Why Canada must borrow money to carry on

Because Canada has put her hand to the plow and will not turn back:—

—our country is in the war on the side of liberty and justice and will stay in it till complete victory is won and the unspeakable Hun is smashed and beaten to the ground;

—a nation at war must make tremendous expenditures in cash to keep up her armies and supply them with munitions, food and clothing;

—Canada must finance many millions of dollars of export trade in food, munitions and supplies which Britain and our allies must have on credit;

—for these purposes Canada must borrow hundreds of millions of dollars—

And, this money must be borrowed from the people of Canada:—

Therefore, Canada will presently come to her people for a new Victory Loan to carry on.

* * *

Canadians will loan the money by again buying Victory Bonds.

The national safety, the national honor and the national well-being require that each and every Canadian shall do his duty by lending to the nation every cent he can spare for this purpose.

Be ready when the call comes to see your country through in its great war work

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada

ANOTHER LETTER FROM THE FRONT.

Pte. Cecil Lloyd Writes an Interesting Letter to His Mother, Mrs. J. E. Lloyd, Granville Street.

France, Sept. 9th, 1918.

MY DEAR MOTHER:—Since last letter I have been over the jumps in good shape and have seen modern warfare at its best, or worst or worse as the case may be. It's impossible for me to go into any details trying to describe what it means "to go over the top"—It's a thing that has to be lived, as words do not begin to cover same or give any definite idea as to what takes place. However, I managed fine, got through with the best of luck and can now class myself as an experienced soldier. Thought there would be some new strange sensation connected with the first experience, in fact could hardly form any idea of exactly how I would act or what I would do when it came down to the final. But in expecting something new in the line of thrills or sensation I was disappointed. Really it did not bother me one iota more than taking a trip out fishing or something very ordinary of a similar nature. It's magnificent and grand, the biggest show ever staged, and apart from some little excitement, I can't say but I almost enjoyed myself. I saw of course, some very gruesome sights and had lots of friends and acquaintances knocked out or wounded, but that is all in the day's work. I had some very narrow escapes before in my life so guess that is why I remained cool and pretty much collected during those shows. I also find I have lots of confidence and that in itself is a great asset. Those who are afraid and nervous, trying to dodge hither and thither are invariably the ones who get bit, funny thing, but absolutely true, peculiar thing, if one has the idea he is going to be hit it happens in all cases. This seems to be a rule without exception. Its almost wonderful to look back after it is all over and try and figure out how one came through as at times the shells, bullets and all sorts of missiles are like rain itself. Its hard work, though, to have to carry a great deal of ammunition and other paraphernalia. Heavens knows how much it all weighs, besides being extremely awkward. In this kind of warfare we cover a lot of ground in the course of one day and that load does get heavy. We had hot days and sometimes I was nearly on the point of dropping but am glad to say I went through with the best of them. After we came out of the lines we were used the very best in the army. Lots to eat, that's the main point. Nothing else matters much if the inner man is well nourished and supplied. It's a true saying, "An army fights on its stomach." I noticed, however, in my case, and the others as well, after the first day or so there comes a sort of reaction when for a short time one feels awfully tired and wretched. I expect one is unconsciously kept up to quite a pitch while actively engaged in the line and of course its natural for a reaction to set in, but not for long with this bunch from good old Canada. A good bath and change of clothes, three good meals and one good sleep and we are all to the merry once again. We have a splendid bunch of officers, and to tell the truth, I am in with one of the best, if not the best Battalions in France to-day. That is saying quite a lot for you see from the newspapers how Canadians rank with other fighting units over here and our Batt. stands very high with the other Canadian Battalions. Needless for me to tell you of the grand success of the Canadian Army as you have read all that long ago. We are very comfortable here, enjoying our rest. Just imagine two fireplaces in the hut I am living in. We will have quite a rest well behind the lines in a nice old town. Will parade a few hours each morning to keep in condition and play baseball in the afternoons. Will eat lots, sleep lots and have a real nice time of it. Will write again in a few days. Hope this finds you all well. With love to the four left at home. Your affectionate son, CECIL.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM FRANCE

More Particulars About the Death of The Late Sgt. G. A. Jackson.

Dear Mrs. Jackson: By this time you have heard that our battalion has gain been in action and that your heroic and noble husband laid down his life for the Great Principle for which we are all fighting. It was on the morning of September 1st, that my platoon (of which he was 2nd in command) took over a lone out post position. Within an hour of making the relief the Bosch attacked the post and during the fight your husband was hit by a bullet in the head. Immediate first aid was rendered him, but he never regained consciousness.

