JOHNSON BUYS WINE FOR ALL

Crowds Go Quickly—Opinions on the Fight by Men Who Had to Do With It—Jeffries Not Badly Off As He's Worth Quarter Million

Johnson's Training Camp, July 5—Last night was a hilarious night at the road house where Jack Johnson trained for his fight with Jeffries. Business at the camp started with a rush when Johnson, returning from the arena with his newly acquired fortune and laurels, ordered wine for everybody in the resort. Johnson himself drank beer. Crowds came out from the city to see the champion, and they, too, spent freely.

Given an impetus by the winning of about $10,000 by various members of the camp, the games of chance did a fine business. There was also singing and dancing. Johnson was the main attraction, while he was in evidence. As he planned to go to Chicago on a train that left at 9 o'clock, however, much of his time was taken up in packing his grip.

Loud cheers greeted the negro when he returned from the fight. He went from the arena to his camp in an automobile with Billy Delaney, his chief adviser. All rushed out to greet him. His wife was one of the first to reach him. She saw the fight, but reached the resort before her husband arrived.

"Oh, Jack, I'm so glad you won," she said.

Friends shouted, clapped their hands and whistled. Johnson grinned broadly, but said nothing to the throng on the outside of the house. He walked into the parlor, where another party awaited him, and, sitting down, chatted with them a few moments.

Everybody wanted to hear about the fight. Johnson refused to take it seriously. He said he was not hurt and there was nothing for him to tell. "Don't think was scared at any time," he said. "I knew how it was coming out."

Before entering vaudeville at New York, he will go to his Chicago home for a rest. "I want to be with my mammy," said Jack.

At his orders a message was sent his mother immediately after the fight, telling her the result.

Desert Reno With Rush

Reno, Nev., July 5—Reno is as busy digging the fight crowds today as it was on Saturday and Sunday in welcoming them. The gateway began within quarters of an hour after Jeffries went through the ropes yesterday afternoon, and trains have followed one another out of the city in quick succession, with every car packed to capacity.

All the evening and into the early hours today automobiles swept out, bound for the coast and the California valley cities, for the mining camps far out on the Nevada deserts, and places far remote and today Reno begins to look normal, as population is concerned. Here and there groups of fight experts still linger on the shady side of the principal street and in the cafes and hotel lobbies.

The big battle is of course the one topic and is discussed in the cold calm that followed previous enthusiasm. There is no animosity against Johnson, rather keen admiration of his ability as a fighter. The fight had not gone four rounds before Jeffries' backers began to doubt and in the eighth they felt sure they had an undecided.

One In Sight

Johnson the undisputed world's champion, the question is who will wrest it from him. Ring followers agree that no man now in the game measures up to the job. Very little attention is paid to Sam Langford's challenge, and the block champion himself regards it as a joke. He said last night he would not regard a challenge from that source so apparently it means a wait for an unknown.

No one knows just how many people saw the big fight or what the gate receipts were. The turnstiles were used and the tickets were on sale in so many places that only approximate figures can be given. The lowest estimate of the gate money is $230,000, and the highest, $270,000. At all events, it was the biggest crowd that ever saw a prize fight and the rates were so far ahead of any other engagement; that the record disappears.

From all the fight, one thing stands out sharply—there is no more mention of Johnson's "yellow streak," the thing that has been written and talked about ever since he came into ring prominence. The experts who sat at the ringside agree in saying that not once did he give any indications of fear. His prowess in the first round was apparent but no one who watched him in that period of the fight could fairly attribute it to anything else but a kind of stage fright. His statement given out at that period of the evening had been well thought out but his remarks as he stepped back to his corner after Jeffries had been battered down were (Continued on page 3, fourth column.)

JACK POWER REFEREE OF BOUT IN HOULTON

Honey Melloy and Kid Shea for Six Rounds—Talks of Big Battle

John T. Power arrived at noon from Houlton, Me., where he was the referee yesterday of a six-round bout between Honey Melloy of Boston and Kid Shea of Houlton, Me. The affair, he says, was a rattling one from the tap of the gong, and while a decision is not permissible in Houlton, honors were about even.

