DISAGREEMENT ALMOST CERTAIN

ONE MAN SAVED THE OTHER DROVE

Murray Siddall Picked Off a Floating Ice Cake in the Bay of Fundy Last Night But Frank Fillmore His Companion Was Drowned.

(See also page 2.) AMHERST, N. S., April 12.—(Special)—Murray Siddall, one of the men reported as afloat on the ice in the Bay of Fundy last night was rescued later between Minnie and Bayfield in an almost exhausted state. The night was terribly dark and the river filled with large cakes of floating ice so that it was like taking one's life in one's hands to attempt a rescue, but scores of willing men, regardless of personal safety, put forth every effort. About 8.30 he was heard passing Minnie. At once George Symes, Norman McLennan, Walter Allen and Denny McLennan followed. After fighting the ice and tide till 10.30 they succeeded in rescuing him, and being unable to bring their boat back, they carried the almost helpless man along the shore to the home of Benjamin Carter, at Lower Macdonald, where every attention was shown him. The story of his experience is a most thrilling one. It seems the accident occurred at five o'clock yesterday, at the mouth of the Sackville River. Whether it was the force of the tide or a blow from an ice cake that upset the boat, Siddall does not know. Immediately the boat upset, Frank Fillmore who was with him, disappeared. It is supposed that having heavy rubber boots on, and probably a quantity of ammunition about his person, the weight carried him down.

THE THAW INVESTIGATING THE QUESTION OF GUILT

Up to Noon Today They Had Not Returned to the Court But It is Thought They Will Report a Disagreement and Ask to be Released.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Another long, comfortable night was passed at the criminal court building by twelve men who are to decide the question of Harry K. Thaw's guilt or innocence, and this morning found them all but worn out by their protracted wrestling with the grim problem. The room in which they were confined is small and contains only a long table and some chairs. This, of course, meant added sleeplessness and fatigue. Now and then the doors were unlocked by the guards to allow one or another of the jurors to take some exercise in the hallway, but this was all the relief from the burden of deciding for or against the prisoner's life. A most hopeful sign is the fact that the jury has had no mention of a hopeless disagreement. That there is a deadlock is, of course, certain, but from the fact that the jury has not reported it or asked to be discharged on the ground that they cannot agree, it is drawn the inference that they have hope of getting together or they have determined to fight it out until physical endurance is exhausted. Rumors were rife again during the night as to the probable result of the jury's deliberations, but as was the case yesterday, all were merely guesses. As for Harry Thaw, his case spirit is despondent, but as was the case yesterday, he did not lose any of his energy. He sat in the prisoner's pen for many hours, but as the night went on and no word came from the jurors, he did not lose any of his energy. He sat in the prisoner's pen for many hours, but as the night went on and no word came from the jurors, he did not lose any of his energy. SMUGGLING CASE ON ERIN STREET

Charge of Assault Against Two Assyrians Follows a Customs House Officer's Raid in Local Assyrian Colony—Interesting Case Heard in Police Court.

Another Assyrian wrangle was aired in the police court when Izid Moses, who lives in a yard off Erin street, had George and Fred Mosey before Judge Ritchie on a charge of assault and spitting on her. She also alleged that Palm Sunday (March 24) the defendants, in company with Customs Officer Sandall, visited her rooms and accepted her of having smuggled goods. The session was a lively one, and during the course of proceedings angry words passed between the parties to the case, and there was a brief exhibition of dramatic action. The Moseys on the other hand allege that Mrs. Moses had smuggled goods in her house. From the evidence it appears that customs Officer Sandall received a telephone message about 2.30 o'clock on the date above referred to. In this message he was informed that smuggled goods were going out of a house in Erin street. Accompanied by his son, he hurried to the locality mentioned and found George Mosey on guard near Mrs. Mosey's house. Mrs. Mosey took him to the house and knocked at the door. Mrs. Moses asked who was there and in reply Mr. Sandall told her that it was a customs house officer and wanted to get in. Mrs. Moses admitted the customs officer and asked her if she had any more American goods in the house. This she denied, and a search followed, which the plaintiff describes as being along rough lines. She declared that George Mosey in the course of the search got under the bed and upset it. She also declared that he put his hands on her and pushed her aside. No goods were found, and when Mr. Sandall inquired about a door that had not yet been opened Mrs. Moses told him that it led to the apartments of another tenant, who was accordingly looked up and, contrary to the plaintiff's statement, said that Mrs. Moses had the key. An entrance was finally effected into the apartments referred to, and, after the three rooms had been searched a trunk full of goods was found also a bundle. Mrs. Moses declared she had not the key, and when told the trunk must be taken away, said her son, who is in Eastport, Me., had sent it to her by mail, and she finally produced it. The goods were taken from the house and placed under an electric light across the street. Mrs. Moses protested against taking the trunk away, and asked if it could be placed in the Lawton Company's factory, but the watchman would not consent to this, saying that he feared trouble would result, and it was taken charge of by the customs house officer. Mrs. Moses claimed she would be able to produce papers from her son to show the duty had been paid. Mrs. Moses also stated that on the 26th of March she met Fred Mosey in the street and he spat in her face. On April 2 she met him again, when he spat on her cheek and called her "doggie, doggie, doggie," and told her that when he heard from Ottawa she would go to the penitentiary. She also accused George Mosey with seizing her by the wrists on the night of the search and trying to arrest her. She did not object to Mr. Sandall bringing Englishmen, or Canadians with him, but did not want Assyrians. Further evidence was to the effect that Mrs. Moses had twice struck George Mosey on the night of March 28, and he had seized her wrists to protect himself. George Mosey in cross-examination, the plaintiff, became very angry, declaring that he would not stand for being seized and insulted by her. During the proceedings Mrs. Moses threw the court room chairs around to illustrate George Mosey's actions in her house. His honor said he doubted if Mr. Sandall alluded to the plaintiff's house at such an hour unless in a special case, but he did not object to her reading for the plaintiff said under certain circumstances he could. This, his honor doubted. In the course of hearing it developed that Mr. Sandall had no right to break a lock. The witnesses were Mrs. Moses, Mr. Sandall, Geo. Mosey and Mr. Sandall's son. The case was stood over for further hearing.