I regret that we had to suffer such casualties and it always seems that the best of our boys have to go. Your husband was every inch a soldier, a splendid disciplinarian and most courageous. His splendid manhood was always a forceful inspiration to his comrades, who loved him dearly and admired his manly disposition and character.

As his platoon commander, I mourn his loss keenly, we were such firm friends and I relied on him always. I extend to you my sincerest sympathy and that of what remains of our boys. We shall miss him, but please remember, we shall never forget him. He did his duty magnificently as he always did and his spirit has become incarnated in us.

We buried him in a peaceful little cemetery at "Vis-en-Artois," with his fallen comrades and a suitable cross marks his grave.

His personal kit was looked after by the battalion and sent to the Records Office, London.

He had a testament, some snaps and some French money in his pockets. These, I am sending you by Registered mail.

Again let me say I sympathize with you in your great sorrow, I am sincerely yours.

J. A. MacKINNON, Lt. Sept. 9, 1918. (the same address)

[Since this note was written, Lt. J. A. MacKinnon has paid the supreme sacrifice.]

REV. JAMES R. HART DEAD.

Funeral Held at Yarmouth Friday on Arrival of D. A. R. Express.

YARMOUTH, October 12—The funeral took place after the arrival of the D. A. R. express Friday, afternoon of Rev. James R. Hart, who died at his home at Granville Ferry, of pneumonia, aged about eighty years. The deceased retired from active ministerial work early in the eighties, and since 1889 has been a resident of Granville Ferry. He first entered the ministry in 1860, as a probationer. In 1864, when Pastor of Providence church, Yarmouth, he was ordained, and during his sojourn in Yarmouth at that time, wedded Miss Emeline, daughter of the late Captain William Robertson, senior. After leaving Yarmouth he had charge of many pastorates throughout the province, and is very kindly remembered by many of the older Methodists of Nova Scotia. After his retirement he took a deep interest in municipal affairs, and was for a term of years treasurer for the municipality in which he resided. He also kept well along with the work of his church, and was always found willing to help in any matter that would lead to its advancement. He is survived by his widow, one son and two daughters; also one brother, Rev. Thomas Hart, of Sackville.

Recall the Retired Garments (From the Haverhill Gazette.) You may have no skeleton in your closet, but if you are a man, we will wager that you have a coat and vest or several hanging in there. And they have been there ever since you wore out the trousers and you shelved them because fashion was decreed that trousers, coat and vest be of the same cloth. Now, however, the wool division of the War Industries Board wants us to stretch wool as far as it will go. We are not to waste any. Wool, like food and bullets, will win the war. Wear that vest and coat, not, of course, trouserless, but with any color or pattern. In the days of our forefathers, grandpa wore a coat until it wore out and usually it outlasted several pairs of trousers of different colors. Call out the reserves—the extra, surplus coats and vests in your trunk and attic or closet. Recruit a pair of trousers—any color—and march on to victory.

Huge Exports from this Continent For the year ending July 1st, 1919, the Allies look to the American continent for 17,550,000 tons of meats, fats, sugar, feed grain and bread stuffs. This means 5,730,000 tons more than was shipped in the year ending July 1st, 1918, and the surplus alone is 197,000 tons greater than the entire shipments based upon the average for the three years before the war. Conservation and production are absolutely essential in Canada.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained weight and feeling, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELNE B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms of nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment. Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

Some Puzzlers

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?
Or a key for a lock of his hair?
Can his eyes be called an academy?
Because there are pupils there?
In the crown of his head, what gems are set?
Who travels the bridge of his nose?
Can he use, while slating the roof of his mouth,
The nails on the ends of his toes?
And who tells the cut and style of the coat his stomach wears?
Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail?
If so, what did it do?
And how does he sharpen his shoulder blades?
I'm hanged if I know—do you?

Thrifting, Are You?
(By Edmund Vance Cook.)
We think we are thrifting,
But maybe we're drifting
And the coin that we clink is not saving but shifting,
For seemingly spending,
Goes on without ending,
And heedlessness still is the tend of our trending.

In gleaming my meaning,
You'll find gasolining,
Is still used for dusting instead of for cleaning;
And most of us batten
On fine fare and fatten,
While robbing our softness in purple and satin.

Oh, maybe your guilty and maybe you're not,
But ask: "Have I thrifted as much as I ought?"