Of the result of last night's big affair at Reno, Mr. Power said that he had not looked for any other result. About seven weeks ago he had been inclined to pick Jeffries, but he had made a better bet on Shea. He said that he had seen a picture of Jim Corbett and other close to the big boiler-maker, that they were holtering up the former champion rather than anything else.

Asked if he thought that Corbett, Ketchikan, or any other could have made a better showing, he replied in the negative, saying that he could not see any one at the present that was a match for the black champion.

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

A DECADE OF IMMIGRATION

FROM July 1, 1900, to March 31, 1910, there arrived in Canada 1,453,391 immigrants, and the pictures show the relative proportions sent us by different parts of the world. Thirty-five per cent of the number, or 512,488, arrived in the first half of the decade, so the tide in the second half flowed almost twice as strongly as it did in the first period. Previous to 1904, the annual summary of the immigration department did not contain a fully classified list of immigrants by nationality, hence for the years 1901 to 1903, 24,878 are classed as miscellaneous, consisting largely of Jews, Italians, Poles, and Roumans.

Of classified nationalities, however, besides those in the picture, the largest numbers came from the following European races: Galleians 67,636, Russians and Finns 43,782, Italians 43,549, Hebrews and Russian Jews 26,166, Scandinavians 34,082, French and Belgians 21,211, Germans 18,538, Austrians 12,509, Hungarians 8,843, Greeks 2,755. Japan sent us 12,885 and China 6,037. The colony of Newfoundland is a steady feeder of the Maritime Province, having sent us 10,982 persons in the decade.

IT MAKES FOR REFORM

The Times-Star publishes today a very interesting account of a visit to the new prison farm at Guelph, Ontario. The story is worth reading. It proves that a place where a man may get back self-control and self-respect, and at the same time perform useful work.

The city of Detroit has a House of Correction that appears to be a model. It provides prisoners with work that teaches them how to use their hands for self-support, and they are also well-housed, well-fed and well-clothed; and if ill they are nursed back to health. This Detroit institution is not only self-sustaining, but turns into the city treasury from $25,000 to $40,000 per year. The superintendent now proposes that part of this surplus be used to provide for the families of prisoners, who may be suffering because of the detention of their bread-winner.

It is nevertheless true that there was a very widespread interest in the outcome of this contest. The Times-Star issued an extra last evening, a little before nine o'clock, giving an account of some of the rounds and the final result. Over three thousand five hundred copies of the issue were eagerly purchased by the crowds on the streets. This morning's paper, with a fuller report, had an immense sale. Now that the affair is over and the public mind may reflect upon the whole business, including the money stake for the fighters, the enormous sums lost in the betting on Jeffries, and the general character of the crowd that assembled at the ring-side, there will be a revulsion of feeling against the prostitution of the so-called "manly art."

The Standard has a Montreal despatch stating that the Van Horne interests have secured control of Grand Falls development. Premier Hazen is represented as "successful in making the arrangements."

The despatch was doubtless written in St. John. It will be interesting to learn the details of the deal.

The Toronto World issues this note of warning: "Special warnings are being issued by the health authorities with respect to the danger of the common house fly. It is called 'typhoid fly' because it carries the germs of the disease on its feet, and infects milk and other articles of food on which it alights. It is the cause of the death of thousands of infants. It is not the heat but the fly that causes summer complaint and similar maladies. Get the flies out of the house and keep them out and have no dirt or garbage about in which they can breed."

About a year and a half ago, while L. M. Raynor of Riverhead, L. I., was walking in the woods a twig lifted his watch out of his vest pocket. Raynor did not discover his loss until he reached home and then he had no idea what had become of the watch. He again took a stroll through the woods a few days ago and was surprised to see his watch hanging on a twig above his head. The watch was apparently unharmed by its long exposure and started ticking when Raynor touched it.

