A Brutal Assault.

Alexandria Bay furnishes the latest outrage of its kind. A man named Baldwin had been employed by a farmer named Hardy about four miles from the village, and it is alleged that the hired man had brutally assaulted his employer's daughter, a child of about four years of age. Baldwin fled across the river, landing at Rockport on the Canadian side, thence to the village of Athens, where he was followed by the American officers. The assault was committed in the woods and at yet has not been found.

Rape Case at Newboro.

Following so closely the horrible outrage at Listowel, the news that a similar crime had been committed at Newboro on Monday, that caused considerable excitement here. Maggie Canning, 13 years old, was the victim of the assault. She says that she left Newboro at 7.40 to go to James Hollis and started on her return at 8, and when opposite Elliot's house, on the railway, she was criminally assaulted. At first she said her assailant was a stranger wearing a gray coat, black pants and made little effort to obtain her name because he had threatened to kill her if she divulged it. A warrant was issued for trial and was lodged in the Brockville jail on Thursday last.

In behalf of the prisoner it is alleged that he does not possess a gray coat; that the medical examination failed to establish that the crime charged had been committed; and that an alibi can be proven. An attempt is being made to secure the prisoner's release on bail.

At Brockville Assizes.

In the case of Hare vs. Kelly, suing for $5,000 damages for seduction, a verdict of $1,500 was given, the defence offering no evidence. They belong to North Augusta.

In the case of Plummer vs. Jones a verdict was entered for plaintiff with costs and damages will be made by reference. Thirty years ago Mr. Plummer, Boston, bought a mica mine and land in South Crosby from Mr. Haven for $3,000. Haven secured a ten years lease and then the land became common pasturage. Finally Jones took possession. About eight years ago he built a small house and sold the mining right to Mr. O'Mara for $300. O'Mara sold it to Foxton for $2,000. Plummer then sued Jones for the land he was entitled to recover the property with the above result.

The parties belong to Wolford township. John, Hugh and Lagarbrick and John Murphy, charged with assaulting and robbing an old man named Swords, near Kemplerville, on Aug. 17th, were arraigned. A complete alibi was established in the case, and a verdict of acquittal was rendered in a few moments.

Death of Mr. John Fair of Warburton.

On Monday, Oct. 22, the spirit of Mr. John Fair of Warburton, passed the land of peace and happiness.

Mr. Fair was born on a farm near the village of Lansdowne and there he spent the early part of his life. His 30th year he went to Warburton and soon after married Miss H. Harrington of Elizabethtown.

He had been a sufferer for a year before his death, but not until the last six weeks of his life was he confined to his bed. During his illness he bore his suffering with great patience and died peacefully trusting in his Saviour and the life of the world to come. He left a wife and four children to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father.

For over thirty years he deceased was a member of the Orange lodge and until the last few years there was seldom a meeting of L. O. L. No. 100 at which he was not present. In politics he was a staunch Conservative, while in church matters he was a true and devoted member of the Church of England.

His funeral took place on Wednesday, Oct. 24, in St. John's church, Lansdowne, where a very crowded and impressive service was proclaimed by Rev. C. J. Young. After the services of the church the Orange brethren paid their last tribute of love and respect to their departed brother, and while the coffin was being taken to the vault the Orangemen's band played a sad and beautiful march.

The deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved wife and family and trust that they may follow his good example and at last meet to part no more.—Com.

THE KINGDOME OF COREA.

The Kingdom Weekly News is now issued as a semi-weekly.

Miss Eva Tennant, who has been making a tour in business at Detroit, has returned to her home in Malloytown.

Joseph Fox at one time carried on a boot and shoe business in Malloytown and was also the owner of a farm. Seven years ago he induced his wife to sign over her right to the realty and gathering in all available assets, he deserted her. She has pursued him ever since and last week located him in New York. He will now be called upon to support her.

Perth Courier: The price of lambs has fallen this year to 24 cents a pound and we learn that the Boston market will accept only existing contracts at that figure. This is about a cent less per pound than last year's prices were also when the values in the good times five or six years ago. Perhaps the worst has now come and prices will freshen up next year.

A ROLL OF 1812-13.

What is doubtless a valuable relic of the war of 1812-13, was found the other day at the head of a marsh in the town of Cornwall, near the Cornwall and Fort Covington. The relic is an old-fashioned skiff or boat and was found by the men of a sand pump who were dredging and clearing the marsh. It is believed to be one of the American fleet in which Wilkinson's army had started to invade Canada and which expedition they were glad to abandon when they were united to Miss Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hart, of the Ontario House, Newboro.

THE WOMEN OF COREA.

THEIR STATUS IN THE SOCIETY OF THE HERMIT KINGDOM.

Classes are clearly and rigidly defined—Modes of Dressing, Marriage Customs and Methods of Punishment.