THIS BLUFF DIDN'T WORK

Wife Found Love Letter in Husband's Pocket and He Could Not Explain to Her Satisfaction.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Mrs. Bertha K. Hillis, of No. 51 Charlton street, was given a separation from her physician-husband, because Supreme Court Justice O'Connor did not believe that a love letter written to the husband by another woman was simply for use in a novel. Mrs. Hillis alleged cruel treatment, and demanded that she hand him over all her money, and threatened if he did not do so in a hurry he would blow off her head. His loud words attracted the attention of the woman's sister, who was in the rear of the store, and when she rushed into the store, Etienne pocketed his revolver and fled into the street, without making any further attempt to obtain the money. The fair to be held in City Hall, west end, by the Carleton Cornet Band next week, promises to be a great success. For two weeks elaborate preparations have been made for the event. In connection with the fair a voting contest will be held for the most popular foreman. Those entered are John Bond, John McAndrews, Charles Brown, and Charles H. Jackson. The ladies auxiliary of the band will take charge of the booths, and Mayor Sears will open the fair. The City Cornet Band will furnish the music Monday night. John Rooney, a C. P. R. brakeman, fell between two cars at Sand Point this morning about four o'clock, and had his back injured. He was taken to the hospital, but was discharged this morning about 11 o'clock. He will be unable to work for a couple of days as he got quite a shaking up.

"YOUR MONEY OR YOUR LIFE"

Montreal Man Enters Grocery Store and Terrorizes Woman for Her Money.

MONTREAL, April 12 (Special)—George Etienne, twenty-five years of age, was arrested yesterday charged with attempting to rob a woman at the point of his revolver. Etienne entered the little grocery store of Miss Cordella Contant, 24 St. Christopher street, and pointing a revolver at her demanded that she hand him over all her money, and threatened if he did not do so in a hurry he would blow off her head. His loud words attracted the attention of the woman's sister, who was in the rear of the store, and when she rushed into the store, Etienne pocketed his revolver and fled into the street, without making any further attempt to obtain the money. The fair to be held in City Hall, west end, by the Carleton Cornet Band next week, promises to be a great success. For two weeks elaborate preparations have been made for the event. In connection with the fair a voting contest will be held for the most popular foreman. Those entered are John Bond, John McAndrews, Charles Brown, and Charles H. Jackson. The ladies auxiliary of the band will take charge of the booths, and Mayor Sears will open the fair. The City Cornet Band will furnish the music Monday night. John Rooney, a C. P. THE CURIOUS CROWDS WERE ON HAND EARLY Crowds began to assemble in the streets about 8.30 o'clock today. Several hundred persons gathered an entrance and took up balconies along the three streets of vantage overlooking the intersection.

REPORTED CASE OF DESTITUTION

A case that must necessarily claim the attention of all charitable institutions, principally on account of its repulsive nature, was brought to light yesterday afternoon, and already the police, Board of Health and S. P. C. A. have interested themselves in it. A report of a case of destitution was made to the authorities, and yesterday afternoon Sergeant Kilpatrick, Secretary Wetmore of the S. P. C. A. and Messrs. McConnell and Howard of the Board of Health went to the house, which is situated in front of the grain mill on City Road. There three women, sisters named Gallagher, have lived for some time. The officers demanded admittance, but the inmates refused to allow them to enter, for three-quarters of an hour, and only then when the Board of Health officers threatened to break in the door. The Gallagher sisters occupy three rooms, two bedrooms and a sitting room, but not a bed was to be found in the place. Instead filthy mats were lying on the floor. One of the sisters goes out working, and what she earns supports the other two. One of the women wears a dirty old rag about her head, and it is impossible to see her face. Not a strip of clothing, however, covered her body, when the officers saw her yesterday she simply put an old mat about her. The other sister had washed her face a little before the officers went in, but her neck and hands looked as if they had been straggers to water for years. One of the officers stated that in all his experience, he was never in such a filthy place, and yet they denied that they had not plenty to eat and any amount of fuel. "We saw neither," said the officer. Before leaving the women were instructed by the officers to clean up the house, and that they would be back again next week to see their condition. People in the locality have been talking a great deal about the condition of the women, and say that something should be done with them. They, however, cannot be taken out of the house unless they are willing.

STANFORD WHITE'S PICTURES BROUGHT ONLY FAIR PRICES

NEW YORK, April 12.—Stanford White's modern pictures were sold at auction last night and realized $20,272. A few well-known names, such as Innes, Hassan and Curran, brought high prices, but the paintings of other masters sold at low figures. "Correille and Mollie," one of Gepp's good medal pictures, which sold in A. T. Stewart's sale last year for $8,100, went to Edmund Holbrook for $1,600. This was the record price of the evening's auction, which will be concluded tonight with the old masters.