The Governor-General evaded political party entanglements with wonderful tact, and how he won the people of the United States by his rare diplomacy, is well told by Dr. Macphail; as well as the story of his earnest efforts to compose sectional and racial differences in Canada. Reference is made to his support of movements for the social good, as the campaign against tuberculosis, and the promotion of the great Quebec pageant; as well as to his encouragement of literature and art. In conclusion the reviewer says: "I should say that the career of Lord Grey in Canada might well be summed up in words which he himself employed to characterize another great English public servant:—'He was impetuous and untiring in the pursuit of his country's good; he always acted as he felt to be right without regard to custom and without fear of consequence; his constant prayer was that the blessing of God might rest upon his endeavors to serve his country faithfully.'"

THE RESULT

The victory of Johnson over Jeffries has done more than many sermons to turn the tide of popular sentiment in the United States against prize-fighting. The picture of a black man, the son of a slave, standing unscathed and triumphant over the almost inert form of the white champion is not one to be viewed with complacency by the people of a country where the lynching of negroes is regarded with much favor. Race feeling and the gambling instinct were the most notable influences in bringing about the contest at Reno. The pitiful exhibition made by Jeffries, after all the boastings in the press for months past, and the unequal character of the brief contest, make it impossible for even the gifted press correspondents to make the battle appear heroic. Mr. Jeffries did not "laugh at the con," but was himself ignominiously beaten. In the light of the event of yesterday, the prominence given to the affair by the American press for many months past, can only be regarded as an exhibition of folly that is not likely to be repeated. Mr. Johnson applied the remedy.

It is nevertheless true that there was a very widespread interest in the outcome of this contest. The Times-Star issued an extra last evening, a little before nine o'clock, giving an account of some of the rounds and the final result. Over three thousand five hundred copies of the issue were eagerly purchased by the crowds on the streets. This morning's paper, with a fuller report, had an immense sale. Now that the affair is over and the public mind may reflect upon the whole business, including the money stake for the fighters, the enormous sums lost in the betting on Jeffries, and the general character of the crowd that assembled at the ring-side, there will be a revulsion of feeling against the prostitution of the so-called "manly art."

Harland & Wolf find the Courtenay Bay site suitable for a dry dock. Their engineers have so reported.

Race rioting in the south followed Johnson's victory in the prize-ring. This will help the cause of prize-ring reform.

The Standard has a Montreal despatch stating that the Van Horne interests have secured control of Grand Falls development. Premier Hazen is represented as "successful in making the arrangements."

The despatch was doubtless written in St. John. It will be interesting to learn the details of the deal.

The Toronto World issues this note of warning: "Special warnings are being issued by the health authorities with respect to the danger of the common house fly. It is called 'typhoid fly' because it carries the germs of the disease on its feet, and infects milk and other articles of food on which it alights. It is the cause of the death of thousands of infants. It is not the heat but the fly that causes summer complaint and similar maladies. Get the flies out of the house and keep them out and have no dirt or garbage about in which they can breed."

About a year and a half ago, while L. M. Raynor of Riverhead, L. I., was walking in the woods a twig lifted his watch out of his vest pocket. Raynor did not discover his loss until he reached home and then he had no idea what had become of the watch. He again took a stroll through the woods a few days ago and was surprised to see his watch hanging on a twig above his head. The watch was apparently unharmed by its long exposure and started ticking when Raynor touched it.

George Lewis, the recently appointed inspector of weights and measures in Columbus, Ind., has just completed his first inspection of the retail merchants' scales and reports that among all the inaccuracies he discovered there was not a case where the scales favored the merchant. He found in several instances that merchants were cheating themselves to the extent of an ounce in five pounds.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR ME

The world, they say, is gettin' old, an' weary as can be, But write me down as sayin', it's good enough for me!

It's good enough with all its grief, its pleasure and its rain, And there's a ray of sunshine for every drop of rain!

They stumble in the lonesome dark, they cry for light to see, But write me down as sayin', it's light enough for me!

Over the old world's wallin' the sweetest music swells, In the stormiest night I listen and hear the best of all.

This world of God's is brighter than we ever dream of, Its burdens growin' lighter, an' it's love that makes it so.

An' I'm thankful I'm livin', when love's blessedness I see, 'Neath a heaven that's forgivin' when the bells ring home to me.

KEPT QUIET. A man who had purchased a fine-looking mare discovered, after driving the animal for a week, that it was blind. She, afterwards he succeeded in disposing of her, as the defect did not lessen her speed or detract from her general appearance. The next day the owner of the mare appeared.

