Poetry.

JUDGE NOT.

How do we know what hearts have vested in?
How do we know?
Many, like sepulchres, are full within Whose outward garb is whiter than the snow,
And many may be pure who think not so;
How near to God the souls of such have been,
What merits secret penitence may win—
How do we know?
How can we tell who sineth more than we?
How can we tell?
We think our brother walked guiltless,
Judging him in self-rightness. Ah, well!
Perhaps had we been driven through the hell
Of his untold temptations, we might be Less upright in our daily walk than he—
How can we tell?

Dare we condemn the ill that others do?
Dare we condemn?
Their strength is small, their trials not a few,
The file of wrong is difficult to stem,
And it is more clearly than to them
Is given knowledge of the good and true,
More do they need our help, and pity, too—
Dare we condemn?
God help us all, and lead us day by day,
God help us all!
We cannot walk alone the perfect way,
Evil allure us, tempt us, and we fall.
We are but human, and our power is small;
Not one of us may boast, and not a day
Rolls o'er our heads but each hath need to say
God bless us all!

A Deplorable Career.

Wonderful stories not unfrequently come to light at Colonial Police Courts, and one which was divulged a few weeks ago before one of the tribunals at Dundin, the capital of the great province of Otago, was certainly of the class of these. A woman was placed before the magistrate who appeared to be about forty, and her features of a remarkable beauty. She was the daughter of a wealthy gentleman of good position in Leith's favorite company (Glasgow, Ireland, and there made acquaintance with a captain in the army who was quartered in the neighborhood. A clandestine marriage took place, and eventually she accompanied him to India, where they were most kindly received by an uncle of her husband's, who had left England many years before and grown rich, but kept up no communication with his family. All went well for a time, until the intimacy between Mrs. C. and the colonel or her husband's regiment provoked indignation amongst the British. The result was that her husband cast her off, and she resolved to return to Ireland. There, however, she found her family equally and quite via her disgraceful behavior, refused to see her, and she presently found herself once more on her way to India to attend to the heart of her husband towards her. On the way she met a man who became acquainted with her as to his previous marriage, and, notwithstanding her husband and Calcutta, she was joined, and they were married on board. On reaching India he discovered the fraud, and she then discovered that her fit in (in fact her only) husband had died, and left all the wealth which his rich uncle had bequeathed to him, to his relations.

Back again she went to Ireland once more, to find her parents dead, and her sisters scattered in their determination not to receive her. She then in some mysterious manner contrived to enter a house in London as governess, but being discovered by the lady of the house in trifling with her husband, her educational career there at last, came to a sudden termination. And now her family, feeling no doubt she would bring some public scandal upon them, offered through their solicitor to send her to Melbourne. There she obtained employment as teacher in a public institution, her modest earnings, it may be presumed, being sedulously kept from the knowledge of the authorities. So sedate an occupation no doubt proved extremely unpalatable to one accustomed to a life of excitement, and she sought relief in a more such deep passion that she speedily revisited a foreign shore.

From Melbourne, she migrated to New Zealand, and going to the diggings took up with a digger, but her drunkenness soon disgusted even him and at length became an outcast on the streets of Dundin, where she was placed before a magistrate on a charge almost weekly preferred against her of being a drunken disorderly vagrant.

Unhappily the great Australian towns produce a terrible number of the latter-day class, but the record of a career so deplorable as this is rare even there.

We should not quarrel about trifles, yet there are persons who will contend with a friend about matters of no importance.

Scotch Economy.