Our thrifting is feckle,
It runs in a trickle,
We pickle a nickel to give us a tickle,
Then ride on the trolleys
To go to the Follies
And hand ourselves thanks and a couple of jollies.

Man still goes on puffing,
Imbibing and stuffing,
And holding enough yet without "Hold! enough!" ing,
While woman still poses,
And shows us her hoses,
All silken and sheer to excuse her disclosures.

At the end of the day, if you're feeling too good,
Ask this: "Have I thrifted as much as I should?"

We are glad Mr. F. W. Ward is able to be about after his long illness, resulting from a fall. A great deal of credit is due Miss Ruth Ward, who, with the kindly help of neighbours, has managed all the farm and harvest work during her father's illness.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make This Beauty Lotion Cheaply for Your Face, Neck, Arms and Hands

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.
Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

The Battles of the Past Six Months

In a review of the battles in France during the past six months, the Havas agency credits to the American troops the re-establishment of the balance on the western front and points out the entire change that has taken place in the last two months.
"In the last two months alone," it says, "the Allies took 185,000 prisoners. The losses in men who will never be able to return to the ranks are estimated at 600,000, a gap which the 1920 class will not suffice to fill.

Quite Another Chap

A rookie was reading an article about the Kaiser which compared him with Nero. "Who was Nero, Bill?" he asked of a fellow rookie.
"Wasn't he a man that was always cold?"
"Naw," was the reply, "that was zero, another guy altogether."

Top Row (reading from right to left)—Sir George Bury, Vice-President, Canadian Pacific Railway; Geo. K. Wark, Vice-President, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; F. F. Backus, General Manager, Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway; H. Shearer, Michigan Central Railroad; J. M. Mein, Deputy President, Order of Railroad Telegraphers; S. R. Bottom Row (reading from right to left)—S. N. Berry, Vice-President, Order of Railway Conductors; Ash Kennedy, Asst. Grand Chief, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; D. B. Hanna, Third Vice-President, Canadian Northern Railway; Major G. A. Bell, Acting Deputy Minister, Railways and Canals; J. H. Walsh, General Manager, Quebec Central Railway; James Murdoch, Vice-President, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Work for four years with which all Canadian Railways are operated nowadays, strove to avoid only brief and local interruptions compared to the choked transportation of neighboring countries, to be cited in those foreign countries as an example of competent long-distance operation—and then to be blocked or hampered by labor trouble! This was the anti-climax which the Canadian Railway War Board, under the application in Canada of the McAdoo Scale of Wages, as well as any other controversies that may arise between the workers and their officers.

In the picture there are shown not only the senior executives of some of the most powerful labor organizations in the world, but an equal number of great railroad managers, including Sir George Bury, the expert operating Vice-President of the C. P. R., whose report on the railroads of Russia brought him knight-hood. The picture was taken in the Canadian Railway War Board offices after Labor Board of Canada, which will handle in future all railway labor troubles and will adjust the McAdoo scale of wages to Canada's 147,000 railway employees.

end pain, prevent festering and heal. This is why those who have once used Zam-Buk will never use any other ointment.
Miss Viola Hubley, of Upper Goshen, N.B., writes: "My sister had like boils and then discharged. She suffered such intense pain that she could not wear her shoes and had to remain in the house. We commenced using Zam-Buk and the sores soon disappeared. Then the sores stopped discharging and before long the places were entirely healed over. We shall never be without Zam-Buk again."
For eczema, blood-poisoning and piles, cuts and burns Zam-Buk is equally good. All dealers, 50c box.

Down With Strikes

The Ottawa Journal Press, under the caption, "Down with Strikes," discusses labor unrest in war times as follows:

Strikes are not often excusable until all possible negotiation and discussion have been exhausted—not even in times of peace.

In times of war strikes are almost inexcusable in any class of employment and utterly and absolutely inexcusable in any employ connected with war work until after a Board of Conciliation has acted as provided by law.

Don't let us be told that to strike is a sacred right of labor. Nobody has sacred rights these days. Our men are being conscripted. They have no rights to their own bodies in this regard.

Our hotels and households are being required not to use certain foods at certain times. None of us have rights to choose our own eating.

Our business men are being heavily taxed on their profits beyond a certain point. They have no rights to make money as they used to.

Our politicians are being compelled to unite with each other. They have lost the right to be partisans.

The war has demanded sacrifices of its rights by everybody. Labor is no exception.

All honor to the union men of Woolwich Arsenal, who sent that splendid message to Coventry munition workers:

"Strike and you will earn the blessings of the Kaiser and his army of murderers—Strike and you may go to hell. Woolwich will remain at work."