NO SIGN OF AGREEMENT

After being out for 38 hours the jurors went to breakfast shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. Throughout the night their discussions were continued, but still an agreement was not reached. In spite of their long confinement the jurors showed little evidence of the strain they have been under save for red eyes and unsharpened faces. All of them seemed to be in good spirits when they returned to the court building at 9 o'clock and reentered the jury room to resume their deliberations. Juror Pink, who was ill yesterday, seemed much improved this morning. The jurors spent a quiet night, according to the court officers who have them in charge, but continued their arguments and balloting until breakfast time. Still there is no sign of an agreement and the feeling that a verdict will never be reached is growing stronger every hour that the jury remains out.

TELEGRAM WAS LOST

The mayor has ascertained that the telegram sent from here by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Hon. Sidney Fisher, in reference to harbor improvements, was lost, in some manner by the telegraph company, and never reached Ottawa. A copy of the message was wired last evening, and the matter will be explained to Mr. Fisher by the company. The mayor will also send a communication to Hon. Mr. Fisher explaining matters, and asking for immediate action in the dredging matters.

THE EMPRESS OF IRELAND

HALIFAX, N. S., April 12.—(Special)—The C. P. R. liner Empress of Ireland, from Liverpool, with mails, reached here at six o'clock this morning and sailed again at 8.30 for St. John. She loaded her 22 passengers, mostly sailors. The Allan Line Sicilian arrived from Glasgow today with 1,011 passengers, 244 second cabin and 728 steerage. Included in the number was a "Smash" party of 108, and also 104 "Quarter Home" boys.

BONILLA HAS SURRENDERED

NEW ORLEANS, April 12.—According to a cablegram received by the officials of the Empress Despatch Company here, President Manuel Bonilla, of Honduras, has surrendered to the Nicaraguans. The cablegram came from Managua, Nicaragua and was signed by President Jose S. Zelaya. No details were given other than that Bonilla surrendered yesterday. Mrs. David Logan. PICTOU, April 12.—(Special)—The death occurred suddenly last evening of Mrs. Logan, widow of David Logan, probrothary. The deceased was a native of St. John and had been out visiting friends some distance from her home. Her son drove her back and in front of her residence she took ill and expired shortly after.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S DARING FEAT AS A GIRL AT GRAND MANAN

During a visit to Grand Manan Island, in the Bay of Fundy, I heard the following incident of Mrs. Roosevelt's girlhood: At that time, in company with a cousin and his wife, Mrs. Roosevelt spent some weeks among the fisher folk of Grand Manan. The South Head is a precipitous cliff that drops straight into the sea. When the high tides peculiar to the Bay of Fundy are out a narrow beach is exposed at the base of the cliff, to which visitors are in the habit of descending by means of a narrow, circuitous path. Mrs. Roosevelt and her party made this trip, but when the girl looked up at the face of the cliff it occurred to her that she would much prefer to climb it than to return by the path. Consequently she and her cousin began the ascent of the precipice, a feat that had been accomplished but once or twice before, and then only by the hardest fishermen. The old South Head lifts straight into the air and is almost as difficult of ascent as a polished wall. Their perilous venture once begun, however, they were forced to continue it, for the tide returned

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

NO IMPORTATIONS NEEDED. Mr. Hiram Hornbeam was seen by the "Times" new reporter this morning relative to the suggestion of Mr. Robert M. P. P., that the government import a few goats from the States, which they have decided to secure for the benefit of the farmers. The goats would protect the sheep. Mr. Robertson's suggestion appears to have been interpreted as a joke by some members, and the views of the man from Hornbeam Settlement were therefore sought by the new reporter. "Well," said Hiram, "maybe it's a joke, but I call it a comes about as near the mark as they'll get up to Fredrick's ever gets when they're talking about farmers. I heard one of 'em tellin' what a fine thing it was to have the trees cut closer to the top an' hauled out of the woods to stop forest fires. The man food didn't seem to know it was the bush that was left in the woods that spread the fires. But about these goats—the legisla-tion 'ain't goin' to set all summer is it?" "Oh, no," said the new reporter. "It will adjourn this week." "Well, then," said Hiram, "I call the'll be goats enough at large for the summer, without sendin' away for any more." Mr. Hornbeam's views, as those of a practical farmer, are entitled to respectful consideration.

SET BACK FOR PROHIBITION

Rev. Thos. Marshall received a communication from Hon. Mr. Pugsley last evening in reply to the N. B. Temperance Federation's memorial asking for prohibition. The first action of the letter deals with the complaint made and states that officials and inspectors have been given to understand that it is their duty to enforce the law and if evidence that they have not done so is given to the government, the necessary action will be taken to have the law properly carried out. The second part deals with the request for a prohibitory law and says: The committee of the executive council has the fear that it would be found impossible to successfully enforce it, as some sections of the province are unfavorable to it where they do not at the present time feel like asking the legislature to enact a prohibitory law. They recognize that the temperance sentiment is growing stronger and suggest that in the not distant future some action might be sufficient. A commission will be appointed during the recess, of three reliable persons to visit P. E. Island and look into the working of the law there. The Temperance Federation is invited to name one of the members of the commission. Reference is also made to amendments proposed to the liquor license act, to facilitate the taking of a vote relating to local option.

