

PRESIDENT'S CHIEF AIM HUMANITY

Wilson Intimates That Peace Will be His Endeavor.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Washington, May 11.—The sinking of the Steamer Lusitania and the situation resulting from that act continued to-day to hold the undivided attention of official Washington. Chief interest naturally centered in the White House where it was expected President Wilson would give some indication to his advisers what course the United States will pursue in the present emergency. To-day's cabinet meeting is the first to be held since the Lusitania disaster.
 President Wilson returned early to-day from Philadelphia, where he addressed a gathering of naturalized citizens last night. His speech was being widely discussed here to-day. While the president did not refer specially to the situation brought about by the sinking of the Lusitania, some thought he intimated that while the United States would remain at peace with Germany, from the American viewpoint that her action was wrong. One of his advisers said the President's chief aim would be humanity, no matter how vigorous the course adopted. Speculation as to what will be the policy of the United States still continued to-day. President Wilson, in the seclusion of the White House has for the past three days been giving constant attention to the matter. Messages continued to reach the White House to-day from throughout the country expressing confidence in the president's ability to handle the situation.
 Secretary of State Bryan and other officials of the state department to-day awaited receipt of the German Government's note expressing its deepest sympathy for the Lusitania disaster, but placing responsibility upon the British Government's "plan of starving the civilian population of Germany." Unofficial advice is that the communication had been cabled to the German embassy here. Secretary Bryan had already received a communication from Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who said he regarded as an expression of regret on behalf of the Ambassador himself.

BRANTFORD WILL HAVE A NEW INDUSTRY NOW

Established for the Purpose of Shell Making.
 Brantford is to have another industry making shells in a large way. Mr. W. P. Kellett recently went to work to form a local company in this respect and his efforts have met with excellent success.
 He interested Ker and Goodwin who have a machinery and mill supply shop on Colborne street, and also some local and outside men and a company was formed with a capital of $50,000. All the necessary machinery that could be purchased in the Dominion was obtained and Messrs. Kellett and Ker are now in the States obtaining other necessary equipment there.
 The first order, part of a big Canadian contract with the British government has been allotted to the new firm. It is for 25,000 high explosive shells weighing 45 pounds each. Sixty men will be almost immediately employed and they will work on day and night shifts. It is the intention to fill the order at the Ker and Goodwin works which will also be enlarged as the line of business is likely to reach large developments. It is understood that the machinery purchased includes equipment for also turning out six-inch shells.
 This new Brantford industry gives promise of reaching large dimensions as it is under energetic and skillful management. In addition to Ker and Goodwin, W. S. Brewster, Dr. Marquis, Secord and Sons, Johnson Bros., contractors and others are among the stockholders.
A FANCY FAIR.
 Under the auspices Dufferin Rifles Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be held in the armories on Tuesday evening, May 18th. Admission 10 cents. Proceeds to supply the water wagon for 36th Battalion, shortly leaving for the front. A right pleasing play entitled "H. M. S. Brantford," under the direction of Miss Reding, whose talent is so widely known, included in the admission fee. "Flowers," "Candies," "Home-made Cooking," "Shrapnel Shells" for sale at the Home-made Cooking Booth. Also Ice Cream and "Hot Dogs."

THE DISASTER OF THE LUSITANIA, DRAWN FROM DESCRIPTIONS SENT BY CABLE

THE LAST OF THE LUSITANIA
 This picture shows the giant British steamship Lusitania just before she plunged to her doom when torpedoed by a submarine, carrying with her hundreds of lives to a watery grave. The picture was drawn by G. A. Coffin, the eminent artist, especially for this newspaper and the New York Herald following the awful disaster.

French Report
 Gains To-day
 Along Front

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Paris, May 11, 2:30 p.m.—The French War Office this afternoon, issued the following statement on the progress of hostilities:
 "In Belgium, near St. Georges, the enemy endeavored by a night attack to recapture the positions taken by us the day before yesterday. They were, however, repulsed.
 "To the north of Arras our progress has continued. Monday evening we took possession of the cemetery and then the eastern portion of the village of Carency, and also of the road from Carency to Saucnez, Carency, where we took 230 more prisoners, including three officers and captured several machine guns, is now invested by our troops on three sides and is reduced to precarious communication with the German lines.
 "The forces brought by the enemy from Lens and from Douai in automobiles were not successful any place in getting the advantage. Four strong counter attacks broke down under our fire during the afternoon of Monday, at the same time suffering very heavy losses.
 "These attacks took place in front of Loos, at Notre Dame de Lorette, at Saucnez, and at Neuville Saint Vaast. At this last mentioned place we gained territory, at the same time taking about 100 prisoners. The number of officers taken by us up to yesterday evening is more than 50.
 "Monday night the enemy suffered to the north of Neuville Saint Vaast, preceded by a violent bombardment were completely repulsed and we retained all the ground gained by us, at the same time inflicting very heavy losses on our assailants. On the remainder of the front from Loos to Arras there were no counter-attacks yesterday.
 "Following the bombardment of Dunkirk, reported yesterday morning during which three shells fell, but without hurting anybody or inflicting any damage, the Germans threw eleven shells on the town of Bergues, five miles southeast of Dunkirk. Twelve persons were killed and eleven were wounded. Our batteries at once opened fire and they put a stop to the shelling of the enemy which was not resumed during the day.
 "On the rest of the front there is nothing to report.
 "One of our aviators yesterday bombed a hangar for dirigible balloons at Maubeuge and started a fire. A French aviator, was compelled to come down within the German lines where his machine took fire.
 "On the other hand the Germans brought down yesterday a British aviator, and British soldiers were successful in bringing down two German airmen."

