RETRIBUTION.

Our kind friends, who some months ago, took such pains to misrepresent facts to the public, in the first place to say that the $500 Piano which we offered as a grand prize, was not worth more than $100, secondly, that if given away it would be to some friend, thirdly, when they found that we had kept our word to the people to the very letter, interested themselves in having us fined, have received their JUST REWARD at the hands of the FAIR-PLAY loving citizens of Toronto and hundreds of the best people have been attracted to our store by the prosecution brought against us by our jealous rivals who were afraid that if the people of Toronto once tested the quality of our famous Teas they would never buy elsewhere.

James Laut's Teas are recommended by the medical faculty and the Press as healthful and comforting. Use no other if you value good health.

SEWING MACHINES.

THE SEWING QUEEN.

From out all nations around her drew,
The fair and lovely, the honest and true,
Greatly admiring this royal and true,
And loudly praising the work she had done.

There were many and many a maid,
And many a mother and many a wife,
And many a girl who was just a child,
Who were all so proud to be in her line.

Others were cured, and some were made,
And some were heavy as ever made;
They gazed with delight, as she whirled round
So light and easy, with scarcely a sound.

Her speed was terrific, she never grew tired;
They thought that surely she must be inspired;
Her work was perfect, was all of their kind,
And every time she sang in a grand refrain.

That calls forth such praise on every hand?
For all who had heard, and those who had seen,
Were anxious to learn the name of the Queen.
When, lo! there appeared in rapturous mood,
A golden halo from that Goddess-Fame—
Including the name of "Light-Running Domestic!"
This is the name of the Queen machine.

With a Grain of Salt.
Quebec, Jan. 27.—French paper tells the story that a night or two ago a huge rat jumped upon a bed in which were reposing two young girls of this city. One was 8 and the other 12 years of age. The youngster had two bites upon a finger and her sister was bitten upon the elbow. Their cries awakened their parents, when the chase after the invader occurred. It was finally strangled behind a piece of furniture and killed with heavy blows from a stick. So large was the animal that it was thought worth while to weigh it, and according to the authority mentioned its weight was found to be twenty-four pounds.

A SHERIFF DISGRACED.

THE OVERCHARGES AND DISHONESTY OF MUNRO OF ELGIN.
Accounts Paid—Charges for Constables That Never Put in an Appearance—Not Able to Answer the Accusation and Time Asked.

(Special to The Toronto World.)
St. Thomas, Jan. 27.—For years it has been hinted more or less openly that Sheriff Munro had been swindling the county in his charges. The county council last took it up, and today the special committee appointed to investigate the matter reported as follows:

Since 1868 we find that in several instances the accounts had been falsified and over charges had been made by the sheriff, and by that means he has PAID LARGE AMOUNTS by the county which he was not lawfully entitled to.

We find that the sum of $81 was paid to the sheriff to cover expenses incurred in conveying one Fred Day from the goal to the reformatory. The Buckley and Haslins case was taken up, the report stating that the sheriff had been a very creditable and proper role in a vessel named the Alma Munro (owned by the sheriff) and in their transit were taken out of the jurisdiction of Canada, into the United States.

Other cases were taken up and the itemized list of charges were given together with the items, as it is claimed they should in truth be given. It was also reported by the committee that there had been made for summoning constables to court, said constables not having been summoned while charges for summons and mileage had been charged and paid for them and received by the sheriff. It is also charged in the report that the sheriff had of the court for the purpose of getting false executions issued in order to establish an improper priority of creditors. The latter charge produced a most decided sensation.

Moved by Dr. Ring, seconded by W. D. Cole, that the sheriff be heard on the report.

Sheriff Munro said he did not feel himself able to reply to the grave charges brought against him in a present manner. Mr. McDougall said that he was given till ten to-morrow.

