Geoffrey got the tools, and presently they went down to the valley. He was silent, but Cottie, pretending not to notice his ill-temper, marched at his side, lingering behind every now and then to pick the flowers—a girlish trick of which she was quite incapable of breaking herself—and when Geoffrey would call back, 'Come on, now! We've got to make up for lost time! Both the boy!' she only smiled and whistled exasperatingly.

'Matter! Why—why, here's a pocket here! And—and you've been at it already! Ronnie! Ronnie!' She leant on her pick and beamed at him with all a woman's triumphant mockery in her lovely eyes.

Geoffrey stared at her, then dropped his pick and made for—whether to hug her or beat her in his delight he himself scarcely knew—but, with a sudden crimsoning of the face, she darted back and dodged him round the precious rock, and, shaking his fist at her, Geoffrey fell to work.

under her head, her face upturned to the dazzling sky, and singing to herself. You see, she had outwitted the diggers who had disowned her, and woman-like, she was happier over this than the possession of the gold: besides, was not Geoffrey close beside her, and well and strong after the terrible experience of yesterday?

They worked at the claim day by day; their close companionship was happiness to them both—it would be difficult to say to which the greater happiness; for to Geoffrey the 'boy's' presence, to him limping or sitting near him, singing or whistling or talking of, and asking questions on, every conceivable subject, was a delight which he was far from being perfectly conscious. They were precious days whose memory, alas! alas! clung to both and haunted both these human beings in the after-time; and the evenings when, the gold buried, the meal over, they sat side by side, Geoffrey with his pipe in his mouth, Cottie with her books and her writing lesson, the quiet broken only by the

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

A sense of one's own unimportance may be a virtue sometimes, but it seems to me it is just about as often a vice.

For if you consider yourself an important part of the scheme of things you thereby recognize your responsibilities toward your talents and your fellow men, whereas if you look at yourself as an infinitesimal, unimportant atom, you are pretty apt to look at your responsibilities in the same way.

All of which is simply by way of introduction to a protest against the man who delights in saying, "No man is indispensable. If I should die to-night, or if the most important man in this business should die to-night, the business would go on just the same."

The first time I met that man was in a newspaper office.

I was bemoaning the loss of a good reporter who had gone to another paper.

"What difference does any one man, however good, make?" said the city editor. "Why, let me tell you, Miss Cameron, if the managing editor and the make-up man and myself (three of the most important personages in the office) should quit work this moment, the paper would come out in the morning just the same."

I didn't admit it then, and I don't yet.

The paper would come out, of course. It would have to. That is newspaper ethics. If all the men in the office but one should be killed by lightning, and the plant were intact and that one man a good newspaper man, he would surely have the paper out in the morning.

But I do not believe that in the case of the city editor cited—with the three important personages gone—the paper would come out just the same.

Nor that the business with the most important man gone would go on just the same. At least, not at once.

In time it probably would, for all such gaps manage to fill themselves, although they quite frequently swallow two or three men to take the place of one—a fact the dispensability preachers seem to lose sight of. But for a while, at least, with a thoroughly good man gone, things wouldn't be just the same.

And the man who, as that editor did, tries to make his employees take that attitude, is making a big mistake.

The man who says with Van Dyke, "I am the man by whom this work can best be done in my own way," is the man who will do the best work.

The man who thinks a vast load of responsibility for the success of the business interests he serves rests on his shoulders, is apt to square those shoulders to bear the load far better than the man who is willing to think of himself as an unimportant unit.

Of course, I may be mistaken, but it seems to me that if I were a business man at the head of an office force I should try to impress each man in it, down to the office boy, with the thought that it was up to him to make himself so important that the office would not go on just the same without him.

Ruth Cameron

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. The Finest Counterfeiting in the History of Banking.

Counterfeiting on a large scale never before attempted has been successfully practiced on the Bank of France for the past three months, and still continues. Who the counterfeiters are the leading detectives of Europe have no idea; the amount of their ill-gotten gains is equally a matter of speculation, but it is confidently placed high in the millions by Sterling Hellig, who sends the story to the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Apart from what appears to be an almost universal interest in daring crime, the frauds on the Bank of France are of absorbing concern to scientists, since they seem to assume the discovery of the long-sought process of color photography.

Color Photography Discovered.

A work of genius such as the discovery of color photography would appear to be necessary to explain the counterfeits; for the bank experts cannot tell the difference between the spurious and the genuine notes. Had it not been for the fact that every note bears a different number and that hundreds of duplicates were discovered, it is doubtful if the fraud would ever have been detected. The bank might have been ruined by paying out gold for bad notes. Even to-day it keeps on redeeming notes that are counterfeits, and will continue to do so until the 1889 issue of 200-franc bills, numbering some 26,000,000 has been called in. The new issue to take its place was sent out on the first of the year. If it can be counterfeited, a financial panic might well set in unless the combined efforts of the best detectives in Europe bear fruit, and the counterfeiters are caught.

All Experts Baffled.