The present war in Corea is doing much to better the condition of her women. It could not be worse than it is. The 5,000,000 women of the country are practically slaves. They are kept in the hands of their husbands with fetters of iron, which only the man can loosen. They are not allowed to go out on the streets. Their quarters are kept for them in the back of the house, and the best of the Korean wives would commit suicide if a stranger of either sex put his hands upon her. Many of these people are actually slaves. They have been bought, and they are whipped like the beasts of the field. It is known about the condition of Korean women. The lines are as strict as to their being seen upon the street, or to their coming into contact with any but their own sex, that such traveller's letters and books as have been written concerning Corea contain little about them. Only the women of the noblest and most aristocratic families are generally allowed. Now and then a common woman of the streets of Seoul with a green cloak over her head. She holds this close to her face, leaving a crack out of which one eye peeps, and she has a man on a pony road the runs. There are, indeed, three different classes of women in Corea—the upper, the middle and the lower class.

The upper class are usually the daughters of nobles. They marry nobles, and if their husbands can afford it, which is not often, they have slaves to do their comparative menial duties. The dress of all classes is practically the same in design, but that of the upper classes is made of more expensive materials. It is a very unbecoming dress. The Korean women are not, as a rule, beautiful, and this dress does not add to their looks. Mr. Carpenter, of Park, who has a wife, a concubine or so, and two or three female slaves, gave me the details. The Korean lady starts in with a divided skirt. This consists of a pair of very full drawers, which fall in folds about her knees, and which is stretched up by a pair of white bands. The top of these drawers has a hand full of light blue or blue ribbon, which is fastened tightly over the breast by a white ribbon drawing, which is tied in front. This garment is always white, and is fastened so tight that the band cut into the flesh at the back, and among the lower classes often runs below the breast, lying in the folds of the skirt. The skirt is a piece of white cloth, which is fastened to the top of the drawers by a hand full of light blue or blue ribbon, which is fastened tightly over the breast by a white ribbon drawing, which is tied in front. Hands and Ankles Raw. For years I have been a great sufferer from itchy skin trouble and scald rashes. My hands and ankles were literally raw. A Brutal Assault. Alexandria Bay furnished the latest outrage and it is said to exceed in cruelty that of Listowel. A man named Baldwin had been employed by a farmer named Hardy about four miles from the village, and it is alleged that the latter's daughter, Lulu, a child of about four years of age, Baldwin had across the river, landing at Rock point on the Canadian side, badly injured by the American doctor. The body was recovered in the woods and as yet has not been found.

Rape Case at Newboro. Following so closely the horrible outrage at Listowel, the news that a similar crime had been committed at Newboro on Monday has caused considerable excitement here. Maggie L. Canning, 13 years old, was the victim of the assault. She says that she left Newboro at 7.40 to go to James Bell's and started on her return at 8, and when opposite Bill's house, on the railway, she was criminally assaulted. At first she said her assailant was a stranger wearing a gray coat, black pants and a black hat. This led the village to believe that some tramp had done the deed and a vigorous search was instituted. On Tuesday evening she arose from her bed saying she could not sleep with a secret on her mind and stated that her assailant was Mack Alford, son of George Alford, blacksmith, and that she had withheld the name because he had threatened to kill her if she divulged it. A warrant was at once issued for Alford's arrest and on Wednesday he was brought before Magistrate Shaver and Keefe Paul for trial. The prisoner did not appear to realize the serious position he occupied and made little effort to obtain evidence to prove an alibi. The girl told a perfectly straight story, adhering to her first statement that her assailant was a stranger. The prisoner was lodged in Brockville jail on Thursday last.

In behalf of the prisoner it is alleged that he does not possess a gray coat; that the medical examination failed to establish that the crime charged had been committed; and that an alibi can be proven. An attempt is being made to secure the prisoner's release on bail.

The Kings' Weekly News is now issued as a semi-weekly.

Miss Eva Tennant, who has been taking a course in business at the Normal School, has returned to her home in Mallorytown.

Joseph Fox at one time carried on a boot and shoe business in Mallorytown and was also the owner of a farm. Seven years ago he induced his wife to sign of her right to the realty and she gathered in all available assets, he deserted her. She has pursued him ever since and last week located him in New York. He will now be called upon to support her.

Perth Courier: The price of lambs has fallen this year to 25 cents a pound and we learn that the Boston buyers will accept only existing contracts at that figure. This is about a cent less per pound than last year's price and also worse than the values in the good times. Perhaps the worst has now come and prices will freshen up next year.

A Belle of 1813-13. What is doubtless a valuable relic of the war of 1812-13, was found the other day at the Salmon river near Cornwall and Fort Covington. The relic is an old-fashioned skiff or boat and was found by the men of a steam pump who were developing sand in the St. Lawrence canal. It is believed to be one of the American bateaux in which Wilkinson's army had started to invade Canada and which expedition they were glad to capture. The relic is a small wooden boat with a single oar and a single mast. Reuben Record: An old toper is credited with saying, "There is no bad liquor, some is better than others, but there is none of it laid." I beg to take exception to this assertion, as I can give you a list of names of the best liquors that I have ever tasted. "Forked Bayonet," "William's," "Stamford," and "The Five Cent" are just a few of the names of the best liquors that I have ever tasted.
