"FIRES" DEPUTY SHERIFF WATTERWORTH

Los Angeles Jury Indicts Wilson On Five Counts

GRAHAM "LETS OUT" OFFICIAL FOR 28 YEARS

FORMER HEAD OF MISSION ON TRIAL MONDAY

Ex-London Evangelist Gets Back Personal Papers and Own Securities.

NOW FACES TRUE BILL

With Herbert Cox Awaits Arraignment in U. S. Court For Robberies.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21.—Prompt work characterized the federal grand jury last night in reporting indictments against Herbert Wilson, former head of the City Mission in London, Ontario, and Herbert R. Cox for holding up Nelson R. Grimes, an auto mail driver, on the night of March 3 last and stealing twenty sacks of mail matter.

No estimate is given in the charge as to the amount of loot secured in the hold-up.

There are five counts in the indictment, and in addition to charging that the defendants threatened the driver, Grimes, the same allegation is made as to Jesse R. Alexander, a mail clerk, in charge of the truck on the night of the robbery.

Another charge is that Cox and Wilson took twenty bags of mail from First and Alameda streets to a point in the rear of the Southern California Iron and Steel Company, 417 Mateo street, where the mail was ditched.

Other counts in the indictment cover allegations of conspiracy to violate the laws, and a violation of the law against the mutilation of the mail sacks.

Face Arraignment Monday.

Under the ordinary rules of the court, the accused men will be arraigned before the United States District Court next Monday, and it is possible that with the action of the grand jury, nothing will come of the motion on behalf of Wilson to have his bail reduced from $100,000.

While there was no information given out of the testimony in the case before the jury, it is said it was of most convincing character, and that there was no difference of opinion as to what the body should do.

Should All London Girls Work Before They Wed?

Should London girls have a fling at work before they walk down the church aisle to the tune of a wedding march? In other words, has hitting the typewriter keys bearing on housekeeping, has keeping an office in tip-top shape anything to do with home making, or has caring for a firm's books and punching an adding machine anything to do with making a husband happy?

MRS. MATTIE ROSE CRAWFORD.

By Mrs. Mattie Rose Crawford, of 178 Tecumseh Avenue.

"First or reason number one, let us call it, depends upon circumstances. A woman today is a human being, a citizen, a person. For this position she has fought, because she felt it gave her freedom.

"Number two, freedom is really another name for self-expression, which is a law of life."

"Three, that which tends to bring about this state, is her birthright, work either with brains or hands is one of the fundamental expressions of life. Work is an absolute necessity to self-expression.

"Four, women, then, should have the privilege of finding work.

"Five, they should have the privilege of working at whatever kind of work gives the best chance of self-expression.

"Six, a woman thus trained brings her best to the home and the community.

"Eight, home environments are sometimes too narrow to train the best talents of our girls, so the new home (that is the home where the wife is a girl who has not worked) loses much if otherwise might have gained.

"Eight, efficiency in one line demands and respects efficiency in another line. An efficient business woman will demand of herself that she be not only an efficient housekeeper but an efficient home-maker.

"Nine, she will admire efficiency in her husband, and understand that efficiency is a product of hard work or a genius for hard work."

"Ten, by woman working the standard of all work will be raised."

"Eleven, a girl working will feel the need of recreation, through pleasure and restful sports. This again satisfying a fundamental expression of life, or the social instinct. Woman's life has broadened through the centuries, she is no longer a slave, no longer the petted queen of the household, nobly planned. The world is calling for her womanhood, and she is responding, longing to give her creative instinct, and constructive ability to help man, her helpmate, so that both working together can bring this man-made world, as it is now, a home where the reign of divine love holds sway."

"Work is a protection necessary for earning a living and a woman should work in the place that is most congenial to her where her talents find their best scope and financial reward."

"A girl who can earn her own livelihood is not apt to marry a man who is unworthy of her."

"The three essentials of happiness which has been said are something to do, something to hope, and something to love, and a girl can find these in any vocation that calls forth the best."

"WAY CLEARS FOR DEBENTURE ISSUE"

E. V. Buchanan Says Ontario Health Board in Favor of Utilities Improvements.

MRS. FRED WHITE.

By Mrs. Fred White, of 490 Quebec Street.

"I certainly do think that girls should work before marriage. It gives them a sense of freedom. That itself is a good thing."

"There are only one or two things against girls working before marriage. I think that the average girl of today doesn't realize what she is up against when she gets married, particularly if they have not found the right man, and when they find out their mistake they become depressed, and having worked before they long for the old life and are naturally independent, knowing that they can resume their former employment when they wish, a separation often follows."

"Business training makes a girl, especially if they were typists, stenographers, or bookkeepers, before marriage, methodical, a valuable asset when she comes to do housework."

"Marriage is, however, what you make it."

"The girl who works makes the best wife, in my opinion."

BELIEVE COALITION NEEDED IN BRITAIN

Political Leaders Declare Unity Is Necessary in Present Circumstances.

London, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The British political situation has entered a fresh phase. It is reported that Premier Lloyd George and Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, supported by the Liberal and Conservative leaders, have reached the conclusion that the maintenance of coalition government is indispensable for the successful conduct of the country's affairs in the present circumstances.

It is said the leaders have deferred the calling of a general election and concentrate upon a three-fold policy of reduction of expenditure, remission of the income tax, and a campaign against the Labor party. It is alleged that this agreement was reached after concessions were made by both sides, Mr. Chamberlain abandoning his insistence for reform of the House of Lords, and the premier consenting to postpone some of the Liberal platform. Whether the agreement will be a genuine one is somewhat doubtful, but coalition organizers are relying upon the admitted weakness of the die-hards in their constituencies.

A particularly tender spot is the allocation of seats as the Liberals have intimated that they require far larger proportion than was allotted in the 1918 election, and unless the Conservatives give up some of their seats in the next election fresh trouble is likely to arise for the coalition.

MORE SHOULD WEAR GLASSES

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—That one out of every five school children had deficient eyes, and that instead of three out of every ten persons wearing glasses there should be seven, was the contention of Dr. R. C. Augustine, director of the Eyesight Conservation Council of America, before the Kiwanis Club here last night.

MRS. JOHN GEMMEL.

By Mrs. John Gemmel, of 130 Mill Street.

"It is one of the great problems that we have to face today, and it is up to the educational authorities to solve it."

"I don't think that girls who have left school and gone into a factory for a few years are well enough equipped for homemaking, if the authorities would provide a course in parenthood at the schools, the girls working before marriage would be all right."

"I certainly think that a girl should have some training before marriage; that is, training in house-keeping, and it is thoughtless for them to contemplate marriage without it."

"Of course, I think that marriage is the ideal for a girl, and that motherhood takes second place to nothing, even a career; some young women often forego marriage if they have an opportunity of success as a great singer or something of that nature."

"A young girl who has worked before marriage is likely to ask a family budget and her own money, and have marriage on a partnership basis."

"But in nine cases out of ten girls, however, work in these times, and that is why I said, that it is one of the great problems of today how to train and equip these girls for homemaking."

"The wage-earning girl may become financially independent, but that does not stop her from marrying; when a girl falls in love, the financial position does not matter."

REMANDS CHINESE FOR THEFT OF $641

Lee Hee Charged With Stealing Money From Richmond Street Laundry.

There was an Oriental atmosphere in the police court Saturday morning when half of London's Chinese population was present to hear the cases of two fellow-countrymen who were charged with theft.

Since Jan. 8 the city detectives have been working on the theft case, that So Tong, 609 Richmond street, reported. The investigation resulted in the arrest of Lee Hee, who appeared before Magistrate P. H. Bartlett Saturday and pleaded guilty to the theft of $641. Lee Hee was remanded until Jan. 25.

After stealing the money, it is alleged that Lee Hee "planted" the money at 69½ Dundas street. He apparently was not alone when this was done, as another Oriental, it is alleged, immediately stole the money. As a result, Lee Hee Kaung was arrested by Detectives Bolton and Down Saturday morning. He appeared before Deputy Magistrate Bartlett and was remanded until Monday.

POPE BENEDICT UNCONSCIOUS AS DEATH IS NEAR

All Hope For Recovery of the Pontiff Has Been Abandoned.

Cardinals Gather at Bedside of Dying Head of Roman Catholic Church.

BULLETIN.
Rome, Jan. 21.—(12:45 p.m.)—All hope for the recovery of Pope Benedict has been abandoned, Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, declared during the noon hour today.

Pope Benedict at this hour is delirious and unconscious.

ROME, Jan. 20.—"If it pleases the Lord that I shall work again for His church, I am ready; if He says it is enough, let His will be done."

These were the last words of Pope Benedict XV, when the cardinals withdrew from his chamber this evening. The Associated Press was told that the Pontiff retained consciousness and that he recognized the various prelates.

Professor Marchiafava, one of the physicians in attendance on the pope this evening still was somewhat hopeful as to the outcome. "There is a thread of hope," he added. He said that the pontiff was resisting his ailment with great fortitude and that the patient had obtained a little rest in the early evening hours.

All the cardinals remained at the Vatican throughout the afternoon, and this evening a large number of them were present in the ante-chamber to the sick-room.

They concurred in the opinion that there still was a ray of hope, but that the condition of the patient was desperate. Although his breathing continued difficult the fact that he had been able to throw off some of the congestion in his lungs brightened the spirits of the pontifical court during the evening.

London Catholics Will Mourn Death of Pope Benedict

WHILE Roman Catholics in the Diocese of London are faithfully praying that the grave condition of Pope Benedict XV. may not progress to death, no special church services of this nature are being held.

However, Monsignor P. J. McKean announced this morning, after learning that all hope of recovery for his holiness had been practically abandoned by attending physicians, that the moment that news of his death reaches London, instructions will be issued by Bishop M. F. Fallon for special church services.

"The moment that news of his holiness' death reaches London, the bishop will issue special instructions to every priest of the diocese for services to be held in their respective churches," said Monsignor McKean. "No special services are being held now, but prayers are being said by Roman Catholics of the diocese, at church and in their homes."

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Louise Leslie of London, Ont., was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury in the criminal assizes this afternoon.

On hearing the verdict Mrs. Leslie threw her face forward and cried out: "Oh, my! Oh, my!"

Justice Riddell remarked to the jury that their verdict amounted to practically the same thing as if they had found the prisoner guilty of murder. For had they done so, he said, he would have felt it necessary later to make representations for clemency, as there was no intention to kill.

The prisoner was remanded for a week. Accused had been tried on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Eileen Lyons, who died as a result of an illegal operation.

In an impressive charge to the jury Justice Riddell emphasized a section of the criminal code, which reads:

"If an offender for any unlawful object which he knows, or ought to have known, to be likely to cause death, and thereby kills any person, he is guilty of murder, even though he may have desired that his object should be effective without hurting anyone."

"Counsel for the defence had no right to ask you to consider that a verdict of guilty might mean the hangman's noose," said his lordship. "Counsel had no right to appeal to you to take that into consideration."

Referring to Mr. W. K. Murphy's criticism of the police for permitting Urquhart and Collins to be at liberty, the bench pointed out that there was time yet to apprehend either of the men if this was found necessary.

Justice Riddell declared in the course of his charge that Urquhart, the dead girl's friend, was a criminal in the eyes of the law. "He should be convicted, and I hope he will be convicted," remarked the judge, "if you ask me anything."

Mrs. Leslie sobbed violently when her counsel began his address to the jury.

"I ask you not for the liberty of a client," said Mr. Murphy, "but I ask for the right of a mother of two little kiddies, nine and three years of age, to live."

Toronto Jury Returns Verdict of Manslaughter At Louise Leslie Trial.

PRISONER CRIES "OH, MY!"

Sentence Deferred a Week by Justice Riddell After Commending Jurors.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Louise Leslie of London, Ont., was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury in the criminal assizes this afternoon.

On hearing the verdict Mrs. Leslie threw her face forward and cried out: "Oh, my! Oh, my!"

Justice Riddell remarked to the jury that their verdict amounted to practically the same thing as if they had found the prisoner guilty of murder. For had they done so, he said, he would have felt it necessary later to make representations for clemency, as there was no intention to kill.

MAY CHANGE JAIL STAFF

Turnkeys and Other Employees Are Required To Fill Out Forms.

Deputy Sheriff B. F. Watterworth of Middlesex County and Miss Sybelle Grant, stenographer, were notified by Sheriff Donald A. Graham at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon that their services were no longer required, and that it would not be necessary for them to assume their duties Saturday morning.

Sheriff Graham, who took over the office on Wednesday last, had nothing to say regarding the matter, other than that he had told the deputy sheriff and Miss Grant that they would no longer be required.

Miss Willa Gammage of this city and Mrs. Duncan McCallum, formerly of Woodstock, where she has had ten years' experience in the sheriff's office there, were at work at the court house Saturday.

Asked when he would appoint a successor to Mr. Watterworth, the sheriff stated that that would be a matter for the future. He did not know whether it was necessary to have a deputy. He had just assumed office, and until he had things straightened away he would not care to make any statement for publication.

Excites Much Comment.

The action of the sheriff was the sole topic of conversation around the courthouse Saturday morning. It is rumored, and it would seem as if the rumors started without foundation, that there are to be some radical changes in the personnel of the jail staff.

It is understood that all jail officials will be required to fill out a form giving their age, time of service, etc. Practically the entire staff, with the possible exception of Governor Dawson and one of the turnkeys, are getting up in years, and it would not surprise those in touch with the situation if there were a general clean-up among those individuals who are entrusted with the safeguarding of prisoners.