As Hellig says, France enjoys clean paper money. The Bank of France issued 10, 20, 100 and 200-franc bills, the rest of the currency being copper, silver and gold. The French people have got into the habit of sending a soiled bill to the bank and exchanging it for a new one. Perhaps scores, perhaps hundreds, of these dirty notes are turned in every day. Their numbers are, therefore, crossed off the register, the bills destroyed and new ones differently numbered, are issued. One day in October a clerk went to mark of a soiled bill, and found that it had already been cancelled. It was supposed that someone had made a mistake, but next day the same thing happened. Then the officials realized that forgers were at work. In a week, or so a formidable collection of duplicates had been made. Experts examined them, to pick out the counterfeits. They were unable to do so. Engravers and printers, artists and detectives alike were baffled.

Europe's Best Detectives.

Had only one particular note been counterfeited, it would have been a comparatively easy matter to prevent Threatened Paralysis!

Tells How a Bad Case May be Detected and Cured.

"Before I left Scotland," writes William Macnochie, of Glenvale P. O. "my health had suffered. The strain of moving and beginning life in a new country is very taxing to one concerned with a young family. After I came out my friends noticed a slight thickening, as they call it, in my speech. I might not have noticed this, but for my anxiety over a dragging sensation in my left limb and a slight confusion in thinking. No doctor was near and I just followed an advertisement and sent for six boxes of Ferrozone. It must have done me a lot of good from the first. I was busy seeding and forgot my troubles most of the time. This simply proves the curative power of Ferrozone. I continued to use it and before the snow flew I was a well, hearty, vigorous man—no sign of weakness or illness about me. When I consider that I had been on the verge of paralysis, you can see that I fully realize the health-bringing power of Ferrozone."

If you have a weak spot anywhere—if you experience occasional pains and twinges or rheumatism—if you feel worn out and lack desire to work—these are the surest indications your system needs Ferrozone—try it, one or two tablets at meal time; 50c. per box, six for $2.50, all dealers, or The Cattarhazone Co., Kingston, Canada.

loss by warning branch banks against accepting it. However, there seems to be no limit to the numbers that have been copied. New duplicates are turning up every day. At once the alarm was sent out to London, St. Petersburg, Vienna, Rome and Madrid and every great European city that had specialist detectives. The experts on counterfeiters hurried to Paris, and to-day scores of them, aided by hundreds of French officials are searching the country for the counterfeiters and their plant. It is the turn of the Bank of France to-day; it may be the turn of the Bank of England or the Bank of Spain to-morrow.

The Scotland yard experts—who, despite delusions to the contrary on the part of novelists, appear to be the most competent in the world—at once established their map system. This device was successful in leading to the detection of the band of crooks that emitted $1,000,000 worth of 25 Bank of England notes from Moscow last November. It consists of a huge map, on which is plainly marked every hamlet in France. Wherever a duplicate note is discovered, a tiny flag is stuck in the map at the point where it turns up. Thousands of these flags have been placed; gradually they form converging lines towards one spot—that of issue. Ten times the tell tale line of flags indicated a centre. Here the counterfeiters had been distributing their money; but the detectives arriving on the scene found no clue. It was the one failure of the experts that led to the issue of the famous "rainbow" $20 note, on which are blended a dozen shades and colors in such a manner as to defy imitation.

If the Rainbow Falls.

That is the hope. But the bill that has been perfectly imitated had a beautiful rose-colored background and wonderful blue vignettes that were supposed to make it counterfeit-proof. If direct color photography has been discovered the rainbow note may be equally easy to imitate. But even granting the color process, where did the paper come from? The Bank of France's notepaper was considered imitable. It is made by hand, sheet by sheet, with a three three-toned watermark, and the secret composition of the paper's "dough" gives the bill a peculiar metallic sound when crumpled, and a characteristic resistance of the hand, which have hitherto enabled bank tellers to detect imitations in the dark. But the counterfeiters are exactly the same. No one can tell whether they have been printed or photographed. The greatest counterfeiting game in the history of banking is going on in France to-day.

COLD ON THE LUNGS.

This letter gives some idea of the confidence placed in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by the people who know by experience of its exceptional merit. Mrs. R. D. Turner, Broadview, N. W. T., writes: "We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for them all when troubled with cold on the lungs. We buy four bottles at a time and always keep it in the house, believing there is nothing so good for coughs and colds."

In the Assembly.

After a number of petitions had been presented by Messrs. Squires, Watson, Crosbie, Blandford and Clapp, the Rules of the House were suspended to facilitate business.

A Customs Amendment Bill was put through all its stages.

The Atlantic Pebble Bill, Trust Funds Bill, Supply Bill, Ways and Means, Temperance Bill and Loan Bill were all disposed of.

The Board of Trade Bill, Petroleum Bill and Fisheries Department Bill were read a second time.

The Magistrate's Jurisdiction Bill was read a first and second time.

Mr. Clift moved the following resolutions:—

WHEREAS doubts have arisen as to whether this House of Assembly is liable for the payment of the Annual Sessional Indemnity to the members of the House of Assembly who were returned thereto in the election of 1908, and who, when the House was summoned to meet for the despatch of business on the 30th day of March, A.D., 1909, failed to elect a Speaker; AND WHEREAS it is desirable to set at rest such doubts;

RESOLVED that in the opinion of the House no such session was held as would render this Committee responsible for the payment of any indemnity to the said members.

