Special Despatch to The World.
OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—As I write the polit-rumors. Twenty-four hours ago no one believed but that Sir John Macdonald was as strongly entrenched in his position as first was and yet within a few hours there is just a possibility that the present adminis tration will be overthrown. Since the an-novincement that the C. P. R. resolutions would be introduced, the Quebec members and representative men from that province have been urging better terms for Quebec. No one believed but that the demands would be conceded, but for once in his life

As the debate progressed and the time when the division would become inevitable drew near, the excitement among the Quebec members increased. ZYMOTIC DISEASES.

Dr. Bryce at the Canadian Institute Last The lecture delivered by Dr. Bryce in the library of the Canadian institute last evening on Zymotic Diseases, Where They are and Why, brought out a large audience, who evinced deep interest in the remarks of the lecturer and the various illustrations given of the subject. The chair was occupied by Principal Buchan of Upper Canada college, president of the institute. The lecturer defined the term zymotic as preventible diseases, endemics or epidemics, zyme meaning a fermentation in the blood caused by microscopic organisms called bacteria. In man instances it is difficult to determine th bacteria, but those which cause smallpox cholera, etc., have been clearly determined. The results of extended experiments made on the number and nature of bacteria in the air, which prove that their number depend upon the relations of heat and moisture, and the localities where found. Statistics were given showing the increase in the number of deaths from such diseases in Paris was caused by the prevalence of bacteria in the air. Facts obtained from a Paris was caused by the prevalence of bacteria in the air. Facts obtained from a close study of diseases reported to the provincial board of health last year show that in almost every case zymotic diseases are most prevalent in the more thickly populated districts, and during the winter season. The records of the foundling hospitals in Outcome how and that where interest were in Ontario showed that where infants were crowded and not nursed by mothers the crowded and not nursed by mothers the mortality per annum was 80 per cent., and where there was plenty of room and natural nursing the mortality was not more than 11. Many other instances were given of typhoid fever and diphtheria being caused by impure drinking water, and how greatly germs of all diseases were increased during winter in habitations where the air was not kept fresh and pure. was not kept fresh and pure.

THE OPPOSITION'S MOTION OF CEN-SURE VOTED DOWN.

LONDON, Feb. 19 .- The debate upon Sir Stafford Northcote's motion censuring the overnment was resumed to-day in the Ellis Bartlett (conservative) spoke in fa vor of the motion. He said that the government by allowing the destruction of deneral Hicks' army had brought about the present situation in the Soudan, and thereby earned the execration of the world.

Thomas Power O'Connor (radical) also supported the motion. Joseph Cowen (radical reformer) said the government knew perfectly well that the mongrel machine set up to govern Egypt would not work. Their blundering policy had created ruin. They were responsible for the fact that the Soudan had been given up to Mahdi and the slave dealers.

Soudan had been given up to make the slave dealers.

Sir Stafford Northcote said the present government had spoiled the late government's Egyptian policy. (Roars of laughter.) The government had not answered the charge of inconsistency and vacillation, and a division on his motion would not settle the question.

A division was then taken on the motion, which was defeated by a vote of 311 to 262. Northcote will take the usual course of resigning his seat and offering himself for re-election.

A jaded and wretched looking street car horse came into the sanctum yesterday even-ing and gave the Khan the following verses with a humble request that they be published to-day. The poor fellow appeared very un nappy and looked enviously at Shep, our own little poney, who was complacently eating his evening meal of chop stuff and oats outside, while the attentive Fred was industric rubbing him down.

University Consolidation. Mr. Mulock, vice-chancellor of the university of Toronto, on Friday last at a meeting of convocation, publicly stated that negotiations with the authorities of Victoria university had proceeded so far as to give ground for expecting a successful and satisfactory issue to what is known as the university question. Several speakers at the dinner on Friday evening hinted at something of the same sort, though of course in very guarded terms. It will not therefore be amiss to describe the present position of matters with mo detail than has hitherto been given to the It should be premised that the proposals which have been under consideration are such as to do credit to both parties to the negotiations, and that while they contemplate a certain amount of compromise on both sides they involve no surrender of break down the parties who are now honestly attempting a fair solution of a vexed question will be able at least to part company with respect for each other as men of