The student of secular literature has, in the course of that reading, been presented with illustrations of Scotch economy, but here is one which perhaps bears a little more weight than the others. It is extracted from a newspaper—"The Prevention of Railway Accidents."—The Caledonian Railway Company resolved to discourage accidents on the line by putting a handsome premium on discriminating carefulness and good in their servants in future. Every engine driver in their employment who can show a bill of twelve months running without preventable casualty is to receive a reward of £5; and in the same way every guard and brake-man similarly circumstanced will get £3. Clearly there could have been devised no better way to "discourage accidents" on railways than that of encouraging carefulness and zeal on the part of railway servants. There can be no doubt that it is to the discouragement, by the underpayment of servants employed on railways, many if not most of the accidents which occur. The contrary of false parsimony may be confidently expected to result in great comparative gain. But of the Caledonian directors is true parsimony, Caledonian parsimony, canny Scotch parsimony, the parsimony of those who understand what parsimony is—be parsimony that pays. What they lay out in rewards for careful service will be a light in a glance against heavy damages, and the "parsimony" of those truly economical Scotchmen will, no doubt, prove "magnam vim" in deed.—[Punch.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS.—From the time the colt is born, he should be taught to regard man whom he is afterward to serve, as his protector and friend. A human hand should first lift him gently to his feet, and direct his little mouth to the source of water, not nourishment. With the horse's touch he should be made to associate kindness and a supply for all his wants. Instead of yells, oaths, and kicks a rude blow, he should hear only gentle, loving tones from the attendant's lips, and patting in his kindly hand. Fresh milk we taught to expect and watch for man's condescension to the suck or paddock where he is kept, as a dog waits for the coming of his master, as a season of joy and happiness. His little like limbs should be handled, and he brought to yield them promptly and without fear to the master's touch. In short, everything that loving ingenuity can devise should be done to impress upon his mind that early in life, that man is his natural protector and friend, between whom and him an intimate companionship has been ordained by beneficent nature, which insures that he shall be protected and cherished while he serves. The horse as he nurtures upon us. The young colt is in some sense, a member of the family, one of his own household, second in rank and dignity only to the children, so the Arab regards him. The beautiful young thing, with its shining coat and glistening eyes and sprightly action, so full of bounding joy and life, is literally the child's playmate. He shares their food, and often their sleeping mat; and a blow dealt him is as dealt the child's son, or whose service in peace, and safety in the hour of battle, the young thing is being tried.

THE CHIN.—Fortune tellers are generally physiognomists, and all the features of the human face do their share in enlightening the understanding of the seers. The chin at the present day is rather difficult to read on account of the increasing custom of wearing a beard. A good chin should be either perfect or broad. A very interesting chin denotes strength united with firmness amounting to obstinacy. A pointed chin generally denotes a soft, fat, double chin generally denotes a life of lying and an angular chin judgment and firmness. Flatness of chin implies coldness; a round, dimpled chin, goodness; a small chin, fear; sharp indentations in the middle of the chin point to a cool and understanding. The color and texture of the skin and the hair of the beard also direct harmony with the features. These should be studied more than they have been. A facility in drawing faces is of great use to the student of physiognomy, as it enables him to note peculiarities of feature which no written description would be capable of preserving.

An anecdote of Parson Shute, the first minister settled at Hingham, which for ready wit might not be pre-empted. It appears that the reverend gentleman was very fond of pudding, so at a ministerial meeting one day, the hostess, in order to gratify the guest, had pudding for dinner. Unfortunately it came very near the fire while it was cooking so that when it was served it was extremely hot. The parson, without allowing it time to cool placed a piece at once in his mouth, and then followed the usual contortions incident to such an occasion, but all to no purpose. The pudding would not go, so the parson who was a polite man, quietly slipped it out of his mouth and into his coat pocket, all of which was observed by his brother minister, who, for the sake of a joke, said, "So you are putting pudding in your pocket, are you? Oh yes," said the parson, all unmoved, "I put a little piece in there merely to light my pipe with after dinner. The explanation, it is needless to add, was sufficient.

A "look some little time back was sent as a tribute of respectful admiration by a portrait to a French cure. Done to a golden brown, reposing on the regular slice of toast, the glorious morsel awaited the good priest's knife and fork, when he was called away for a moment. His absence was very short, but those few seconds allowed time for a miserable cat to make off with the expected treat—so, at least, he thought who cooked and served up the bird. Easter came and the good woman knelt before the confessional, which was occupied by her master. When her verbal sin had been disposed of, she stopped short.