The Premier moved an amendment: That in the opinion of this Committee this resolution should not be further proceeded with, unless and until recommended by His Excellency the Governor.

Mr. Clapp pointed out that Mr. Clift's motion, originated the motion at his own instance. He (Mr. Clapp) objected strongly to any payment being made. He had no objection to the money being sent to the District of St. Barbe's. Mr. Howley also spoke. The amendment was accepted unanimously.

The Intoxicating Liquor Bill was also disposed of with an amendment suggested by Mr. Warren and accepted by the Hon. D. Morrison who was in charge of the Bill. A large number of members took part in the discussion among whom were Hon. D. Morrison, the Premier, The Speaker, Messrs. Howley, Devereaux, Clift, Grant, Clapp, Kent, Squires, Crosbie, Whiteway, Moulton, Downey and Piccott.

Wesley S. S. Sociable.

The S.S. Sociable at Wesley Church last night was a splendid success in every way. Over four hundred persons attended, and to avoid any friend being refused admission, many of the teachers and young men stood through the evening. Rev. J. K. Curtis, the pastor presided. The programme proved highly successful. An abundance of tea and cake was then supplied. Over and over again the waiters served, until all seemed satisfied, and withdrew with the highest praise for the entertainment. The receipts will be about one hundred and twenty dollars, and their is no doubt that this annual tea meeting will be always patronized, for the "Wesley" people have the happy knack of making every body feel at home.

Smallpox Spreading.

Small pox has made its appearance at Freshwater, Conception Bay, and Wednesday a man named Chas. Moores, married and with a family, developed the disease there. Dr. Stenford is looking after the case and has the house quarantined. He is also vaccinating the people of the place. As quite a number had access to the man before the disease was diagnosed it is feared that others will be stricken, though every precaution is being taken to prevent its spread. At Grand River, where seven cases were at first reported, there are now ten, and it looks as if the disease will spread there also. Dr. Chisholm and Magistrate McDonnell are doing everything possible to ward off such a calamity.

Thousands of Bedlamer Seals.

People who arrived by the shore train last night say that the waters of Conception Bay, off Port de Grave, Wednesday contained thousands of bedlamer seals. The oldest men of the place never remembered to have seen so many. All the men of the place were out hunting them and shot hundreds. Men experienced in the sealfishery say that it is an indication that the main patch of seals are further south than usual this year.

Unknown Steamer Signalled.

At 11.45 to-day the signal station sighted a steamer in the offing. It was very foggy at the time and it could not be known what ship it was. SONG.

I'm lingering to-day where the Pacific's tide
Spreads calm on the strand of a sunlit shore,
But my dream is of one in far off Newfoundland,
Whom I promised to meet when my exile was o'er.

But the fates have denied me the wealth that I sought,
Where others have prospered the dross fell to me;
Yet, well do I know that she waits for me still,
On the brown cliff, when twilight falls deep on the sea.

That hour when we parted, the last that I looked
On her face, yet it thrills me with pleasure the smile
She gave when I kissed her that eve long ago
As we strolled 'long that path near the flakes of Cape Broyle.

Oh, fruitless and far have I travelled since then,
And many a "claim" have I staked but to fall;
And many a time have I started anew
Undismayed and high hoped on the gold-digger's trail.

But ever when far in the wilds and the waste,
The pass of the mountain, the ford of the stream,
By prairie and forest, by trackless ravine,
My fisherman's daughter fills ever my dream.

And I see her again, as I knew her of yore,
Yes, she comes with the dusk my lone hours to beguile,
And in fancy we stray down that road long the shore
That winds by the sea, near the flakes of Cape Broyle.

Quit Her Husband.

Mr. Lowe, of 39 Cabot Street, came to the police station yesterday and reported to Supt. Grimes that when he came home at 6 p.m. Wednesday he found that his wife and child had left the house. The woman had left word that she had gone to see a friend on Leslie Street and requested that her husband go there to bring the child home. He went to the house but found that his wife had not been there for the past six months. This mystified the man, and as she had not returned yesterday he acquainted the police. The woman is a native of Salmonier, had only $1.25 on her person when she left as far as her husband knew, but the police on making enquiries found that she, with her child, left by the Rossland for Halifax, Wednesday evening, and before going she said to friends that she would not return.

St. Patrick's Day, 1910.

Annual Parade of the Benevolent Irish Society.