Egg Laying Contest in Prince Edward Island

Prince Edward Island is going to produce more eggs to the square foot any other province in the Dominion. Already eggs are one of the big exports and the Island is bound to make it bigger.

To further this patriotic ambition an egg laying contest is being staged at the Experimental Farm, Charlottetown. It is conducted by the Experimental Farm System Poultry Division. It starts November the 1st and will continue for eleven months.

The contest will be open to birds from any where in America but accommodation is made for only 20 pens of eight birds or 160 birds in all. The first twenty applications will be the ones accepted.

There will be two classes, Class No. 1, Light Breeds and Class No. 2, Heavy Breeds.

Full information including rules and regulations, applications, forms, etc., may be secured by applying to Superintendent, Experimental Farm, Charlottetown, where the contest is being held or to the Dominion Poultry Husbandman, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

A Large and Appreciative Audience.

A Canadian soldier in the region of Vimy Ridge, met a swanking English officer, whom, according to good Canadian custom, he did not salute. The officer stopped him.

"Look here, my man," he said, "don't you know I'm an officer? Why don't you salute?"

"Oh," said the Canadian, "are you an officer?"

"Yes," replied the officer, and then noticing for the first time that the man was a Canadian, he added with annoyance, "Oh, you're a Canadian aren't you? Well, do you know that you Canadians give us more trouble than the whole rest of the English army put together?"

"Yes," replied the Canadian with a slow smile. "That's what Fritz thinks, too."

Appointed Chief Engineer

M. J. M. R. FAIRBAIN has been appointed chief engineer of the C. P. R. system replacing Mr. J. G. Sullivan, chief engineer, who is retiring to enter private practice. The announcement is by special circular issued by Sir George Bury, Vice-President, and approved by Lord St. Laurent, the President.

J. M. R. FAIRBAIN.

Following a short private practice in British Columbia, Mr. Fairbain joined the Canadian Pacific Railway in June, 1912, in the Engineering Department and became Assistant Engineer at Montreal, August, 1911, and Resident Engineer at Ottawa 12 months later. After three years in the Ottawa Division, he returned to Montreal as Division Engineer, and was transferred to Toronto some months later, from which place he returned to Montreal in November, 1917, in a similar capacity. It was in October, 1918, that Mr. Fairbain was made Principal Assistant at Montreal, two years later being promoted to Engineer of Maintenance of Way, and in June, 1911, was made Chief Engineer of Eastern Lines, a position he occupied up to the time of his present promotion, which is the highest railway position attainable.

Next Summer's Hog Pasture.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

It is not too early to plan for next summer's hog-pasture. Present and probable feed conditions force the swine feeder to consider home-grown foods. Pasture crops are economical at any time, nowadays doubly so. Dry sows may be maintained with very little, if any, grain on clover or rape pasture.

The same may form the greater part of the in-pig sow's summer ration. The latter should, however, be fed once daily with a few pounds of a light meal mixture, bran, shorts, ground oats, elevator screenings (Standard Stock Food), etc. The growing pig, after twelve weeks of age, will consume pasturage economically, and maximum rapidity of gains may be expected with pasture and either the hand or self-feeding system. The self-feeder-pasture plan has proved entirely satisfactory on the Experimental Farms system and upon hundreds of private farms during the past summer. Labour and feed have been saved. Green food has replaced much grain, and hogs finished for market in less time.

For general recommendation, possibly clover comes first. With a self-feeder, thirty-five or forty-five or three-months-old pigs per acre will be required to keep down the growth in a normal year. As the pigs grow they may be removed so that the pasture may not suffer, depending on the season.

Alfalfa, where it may be grown successfully, is equal, if not superior, to clover. It affords very early pasture and is particularly useful for the early litters.

Where no provision has been made for either of the foregoing leguminous crops, fall rye heavily seeded this fall will supply an excellent pasture next spring, available possible the earliest of all. After it has been pastured off the land is still available for a second crop next year of, say, turnips, or a later seeding of rape.

A heavy seeding of barley, to be pastured when six inches high, has given excellent satisfaction at Ottawa. Enough pigs should be placed on such pasture to keep it pretty well grazed at first, depending upon the season.

For general utility, rape is to be highly recommended. A crop of rape, ready for pasture after the clover paddock has been fairly well cleaned off, supplies a change of food at a time when the pig can economically use this crop and gives the clover aftermath a chance to grow for later pasture. There is no better commercial hog pasture combination for eastern Canada than clover and rape. Under normal condition it will carry more pigs for a greater period and prove more palatable than possibly any other.

