

ABBE LIEST, THE PIANIST.

The Closing Days of a Romantic and Remarkable Life.

A strange yet strikingly attractive career is that of the late Franz Liest. His life is full of romance and ups and downs, yet on the whole it is a pleasant story. One remarkable feature of his character is his affection for his pupils and friends. No musician of his time has been so generally loved. Women and young ladies, especially, admired him, and he returned their enthusiasm for him with chivalrous regard. During his long career he has known all sides of life. If the object of existence here is varied experience for the development of the individual, then Liest fulfilled it. He has been commoner, noble, husband, father, monk and famous musician. Franz Liest is a Hungarian by birth, though his name as a pianist has made him a citizen of the world. In 1811 he was born on the estate of the late Prince Esterhazy, at Raasdorf, in Hungary. His father had some position on the estate. He cultivated the little Franz as a musical power so assiduously that when he was only 9 years old he played at a public concert in Presburg, and attracted attention from high and low.

Two Hungarians noblemen played fairy godmothers to the rising genius, and paid for his musical education. Such things do not happen often in our time to young geniuses musical or otherwise. The fairy godmothers seem to have no more money than they want for themselves.

Liess studied in Vienna, and afterwards in Paris, where, when only 13, he became the darling of the nobility and gentry. His father remained with him constantly, and while he lived kept the marvellous, beautiful boy from being spoiled. But he died when Franz was 16, and thence the musician became his own master. He was the gorgeous, impressive, artistic temperament, giving way with wild abandon to whatever impulse happened to be on top. Young Liest plunged alternately into mad dissipation and fervid religious mysticism. His friends feared that it was all day with his soul with ambition.

"I will be the Paganini of the piano," said young Liest to himself.

He kept his word. From that time on till old and full of honors, he is waiting for the summons to the "choir" of the Paganini of the piano. He has played before all the crowned heads of Europe, and has received a title of nobility and decorations without number. Up to 1847 his life was a series of triumphs. Then he suddenly fired of wandering and went to come and took orders as a priest in the chapel of the Vatican.

For many years Abbe Liest has lived quietly at Vienna, and his country granted him a pension of $8,000 annually, many years ago. Besides being the greatest piano player of the century, he has also an admirable musical composition.

For Governor of Alabama.

The result of the recent exciting convention of the Democrats of Alabama was the nomination, on the thirty-first ballot, of Thomas Say for governor.

Thomas Say is a native of Alabama and just 40 years of age. His father was wealthy and endeavored to give his son the education money could buy, but the boy broke in on his school hours and the youthful Say dropped his books to take a musket. He fought through the war, after adjustment, he may wear a musket again, which he resumed his studies and graduated from the Southern university at the head of the class of '67. He studied law and has been a successful practitioner since. In 1870 he was elected state senator and has been continuously re-elected, being at present the president of that body.

THE MASCOTTE

Who, it is claimed, brings Good Luck to the Chicago Cubs.

Of all the professions that have their little superstitions, base ball players are probably the only ones frank enough to acknowledge them. One player may wear a snake skin around his wrist, another put a rabbit under the base bag he is handling, and so on, but all these talismans are as a rule kept secret, and the press spreads the story. So it is about Willie Hahn, the "mascotte" of the Chicago club. Few followers of this club's career among newspaper readers have not read of him. He is now 7 years of age, and this is his second season with the club. Last summer he came into prominence when in the close contest for the championship he was always on hand cheering the home team. He was dubbed the "mascotte" because the boys believed that through him came their good fortune. His acquaintance with the club began in the summer, when he used to sit for hours watching the game. His bright, wistful face, as he stood watching the play, drew the attention of the club's manager, who as he was in and out of the gate when the grounds were opened for practice, attracted the attention of Williamson and Killy, who invited him in one morning out of kindness to satisfy his curiosity. He has of him as an indispensable adjunct to the success of the club, and in the recent battle with the city, and in their opinion it was his club-mascotte that brought them victory.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dyspepsia Cure is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dyspepsia, diarrhoea, cholera and all summer complaints, and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething. It is said a Philadelphia girl to an ancient physician, "come, now, own up. Didn't you ever fall in love?" "No, of course not." "You never did?" "When I was a young girl women didn't go crazy over new bonnets like they do now."