LEGALLY CONVICTED.
The Pleas upon which a New Trial will be asked for Guinness.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Judge Merrick says there is no doubt of the legality of the trial from the fact that it occupied more than one term. The criminal court law expressly provides that a trial begun during one term may go on uninterrupted until finished, without regard to the terms of the court. One of Scoville's grounds for asking a new trial will be that the jury were permitted to read newspapers. Scoville will say he has a newspaper on which the names of seven of the jurors were written. He asserts that the jury, and the members of the jury themselves, considered the law, and saw and saw no newspapers during the trial.

FRONTIER CUSTOMS.

These gentlemen came here at the request of the secretary, who has been for some time considering the matter of having the government pay these customs expenses.

A DEADLY CAN.
NITRO-GLYCERINE Sprengs Destruction Among a Boy of Children.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—While a number of children were playing in the upper part of the city this afternoon, one picked up a can which is supposed to have contained nitro-glycerine from a garbage heap and threw it into a fire. A MARCH INTO PERU.
A Chilean Expedition Settle Peruvian Matters for the Matrices—A Peruvian-Chilian Mission Contemplated.

PANAMA, Jan. 18.—Advisors from Lima report that an expedition of 800 Chileans, under Gen. Lynch, crossed the Andes to enter Peru with a view to restoring order. Caesars and other would-be rulers fled precipitately and the Chileans met no resistance. They were well received by the people and trade will be once more reopened with the coast. After establishing a local government the expedition will proceed to the interior of the country.

The Chileans are winning popular opinion by their sobriety, and justice and order they are everywhere establishing.

Pirola, who is in Lima, still favors a confederation of Peru, Bolivia and Chili. Montero remains in the mountains of the north, and is being assisted by Goderi, a distinguished Chilean statesman, has gone to Washington to assist Martner in the duties of the legation.

The letter also says: "Upon the whole, my conclusion is the only effectual way for the United States to secure the peace and stability of Peru is to assume the control of the Peruvian government, and to establish a permanent and efficient government in its stead."

THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

VOTE ON THE ADDRESS-GOVERNMENT 54, OPPOSITION 36.
More Talk of Treason and Rebellion and Strong Professions of Loyalty.

The conclusion of the debate on the address was in keeping with the proceedings of Thursday, warmth being shown on both sides, Mr. Meredith returning to his charges of treason against ministerialists and claims of loyalty for the opposition, saying that it was the ministerialists who were traitors to Ontario, and the ministerialists who were truly loyal. Ministerialists showed by their warm applause of Mr. Mowat while he was using the most vigorous language in regard to the enforcement of the rights of Ontario, that they were quite prepared to support him and the government in the most decided action to uphold both the territorial and constitutional rights of the province. The divisionists were what was expected, even to the independents, except that Dr. Kincaid was away, and so displeased neither of the parties, which occurred in his election. The principal vote stood 54 to 36.

Hon. Mr. Mowat said it showed how clear the record of the government was, when the opposition had to bring up the timber limits question which had been pronounced on at two elections. The only class of officers on the appointment of which they took themselves was that of license inspectors, and they were petitioned to do that by both political parties and by temperance men and liquor dealers. The opposition had changed their position in regard to the boundary award and disallowance question. Had Sir John Macdonald changed his opinion, or was he overruled by his colleagues? If any caution had been used, the act would not have been disallowed. As to Mr. Blake, if he or any other liberal took a position in favor of disallowance generally, neither he nor his friends in the house or country agreed with him or would follow him, but Mr. Blake did not take any such position. Why were our rights in the disputed territory withheld from us? Ontario wanted it. What meant the action of the Dominion authorities by it? It manifested the bitterest hostility to Ontario which gave its prestige to the Dominion. It was disgraceful that the Dominion authorities should care about technicalities. The technicalities were all in our favor. He was more anxious for a provisional arrangement than for a final settlement, for settlers were suffering and the province was suffering, but Sir John Macdonald would not agree to it. The premier said that the act of the Manitoba act was to compel the present Ontario government to be reasonable, as he called it, or in other words to give up the rights Ontario was awake now, and would not give up one mile of the territory awarded to her, or one of her constitutional rights.