Many factors influence the hog-carrying powers of various pastures. Where a self-feeder is used and the pigs are from ten to twelve weeks old, do not be afraid of over-pasturing for a while at least, pasturing with rape. More grazing will be obtained from any pasture crop where it is kept down during the first few weeks of pasturing. Later the feeder's own judgment will indicate whether or not pigs should be removed. Hard and fast rules are difficult to frame and unlikely to apply in many cases.

LIKE AN ELECTRIC BUTTON ON TOES

Tells Why a Corn is so Painful and Says Cutting Makes Them Grow

Press an electric button and you form a contact with a live wire which rings the bell. When your shoes press against your corn, it pushes its sharp roots down upon a sensitive nerve and you get a shock of pain.

Instead of trimming your corns, which merely makes them grow, just step into any drug store and ask for a quarter of an ounce of freezone. This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn stops the soreness instantly, and soon the corn shrivels up so it lifts right out, root and all, without pain. This drug freezone, is harmless and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin.

The Value of Advertising

In the first issue of the new Daily News, of Lunenburg, with which is now combined the former Malagash News, appears a good letter from J. Troop McClelland, formerly of Deep Brook, N. S., who has built up a good business in Lunenburg and among other things says:

"A good newspaper is a mighty asset toward the making of a good town, and judicious advertising from day to day, and from week to week, in a paper of any town is a mighty factor toward bringing about a perfect understanding, between dealer and consumer of food stuff." The new Daily News is under the editorship of F. R. Moorhead.

NO ARMISTICE

President Wilson answered Germany's peace proffer with a note declaring an armistice that there can be no peace with a German government controlled by a military autocracy.

By the fury with which an attack was launched on the German line in Flanders, it is evident that the fighting armies are not paying the slightest attention to the "peace talk."

Of course you are! Then why not express your gratitude by a generous thank offering to the Red Cross at this Thanksgiving season.

Any time this week please hand your Thankoffering to the President, Mrs. O. T. Daniels; treasurer, Mrs. R. R. Duncan, or secretary, Miss Mary S. Jost.

LOOK!

If you were told of a new discovery for the treatment of coughs, colds and bronchitis, as certain in its action on all chest troubles as anti-toxin is on diphtheria, or vaccination on small-pox, wouldn't you feel like giving it a trial?

Peps is the discovery!
Peps are little tablets, containing certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are at once breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs. In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and at once commence their work of healing.

FREE TRIAL Cut out this article, write across it the name and date of this paper, and mail it (with 1c. stamp to pay return postage) to Peps Co., Toronto. A free trial packet will then be sent you. All druggists and stores sell Peps, 50c. box.

The Storage of Potatoes.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The losses from storage of potatoes are of far greater economic importance than is generally realized. These losses are brought about by a variety of factors which may be grouped in three divisions, e. g. Physical, Mechanical and Pathological.

The chief loss from physical factors is brought about by the storage of immature stock. Potatoes that are to be stored should be thoroughly ripe, that is, the stalks should be dead, and the tubers should adhere firmly to the stems. Potatoes may have their stalks prematurely killed so as to resemble a natural death by being attacked by late or early blight, rhizoctonia, the flea beetle or potato bug, but upon examination the tubers under such plants will be found immature and unfit for best storage results. Frost bitten and sun-burned tubers, also come in this division.

The mechanical factors that bring about loss in storage are chiefly brought about by a careless handling of the crop at harvest time, such as broken, cracked or chipped tubers due to improper digging and rough usage in gathering the crop. The slightest injury to the skin of the potato lays it open to invasion o myriads of decay producing spores, which, when given the proper conditions will rapidly spread decay through the entire lot.

Under the pathological factors come the tubers affected by disease. Undoubtedly the late blight (Phytophthora infestans) is the most common, as well as the most destructive. Tubers affected by this disease are almost certain to decay in storage; nor is this decay confined to the diseased tubers, but spreads rapidly to the healthy ones, unless preventive measures are employed, and perfect storage provided.

The decay of potatoes in storage may be caused by a number of organisms, while each organism may have its own particular form of attack; still it is gratifying to know that the remedial measures are the same in each case.

The following suggestions regarding the storage of potatoes, if followed carefully, will practically eliminate the losses from decay of potatoes in storage.