MAGISTRATE SCORES AGAIN

Urges the Police Force to Use Every Effort to Stop Sunday Liquor Selling. The police landed two prisoners last night, both of whom were in court this morning. John Green, a cattleman with a peepleg, who was given in charge by John Devlin, a deck hand of the ferry for assaulting a man named Hubbard, in the men's cabin of the Lullow, yesterday afternoon, do not mind his justifying his action as Hubbard had tried to run him down so he would miss this trip of the Montezuma. John Devlin and Wm. M. Campbell were examined and the evidence showed that Green walked into the cabin and struck Hubbard in the face. Hubbard offered no defence. Green was fined $20 or two months and was told by Judge Ritchie that he could be sent to the penitentiary for two years. John Connolly was fined $4 or ten days for drunkenness. John Tuck, who was reported for working on the new bank of New Brunswick building, north end, without a license, said he had been here since Sunday and intended locating here. He was told to go and make proper arrangements for himself and his companion who was also reported.

GRAVE APPREHENSION

NEW YORK, April 12 (Special)—There is some apprehension lest the Thaw trial should end before the material for a similar sensation has been provided by some other agent of Providence with a brain stored in a gun. At the present moment it seems almost probable that the public will be forced to turn its attention to the daily doings of compeer, decent people. It is true that Mr. Thaw, himself, does not share this view, as he feels that as the agent of Providence his bill-of-fare and the color of his necktie, to say nothing of his views on current topics, will still be, for a considerable period, the means of saving many persons from the distress of a humdrum existence. Perhaps Mr. Thaw is right, but it is nevertheless true that a feeling of apprehension is becoming quite general. The photographers are in despair.

The Viper of Milan. A ROMANCE OF LOMBARDY. BY MARJORIE BOWEN.

(Continued.) "When we shall enter Milan," corrected Carrara. "The sun will be faintly high; these marches are toilsome." And he glanced down proudly at the beautiful gauntlets on his hands, calculating what the pearly and turquoise might be worth, picked off, and vain at having outwitted Visconti. The promise of the day," said Visconti, dreamily and sadly. "Hath it never struck thee how that promise never is fulfilled? Day after day, since the world began, is something in the mystery of the dawn is promised—something the sunset smiles to see unfulfilled—something men have never known—the promise of the dawn!" The road began now to be fringed with poplars, and in the faint light the colors of the wayside flowers were visible. They rode awhile in silence. Carrara looked back at the small rearguard in the distance, and below him along the road, and to his army blackening the plain, and then again at Visconti. "Either he is always mad or—" With a sharp exclamation he fell forward on his horse's neck, but recovered himself instantly. Visconti turned to him, still with that far-away look in his eyes. "The road is stony," he said. "Thy horse stumbled?" "Food or drink," Carrara was still wondering, and looking still at Visconti's face, he almost thought him a fool. "You and I," cried Visconti, with a sudden change, "together, Carrara, Lords of Lombardy!" And he struck his horse into a gallop so unexpectedly that Carrara had difficulty to keep almost with him. "I have been so long away!" he cried. "Haste! I long to be in my city again. Valentine—and others—will be grieving. Haste!" And he still urged his horse. Carrara, galled at his cry, suddenly veered in the saddle, with cry of anguish. "Faster!" cried Visconti. "Faster!" With an effort Carrara kept his horse to the pace, but his face was deathly, his lips set, Visconti never looked at him. His gaze was toward Milan and the sunrise. Suddenly Carrara cried aloud. "Not so fast, Visconti, not so fast!" But Gian flew along the level road. "Milan!" he cried, "on to Milan!" Carrara swayed forward to grasp Visconti's cloak, but he shook him off with a laugh. "What ails you, Carrara? The army waits, you must ride faster still if you mean to ride into Milan today with me. Carrara was clutching at the neck of his doublet with staring eyes. "My heart," he gasped. "I suffocate—" himself till Della Scala's rage had blown a little over. As he stood there, miserable, undecided, he heard the salutations of the soldiers and a heavy tread outside. He remembered that Massimo was a giant—he had once found it to his advantage, he might now find it to his peril; but it was not fear, but bitter shame, that brought Conrad almost to his knees. He knew that Della Scala was there, though he did not raise his head. "Conrad," said Massimo, and his voice was strangely altered. "Conrad." The Count, with an effort, looked at Massimo, who stood in front of the door he had closed, with a face from which all color had been struck. "When did you discover this?" continued Della Scala, and pointed to the parchment. All elaborate excuses and appeals for pardon Conrad had prepared died away on his tongue. "An hour ago," he replied lamely. "An hour ago!" Massimo walked across to the parchment hanging on the wall, and Conrad's eyes followed him; he could find no words to break the silence. Della Scala first read, then tore the writing down, and crushed it in his hand; then he looked at the door, standing ajar. "How many have deserted?" he asked in a hard voice. "Visconti said half the army." Conrad could not answer the truth. "How many?" and Massimo turned to look at him. "Carrara has taken all his force," faltered the wretched man. Massimo crushed the parchment yet tighter in his hand and walked up to Conrad, who shrank before his face. "Your sword, Count," he said. Conrad hesitated, bewildered. "You are no longer in my service; as my officer you wear that sword; as what you are, I demand it from you." And he held out his hand. In silence Conrad drew the weapon. Massimo took it, threw it on the floor. "And now go," he said. At last Conrad found his voice. "Lord!" he cried, "let me stay." "Go!" cried Massimo. "I will stay," faltered Conrad, "and amend my fault." But Della Scala turned his back on him. "Go to Visconti," he flashed. "Tis to play chess as well almost as Vincino." And the Count glanced at Della Scala's face, and saw a look that he had done; that speech was useless. He moved to go, murmuring something with bent head; at each door he passed again. "Della Scala," he began, "I—" "I will never willingly see your face again," interrupted Massimo. "Go and join my other army at Milan." "I—"