Hon. Mr. Pender rose to expose garbling on the part of the Mail, and said as to the boundary award that the opposition were trying to escape under a cloud of smoke, but ministerialists were willing to appeal to the people of Ontario on the question and would be supported.

Mr. Meredith (London) said he was glad that the premier had spoken, as he had refuted the ideas of the opposition, and that anything had been taken from Ontario by the Manitoba act. He should have been happy to correct his supporters. The ministry would have to be responsible for the sound which they had taken. He was surprised at the way the government had treated his amendment. After their courageous announcements he had not expected that they would shrink the vote. They were willing to let the province obtain possession of the territory. The opposition were willing to resort to all constitutional and legal means to uphold the rights of the province, but they were not willing to do anything to provoke a struggle or conflict with the Dominion.

The vote was taken on the amendment to the amendment, which was carried by a straight party division of 54 to 36.

WILL MURDER OUT?

Discovery of the Box That is Supposed to Have Held a Fatal Pistol—Is John Smith Guilty?
SHERBORN, Jan. 27.—An important link in the Amhurst murder was discovered to-day, in the finding of the box, near the mine, belonging to the pistol which young John Smith is alleged to have purchased in Hannah's store two days before the murder. The box is of ordinary pasteboard and bears the brand "Robin Hood" in large letters, the name of the pistol which the boy is said to have purchased. It will be remembered that Mr. Hannah and another witness named Foster swore that the prisoner came into the store on Thursday, the 19th, the murder being on the Saturday following, and purchased a cheap revolver and a box of cartridges, and that he was accompanied by another boy, Young Smith, however denied this and swore positively that he was never in the store in his life. However this may be, it is unfortunate for him that the box has been found where it was. The cartridge bullet found by Dr. Rolin in the interior of the murdered man's throat corresponds exactly with those belonging to the cartridges shot by the prisoner. All these coincidences point to the boy as being the criminal, or at least in some way connected with the crime, a horrible crime. The incredulous ones ask further how could such a green and innocent looking lad serve himself up to the point of doing such revolting work. In further support of their theory they say signs of a criminal struggle were apparent on the snow some distance from the door, blood having flown from the murdered man most profusely and there were indications of free bleeding along the line which he was apparently dragged to the door step where he was found partially roasted. And yet not a trace of blood could be found on the body or clothes of the boy.

The Only One-Cent Morning Paper in Canada, and the Only Absolutely Morning Paper in the City of Toronto.

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 28, 1882.

HOW THE N. P. FOSTER'S IMMORALITY. Our contemporary the Globe has made a discovery. It finds that high tariffs are calculated to promote and generate immorality. It is pleasing to be able to agree with the Globe. This is a luxury which does not often fall to our lot to enjoy. For a considerable time we have noticed a very decided change for the worse in the morals of a few at least in the community. Like our contemporary we have regretted this, deplored it in fact. We have even devoted considerable portions of our valuable space to trying to bring the erring ones to a consciousness of their guilt, and to endeavoring to place their moral turpitude faithfully and properly before them. Like our contemporary, too, we have discovered that the cause of this lamentable growth of immorality is to be found in the enactment or adoption of the present tariff. We repeat that it is a pleasure, an unwelcome pleasure, all the more a pleasure because it is unwelcome to find ourselves able to agree with the Globe.

Undoubtedly the adoption of the present tariff has given rise to a very great deal of immorality. Examine for instance the columns of the Globe. See how it is forced by this tariff to violence to the truth, to garble, and falsify, and mistake the figures in the trade and navigation returns. See how it finds itself forced to tell the farmer that the N. P. has reduced the price of his oats and his wheat and to proclaim to the lumberman and the liverman that it has raised the price of his wheat, and to the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick that it has raised the price of his wheat. See how it is compelled to outrage its conscience, its tender conscience, by declaring in one breath that the manufacturers are fattening at the expense of all other classes, and in the next that the same manufacturers are being ruined by hostile duties and by N. P. fostered inordinate competition.