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removes ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it does on one it will do on the other.

SPRINGBANK AS A HEALTH RESORT.

Letter From S. R. Bryan, Esq., of Springfield, Penn.

My Dear Sir—You and I met for the first time some twenty-five years ago. My physician had been treating me for a stubborn attack of inflammatory rheumatism. We were in St. Catharines, probably to get rid of me. A famous local character at that time was "Doctor Tom," the "champion rubber," as he called himself. He was a powerful, robust man. After a week's tending and manipulations with his help I remember the feeling of surprise when, walking one morning up Church-street, I found myself tripping my feet, instead of heaving on it as I had long been doing to support my feeble steps. I visited St. Catharines in after years seeking relief from rheumatism. I was always benighted in the year 1853 I lay on my bed utterly helpless, the lower half of my body being paralyzed was void of feeling. I determined to try once more the virtues of the healing water at Springbank. I bathed persistently and made strenuous efforts to move my legs. I was of time I gathered strength, and walked with ease; then with only one. We spent a full year in St. Catharines, and such was my experience with its climate and the conveniences and pleasure of life there that, if they should had to determine my place of residence, I would not have gone away. But as health and strength returned the necessity to work for my living forced me to seek occupation, and as soon as I was able to accept I got had to the cashiership of a bank. In that capacity for eight years, and I am still, as you are aware, in active business. I have not been in St. Catharines since, but in my various sojourns in St. Catharines I have made it my business to make my beautiful city attractive to me and my family. Faithfully yours, S. R. BRYAN, Tinsville, June 4, 1886.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

When the lights had been turned up sterner, and Elder Toes had coughed a peanut-shuck out of his throat, Brother Gardner arose and said:

"I find head on my desk a heap of mottoes, watchwords and maxims which he has gathered together by de-Committee-mentary Judiciary wid a view of placidly die stock now hanging on the walls. I has his knowledgefully considered de motto in my mind for a week past, an' I don't like de ideah of a change. De person who can't stick to one motto for no' den six months can't be depended on to stick by a job for no' den one."

"If I was out o' cash, friendless, laid up in a garret, wid a sore heel an' a cornicle, an' spectin' every body to be toled off to de poor house, I don't know but I might furnish de world wid some watchwords and sayin's, but it would hev to be under some such circumstances. About a month ago I begun tradin' wid a butcher who had hung up in his shop de motto: 'Live and Let Live.' It struck me dat de ideah was a good one. He wanted his due, an' he would grant de same to others. In about a week he slipped a plugged quarter into my change; two days later my two pounds of beef was short three ounces, de next week he charged me up wid 48 cents' worth of pork."

The New Forestry Report. The Forestry Report, compiled by Mr. Phlips...

The London States favors Imperial Federation. It would create an imperial tariff. That settles it. The people of Canada have no use for any such foolishness as that.

Mr. Frederic Harrison, one of Mr. Gladstone's candidates, is a disciple of Auguste Comte...

Washington Territory reports an experience with women voters not in accordance with preconceived notions of their characteristics.

Here is a description of a planted walnut grove in Illinois:

One of these groves is remarkable, and I traveled some distance to see it. It is a Douglas county grove...

These reports have been of very great use in spreading forestry knowledge...

Toronto's Metropolitan Characteristics. Dominion Day is the occasion of a special feature, and that was the indication that Toronto has taken on a metropolitan character.

Important. When you visit New York City you will be struck by the fact that the city is not a mere collection of islands...

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. English market. The Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchange will be closed until Tuesday.

De Leases. More Panama Canal scheme yields for millions, predicts a speedy revival of business.

JOHN CATTO & CO. Are showing a splendid lot of LACE CURTAINS.

ROBERT COCHRAN. Member of the Toronto Stock Exchange.

AT HOT SPRINGS, ARK. PICTURESQUE VIEWS OF OUR AMERICAN BADEN-BADEN.

Hot Water from Nature's Subterranean Boilers—Magnificent Baths for the Sick, "Hot Water" for the Poor, but the Bath is Good—"Cure Water."