Governor Byron Dawson has not yet returned from Kingston, where he escorted Henry Jack ("Slim") Williams, implicated with the Murrell boys in the murder of Russell Campbell in Melbourne last April, and a statement from him on the matter, therefore, could not be secured.

Alleges Gross Injustice.

Mr. Watterworth characterized his dismissal as a "gross piece of injustice."

"I have been here 28 years, and have made a life study of the work," he declared. "For the last four and a half years I have carried on the entire work of the office, as Sheriff Cameron was not capable of performing the duties. For a government that claimed promotion a leading plank in its platform, its action has been all the worse. I could say much more, but I won't."

Lloyd George Tells Why All Nations Invited to Genoa Conference.

PEACE BROUGHT NEARER

Declares Irish Settlement Has Enhanced Britain's Prestige Throughout World.

London, England, Jan. 21.—Prime Minister Lloyd George, addressing the National Liberal conference here this morning, declared that all the nations of Europe, without distinction, had been invited to the Genoa economic conference "because we want to put an end to constant wars and rumors of war."

"No international conference ever settled Europe's problems," he said, "but they have advanced the cause of peace on earth. I have profound conviction and faith in the ultimate reason of mankind."

Mr. Lloyd George was greeted with a storm of cheers when he appeared on the platform in Central Hall, where the conference was held. All the coalition ministers and Liberal members of parliament were present. Replying to an eulogistic introduction by the chairman of the meeting, Lord Leverhulme, the prime minister immediately began a discussion of the advantages accruing to the empire from the Irish settlement.

"It is the first time for a century," he said, "that we have had an Irish government established with the whole-hearted sanction of the people of Great Britain."

Prestige Enhanced.
Mr. Lloyd George said the Irish settlement had enhanced the prestige of Great Britain throughout the world, and had deprived her enemies of "the force of that taunt that we were always willing to give exalted advice to other nations which we never followed ourselves."

World trade, he said, was in a worse plight than anyone present had ever before witnessed. He continued: "International confidence is the basis of international trade. The problem confronting Great Britain and the world may be summed up in the one phrase, 'restoration of international confidence.'"

"Order will restore confidence. We must establish real peace in the world."

Expects Peace in East.
Mr. Lloyd George said he was looking to the Genoa conference to restore peace in the east.

If permanent peace is established there must be a great reduction in the cost of armaments," he said. "The British army is being reduced to below the pre-war standard, and the navy and air force are being reduced also. The nations must be prepared to take risks for peace." The prime minister said he was a believer in the League of Nations, "and I wish some of its friends would not run it as if it were a sort of little party show," he adds.

With reference to German reparations, Mr. Lloyd George declared: "I am one of those who think Germany ought not to be let off from payment, but Germany is suffering from exhaustion, like other nations, and delay is inevitable. The sooner, however, a settlement is reached, the better."

STRIVES TO FIND HEADQUARTERS FOR BABY CLINIC

Dr. McKillop Discovers New Organization Is Deprived of Home.

MUST ORGANIZE WOMEN

Health Officer Urges Efficient Public Health Nurse Be Secured.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
ST. THOMAS, Jan. 20.—When steps were taken to turn the basement auditorium of the Public Library into a children's department the baby clinic of this city was deprived of a home, and now the first and not the least difficulty which confronts the board of health is to find suitable rooms where the newly-organized clinic may be carried on.

It is necessary to find a room in a warm, well lighted, airy and available one afternoon each week. The basement of the library formed an ideal spot for the work last year, and the board is highly anxious to find a room of similar nature for the new clinic, which is to be started immediately.

Wants Auxiliary Body.
A second task which confronts Dr. McKillop as superintendent is the organization of the women of the city as volunteer helpers in the clinic. It was suggested by Dr. McKillop that the heads of the various women organizations should be invited to co-operate so that the appeal of the clinics should be made as wide as possible. It is the belief of some of the local boards, however, that more efficient results would be obtained if the members of some women's organization, as a whole, were enlisted as helpers.

A public health nurse, especially trained in the work, must be obtained. Dr. McKillop accepted the petition as superintendent only on the condition that he received the assistance of such a nurse, and Dr. McKillop has recommended strongly that one be secured.

Nurse Would Benefit.
Dr. McKillop claimed that an efficient nurse, trained in public health work, would prove invaluable to the community in many ways. The work of such a nurse, he said, did not end with the clinic, but reached out into the homes of the city, which it would be the duty of the nurse to visit.

CHATHAM LIONS ELECT OFFICERS

SOUTH GREY SOCIETY RE-ELECTS PRESIDENT

[Special to London Advertiser.]
DURHAM, Jan. 20.—The annual meeting of the South Grey Agricultural Society was held Thursday and the books show considerable improvement in the society's financial condition. This is accounted for largely because the sum of $328 was received from the government for wet weather insurance and almost $100 was cleared on the concert. Dan Edge was re-elected president. Other officers are: First vice-president, J. W. Blyth; second vice-president, Geo. Ritchie; secretary-treasurer, Geo. Binie.

All the eight municipality directors were re-elected. Mrs. J. S. McIlraith was added to the board of lady directors, along with Mrs. J. McGowan, Mrs. Wolfe and Mrs. Burnett. The date selected for the annual fair this year are: Sept. 14 and 15, two weeks earlier than usual. The field crop competition in oats will again be held.

EAGER TO DISPEL FALSE IDEAS ABOUT GIFT FUND

London, Jan. 21.—(Canadian Press cable).—Princess Mary, whose marriage to Viscount Lascelles takes place in February, is most anxious to remove certain erroneous impressions in connection with the various subscriptions which are being raised for wedding gifts. An official statement issued from Buckingham Palace today. Her royal highness, the statement adds, is in no way responsible for the initiation of any fund or form of any gift or the method of raising subscriptions, and it has always been made clear that the form of the gift must remain with the donors themselves. It is needless to add, the statement concludes, that the princess is deeply touched by the numerous funds initiated, and is gratified to find that in these days of stress many charities in various parts of the country will materially benefit therefrom. Among the many schemes afoot for presenting gifts to the princess is the opening of a popular fund by the lord mayor of London, contribution to which fund are limited to £1.

pontiff is that formerly used by Pope Pius X.

The room is simply furnished. There are a few paintings on the wall and a crucifix above the bed. It contains gold-framed chairs upholstered in red damask and a table near the bed.

One of the cardinals of the Curia, who remained in the Vatican throughout the afternoon and during the evening, was Vincent Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College. He said that at a time like this the death of the holy father would be a great calamity.

When the great specialist, Dr. Marchiafava, proclaimed that there was but a thread of hope, an humble friar of the Good Brothers, who has been attending the pope throughout his illness, was even more sanguine, saying:

"During my lifetime work among the sick and poor I have seen some recover who looked worse than the pontiff."

Administer Sacrament.

The last sacrament was administered at his holiness' own request early in the day. At 10:30 this morning, Grand Penitentiary Cardinal Giorgi began recital of the prayers for the dying.

The Vatican then notified the Italian government that the pope's condition was hopeless.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, who, as cardinal camerlengo, becomes temporary custodian of the papal authority in case of the death of the pope, took up permanent residence in the Vatican this afternoon.

At 3:30 this morning a bulletin was issued from the Vatican saying that Pope Benedict's condition had become extremely grave during the night. His holiness was severely agitated by the bronchial catarrh, which had spread to his lungs and heart.

At 11 o'clock this morning, when notice was sent to the government that Pope Benedict's condition must be considered hopeless, his physicians announced that serious weakness of the heart had set in.

As soon as the pope's entourage had ascertained that his holiness' condition was critical, Cardinal Gasparri was notified. The cardinal hurried tearfully to the pope's bedside.

Pope Benedict was resting tranquilly when the papal secretary of state arrived, and immediately requested that the last sacrament be administered. Monsignor Zampini, the Vatican sacristan, administered the sacrament. His holiness was conscious and calm throughout the ceremony.

Realizes He Is Dying.

Shortly before noon the Vatican announced that the Pope himself had requested the last sacrament, realizing that he was dying. The administration of the last sacraments was then authorized by Doctors Bignami Marchiafava and Battistini, who found His Holiness had taken a sudden turn for the worse at 4 o'clock this morning. The Pope was breathing with the greatest difficulty.

The bronchial infection with which Pope Benedict suffered yesterday extended to his lungs and heart. Early today His Holiness weakened, after his condition had remained stationary throughout the night.

An earlier bulletin from the Vatican today said that Doctors Battistini and Angeli remained with His Holiness throughout the night. Up to three o'clock this morning they were hopeful, for the Pope's condition remained stationary.

The illness of Pope Benedict was the result of a chill which His Holiness caught last Sunday when he was celebrating mass. At the time Pope Benedict started shivering and coughing violently, but insisted upon finishing the service, and refused to be carried in a chair, walking to his apartment.

Had Remained Cheerful.
Pope Benedict at the time considered the coughing significant. His temperature rose on Monday, and a physician was summoned. All audiences were suspended for ten days. Throughout the week Pope Benedict, although suffering from what was described by physicians as "bronchial catarrh," remained cheerful. Yesterday he asked to be allowed to answer some correspondence, but the request was refused by his doctors.

The whole nation, which waited anxiously for each bulletin, was cheered last night by an announcement by Dr. Battistini, saying that there was no cause for alarm.

A diagnosis of influenza, accompanied by bronchial catarrh, however, was made by Dr. Battistini and confirmed by Prof. Ettore Marchia-fa, a throat specialist, and Dr. Vignani.

The Turn For the Worse.
The turn for the worse came in the early hours this morning. Pope Benedict sank rapidly. At his own request the last sacrament was administered while he still was conscious.

Pope Benedict, who was conscious and tranquil during the early morning, requested that the final sacrament be administered in the presence of the entire family and court.

According to the Vatican ceremonial the last sacrament is to be administered only when the supreme pontiff is on the verge of losing consciousness, but in practice this rule has often been changed, as nearly every pope has ever, was made by Dr. Battistini and confirmed by Prof. Ettore Marchia-fa, when fully conscious of the solemnity and sanctity of the act.

Pope Benedict especially has often told his relatives and private chaplains that he preferred to receive the last communion while still strong enough consciously to do honor to the Almighty.

As soon as the decision had been reached to administer the last sacrament, an order was issued to all of the 400 churches of Rome. Almost simultaneously the bells of all these edifices began tolling to summon the people for the purpose of offering up prayers for the pope.

Thousands On Their Knees.
At the moment when the final sacraments were administered, thousands of people in Rome were on their knees, either in one of the churches or in private chapels.

The ceremony itself was simple and affecting. As soon as the Pope's private confessor had finished confessing him, the doors of the sick room were thrown open and the relatives and relatives assembled in the ante-chamber entrance.

At the same time word was sent to St. Peter's where all of the cardinals and prelates strong enough to sustain the ordeal had in the meanwhile assembled.

The sacrist of the Vatican headed the procession, bearing the holy water and escorted by a detachment of Peter's guards. The canons of St. Peter's came next and then the cardinals, escorted by the Swiss guards. Among the members of the Sacred

After them came the prelates, monsignors, chaplains, apostolic protonotaries, the auditors of the Rota Segnatura and other ecclesiastical tribunals. The Pope's many private chamberlains residing at Rome, as practically all of the various ecclesiastics connected with the Vatican administration. A large delegation of the old Roman nobility and a detachment of the Palatine guards closed up the procession.

Strength

Strength of muscle does not indicate strength of nerves. On this account many people who look healthy enough suffer from nervous troubles and cannot understand what is ailing them. Sleeplessness and irritability are among the early symptoms. Indigestion and tired feelings soon follow.

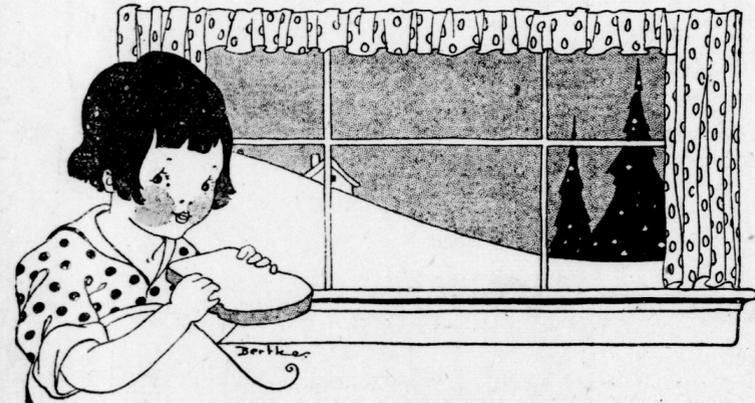

Read this letter from an Ontario man: Mr. W. L. Gregory, Charles St. E., Ingersoll, Ont., writes: "I had been troubled for quite a while with indigestion. At times there would be a twitching of the nerves of my stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I am a moulder, and owing to the nature of my work my system became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from this medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not been bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, as I think it splendid for anyone run-down and needing a tonic." HALTS PLAN OF U. S. TO REVEAL CHINESE PACTS

Far Eastern Committee Reject Final Adoption of American "Revelation."

ANNOUNCE 'SCRAP' SHIPS

Queen Elizabeth and Iron Duke Join Britain's Junk Pile Quota.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The American proposal to lay openly before the world all the treaties and understandings that related to China met with an unexpected setback today when it came before the far eastern committee of the arms conference for formal adoption.

Although such a step had been agreed to yesterday "in principle" the problem of defining the exact scope of the agreement precipitated a long debate, and after several changes had been made in the draft presented by the American delegation final action was postponed at the suggestion of Japan.