For summer wear there is nothing more serviceable and yet so attractive as those natural toned pongees, rajahs and tussahs, which are made so much use of in the garment world this season. Attractive coats in full and half lengths are shown for summer wear in conjunction with hats of the same material. A splendid example of this new silk hat is with cased in the illustration. In shape it is a round toque or turban, the brim turning up close against the round crown, over which the silk scarf is draped and attached in front with patent fasteners. The scarf covers the back of the head, protecting the coiffure without in any wise disarranging it, and can be easily removed when one wishes it.

CARRIED AWAY ON ICE CAKES

Two Westmorland Men Driven to Sea While Gunning at Aulac.

Amherst, N. S., April 11.—News was received here this evening that Frank Fillmore and Murray Siddall, of Westmorland Point, while out gunning at Aulac, were carried out into the bay on the ice. Telephone messages were sent to Sackville and to Amherst for the people along the shore to be on the look out for them. At last a party from Amherst Point organized a search party and are trying to secure a boat to try to locate them along this shore. They were heard shouting for help off Amherst Point this evening and great excitement prevails, because if they drift out to sea there will be little hopes of saving them. Mr. Fillmore is a son of W. P. Fillmore, of Westmorland, and is married with family. Siddall is a son of George O. Siddall, of Westmorland Point, and is unmarried. A message to your correspondent from Amherst Point at 10.30 tonight states that three boats had left government wharf at that place searching for the missing men but as yet no word has been received of them. A later message states that the men have passed Minnie wharf and that the watchers there heard them shouting and that boats were following them. James Robinson, ex-M. P. of Miramichi, is at the Royal.

Women Suffer Agonies from Kidney Trouble

GIN PILLS CURE THEM. There is Mrs. Ripley, for instance, who suffered terribly with her back. It ached, ached, ached—all the time. Even in bed, it seemed as if she could not get easy. It finally became so bad that household work was impossible. She certainly was a discouraged woman when she began to take GIN PILLS. And there isn't a happier, healthier woman in the Dominion than this same Mrs. Ripley to-day. I cannot refrain from writing you the benefits I have received from GIN PILLS. Before I had taken GIN PILLS I suffered dreadfully with my back, and had suffered for twenty years. I have tried almost everything but GIN PILLS until I got GIN PILLS. I have taken six boxes and now I have not the sign of a pain or an ache in my back. I am well and feel as well as I ever did in my life. There is nothing on hold a place with GIN PILLS for pains in the back to which women are subject. Your truly, Wm. Dawson P. Ripley. Mrs. Ripley had serious Kidney Trouble. And the sick kidneys were making her back ache—were giving her those splitting headaches—were sapping her strength—and dragging her down. GIN PILLS really saved her life. GIN PILLS cured her kidneys. She has been well ever since. GIN PILLS are a grand medicine for women. Try them at our expense. Mention this paper when writing and we will send you a free sample so you can see for yourself just what GIN PILLS will do for you. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, Man. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. MR. COCKSHUTT'S ADDRESS

Intense Canadianism was the keynote of the address of President Cockshutt of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the Canadian Club luncheon yesterday. He had been, he said, three times around the world, and visited nearly every British colony, and his love of Canada was but intensified by knowledge and experience.

has been with him for twenty years, and is well qualified to take up his work. The session of the board of license commissioners yesterday afternoon was enlivened by a somewhat heated discussion on the subject of law enforcement.

As a matter of plain fact, the opposition party is not the only party at Ottawa which has not been shining in debate for some time past. It must be obvious also that there is a certain note of aggressiveness in some of the opposition speeches, which would seem to indicate a confidence that there is no great danger of certain matters being pressed too hard from the government side.

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION

Of the temperance legislation just introduced by the government in the Nova Scotia legislature, the Halifax Chronicle says: "For the most important temperance legislation ever passed upon the statute books of Nova Scotia is promised in the government temperance bill, which was introduced in the house of assembly by Attorney General Piper. The bill, which is drafted on the lines indicated in Premier Munro's speech in the recent prohibition debate, is designed to be practical temperance legislation, which takes into account existing conditions. It is stringent in its provisions and severe in its penalties. It is designed, so far as the local legislature has power, to protect the Scott Act and no-license counties and to prevent licensed dealers in Halifax from selling outside of the licensed districts, and it is throughout a drastic measure. Supplementing this bill, and, in fact, a part of the government's temperance legislation is the bill introduced by Hon. Mr. McPherson, reducing the number of licenses in Halifax to not more than 90, instead of 120 as at present. The government is, therefore, dealing drastically not only with the province as a whole but with the city as well."