The 104th annual parade of the Benevolent Irish Society was held yesterday. In spite of the unfavorable weather and the muddy walking a fairly large number of the members attended, there being thirty more than turned out last year. The Society in charge of Vice-President Kent met at St. Patrick's Hall at 9.30 o'clock, and forming into processional order marched up town by way of New Gower Street and Patrick Street and returned by way of Water Street. The Society marched up Cochrane Street and called on His Excellency the Governor. Vice-President Kent on behalf of the Society tendered the respects of the body. Mr. Kent alluded to the celebration of the Feast of St. Patrick in a stirring speech, and giving a short history of the Benevolent Irish Society recounted the work that it was doing on behalf of the education of the boys of the city. His Excellency in replying to Mr. Kent's remarks took occasion to say that he had the pleasure of visiting the schools conducted by the Christian Brothers a short time previously and was most favorably impressed by all that he saw. He paid a warm tribute to the Irish race and alluded to the heroic way in which the Irish soldiers fought in the South African War, particularly in the siege of Ladysmith. He wished the Society a prosperous career. Cheers were given for the King, the Governor and Lady Williams, who, although suffering from the effects of a broken arm, kindly came down to the entrance of Government House to receive the Society. Both their Excellencies wore Shamrocks on their breasts and carried real Irish black thorns in their hands. When the proceedings were over here the Society reformed ranks and marched to the R. C. Cathedral, where they attended High Mass, celebrated by His Grace the Archbishop. Rev. Father O'Callaghan was Deacon, Rev. Fr. Gough was sub-Deacon, Rev. Monsignor Roche and Rev. Fr. McDermott, Deacons at the Throne, and Rev. Fr. Fyde, Master of Ceremonies. After Mass Rev. Fr. Sheehan entered the pulpit and preached the panegyric on St. Patrick. He recounted the principal events in the life of Ireland's Patron Saint, summed up the work that he had accomplished and the impress made on the national character of the people. Ireland had suffered deeply since the eleventh century and undergone a national crucifixion, but better days were at hand. A bright dawn was already glowing over the mountain tops. A wonderful revival had taken place among the Irish people in recent years in learning, music and the Gaelic language. The people of Ireland were growing prosperous and would no doubt come into their rightful heritage before many years. Having recently arrived in this country from Ireland the rev. preacher could speak of these aspects from personal experience. After Mass the Archbishop called on His Grace the Archbishop at the Episcopal Library, where they tendered their respects through Mr. Kent, the Vice-President, who in an excellent speech gave an account of the progress of the Society during the year and the status of the schools conducted by the Christian Brothers. The Archbishop then addressed the Society and referred to the pleasure that it always afforded him to receive the B. I. S. on the anniversary of Ireland's Patron Saint. His Grace was particularly felicitous in his address and his remarks were received with great applause. Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan also gave a short address. After cheers had been called for by Mr. Kent for the Archbishop and clergy and given with enthusiasm, the band of the C. C. played some stirring Irish airs. The Society retired to their hall shortly before 2 p.m. and disbanded. It was regrettable that the walking was not more favorable, otherwise the procession would have been very much larger. The music played by the brass bands of the C. C. and Prof. Bennett's was patriotic and harmonious and included the principal national airs of Ireland.

Neglected Colds Lead to Consumption

Unless a complete cure is effected, the inflammation passes rapidly to the throat, bronchial tubes, and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or a new nose—hence consumption is practically incurable.

But Catarrh can be cured, except in its final and always fatal stage. Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhzone."

In using Catarrhzone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing, piny vapor direct to the lungs and air passages.

Use Catarrhzone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills—it's pleasant, safe, and guaranteed in every case. Two months' treatment, large size, guaranteed to cure, price $1; small size, 50c, at all dealers. Beware of substitutes and imitations. By mail from the Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Broke His Leg.

About 5.30 yesterday afternoon a boy named William Hynes, aged 8 years, met with a very painful accident near his home, Howe Place. The lad was enjoying himself with a skipping rope when he accidentally tripped and fell, with the result that he broke one of his legs above the knee.

After being taken to his residence by Mrs. McGinn he was attended by Dr. Macpherson, who temporarily splinted the leg and sent him to the Hospital in the ambulance. The little chap bore the pain bravely.

ONLY ONE ARREST.—Matters were very quiet in police circles Wednesday evening and yesterday and only one drunk was arrested.

Redmond Predicts General Election Next Month.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, March 16. The House of Lords adjourned to-night. The debate on the Rosebery resolutions, looking to the reform of the Chamber, had not been concluded, but it was expected that they would be referred to a committee to-morrow without division. The speeches generally showed a strong feeling against any tampering with the hereditary principle. Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, the chief speaker to-day, supported Lord Rosebery and favoured a scheme, partly elective and partly nominative, by which the destruction of the hereditary principle and had no sympathy for a purely elective Chamber. Lord Cromer also supported Lord Rosebery but showed himself only a luke-warm reformer. The Earl of Halsbury spoke strongly for the retention of the existing constitution of the House. Parliament will rise for Easter recess on March 23rd. John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish party, speaking at Newcastle to-night predicted a general election within a month hence. He said as the United States had contributed nearly three-fourths of the fifty thousand dollars which the last election cost the Irish party, he hoped their American brethren would help them in the coming election. Sir John Gorst at Hampstead to-night described Mr. Redmond as undoubtedly the best leader in the House of Commons not excepting Mr. Asquith, and he said that had Mr. Redmond been associated with one of the great English parties he probably would have been Premier to-day.