"I say, you know that mare you sold me?" "I know it," replied her last owner, with an exasperation. "You didn't say anything to me about it," said the purchaser, his face flushed with anger. "Well, you see," replied the other, "the man who stole it in her to me didn't tell me about it, and I thought, perhaps, he didn't want it known."

MEN. Some men have the talent, some have the gall, Some have too much money, some have none at all. Some men are good looking, many men are not. Every man thinks some man has a happier lot.

Some men work for glory, some for daily bread, Some men keep slipping backward, some men get ahead; Some men dream their honor of all dear things the first, Some men think the best thing is a constant thirst.

Some men sit in darkness, some achieve the heights, Some men's wives are beauties, some men's wives are frights; Some men useful knowledge all their lives pursue, Caring not for riches—they are mighty few.

Some men like to lighten other people's woes, Some men live to plunder, some men live to pose; Some men have the talent, some men have the gall; Each man thinks his hardships heavier of all.

DECIDE BIG CLAIM IN RUSSIA'S FAVOR Suit Arising Out of the Japanese War Involving $2,000,000

Berlin, July 1.—The high court specially summoned at the instance of the foreign office to determine the question of jurisdiction in the steamer Anhalt controversy between German citizens and Russia, has returned a verdict declaring that the German courts could not issue an execution of judgment against the property of a sovereign foreign state. This has been the contention of the Russian Government, whose funds in a German banking house had been levied against by the German claimants.

The foreign office announces it will present the claim of $2,000,000 to the Russian Government, and in the event that payment is refused international law will be examined for a form of redress.

In the closing days of the Russo-Japanese war the Russian government purchased the German-owned steamer Anhalt and loaded her at Hamburg with artillery to be delivered at Vladivostok. On the voyage the Anhalt lay over at Tsingtau, China, awaiting an opportunity to get through the lines of the Japanese fleet. Meantime peace was concluded and the Russian Government refused to accept the cargo at the high war risk rates.

Capt. Von Helffeld and the syndicate which supplied the cargo thereupon through the German consular court at Tsingtau libeled the vessel and held her. The litigation accompanied with diplomatic exchange continued, and last December a Berlin court authorized the seizure of $1,700,000 from the Russian Government's deposits with the Berlin banking house of Mendelssohn & Co. in satisfaction of the claim allowed the syndicate by the Tsingtau court.

The St. Petersburg Government protested vigorously against the attachment and in consequence of this protest the foreign office constituted a special court to pass upon the matter.

PAYS £9,240 FOR A CONSTABLE PICTURE Keen Bidding at London Art Sale—Some Declines, Though

The collection of important modern pictures of the late Sir E. T. Mappin, of Thornbury, Sheffield, was sold recently at Christie's, in London. The outstanding feature was a keenly appreciated canvas by Constable, of Stokes-by-Nayland, Suffolk, which was in the field sale in 1879, and then not highly valued. There were two landscapes and two portraits by Gainsborough, and all of these were in the Wynn Ellis sale in 1878. There was applause when the Constable picture appeared on the case. The opening bid was 3,000 gu., but the second bidder called 3,500 gu., and immediately there was a third offer of 5,000 gu. Then, by a few additional bids, the sum of 8,800 gu. was finally registered, the purchaser being Mr. Sully. In the field sale, 1879, this picture was sold for 740 gu., thus growing in value in the course of thirty years to the extent of 8,000 gu. The sum of 8,000 gu. constitutes an auctioneer's record for a Constable picture.