The committee did adopt, however, a resolution expressing the hope of the powers that China would speedily reduce the large military forces now maintained within her borders. That action, the resolution declared, was considered requisite to any real financial rehabilitation of the Chinese government.

Meantime, in another subdivision of the conference the groundwork was laid for another international gathering which some delegates seemed to regard as a partial realization of President Harding's plan for a continuing series of meetings to discuss world affairs.

A sub-committee headed by Ellhu Root, approved a resolution putting over a revision of the rules of warfare to a future conference, which it is contemplated, shall be called by the United States in the near future.

Discussion Invades Senate. For the first time in several weeks discussion of the Washington negotiations broke out during the day on the floor of the Senate, where a resolution was presented by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montant, asking information about the status of the Shantung controversy.

Both Senators Lodge and Underwood, members of the American delegation, told their colleagues the Shantung conversations were near conclusion, and that if they failed, there seemed to be no hope of bringing the question before the conference proper.

On the naval side of the conference the situation continued unchanged, Japan still withholding assent to the article dealing with Pacific fortifications. It developed, however, that the hitch was even inclusion of the Japanese islands of the Bonin group under the fortifications "status quo" and that difference of view on the question had arisen between the Japanese delegates and their home government.

The replacement charts of the five-power naval treaty, now complete, specify by name the ships that are to be scrapped, and the date on which each is to go out of commission.

PASTOR ACCEPTS ST. THOMAS CALL. CHATHAM, Jan. 20.—Rev. Robert Hicks, pastor of the Victoria Avenue Methodist Church, has accepted a call to the Central Methodist Church at St. Thomas. At the end of the conference year Mr. Hicks will have completed his fourth year as pastor of the local church and will assume his new charge on or about the first of July next.

PREMIER KING GETS NORTH YORK SEAT

Waterloo, Prince, P. E. I., and North York.

Armstrong Quits Race In Favor of Premier.

AURORA, Jan. 20.—The North York fiasco is over. Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon J. A. M. Armstrong filed here with Returning Officer J. G. Gillanders a certificate of withdrawal, witnessed by his son, Arthur Thomas Armstrong.

The following is Mr. J. A. M. Armstrong's statement: "To the returning officer, riding of North York. I, John Alexander Macdonald Armstrong, hereby declare that I withdraw from a by-election to be held in the above riding on the second day of February, 1922, for the Dominion of Canada. Dated this twentieth day of January, 1922.

"(Signed) J. A. M. ARMSTRONG." The certificate is followed by the following note: "Received this twentieth day of January, 1922, at the hour of 2:30 p.m.

"(Signed) J. G. GILLANDERS, Returning Officer." Accompanying the certificate is a statement of authenticity signed and sworn by Tom Armstrong before the returning officer.

Mr. Gillanders immediately wired the chief electoral officer at Ottawa announcing the withdrawal and giving Premier W. L. Mackenzie King as returned by acclamation.

The following is the statement signed by Tom Armstrong as witness to the certificate of withdrawal: "I, Arthur Thomas Armstrong, of the village of Schomberg, in the county of York and the province of Ontario, make oath and say that I saw the annexed paper writing purporting to be a withdrawal from candidature duly signed by John Alexander Macdonald Armstrong, and that I know the said John Alexander Macdonald Armstrong." (Signed) "A. T. M. ARMSTRONG."

"Sworn before me at the town of Aurora in the county of York this day of January, 1922. Signed, J. P. Gillanders, returning officer."

What led up to Mr. Armstrong's sudden decision to withdraw is a matter of rumor and mystery. At a late hour yesterday Mr. Darnford Roche stated that it was very improbable that Mr. Armstrong would withdraw. He stated his belief that proceedings had gone too far for any such action.

Last night and this morning, Mr. Armstrong was unavailable by telephone, the reply being that he was confined to his bed by illness. Rumors were rife this morning, however, that the telephone wires had been hot between Newmarket, Toronto and Schomberg until well after midnight and the popular story was that Dr. M. K. Dillane of Schomberg, Mr. Armstrong's agent, had been advised by the Conservative machine operators that Mr. Armstrong's withdrawal must be forthcoming or the Conservative party would be forced to repudiate his action and his connection with the party.

When asked as to his report this afternoon, Dr. Dillane made emphatic denial, stating that Mr. Armstrong was still confined to bed and that he, as Mr. Armstrong's agent, had nothing to announce. A Trip Down Town. A trip down the street in New-

Mr. Drainin's performance yesterday afternoon proved the knockout blow, and that Mr. Drainin may be regarded as the decidedly unwilling instrument in the election of the prime minister and the complete return of a government of which Mr. Drainin yesterday afternoon scarcely seemed to approve.

A Soggy Anticlimax. At any rate, this sudden action this afternoon is rather in the nature of a soggy anticlimax to the tremendous defiance which Mr. Armstrong has been announcing with the assistance of a few local and imported fire-eaters.

It is to be hoped that the action has not come too late to prevent the discredit which has been steadily accumulating against Mr. Armstrong's account. As yet North York has not decided.

The riding has breathed a sigh of relief, and the retrospective process will come later.

INGERSOLL, Jan. 20.—The Kiwanis Club had as their guest at the weekly luncheon today Col. W. N. In the course of his talk he emphasized that temporary discouragement should not be allowed to interfere with the future of Canada.

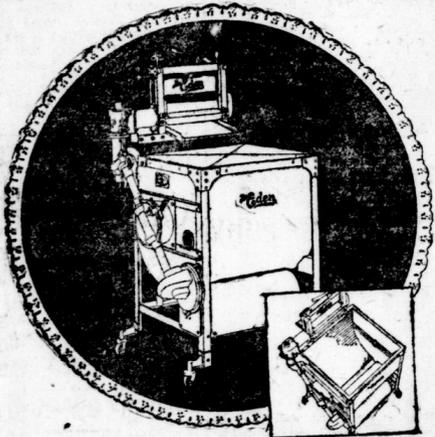

The speaker offered the suggestion that efforts be put forth to awaken a new interest in farm life. Farm conditions, he said, had undergone a great change, and added that this phase of work would do much to solve the unemployment problem.

Beck Visualizes Port Stanley As Great Ocean-Going Port

Tells Ontario Commercial Travelers Province Must "Look In" On St. Lawrence—D. B. Hanna Blames Wage Boosts and Depression For Cut in Canadian National Earnings.

Port Stanley an ocean-going port on Lake Erie?
Not an idle boast of the future, but the fervent hope and belief of what may soon be achieved, an expression of Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, addressing the commercial travelers of Ontario at their annual banquet in the Masonic Temple Friday night.

"What does the future hold for the people of this province?" questioned Sir Adam. "If the Hon. W. C. Kennedy and his associates in the King government are the men that I honestly believe them to be, they will give us a 'look in' on the mighty St. Lawrence."

"I want to say to the trunk and steam line men that they are not worth a button unless you deepen it and make it navigable for its entire length. Who is going to stop us going down the St. Lawrence, I ask you? Not the State of New York, nor the Province of Quebec, nor yet the Montreal Heat and Power Company."

"Of what use is your Welland Canal? It is not worth a button unless you deepen it and make it navigable for its entire length. Who is going to stop us going down the St. Lawrence, I ask you? Not the State of New York, nor the Province of Quebec, nor yet the Montreal Heat and Power Company."

"I firmly believe that in time the St. Lawrence will be harnessed. It is only a matter of time before we claim that we own all the surplus water in the province, including the navigable waterways. In the latter the federal government has only rights to sufficient water to generate electricity. I hope that the present government will carry on the agreement pertaining to the same, which was prepared by a former government and subsequently cancelled."

"The people of Ontario will pledge credit to the development of water power on our own account, for they know what it has already and will mean to industry. There have been those of you who have said we went too far. That is all 'bosh,' and incidentally I want to say that during the 16 years of the Hydro-Electric Commission's life there has not been one instance of political domination or other discrimination, despite predictions."

"Whitney forgot it."
"Sir James Whitney did think about making me a minister of power. Then he forgot about it that session, and later Mr. Rowell asked about it a couple of times, but it was ultimately forgotten. Now some of them are saying the talk is not going to go far. They are going to have a minister of power. I want to say that it will be an unfortunate day for the hydro-electric power and the hydro radial scheme when such a department is created."

"That is one thing that should never be made. Keep politics out of it. Let us make it pure. Exercise business-like methods. Let us go along with our radicals. Hydro is here to stay."

During his address Sir Adam asserted that it was a fact that at a meeting of the travelers about 20 years ago he predicted the transmission of Niagara power to London, but his remarks had been treated as more or less of a joke.

"It is more difficult to overcome pessimism than to do the work of the province," he explained, "and it has been rather difficult to convince since that time how government is not destined to become a national calamity."

White Introduces Hanna.
Introducing D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railroads, Frank White, M.P. for London, pointed out how much the people are compelled to depend upon transportation and warned that if Canada expected to compete in the world's markets it must look to its transportation development. He referred to President Hanna as a specialist in this particular line.

There has been too much pessimism and too much misinformation spread throughout the country concerning the National Railway was the keynote of President Hanna's address. What the latter system actually wanted at the present time more than anything else was in his opinion, the utter faith of the people.

He pointed to the growth of the Canadian National roads until the final absorption of the Grand Trunk lines, and while admitting that business was not what it should be, laid the blame for enormous deficits upon two factors, the appalling increase in wages indirectly through the United States board, and the period of reconstruction and industrial depression during and since the war.

Road Lacked Surplus.
The Canadian National roads had not, as in the case of the Pennsylvania and other American roads, had any surplus to speak of since after big gains any surplus to fall back on. Fortunately, he said, that despite all these circumstances the closing of the past year witnessed the decrease of the system's debt by twenty-one millions.

Mr. Hanna declared that he was not going to make any prophesies, nor was he going to say that they were at the end of their losses, but were, however, at the end of their serious losses, and directly normal times are reached again the upward trend will be noted.

"There is no organization in Canada," he said, "with a motive capable of laying the blame on the president down, all of whom from the president down realize that they have positions to trust."

In conclusion he touched upon the important fact that the success of the system depended largely upon immigration, and it was from Great Britain that the proper imperial spirit was to be obtained.

"Mary Ann Eliza" a Good Cook But Her Name Scares Cupid

Modern London Youth, in Search of Wife, Prefers Christian Names With More Euphonious Sound.

What's in a name? Not very much, but if you are single and want to change your name to one which shows you have been drafted into the ranks of matrimony, you must seriously consider your Christian name.

Maybe Mary Ann Eliza can make the kind of beefsteak pie that mother used to make, but it is going to take a combination of John Barrymores, Eugene O'Neills and Wallace Reids to make "Mary Ann Eliza, I love you" sound any more thrilling than "Mary Ann Eliza, have you seen my razor?"

The ordinary youth simply couldn't do it. Of course, it is really nothing more than alliteration that does the trick, but just think how easily "Mary, you marry me" or "Beatrice, be my bride" adapts itself to the soft cadences of a lover's tone.

In the London city hall the records show that the average sex of late "fall harvest" for Annas or Graces, Marys or Leahs.

Elizabeth seems to have been a winner, but though the harried spouses may now be yelling "Elizabeth, where are my collars?" it is a safe bet it was Beth or Betty that he murmured in her shell-like ear when he "popped" the question.

A few years ago it was "Always take a girl named Daisy" that the merry-go-rounds and hand organs ground out, but now it's Margie or Helen, Peggy O'Neil or Kitty O'Dare who inspire the songs.

The whole thing in a nutshell is that Cupid has ordained that names must be either short and sweet or short and sweetened. They must be the kind that sound like pet names.

If your name doesn't come up to scratch, girls, you will have to change it. If your name is Margaret, when the amorous youth protests that he doesn't want to call you "Miss" any longer, you must cooily say that your friends call you Peggy for short. That will do the trick. Or if it is Catherine, say that you are always called Kitty or Kay. He will call you Kitty then.

College youths have a tendency toward girls with what they consider "classy" names. They fall for Billie or Jerrie or Jeanie, so if your taste runs to the gilded youth you must choose a name with class.

However, if you want to vamp brainy men, such as doctors, lawyers or newspaper editors, you must have a name that will surround you with a clever and dignified atmosphere.

For instance, Algira or Marion or Zoe. Anything with a highbrow sound or something that sounds like the English version of a Russian novel heroine will do.

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet," but if you want a last name that spells a solitary and wedding bells, you will have to take into account the name your various aunts and uncles wish on you when your only means of protest was a howl.

Town Topics. A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thou shalt rejoice in every good thing which the Lord thy God hath given unto thee.—Deuteronomy 26:11.

WE may, if we choose, make the worst of one another. Every one has his weak points; every one has his faults; every one may find our attention attracted by some one else. But we may also make the best of one another. By loving whatever is lovable in those around us, love will flow back from them to us, and life will become a pleasure instead of a pain; and earth will become like heaven.—A. P. Stanley.

THE HON. WALTER ROLLO, provincial minister of labor, is to be the speaker at a Canadian Club luncheon in the Tecumseh House at 12:15 on Wednesday, Jan. 25. His subject will be the work of the International Labor Congress held recently at Geneva under the auspices of the League of Nations.

ORVILLE ELLIS of Thamesville, who was sentenced to a long term in prison when convicted in the county of the wrong way, was gathered data for the next meeting, to be used in connection with the probable debate, "Has the Victoria public school been properly built or not?"

MAYOR PLANS CAMPAIGN FOR RIGID ECONOMY

Declares Drastic Cuts Required in Wages of Brantford Civic Employees.