Yes, the horrid N. P. has utterly shattered and destroyed the morals of the Globe editors, whose writings show that they have irreversibly lost the chart by which truth should be distinguished from falsehood. No wonder our contemporary cries out in very bitterness of spirit that the tariff has been the means of promoting immorality. The Globe has our sympathy in its distress, but we confess we cannot so easily discover a remedy. The advance guard of the salvation army is in the city, however, perhaps they may be able to "minister to a mind diseased," and to point out to our contemporary a way of return to the path of moral rectitude which even the N. P. cannot prevent.

GAMBETTA'S GAME.

Only a short time ago the French people pronounced in favor of the republic by a large majority—a majority so large, in fact, that Monarchists, Bonapartists and Ronges were reduced to insignificance in the chambers. Gambetta, the popular idol, was quickly called upon to add official responsibility to the power he had been unofficially wielding before, and became first minister. Now that a crisis has come, and he has tendered his resignation, people are puzzled to guess what his motive can be for forcing an issue at this time, and what his game really is. That he has a definite policy and a purpose in the course he has taken is not to be doubted. He had but to drop the project of scrutinizing de late in order to be in harmony with the majority, but this he resolutely refused to do. For the present system of voting by small constituencies, each arrangement made by itself, he insisted on substituting the scrutiny de liste or voting by departments, for several members together; and, though he knew there was a majority against him he would not give away. In trying to get at the real meaning of the present crisis, Gambetta's character and his "recoil," as the Americans say, must be looked at. Unless the man has altogether changed of late, he is playing a game of patience, and the game of forcing the issue, the moves on the board. It was by a "waiting game" that he worked himself up to his present position—a game played with great skill, and coolness, and caution. He might have been premier long ere now, but he held back and waited, because in his view the time had not come. Now, strange as it appears, directly this cautious and waiting policy has brought him to the summit of power in the republic, he provokes a crisis and has to resign. Pending the fuller explanation which the cable is sure to pour in upon us within a day or two, or perhaps a few hours, we can but conjecture at present that the great French leader of to-day has some important design in hand which is yet to be developed.

NOTICES GIVEN.

The free trade organs do not make a very strong point when they blame the finance minister for having unsettled and disturbed the tea and coffee trade by announcing the probable repeal of the duties on these articles. He should not have dropped the slightest hint of the matter beforehand, they say, because the notice given has had what some people call a "paralyzing" effect on the trade. "Paralyzing" is an impressive word, and has rather a fear-inspiring sound; but when we go down to the bottom facts of this particular case we find that it means merely that retailers and the wholesaler who stand next to them have ceased buying largely for future wants, and are now buying for immediate wants only. It is the importers and holders of large stocks who will be hurt, if anybody is, and those are the kings of the trade who are best able to stand it. But they are not likely to suffer so very much after all. We may ask what are the bondle warehouses for—that is their use and purpose? Everybody knows that those having bonded warehouses are quite capable of making good use of them; their custom is to pay duties and take out goods just as customers require, and not much faster. The quantity of tea in first or second hands, out of bond but still unsold, cannot be very large compared with the magnitude of the business regularly done, and it does not seem as if an attempt had been made to conjure up a mountain out of a mole hill.

Any impartial authority, pronouncing judgment without fear or favor, could not say otherwise than that the notice given now is much better for the trade generally than no notice at all would have been. Besides, what the finance minister announced as to the best dates cannot properly be called a surprise, except perhaps to the general public, who are not interested much beyond the difference on a week or a fortnight's supply of tea for the household. The large tea dealers are not such careless observers as to have left out of their minds altogether the chances of an early change. Ever since the session of 1879 the abolition of the tea duties has been a subject of constant discussion, and the revenue requirements would permit. But it seems that this is a kind of free trade to which people who call themselves free traders are determinedly opposed.

A WOODEN BIRD.

