HINDEAN SELECTION AND SELECTION A

Minute of the Board of Education Meeting, March 2nd, 1868. The reports of the School Visitors for the past year were considered, pursuant to the order of last monthly meeting; when the Board agreed.

'totals'' for the year.
The Board finds the School accommodation to be very defective as regards both the male and female District Schools of the city, and believes it female District Schools of the city, and believes it vain to look for results in any degree commensurate with the contributions of the citizens to the public educational fund, under existing arrangements. With two exceptions, the Schoolrooms of this city are wholly unsuitable for the purpose, if not positively injurious to the health and comfort of the children. A more clearly defined and systematic gradation of common schools,—culminating in an intermediate school, the want of which latter is much felt at present—would be among the first-results of improved school accommodation for all classes in the community.

The Board is of opinion it would prove benefit with the tast that I have to report a diminution in the number of scholars attending the Summerside Grammar School on my last visit, there being only fifteen on the Journal, and twelve in attendance on the seventh of June last.

There is, however, a progressive and very satisfactory improvement in such of the pupils as were examined on a former visit.

tion for all classes in the community.

The Board is of opinion it would prove beneficial, if the duties and efforts of the School Trustees in Chrilottetown were centralized and combined to a greater extent than at present, by providing for the election of Trustees at the periods prescribed for the election of city Councillors; or, if deemed preferable, by enacting that the latter should be ex officio Trustees offiall the city Schools. This provision might further have a beneficial tendency in directing the attention of the city authorities, if thus brought into more immediate contact with our educational system, cottage for the teacher and a few acres of land sufficient to graze a cow and plant an orchard, at least. Plans of improved Schoolhouses may be seen at the office of the Secretary. The Board is sensible that the subject of School architecture has not yet received that attention which its importance in relation to the health, manners, morals and intellectual progress of the children so very much demands

My attention has been particularly drawn to the state of the Schools in Lot 15, and the immediate neighborhood. In the summer of 1865, I found no less than six Schoolhouses in this disfound no less than six Schoolhouses in this district destitute of Teachers, nor. would I discover, on the most diligent inquiry I could make, who were the Trustees of the several districts, or that any steps were taken or contemplated to supply these deficiencies. On my arrival in Charlottetown, I waited on the Catholic Bishop, when his Lordship kindly promised to use his influence to promote the education of the children throughout these localities, and in 1866. I found two of the promote the education of the children throughout these localities, and in 1866, I found two of the Schoolhouses occupied by licensed Teachers, and in one other a female Teacher not licensed. On my recent visit to these districts, I was agreeably surprised to find every Schoolhouse occupied except one, (St. James) which I believe is inconveniently situated, and which has been converted into a dwelling house. particulars of each will be found in the Schedule annexed to this report, and I have but few observations in addition to submit to the Board.

New Schoolhouses are in progress at North Bedeque, and at the Platte District. There are others which require repair, especially those at Lower Bedeque, Summerside, and Crapand West.

Maps are totally deficient in Summerside, and those of the Island are not to be found in soveral, notwithstanding the late stringent order of the Board. I have given notice to all, that in case of any further default, this order will be strictly enforced.

Island.

If it were possible to bring about a more regular attendance of the scholars, their progress would be more marked. In almost every report, I have had to notice the general neglect of parents in this respect, and to lament the indifference too often shown by them to the best interests of their children. snown by them to the post interests of their chil-dren. The Trustees of the several Districts, might do much to remedy this, and wherever they do interest themselves warmly in the progress of the scholars, by periodical examinations or otherwise, I find a spirit of emulation excited among the chil-I nnd a spirit of emulation excited among the children, and a greater interest evinced by the teacher. In New Brunswick, there are, I am informed, County examinations, when a certain number of pupils are selected from each District School, who meet at the County Town, accompanied by their teachers, when small prizes are given to those who acquit themselves most creditably in the several oranches of instruction.

I have heard, also, that a plan somewhat similar. has been adopted in Nova Scotia, where the Legis-lature has ordered copies of Marshall's History of that Province to be offered as prizes to the scholof that Province to be offered as prizes to the scholars of the District schools.

It may be worth consideration, whether something of this sort might not be advantageously introduced in this Island,—dividing the Counties and grouping the schools so as to lessen the expense of the conveyance of some few selected pupils from each school.

The examinations should be as public as possible and the attendance of the parents invited. Coupled with this, libraries might be established, receiving an allowance from the Government, in proportion to the contributions of the people.

portion to the contributions of the people.

As the subject of Education will probably engage the attention of the Legislature in the next sion, I respectfully submit the above suggestons for your consideration,
And I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your most obedient servant, WM. HENRY BUCKERFIELD, School Visitor for Western Section Sept. 26, 1867.

To the Board of Education for the Island of Prince Edward.