ADVISORY BOARD TO MEET

Will Confer With Heads of Spending Bodies At Early Date.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
BRANTFORD, Jan. 20.—The campaign for civic economy promised the ratepayers on all sides during the past week when the mayor will call a meeting of the advisory board consisting of heads of all council committees.

"Drastic cuts in city wages must be made," stated the mayor this morning. "I have been through American factories of late where the men were getting 28 cents an hour and working only part time at that. How can we expect to get back to normal when we are paying our men on the streets 40 cents an hour?" asked the mayor.

The advisory board will meet as early in the week as possible. Another meeting of the heads of all spending departments in the civic organization will be held about the same time, and the reports of the two bodies will then be presented to the city council for action.

The first meeting of the city council will be held on Monday evening, when it is expected the civic fathers will take advantage of the opportunity to express themselves on the matter of civil wage reductions.

BOTH LONDON ALERT TEAMS GO BACK TO O. H. A. RUNNING WITH WINS

INTERMEDIATES PULL 6-2 SURPRISE ON INGERSOLL

Londoners Bottled Up Famed Ingersoll Six in Startling Reversal of Form and With New Personnel—McKay Stars and Cooney Is Find.

GROUP STANDING.
Team	Won.	Lost	For.	Agst.
London Alerts	1	1	13	10
Ingersoll	2	1	12	10
Tillsonburg	2	2	10	10
St. Thomas	0	3	4	13

London Alerts showed a startling reversal of form last night and thumped the famed Ingersoll by the extent of six goals to two, in a game that had 1,200 fans doing a toe-dance the whole time and which they'll be still whispering hoarsely about for a week to come.

With Arthur off with a broken wrist and Loughed unable to play at the last minute owing to sickness, the team was switched round so much that it looked like somebody would have to act as master of ceremonies and introduce them. Gilles was shoved back to defence. McKay worked at center, and Cooney found on the ice ponds two years ago by the Orient juniors, slipped into left wing. And what started out like a makeshift arrangement ended up by turning in the nicest hour of hockey that's been displayed in this center of culture for years.

From the time, Gilles, just a minute after the face-off, slipped down the left-hand side of the frozen arena and beat Hollis with a shot nobody but a four-footed angel would have thought possible, the team were bottled up almost completely, and looked like a lot of goldfish trying to find a passage out. McKay was the cork and showed London fans what a hockey player looks like in three times and a couple of cuts. True Ingersoll surged at several times, but they didn't have anything resembling freedom for any length of time, except for about five minutes in the last stanza, when they peppered Reuter with shots that had the London defender hustled more than a billiard ball in a game of wind.

Had Three Lines.

London had one forward line, and that was McKay, and two defence lines, most of the time. McKay did not do in the way of a chop-check, poke-check and drag-check that will have the O. H. A. widening their ranks when the visiting goalie twitching from habit, Gilles and Murray made the most dangerous looking defence pair seen here since the days of Bill Borland and company. They went down time after time, always with a trailer somewhere, and when they went down the center stick-handling their passage.

Cooney got London's second goal in a mid-way change in the second period. He juggled the puck actually into the net. This was in fourteen minutes.

The moment afterwards, when a change of discovery down around center ice, grabbed a loose puck and bounced it down at Reuter, standing well back into the net. The puck dropped to the ice, a goal by half an inch. This ended the scoring.

Little Air Even.

Ingersoll hardly got out for air in the second period, started before McKay's rushing, overshot the disc, recovered it, and nonchalantly flipped in a shot that hit the top of the net, rolled down and caused an argument. Hollis missed his swing on the puck and missed another he aimed at the goal judge, but the counter was tumbled up, as London's third, Andrews was subbing, while the other three good London attacks rallied after getting through. He was showing well with a combination of stick work and deft feet, which he grabbed the rubber from the face-off and lounded one in at eleven minutes. London were all over the Ingersoll outfit like a blanket, showing everything versatile in the way of an attack without much result in the way of goals. Mays, subbing, was protested by Ingersoll, but allowed to show later. McKay nearly scored from a swiping drive, and a moment afterwards slice-checked his way through the whole Ingersoll team and clipped in a goal at seventeen minutes. Gilles was out with a cramp in the leg the rest of the period.

McKay started out the third period by mopping up everything Ingersoll thought starting for about eight minutes. The visitors overhauled them for about five minutes, during which time they gave Reuter some hard ones to look after. From a mix-up back of the London goal, the puck was passed to Cooney. He pulled a sneaky in behind him, and while the referee was starting, stole the rubber and beat Reuter with a clean effort.

The Final Rush.

Londoners came back then and Ingersoll might as well have been spectators. They back-checked, whirled in attack after attack and romped all over, before McKay, out of a crush, backhanded a slider clean from centre ice by Hollis.

Became Manager In Peculiar Way

CLYDE MILAN.

Clyde Milan has been made manager of the Washington team of the American League. A year ago at this time Clyde Milan had no thought of ever managing a major league ball club. He admits that himself.

Opportunity knocked at Milan's door in a most peculiar manner. Three very peculiar happenings are responsible for his appointment as manager.

George McBride was manager of the Washington team last year. He was doing a very good job of it. One day, while batting grounders to the infielders, he was struck over the eye by a thrown ball from the outfield.

The injury forced McBride out of the game for two weeks. It was necessary that the club have a temporary leader. Clyde Milan and Walter Johnson are the two veterans of the team. Walter had no desire to manage, the job fell to Clyde.

Was Milan successful as a temporary manager? He certainly was. Under his direction the club won 11 straight ball games, and was prominently mentioned as a pennant contender. The day McBride returned to the team the club lost.

The injury to McBride was happening No. 1, the winning of the 11 games was happening No. 2. It was No. 3, however, that convinced President Griffith that Milan was worthy of a chance as manager.

Detroit was playing in Washington. It had been customary for Hellman to bat third in the lineup, Veach hitting just back of him. On this day a change was made in the batting order. Hellman was placed fourth in the lineup, but neither he nor Veach were notified of the change.

Hellman came up in the first inning in the third position, and made one of the longest hits ever seen on the Washington park, the ball almost clearing the left field fence. It struck high up in the left-center end of the bleachers in left-center. It was a terrific wallop.

Milan had scanned the Detroit batting order he gave the umpire the Washington lineup. As the ball hit in the bleachers, Milan ran up to the home plate. He conferred with the umpire, showed that Hellman had batted out of order, which caused the official to declare Veach, the proper batsman, out, erasing Hellman's home run.

"That one incident proved to me that Milan had his head up and was managerial timber," is the way President Griffith puts it.

All of which goes to prove that Milan is a manager through a very peculiar chain of circumstances.

AYR SLIP OVER WIN ON WOODSTOCK ICE

Red and White Claim Team Was Patched Up.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 20.—The Ayr Intermediates walked into town tonight and walked out again with a 6-3 victory over the locals in a scheduled O. H. A. fixture.

The locals presented a patched-up team and they simply could not get going right. At that they had many chances to score, but the shooting was looked after by Oliver, the visiting goalie. For the visitors Innis was the bright light. He stick-handled nicely, was fast on his skates and his shooting was dead-on. He accounted for four of the visitors' goals. Bain on the defence was also good and he pulled off many timely rushes. For Woodstock, Childs in goal had plenty of work to do, and while he let five go by, he stopped many a hard shot. King was speedy, but unlucky in his shooting.

The first period ended 2-2, and at the end of the second period the visitors led 4-2 and at the finish the score was 6-3.

Giants' "Unles" Will Be Riot of Color

THE New York Giants will not sport the title World Champions across their chest next summer.

McGraw originated the idea years ago and it didn't make much of a hit with fandom or players. Consequently it went into the discard.

The Cleveland club dug up the idea after beating Brooklyn, and so lettered the uniforms of the Indians. The idea of the Cleveland players many a "razzing" last summer, in games in which they were being badly beaten.

However, the fans will know the Giants are in the park when they trot on the field. The World Champions' title will be missing, but the uniforms will be a riot of color.

The home suits will be white with a violet stripe and the initials "N.Y." on the sleeve.

The stockings will be red, white and blue and the cap white with blue peak.

The road uniform will be grey and the word "Giants" across the shirt fronts. Some rather fancy trimmings will live up the sombre grey.

KIDS TURN IN FIRST VICTORY

Showed Much-Improved Condition—Beat Drumbo 7 to 6.

JUNIOR O. H. A. GROUP NO. 13. STANDING.

Woodstock	3	1	20	18
London Alerts	1	3	17	24
Drumbo	1	3	9	15
Ingersoll	1	3	9	15

DRUMBO, Jan. 20.—London Alert junior O. H. A. team turned the tables on the local ice tonight in a scheduled game and came out victorious by the score of 7 to 6. The locals made a sport in the final session, but the checking and all-round playing of the visitors were too much for them.

Totten and Kenney for London were the best men the locals have bumped up against this season. They were the stars for London, though at times Powell and Granger showed good form.

Binkley was the local's star. He played a splendid game on the forward line and did the biggest part of the scoring.

The visitors got a three-goal lead in the first period and after that were never headed. The locals held them scoreless during the second session, but in the last they broke loose and ran in three, bringing their total up to seven. However, Drumbo was also on hand during the last period. With the score 4 to 2 against them they put four past Cliff in short order and for a time it looked as if they were going to win.

MUGGSY SIGNS UP FOR FIVE YEARS

Stated Salary Will Be in Excess of $50,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—President Stoneham of the New York National Hockey Club, announced today that John McGraw has signed a contract to manage the Giants for the next five years. McGraw's new salary was not announced, but Stoneham said it was in excess of the $50,000 yearly specified in the old contract. McGraw also will remain vice-president of the club, a position of which he is now the third-largest stockholder.

The veteran manager will celebrate his 20th anniversary as leader of the Giants next July. In that time he has placed his team in the second division but once, in fourth place twice, in third place once, and all other seasons in first or second place.

The line-ups: Galt, W. Dryden; D. Lillie, W. Linton; L. Smith, W. Jeffrey; J. Mitchell, 19 R. M. Hamilton 13; H. Benallik, J. H. Stuart; R. Williams, E. R. Scott; J. Richardson, A. Bromfield; A. Palmer, 7 W. Vair, 21.

BAPTIST TEAMS PLAY TUESDAY

Will play at the local arena.

Talbot Street Baptist Church girls' basketball team, captained by Carrie Blackwell, will make their first appearance this season when they meet the McCannell & Ferguson five at the east community hall next Tuesday evening.

The junior and senior Tuxis boys of the church will also meet for the first time that night. The last game, which is scheduled to start at 8:30, promises to be a humdinger, when the Has Beens, captained by Mel Brock, hook up with a picked team from Wortley Road Baptist Church. Arnold Bennett, L. Howard and Dave Allan will handle the three games.

GALT OPENS NEW ARENA WITH WIN

$95,000 Structure Jammed With Fans For "Grudge" Game.

Galt, Jan. 20.—The Terriers celebrated the opening of their new $95,000 arena tonight by applying the white-wash brush to Preston, their strongest opponents, on a score of 5-0, and to date they are unbeaten in the O. H. A. race.

The game was played before the largest crowd that has ever gathered under cover for a sporting event in this city, between 4,000 and 5,000 people crowding the big ice palace, one of the finest in the province. The reserved seats plan had been sold out long in advance, and at 6 o'clock tonight over 100 fans, despite the cold, were lined up for the sale of the 1,000 rush seats, and by the time the game got started the big building was jammed with a wildly excited mob, which included visitors from all parts of Ontario, who came here especially for this event.

Is Modern Rink.

Nothing but praise could be heard from visitors about Galt's new rink, one of the most modern buildings of its type in the province. The crowd was so great tonight that some fans tried to get in by climbing over the fence. The building is 240 by 130 feet, constructed of brick, stone and steel. It features a rink 220 by 100 feet, a Soper Park, two blocks from Main street, and a block from the radial. It is of an attractive design, with a stone trimmings giving an added touch to the exterior appearance. The arrangement of the seating accommodation is one of the striking features, it being possible to view the entire play from any seat in the building. There are twenty boxes, each accommodating six people. There is not an obstruction in the entire building from a view of the rink. Another feature, and one which drew much comment from visitors, was the electric lighting of the rink, which is current to illuminate the building. The accommodation for players and skaters is faultless.

Powered by Electricity.

The dressing rooms are equipped with toilets and shower baths, and heated by electric radiators. It is possible to empty the building in quick time. Work on it was started on Oct. 14, and while the structure is not yet complete, remarkable progress was made on it.

The opening was the occasion for a special feature. Owing to the unfortunate absence of Preston, an E. Copeland of the O. H. A., who met with an accident while skating, W. Fry of Dunville dropped the puck for the opening face-off. The rubber later was handed to W. W. Wilkinson, president of the O. H. A., and W. E. Charlton, W. W. Wilkinson, president of the G. A. A., and W. Eason of Stratford, second vice-president of the O. H. A., were the other officials of the organization present who had a private box. W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, secretary; W. Davidson, Toronto; F. Hyer, Woodstock; James Sutherland, Kingston, and G. McKay, Kitchener, of the executive, and Ed. Whelan, of Kitchener, past president of the O. H. A. The officials of the arena and the G. A. A. were showered with congratulations on their fine plant. The officials of the O. H. A. were the guests of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon at the Ironque Hotel.

The teams tonight were: Galt, Blum, goal; defence, Wilkinson; Schlegel, R. Defence, F. George; Skelly, L. Defence, G. Hines; Clarke, Centre, N. Himes; Eason, R. Defence, W. Eason; Woodley, L. Wing, A. George; Sturdy, Substitute, W. George; Roth, Substitute, J. Oliver; Referee—W. Eason, Stratford.

