Work.

Work ! for time is flying, Work! with heart sincere Work ! for souls are dying. Work! for night is near.

In the Master's vineyard, Go and work to-day : Be no useless sluggard, Standing in the way.

Go and labor rather Fallen vines to rear. Ripen'd fruits to gather, Barren trees to care.

Join the Gospel reapers In their work of faith. Rousing careless sleepers Lest they sleep in death.

Tell the Serpent-bitten " Now to look and live," Tell the leprous-smitten " Jesus will receive."

Sound the invitation " Sinners come to Me," Tell to every nation " Mercy's full and free."

In this glorious calling Work till day is o'er, Work till evening falling, Thou can'st work no more.

Then thy labour bringing To the King of Kings, Borne, with joy and singing, Home on Angel's wings.

There, were Saints adore Him, Where the ransom'd meet. Lay thy sheaves before Him, Lay them at His feet.

Hear the Master saying, From His heavenly throne, When thy wages paying, " Labourer well done."

" Work! for time is flying. Night is almost here, Precious souls are dying, Thy reward is near.

Growing Love.

I am sure if we shall ever learn the breadth of Christ's love our love will grow broad ; we shall no longer confine our love to our own church, but shall care for all the churches of God; we shall feel an affection not only for Christians of our own name, but to Christians of all names. Then our love will gain length also. We shall love Christ so that we can not leave off loving Him. We shall persevere in love, we shall abide in his love as he abides in it. We shall constantly have the flame of our love going up to heaven. And then our love will acquire depth. We shall be lumbled on account of our sinfulness. and we shall sink lower and lower in our cwn esteem and our love will become deeper and more grounded as it decends more fully into the core of our nature. And then love will climb the hights. We shall forget the world and the cares thereof; we shall become Christians who lie no longer among the pots, but who have received the wings of a dove covered with silver, and her feathers with yellow gold. We shall attain to such a hight in our love, that we shall S. S. The PAIN KILLER is by universal consen allowed to have won for itself a reputation unsur-passed in the history of medicinal preparations. Its instantant ous effect in the entire erudication and extinction of PAIN in all its various forms incidental to the human family, and the unsolicited written and verbal testimony of the masses in its favour, are its own best advertisements. The isgredients which enter into the Paim Killer, being purely vegetable render it a perfectly safe and efficacious remedy taken internally as well as for external application, when used according to directions. The slight stain npon line from its use in external applications, is readily r moved by washing in a little alcohol.

This medicine, justly celebrated for the curso many of the afflictions incident to the burfamily, has now been before the public over twe years, and has found its way into almost every the control of the con
