Guelph Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 8, 1878

The Coming Thirteenth.

We are glad to notice further confirmation of the statement made yesterday to the effect that it was Lord Dufferin's intention to be at the capital when Parliament meets. It would have been exceedingly undesirable for His Excellency to be absent at such a grave crisis in our national affairs; and his presence may be taken as an indication of the possibility, if not probability, of an active session of Parliament. Indeed, in the present temper of the country, we cannot believe that this could be prevented, even by the most skillful Ministerial engineering. The petitions so contemptuously pool-pooched by the Tory press are now showing their influence, and there is every reason to hope that that influence will have its full result in defeating the attempts of the Ministry to gag the witnesses and stifle the enquiry. In spite of the fervent protests of the Ministerial press that Parliament should not be allowed to transact any business, there seems no doubt that Government will provide against emergency by having a full muster of their supporters when the House opens. They prepared for such a contingency by the Act they passed last session, raising the amount paid to members and providing that if the Houses adjourned for more than thirty days members should be entitled to indemnity for another session, in the same way as if a prorogation had taken place.

Most of the petitions that were being circulated in this neighborhood have been sent in to Ottawa. Any that have not yet been sent should be despatched not later than to-morrow.

Political Gossip.

Sir John's return to the capital is announced for early next week, when all members of the Cabinet will be called to take what steps they can to avert the impending troubles.

Mr. Shultz of Manitoba is in Ottawa.

It is said that there will be no prorogation on the 13th after all, as to meet contingencies Government has called all its friends to be in readiness.

Mr. Geo W. McMullen is in Toronto.

The friends of the Mail newspaper do not venture to state that it will come off triumphant in the libel suit, knowing as they do that some of the expressions used were in the heat of the Press discussions, and before the second batch of disclosures were published.

There is considerable caucusing in North York just now.

It is currently reported that after the prorogation of Parliament, Angus Morrison is to be appointed collector of Customs at Toronto. It is also understood that three other constituencies will be rendered vacant at the same time as that of Niagara, one of which will occur from a similar, though less important appointment given to Tom Ferguson.

The Onondaga Thieves.

We condense the following from the Brantford Expositor:—For fully thirty years, with hardly a noticeable interruption, this gang has been at work. Few, if any, of the original members are yet alive, but they have been succeeded by those born at the business. The gang now consists of 18 or 20 members in the vicinity of Onondaga village, with some adherents about Cainsville, but the headquarters of the lot are at the former place. From there they make frequent excursions in every direction, and they have at various times broken into stores and dwelling, being proficient both at the more common kinds of burglary, and at highway robbery and larceny. Their present programme consists mainly in stealing cattle from the Indians on the reservation, which are butchered, and the next day offered for sale in Brantford or Hamilton. To such an extent has this been done recently that the prices of meat in both these markets have fallen below the usual rates on account of the abundant supplies from this source. Many arrests have been made in times past, and the miscarriage of justice toward these offenders has become proverbial. As a general thing they elude to be tried before the Judge under the Act which permits the speedy trial of offenders. In this way they escape confronting a jury of farmers. The organization of the gang is such that they have no trouble in manufacturing evidence and furnishing funds for the best counsel and all the other advantages which money can procure for a criminal. This evidence of actual—though sometimes secret—accomplices has been effectual in acquitting the thieves so often, that the honest inhabitants of Onondaga have almost despaired of justice through the ordinary channels. If the County is to regain its prosperity, a determined and united effort must be made to at once and forever break up the Onondaga gang. The thieves are known, the place of their meetings is known, their time of meeting is generally announced, their operations have been watched, and the interests of all law-abiding citizens demand that the whole gang shall be bagged en masse and convicted together. It is next to useless to catch a single member now and then, while the rest are left at large to plan and plot and work for his restoration to liberty.