The past quarter of the year, always unfavorable for attendance at the schools, or for their inspection, has been rendered still more so by the stormy and cold weather we have experienced after the autumnal vacation. Some time invariably elapses before the children resume their regular attendance DAWSON'S ESTATE.

The total number of visits made in my first circuit of this year is one hundred and sixty. In two instances, Alberton and Mount Pleasant, Lot 4, evening schools for youths have been opened, and so far as can be ascertained at present, they appear to be well attended.

I have still to complain of the deficiencies in Maps, Black Boards, &c., but trust that many of the schools will soon be supplied with these necessary helps to Education. The fault rests with the Trustees of the Districts, and I have endeavoured, in all cases where I could meet them, and by entries in the Trustees' Books, to draw their attention to these wants, and to induce them to raise the necessary funds.

The Grammar and larger District Schools ought to possess Maps of Europe, the British North American Provinces, and of the United States.

As it will probably be your wish that I should prepare a report of my proceedings up to the 31st of January next. I shall defer any further observations for the present, and in that report I will recapitulate the suggestions I have made during the past year.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, Your most obedient servant, WM. HENRY BUCKERFIELD, School Visitor for the Western Section Dec. 21st, 1867-

With regard to the teachers, I can safely report that most, if not all of them, are well qualified, as far as regards their own attainments in the several branches of instruction usually taught in the District Schools. If I might presume to make any suggestions, it would be, that previously to granting the certificate, some little time should be state of the Normal School, including the followine heads:—

no good effect. While I am on this subject, I may perhaps be allowed to quote the words of an eminent British statesman, who has recently observed that, "if a parent did not educate his child, be was committing not only a sin against that child, but a positive offence against society."

Next to the parents of the children, we should look to the Trustees to promote Education in their respective Districts, and much more depends on them, than on any of the other authorities. The office is one of great importance, and its duties are too often neglected, or inefficiently performed. In this connection, I refer to my communication of the parents of the Eith November ult. in case you wish to revert to the questions you then proposed. Mr. Pope stated that the object in calling a special meeting of the Board was in consequence of certain resolutions introduced in othe United States Congress relating to a free trade between that country and Prince Edward Island. The question was one of very great importance, and this Association, representing to some extent the commercial interests of the Colony, he thought, ought to take some action on the subject.

Sir.—On arrival at Summerside from Shediae, yelevalue, and the standard of finishing her voyage to Charlottenom, and instead of finishing her voyage to Charlottenom, and instead of finishing her voyage to Charlottenom, and discombarding us at the point of our destination; this was anything but satisfactory to us, but Mr. Bertram, was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government of the difficulty was simply between the Dominton and Local Government in the Island. local legislature as the medium by which independence is to be gained. It says:—

"In such a crisis as that which has arisen, it is rather for the legislature to speak than the press; but the action of the legislature must be largely influenced by the feelings to which we have referred. Nova Scotis is now exposed to the dangers which beset a Colony that can obtain no redress, no sympathy, and no regard for the self-respect of its people within the Empire in which she has been reared, and is driven to look abroad for success.

"Upon the wise discretion of our legislators, rests in a large measure our future destiny. The duty of the press is rather subordinate, because all the materials for action are ready at hand. It is not necessary that the people should be wrought up to a state of indignation or that appeals should be made to secure the confidence of their countrymen for those who will guide the public counsels. However hold those counsels may be, they will be somewhat behind the popular feeling, and will leave no chance for suspicion and mistrust to creep into our ranks."

allsm with very extensive ideas on the subject, but we were not long in discovering to our cost that our views of the privileges and freedom of the press were altogether too magnificent for the community in which we nited fines lived. Chief among those who instructed us in the fines hard lesson, was the Editor of the Patriot, and if we now return him the compliment in part, he will admit at least that we have been an apt pupil. As a general rule, then, we admit that public men are amenable to a certain amount of censorship from the "Fourth Estate." This liberty is conceded in all free countries. for where the law recognises and punishes under the name by of libel any gross attacks, not founded on fact, upon the personal character and reputation of individuals 111 A press, however, may often descend into license, without strictly coming within the offence of libel, and the power of the Court. For example, whilst a journal ries, official responsible for his political views and opinions. it can claim no such privilege with respect to private sing individuals. It can never be justified in bringing because of certain opinions which he holds with respect ions to private Educational institutions, because of his convictions in matters of either Church or State, or be cause of his attendance or non-attendance at any public or private gathering. Were such a license allowed the press, no person in the community would be safe from attack. Any individual against whom an Editor had an instinctive animosity, or upon whom, unjustly perhaps itle. he looked u: the light of a rival for popular favor, with might be singled out and held up to opprobrium because he attended certain conventions and not others, because he paid a visit to certain friends and not to others-or cause he gave expression to certain opinions on one subject and remained silent on others. Now, to make a personal application of these remarks.