TO-DAY'S LOCAL CASUALTY LIST

Still further names are being added to the roll of honor for our city. Some are domiciled in far off English homes and only claim the kinship of residence in our city; others have few friends one can trace, and are, therefore, the charge of everyone who cares to care for the soldier. The men some times weary for a letter from home—any sort of a letter at all, and the suggestion is made that some one, man, woman, or boy and girl, looking through the casualty list sit down and write the wounded man a letter. It need not be a long one, just a talk that shows a little mutual sympathy, something that will call the wounded fellow away from his aches and the smell of iodine, to our blossom scented countryside. Now, if you wish to do a good turn, look at to-day's list, and send a letter. Some chap will brighten up to get it—it's very little to do for them.

 PTE. A. G. HOLWAY, resided at 25 George Street, wounded.

 CAPT. TOWSE, V.C.
 The signature attached to the letter received by Mrs. Leeming, a sister of Pte. Houlding, now wounded, recalls an incident that has resulted in a sacrifice, borne with a courage equal to the dash which engendered its recognition.
 A section of the Gordon Highlanders were holding desperately to a donga in the teeth of an enveloping Boer attack, a wounded soldier outside the donga's shelter suddenly became the mark for the Boer rifles. Capt. Towse, in charge of this section, left the shelter of the trenches and attempted to bring him in. In doing so he was shot through the eyes and blinded, but plunged back with his burden into safety. Many months passed and the aftermath of

German Regret
 Coupled With Cheap Sneer

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 New York, May 11.—These editorial comments appear in the newspapers of this city this morning on Germany's expression of the sympathy for the loss of life among Americans on the Lusitania:
 "The World."
 "The German Government's official expression of 'heartfelt sympathy over the loss of American lives' in the Lusitania massacre is coupled with a sneer of 'regret that Americans felt more inclined to trust England's promises than to pay attention to the warnings from the German side.'
 "This adds insult to injury. The relations between the United States and Germany are already strained to the breaking point. Most of us ardently and sincerely hope that the breaking point will not be reached, and that the United States will not be forced to accept the last resort of a nation that can obtain no adequate satisfaction for deliberate and wanton wrongs. The issue rests with Germany. It is for the German Government to say whether it desires peace or war with the United States.
 "If it desires peace with the United States there will be no more Lusitania massacres. There will be no more Guiltlight incidents. There will be no further attacks of any kind upon American ships and American citizens engaged in the exercise of their lawful rights. If Germany wants war with the United States she has only to continue in the course that she is now pursuing."
 The Tribune:
 "An official statement of the German Government that the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine disposes of half of all the information that the president of the United States can desire before resolving upon his action.
 "He knows now from the German Government that the Americans massacred on the Lusitania were the victims, not of the individual wantonness of a subordinate, but of the policy of

German Attacks
 Near Uzsok Fail,
 and are Flung Back.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Petrograd, via London, May 11.—An official statement issued last night by general headquarters said:
 "In the region of Uzsok Pass the enemy made a fruitless attack on Saturday. Serried enemy columns attacked impetuously a position held by two of our companies in a sector of the Javrina mountain chain on the slopes above Lommitza. The enemy's losses were so heavy, heaps of bodies interfered with the fire from our trenches. Our troops, in spite of the enemy's machine gun fire, left their trenches and swept the enemy from the whole region.
 "The same day, after a desperate fight, the enemy forced a Russian detachment near the village of Zaleveki to retire to the left bank of the Dniester.
 "Sunday night, our vanguard having crossed the Dniester, attacked the enemy on the Chaboruki front, to the mouth of the Stry. We took 1,300 prisoners, one gun and many machine guns."
BIG SWEEP STARTS
 Geneva, via Paris, May 11.—A despatch to the Tribune says the Russians have begun a strong offensive movement at Tarnow, as well as in Courland and on the Stry, driving back Austrian and German forces with heavy losses.