LORD CROMER

The resignation of Lord Cromer, Britain's chief representative in Egypt since 1883, terminates an administrative career that has commanded the admiration of the world. There were turbulent times in Egypt when Lord Cromer was appointed to the post of British agent and consul general at Cairo. The revolt of Arabi Pasha occurred in 1882, and the French government declining to co-operate, a British expedition was sent to re-establish the authority of the Khedive. In January, 1883, the dual control was abolished by the Khedive and British control of the financial administration became a fact in Egyptian policy. In 1883 also occurred the revolt of the Mahdi. Gen. Gordon was sent to the southern provinces, and in 1885 was killed at Khartoum. The world is familiar with the story of the recapture of Khartoum and the subjugation of the southern provinces. Meanwhile the work of internal reform was carried on. Railways were built, the system of agriculture improved, the finances of the country placed upon a sound basis, and an era of great prosperity has succeeded the troublous period when Lord Cromer first began his career as Britain's plenipotentiary on the Nile. He has taken rank as one of the greatest administrators ever sent out by the British government, and the happy and prosperous Egypt of today is a monument to his foresight, ability and integrity. Lord Cromer saw the re-conquest of the Sudan provinces by Kitchener, and signed the convention which defined their extent and laid down the principles upon which their administration was to be based. He found a small and distracted Egypt, torn by rebellion and financially embarrassed; he leaves it a great and prosperous territory, with British influence paramount in the councils of the government. His successor, Sir Eldon Gorst,

WHERE THE RIVER IS BORN

The pine trees lean above its cradle, laid Deep under tangled roots and mossy sod. Where mountains lift their faces unafraid Through sun and starlight to the face of God. Long shadows slant across the silent steep, And far above the green heights pierce the blue. While wood doves hush the baby stream asleep With softly echoing call and dreamy coo. No voice comes near it from the world below. Telling of all its life shall dare and be. Where lightning saunters through the wild crags roar, Or summer white sails go down to find the sea.

THE THEATRES "BLUE JEANS" A HIT

Lyceum Stock Company Scores a Success in a New Bill. Blue Jeans, the pretty melodrama which the Lyceum Stock Company presented at the Opera House last night, met with a very favorable reception from the large audience that attended. There is ample opportunity for the members of the company to display their varied talents, as the piece abounds in interesting and amusing situations. The stage settings were particularly good, the second act with its poultry and sheep trees and fence, etc., gave a realistic effect that would be difficult to improve upon. The sawmill scene, the farmyard and in fact the stage settings all through are worthy of the highest commendation. There were several occasions when slight hitches occurred, incident to a first night production, but on the whole the performance was an entire success.

Miss Eleanor Hicks, as June, the workhouse girl, captivated the audience from her first appearance. Her work was warmly applauded. Miss Goodall as Sue Eudaly, the adventuresome, did full justice to the part and carried high commendation.

In the role of Perry Bascom, Frank Powell made an excellent impression, and his characterization of the part was all that could be desired. His flirtation with Sue in the first act, where a country dance is introduced, was especially well acted, and in the second act his impassioned scene with June was prettily carried out. N. L. Jelenko made the most of Mr. Jelenko and his clever associates. Every member of the cast has scored a hit during their brief stay here in St. John, and at the reception tomorrow, a legion of friends will greet the players and enjoy a social time. Immediately after the last act, the orchestra will render a selection, after which the audience will be invited to come upon the stage and renew their acquaintance with Mr. Jelenko and the players. Tables, artistically decorated, will be located on the stage and Miss Hicks, Miss Goodall, Miss Lee, Miss Atkinson, and Miss Hollis, assisted by the gentlemen, will act as hostesses and serve dainty refreshments. Photos of Mr. Jelenko will be given away and the popular actor will autograph them for those who desire it.

"What Happened to Jones" will be the farcial comedy that will have its presentation by this splendid cast of players, and inasmuch as it served as a starring vehicle for Mr. Jelenko for two consecutive seasons, it will have a great interest for St. John. Mr. Jelenko scored an emphatic success in the leading comedy role of "Jones" the sporty drummer, and will be ably supported. Harry Hockey, who was the creator of the role of Prof. Ebenezer Goodly during the Manhattan Theatre run, will again be seen in his former role and Miss Jeanie Hollis, who was leading woman for Mr. Jelenko during his road tour, will enact her former role of "Cissy." The farce will be well staged and under Mr. Jelenko's personal supervision. The company will play at Frederickton on Tuesday and Wednesday, returning here on Thursday night, producing "The Squaw Man," the greatest of all western plays, which caused such a sensation during its Broadway run. Souvenir photos of Miss Eleanor Hicks will be presented to the first two hundred ladies who attend the performance of "What Happened to Jones," on Monday night.

Tomorrow's Reception

Theatre goers are much interested in the reception matinee that is to be held at the Opera House tomorrow afternoon by the Lyceum Stock Company. "Blue Jeans" will be the play that will be presented and at the conclusion of the last act the reception will be tendered to Mr. Jelenko and his clever associates. Every member of the cast has scored a hit during their brief stay here in St. John, and at the reception tomorrow, a legion of friends will greet the players and enjoy a social time. Immediately after the last act, the orchestra will render a selection, after which the audience will be invited to come upon the stage and renew their acquaintance with Mr. Jelenko and the players. Tables, artistically decorated, will be located on the stage and Miss Hicks, Miss Goodall, Miss Lee, Miss Atkinson, and Miss Hollis, assisted by the gentlemen, will act as hostesses and serve dainty refreshments. Photos of Mr. Jelenko will be given away and the popular actor will autograph them for those who desire it.