—It appears that the Hon. Col. Gray was invited to attend the late examination at St. Dunstan's College, which invitation he was pleased to accept. In response est of the Rev. Rector of the College, the Hon. Col. Gray offered a few congratulatory remarks to the students and their professors. His Lordship the Chief Justice did the same. There is nothing in what the Colonel said which could offend anybody. He was OLE family affliction had caused him to withdraw from puband lie life long ago, and in attending the College and ents speaking as he did, he neither insulted nor compromised any religious or political body in the Island. As a private gentlemen. he spoke his private opinions, and, therefore, we are at a loss to know why the Patriot b lindly pounces upon him and imputes to him all sorts of mo-tives for his actions and his words. The Chief Justice was quite as amenable to censure as Colonel Gray; but whilst the former is passed over in silence, the lat Why this invidious distinction? Is there any private gradge to satiate, in the person of the Colonel, which ova does not exist with regard to the Chief Justice; or is it presumed that the former may seek to re-enter public life through the Belfast District, to the prejudice of Mr. Laird's prospects in that quarter? We do not know that Colonel Gray ever intends to mix in local politics again, nor do we think that Mr. Laird has any pe knowledge on the point. What excuse, therefore, can he give for his invidious and savage assault upon a private gentleman, who, so far from having political ends to serve, in attending lectures, examinations, rife com-petitions and other non-political gatherings, may be pierces the soul for the loss of a companion who was the joy of her own household, and the comforter of the afflicted throughout the community. We have been as much opposed to Colonel Gray upon political questions as any writer in the Colory. We are still opposed to his views upon confederation but we must certainly say that we would be guilty of coarse brutality, now that he has retired from public life, if we allowed our opinions to pursue him into private life, and attribute some sinster motive to his every action. Colonel Gray demands no defence at our hands. We offer none. We simply protest against the license of the Patriot, which would, even under the most hands. We offer none. We simply protest against me license of the Patriot, which would, even under the most afflicting circumistances, and contrary to the ordinary rules of propriety, persecute those to whom it is opposed. No exception is taken to the arguments of Colonel Gray. It is not attempted to be denied that St. Dunstan's college affords first-rate facilities for imparting a cheap and good education to the youth of the colony; that its Professors are able and diligent, as seen by results; that the students are well looked after; that the community is more or less indebted to the Bishop for keeping in existence such an institution; and that it is deserving of support. The least that Colonel Gray, or any other gentleman, could say on the occasion of the examination, were kind and encouraging words to the college and its Professors, seeing that they received no state aid. Where political ends, however, are to be gained, and the narrow instincts of religious prejudice are to be gratified, the ordinary principles of fair play and honesty are ignored by the Patriot, which, in effect, says—"You, Colonel Gray, are a Presbyterian, and have no right to thought it to do so, I will endeavor to make you often gentleman and have no right to have thought it to do so, I will endeavor to make you often gentleman and have no right to have thought it to do so, I will endeavor to make you often gentleman and have no right to have thought it to do so, I will endeavor to make you often gentleman and have no right to have thought it to do so, I will endeavor to make you often gentleman and have no right to have thought it to do so, I will endeavor to make you of the comments of the provide and the receive the reprobation of every right-thinking man in the Island.

Book keeping, Algebra, Geometry, and other branches of an important practical character, with an additional apartment in which such as are desirous and capable of becoming teachers, may get instruction in studies and methods to qualify them for efficient instructors.

In a former report, I alluded to the expediency and practical lity of founding a female high school. At present, boys enjoy a monopoly of the privilege of instruction in the highest branches of education, and it is a question worthy of consideration whether the time has not arrived for the establishment of evening classes for the benefit of youths, adults, and apprentices who cannot attend the day schools.

There is an unavoidable repetition of terms that would require a compendium of synonyms to avoid stitutes an important part of our system of public stores.

The Institution in Pinette, Belfast district, constitutes an important part of our system of public stores. adults, and apprentices who cannot attend the day schools.

Certainly, the claims of persons unacquainted with the radiments of knowledge, and anxious to learn, but who, amfortunately, cannot attend the terms of the condition of the several schools, making

There is no Legislative provision to furnish schools with maps, globes, school-libraries, and other essential appurtenances, but the deficiencies in these and other requirements are so well understood that a lengthened discussion of them is unnecessary.

In the meantime, I merely present an outline of the elements of the municipal scheme suggested, embracing alteration, that, in my opinion, would improve our school system. Minu'e details may be afterwards given, if the Board endorses the proposition, and submits it for the approval of the Legislature.

The City Government should have legal power to raise and appropriate money to provide school accommodations, and defray the costs of all repairs and alterations of school premises—further, the several schools should be under the control of one Board of Trustees, who would, of course, be invested with ample authority to manage all matters relating to instruction in the Primary Schools.