Celebration in New York Yesterday

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, March 17. Irishmen of New York by tens of thousands joined in to-day in carrying out enthusiastically the programme arranged for one of the most elaborate celebrations in honor of Ireland's Patron Saint that the city has witnessed. Although the morning dawned murky there was every indication as the time approached for the main feature of to-day's programme—the parade of forty thousand or more sons of Erin—that the Patriotic celebrators intended to defy all the inclemencies and the most brilliant through that ever marched demonstrated along the stately avenue on St. Patrick's Day.

Taft in Chicago.

Special to Evening Telegram. CHICAGO, Ills., March 17. Fairly buried in green emblems, banners and bunting, Chicago to-day received President Taft as its Guest in one of the biggest St. Patrick's Day celebrations the city has ever known. From the time he stepped off his special train at 7.50, the President saw hardly a building or an individual that was not decorated with green. Met at the Station by a National Guard Regiment, and a large reception committee, President Taft swung into the line of a St. Patrick's Day Parade. The President came to Chicago is the guest of the Irish Fellowship Club.

Discount Raised.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, March 17. The Directors of the Bank of England at their weekly meeting to-day raised the minimum rate of discount from three to four per cent. This action was caused by the continued foreign demands for gold which seriously depleted the banks reserve. These are now nearly twenty five million dollars lower than at the same time last year, and prospective further withdrawals of the metal necessitates measures to increase the bank's holdings.

Tariff Reprisals.

Special to Evening Telegram. BRUSSELS, March 17. The Government has submitted the draft of a bill providing for reprisals against France if a Tariff measure now pending the French Parliament is made into law.

Highlanders' Sports.

The annual sports of the Nfld. Highlanders will take place in their armoury, King's Road, to-night. Last year these games attracted and delighted a large audience, but this year's will contain features which will make them specially interesting, and no doubt a full house will greet the lads in kilts. Besides the races and other exercises, the trapeze act will in itself be worth the admission fee. None should miss this affair.

ST. ANDREW'S CHOIR. — There will be no choir practice to-night.

The "Peep o' Day."

The Old Favorites, who produced the "Peep o' Day" or the "Exile of Erin" in the T. A. Hall last night, were greeted with an overflow audience, in fact so many had entered the spacious theatre that seating accommodation could not be afforded several, and quite a number had to leave without seeing the play. We have seen this very emotional Irish drama performed repeatedly here, but never before was it given such a clever rendition as at the hands of the clever combine of last night, who were led by Mr. T. M. White. The stage settings and scenic effects were of a high order, and we are sorry that lack of space precludes a more extended notice. The cast proved their histrionic capabilities and all through thunderous applause greeted the efforts of the performers. Where each did so well it would seem unfair to make a distinction, but undoubtedly the work of Messrs. T. M. and Geo. White, T. J. Rolls, W. J. Myler, W. J. English, J. B. Butler and Misses Polly and Lizzie Carroll and Beattie English deserved the appreciation extended it.

IRISH NIGHT.

The College Hall was well filled last night at the Annual Irish Concert, proceeds of which go towards the new wing of St. Bonaventure's. Most of the songs were familiar, and I think it was noticeable how much depends on the singer's attitude in giving such songs of a national character. Something more than voice culture is needed; a thorough familiarity and appreciation of the words, (so that it will not be necessary to read from book or music), an open attitude to the audience, making them conscious that you feel every sensation the composer of the words felt when he wrote them; all these things are most necessary to satisfy such an audience as last night; an audience ready to weep over "Wearin' of the Green," or smile at "Biddy Malone."

Perhaps the most satisfying item was Mr. O'Neill's "Shamus O'Brien," which was certainly well done. Mrs. Job sang "The Green Isle of Erin," and Mrs. Ayre, a new arrangement of "Believe Me if All," both gaining credit. Miss Johnson, whose good nature has prevented her from seeing how the platform looks from the audience since she came last fall, played "The Last Rose of Summer," and for an encore a Mazurka by Setti, which she played well, though Mr. Hutton, her accompanist in my opinion rested more bars than the score demanded.

"The Dear Little Shamrock" by Miss Story; "Killarney" by Miss Strang; "The Minister Boy," by Mr. LeMessurier; "The Old Plaid Shawl," by Mr. Mawer; "Langlan's Log," by Mr. King; "Come Back to Erin," by Mr. Martin; "Frischen All," by Mr. Tuff; with a duet and two male quartettes completed the program, the audience demanding an encore in almost every case.

A good male quartette is one of the most pleasing combinations to listen to, though it doesn't always follow that four good soloists will blend the best; there must be a certain similarity of temperament and feeling to make the full sounding chord. We used to have some fine quartettes in the old days, and Messrs. Hutton, King, Mawer and O'Reilly are to be commended in reviving what seems to have fallen into disuse lately.

All the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the Irish Night have come well known on the concert platform, and need no extended notice here.

Mr. Hutton, whose work in so many matters musical, must leave him very little time for sleep, accompanied as he usually does, well.

Cowan Mission Sociable

The concert under Mr. Mawer was successful. Among those who contributed to the success of the evening were Mr. Mawer, Miss Strang, Miss McKinley, Mr. Strang, Mr. Hadden, Master Steele, Miss Berteau, Miss Haddon and Mr. LeMessurier.

Suffragette Campaign.