The Gooderhams control the Toronto and Nipissing railway, but they did not pay for it. The province of Ontario gave a subsidy of $105,000, and the municipalities along the line a bonus of $370,000 toward its construction. For assisting this work the people of Toronto were promised cheap cordwood.

Are they getting it? Read the interviews with the wood-dealers published in yesterday and to-day's World. The Gooderhams are not only owners of the road, but they are really the wood-dealers as well. They are in competition with legitimate woodmen. Or rather having the railway in their control, they force the dealer to buy wood from them at their own terms.

THE GERMAN IN CANADA.

The Evening Mail appears to have been entering into a senseless attack upon the Germans in Canada, thereby bringing down upon its head a torrent of not undeserved Teutonic indignation. The Germans are among the best citizens we have. They are quiet, peaceable, and temperate, and their names rarely figure in our police court reports. If they are inclined to rationalism and socialism, as some people imagine, these tendencies do not seem to have any bad effect on their conduct as citizens, which is all we have to concern ourselves with. But it is remarkable that there is not a single German, either in the Toronto branch of the land league or the Seaboard society, which are the only organizations we have of a combative or rationalistic character—if indeed it is a crime to be a radical. Perhaps it is because the Germans come here with an inherent love of freedom, and no desire to return to the beauties of medieval tyranny, that they have incurred the displeasure of the Mail's donkey-engine.

THE GALT REFORMER.

The Berlin Telegraph and the Toronto Telegram, are all in favor of a committee of the legislature to find out how the provincially subsidized railway passed into the hands of the monopolists.

THE PORT HOPE NEWS.

is one of the best conducted weeklies in the province. It wisely adopts the plan of giving plenty of local intelligence; the only way of getting ahead of the weeklies issued by the Globe and Mail.

THE CITY HALL.

To THE WORLD: A few days ago I noticed among your local items a statement that the mayor was considering plans for the better ventilating of the city hall, and later reports say that Dr. Olbright is officially reporting on the matter. Does this mean that for another century, at least, this western metropolis is to have no better and more imposing headquarters for its government business than the present decayed building by the water side? The fact is this building might be turned into a very good fish market, on its present appropriate site; but for a city hall it is a positive insult to the advancement and the progressive state of the city generally. Ottawa, which one of your contemporaries is fond of sneering at as a lumber village, has a princely city hall in its centre, besides a fine and commodious court-house, both of which put to shame the present mean buildings in Toronto, and so have other cities and towns of less note. Winnipeg will doubtless soon have fine city buildings worthy of her standing. Is Toronto to stand, meanwhile, contented with the present mean, dirty, and unhealthy buildings, to her disgrace and shame? QUERIST.

Mr. Bantrose's Apology.

The question is, are not all those people really and unconsciously doing a great deal of harm? In pretending to laugh down myself, Cimbas Brown, the aesthetic ladies, and half a dozen more of my name, are they not in fact, though not in intention, trying their best to crush a genuine and important artistic movement in the land? So far as we ourselves are concerned, I am quite sure not one of us cares a single jot about it. We are prepared to laugh as heartily at the "Patience," to look at good-humoredly at Mr. Du Maurier's clever caricatures in Punch, and any illustration among them. Nay, more than that; the plays and the pictures are really meant for us to enjoy, and not for the "many-headed beast" which knows us from the same amusing burlesques. Mr. Du Maurier likes to draw a pathetic interior, so he draws my friend Brown's. Mr. Gilbert likes to fall in with a prevailing taste, so he puts me upon the stage in "Patience." It is useless to deny it, the man who designed the tragical dresses in reality scene Mr. Gilbert's melody, according to the playbill need not pretend that he is not one of us.