BRKING DISHES.—We are glad to learn that the Emperor of China has issued a decree declaring that if the chief officer of his household handles dishes so carelessly as to break them, he shall be killed. We say we are glad of this, because we hope to have the same regulation put into effect in this country. If it is, about two thousand hired girls will be executed every week, and we may reasonably hope that the destruction of crockery will be checked. We have stopped it temporarily in our house by having a tea-set made of wrought iron and painted white. When a new hired girl comes she drops the coffee pot upon the floor. Finding with amazement that it does not break, she thumps it with a flat iron and drops bricks on it, and goes out and borrows a sledge-hammer and whacks it; and then, perceiving that it is as good as ever, she sits down in front of the coffee pot and bursts into tears. Then she gives warning, loads up with sugar and beef and butter for her sick aunt, embzzles three or four hemstitched handkerchiefs and any old pillow cases that are lying around, and starts for the nearest intelligence office. We wouldn't take a million dollars for that tea set.—Max Adeler.

DOG BITES.—Persons who may have the misfortune to be bitten by dogs should bear in mind that their own nerves have more to do with the result than the condition of the dog. Fear of hydrophobia will very often produce symptoms of madness, producing brain fever and death, while a properly controlled nervous system will frequently counteract, by the aid of medical treatment, the due effects of hydrophobic poison. Mrs. Cornelius Dwyer, a young woman, was bitten by a neighbor's dog. Although the wound was not a dangerous one, after three months of continued fear, she was taken with an extraordinary fever, from the effects of which she died. Dr. Walker, who attended her, says that there was no real hydrophobia about the case, but that Mrs. Dwyer's imagination, dwelling on the thoughts of her misfortune, threw her into a morbid state of nervousness, which resulted in fever and death.

The great fire at Hunter's Point, on Tuesday is a good illustration of the recklessness with which men conduct themselves amidst dangers familiar to them. A man lounging on a barge loaded with coal oil, lighted his pipe; and the flame of the match set fire to the gases generated by the cargo. The unfortunate smoker lost his life; and from his barge the flames spread to the nearest oil works (the Standard Oil Works) which were consumed, and, before the fiery tide could be strayed, over $200,000 worth of property had been destroyed. It is amazing that these vast magazines of explosive material should be more securely guarded by extinguishing apparatus than this fire proves them to be. But it is still more surprising that men can be educated into a carelessness like that which kindled the Long Island City fire on Tuesday, and cost the barge-man his life.—Tribune.

Two valuable silver medals have been offered by His Excellency the Governor-General, to be competed for at the annual matches of the Provincial Rifle Association.

MEAFORD has got a bank agency established there, and is jubilant over the fact.

The bombardment of Valentia has been suspended, a flag of truce having been received from the insurgents requesting a parley, which is now going on.

The Cortes by a vote of 184 yeas to one nay have passed a Bill granting constitutional guarantees to Porto Rico. A deputy from that Colony in the course of debate declared that the Island would always remain faithful to Spain.

The Imparcial says that Espartero is extremely popular in the Cortes.

ANNABEL OR THE TEMPTATION.

CHAPTER XXII.

IMPORTANT ISSUES.

"You cannot but know the fate that awaits you!"
"I can guess it."
"Can you?"
"Why should I speak?" he savagely asked. "It wouldn't make any difference to me."

"Perhaps it would. Your doom as a murderer is before you sure and certain, but there is such a thing as torture before it, which you may escape if you answer my questions."
"Perhaps it would. I won't answer," was the defiant response.
"Gentlemen, I think I can answer for him," said Philip, stepping forward at this juncture. "I too, am an Englishman. I came to America for the express purpose of seeing Jerry just, and I am fully persuaded that this man was sent to prevent me from seeing him—sent by one whose interest it was to hinder me from receiving information on a certain matter which could be given by no one on earth but Jerry. Is this not the truth?" he asked, addressing Lorton, who lay sprawling up at him. "Are you not the hired agent of Bernard Hayes, commissioned by him to prevent me from learning from Jerry just where the marriage of Annabel Leighton's parents took place?"

A look of fiendish malignance gathered on Lorton's brutal face, as withering within his bonds he drew himself together, and hissed out.
"Water," he murmured, in a low but perfectly audible tone.
They raised him up, and another stream of blood flowed forth. When it subsided, they held a vessel to his lips; he drank greedily and was revived.
But they were not deceived; all saw that he was dying, and evidently he knew it himself, for he smiled sadly as he looked from one to another and whispered—
"Is all safe now?"
"Yes, Jerry," answered Stephen Bolton. "The Indians have fled, and no one is badly hurt but yourself."