1. Spray your potatoes frequently and carefully during the summer with Bordeaux mixture.
2. Delay digging your potatoes, if possible, until the tops are dead and dry.
3. Avoid covering potatoes, after they are dug, with the tops, to protect them from sun or frost.
4. Carefully examine all potatoes to be stored, and remove immature, broken, cracked, clipped, sun-bitten, frost-bitten or diseased tubers.
5. Never store your potatoes while wet.
6. Have the tubers free from dirt. If dirty, the soil fills up the spaces between the tubers and prevents the circulation of air.
7. Provide a dry cellar with abundant ventilation, where the temperature can be between 34 and 40 F.
8. Keeping the storage room as cool as possible directly after the production is storage.
9. Fill your bins gradually; by so doing, the potatoes that are put in first have lost their heat before they are covered by another layer.
10. Carefully sort your stored potatoes at intervals during storage, and remove all tubers showing signs of disease or decay.

The Result of a Comma

The husband of one of the local church-goers had set out on a sea voyage, and the wife wrote and requested the parson to conduct a prayer for his safety during the services. What she intended to be read out was this: "Mr. Sparkes having gone to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation on his behalf." Imagine her confusion, however, when on Sunday the parson severely read: "Mr. Sparkes, having gone to sea his wife, desires the prayers of the congregation on his behalf."

The Newspaper Share

(From the Boston Globe)
The newspaper is almost if not indeed, the only business which is expected to give the Government anything free of charge. It is proud of this distinction, and in its editorial and news columns it gives lavish support to all the war drives and patriotic campaigns. In its desire for the success of those movements, it has not chosen to press a just claim to consideration for the interest of its own business. Nor ought it to be obliged to speak for itself. Its actions should speak loudly enough to obtain a treatment as fair as all other businesses receive without question.

A Lovely Lake on the Pacific Slope

Okanagan Lake and Kettle Valley Railway. Inserted is a C. P. R. steamer at Penticton, on the Okanagan Lake.

Okanagan Lake!
What an alluring, suggestive place name it is.
First locate it on the map. Down in Southern British Columbia, due south from Sicamous, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, due south too from picturesque Vernon, due north from Penticton, in the boundary county of British Columbia, between Vernon and Penticton lies the lake known as Okanagan.

Okanagan is a lake of rarest beauty, even in a land of lakes of rarest beauty. Each mile of its length a mile of scenic loveliness, each league of its bank a league of varied charm. The journey over the long and winding lake is a day's journey of unique interest, from the moment the steamer is boarded at Okanagan Landing till it ties up for the night at Penticton. A comfortable boat it is, and a comfortable day of travel follows as the panorama of ports passes by.

The nature picture is complete. The shimmering waters that reflect every passing sun ray or carressing, fleecy cloud, are bordered by green-garbed mountains. At their base rest tier on tier of bench lands that spell rich fertility, for they bear the fruits that have spread the fame and name of Okanagan for afield. How the eye feasts on smiling orchards and vineyards, as the mouth feasts on their luscious crops. Down the steep slopes come the leashed waters that irrigate when and where irrigation is needed, the life-giving streams being trained on tree and vine and garden with wonderful results.

Fields of grain and patches of grass make a checkerboard of color, while the water-side towns and their note of human communion. Their very place names are musical and attractive: such as Kelowna, Peachland, Summerland, with many a charming in-between settlement.

Then there fits in to the landscape frame the cozy, picturesque bungalow of the rancher farmer or fruit grower, set in a garden and facing an incomparable view.

Down at the wharves, the steamer receives its freightage of crated fruit that will feed many mouths in many a distant home, for the great west is an eager customer for the peaches and pears, the apples and the grapes of this favored fruitland country.

So one drinks in the beauty of the Okanagan from the deck of the steamer during a journey that takes most of the lighted hours of a day. And so one may travel above the lake over a wonderful stretch of railway, for the Kettle Valley Line, defying nature's obstacles, makes its sinuous way near the crests of the mountains. A thrilling scene greets the eye in a bird's eye view of the entire lake hundreds of feet below, nestling like a crystal gem in its granite basin, and taking on a silver hue as the setting sun lays its carpet of cheer on the waters. Each cluster of homes stands out clearly against its background of foliage or forest, motorcraft speed along, looking very small in the wide space of waters, and the traveller could circle the lake by land if he so desired.

Finally, the train dips from the heights to the lower levels, from the hill crests to Penticton town. The sun has done its day's work, the shades are swallowing up the beautiful world of water and town and mountain, and the Lake of the Okanagan sleeps, like all nature and some humans.