This is all good-natured chaff of a playfully kind; it hurts none of us in our personal susceptibilities; and if we alone, with a select body of friends, were permitted to see it by private-view ticket, no harm at all would be done in the long run. Of course if it were to go to a theatre and meet that the things we have been teaching him to admire are made the butt of some very coarse and unavailing association with the vulgarities of impossible ladies and gentlemen in ultra-classical or ultra-Romantic costumes, he naturally comes to the conclusion that the cultivated world only laughs at his "would-be" teachers. We have been trying to make him understand the place of the early Italian masters in the history of art, and now he finds that an admiration for Botticelli or Fra Angelico is apparently considered synonymous with a harmless form of extreme luxury. We have been trying to teach him that red, orange, and blue are not the best assorted colors for the interior decoration of his drawing-room; and that the persistent use of Mr. Morris's wall-papers may be considered a sign of mental derangement in an early edition. We have been impressing upon him the good points of oriental handicraft; and now he discovers that we were all along trying to dress him up in a blue coat bespangled with Japanese fans, and to crowd his mantelpiece with blue and white Indian Juggernauts. All this really tends to retard the progress of a salutary change, if not actually to turn the tide of public opinion.

A little ridicule outweighs months of preaching. I know myself that there are several excellent people who on my recommendation furnished their rooms as though they were meant for rational beings to live in, and bought a little good pottery and harness and other things, and were not ungrateful sorts to adorn them. But now, when they meet me they shake their heads, and say "that's a goodly lot of things you are getting dreadfully laughed at now-a-days. Go to see 'Patience,' eh? And when I go to their houses, and see the old Indian Juggernauts and Benares are pushed into a corner, while the great ornate monstrosities under a glass case is replaced by the articles of really pretty and useful value, which the wretchedly green handles are set up once more to mount guard over it, they say "that's a goodly lot of things you are getting dreadfully laughed at now-a-days. Go to see 'Patience,' eh? A POWERFUL WOOD KING.

HOW THE GOODERHAMS HAVE A MONOPOLY OF THE WOOD TRADE.

Would a Dollar Cheaper but for That Small Dealer Who Gets One—Intimidating Farmer—When the Bonus Went.

In order to ascertain more fully the truth of the statements which appeared in yesterday's paper, a reporter visited several other dealers who unanimously spoke in condemnation of the action of the directors of the Nipissing railway.

The first gentleman visited said: "I have been buying and dealing in wood since the road had started and during that time never knew a car to be billed to a private individual. It would only be for business for a man to buy along the line, because it would remain there until rotten. Mr. Bell had never brought a car down the road in his life. They all buy from Gooderham—its entirely controlled by them—they control all kinds of wood. If a dealer in the city doesn't keep up prices, he can't get any wood from Gooderham."

Mr. Spence occasionally buys wood from Mr. Gooderham. "I could buy in a great deal cheaper than the company is selling it for, if they'd give me cars. The company reserves the best wood for their friends; then small dealers must take the inferior quality at the same price or do without it. If they would furnish us cars we could bring wood down here and deliver a dollar a cord cheaper."

Mr. Walsh said: "I have not lately bought wood from Mr. Gooderham, but if the Nipissing railway would furnish me with cars I could sell wood $1 below the present price. I know a party that bought a quantity of wood along the line, but was compelled to turn it over to the company because he could not get cars."

Mr. Bell—"Mr. Gooderham advanced the price so high that there's nothing in it. When prices went up we went elsewhere to buy." Mr. Bell stated he had it from a reliable source that the company actually refused to ship the farmer's produce unless they (the farmer) in turn would sell their wood to the company.

Mr. Howard said if facility of transportation could be effected on the Nipissing railway he could supply his customers a dollar a cord cheaper.

Mr. Hutchinson's agent replied: "I understand that it is no use buying wood along the road, as cars cannot be secured for shipment; they are always in tip-top shape with grain or something else. Buyers were obliged to give it up. Mr. Gooderham wanted the whole thing in his own hands. He makes a profit on large quantities along the line and thereby takes it out of the hands of the dealers also."

The last gentleman who was called upon such a confounded nuisance that he would not bother with it.