GOLDIE PRODGER TO COACH BRANTFORD

Took Both Intermediates and Juniors in Hand Last Night.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 20.—Brantford's intermediates and junior O. H. A. teams are to finish the present season under the coaching of "Goldie" Prodger, the fast wing man of the Hamilton Tigers.

The Tiger star was engaged at a meeting of the Brantford Hockey Club executive yesterday. Previous to that the local hockey situation had been thoroughly gone into at a meeting of the executive Wednesday, and in a search around for a coach it was discovered that Prodger might be induced to join the club. The services of an experienced coach, who had been playing for many years, and who had coached the fastest hockey players ever seen on Canadian ice.

Accordingly, Prodger was asked to come down to talk things over, and the outcome of the visit was that, commencing tonight, "Goldie" will assume charge of both teams, and will give a large part of his time to the coaching and training of the two outfits.

TILLSONBURG FANS LOOK FOR VICTORY ON MONDAY

TILLSONBURG, Jan. 20.—Tillsonburg fans are hockey mad this week with prospects of both O. H. A. teams winning their groups. On Monday evening the next turning point in the struggle will be settled, when the London Alerts meet the local intermediate Pan Drieds. The seat sale in advance is large, and considering that two regular men in town expect anything but a victory.

When the umpire is hit by a thrown ball what happens? Does it make any difference whether the ball is thrown by an infielder or outfielder? Does it matter whether the umpire is in foul or fair territory?

When the umpire is hit by a thrown ball, it is considered in play and base runners advance at their peril. It makes no difference who throws the ball or whether the umpire is in fair or foul territory, the ball is in play.

Fine for Chest Colds Too and is Cheaply Made at Home.

When you can make, in two minutes, a world beating remedy that acts directly on the membrane and ten or twelve night causes stubborn coughs and even hard chest colds to disappear, why trifle with things that will probably disappoint?

Hawking and snuffing and also soreness of the mucous membrane go, and you will feel fine in almost no time. Just get one ounce of Parmit (double strength), add to it a little sugar and enough hot water to make a half pint, and you've got an expensive remedy better than you can buy ready mixed.

Its soothing, healing action on the membrane is the reason so many people use it for Catarrh and acute nasal colds.

Church Women Contribute $335 To Special Mission.

In memory of Mrs. J. H. Vanstone, Mrs. A. C. Johnston, Mrs. C. Long and other valued members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Park Street Methodist Church, the women of the congregation on Friday afternoon contributed $335 to a memorial fund, at a social gathering held in the church parlors, under the auspices of the W. M. S. and ladies' Aid. It is expected this amount will be increased to almost $500 when all donations are in.

Touching and beautiful tributes to the lives, work and influence of the late members were paid by Mrs. S. Thomas and Mrs. John Cottam; Miss Gladys McEvoy singing a couple of appropriate solos, accompanied by Miss Gladys Ludy.

About 100 ladies of the congregation were present, and thoroughly enjoyed the social hour, during which afternoon tea was served. Mrs. J. A. Brown, president of the W. M. S., and Mrs. J. Cosby Morris, wife of the pastor of the church, presided over the attractive table, centered with a bowl of golden-hued nasturtiums.

The memorial fund will be dedicated to mission work among the new Canadians in the Canadian West.

Chokers Come Back

LONDON, Jan. 20. — High collars again! Collars which fairly extend to the ears!

Every now and then some designer, tired of the gowns that are in vogue and circles at the neck, attempts to cover up lady's chin with ruchings, frills and such.

This latest frock has the popular round neck effect, but a white organza choker conceals the throat and extends quite up to the chin and ears.

When there are collars at all this season they are very high.

A slight accenting of the waistline is a notable feature of new gowns for day wear.

As in this one, the accenting is done with the out of the garment, not so often with belt or sash effects. There is even a hint of the basque, which extends, form fitting, down over the skirt.

Planted skirts are much used for street wear.

Gordon are now residing on Tecumseh avenue.

A number of friends gave Mrs. J. M. Little, Duchess avenue, a "surprise" tea party on Thursday afternoon, carrying along the daintily embroidered tea cloths, the tempting afternoon tea trifles, setting the tables themselves, and doing the honors for the hostess in her own home.

Mrs. Ormiston Deacon and Mrs. W. Orchard presided over the tea cups, the others present included: Mrs. Stanley Bryant, Mrs. George A. Young, Mrs. Fred Johnston, Mrs. Bellinger, Mrs. M. F. Cartier, Mrs. Frank MacRae, Mrs. P. M. Wiggins, Mrs. Harry Tull.

A charming affair of the week was the military affair given Friday afternoon in St. Peter's Hall by the Catholic Women's League, under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. Hodgkinson, Mrs. Joseph Frazell, Miss Macfie, Mrs. Bindner, Mrs. Charles Griffin, Mrs. A. Frazell. The prize winners were Mrs. Joseph Shannon, Mrs. Charles Finney, Mrs. E. C. Killingsworth and Miss Gertrude Laughlin. Several hundred persons were present, and the proceeds are to be used to carry on the social service work of the club. At the tea hour a dainty supper was served.

Much interest has been awakened in society as well as musical circles by the announcement that Mrs. Charles H. Ivey, otherwise Ethel Jameson-Ivey, will give an invitation violin recital in St. Andrew's Hall on Monday evening, Jan. 23, at 8:30 o'clock. Ferdinand Fillion will be at the piano.

Mrs. Ivey recently gave a recital in Conservatory Hall in Toronto, where her playing of the same program in which she is to appear here created a great furor, and won for her enthusiastic press comments from the musical critics. Though she has lived in London for some years it is the first time Mrs. Ivey has afforded a London audience an opportunity of hearing her in a whole recital program.

Among her numbers for Monday evening are the Max Bruch concerto in G minor for violin; Handel's Sonata in E major, and such favorites as Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois," and Schubert-Wilhelm's "Ave Maria."

Copeland, Central avenue, Mr. Copeland officiating. The bride wore a becoming gown of navy blue duchess satin and a black satin picture hat. The happy couple will be at home at 250 Piccadilly street after Feb. 20.

ARMSTRONG-ARMSTRONG.

An event of interest to a wide circle of friends was the marriage of Irene Armstrong and Henry Armstrong, which took place at the rectory, Wardsville, on Jan. 19, Rev. Murphy officiating. After the ceremony the young people of the surrounding district gave the bride a shower at her home, the residence of Mr. John Armstrong. The evening was spent in dancing the happy couple leaving via C.P.R. for a honeymoon in Toronto. They will reside with the groom's father in Mosca.

CLUB NEWS

What Women Are Accomplishing in London.

PRESENT "LITTLE WOMEN."

Miss Jean Waugh, leader of the "Pollyanna" Club of the Y. W. C. A., has dramatized a number of scenes from Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women," and these will be the quaint offering of the club girls at an entertainment in St. Andrew's Hall on the evening of Feb. 7. In addition, a pageant will be presented, showing the ideal life for women.

START FIRST AID.

Miss McDermid, public health nurse, Friday evening gave the first of a series of lecture demonstrations in first aid for a class held under the auspices of the "Count On Me" Club of the Y. W. C. A. at Lennox, the King street residence. While the course has been arranged by the "Count On Me" Club, the members are generously throwing open its advantages to all girls and young women who are interested.

STILL ROOM FOR SINGERS.

The choral club of the Y. W. C. A., conducted by Mrs. Harmon Westland, under the supervision of Mr. Harry T. Dickinson, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Cathedral, made a satisfactory start this week, with a number present for opening night. Mrs. Westland gave an introductory talk on "Singing and the Vocal Cords," which will be continued next Tuesday evening, when the class again meets.

It is proposed to divide the class into two sections, one for the singers, who have studied music and are the "real musician" class, the other for the girls who just like to sing for the joy of singing, but at the same time are glad to take advantage of an opportunity to learn more about singing. It is stated that while the enrollment has been large, there are still vacancies in the class for those who want to join.

FORMS GIRLS' CLUB.

The three classes taught by Mrs. W. E. Milson, Mrs. J. Garbutt and Dr. E. E. Wilson of Dundas Street Centre Church were well represented at a meeting Thursday evening in the church parlors, when plans were discussed for the girls' club which has lately been formed. It was decided that the club meet twice a month, the selection of a name for the club being left for discussion at the first meeting in February. Light refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The following officers for the year were elected: President, Miss Charity Webber; secretary, Miss Eric Campbell; treasurer, Miss Marion Willis; treat-maker, Miss Hazel Parker; press representative, Miss Marjorie Tanton. Although the club is beginning with just members of these three classes, girls from other senior classes will be made welcome.

TRUE BLUES ENJOY SOCIAL.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the Loyal True Blue Lodge, No. 64, at the home of Bro. Walton, with games, music, etc. A dainty supper was provided by the host, and speeches were given by Bro. I. Walton, Bro. Post and Bro. Ward, W. M. Sister Hier, P. M. Sister Jarvis, Sister Near and Sister Stewart.

Sister Stewart extended a hearty invitation for the members to meet at her home Jan. 28 to make clothing for the Loyal True Blue Orphanage.

UNIT PLANS BENEFIT TEA.

St. Mary's school mothers' unit has arranged to hold a tea Thursday afternoon, Jan. 26, at the home of Mrs. William Hoy, 436 Elizabeth street, the proceeds to be devoted to the club funds.

PLAN RALLY SUPPER FOR GIRLS' GROUPS.

The annual meeting next week of the London Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society will give much prominence to girls' work and will be followed up by a rally supper of the members of young women's classes and Canadian Girls in Training groups of the Presbyterian churches of the city, in the convention church, King Street Presbyterian, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 24, at 6 o'clock. In the evening a rally meeting will be held in the church, which young women's classes and C. G. I. T. groups of the churches of all denominations are invited to attend, and share in an address from Miss Oliver, secretary of women's and girls' work in Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto.

The closing extra session of the Presbyterian annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to consideration of problems in connection with girls' work, and the linking up of mission bands with the C. G. I. T. Mrs. F. H. Page is coming up from Toronto to deliver an address and lead the discussion.

Chapters Support Wedding Gift Fund

Members of the Campbell Becher Chapter, I. O. O. E., have shown their interest in the Princess Mary wedding gift fund, in aid of the War Memorial Children's Hospital, by each subscribing 25 cents to the fund, which is growing steadily, if slowly.

While the National Chapter executive has announced that a gift of Canadian furs will be sent to her royal highness from the Imperial Order, and giving an opportunity to primary chapters all over the Dominion to contribute, the chapters in London, as a whole, are giving their support to the first object, the wedding gift fund instituted by the War Memorial Hospital committee, with the indorsement of the Municipal Chapter, and approval of the Princess Mary wedding gift fund, which arrived here last week.

Owing to the two funds, some confusion has arisen in the minds of the public. All donations sent in for the "Princess Mary Wedding Gift Fund, in aid of the War Memorial Children's Hospital," will go for the ending of a room in the hospital, which to mean such a boon to little children, and especially crippled children.

The Princess Mary wedding gift fund, with the new subscriptions acknowledged today, stands as follows:

WANTS WORDS.

Dear Miss Grey.—Just a line to the Mail-Box for help. Will you give me the poem sent in by Donald Strathclyde, and songs, "Never Take No for an Answer," "Go Feather Your Nest," and "Fair Charlotte"? I know all of "Fair Charlotte" but part of the last verse.

Please find mite for S. C. H. I will close with all good wishes for Cynthia and Mail-Box readers.

A TRUE CANADIAN.

Donald's poem has been sent out, but when it is returned, I shall send it to you, along with the other pieces asked for. Many thanks for remembering our hospital fund, Canadian.

HUROKA—I would dye the dress a pretty shade of blue, an old blue would be nice, I think. I have forwarded your letter to A Young Mother.

WANTS TO HELP.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxes.—As it is such lovely weather I thought I would drop in for a little chat. I received the patterns all right and will return them in a day or two. I see where Flip is again able to be home, for which I am very glad. In today's Mail-Box I noticed where Wannetta wanted a correspondent, so if you will please let me have her address I will write to her; also Elgin Lass and Miss Grey, if I am not asking too much I would like One in Want or Mother of Six, I forget which name she goes by, as I have some things that would help her out. They were given to me, but my baby is in pants now and they are of no use.

Well, I will conclude now. PHYLISS.

Am forwarding you the addresses asked for, Phyliss. I am delighted to think you can change your name, aren't you?

POLLY AND PAUL—AND PARIS

CHAPTER I.—A GIRL ON MAIN STREET

By Zoe Beckley

POLLY lived in a nice town in Alberta, where there were large department stores, three movies, a "select section" and the proper complement of banks, factories and office buildings.

The Newlands, Polly's folks, had a cream colored clapboard house on the fringe of the select section. There wasn't much money, Marjorie Newland had a little income from the life insurance but Polly and her sister Bert had gone—and gladly—straight from high school into a bustling world of workaday.

Bertha had always been called "the pretty one." Polly, they usually hastened to add, "had the brains" and a "certain charm of her own" that drew you to her more slowly than the shining beauty of Bert, but held you more surely in the end.

Bert had married, of course—a good-looking chap who worked in the same bank and was as surely going to be paying tiler, cashier and ultimately president, as was the starting white-marble bank building itself to become mellowed into grey and form the center of the town's big business.

But Aunt Sue's had not been what Aunt Sue had had with the Newlands) called brilliant. There had been the slim, shy high school principal who lent her books and took her to the few good concerts that came to Edmonton.