"I'm glad of that," said Jerry. "I shall die happy."
"Please God you may recover," said the other, in a husky voice.
"No, Stephen, no; my time is come. I'm going—fast. Good-bye."
Philip grasped Steive's arm convulsively, and looked the wish he had not power to speak under the trapper's stood him, and stepped forward till he stood where Jerry could see him.
The dying man's eye lighted on his face, and his gaze was fixed.
"Jerry, don't you know me—your old friend, Steive Reckham?"
Jerry tried to hold out his hand, but was too weak. He smiled recognition, and a gleam of joy kindled in his fading eyes.
Steive took Jerry's hand tenderly in both his own, and the two looked joyfully into each other's face. Doubtless a recollection of happy days in the long past came into both their hearts.
"Good-bye, Steive; I'm going," murmured Jerry. "Who was he—the man who—"

"The man who gave you that wound?" said Steive, in a tone of wrath.
"Who's a vagabond Britisher—a hired scoundrel, who was sent out by a villain even worse than himself to keep this youth from seeing you. See yonder, the wretch lying bound, ready to be hanged, and here is the young gentleman, Mister Weston, who has come so far to see you."
Jerry's fading vision wandered first to the scowling visage of Sam Lorton, then sought the face of Philip, who stood close to him in trembling eagerness.
"Who's that?" said Jerry, faintly, regarding the youth with wonder and unrecognition.
"Who's that?" said Philip, speaking very hastily, for he dreaded that weakness or unconsciousness would overtake the dying man ere the all important information was given. "I came from England for the one object of seeing you to get information about a marriage which no one on but you can give—the marriage of Everard Leighton and Annabel Seymour."
"Everard Leighton?" murmured Jerry, and his face assumed a far-drawn look.
"Who was he, your friend, were you not? It was a private marriage, for her brother was against it."
"I know—I remember. Poor Everard. He and I were as brothers. I heard he was dead."

OUTSIDE SPORTS.

BASE BALL.

PROFESSIONAL GAME.

The BALTIMORE and PHILADELPHIA nines played their sixth championship game yesterday. The MUTUALS and RESOLUTES also played a game yesterday.

The MUTUALS start on a tour on Monday next.

The ATLANTICS and MUTUALS play their fourth game to-morrow on the Brooklyn grounds.

LOCALS.

A return game between the MARINERS and STOWERS nines of the MEXIA LEAGUE outside the 1st and 2nd nines—being arranged. The captains are busy gathering recruits, and the game is to come off shortly. Some changes are to be made in the nines this time, we understand.

The UNIONS, after receiving word that the London Eckrons were not coming, immediately made arrangements for a match with Mr. SHERMAN'S nine—this time allowing the latter the privilege of calling in two or three expert players from other junior clubs—and played on the grounds in the afternoon at 4 o'clock this evening. The UNIONS say they were in splendid trim yesterday for a game, and would give those Londoners enough to do had they come along, which was well proved by the easy manner in which they repeatedly crushed Mr. SHERMAN'S nine during the game. Those Eckrons may now thank their stars they didn't come, as instead of "one" or "two" being hit, they would have got such a drubbing at the hands of our UNIONS as would have made 'em "all" sick for some time to come.

The second of the close stood SHERMAN'S 16, UNIONS 87, and we are informed the figures would have been considerably less had the game been played for any other purpose than practice and amusement.

In the game in Newcastle yesterday afternoon between the KINGSTONS and the home club, the score at the close stood KINGSTONS 12, NEWCASTLE 5. This is what everyone would call a good game. The BOWMAN boys are to have a whack at 'em this afternoon on their ground.

The KINGSTON club are expected to play with the London Eckrons on the 12th; and the Toronto club are to play them a visit on the 13th—London's reply today.

CRICKET.

The match between the Base Ball Eleven and the Guelph club has been indefinitely postponed.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION

which can be cured by a timely resort to this standard preparation, as has been proved by the hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors. It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c. Wistar's Balsam does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.