C.P.R. Directors in the West

C. R. Hosmer. Sir Augustus Nanton, Senator F. L. Beique, E. W. Beatty, K.C.

ALTHOUGH Montreal is the headquarters of the C. P. R., the interests of the railway lie just as much in the West as in the East. If not more so, and the train which carries the President on his annual inspection trip always carries with it a strong contingent of directors. The names of the directors are identified with the early construction of the C. P. R., so far back as 1853. The Royal Bank under his presidency has made phenomenal progress, while he is the moving spirit behind some of the most important power development schemes in Canada. Mr. C. R. Hosmer began life as a telegraph operator, and at one time was manager of the C. P. R. Telegraphs. He is still closely identified with several telegraph and cable companies, but in 1859 entered his interests, so that he is now president of the Ogilvie Flour Mills and is a director of the Bank of Montreal, the Royal Trust Company, the Dominion Textile Company, the Laurentide Paper Company, and many other such representative Canadian undertakings.

Mr. W. D. Matthews is one of the leading financiers of Toronto. He was long engaged in the grain trade, and has been president of the Toronto Corn Exchange and chairman of the Eastern Grain Standard Board. As president of the great Consolidated

The Lord of Castle Mountain

Castle Mountain in the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

THE early fall had come in the mountains. Hunting parties passed daintily at some tender lichens. A shadow flitted across his eyes, but he paid no heed, for the lambs that were small in the spring were now well-grown and could take care of themselves should some bold eagle try to topple one off the ledges. The big buck had no worries therefor. The bears were down below fattening on berries; the wolves were in the timber getting good feed from among the partridges, rabbits and perhaps the some wounded deer or moose. The precipice on which the sheep stood dropped sheer for some six hundred feet to the snow-covered rubble of the upper edges of the timber belt, stunted, scattered trees barely skinned out a precarious existence where the rock walls started to climb. Away in the valley bottom a black dog crawled unheeded. It was a Canadian Pacific freight train laboring along from Banff to Lake Louise.

A man, rifle on back, crawled like a fly up a steep "chimney"; sweat dripped from his brow, his breath was labored; he crept slowly upwards, using hands and feet and sometimes his chin. Field glasses had told him the splendid buck was above and he wanted a shot at the king of the peaks. At last he reached the plateau and looked. There five hundred yards away on the further side of a canon, which it would take a half day to climb, stood the first belt of the Canadian Rockies. On the edge of a sheer precipice, a magnificent specimen of the Rocky Mountain sheep, or bighorn, nibbled daintily at some tender lichens. A shadow flitted across his eyes, but he paid no heed, for the lambs that were small in the spring were now well-grown and could take care of themselves should some bold eagle try to topple one off the ledges. The big buck had no worries therefor. The bears were down below fattening on berries; the wolves were in the timber getting good feed from among the partridges, rabbits and perhaps the some wounded deer or moose. The precipice on which the sheep stood dropped sheer for some six hundred feet to the snow-covered rubble of the upper edges of the timber belt, stunted, scattered trees barely skinned out a precarious existence where the rock walls started to climb. Away in the valley bottom a black dog crawled unheeded. It was a Canadian Pacific freight train laboring along from Banff to Lake Louise.

A man, rifle on back, crawled like a fly up a steep "chimney"; sweat dripped from his brow, his breath was labored; he crept slowly upwards, using hands and feet and sometimes his chin. Field glasses had told him the splendid buck was above and he wanted a shot at the king of the peaks. At last he reached the plateau and looked. There five hundred yards away on the further side of a canon, which it would take a half day to climb, stood the first belt of the Canadian Rockies. But on Tuesday evening, a very interesting service was conducted by Revs. Patterson and Munroe of Annapolis. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and autumn leaves and the display of vegetables reflected great credit on the farmers of the community.

Miss Edith Haynes, of Annapolis, spent two weeks with her cousin, Mrs. John Garber, quite recently.

Mrs. Whitman leaves a sorrowing husband and two little sons, besides a large circle of friends, to mourn deeply their sad loss. She had many relatives here, who learned of her death with deep regret.

CENTRELEA

Mr. Johnson Bruce made a business trip to Digby last week.

Mrs. Roy Johnson spent the week-end at her home in Digby.

Mr. Donald Brooks returned home last Tuesday from Halifax.

Miss Lola Caldwell returned home from Bridgewater last Monday.