ANN TOWHEE ACQUITTED.
Ann Towhee was placed on her trial yesterday for murdering her husband, Jeremiah. She was defended by Mr. T. D. Delaney, and was acquitted on the 5th of January instant, was found dead on the road. The only evidence which could in any way connect the present with the dead was that of Dr. Philbrick who said death had been caused by a fracture of the skull.

Dr. Riddell on the day of death, and at the time was not there either then or at the time of the inquest, or now. If it was a fracture it was caused either by want of skill in the use of the chisel in removing portions of the skull. Dr. Atkins too, did not think the fracture was made before death.

His lordship decided the jury to find a verdict of not guilty, which they did without leaving the box.

THE NEW YORK TIMES SPEAKING OF REMENY'S late concert, says: "The spectacle of so large a concert held all the evening by a single unaccompanied violinist, and several times fairly whirled into an excitement by the music, was an unique one in the annals of music here."

THE SQUIER INVESTIGATION.
Yesterday Chief Justice Wilson delivered judgment on the application for a writ of prohibition to restrain the commissioner, appointed by the Dominion government to enquire into the conduct of Judge Snyler, of the county of Huron, from acting. His lordship held that the commission was void, as there is no jurisdiction in any case to issue a commission to enquire into a judge's conduct. He held that the court of impeachment, which had been done away with by the local legislators, still existed, and that government had no power to repeal the act creating it. He held that the court was the proper tribunal before which to ventilate charges against a county judge. He presumed there would be no necessity to issue a writ of prohibition as the commissioner would discontinue proceedings on the hearing of the judgment. Mr. McCarthy, C. C. appeared for the judge, and Mr. C. Robinson, Q. C., for the Dominion government.

HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN.
A meeting in connection with the above institution was held in the hospital on Elizabeth street yesterday afternoon. Mr. S. H. Blake, presiding. A large number of ladies were present. The opening services were conducted by Archbishop Bodley, after which the annual report was read by Mr. Blake, which showed that during the past year the total number of children treated amounted to 62, 38 of whom left cured. It benefited by their stay, but not completely cured, and 2 died. To do this an expenditure of $5,541.80 had been incurred. The year was commenced with a debit of $241.45, but this was paid off in a few weeks. The financial report showed receipts from all sources including government and city grants, to have reached a total of $3613.25, the average expenditure being about $75 per week. Short addresses were delivered by Mr. Blake, The Rev. Messrs. Parsons and McLeod and Mayor McMurich. The meeting was brought to a termination by a hymn and a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Green.

It may be mentioned that this is the only institution of the kind in Toronto that does not send canvassers out but relies solely for its support on voluntary contributions.

THE FAPER TOWNS.
Part News News: "The World has played safe and have among the paper town speculators in Toronto. These owners of the paper towns are getting into a panic. There is no question that the policy adopted by the World has prevailed. A much larger number being taken in. It placed a damper on reckless speculation."

BRIEF LOCALS.

Furs are once more at a discount. A few immigrants arrived by the Grand Trunk yesterday.

Mother's should not fail to call and see Jamieson's celebrated children's suits. An efficient member of the Toronto detective force describes the city pawn-brokers' shops as "a market for thieves."

Mr. Robert Norman is now managing the lunch rooms at the "Bodega" and as he has a stake in the business everything is in first shape.

THE RAILWAY GOBBLE.

The Grand Trunk and the Syndicate to Take Everything.

(From the Illustrated (Muskego) Forester.)
A. P. Cookburn, M. P., addressed the sleight of Muskego some days ago. He had before starting on his tour gleaned information from reliable sources about the prospects of early railway communication through the district. The Sault Ste. Marie railway was under the control of the Grand Trunk, and that line would get the government bonus $8000 per mile, and the rest of the money needed to build the road would be furnished by the Grand Trunk. The extension to the Northern, which would be the Northern, Northern, and the rest of the money needed to build the road would be furnished by the Grand Trunk, and that line would get the government bonus $8000 per mile, and the rest of the money needed to build the road would be furnished by the Grand Trunk.