"Well, Catherine, go on, said the confessor—oh, I am waiting. I dare not, father. Is so very bad? Yes, father, you remember that wood cock. The woodcock stood by the cat—do I not remind the priest with a dolorous creak, which afforded a deeper roof than mine does not crack over a neighbor. I was that cat! gasped Catherine. You are? said the priest. Yes, father, next day. And how? Cold—and you a cook who might so easily have made it into a "salad"! Wretched woman, you shall not have absolution!

EXAGGERATION REBUKED.—A quiet Scotch minister was given somewhat to exaggerating in the pulpit. His clerk reminded him of it one day on the congregation. He replied that he was not aware of it, and wished the clerk, the next time he did it to give a cough by way of a hint. Soon after he was describing Samson's tying the fox's tails together—He said:

The foxes in those days were much larger than ours, and they had tails 20 foot long. Anem! came from the clerk's desk. That is curious, the preacher, according to their measurement; but by ours they were 15 only! Anem! louder than before. But as you may think this is extravagant, we'll just say they were 10 feet. Anem! anem! still more vigorous. The parson leaned over the pulpit, and shaking his finger at the clerk said: You may cough there all the night to get me; I'll not take off a bit more. Would you have the foxes with me tail at a!

HOW THE PROCESS OF DIGESTION WAS INVESTIGATED.—A young man named St. Martin, a Caledonian, was the victim of an accident by which a hole of considerable size was made in his stomach. He recovered, and regained his ordinary health; but strange as it may appear, the hole did not close, but to the end of his life his stomach remained in direct communication with the external air. Dr. St. Martin watched very carefully the time required for the digestion of different articles of food, observed the accumulation of the gastric juice, the motions of the stomach, and other points of the greatest interest to physiology. Among the articles observed (tripe) an unusual piece of beef was digested most easily. They were liquefied in an hour, whereas beef and mutton took from two hours and three quarters to four hours, while pork required five hours and a quarter, and boiled mutton five hours and a half.—Case's Household Guide.

MORAL COURAGE.—Have the courage to speak to a friend in a steady case, even though you are in company with a rich one and a rich friend.

Have the courage to own you are poor, and thus disarm poverty of its sharp sting. Have the courage to cut the most agreeable acquaintance you have, when you are convinced he lacks principle; a friend should be a friend's in friendship, but not with his vices. Have the courage to show your respect for honesty in whatever guise it appears, and your contempt of dishonesty and duplicity by whomsoever exhibited. Have the courage to acknowledge your ignorance rather than seek to know under false pretences. Have the courage to obey your Maker at the risk of being ridiculed by man.

LONGEVITY OF ELEPHANTS.—It is stated by Sir Henry Stretton, who had a command in India during the Sepoy rebellion, in 1857, that some of the elephants employed by him had inscriptions upon their trunks showing their capture by the British forces at the celebrated battle of Plassey, nearly one hundred years previous. Pliny quotes Aristotle to the effect that elephants live from 200 to 300 years. In a vegetable-feeding quadruped, says Mr. Buckland, the duration of the teeth offers a fair criterion by which to judge of the probable extent of life, and we think that Sir Everard Home is the physiologist who has observed that the teeth of the deer and sheep are worn in much less than fifteen years; those of the ox tribe about twenty years; those in the horse in about forty or fifty years; while those of the elephant will last for a century. The longevity of the last mentioned animal must be, therefore, in all probability, very considerable, although falling far short of the ancient estimate.

The following beautiful experiment, described by Prof. Tyndall, shows how music may be transmitted by an ordinary wooden rod. In a room two floors beneath his lecture-room, there was a piano upon which an artist was playing, but the audience could not hear it. A rod of deal, with its lower end resting upon the sounding-board of the piano, extended upwards through the two floors; its upper end being exposed above the lecture-table. But still no sound was heard. A violin was then placed upon the end of the rod, which was thrown into resonance by the ascending thrills, and instantly the music of the piano was given out in the lecture-room. A gong and harp were substituted for the violin and with like result. The vibrations of the piano strings were communicated to the sounding-board; they traversed the long rod, were re-produced by the resonant bodies above, the air was carried into waves and the whole musical composition was delivered to the listening audience.