Our community was saddened last Friday morning by learning the death of Mrs. Susie Tupper, of Tupperville. Much sympathy goes to the bereaved family.

Mr. Edward Messenger received word last Wednesday stating that his brother, Dr. Freeman Messenger, of Middleton, was very low with blood poison and is no better at the time of writing.

ROUND HILL

Many here are suffering from colds, "to be in line," Spanish Flu.

Many are reporting large tomatoes from their gardens. So far, we think H. B. Whitman has the largest heard from this year.

From a cluster of five tomatoes, one weighed at C. C. Rice's store, 1 pound and almost 7 ounces; next one 15 oz., and not one under 12 oz.

This same bunch was only one of four clusters on one plant. George Sanders, our young entomologist, dug on his farm here from Vek's extra potatoes, two hills which he weighed, tipping the scales each at 8 1/2 lbs. per hill, and his men found many at 6 1/2 and 7 lbs per hill.

They were beautiful looking tubers, too. Can any other farms report better results?

Mr. Alex. Simmon's son, Arch, is ill with gas poison, reported better, while Hugh, youngest son of H. B. Whitman, is in hospital in France with blood poison. He wrote Sept. 14th. So each one here has their share of worry. Rex Shaw, son of Geo. Shaw, who was wounded for the third time, is improving and soon hopes to be going on leave.

Ernest Gibson reports, he too, is feeling better, although the bullet is still in his side, or was, the last letter received, and still giving trouble. In this way the boys try to relieve the worry at home by making light of their sufferings. No one is deceived, though, and it all goes to show how brave they are.

Our village has again paid a heavy price for victory on the Western front and sad news indeed to two more homes. Flight-Lieut. J. Rokby Robinson, the eldest son of Mrs. Seraph Robinson, is reported missing. This young hero went over with the original 25th Battalion. Thinking he could help more to win the war by joining the Air Force, he resigned from the 25th and entered the Royal Flying Corps, where he has certainly made good until Sept. 24th, when word came, "Missing." Rokby married a few months ago, a young English girl, and her letters, the mother of her gallant young husband are proof of her culture and affection. We trust better news reaches this young wife, and also the mother and aged grandmother, brothers and sisters, who are waiting with true courage the word that means life or death.

Miss Phyllis Robinson, only daughter of Mrs. Seraph Robinson, who has been with the Royal Bank of Canada in Middleton, has resigned her position, the work being entirely too hard for her. We trust she soon recovers her old strength. The loss of a dearly beloved one is also helping retard the healing of nerves that overstudy and work have impaired.

Mr. F. E. Mason has received the sad news that his only son was killed in action on Oct. 1st. This young man, George E. Mason, enlisted with the very first men to go from Canada, at the early age of 17 years, giving up a career at Kings' College to fight for freedom for the world. He has won the Cross de Guerre of Belgium, and has frequently been mentioned in despatches. The mother and two sisters are in British Columbia, where Mr. Mason left Saturday to join them. He is closing up his house and selling off all stock. Mr. Mason is an Englishman, who came to Round Hill only eight short years ago, buying one of the finest farms in the Valley, "Woodlands," from Henry B. Whitman. Mr. Mason and family had made many warm friends in the village, and every one feels for he and his family in this time of their suffering such an irremediable loss.

MELVERN SQUARE

A few cases of gripple are reported in Melvern, and the scare of Spanish influenza is rapidly making its way here.

Miss Myrtle Morse returned to Wolfville last week to resume her work in taking a college course at Acadia.

Kenneth McNeil and his friend, Miss Caldwell, of Kentville Sanatorium, spent the week-end at his home here recently.

The work of the Red Cross Society is being carried on in Melvern with as much zeal as ever, regardless of "war-time" expense.

The ladies of the Methodist Circle meet every Wednesday afternoon, instead of Friday, as formerly, and are doing good steady work.

Mrs. John Masters, who has been engaged in Waltham, Mass., for several months, has returned to her home in Melvern, and will remain during the winter.

We are sorry to report Alden Brown in very poor health, at present, as he does not seem to be recovering from an attack of measles as his friends would like to see him.

"Rally Day" was observed in the Methodist Sabbath School here on Sabbath evening, Sept. 29th, the usual program being carried out, followed by a stirring address by Rev. Mr. Hockin—the best feature of the evening.

About every other day has brought a rain storm of late and the farmers are almost discouraged, some fields of grain and potatoes being still under water, and apple picking right on hand. Truly, the farmer is not having a picnic this year in gathering in the products of his farm.