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, March 17. A London despatch says: The year's work of the suffragette organization records that two hundred and ninety-four women were arrested, of whom one hundred and sixty three were imprisoned. Hunger strikes to the number of one hundred and ten were carried out. Pump feedings was resorted to on thirty-six occasions. Since the agitation began the sentences served by women amounted to 28 years.

Peary Gets the Cold Shoulder.

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, March 17. Commander Robert E. Peary has cut short his tour in the south. The refusal of Governor Brown of Georgia to introduce him to an Atlanta audience last night has reference to the Commander, as a Fakir, and the small crowd that attended the lecture brought forth an announcement to-night that his plans have been changed.

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained by using DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Stratford, Ont., writes:—My nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves." Her Family Hear From Miss Bride Biggs Weekly.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—As I read in your paper of March the ninth concerning the whereabouts of my sister Bride, I would wish to let my friends at St. Mary's, Placentia and St. John's know that we are in weekly communication with my sister since she arrived in Boston, January 20th. She wrote from North Sydney, January 18th, and from Boston a few days later, saying she was at work with Mr. W. S. Colledge, No. 70 Lexington St., Waverly, Mass. By last mail I received a letter from her saying that Miss Yetman, her cousin, called to see her. Miss Yetman stated in the Boston Post, Feb. 22, that she could get no tidings of her. Also Miss Yetman says that she sent for photographs and description. If so I think Miss Yetman should enquire from her own people, as she has her father and mother, also three brothers living at Riverhead, St. Mary's, as one would think that such description would be in the custody of Bride's people. Miss Yetman wrote us simply asking for Bride's address in Boston. We answered her letter, also sent her address, that is all we heard from Miss Yetman.

Man Reported Missing.

Men who were trouting at ponds near Maher's Station, and who arrived here by last night's train report that a man belonging to Collier's is missing since Tuesday, and it is very much feared that he has been drowned in one of the ponds. He left home Tuesday forenoon, to go into the forest for firewood and not returning Wednesday a search party went to look for him. He was traced to one of the ponds over which it is feared he went, and as the ice is hardly bearable it is surmised that he fell through and was drowned. A further and more careful search will be made to-day.

Our LONDON LETTER

Doings and Fashions in the World's Metropolis.

I am afraid this my usual letter, which my many friends take such interest in and flatter me so by their appreciation, will fall short this time of its usual on dits. To one who has visited London as often as the writer, there appears a great sameness—a sort of expectancy of something to come—of some sort of dissatisfaction—almost discontent brooding over the great national events—the opening of Parliament—took place while I was there—the King and Queen rode in their gilded carriage, drawn by the eight magnificent greys that had so often done duty for the late Victoria—the same which drew her to her last resting place, the crowds were larger as the weather was superb; in fact traffic was stopped several times around Victoria Street, the Horse Guards and the several streets and courts leading from Trafalgar Square to St. James' Park. As for Buckingham Palace and vicinity, thousands had taken their stand there as early as 9 a.m., though the Royal equipage did not leave the Palace till 12.

There's nothing very startling in theatres either—nothing thrilling such as "Nero," "The Sign of the Cross," or an "Englishman's Home," which latter stirred the Nation last year, and was the means of starting the great Territorial Army. I saw the "Dollar Princess," but it can't fill the bill of "The Merry Widow" which was really clever and the music beautiful. There are three scenes in "The Dollar Princess"—the reception hall of an American millionaire's house; a tennis court where all the guests are playing—and lastly a scene—splendid in the extreme—of a view in Southern California where the blooming magnolia sweeps the successful settlers' home and where "The Dollar Princess" meets the man who now equals her in wealth and where they are "happy for ever after." It is just a society comedy and not much in it. The "Arcadians," a musical comedy, is having a good run; it is beautifully staged, and I don't think I ever saw a more lovely gypsy scene than that on which the curtain rises, showing a glen for miles and miles, as it were, of green sward shadowed by towering trees and flowers of every hue, where the happy Arcadians "lived and moved and had their being" till the aeroplane fell among them and its occupant aroused their curiosity, real all the doings of the outer world. Its very pretty, but too impossible. "Sir Peerholm Tree" is playing "The O'Flynn" at His Majesty's Theatre; this is quite an historical piece in the reign of the first James and shows the loyalty of the Irish to their lawful sovereign. There are some fine scenes in it, and the dialogue abounds in irrepressible Irish humour, even at the most thrilling and tragic episodes! It is almost inconceivable how splendidly everything dramatic is staged in London. When the curtain goes up on some scenes, the effect nearly takes one's breath away, so transcendently lovely are they to look at. This applies more especially to pantomimes; they are still playing "Alladin" at Drury Lane, and the transformation scenes defy description. These latter shows are largely patronised by young folk and children; and 'tis sweet to hear their fresh young laughter rippling through the applause.