Out of one hundred men you run against, you will find thirty-five worrying themselves into low spirits and indignation, about troubles that will never come.

SUMMARY.

The English Press, Radical and Tory, have in many instances fallen into the error of supposing that Canada was about to admit American manufactures duty free while the protective scale of duties should continue to press on goods of English construction.

The grasshopper plague is a frightful scourge in the States of Nebraska, Iowa, and Minnesota. Its ravages are thus explained by a contemporary:

"For several years the grasshopper has paid his visits to some parts of these States as regularly as the crops come. He comes a parent, and without an hour's notice, the farmer's equity and industry are seen his rod and cultivated his crops, ending his money and his time for several months, and with the aid of a favorable season makes his fields rich with a promising harvest.

The eccentricities of Election Judges are beginning to attract the attention of the House of Commons, for this evening a notice of a question was given by Mr. C. E. Lewis, with regard to the odd treatment which the petition against the return of the members for Boston received; and Mr. Monk inquired if an Election Judge has power to adjourn the hearing of a petition in order to go circuit as it is said one of these high functionaries means to do, if he thinks it necessary, in the case of Strand, The Attorney General distinctly stated his opinion that the learned Judge's discretion under the Election Petitions Act extends to that length.

The Commons are very rigid in keeping on the fiction that they are ignorant of what occurs in the House of Peers, while the Lords are free and easy in taking notice of what has occurred in the Lower House, which they could only learn from hearsay or the papers. An instance of the conservatism of the Commons in this regard happened this evening, in this wise: It is well known that an international conference which is to consider belligerent rights from a mitigating the horrors of war point of view, of which hitherto the British Government has fought rather shy, is to be held at Brussels. A few evenings ago, Lord Derby was interrogated in the Lords as to whether the Government were going to send a Commissioner to represent this country at the conference, and he made a most elaborate reply, stating all the circumstances of the case, which was duly reported in the newspapers. Nevertheless, Sir James Simon thought it fit to suddenly ask over again the question which has been most fully answered already. As might have been expected, Mr. Derby's reply was much more constrained than that of Lord Derby, but it amounted in substance to the same; for he said that Great Britain had consented to send a delegate on certain conditions, which he would by no means disclose.

RECENT ASSYRIAN DISCOVERIES by Mr. GEORGE SMITH.—Last night, at a meeting at the Society of Biblical Archaeology, Conduit Street, London, Mr. George Smith, of the British Museum, read a paper on his recent excavations and discoveries made on the site of Nineveh. After entering into details respecting these discoveries, Mr. Smith concluded by suggesting that the great library in the Palace of Sennacherib ought to be excavated and all its treasures recovered. He calculated there must be 20,000 fragments of cuneiform tablets buried there, and it would require three years work and the expenditure of £5000 to complete excavations. Examination should also be made round the walls for Assyrian tombs, particularly for royal tombs, as with reference to them we are at present totally ignorant of Assyrian customs.

Some of the military disciplinarians are muttering against the accommodations of the Wimbledon encampment. The strictness of the arrangements is about; and hot baths, billiard tables, champagne suppers, croquet lawns, and mosquito curtains—not to speak of flirtations with the fair sisters of brother volunteers, while bands are discoursing ecstatic music—make the meeting look rather like a protracted picnic than an important aid towards forming soldier-like habits. But this is the surface view, and seems rather to be a sort of re-echo of the criticism offered two years ago by the Crown Prince of Germany, when he was on a visit to Great Britain. The fact is, Wimbledon is a year by year becoming more fashionable, and the demands of fashion are as inexorable in the case of military requirements. They also strive for the mastery are temperate in all things, as the excellent sleeping this year proves. By the way, have not recent British wars shown that men who, in time of peace, had been regarded as men of carpet knights, were before an enemy, as during the roughest most troops of ancient border-raids, and as fearless of death as your most rigid ascetic? A silk glove can be worn on an iron hand.