One of nature's most tremendous chemical laboratories is that at Hot Springs, Ark. Here are mountains, water, and rocks, and mud, and heat. The springs appear to be the venting holes of subterranean mineral factories and machines above. The heat comes from away down deep somewhere, heaven knows where.

The springs are reached by the Missouri Pacific railway, from Mountain route. It is the only line to the springs. Nearly all travellers pass through St. Louis on the way thither. In that city the Iron Mountain route's courteous and accomplished passenger agent is Mr. H. C. Townsend. He will give simple information to invalids and others seeking the healing waters.

The Arkansas hot springs may be properly considered the Baden-Baden of America. Rheumatism, gout and skin diseases are cured here. The waters do injury to those who have heart disease or consumption. Baden-Baden in the old world prides itself on its salt gully. The ancient Romans themselves used to visit the springs, there to be cured of their high-nosed ailments, and in a museum of antiquities at the place the relics of those distinguished visitors are preserved and shown.

THE HOT SPRINGS VIEW. The Hot Springs were known to and used by the Indians ages ago, long before the white man ever entered the ugly but picturesque valley in which they are situated. The land upon which they flow belongs to the United States government. They are at the foot of the Hot Springs mountain, which is a part of the government reservation. The town of Hot Springs is a long, straggling settlement on both sides of the ravine at the foot of two mountains. The springs are on the east side. On the west Hot Springs mountain, on the west West mountain. Government has expended a large amount of money on the creek formed by the outflow of the springs. Once it was walled in and surrounded by a fence, where it was not wanted, and made another large hot spring, and the work had to be undertaken over again.

The resident population of the town of Hot Springs is about 7,000. The visiting and invalid population includes members of congress, doctors of divinity, members, lawyers and ladies, a great mixture. New springs occasionally burst up and bubble over. There are about seventy-one of them known. The water of the hottest will cook an egg in fifteen minutes. The government authorities have built two great tanks which together hold 50,000 gallons of water. The water from the springs is led into these tanks. They fill at night and their contents are ready for use next day. It is from these tanks that the baths are supplied.

ARMY AND NAVY HOSPITAL. The ground is leased from the government (hereabouts), and upon it hospital and bath machines erect such improvements as are desirable for their business. The springs are open the year around. February is said to be an undesirable month to visit them, on account of the rainy season. It is hot, too, in midsummer. Hotel accommodations are good and constantly improving. The government is building a handsome and costly new hospital here for the army and navy men. It is not yet completed. A better spot for a United States hospital could not have been selected, for the Hot Springs constitute the most famous health-giving waters in the United States. There is something very peculiar about the waters. They are not strongly impregnated with minerals. Some lime, silica, a very little iron, carbonic acid and salts of soda, potash and magnesia, very small quantities of iron, zinc and copper. The fluid is mostly a pure hot water.

A BATH HOUSE. So powerful is it that it is said if an old drunkard who is picked through and through in alcohol be put into a bath and kept a few minutes, and then taken out, the water will be quite black with the impurities that have been soaked out of him. Besides the springs that are heated, there is one very large one, called "Mud Hole," which is free to the public. Black, white and mud holes get into the muddy water together, and remain as long as they like. It is the resort of the poor, who here, for once in their lives, get a bath.

Another peculiar spring is called "Cure Hot." Here ladies and gentlemen of the highest walks of society in separate compartments sit about with their feet in the hot mud and water for the very unpoetical purpose of soaking their corns out. The process is remarkably successful. Bathing in the Hot Springs waters induces profuse perspiration. Liver and kidney troubles are alleviated. The sick man seems of ten to be made over new.

Pressure of Hard Times. "Shall I find the clock, fadder?" asked young Jacob Isaacson, as they were about to close the store. "No," said the old gentleman with a sigh, "plains was too bad. Choost let it alone, Jacob, and ye'll save the year and tear on the week."—New York Times.

THE LATE JUDGE DAVIS.

One of the Purest and Most Honored of Our Countrymen.

THE LATE JUDGE DAVID DAVIS.