An indispensable condition of such a solution would be the removal of Victoria college to Toronto, but as it ought to be removed in any event, the loss to Cobourg and the abandonment of the college buildings can hardly be charged to the consoli dation scheme. The methodist church of Canada is now a powerful and wealthy body, and in no one spot are they so powerful or so wealthy as in this city. The cost of removal and of putting Victoria college in mere comfortable quarters here tem has withstood the severest business to their clerks, unless there was party, or to their clerks, unless there was party, or to their clerks, unless there was college in mere comfortable quarters here tem has withstood the severest business would be a great gain to the community; Toronto alone without the burden being very severely felt. It is needless to dwell on the desirability of such a change from the point in view of both professors and students, to say nothing of the greatly enhanced prestige of the church. tions, and at least a partial consolidation of the two teaching staffs. The last could be effected easily by means of an extension fully adjusted so as to guard all interests,

Of course Victoria college would have to be placed in a position to derive some tanto be respected. And it is needless to say that the scheme must be of such a nature as not to call for a renewal of denominational grants out of the public treasury. versity college still more completely from Toronto university; make the latter the principal teaching body, by attaching to it the chief college chairs now in existence and adding new ones; fill the new chairs by making some of the professors of Victoria professors of the university of Toronto; make the functions of both Victoria college and University college more exclusively tutorial than they are at present, and grant to the students of each college alike access to the university lectures. Under such a system the university lectures in Toronto would be to some extent analagous to the university lectures, as distinguished from the college lectures, now delivered in Oxford and Cambridge.

Though the scheme thus outlined must in the first instance be the result of negotiations between the authorities of the university of Toronto and those of Victoria college, the plan will have to be made general if adopted at all, so that all other deminations, as well as the methodists, it. Should the authorities of Trinity college, for instance, be disposed to avail themselves of the incidental advantages of a great university system they might come in and partake of its benefits on exactly the same terms as Victoria. In some such any chance of being overlooked in a way as this can we have a really great crowd. university, and in no other, and if somein this most important matter, we shall see nment is expected to rise from $174,521 to $178,897; of legislation from $102,350 to $110,350; of the administration of justice from $293,901 to $299,000; of educa tion from $512,833 to $518,496; of public institutions from $573,711 to $594,754; of agriculture and arts from $147,103 to $150,290; of hospitals and charities from $81,500 to $92,869; of maintenance and repairs of government buildings from $34,-40 to $38,090. The charges on crown lands remain at the old figure, $79,400. Miscellaneous expenditure is to be cut down from $93,000 to $53,000, and immigration from $39,000 to $31,000.

On the whole there is an increase of nearly $15,000 in the estimated current expenditure of this year over last, not a very great amount, but enough in some items like public institutions and charities to cause a growing feeling of uneasiness. It happens that this year the increase under these heads can be offset with a reduction of miscellaneous expenditure, but while the latter is unsteady, the expenditure on public institutions and charities is continuously increasing. In a few years the result will be sufficient to alarm even the Public Accounts for 1883. The total expenditure for 1883 shows eduction, compared with 1882 of $33,000, the amounts being $2,920,161 and $2,887,-037 respectively. No distinction is made in the statements of either receipts or expenditures between capital and ordinary amounts, sums paid in aid of railways being now treated as an ordinary annual expendi ture. Deducting from both sides of the statement the sum of a million and a half withdrawn from the banks for investment, the receipts amounted to $2,443,110, and the expenditure to $2,887,037, leaving a deicit on the year's operations. If the sums paid in aid of railways are deducted as capital expenditure the total will be reduced to $2,629,000 and the deficit from $440,000 to $150,000. Even the latter sum is too large and unless some means is found of keeping expenditures of all kinds within income the surplus must gradually

The Benefits of Co-Operation. Oldham, England, a city of 120,000 in habitants, turnishes probably the most uccessful example of the advantages of co operation ever tried. It contains seventy five joint stock spinning mills, several stores and building societies, and the whole aggregate capital amounts to $42,000,000, all managed by corporations. The stock, however, is owned by the operatives, who might easily be borne by the methodists of depression during the hard times of a few years ago and has par phases of the experimental stage to assured success. Wages are high and the general comfort of the operatives has created a self-respect, thrift and morality that is in marked contrast with the condition A second condition of the consolidation of Victoria with Toronto university would be the abandonment by the former of its university powers in arts, the recognition of her graduates and undergraduates ad eundem statum by the provincial institutions and adjacent and discomfort are the lot of those whose and liquid in one town or village has gone back again to the old state, and that there is no agitation and no feeling among the people in favor of a return to the mixed sale of groceries and discomfort are the lot of those whose

The Mark of the Governor. The English papers announce that Lord Lansdowne, governor-general of Canada, has been made a knight grand cross of the order of St. Michael and St. George. No doubt much of the effect of his presence was lost owing to the absence of any glittoring insignia on his vice-regal breast. This was painfully noticeable on the occasion of his visit to Toronto. When dressed in plain evening clothes his excellency more than once accosted people who did not at the first glance recognize him. Grocers' Licenses.