But when he looked up one sweet summer afternoon from the book he was reading to her in the canoe, and applied in his own behalf the love words of the poet, Polly failed to thrill.

She had known he would some time summon courage to propose. And there were days when she persuaded herself that Alan Conger would be a good husband.

But they were mostly days when she was tired of the office, tired of her employer's thick, cigar-muffed dictation, tired of the eternal grid of walking home at night through the same old streets, greeting the same old people, doing the same old things evening after evening that Edmonton offered as amusements.

Always Aunt Sue's eternal remark that it was "just as easy to make a brilliant marriage as a stupid one," came echoing. Always she would hear Aunt Sue's sniff whenever she thought of the marrying Alan. For Aunt Sue had a special snuff for Alan.

"He's so spoony," was her somewhat original term for him. He'll stay a schoolmaster all his life. He isn't the kind that'll ever be premier of the Dominion. And he'll always have cold work and fits of idleness which she indulged in later, were alike unremunerative."

His voice broke and Sergeant Barry waited a moment before asking: "Why did Mrs. Vane return to America last autumn?"

Gordon Ladd shrugged. "A whim of hers, we all thought; we would not have been surprised had she announced her departure for China. There was nothing—nothing definite between us, you know, I was simply one of many who were permitted to adore her at a distance. The rest forgot, but I didn't; I followed her to New York, and when I found that success had crowned her bizarre talents and yet she was living in this—this hotel, I was amazed beyond words! In the artistic colony in Paris false conventions are unknown, and when I discovered that this studio here was vacant I took it just so that I might be near her, even though she still laughed at my wooing. Then—then I began to notice this man Griswold."

His voice had hardened perceptibly on the last words and Barry remarked: "If the report we get on him tallies with his own account of himself, he is a highly respectable member of society."

"Oh, I know all about him! All anybody knows, I mean. I've looked him up." Ladd cried defiantly.

"What I want to know is this: why is he living hidden away in a cheap, makeshift studio building like this, a man with all his money? Why content oven for a day in such surroundings after the luxury which had always been hers? Why did he—repeatedly—a confirmed woman-hater—call upon her, and why did she even permit or tolerate his acquaintance, she who was accustomed abroad to the society of notable men?"

"I did, but she always put me off; told me he was an American type that she had almost forgotten and that he amused her. A week ago I couldn't stand it any longer; I proposed to her for the last time, and when she laughed at me as usual I must have lost my head and gone a little too far, for she told me seriously at last that she would never be my wife."

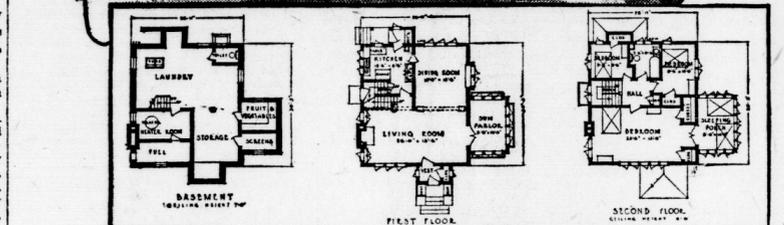

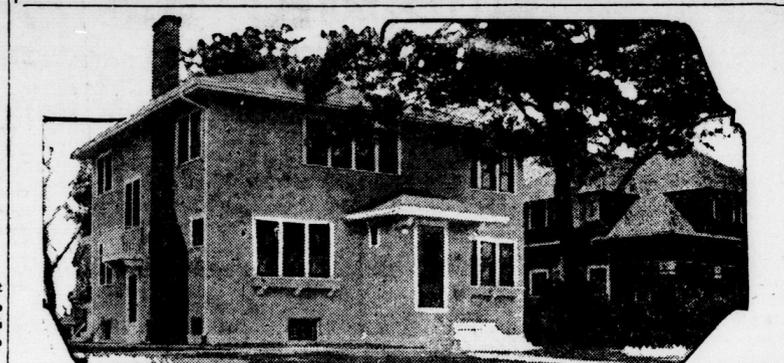

Gordon Ladd paused, his clenched hands tightening until the knuckles showed white.

"I kept away from her after that until tonight, when I came in as I told you and saw her bidding him 'good-night' on the landing above. There's no love lost between them, I could swear to that! She was jeering at him, and if ever hatred looked out of a man's eyes, it looked out of his, and yet somehow the sight drove me wild!"

Will You Build That Cosy Home in London This Spring?

ARE you going to build that home of yours in London this spring? Remember you will be able to build an artistic small home of three to six rooms more cheaply and with more refinement and good taste this year than at any time since the world war!

Original plans, specifications and estimates for a small house cannot command the price that those for a larger and more pretentious one does. Yet this cosy content oven for a day in such surroundings after the luxury which had always been hers? Why did he—repeatedly—a confirmed woman-hater—call upon her, and why did she even permit or tolerate his acquaintance, she who was accustomed abroad to the society of notable men?"

That's why The London Advertiser for the next ten days will submit for the information of readers plans of individuality and character, which you can submit to your architect so that he can prepare estimates and make any alterations necessary to meet your individual need without being put to the necessity of taking the unprofitable job of preparing an original design for a small home.

The plan above is the first of the series of ten, and you can build this home for $7,500 or less, as labor and material costs are daily on the down grade.

Below are shown the plans for basement, first and second floors. Above is an actual photograph of the completed house.

The house contains six rooms, bath, sunporch and sleeping-porch. The exterior is of grey stucco. Dimensions are: 26-11 by 30-3.

Another set of plans will appear in The London Advertiser Monday.

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND BODIES

Mrs. Howard Houlette, Waskatenau, Sask., writes: "I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters."

"My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scabs, and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece, and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once.

"In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood-cleansing medicine such as

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-five years, bottles without an equal for all diseases and disorders of the blood.

The STEP on the STAIRS

ISABEL OSTRANDER

BEGIN HERE TODAY. The report of a revolver, followed by hurrying footsteps on the stairs, caused Detective Barry and his friend, Professor Semynov, to rush from the latter's rooms on the fifth floor of a New York apartment house. They discovered that beautiful Miriam Vane, society portrait painter, has been murdered in her studio apartment on the third floor. Ladd, a young artist on the second floor, Griswold, a bachelor on the fourth, and Patricia, a writer on the sixth, deny having heard the shot. Griswold states that Ladd had been friendly with Mrs. Vane. This, Ladd denies.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"Well," Gordon Ladd moistened his lips and spoke slowly, weighing each word with care, "I let myself in at the entrance with my house key, and had reached the door of my apartment outside here when I caught a glimpse of Mrs. Vane in the hall above, just outside her own door. As I had not seen her in several days I went half-way up the stairs and greeted her, with the half-formed intention of paying her a short call as it were not so late but she said that she was too busy and must work upon a portrait, or words to that effect, so I bade her 'good-night' and went back to my own apartment, myself in and closed the door.

It seemed almost the next moment, as I have stated, that the commotion was and as no one else seemed likely to that banging on the entrance door I went down and admitted the policeman. We heard voices and saw lights coming from Mrs. Vane's apartment and went up together, but I had heard no shot and of course had no suspicion of the truth. That is why it floured me so when—when I saw the body."

It was only at the conclusion of his long explanation that the young man faltered and into his eyes there came a sheen, stark horror which Barry had noted earlier, when he had collapsed at the discovery of the murder.

"Mr. Ladd," he recommenced suavely. "How was Mrs. Vane dressed when you saw her in the landing above? The same as when her body was found?"

"Of course!" the artist stammered. "Did you see anyone else on the hallways or on the stairs, either above or below?"

"No one." The reply was decisive, but the pause before it came was a fraction too long and Barry seized upon it.

"Then, Mr. Ladd, what in your estimation was the reason for Mrs. Vane's presence out there in the public hall? Did she offer any explanation?"

"Certainly not, and I thought nothing of it!" Ladd replied hotly, "it is a ridiculously trivial notion to quibble over! There might have been a hundred unimportant reasons."

"There might have been a hundred reasons," Mr. Ladd, again there came that maddening repetition of his name which had so often helped in breaking a stubborn witness under the third degree. "But in this case there was only one, and you know it! Mrs. Vane was either receiving or ejecting a guest, and if you saw no one else, you yourself must have been that guest! We have purposely interrogated the other tenants of the house before approaching you and we have learned more than you think! The saying that walls have ears is true also of ceilings."

He paused significantly while Sergeant Craig stared at him in genuine surprise, but the shot found its mark. Leaping to his feet, with his handsome face darkened and distorted in a paroxysm of rage, Ladd cried: "So that's what you two have been going to get at, is it? That miserable wretch Griswold has noted my relationship with Mrs. Vane and he's heretofore tried to blacken her character in your eyes! I admit that I am in love with her; all our world knows as well as hers will tell you. I attempt to make her my wife; they will also tell you that she has laughed at my love for her, she has at that of all others."

"I would have said nothing, but now that he has spoken, ask him what claim he has upon her, gentlemen, for I lied to you!"

"So the stairs! It was he whom I saw leaving her apartment a moment before I entered my own and

Real Secrets of Beautiful Women

THE LONDON ADVERTISER has asked several of the leading beauties of the European and American continents how they keep beautiful. Following is what Olga Cook gave as her recipe for beauty. Others will tell their beauty secrets in stories to follow.

BY OLGA COOK.

INHALE at an open window for ten minutes every morning before a single tight garment is put on. Inhaling should be done slowly, shoulders thrown slightly back, chin up, abdomen down. But don't get tense! Mustn't ever inhale with your body and throat rigid.

Shouldn't ever be rigid anyhow. If you would be beautiful relax when you're eating, relax when you're sitting at the theatre, relax when you're walking, stay relaxed all the time! This if you would be gracefully beautiful.

Massage faithfully and lightly—but not more than once a week. Too much treatment with cold cream and lotion makes a skin flabby and produces an effect of age.

Light hair should be washed often and well—otherwise its chief charm, its lightness, will be lost, and light hair, if it's to look its best, should be so combed that the effect is fluffy, not so-dark hair.

Can't afford to have a spotty skin—so mustn't eat sauces and fluffy foods, pastries or sweets. They not only spoil the skin, but they dull the eyes, and who ever heard of a beautiful woman who didn't have brilliant eyes?

Eyes are of such tremendous importance! They can be made up a little, and so helped without being harmful. But nerves! Those are the wreckers of pretty faces and beautiful figures!

Mustn't let your nerves get the upper hand. When you see that they're beginning to trouble you do something which demands a lot of control.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS. "THE FAT OLD PILLOW"

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

PILLOWS of all sizes and shapes were pinned to a clothesline between the maple trees in the yard. It was housecleaning time and the whole family of them was getting a sunning. The grand-daddy of all the pillows, a big fat bolster, was doubled over the line right on his stomach, as though he had a tremendous pain from over-stuffing, like kiddies get on holidays.

"It seemed to add to his misery when the maid came out, and started to beat him with a stout cane. He swelled up still more, with indignation, probably, until he was in a fair way to burst. In fact, he was bursting. A tiny rip appeared in one of his sides which grew to quite a size and in a twinkling several fluffy feathers had crowded out and fluttered away over the tree-tops up into the sky.

"Oh, look," cried Nancy. "They're sailing straight into the sun!"

But as soon as she had said it, she remembered—and Nick remembered, too—what Buskins had said on their return from their last adventure. Buskins had mentioned a country in the sky which he called "The Land of Runaway Feathers!"

"Let's go over to the orchard," said Nick.

"Come on," said Nancy.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN. CEREAL DISHES

EFT-over cereal may always be used up in a made dish. If a large amount is left it may be molded and sliced and fried for luncheon or a smaller amount can be used in a pudding.

A cereal pudding has much food value and should follow a light meal. Learn to let the dessert count as so many necessary calories of food rather than just so much more that would not be eaten if it were not sweet and specially attractive.

Cereal Luncheon Loaf. One and one-half cups hominy grits, 3/4 cup finely chopped peanuts, 1/2 cup coarse stale bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon catsup, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons minced celery, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Beat egg, add bread crumbs, nuts, catsup and onion and salt. Reheat cereal and when very hot stir in the first mixture. Pour into a buttered baking dish, and bake half an hour in a hot oven. Serve with tomato sauce.

Wheat Pudding. Use any left-over wheat cereal, although the more slightly parched brands make a more delicate pudding.

Three-quarter cup left-over boiled cereal, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 egg, 1 dessertspoon melted butter, 2-3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice.

Beat milk and cereal until perfectly smooth. Add yolk of egg well beaten, sugar, butter and cinnamon. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake 45 minutes in a slow oven. Cover with meringue made with the white of egg beaten till stiff, and dry with 1 tablespoon cold water. Then beat in 2 tablespoons sugar, vanilla and lemon juice. Brown in a hot oven. Let the meringue brown in ten minutes. Serve this pudding warm or cold.

Hominy Pudding. One cup cooked hominy, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 cups milk, 2 eggs, 1 lemon, 1/2 cup maple syrup, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup of chopped dates.

Heat milk and hominy and beat smooth. Beat yolks of eggs till thick and lemon colored, and beat in sugar and syrup. Add salt and grated lemon rind and butter. Add to first mixture and mix well. Add dates. Fold in whites of eggs beaten till stiff and dry. Turn into a buttered mold and bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with or without hard sauce.

Cornmeal Crisps. Two cups cornmeal mush, 1 egg, 2 dessertspoons butter, 1/4 cup grated cheese, paprika and more grated cheese for sprinkling to bake.

