It is now whether it was just or right to introduce the Catholic cathecism among Protestants when the Protestants, who were in the majority, were not allowed to use the Bible in the public schools. The discussion went on. One reverend father "frankly confessed that the Catholics stood before the country as the enemies of the public schools," and added that they would as soon send their children to the pest house or bury them, as let them go to the public schools. Another ture, assembled a Conventicle of Bishops at 1076, and made them pass a sentence of deposition against Gregory VII. He sent this decree to Rome with an insolent epistle of his own. In the midst of a bitter winter he crossed the Alps and presented himself, barefoot and in penance shirt, at the gate of Gregory's castle at Canossa. [From the Boston Journal.] In Open War on the Public Schools In the proceedings of the Roman Catholic Convention at St. Louis on Friday ement of the Catholic policy in regard to our public schools. We are St. John, N. B. very glad to have the statement take so decided a form, and come from so athoritative a source. Hitherto those persons D. E. Mayor Kelly of Richmond, Va., representing in his official position, as he admitted, a constituency which is 80 per cent. Protestant, thought the resolution should be modified, and believed that the Catholics should be satisfied with driving the Bible out of the public schools. A delegate from Pennsylvania expressed the same idea, but was interrupted by an irate priest, who declared that the purpose was not to delegate the public schools, and working Harness, Whips declared that the purpose was not to drive the Bible out of the public schools, but to introduce the correct version and the

A Relic of Barbarism. good things are held to be as nothing in Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate: good things are held to be as nothing in comparison with the right of every man to the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in his own way. Every man is free to do as he will, so long as he keeps within the limits defined by laws enacted by legislators elected by the people. Every man who has not been found guilty of a criminal act, or against whom there is not evidence sufficient to warrant his being placed on trial for a violation of the law, is supposed to be as free as the wind that blows. There is neither King nor Council nor inquisition, but are there not forms of law as cruel and tyrannical? Our Constitution embodies an especial probibition against such a crying wrong: "Witnesses shall not be unreasonably "detained," are the words it uses. But, untortunately, this guarantee of the Constitution is rendered almost nugatory by the statute of 1845, which empowers the District Attorney to hold the witnesses from term to term as the cause may be postponed, and so the witnesses from term to term as the cause may be postponed, and so the witnesses repowerless to be relieved from imprisonment and powerless to obtain damages for their detention; and none can tell when this will end; we have had two trials already, and who knows but we may have another?

James I. Fellows, Esq.—Dear Sir:
Our sale of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has been very large, and notwithstanding its high price, has far exceeded that of any other medicine. We have had from you within the past year six hundred cases of one dozen each, which has gone into almost every part of the Province, and given, so far as we know, Universal Satisfaction.

As it is no "quack medicine," but compounded, as we believe, upon the sound principles of Pharmaceutical science, we trust you will not allow the public to lose sight of a remedy so well calculated to be of Permanent Value. Very respectfully.

(Special to Daily Tribune.) Papers Submitted to Parliament Lord Dufferin's able Defence.

The documents presented to the House yesterday have created a great sensation in all circles. They contain Lord Dufferins account of his course of action in connection with Prorogation, Oath's bill, Pacific Scandall, Royal Commission, and Earl Kimberly's despatches in reply. It appears from Kimberly's despatch that John urged the home authorties to sanction Oath's bill, but upon consulting the law officers of the crown I should have no objection to offer to the Commission as you propose, and I think you may with perfect propriety act upon

John Bright addressed 16,000 people at Birmingham to-night on topics of general public interest. He commended the administration of Gladstone for the past legislation, with the exception of Education Act, which was incomplete. Of the war against the Ashantees, Bright said no one is more anxious than the administration for reasonable pacific adjustment. He believed that the interests and honor of the country would be best consulted by the absolute withdrawal of the British Colonists from the Ashantee coast. He told some stern truths relative to the conduct of English people and Government during the southern rebellion. The conduct of English people and Government during the southern rebellion. Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, nothing has ever been offered which can compare with this Exract of Saksaparilla. It is found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to exuel the humors that rankle in the system at this season of the year. Many combinints have their origin in the spring, and in the causes above mentioned for which no better remedy has ever been devised. By its use multitudes can spare themselves from the ordarance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sore, through which the system strives to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, cruptions, or sores; ceanse it when you find its obstructed and slugg sh in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, pe-ple enjoy better h ath, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this paturum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Her wound was not dangerous, but thinking he had killed her he immediately blew his own brains out, the only proper thing to do under the circumstances, as his brains were evidently of very little value to himself or anylody else.