Fashions have not changed very much since last spring; the clinging skirts and "Princess" mode still prevail; coats and skirts are de regueur, with the coat growing gradually shorter. Violets and violet shades will prevail, with a good sprinkling of greys, old rose, mole and cock's comb colour, for the "Rooster" has come quite into prominence by the "Chanticleer" play they have brought on in Paris. It's well it was not introduced in the autumn or there'd be nothing but "chanticleer" hats; but they are too heavy for spring and summer. I have seen the French model; it is just as if a rooster were skinned and its feathers, wings and all put on a pointed toque shape; the comb is made of pecked-out "cock's comb" made of pinked-out "cock's comb" just as if a rooster were on the head. It is not a feat in millinery to crow over—pardon the pun; for it it looks like an outrage on, not only good taste, but common sense. There is a great variety of hats and toques this season; the large and medium "manchroom" still obtain; while the "Dollar Princess" and other turbans notably the "Bushby" are as popular as ever. While on hats I might remark that the large hats are worn quite down on the shoulder as ever. There is also a folded turban like that known as the "Turkish," worn right at the back of the head; they are not becoming, and are worn more by Misses. The hair is dressed to an enormous size—immense pomps each side the face, and a chignon at the back of curls and rolls and twists; bands of ribbon are freely used for evening or dressy occasions, in the Grecian style; sometimes bands of gilt, silver or sequine are used; and I must say look very pretty. For instance I saw a lady one night in a black sequine gown with steel bands and "cock's comb" ribbon in her dark hair. She was a picture. Young ladies wear pale blue, pink, white or cream, to suit their dresses, and one I saw looked handsome in cream, with this new red ribbon in her hair. But one sees such variety in London, with its teeming millions, its gorgeous shops with their daily arrival of Paris novelties, that one may never stop describing them. One thing flowers will be profusely worn, and hats for spring are literally smothered in them.

"LONG HARRY"

Writes on Several Interesting Matters.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Mr. Editor,—My excuse for troubling you so often with my effusions, is the fact of my having more time on my hands than I can otherwise profitably employ, as work of all kinds is very scarce in these parts at present. But, sir, as I see the Government has made a contract with a company for the exportation of beach rocks, or as they are more elegantly styled in the contract, "Pebble stones," I hope soon to be able to report a change in the existing order of things, as there are any quantity of pebble stones right near "Long Harry's" place of abode. I am going to interview the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and ask him to use his influence with the company to get me the job of foreman or "super-cargo" or something of that kind, and I think, sir, I will have a good chance of succeeding, providing Mr. Seymour is not fishing for the position. I would not require a very large salary—$100.00 a month to start with and travelling expenses thrown in would suit me to a dot.

By the way, I am told that our "Junior Member" is trying to "hook" the job of looking after the Colony's exhibit at the Festival of Empire in London in June next. If he succeeds, then I think Mr. Piccott will have no trouble in securing the position for me, for Mr. S. would be the only competitor I need fear. That little gentleman, I am also told, in conjunction with enlightening the debates of the Assembly with his wit and wisdom, is engaged delivering a course of lectures at the Model Farm, preparatory, so my informant says, to the Premier inaugurating his great policy of whitening the South Side Hills of your city with sheep and growing the two-blade grass on the wonderful agricultural lands which the branch railways to Trinity and Bonaville are going to open up! When that policy is carried out, sir, we will no longer be carrying all our eggs in one basket! The land will flow with milk and honey and lam factories will be flourishing all over the country. The "soiling process" will revolutionize the fishing industry and no longer will we need fear our rivals—the Norwegians or the French. Cold storage, judging from the past, will be a powerful lever in our hands, alongside of which the Mackinon cod will sink into insignificance. Our toilers of the deep will become so prosperous after a few years of the Morris's regime, that they will be able to retire and hie off to the Old Country to man the new Dreadnoughts which are being built, and if there are any of them remaining after the "Bulwarks of Old England" are crewed, these will go up to Canada and enlist in the Dominion Navy, just for the fun of the thing. Capt. Bill Winsor, Mr. Editor, would make an ideal commander of a Canadian man-of-war, and "Long Harry" would most respectfully call the attention of the Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries to this fact. The Hon. J. C. Crosbie would willingly furnish the necessary recommendation.

The matter of Newfoundlanders wearing the cast-off clothing of people of other countries has also engaged the attention of the Government, and the Minister of Finance and Customs seeing prosperous times ahead (for himself) has taken time by the forelock, and prohibited the importation of that commodity. While, however, I am willing to give the Minister a mead of praise for his action in this connection, I cannot refrain from saying that I think the primary motive of the Government in making this move was a reward to Hon. John Anderson for the very postulate letter he wrote Sir Edward Morris on his departure for the Old Country, wherein he left the impression that he had fully repented of all he had previously said regarding the railway policy of the Government. (I think, Mr. Editor, last May he said it was a wild cat scheme, and one that would land us in Confederation)—and how sorry he was, he could not stay to cast his vote in its favor.

It is getting late, Mr. Editor, and soon the train that is to bear my scribble to your city will be winding its way through Connors' Grove, therefore I must cut it short, and subscribe myself once again Sincerely yours,
LONG HARRY.

Successful Sociable.

The sociable held by Leeming Lodge at Victoria Hall last night was a great success. Tea was served at 6.30 by the lady friends. A concert was given in which the following assisted: Messrs. Peet, Crocker, Edwards, Pottles, Cornick, Roberts; Misses Edwards, Morris, Crocker, Hicks, Maunde and Moore. At the close a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. G. T. Phillips and seconded by Mr. J. Penny was carried unanimously.