Judge David Davis was born in Cecil county, Maryland, March 9 1815. By the exercise of extreme and oftentimes piteous economy, young David Davis succeeded in passing the collegiate course at Knyon college, Ohio. He then studied law in the Massachusetts academy of law. Thus equipped Mr. Davis in 1834 came west and located in Pekin, Tazewell county, Illinois. He was then very poor, and wishing to change his location walked from Pekin to Bloomington, in the same state, a distance of forty miles. Arriving in Bloomington in 1836 he at once began the practice of law, acquiring a practice that was constantly increasing up to the time of his elevation to the bench. He was the colleague of Abraham Lincoln, Judge Logan, Gen. Gridley, O. B. Pickett and other legal giants of that period whose lives are a portion of the history of the country.

In 1844 Mr. Davis was elected to the popular branch of the assembly, where he acquired his first experience in legislative work. He was first called to the bench in 1858. At once his friends recognized that Davis had found the part in life for which his nature and education had so well fitted him. In 1860 President Lincoln appointed Mr. Davis to the highest judicial station in the United States—a position of honor and responsibility. This appointment was made more an acknowledgment of Mr. Davis' ability as a jurist than a reward for services rendered to Mr. Lincoln. Mr. Davis more than justified the president's expectations. In the winter of 1870-71 the Illinois legislature after a stormy session elected David Davis to represent the state in the United States senate. When President Garfield was slain Senator Davis was selected by the senate as vice-president pro tem.

JUDGE DAVIS RESIDENCE.

In 1878 Judge Davis and Miss Sarah Walker, of Massachusetts, were married, the union being blessed by the birth of several children, two of whom are now living. The daughter married the son of Justice Swamy, and the other child, a son, is living in Bloomington. David Davis was a cousin of Henry Winter Davis, the eminent constitutional lawyer. In 1879 Mrs. Davis died, sincerely mourned by her husband, children and a wide circle of friends. Since that time Judge Davis again married, and again a Massachusetts lady, though at the time of the marriage a resident of North Carolina. This lady survives her distinguished husband. The family residence, one of the most palatial and comfortable homes in the west, surrounded by a grand park, is located on the eastern limit of the city of Bloomington.

FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY. A Candidate That Is Liable to Be One of the Surprises in Politics.

The sensation in politics this year is the career of Clinton B. Fisk as the Prohibition candidate for governor of New Jersey. Gen. Clinton B. Fisk was born in York, Livingston county, state of New York. The family emigrated to the west in his infancy in 1833. He had all the advantages incident to a home in the wilderness in Lenawee county, Mich. Fatherless at 4 years of age, he was reared by a farmer and graduated in the country schoolhouse after three months' schooling each year for four years; worked his way into Albion academy, Mich., where he prepared for Michigan university, but, falling in health, abandoned study for commercial pursuits; became a merchant, miller and butcher, at Coldwater, Mich.; removed to St. Louis, Mo., in 1859; was early in the war for the Union; became colonel of the Thirty-third Missouri Infantry volunteers; served upon the staff of Maj. Gen. Oster; promoted to brigadier general, volunteers, in 1862; commanded the Thirtieth division of the Thirtieth army corps in the army of Tennessee; was in the Yazo Pass expedition against Fort Pemberton, in the siege of Vicksburg; ordered to Missouri in 1863, where he commanded successively the districts of south east Missouri, St. Louis and north Missouri; was in command of the forces at Jefferson City, Mo., when Price was successfully routed in his attempt to seize the capital of the state; promoted to brevet major general of volunteers, 1863. At the close of the war was ordered to Nashville, Tenn., as assistant commissary under Gen. Howard in the work of the Freedmen's bureau. More than 3,000,000 freedmen were aided by him in getting established in their new relations. Fisk university, Nashville, Tenn., conducted under the auspices of the American Missionary association, ranks among the best of the institutions of learning of this class.

Rev. J. McLaurin, Canadian Baptist Missionary to India, writes: During our stay in Calcutta we have used Dr. Williams' Electric Oil with very great satisfaction. We are now returning to India, and would like very much to take some with us for our own use and to give to the diseased heathen.

A Chicago editor has discovered that "the five great evils of life are, a standing collar, a stove-pipe hat, tight boots, a cross woman and poor whisky." It is believed that he would cheerfully forego the first four if the latter were remedied.