Soon after the sale of a Constable, a pastoral scene by E. S. Cooper, which, in the former sale, 1879, sold for 700 gu., was knocked down for 235 gu. Another decline was Crewdson's "Mountainous River Scene," which went for 21 gu., as compared with 230 gu. in 1876. Fossil's "Tun O'Shanter" suffered a decline from 140 gu. to 105 gu. Frick's picture of "Amy Robart and Janet" sold for 78 gu., as against 100 gu. in 1879. There was little enthusiasm over a Gainsborough picture, "The Gypsy Encampment," for which bidding commenced at 100 gu., and by slow offers there was a final call of 1,050 gu., as compared with 250 gu. in the Wynn Ellis sale in 1878. The artist's "Goddish Oak" sold for 630 gu., or double the sum obtained at the earlier sale. Orchardson's picture, "Christopher Sly," sold for 200 gu., just 50 gu. more than in 1891. A picture attributed to Turner, but an undoubted J. Crome subject, went for 53 gu. This picture aroused a great deal of interest, seeing that in the Wynn Ellis sale it was sold as a Turner for 230 guineas. Webster's "Roast Pig," which in 1872 realized as much as 3,500 gu., sold for 250 gu.

ST. JOHN; ALDERMAN MCGOLDRICK, AND THE WINTER PORT

The following is an extract from an upper province journal, relating to St. John as the winter port:

"Here is the winter vestibule of Canada, cumbersome and complex materialization of a mechanical genius, and in a way, a trifle light as air, the thin vapor that floats in waves and curls across the docks and over the sheds—steam."

"And here when the big liners come in, the Duke of St. John, Chairman McLeod,rick of the harbor board, the commercial equivalent of the Venetian Council of Ten, may be seen hunting about, calling down Irish benedictions upon the heads of the cigarette fiends from overseas who persist in violating the odiousness forbidding smoking about the sheds and piers."

"And here, too, you may observe the ebb and flow of a strange human tide, the men and women of many nations and creeds, from the half-barbaric Russian peasant in bear-skin cap and embroidered sheep-skin jacket, to the latest type of luxurious Canadian femininity radiant in the finery of Paris—a shifting sea of faces, some bright with the joy of beholding the land of promise and possibilities, some stamped with an expression of insupportable melancholy, earnestly southern faces, vivacious, swarthy, with red lips and flashing eyes, faces of the Norseman, phlegmatic and calm, lovely profiles with the Celtic dower of beauty, glances of eyes expressing the wonder and mystery of life in their depths."

"A strange invasion is this, inspired by paradoxical motives, and fraught with the spirit of romantic adventure. Of all the strange pilgrimages of humanity, there is none quite like this modern stampede to the new world. The original invaders—the Britons, Frenchmen, and Spaniards—who tamed the land to the service of the white man, were no doubt spurred on by a great variety of motives, but, however perverted in its manifestations, the pride of race, the instincts of racial aggrandizement, were apparent in all their activities. Ruthless conqueror, or devoted priest, seekers of fortune or pursuers of fame, adventurers or settlers, all were messengers of the might of their people, bent on kindling to greater glory the sacred fires of race."

A. Nicholls, well known to the government of Massachusetts

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

A MAN I know, being disappointed at the last moment by the lady of his choice, took his young sister to the theatre the other day. He was evidently the first time in years he had been anywhere with her, and he made a discovery.

"Never thought much about 'sit one way or the other, but that do you know she's really a good deal brighter and better looking and all than a lot of the girls I used to tote around. I'm going to try it again some day."

"Evidently belongs to that large class of people who would discover a source of pleasure hitherto hidden by its very nearness, if they could only cultivate their families."

"Do you cultivate your family?"

"If you are a man, have you taken pains to find out what a nice person to take to the theatre, or some other good time occasionally, sister is, and what a good fellow on a fishing or hunting trip father can be, or what a nice evening you can have just visiting with mother once in a while?"

"If you are a girl have you ever discovered how much father would like to 'bean' you to the concert or the party, or the kind of toast you want given in a while?"

"If you are a girl have you ever discovered how much father would like to 'bean' you to the concert or the party, or the kind of toast you want given in a while?"

Daily Hints for the Cook

CREAM DRESSING.
Beat a cupful of sour cream which has lapped—but not broken—until it is smooth, adding, after the first minute, a tablespoonful of powdered sugar and a half teaspoonful of lemon juice; also diluted cucumbers into lead water; leave them there until you are ready to serve. Drain well and place upon a shallow chilled dish. Cover with the dressing. An excellent way of disposing of cream that has soured upon your hands.