To the Editor of The World. Some people seem to imagine that the change resulting from separating the sale of liquor from the sale of groceries is going to throw clerks out of employment, and put certain grocers to great loss in getting rid of their stocks of liquor, and ases of premises. Perhaps there are few localities in the city situated very much different from the neighborhood of Church street and Wilton avenue. Here are two licensed groceries, directly opposite each other. Now what more easy than for the two to agree as to which shall continue the liquor trade, and which establish a firstclass grocery. Then a transfer could be made of groceries to the one store and of liquors to the other, and the liquor and of liquors to the other, and the liquors storekeeper could then well afford to pay double the ordinary license fee—in other words, pay as much to the license fund as both stores have hitherto paid.

words, pay as much to the tendes to both stores have hitherto paid.

Now, let me ask, would not this be a much better arrangement for the accommodation of the residents in that vicinity? We who use groceries without liquor should have a larger and fresher stock of groceries to select from, and our neighbors who want liquor by the bottle could get it all the same, by going for it or by ordering it, and have a larger and finer stock to select from. The liquor store could be inspected and regulated, as hotels are, and we could send our children to the grocery store without having all the beauties of sherry, gin, brandy, &c., set forth on all sides of gin, brandy, &c., set forth on all sides of them while they wait for the sugar and oatmeal to be wrapped up.

If such an arrangement were come to between every two adjacent licensed groceries the result would be (1) no loss to either (3) a better grocery store; (4) only half so their inspection and control a much easier matter than now; and (5) just as much accommodation to the public and just as much profit to the city from its share of ich profit to the city

Vote Against! And Why-An Appeal to the

nent bearing upon the ques-The list of deaths which the abuse of liquor occasions; the long muster roll of pauperism kept up year by year through the continued use of intoxicating liquors; the committals for crime bearing a constant proportion to the manufacture of, and facilities for, obtaining liquor; the filling of our lunatic asylums with inmates rendered insane by the use of intoxicating rendered insane by the use of intoxicating drinks; these and many other fearful items of a similar character, although they are of a nature to harrow the soul, are facts, the beginning and end of the question, without reference to statistics. There is little occasion therefore for me to attempt any array of figures to prove that 75 per cent. of the crimes committed have their origin in drink, or that 20 per cent. of the inmates of the lunatic asylums are made lunatics by the use and abuse of intoxicating liquors.

Evidence has been adduced over and over again which might well settle the question, and opposed to which certainly I find no particle of contradictory evidence from the opponents of our cause. In fact all the arguments of the liquor-selling grocers and liquor dealers appear to be summed up in this; the traffic is so profitable that we cannot afford to give it up, and and while the stuff we sell may and does kill the many, it aggrandizes, with much the many, it aggrandizes, with much wealth, us—the few.

The Queen Street Subway. The Parkdale subway question came up before the legislative railway committee yesterday in the shape of a bill to compel yesterday in the shape of a bill to compete Toronto to pay part of the cost. Both municipalities were well represented. Ald. Turner defended the city in an able manner, showing how manifestly unfair it would be to make Toronto pay for Parkdale's error in judgment. Ex-Reeve Hamilton pointed out that Toronto ought to pay for it on account of the benefits it would derive. The objectionable clause in the bill was thrown out, and the Toronto the bill was thrown out, and the Toronta deputation retired triumphant.

the many, it aggrandizes, with much wealth, us—the few.

We cannot too much bear in mind that we who are opposed to these liquor-selling grocers and liquor dealers should be all united; that we have a common interest, a common cause, not only in this city but in every part of the country, and in all countries, and as our cause is universal so should be the exertions we make to further it. This is what the cause requires of you, citizens of Toronto. It is not a degradation but a privilege to work for it. After all it is not a toil but the enjoyment of a right, and it is assuredly a duty.

Nor am I afraid or ashamed to call for woman's sympathy and woman's help in this cause, assured that she will honor herself much more by contributing her aid and influence towards the destruction of the causes of misery which liquor selling through the grocers produces in her home, than by merely aiding the societies which here and there pull a leaf or a twig from the poison tree, but leave it still to send forth its bashful odors and scatter death and destruction over the social soil of our fair country.
