipe, and returned fragments of the pipe, and returned im to their owner.

It must have been something in the pallor of Gilbert's face that recalled his features, as they had appeared on rase-courses and at cricket-matches long ago, before he had become bronzed by an Australian sun; for his companion gave his thigh a slap, as a man does when a bright thought has flashed across him, and exclaimed exultingly:

"I remember you now. I can tell you where I saw you last; they pointed you out to me as a heavy loser when Pottpher broke down at Goodwood. Your name is Orme."

CITY LEAGUE GAMES.

An unusually large crowd witnessed the City League double-header at Tecumseh Park Monday morning, and enjoyed some excellent sport. The four teams played uniformly good ball, and the contest in both instances was exciting and close. The Struthers, the tail-enders of the league, snatched a victory from the Londons, the leaders, through the latter's inability to hit Gibson opportunely. The contest be-tween the Rockets and the Aberdeens was won by the latter in a five-inning game. The scores: CO. CAME

CAPITALS 6, TORONTOS 5.

Toronto, Aug. 5.-The Capitals snatched a victory from the Torontos yesterday in the last few minutes of the game. It was a great struggle throughout. Torontos' field outplayed their opponents and the Capitals' stone wall defense saved the game for the old-time champions. Fifteen minutes from the end Toronto seemed to have the game in hand. Ralph had been ruled off the Capital's home for ten minutes for knocking Querrie down with his stick, and in his absence Toronto had won two games, putting the score at 5 to 3. When Ralph reappeared the Torontos continued to press. They were foiled, however, and six minutes before time was up the Capitals scored. Toronto still played a fast game, but then Adamson was ruled off and the Capitals secured the ball from a shot on their flags. Leaving only Baldwin and Hutton to guard, the whole team charged down on the Torontos. The rush failed and the Torontos' field got clear away behind the defense, but a wild pass lost Toronto the opportunity, and the whole Capital team charged again. Shea scored just before time was up and the score was tied. From the face off for the deciding game Stewart picked up the ball, ran down the field, passed to Murphy and he scored. The last game was won in ten seconds. While the Capitals' defense is as good as ever, the home showed itself weak. The Torontos ault, passed well and their field work outfooted their opponents. Their home was rather light for the Capitals' defense. The game was rather rough. Score: Capitals 6, Torontos 5. ATHLETICS 10, DUFFERINS 2.

Grass Houses.

8 to 1, 3. Time, 1:15%.

The grass houses formerly built by the Wichita Indians of Southern Oklahoma are exceedingly interesting. The grass is gathered early in the spring, when it is yet fresh. The sod-cutting usually takes place immediately after a rain, the sod being removed to a thickness of about eight inches. Buffalo grass sod is the only kind that will answer the purpose of the builder. He commences to lay the foundation as does the stonemason, digging away the earth to a depth of about one foot. The grass portion of the chunks of sod is laid to the outside, and the house is built to a height of twelve to fifteen feet, in the form of a pointed dome. There is no hole at the top for the smoke to pass out, the latter being carried away through a pipe outside the hut. The door is usually in the south and there are no windows. Through each tuft of sod is run a wil-Chicago, Aug. 5.—Rose Tree, E. Corlow reed string, and these strings are rigan's imported mare, at the odds of bound clear around the structure. FIFE'S SHAMROCK III.

The Yacht With Which Lipton Hopes to Capture America's Cup.

Now that it has been definitely decided that Mr. Wm. Fife, of Fairlieon-the-Clyde, is to design the Shamrock III., there is much conjecture in Weather cloudy and warm. Yacht Club, in whose possession it has

That Watson constructed a fastef boat than the Columbia or the Constitution is conceded by many members 109 of the eastern clubs. The Columbia com- captured the series of races simply ecause of the superior ability of Capt. Barr.

Watson evolved a boat that is still the wonder of naval architects, and the Columbia presented absolutely no new features. The new ideas which the Herreshoffs evolved proved of very uncertain value, so much so, in fact, that they "queered" the craft.
When the Shamrock I, failed to do the trick, Fife admitted to Sir Thomas that she was his limit. He was pressed months figuring upon the craft he had turned out, the result being that he could not find enough weak points to account for her failure. At last, Sir Polly Bixby, 102 (Scully), 18 to 1, 1; Thomas was forced to look to another Flop, 99 (Sayers), 7 to 2, 2; Tom Col- man to build the challenger, and he

Watson spent a year in solving the problem. He had the advantage of a fine testing tank at Denny's, and all the information that Fife could give him. Watson, after considering the matter, took the only course open to him. Fife had failed with a boat of the brutal, smashing type. The only thing left was a boat of the opposite type—slender, graceful and light.
The result was a dream. No craft as beautiful as the graceful green and bronze vessel that sailed into New York harbor was ever seen on any sea. That she was fast, no one who saw the races will deny. Watson said that she was his limit. When the Shamrock II. failed Sir

Thomas went to him, but he admitted that he had done his best, and, after many months of consideration and figuring, he is of the same opinion. Fife has undertaken the construction of a new challenger, under protest, as it were. Months ago he reiterated his former assertion that he could do no better than the first Shamrock, and what has changed his belief, if it has been changed, is not told in the cable Fife had the advantage of all of McGulgan, of the Grand Trunk, gained nothing in their recent strike which the companies were not willing to grant beforehand. The principal result of the strike was the establishment of the right of the company to confer with its own men, without any interference from central labor organizations. Mr. Mc-Guigan is inspecting that road be-tween Chicago and Montreal. He says that before the close of the year the road will have 775 miles of double track. He expects that the doubletracking of the line between Montreal and Niagara Falls will be completed by the end of November. A well defined report is current in United States capitalists are seeking entrance into Toronto from the west for a railway. The scheme is said to be disguised under the form of a plan to enter Toronto as an electric line. and later to operate steam cars from Toronto to a connection with United States lines at Hamilton. Tracy Makes Tracks.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 5 .- Harry Tracy, the Oregon convict, passed through Coulee City, Wash., Friday night at 11 o'clock and is reported to have been seen at Almira, the next station east, at 3 o'clock next morning. Coulee City and Almira are on the Northern Pacific Railway midway between Seattle and the Idaho state line. This would seem to confirm the report that Tracy is making his way to the "Hole in the Wall" country in