The Standard.

SAINT ANDREWS, JULY 23, 1874.

Serious Fire.

We regret that St. Andrews hitherto so fortunate in escaping fires, should have recently been visited by that destructive element. Between two and three o'clock on Saturday morning, a fire was discovered in the barn attached to Clark's Hotel, between it and the Engine house. The alarm was at once given by Mr. Magee, whose store and residence is within a few yards of the premises. The Engines and hose carts went to work with a hearty will to save the property, but the fire had made such headway, owing to the hay and straw having caught, that the flames leaped from the barn to the Engine house, and the old Town Hall, which were in a few minutes on fire, that it was impossible to save the buildings already in flames. Fences and sheds were pulled down and the efforts of the fire companies and populace were directed towards saving the residence of Sheriff Paul, the Record Office and the premises occupied by Mr. Magee, which we are happy to record were successful. Had Mr. Paul's house caught fire, it is probable that the whole Church Block of buildings on the eastern side of Water Street as well as the houses on the opposite side would have been destroyed, and no one can calculate the injury which such a calamity would have entailed upon the Town, as the houses on King Street would also have been burned, and there is no knowing where the fire would have ended.

The Hotel owned by Mr. Clark with the barn and sheds were consumed. His loss is certainly large; in addition to the Hotel he lost four horses, all of his sleighs, several sets of harness, hay and oats, a supply of wood and coal. The carriages and horse furniture were saved. Sheriff Temple, of Fredericton, lost a very fine mare. Mr. Ludgate, of St. George, lost a hired horse, and Mr. McMan, of Calais, a horse, all of which were in Clark's stable. One of his horses which had been hired, returned while his premises were on fire. In the Town Hall were stored 60 stand of rifles, belonging to the Militia Department, which were destroyed. The Hotel was insured for $3,000, and the Engine house for $100. It is generally believed that the fire was purely accidental. Mr. Clark informed us that he intends rebuilding without delay.

CANADA FIRST.—Mr. Howland, President of the Dominion Board of Trade, at the request of some gentlemen in St. John, addressed a large meeting held in the Mechanics' Institute on Friday evening last, on the subject of the New National Party. Sheriff Harding occupied the chair, and on behalf of the National Maritime Club, a recently organized society of persons for the purpose of educating the people politically, introduced Mr. Howland in a telling speech, during which he showed the necessity of establishing such a party as the "Canada First." Space will permit of our giving only an extract or two from Mr. Howland's able exposition of the principles which govern the new National party. He said: "The great mistake in the carrying of Confederation was the failure to have the question submitted to the people at the polls (clearly). Then we should have had strict party lines drawn in each Province, but there was an amalgamation of party leaders that destroyed the old organizations. An effort has been making to restore the old party lines, but it failed. Men changed every day. In Nova Scotia the transformations have been miraculous. (Laughter.) There is no such thing now as political principle. The people in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, he had found, were ready to form a new political party. As it is now the men who get the support of certain organizations—such as Orangemen, Catholics, etc.—get into office, no matter whether they are Tories or Liberals. The party leaders had formed policies and forced them down the throats of the people. The political history of the country could be read in the history of George Brown and Sir John Macdonald for the last twenty years. The people had not been consulted—the party had not been consulted, as the ruling party is in the United States and England. We must have a great party, extending over the whole country, for breaking down Provincial lines (applause), putting down sectionalism, abolishing sectarian prejudices, and making Canada really one country, a united country, instead of being like a bundle of sticks tied loosely together. (Cheers.) The sooner we elect men as Canadians, and not as representatives of this or that religious denomination, the better. (Applause.) We are entitled to have the same national sentiment for our country as an Englishman or Scotchman has for his. The principle on which the Toronto Club acted was that the platform and principles of the National party could only be decided by a convention of delegates from all the Provinces. The National party had been objected to on the ground of loyalty. Look at the separated state of the Provinces, and consider if a party that wants to bind them closer together is not more likely to oppose and prevent Annexation than the party that keeps the Provinces as they are. There should be a Maritime union, doing away with these little Parliaments, and making the Lower Provinces more influential. We should consider that we are Canadians first, instead of mere New Brunswickers or Ontarians (applause), and when Canadians can do this and stand shoulder to shoulder the country will take the position to which it is entitled." (Cheers.) The thanks of the meeting were unanimously tendered to Mr. Howland for his able address.