SWEET STRAWBERRY CAKE
Cream one and one-half cups of sugar with one-half cup of butter and one-half cup of milk, and one-half cup of flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder, and two well-beaten eggs—reserving the white of one for frosting. Flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla, and bake in a long pan. Beat the white of an egg, add one cup of pulverized sugar, color and flavor with a little strawberry juice, and spread over the top of the cake, dotting with fine large berries. Cut in squares and eat with a fork.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
Hull a quart of ripe but firm berries, and cut them up, but do not chop. Put in a bowl and stir into them a heaping cup of granulated sugar. Leave for an hour. Into a quart of flour mix two spoonfuls of baking powder and a half teaspoonful of salt. Chop into the flour a generous spoonful of butter and moisten all with cold milk. Work to a dough that can be handled, turn out upon a floured pastry board and form into a huge loaf, quickly, spread both halves of the cake with a layer of cake tin. Bake to a good brown, take from the oven, tear open berries over the lower half, fit the upper half on this and pour the rest of the berries over the entire cake. Serve with rich cream.

CUCUMBER SALAD WITH SOUR MAPLE DROP CAKE.
Two cups maple syrup, 3 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1/2 cup milk, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup melted butter, flour to make soft batter. Bake in gem pans.

Harland & Wolff Experts Report Favorably—Looks Well for Dry Dock

Ottawa, July 4.—It is understood here that the borings to determine the suitability of Courtenay Bay as a site for a dry dock have been advanced to a point which has enabled the engineers of Harland & Wolff to reach a decision. They have found that the best sort of foundations and approaches can be obtained on the proposed site, and they have reported to the British promoters of the project that the conditions for the construction of a dry dock at Courtenay Bay are excellent.

The next step will be for the promoters to file plans of the proposed dock with an application for a subsidy. This should be made in a couple of months.

Penn, silver tobacco pipe given by William Penn to Joseph Peckover, the family Bible of Richard Penn, a box made from the wood of the tree under which Wm. Penn made his treaty with the Indians in 1682, etc., were recently sold for 310 guineas.

There were sold many interesting manuscripts, including an autograph manuscript of the "School for Scandal," with a note of the Sheridan, which realized £75. The original holograph manuscript draft of Burns' letter to Wm. Pitt, entitled, "Address of the Scotch Distillers," was sold for £110, and the original holograph draft of a love letter sent by the poet to an unknown woman realized £21.

ONTARIO PRISON ON GOLDEN RULE PLAN

Test of Provincial Secretary's Idea of Giving Men Chance to Reform Under Model Conditions

Toronto, July 4.—When the time comes for the demolition of the Central Prison buildings in this city, and the disposal of the site, which is so near to us now that the motto cannot be counted, a new era will have been established in regard to prison practice and management in this province, and a new era of treatment adopted towards those upon whose liberty the law had placed a restraining hand.

After all, the foundation principle governing prison detention in these enlightened days is correction and punishment. Those who through misfortune, circumstance or accident unhappily offend against country's law are not all vicious and depraved. Some are men of good character, who if the right opportunity is given them, will be able to reform themselves. Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, is proving at the new Central Prison Farm buildings, which are now under construction, the test of his idea of giving men a chance to reform under model conditions.

The new buildings, which are now under construction, are situated on a site of about 375 acres, the finest agricultural land in the province. Although possession was only taken in April last, a large crop will be harvested in the fall. This is what is called the westerly section.

Then there is the central section, which goes through front to rear, and furnishes an admirable building site, since it is fairly elevated and excellently drained. The westerly section is a wide strip of gravel and building sand in unlimited quantities. It is well provided with water, and the water is of a quality which—only thirty rods away—will furnish the establishment for some time to come. On this is also found a large area of level ground, and a large area of level ground, and a large area of level ground.

The eastern portion of the farm is the hottest and pasture lands, upon which there are thousands of fence posts. When this part is cleared it will give perhaps one and a half acres of level ground, and a clay subsoil on a limestone bed. The drainage here is excellent.

The situation is most convenient. The Grand Trunk Railway skirts the front, and the line of the R. passes right through the center, following for almost the entire distance the course of the Speed. So much for the farm. What about the men? Let us see what the men that are an essential factor in co-operating with Hon. Mr. Hanna in working out his plan are like. They are there now helping to prepare the property for the building work to come.