LIQUOR LICENSE BOARD HAD A LIVELY SESSION
Some Heated Discussion Between L. P. D. Tilley and Liquor License Inspector Jones—Mr. Tilley Claims Inspector Did Not Do His Duty.

A public meeting was held yesterday by the liquor license commission to deal with the applications for licenses. L. P. D. Tilley was present to watch the proceedings on behalf of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation and he made it decidedly interesting for Inspector J. B. Jones. Those present at the meeting, which was held in the secretary's office, were the commissioners—Col. Blake, Dr. T. H. Lunney and T. A. Linton—and Mr. Muller P. J. O'Neill, H. Dolan, J. Mullin, Michael Harvey, Mr. Miller and W. E. Raymond. Present were: Rev. Thomas Marshall, L. P. D. Tilley, H. C. Tilley, S. P. McCavour and J. Willard Smith.

At the opening of the meeting the inspector, at the request of Mr. Tilley, read the list of applicants. He then said he was present to watch the proceedings in behalf of the temperance federation, and with the permission of the commissioners, to ask a few questions on their administration of the liquor license act. Under section 23 of the act, he went on, the inspector is bound about January each year to lodge with the provincial secretary a list of all holders of licenses in the city, together with the number of convictions, if any, against each, and to be available to the general public if called for. Mr. Tilley asked why this section had not been complied with. He had, he said, taken particular pains to ascertain if such lists were in the provincial secretary's hands, and had telephoned before luncheon.

Mr. Jones in reply said that such a report had never been sent in to his knowledge. He suggested it might have been an oversight.

Mr. Tilley said that it could not have been an oversight as Rev. Mr. Marshall reminded him about it a year ago.

Mr. Tilley then said that it was the duty of the inspector under the act to visit the premises of the applicant for a license and he asked Mr. Jones if he saw and noted any violations in a bar would he not take that fact into consideration in his certificate to the commissioners.

Mr. Jones said that he depended on what one considered lewd and improper pictures. Mr. Tilley said that he had seen them in a Church street bar while in there on business.

The next thing Mr. Tilley inquired about was liquor selling without a license. He said that liquor was sold openly on Sunday on the corners of Prince William and Duke streets and that the Inspector was aware of it.

Mr. Jones said that he had gotten the names repeatedly of men who were seen coming out but the man is a cripple and although notified never appeared in court and further the men who were seen in there would swear that they were not there at all.

Mr. Tilley—"That means that you have never got evidence enough. I think if I were inspector I would have no difficulty in getting all I needed."

Mr. Tilley then referred to liquor selling in prohibited hours. He said that it was a matter of common knowledge that liquor was sold after 7 o'clock at night and up to 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning and furthermore alleged that the general feeling among the public is that the administration of the liquor license act in St. John is not what it should be. The chairman, however, replied that the act was satisfactorily administered.

Mr. Tilley then turned his guns on the druggists and poured some hot shot into them.

Mr. Jones—"I do not think it is my business to stand around all day in druggists' shops to see what they sell. Under the act if druggists keep any amount of liquor on their premises and I can't touch it, that is where the weakness of the act is."

Mr. Tilley—"I do not agree with you, I think it is your business."

Mr. Jones—"Are you aware that five or six druggists were fined $100 each last year for violation of the act?"

Mr. Tilley—"No, I am not, because you did not file your report with the provincial secretary."

"Well my books showed it and the papers showed it if you had read them."

Mr. Tilley then asked the chairman a question as to how he intended regulating the number of licenses in a ward.

The Chairman—"You know as much about that, Mr. Tilley, as I do."

Mr. Tilley then cited the words of the act regulating the matter, from which he argued that in a ward with 3,000 pop-

AMENDMENTS TO THE LIQUOR ACT
Brewers Now Authorized to Sell Five Gallons and Druggists Six Ounces.

FREDERICTON, April 12—Before the bills committee today a number of bills were taken up, including one to increase the N. B. grant by $5,000, which was agreed to.

The following bills were also agreed to:

To assist in the erection of the proposed Champlain monument in the city of St. John.

To amend the act respecting aid towards providing cold storage for agricultural and other products.

To amend the act in aid of the construction and equipment of a graving dock at the port of St. John.

To authorize a grant to the provincial rifle association.

To provide assistance to the maternity hospital of the Salvation Army in the city of St. John.

To provide for certain improvements for the dairy school building at Sussex.

Relating to dams, sluiceways and fishways.

To amend the fisheries act.

The bill to amend the Schools Act was tabled and progress reported.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley introduced a bill to amend the liquor license act. He said the first section repeals section 21 of the liquor license act. It has been found by experience that there is some difficulty in bringing the section into operation not because the act does not provide the machinery, but on account of the objections raised to it and also on account of the petitioners when asking for the act to be brought into force not fully understanding it and making mistakes in the petition. There is no alternation in the voting in order to bring the act into force and the manner of election is similar to that provided for by the Scotch act. It will still be necessary to have a majority of votes in favor of the act in order to make it reasonably certain that the law will be enforced.