MAGINLEY & CO'S ROYAL CIRCUS has been so extensively advertised through the British Museum and Mammoth Menagerie will visit St. Andrews on August 7th, giving two performances, one in the afternoon the other in the evening. We extract the following from the Boston "Herald" of June 23rd, which speaks volumes in relation to this fine Exhibition: "Maginley & Co's Circus and Menagerie gave their initial performance yesterday on the Coliseum grounds to a crowded house in the afternoon, and a packed one last night. The Circus is far above the average, and greatly superior to the two last that were here. Their acts are not the old stereotyped and stale performances usually seen, but new, fresh and sensational, the riding being particularly daring. The Menagerie comprises a list of rare wild beasts never before exhibited here, and their school of educated animals most interesting." From the above we expect a fine performance, and believe they will be greeted with a crowded house. Read the advertisement.

The new Minister of Inland Revenue, Mr. Geo. Fisher, has been returned from Verchers, no opposition having been offered him. Mr. Geo. Fisher is a man of ability and great parliamentary experience.

The Canadian Team at Wimbledon are giving a good account of themselves, and will maintain their reputation as marksmen. It will require extra shooting however to beat their English competitors.

THE TREATY.—It is apparent from the general tone of the most influential journals in the Provinces, and the remarks made at the Dominion Board of Trade, that the proposed Reciprocity Treaty does not meet with general approval in its present form. It is not probable that it will be introduced as a Government measure, unless it is amended, as from the present state of public feeling, it would be lost in Parliament, and the Government defeated.

THE CIRCUIT COURT was opened here on Tuesday; His Honor Mr. Justice Fisher, presiding. Four causes were entered for trial. The first was finished yesterday, the second is now being tried.

At a meeting of the committee of the Charlotte Co. Agricultural Society, held on Friday last, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Whereas, it has pleased the Almighty dispenser of events, since the last meeting of this Society, to remove by death Mr. ROBERT EASTMAN, who for many years acted efficiently as a member of the Executive Committee of the Society, therefore resolved: That this board do to record their sense of the loss thus sustained by the Society, and the community generally, and to convey to the widow and family of the deceased, their heartfelt sympathy upon the sad bereavement sustained by them.

FIRE AT ST. STEPHEN.—About one o'clock on the 26th inst., fire was discovered in the rear of a dwelling house occupied by Mr. Jas. Lyder, and as the wind was blowing quite strong the flames got considerable headway in a short time. Fortunately the engine was soon on hand and succeeded in putting out the fire, not, however, until the building was pretty well damaged. The building was not insured. The Calais steam engine came over and helped to subdue the fire. The damaged house was attached to Mr. W. B. King's wholesale grocery store, which at the time contained $8,000 worth of stock.

THE QUEEN OF THE CUNARD FLEET.—The new Cunard steamship "Bothnia," which will leave this port on her return voyage to Great Britain on the 26th of next month, is in every way a magnificent vessel. She was built on the Clyde by the Messrs. Thompson, and she is the largest of the Cunard fleet, which now numbers 49 steamships, of an aggregate capacity of 90,000 tons, and strength of engines equal to 15,000 horse-power.