It is not a place of high brick walls, armed guards, turnkeys and barred cells. Sergeant T. N. Lyons is in uniform, his hands are his own, and he is engaged at his daily routine. Witness the crowd breaking up into small gangs. One wanders its way across the river and ascends the grassy slope on the far side of the river, and another goes to the front where the wet boggy land is being drained. Here the wayward stream has been straightened and flows through protected sides of boulder stone. Some take the teams and are clearing the road. All have their work to do.

The men get back to nature, and imbibing those things of nature which make the body strong and the mind sound. Ask the foreman at the quarry how the work is being done and he will say that free labor at 82 per day could not be better.

Good Workers
"I wish I could always get men like these," he said in The Waver's hearing. A derrick is needed to raise the stone from the quarry, and a French-Canadian was busy upon the derrick with a brook axe, the use of which is fast becoming a lost art. What a change it all is from prison, where the convict's labor is only worth one-sixth that of free labor. At noon, instead calls the men back to dinner, a simple master tells the sergeant all are there. The scene is repeated at supper time, and apart from necessary chores the day's work is over.

Bread and water diet is traditional prison fare. And bread and water is still used to punish convicts to their sense. But you cannot get a day's work out of a man unless you feed him properly. These men are making money for the province during their detention. A dinner of plain, wholesome, well-cooked food—meat, potatoes and another vegetable, dessert, tea or coffee and bread—and lots of it, food that makes the work a joy, is being done and he will say that free labor at 82 per day could not be better.

Play Ball, Too
The first hour after supper is usually devoted with a ball game. A post in the field marks the boundary, and no man seeks to cross it. Perhaps the team may be "Toronto" and "Hamilton." Time is usually given for three or four innings a side. Officers and men mingle freely.

WILL NOT GIVE $1,000 FOR SPECIAL STREET LIGHTING

Common Council Vote it Down—Chief Clerk Gets $200.—The Mispesc Meeting

At the meeting of the common council yesterday afternoon, the proposed grant of $1,000 to the exhibition association for illuminating the streets during the Dominion exhibition was not agreed to. The grant of $200 to Chief Clerk to defray his expenses attending the meeting of Canadian chiefs of police in Vancouver, passed. The consideration of Stetson, Cutler & Co.'s offer for the Mispesc mill property was referred to the general committee which meets next Monday afternoon. A resolution introduced by Ald. Willet that in future all civic officials and employees be invited to deal impartially between candidates and not to take an active part in elections was voted down. Ald. Jones said he saw by the press reports that Ald. Baxter had ordered the representative of The Daily Telegraph to leave the treasury board meeting. He asked if the council were going to endorse such an action. In reply, Ald. Baxter said it was quite true he had done so, and he thought that the aldermen in general would approve of his action. Since then, however, he had had a pleasant conversation with the editor of The Telegraph about the original cause of the complaint. As a result he had learned that the matter referred to had not been submitted to the editors as it ought to have been. Had the editors had a chance to pass upon it, he had no doubt that the matter would have been dealt with fairly and honestly.

All the members of the board were present, with the common clerk and Recorder Skinner.

The decision returned were read and Ald. Scully declared elected as an alderman-at-large.

The treasury board's report was adopted with the exception of the section recommending the grant of $1,000 for street lighting during the exhibition, which was voted down.

The report of the board of works was adopted.

The report of the safety board was adopted with the exception of two sections relating to the lease of city property, which were referred back for further consideration. The mayor called attention to the unsatisfactory condition of the east end of the market building.

In the report of the water and sewerage board the section recommending the extension of the water system in Simonds was sent back for further consideration. The matter of leasing the Mispesc mill to Stetson, Cutler & Co., was referred to a meeting of the general committee on Monday next.

Reports from the appeals and bills and by-laws committees were read and a draft of a by-law relating to signs over sidewalk was referred back for further consideration.

S. Morton Olive and James Hay were appointed constables.

The communications were referred to the proper boards.