Reheat mush and add egg well beaten, butter and the one-quarter cup of cheese. Pour into a shallow pan. The mush should be more than half an inch thick. When cold cut in narrow strips or cut with a cookie cutter. Remove from pan and put on a slightly buttered baking sheet, sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika, and put in a hot oven to melt the cheese and heat the little cakes through. Serve at once very hot.

COLORED STITCHING. Bright colors are making their appearance with the nearing of spring. White clothes are being stitched in rose and purple and have gay little cuffs lined with brightly colored silks.

REMOVING ACID. Use spirits of ammonia to neutralize any acid stain on clothing, then wash with water. If necessary apply chloroform to restore the color.

SO MANY PEOPLE ARE NERVOUS "Fruit-a-tives" the Greatest of All Nerve Remedies.

This Fruit Medicine Restores Health. The increase in the number of persons suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in a measure, to the reaction following the war.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected, that the condition of one is bound to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" stimulates the bowels, kidneys and skin and purifies the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" improves appetite and digestion, and insures food being properly digested, thus enabling the blood to carry wholesome nourishment to build up the body, particularly the nerves.

Men and women who take "Fruit-a-tives" for some form of nervousness—because they cannot eat or sleep or work or enjoy life—say that this fruit medicine is simply marvelous in its action.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

RANEY TO HEAR MEDICAL VIEW OF 'PER' ISSUE

Attorney-General Likely To Have Early Conference With Physicians.

SEEKS WORKABLE BASIS

Would Establish "Airtight" Method of Handling the Liquor Needs.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—A conference between representatives of the medical profession and the attorney-general's department will probably be called at an early date with a view to finding a reasonable and workable method of handling liquor prescriptions.

This announcement was the only comment which Mr. Raney would make today, upon the controversy with the medical profession in general, and Dr. Forbes Godfrey in particular.

The attorney-general added, however, that he had already received large numbers of communications from doctors, who had constructive suggestions to make on the matter. These, he said, would come up for discussion if the proposed conference could be arranged.

Dealing with the writ issued by Dr. Forbes Godfrey against the board of license commissioners, he had given it no consideration, and would not do so until after the matter came up before him personally.

One of the already issued writs by Dr. Godfrey was against James Hales, chairman of the board of license commissioners. Some doubt was expressed in legal circles at Queen's Park as to whether or not a writ was required when a government commission is concerned.

When seen today, W. S. Dingman of the board of license commissioners stated that the board would continue lifting the prescription ban upon the suspended doctors just as soon as it was found that they were prepared to observe the spirit of the law. This work is proceeding in the normal way.

Mr. Dingman added that the board has now adopted the policy of refusing to divulge how many doctors are suspended or to whom their licenses have been or were going to be reinstated or to whom their liquor prescription privileges revoked.

"The attitude of the license commission is simply a slander on our profession," declared Dr. F. W. Marlow this afternoon, "and the profession has got to the point where it doesn't propose to stand such slanders any longer."

Used As Beverage. "I suppose there may be certain instances where physicians issue prescriptions for liquor which they know is to be used for beverage purposes," he admitted, in reply to the statement of Chairman Hales of the license commission. "But I think such cases are comparatively few. And that is not the point; the real issue is that they are interfering with the privileges which physicians justly enjoy under their license to practice; the privilege of prescribing liquor where they see fit."

"Purpose of Dr. Godfrey's writ, I take it, is to determine whether his authority in his license to practice is superseded by the arbitrary ruling of the license board. There is no legislation fixing the number of prescriptions which a physician may issue; it is left to the arbitrary ruling of the board, which has been gradually reducing the maximum."

BETTER BUILT CARS AT LOWER PRICES WILL BE FEATURE OF BIG SHOW

Motor Exhibition To Open in the Armories On February 6 Promises To Eclipse Anything of Its Line in This Province—Show Committee Have Prepared Good Program For Week.

WESTERN ONTARIO'S national motor show, which opens in the London Armories on Monday evening, Feb. 6, and continues until Feb. 11, will be a record-breaker in at least two respects. One will be in the number of different types and makes of cars exhibited, and the second will be the big slash in prices.

To the public generally the question of what the 1922 cars are going to cost is of equal if not more importance than the mechanism and design of the cars themselves. There is a tact and well-founded recognition that the well-known and standard cars are good cars. They have a reputation to maintain. In the much keener competition for business upon which the motor industry is entering this year, engineering faults in the new models would speedily destroy the goodwill built up through years of earnest effort.

Good Program Prepared. The following program has been prepared by the committee. Monday, Feb. 6—Official opening, 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 7—Municipal Day. Open from 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 8—Club Day. Open same hours as Tuesday. Thursday, Feb. 9—Dealers' Day. Same hours. Friday, Feb. 10—Association Day. Same hours. Saturday, Feb. 11—Closing Day. Open 10 a.m. until 11 p.m.

Special daily features will be arranged with suitable appropriate musical numbers by famous military orchestras.

The officials of the National Show are: President, Wilfred Hodgins; treasurer, Tom Terry; secretary, Frank McLaughlin; show manager, Thomas C. Kirby; show committee, Messrs. Hodgins, Terry, McLaughlin and J. Beemer.

ST. THOMAS RAILMAN IS INJURED

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 21.—When in some mysterious manner O. E. Berdan, an M. C. R. fireman of this city, fell from the cab of engine No. 8424, in the Buffalo yards Thursday, he received many cuts and bruises as well as internal injuries.

The engine was backing down the yards to couple in Train No. 17, preparatory for the run to St. Thomas, when Engineer Lang discovered that his fireman had disappeared. When Conductor George Day was informed of the mishap a search was instituted and Berdan was found lying in a dazed condition about eight car lengths down the track in what is known as the tunnel. He was brought to his home in this city, where he will be confined for some time, it is expected.

London Theatres Offer Unusual Attractions For Coming Week

"Mademoiselle of Armentieres" On Stellar Grand Program Wednesday and Thursday, While Godowsky Is Awaited Tuesday Evening At Patricia by Music Lovers.

SEVERAL legitimate plays are on the bills for next week at the local theatres. One of the finest attractions will be the popular Canadian war comedy, "Mademoiselle of Armentieres," the Grand Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. This will be presented by a clever cast of returned soldiers at followed at the same theatre on Friday and Saturday by a successful melodrama, "A Little Girl in a Big City," an educational play, depicting New York life, and the dangers which exist there for young and unsuspecting girls.

A third, which promises to be a treat, is "The Brat," which will be presented all week at the Majestic Theatre by the members of the Grew Company.

For the first two days of the week the Grand Theatre will show moving pictures and vaudeville. Eugene O'Brien, appearing in "Clay Dollars," on the same bill as a special vaudeville attraction, entitled "Vod-a-Vil."

Another event next week, to which many are already looking forward, is the concert which is to be given by the celebrated pianist, Godowsky, at the Patricia Theatre on Tuesday night. Godowsky is one of the greatest living musicians, and his visit to the city will be a very great event indeed in musical circles.

MADemoisELLE OF ARMenTIERES" the brilliant Canadian war comedy, which is returning through the east after a most successful tour of Western Canada, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday, with a Thursday matinee, when all lovers of a good rollicking comedy will have an opportunity to see the most humorous play of the year. This splendid play has set a new standard in Canadian theatricals, and has proven to be the most successful play on the road this year. The attraction has been breaking many of the theatre attendance records in western towns, and has made a wonderful impression all over the country.

The incidents and characters in the story revive a host of memories to the general theatre-going public, as well as the returned men. It is undoubtedly the most realistic picture of life behind the lines and in the trenches that has ever been presented on a stage of any Canadian theatre. The scenes about the Estaminet, where Pie, "Erbert" Hawkins makes his abode, are particularly amusing, and the screamingly funny antics of this cockney, with his exceedingly unimpeachable appearance, at inspections and parades, keeps the audience in continuous roars of laughter. This and many other very humorous incidents paint a most realistic picture of the lighter side of the great war.

The music of the play is the music of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. All the lifting, happy, original compositions. The play is a roaring comedy in four acts and six scenes, which gives a most realistic side of the life of the Canadian infantry over there. The scenes are all laid in the Lens sector in 1918 around Bully Grenay, Hill 70, and rest billets behind the lines. A quartet of lovers, a couple of spies, an officious young subaltern, a slatternly but highly-praising private soldier of the gor blime! Charlie type, with an amusing liquid giggle and a continuous grouse, keeps the fun going continuously. These and many other characters are the leaders in the story. There are no deep situations or complicated dialog to confuse one as to the outcome or hamper the rollicking nature of the play.

Private Herbert Hawkins, the irrepressible grouch, is the real comedian of the show, and keeps the audience in roars of laughter from the opening of the first act to the close of the last. The trench scene in act III, showing the work of the wiry party near Chicory Trench at Hill 70 is a wonderful piece of work, and has been proclaimed by the press and public everywhere to be the most realistic piece of front line work ever attempted on any stage. One can look over No Man's Land at midnight and see the troops going over the top, amidst the ralying fire of machine guns and the booming of the big Berthas. The red glow is plainly seen above the parapet, and the moving clouds above are wonderfully true to life.

The scenery and lighting effects in the play are splendid, adding greatly to the brilliant atmosphere of the story. It may be stated here that "Mademoiselle of Armentieres" is not a vaudeville show, but a full play in four acts and six scenes with every necessary equipment for the staging

LITTLE GIRL IN A BIG CITY AT GRAND.

New York life as it is today is dramatically illustrated in "A Little Girl in a Big City," one of the most successful melodramas of the last ten years, which, with a capable company of well-known artists, and a brand new scenic equipment, will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre on Friday and Saturday, next week, Saturday matinee. The seat sale opens Monday.

Dealing with a certain form of crime that, in spite of the vigilance of the marvellous New York police department, seems to increase rather than decrease, this play is undoubtedly the most convincing, dignified and yet forceful arraignment of the evil that has ever been presented in stage form. It tells all the horrible truths with a dramatic force that is at once convincing and interesting, and is yet shorn of the vulgar and repulsive details that have made many plays of its kind offensive to the highest minded members of society.

It is a play that every mother and father and every young man and particularly every girl who has arrived at the thinking age should see and ponder over. It shows the methods employed by certain vultures of society in drawing innocent and unsuspecting young girls into their nets, and these very illustrations will serve as a means to parent and children alike as a protection.

Knowledge is the only absolute protection the parent and young girl can have, and it is the purpose of "A Little Girl in a Big City" to furnish the opportunity of obtaining this knowledge through the medium of a play which, while it does not swerve one iota from the truth, and is a forceful arraignment of the evil, is related in such a manner that it will leave no unpleasant taste in the mind of man, woman or child.

"VOD-A-VIL" AT GRAND.
On Monday and Tuesday the Grand offers a distinct novelty in the form of "Vod-a-Vil," a number which presents big stars of the vaudeville stage in their most successful offerings. Eugene O'Brien is starred in the feature picture, "Clay Dollars," billed as a picture of laughs and romance, which is one of the most entirely successful pictures in which this talented screen star has appeared. The comedy film for the first two days of the week presents Buster Keaton in "The Scarecrow," his latest and best release. In addition to these numbers, Ernest Hammond, the Canadian baritone, whose rich and flexible voice has charmed thousands, has been engaged for a special some recital at every performance, the whole making one of the best bills the Grand has offered. As the theatre is engaged for road attractions for the balance of the week Monday and Tuesday will be the only opportunity to enjoy picture and vaudeville.

"THE BRAT" AT THE MAJESTIC.
The offering of the popular players at the Majestic Theatre for the week of Jan. 23 is "The Brat." This play has been popular whether shown in moving pictures or played by a dramatic company.

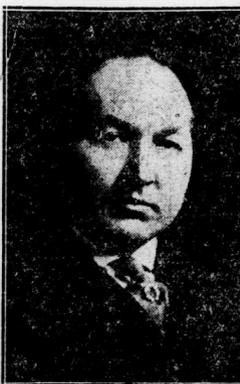

The play is so full of all that goes to make a good drama—comedy, dramatic action, heart interest, etc.—that it is hard to classify. It merely can be said that it is a good play.

All the members of the company are cast to the best possible advantage. The production is being carefully prepared, and promises to be the very best of the season's very best plays.
Miss Gustin, having starred in the play before, will appear as "The Brat," and promises to give a delightful surprise to her numerous admirers.
The scholarly "Forrester" will be played by Forrester.
"Angela" will be played by Rose McDonald, a fine actress given the right opportunity. The best members of the company will now have an unusual opportunity to demonstrate their ability. The play is the work of Maude Fulton.

Jan. 24, enjoys the friendship and the admiration of all of his colleagues in the realm of musical endeavor. Joseph Hofman, as a rule a quiet and especially undemonstrative individual, waxes enthusiastic when Godowsky is the theme of his discourses. The two are friends of long standing, with esteem and respect for each other's fine qualities; mutuality of artistic interests and appreciation. Hofman is keenly sensitive of the culture-trend of modern thought.
In an issue of "Vanity Fair" Josef Hofman writes eloquently about Godowsky. To quote: "A few days ago I was asked by a friend 'Why is Godowsky play Johann Strauss Pledermans, Kuensterlieden, Wein, Wein Und Gesang, etc., we cannot help wondering whether Strauss himself ever dreamed of such beauties of harmony, and of such dignity of them.' Through a small man in stature, Godowsky is a great master in his art."
"Not only the popular, but sometimes even banal melodies and musical thoughts turn into poems of bewitching beauty when touched by his beautifying art. When we hear Godowsky play Johann Strauss Pledermans, Kuensterlieden, Wein, Wein Und Gesang, etc., we cannot help wondering whether Strauss himself ever dreamed of such beauties of harmony, and of such dignity of them." Through a small man in stature, Godowsky is a great master in his art."