About £3,500,000 are invested in the capital of the company. The length of the "Bothnia" is 462 feet, her breadth 42½ feet, her depth 36 feet, and her burthen 4,535 tons. Her engines of the compound direct acting variety, have a stroke of 64 inches, and are rated at 600 horse power. She is provided with twelve boats, constructed on an improved life boat pattern. There are cabin accommodations for 300 passengers, and the steerage will take 800 persons. The main saloon is 41 feet square, and more than 300 can dine in it at once. On her trial trip in Scotland, from Wemyss Bay to Loch Fyne and back, her speed was ascertained to be 14 knots an hour.—[Special American Journal.

RECITATIONS BY MR. CARR.—We cannot do better than give the following notice from the "Montreal Gazette":

"We have heard it whispered, or even loudly asserted in some quarters that Tennyson's popularity has begun to wane. To all who are inclined to take up this cry we would say, 'Go home with the chance, and hear Tennyson read by Mr. Carr, then say what you think of the poet and what of his interpreter.' Mr. Carr has apparently entered into the inmost spirit of the poet's muse, and he is able to show as Tennyson all his strength of human feeling, in all his keenness of sentiment, in all the wealth and mastery of his fancy. Mr. Carr's highest art was exemplified upon 'Enoch Arden.' This poem is one of Tennyson's greatest achievements, but how great it was—how perfect in its structure, how noble in its expression, how simply grand in moral elevation, how full of dramatic interest and tragic pathos,—we never fully realized till we heard it from the lips of Mr. Carr. To recite that poem alone as he recites it would be a worthy result of years of study; and he must have laboured long and lovingly in order to acquire that perfect mastery of it in all its parts, and through all its changes of situation, character and sentiment which his reading displays. Enoch's farewell of Annie is incomparably touching, and it is with a truly terrible vividness that Mr. Carr depicts the agony and despair of that long lost mariner as he obtains a glimpse of the home in which his wife and children are gathered in happiness and peace around a second husband and father."

From the Sherbrooke Gazette.

On Wednesday last about forty of W. A. Smith Esq's former pupils took an opportunity of expressing their esteem and kind wishes for him and his bride by sending him a very handsomely bound illustrated Family Bible, with the following fitting inscription: "Mr. and Mrs. Smith, from his old pupils." Mr. Smith in suitable terms expressed to the donors his appreciation of their good wishes for Mrs. Smith and himself, and the great pleasure which it gave him to accept their handsome gift. The bride who is highly esteemed by a large circle of friends, was the recipient of several elegant and costly presents, on her marriage. The happy pair carry with them to their home in New Brunswick, the best wishes of the inhabitants of this city, for their future happiness and welfare.

Prospectus for 1874—Seventh Year.

The Aldine

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY JOURNAL, UNIVER-SALLY ADMITTED TO BE THE HANDSOMEST
PERIODICAL IN THE WORLD, A REPRESENTATIVE AND CHAMPION OF AMERICAN TASTE.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Altho' each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common projudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantage of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view of the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influence of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attention any of its predecessors.

PREMIUM FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos.
The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appear as exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE is a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEW YORK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1873.
Messrs. James SUTTON & Co.,
Publishers, 58 Maiden Lane, New York.

production, and by mechanical process of the highest quality.
Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS. MORAN.

tail or club rate; cash for subscription must be sent to the publishers direct, or sponsibility to the publishers, except in the

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar
Bitters are a purely vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BIT-TERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect tonic and invigorator of the system.
Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use VINEGAR BITTERS as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants
in every form.

R. H. McDONALD & CO.,
Druggists and General Agents, San Francisco, California, and cor. Washington and Charlotte Sts., New York.
Sold by all Druggists and Dealers.

No Person can take these Bitters unwillingly, and remain long unwell, provided their bowels are not distressed by mineral poison or other means,
and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by excessive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary.

These are no cathartics for the purpose equalled by Dr. J. Walker's VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache,
Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflanmation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.
One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swell-ings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Gout, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent
Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blisters, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald
Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scouris, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Jaundice.—In all cases of jaundice, rest assured that your liver is not doing its work.
The only sensible treatment is to promote the secretion of the bile and favor its removal. For this purpose use VINEGAR BIT-TERS.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find the impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