Under the act brewers were not allowed to sell in less quantities than ten gallons at a time. I have had this altered so as to allow them to sell in not less than five gallons. It has been found that chemists and druggists have been in the habit of selling liquor illegally. The act prohibits them selling greater quantities than six ounces without a medical certificate. Under the act they are absolutely prohibited from selling any quantity whatever except by a medical certificate and a proper record must be kept of all the sales made and the certificate filed in under no circumstances are they to allow liquor to be consumed on the premises. In many licensed premises in small towns it has been the habit of proprietors to have slot machines and gambling apparatus on the premises. As this is a source of great temptation to the young men to spend their money it has been thought best to prohibit them altogether and make the proprietor liable to a penalty for having them on the premises.

Another provision is that in the case of liquor being confiscated it shall be sold and the proceeds given to the alms house. If there is no alms house or public hospital it shall be paid over to the county treasurer to be used by him for charitable purposes.

The house then took recess.

The municipalities committee subsequently met and recommended the bill further relating to the town of Woodstock with an amended title.

The house met at 8 o'clock, and after amending the act respecting the Grand Falls Power Company's Act was taken up, and progress was reported.

AMERICAN SETTLERS STRANDED IN WEST

TORONTO, April 12 (Special)—A Regina dispatch says that many United States settlers are stranded there. A deputation waited on the city council and said that most of them had stock, fodder and feed, and it was difficult to secure water and the funds of many are running out. Many horses and cows died yesterday.

Mayor Smith said the city would do its best to influence the railway to provide food for man and beast, and relief for those in real distress was to be had for the asking of the city authorities. The mayor, aldermen and other citizens have taken women and children into their homes. The Americans have retained counsel and will sue the C.N.R. Drastic measures are threatened by the government.

CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS

London Times Favors Consideration of Reduction of Existing Duties.

MONTREAL, Que., April 11-(Special) - A special London cable says: The Times in an editorial says: "It is not impossible that the colonial premiers, confident as they are of the soundness of their case in favor of a preference, may have been a little discouraged by the reports of the complete defeat of Chamberlain's policy and may have felt, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier seems to have felt, they are commencing to have little purpose. Such resolutions as those of the London Chamber of Commerce and other manifestations of the real strength of the feeling in the country cannot fail to strengthen their hands enormously and to enable them to press for real answers to their arguments and to refuse to be put off with references to the 'chance paper' on which, in fact, no clear issue has ever been joined."

The Times adds "that a preference can only be consistent with the repeated presumably authoritative declarations of Winston Churchill, that the government favors an intercolonial preference because it involves only the lowering of tariffs."

TREATMENT OF INSANE

Ontario Government to Establish a Psychiatric Clinic in Connection With the New Toronto Hospital.

(Toronto Globe)

The provincial government has decided upon a step in regard to the treatment of acute cases of mental diseases which will mark a most radical departure from the systems now in vogue in any part of the American continent.

A psychiatric clinic is to be established in connection with the new Toronto General Hospital. It is intended that the clinic shall occupy a separate building in connection with the new hospital, with accommodation for 100 patients, and equipped in the most modern and approved manner for the treatment of the insane.

The building, equipment, and the system of treating patients will, in fact, be modelled on that of Munich, Germany, established some years ago, and which has been followed by wonderfully successful advanced treatment, throughout the Kaiser's kingdom, of cases of acute insanity.

One of the results of the establishment of the clinic in this city will be the doing away the Toronto Asylum. Instead of cases of insanity being sent there, they will be treated first at the hospital under wholly hospital surroundings. If they recover they will then be sent back to their homes without any of the stigma unfortunately attaching to those who have been committed to an asylum.

If the cases become chronic they will be sent to Mimico or other asylums, where the cottage accommodation system, impossible in Toronto, is to be increased with that end in view.

An item of $400,000 in the supplement to estimates under the head of "Changes in the Toronto Asylum," is directly connected with the plan above outlined.

AN ACCIDENT AT MONCTON YARD

Train Derailed and Some Damage to Rolling Stock - The Line to Quebec Clear.

MONCTON, N. B., April 12 (Special) - A bad run-off occurred in the east end of the I. C. R. yard last night, resulting in broken rails and sleepers and blocking the main line, besides damaging engine No. 231, which was in the accident. Engine No. 231, attached to a special in charge of Driver Stockford and Conductor Lockhart, was pulling into the yard and as it struck the switch the wheels mounted the rails and proceeded along one track, while the cars proceeded along another. The consequence was the cars and engine were both derailed. The damage consists of a slight breakage of engine and tender, some broken rails and cut sleepers. The engine ran almost fifty yards after leaving the rails. An auxiliary was ordered out, and after several hours had the line clear and track repaired.

Yesterday's Maritime express from Montreal arrived here this morning between five and six, being twenty hours late. The storm in Quebec is now broken and the line clear. This morning's maritime was an hour and a half late.

MASSON IS ACQUITTED

Man Charged With Killing Bud McCourt in a Hockey Match is Found Not Guilty.

CORNWALL, April 12 (Special) - Charles E. Masson, of Ottawa, who was charged with the killing of Bud McCourt in a hockey match here on March 6th, on a charge of manslaughter, was acquitted here yesterday afternoon, the jury bringing in a verdict of "not guilty."

The evidence for the defence, included some ten witnesses, most of whom testified that Chamberlain struck McCourt at the south end of the rink previous to the free-for-all mix-up, which was generally believed to have resulted in McCourt's death.

The jury was out only forty-five minutes after being addressed by counsel and his lordship.

The general feeling in Cornwall is rather one of regret than elation. There was no venomous prosecution, but the people of the town think that it is high time something was done to purge lacrosse and hockey of the man-killing element.