WM. WRIGLEY JR. COMPANY

LIMITED MANUFACTURERS OF CHEWING GUM

500 BAY BUILDINGS TORONTO CANADA

October Twenty Sixth, 1921.

Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, 902 Excelsior Life Building, Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:

For over ten years we have used about two hundred million quarter-page advertisements, every year, in the newspapers of Canada, and this, doubtless, has constituted the greatest permanent newspaper campaign in the history of the country. Our advertising has appeared in approximately three hundred newspapers, farm papers, and a few magazines, with a total circulation of well over three million for each issue used.

We have built the Canadian WRIGLEY business on newspaper advertising, because, in the initial stage of our development, we felt that the Press was the great medium of general information. Long experience has not only substantiated that feeling, but we are convinced that without the newspapers of Canada it would have taken us a very much longer time to have made WRIGLEY'S Chewing Gums the greatest sellers in the land.

It is not my intention to belittle the importance of other forms of advertising -- perhaps for many businesses the well recognized mediums of street-car and bill-board publicity are logically the best -- but, for the development of the WRIGLEY business, there can be no question but that the daily and weekly Press of Canada has been our greatest asset in telling the people about what we had to sell.

Very truly yours,

Jaross
Managing Director.

The finest tribute that can be paid to Daily Newspaper advertising is contained in the second paragraph of this letter. The Daily Newspaper remains supreme as the advertising basis of business development, because its appeal is universal.

Issued by The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Head Office, Toronto.

Come to Church Tomorrow

"YES, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in a church. But I also know as a matter of cold fact the average man does not thus worship."
Here are a few benefits to be derived from church attendance:

"You will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if you are not familiar with the Bible, you have suffered loss."
"You will take part in singing some good hymns."
"You will meet and nod or speak to good neighbors. You will come away feeling a little more charitably inclined toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance."

"Join in church work for the sake of showing your faith in your works."
Make your start in church service tomorrow. A fair trial of church attendance will convince you it's well worth while.

MAKING FREEDOM FREE!

BY REV. J. W. GORDON, M.A.
Pastor Knox Presbyterian Church, Mitchell.
"Happy is that people whose God is the Lord."—Psalm cxliv.15.

A HAPPY people, splendid sons and daughters, gracious and beautiful, food and raiment in abundance, busy markets, contented citizens—no marauding bands, justice to all. Such is the lot of that people who are loyal to Israel's Jehovah. Of course, it will be equally true that a people who are not true to Jehovah will have wretched sons and daughters, hungry, naked people, empty market places, suffering citizens—an unhappy people.

Is this true as a matter of history? Much water has gone through the mill during the 2,500 odd years since. It should be possible to verify this statement of the psalmist. What of Babylon, Assyria, Persia, the Greece of Alexander's day, Carthage, Rome—these nations cease to exist for the very good reason that there was nothing in the nature of things that required their continuance. They represented no great moral principle. They had no foundation other than that which the crest of a wave has and had no more reason than that same crest for continuing. They were serving no national nor international purpose. Jehovah, his righteousness and principles, had no place in the nation's life.

It is also true by the same rule that herein lies the only hope of the nations of Central Europe. Their only possible future lies that way. Happy is that people whose God is the Lord.

What of ourselves? If we are to conform to this national ideal some changes must take place. We need amongst other things a new kind of patriotism. In the past, patriotism has been of such a character that it has been asking itself, "Am I patriotic?" What is it about some patriotic addresses and songs and flag wavings that awakens in me feelings of disgust and contempt?

Our patriotism has too often been an acute and badly-informed national selfishness. It has known little or nothing of the real greatness of other nations, of their wonderful past, of their good and accurate knowledge of the good qualities of other peoples. We must keep this in mind in preparing our school text books. Most of us at school obtained the idea that history is concerned mainly with war. British statesmen, soldiers, sailors, were the great people, brave, virtuous, progressive, and a British victory, by virtue of being a British victory, must be a triumph of righteousness. Cowardice and weakness and wrong were characteristic of all Britain's enemies.

Germany taught her children similarly, though probably with greater exaggeration, of the evil. Much the same process was going on in all other lands, with the result that each nation had the most ridiculous inadequate and unimaginable conception of the real character of the others. We must change our teaching so that we, at least, shall correct this stupid and blighting process.

Let our children be informed as to the real greatness of other peoples. How disastrous that our children should be ignorant of the incomparable past of the Hebrew, Greek and Italian peoples. Let them learn to walk in all humility in the face of the history of a people which gave the world its religion, or law. Let us learn that we, as Canadians, are but children among the nations, that we have not yet achieved anything remarkable in literature, science, art, or in any realm; that we have borrowed and copied in all these from these peoples—Isaiah, Amos, Savonarola, Dante, Socrates, Plato, Angelo, and a great host of others whom no man can number.

It would help greatly every way if the nations would set down their plans. Let them tell the world what they as nations finally propose to do; what it is that they seek to become; what far shining heights of moral glory they seek to attain; what monuments of righteousness and kindness, mercy and peace they mean to erect.

If they are ashamed or afraid or unwilling to do that—if their plans will not stand the light—they are by virtue of that fact bad plans. The purposes and motives of a nation should be as transparent and accessible as those of a good man.

We hear a good deal about certain groups of our citizens called "The Interests." Sometimes we are informed that their robber dens are in Toronto, sometimes in Montreal. We are meant to understand that these most respectable brigands are interested in promoting their own financial position by their own means so significant that it becomes a sort of brilliant, dazzling honesty.

If the men and women of a nation do not make short work of all such they richly deserve the feeling which we are being repeatedly told we are continually enduring. A great wave of righteous anger—and they would be gone—but that type of anger is a difficult attainment with one's ballot in hand.

Hardest task of all: we must make freedom free. The most disappointing fall to any student of our own times is the ineffectiveness of modern democracy. Freedom is not free—witness Russia, Germany, France, Britain and the United States. Giant evils enslave all—what shall we do?

Has history the divine remedy? Can we follow its outlines and learn the secret? Shall we mark all its errors and by avoiding them move on to freedom that shall be free indeed? But history is never completed. We can never read to the end and "creed" from it, its secrets. It can have no absolute word for us, only a broken and hesitating accent is all we hear from her. History is never sure what its ultimatum should be.

What we need is power to make us loving. Freedom needs as well some authoritative statement of what brotherhood is, what kindness is, what love is. Let us get these first of all, or we are but whitening sticks to beguile the tedious. What shall we say to poor, muddled freedom? What shall Russia bloody, starving, angry, naked, take hold upon in the darkness, by which she shall pick her way amid the debris of her past, out into free freedom? What exquisite cruelty to tell her to read history.

How lame to unctuously call upon her to be brotherly. And what is greatly true of Russia is somewhat true of us all. Mr. H. G. Wells, in that brilliant concluding article on the disarmament conference, seems to hint—may rather to declaim as to the great answer to our question.

In fascinating, glittering paragraphs which put to shame much stodgeiness in many previous letters of his series, he says, in short: "Suppose we get this thing done in 20 or 30 years; get a real world peace, get away from famine and darkness and insecurity and suspicion to goodwill."

It cannot be back to "as you were." It means getting help of power by the right end. The lives men live are not anything like the good and happy things they might be. Think of what science and education might do for men. Given unity of purpose in the world everywhere, some very obvious simple things follow. Mr. Wells then speaks of what could be done for the world by increased transport facilities which would make all the world accessible to all the world. What could be done by an adequate and decent housing of mankind? Stay all this mental and physical waste. We all have a sense of what we could know, and will never know; could be and will never be, well, give all the splendid possibility of self realization.

So acute a mind as Mr. Wells surely must see that the

BELIEVE WRECK TO BE THE SIMCOE LOST IN 1917

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 20.—Old Harry point, near Grandstone, Magdalene Islands, may be the resting place of the Canadian Government steamer Simcoe, last heard sending out "S. O. S." calls on Dec. 6, 1917, according to the story brought here by the steamer R. W. Hendry. Two young men who rowed out to the Hendry from Grandstone when that steamer was at the Magdalenes recently told of passing over a sunken steamer which they described as having white painted top.
The Simcoe, on Dec. 6, reported herself rapidly sinking in the vicinity of Magdalene Islands. No other ship is known to lie in the place referred to by the men from Grandstone. The only trace of the Simcoe was a life preserver, picked up on Sable Island in 1918, and which was recently brought to this city, to be sent to the marine department at Ottawa. The Simcoe carried upwards of 50 men when she disappeared.

DENIES JOHNSON DRUNK WHEN HE MARRIED HIM

Rev. Mr. Fallout declares there is not a vestige of truth in the deposition, and that he can conclusively prove that Johnson was perfectly sober at the time.

tries to Ontario occupied the whole of the forenoon session. The report of the committee appointed to consider the question of the latest developments in the plan to secure an interest in Western Ontario amongst British manufacturers.

Would Divide Cost. The cost of the scheme was to be borne by cities and boards of trade participating in the scheme, according to population, with an initial nominal payment of $100 from each.

Western Ontario to gain advantage would be achieved by putting its status before the British manufacturers.

Consider Two Resolutions. The outcome of the discussion was that an amendment was passed recommending the adoption of the committee's report and recommending that the campaign for British industries be delayed until the individual boards of trade had been given an opportunity for further consideration.

was opposed to it, as the Canadian people would have to pay, not only the tax, but also for the inconvenience caused by the shipper. He said that about 80 per cent of the imports from the United States consisted of raw materials, and that to place a tax on invoices would be to place a hindrance on Canadian industry.

Defines Town Planning. The concluding paper was the convention was an address by W. S. V. Armstrong of Toronto on "Town Planning." Mr. Armstrong proved an enthusiastic advocate of and believer in town planning, and he managed to inject large portions of his own enthusiasm to his hearers.

Flirts With Death in Icy St. Clair To Obtain Counsel for Husband [Special to London Advertiser.] SARNIA, Jan. 20.—Unable to get a ferry over the icebound St. Clair River at Marine City for the Canadian side, Mrs. Carman Mitchell, wife of the man held by the Detroit police, to face a charge of attempted robbery in Sarnia police court next week. CLONIE TAIT POUNDS WAY TO VICTORY OVER DRONEY New York, Jan. 20.—By Canadian Press.—Clonie Tait, claimant of the Canadian lightweight boxing title, tonight pounded his way to a heavy victory over Jim Dronney of Lancaster, Pa., in a twelve-round bout in Madison Square Garden. Dronney, who recently boxed Champion Benny Leonard, was a heavy favorite. Tait carried the fight to Dronney throughout and his clearest at long intervals in close quarters caused Dronney to stare wonderingly when he was sent to the ropes time and again. Tait weighed 130 and had 155 pounds. Babe Herman, San Francisco featherweight, received the judges' decision over Johnny Reiser of New York, in a twelve-round bout. Freddie Jacks of England and Bob Christof of Baltimore, lightweight, boxed an eight-round draw.

A GOOD APPETITE GREATLY DESIRED The Occasional Use of a Tonic Insures a Good Appetite and Good Health. Loss of appetite is a common trouble, and indicates that the digestive system is out of order. Lacking a healthy appetite many people go to long without food, or eat sparingly because food seems to distress them, and it is no wonder they complain of being constantly tired and unable to stand any strain. All this simply means that the digestive system is not doing its proper work and that the nutriment that should come from the food is not being distributed to the various organs of the body. In other words, the blood is growing thin and watery. In such cases what is needed is a tonic and among all medicines there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Take a short treatment with these pills and note how promptly your appetite returns and your power to digest food improves. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the experience of Mrs. William Bennett, Cleland Corners, N.S., who says: "For a long time I suffered severely from indigestion. I could hardly eat, and anything I did eat disagreed with me. The result was I became badly run down. I suffered greatly from headaches, and often passed sleepless nights. I had taken a great deal of doctor's medicine with very little benefit, and having read much about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I decided to try them. The result has met my best expectations. My digestion is now as good as ever; I sleep well at night, and have gained in flesh, and now when anyone in our family is ill this is the only medicine to take."

STRATFORD NEARS GROUP HONORS Carson and Morenz Make First Appearance With Intermediates. Guelph, Jan. 20.—Stratford intermediates defeated the Guelph sextet here this evening in one of the fastest and best played games of the season by a score of 9 to 5, and thus gained another rung toward the honors of the district. The Stratford team was much the better, and their victory was well deserved. They put on a good clean two and three man combination that could not be denied. Carson and Morenz played their first intermediate game of the season tonight, but were only used as substitutes, in order to see how well they would fit into the machine. Morenz was used more often than his teammate, and he was one of the best men on the team. Carson played the greater part of the last period and made a good showing. The game started off exceedingly fast, and the local team scored two goals before the visitors succeeded in bulking the nets, and after that they were always masters. The count at the end of the first period was 2 to 1 in favor of Guelph, but in the second period the visitors scored five goals to one for the locals. The score at the end of the second period, which was very fast, Stratford scored three more and Guelph two. For Stratford the outstanding players were Ketterbourne and Tripp; substitutes, Carson and Morenz. For Guelph: goal, Hays; defence, Woods and Ogg; center, Cameron; wings, Crogan and Harvey; substitutes, James and Foster. Referee—Harvey Sproule, Toronto.

WOULD YOU DO HOUSEWORK, HEART WAS SO BAD Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung. Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night. To all women whose heart is weak and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS as the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs. Mrs. Daniel Bezonson, Loganville, N.S., writes: "As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me. My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep. I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is." Price, 50c a box, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.