There was some discussion on the question of granting the policemen two weeks of holidays instead of ten days. This was opposed by Ald. Baxter, who moved an adjournment which was lost after some protest. The alderman for Brooks then proceeded to talk, and the meeting was closed for want of a quorum.

YOUTH AND BEAUTY

Women and Men Are Anxious to Keep Young

Nothing so detracts from the attractiveness of woman as dull, faded, lusterless hair.

There is no excuse for this condition nowadays, because notice is hereby given to all readers that "Pain-Sage," the quick acting hair restorer, is now on sale at all druggists and sold with a rigid guarantee at 50 cents a large bottle.

Since its introduction into Canada, Pain-Sage has had an immense sale, and here are the reasons:

It is safe and harmless.

It removes dandruff in two weeks by killing the dandruff germ.

It stops falling hair.

It promptly stops itching of the scalp.

It makes the hair soft, glossy and abundant.

It gives life and brilliancy to the hair.

It is not sticky or greasy.

It is the best, the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made.

Fight shy of the druggist who offers you a substitute, he is unworthy of your confidence.

Made only in Canada by Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

Declines $6,000 Position

Montreal, July 4.—(Special)—Judge Lebeuf, of the superior court, stated tonight that he had refused the offer to be appointed to the Intercolonial board of management, carrying with it a salary of $6,000 a year.

The grocery store owners in the Valley have fallen in with the early closing movement, and beginning tonight, will close their stores at 7 o'clock. The early closing movement is becoming popular with the store keepers in this vicinity.

Good Health

Beecham's Pills

And by the way, in Boxes 25 cents.

The first military funeral in the history of Camp Sussex was held yesterday, when the body of Private Lovejoy, who was drowned on Sunday, was taken to the depot and sent to Lockland, where interment will take place. The casket conveyed on a gun carriage and attended to the railway station by a detachment of soldiers.

And many a coming man neglects to live.

During yesterday's southeast blow the United States gunboat Salem dragged her anchors and grounded at Eastport. The steamer Aurora, which trades between this port and Campbell, happened to be in that vicinity and went to the assistance of Uncle Sam's warship and towed her in to safe anchorage.
The Aurora was detained on her trip to this port on account of this incident. The Salem had been sent to Eastport to help celebrate July 4. Some other small craft suffered during Monday's storm, but no lives were lost.

PUT UP A FENCE, SAYS GRAND JURY

Written Recommendations Placed in Hands of Judge White

FIX RODNEY WHARF

Source of Danger Should be Removed, Jurors Say, But They Do Not Place Responsibility—Recommend Action by City, Meanwhile—Cold Storage Case Tomorrow

In the circuit court this morning, Mr. Justice White presided over the grand jury through their foreman, Thomas H. Bullock, in the matter of the fencing of Rodney wharf, handed the court the following written recommendation:
"Whereas it appears that, by act of the New Brunswick Legislature, approved by the City of St. John, the St. John Railway Co. was given permission some time since to erect on a portion of Rodney wharf in St. John west, a trestle and railway track and to use the same for the carriage of passengers to and from the ferry landing at the end of Rodney wharf; and
Whereas, several accidents have occurred through people falling overboard in this locality, and it appears that such accidents could be prevented by fencing in the vicinity of where the cars stop, and that the provision of some additional lighting is desirable;
"We, the grand jury, therefore recommend the provision of the necessary fencing and the placing of one or more additional lights, but are not prepared to place the responsibility for the carrying out of these undertakings.
"Pending, however, the settlement of the legal questions as to responsibility, we recommend that the common council of the City of St. John be asked to erect the fencing necessary for the protection of human life."
T. H. BULLOCK, Foreman.

Attached was a plan of Rodney wharf, showing the trestle.
In discharging the grand jury from further attendance, as the criminal business will go to the county court, His Honor thanked them for their recommendation, and said that he would lay the matter before the proper authorities. As to the question of liability, he would not give an opinion.
The petit jury were then discharged, and the case adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the equity court chambers when the case of F. E. Williams C. Ltd., vs. The St. John Cold Storage Co., will be taken up. Fred R. Taylor appears for the plaintiff, and John B. M. Baxter, K. C., for the defendant.