Opening of the C.E.T.S. Rooms.

Yesterday the new reading and recreation rooms of the Church of England Temperance Society were formally opened for the benefit of the members. A large number of the members and others were present, including His Lordship Bishop Jones, Sir E. P. and Lady Morris and Miss Outerbridge. His Lordship having called upon Rev. Jas. Bell, that ardent worker in the cause of temperance gave a very interesting account of the work of the organization and the movement which led up to the building of the new rooms. Five weeks ago matters were in chaos, but now they were in fine order. He had collected and expended $340 on the rooms. They were out of debt now but there were other necessities to be acquired. These were detailed, and it must have been gratifying to know that at the close of the meeting these were supplied by generous visitors. Mr. Bell stated that the work on the rooms had been done by volunteers from the Society, whose contributions, if they had been paid at the rate of 16 cents an hour, would total $180. He conveyed special thanks to Mr. Norman Outerbridge for the gift of a very handsome new gramophone. His Lordship the Bishop then made a brief but very interesting address and then declared the rooms to be open. Speeches were also made by the Premier, Hon. Jas. Angel, Rev. Jos. Thackeray, President Ellis of the T. A. Society, Revs. C. Hackett and Canon White and Mr. I. C. Morris. On motion of Mr. R. G. McDonald, seconded by Mr. G. Hayward, a vote of thanks was carried by acclamation for His Lordship the Bishop. Mr. Bell read letters from His Excellency the Governor, Chief Justice Horwood, D. Browning, Esq., K.C., and others regretting that they could not be present. Tea was served at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Certainly Ends Stomach Misery.

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia go in five minutes. You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally. Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in the stomach), Billousness, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms. Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach. Get a large 50 cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of Impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance. Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

Rev. Dr. Kitchen Lecture to T. A. Society

The last lecture in the series given before the T. A. & B. Society this season took place yesterday afternoon when the Spiritual Director, Rev. Dr. Kitchen, delivered a very entertaining and learned discourse on the Irish in Newfoundland. After being introduced by President Ellis the rev. lecturer spoke in fluent language of the Apostolic labours of the great saint whose feast was being observed to-day. He then interestingly portrayed the manner in which the people of Irish descent in Newfoundland celebrated the day, showing that they did so with as much enthusiasm and patriotism as the Sons of the Emerald Isle themselves. His discourse which occupied an hour and a half was one well worth listening to, and the rev. gentleman was frequently applauded. A hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. J. J. Norris and seconded by Mr. G. J. Coughlan, was accorded Dr. Kitchen.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

To make pure of pea soup, heat in its own liquor a can of peas, press through a sieve and add the pulp thus obtained to one quart of beef stock. Reheat and serve with cubes of toasted bread.

All table linen stains, fruit and even coffee stains where there is cream in the coffee, may be removed by rubbing the spots with pure glycerine. Let it remain an hour and then rinse in lukewarm water.

To prevent starch from sticking to the iron and streaking, drop a small piece of alum into it when it is done and stir over the fire until it is dissolved. Then remove from the fire and add a teaspoonful of kerosene.

To heat a smoothing iron on the coals without smutting it, take a cap from the kitchen stove and lay it on the coals. Place the iron on top of this, and both will soon be heated through.

To hard boil eggs so that the yolks will not be discolored, they should be put into boiling water on the stove, never into cold, and after boiling for half an hour they should be plunged into cold.

If there is a bit of cauliflower left over from a meal, try dipping it first into crumbs, then into eggs, and again into crumbs. If not enough to serve separately, then fry in deep fat and use as a garnish to any meat or luncheon dish.

Cold cooked beef, whether boiled, broiled or roasted, chopped fine, mixed with cooked potatoes, also chopped fine, and moistened with gravy and milk, makes a most acceptable dish. Put it into a pudding dish, cover over the top with grated cheese and bake.

Before putting white furs away, clean by rubbing gently with corn meal dampened with gasoline in the open air. Repeat until clean, and then stuff the fur with dry meal. It will easily shake out. Clean dark furs with dry bran, which should be heated.

A safe and sane skin lotion that will prevent premature wrinkles is made by boiling twelve tablespoonsful of barley in a quart of water until gluten is obtained. Strain through a fine linen and add to the liquid a tablespoonful of tincture of benzoin.

Rice with fruit makes a tasty dessert. When the rice is boiled tender add a little orange pulp, a sliced banana and a few canned cherries. Pour into a mold to become firm. When cold cover with powdered macaroons and serve with either whipped cream or a soft custard.

Jellied salad is nice for a change. Chop bits of celery rather fine, mix with shredded lettuce or flaked cabbage and saturate thoroughly with a well-seasoned French dressing. Mix a teaspoonful of granulated gelatine in a little water, blend this well through the whole, press into a crockery mold or small bowl, and put in a cool place to become firm.

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT

THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time, and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Breadmade from contains more nourishment than any other, because it contains the greatest amount of gluten, the health-giving nutriment of wheat.