SURVIVORS ARE DOING
 SPLENDIDLY

Lady Allan Being Treated and Children are Cared For.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Queenstown, May 11.—Lady Allan, wife of Sir Montagu Allan, of Montreal, left on a special train to-day for London. Lady Allan's back was injured but she was well enough to travel under the care of several doctors and nurses. A number of other survivors went to London with her.
 Probably the most unconcerned of the survivors is the eight-months-old son of Mrs. H. Booth. The mother lost her life, but the father has been located at a hotel in Ottawa. The baby was picked up from the water, but apparently is suffering no ill effects. A number of the survivors recognized the infant and remembered that the father had remained behind in Canada. An aunt of the infant, who is in England, will take charge of him.
 A pathetic case is that of Mollie Mainman, aged 18, and the seven-year old twins, Elizabeth and Edwin Mainman, who lost their father, A. R. Main; their mother, and two brothers. The family was on the way to Chester, England to take possession of an estate there, which had been bequeathed to them. The children were taken in charge by a lawyer.
MRS. RYERSON PERISHED.
 By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Toronto, May 11.—Latest compilation of the missing and saved among the Toronto passengers of the lost Lusitania, gives 81 Toronto passengers lost, included in which were 33 women and 10 children. The saved from Toronto number 73 among whom are 24 women and 13 children. The list of Canadians outside Toronto shows 91 missing, including 36 women and 8 children and 95 saved, counting 35 women and 4 children.
 Recent additions to the Toronto survivors are the names of Mrs. E. G. Webster and Mrs. A. V. Wiggins, 18 Boon avenue; R. W. Sheras, Montreal street, and F. A. McMurtry, 315 Russell Hill road. The death of Mrs. Ryerson, wife of Col. Ryerson, was definitely established in a cable to the family this morning which said her body had been recovered near Kinross, identified and temporarily interred.

SOLDIERS' SMOKES

Colonel Cole was a merry old soul,
 And a merry old soul was he;
 He puffed at a pipe with an empty bowl.
 Then he called for his soldiers
 Three.
 Every soldier had something to smoke,
 But nary a smoke had he.
 Tee-hee, tee-hee,
 Laughed the soldiers three,
 We've come to share, and we're glad to share
 What's come from home for Soldiers Three.

SENT HOME AGAIN.

Rome, May 11—Andreas Hermes, head of the section of plant disease in the International Institute of Agriculture, who had returned to resume his post after a leave of absence, was sent home on the next train by the police, who are said to have learned that he is connected with the German general staff.

LEAVING FOR HOME SOON.

Paris, May 11—The Milan correspondent of The Excelsior telegraphs his paper that a despatch to The Secolo from Lugano, Switzerland, says that he is connected with the German general staff, who had returned to resume his post after a leave of absence, was sent home on the next train by the police, who are said to have learned that he is connected with the German general staff.

GETTING READY.

Paris, May 11—A Milan despatch from Pdlme to the Havas Agency says that the Italian government is being instructed to make preparations to protect Prince Von Buelow, German ambassador to Rome, when he passes through the city on his way home.

DEPARTURE DENIED.

Paris, May 11—The departure from Rome of the staff of the Austrian embassy to the Italian capital, according to the Havas despatch from the Italian capital, the newspaper says that not only has no member of the embassy staff left, but that a new secretary is expected to arrive soon.

DEFINITE ANSWER ASKED.

Paris, May 11—Another version of the territorial concessions Austria is said to have proposed to Italy has been printed by the Mattino of Naples and telegraphed to the Havas Agency by its Rome correspondent. According to this report Austria is willing to cede part of the province of Trent to Italy, together with a strip of territory in the region of Isonzo river which empties into the Gulf of Trieste. Trieste itself is excluded, as well as Austria and Pola. The Italian cabinet is said to have considered these concessions insufficient and made a counter proposition demanding all of Trent up to Erenne (a mountain pass of Tyrol on the railroad line connecting Innsbruck with Bozen) and offering the shortest route between central Germany and Italy together with Trieste and Istria, including Pola, Italy, the Mattino asserts, will insist upon obtaining Trieste and is ready to give Austria commercial guarantees.

The Havas correspondent says he is able to state that the Italian government has demanded of Vienna a definite answer within a fixed time. He adds that in the best informed circles there is no real hope of a peaceful settlement, although Pope Benedict has sent Emperor Francis Joseph an autograph letter asking him to yield in order to avoid another war.

STILL PENDING.

Rome, May 9, via Paris, May 11—Although negotiations with the central empires still are pending and there is a bare possibility the influence of former Premier Giolitti may avert war, military preparations pointing to Austria as an inevitable antagonist are so thorough and vigorous that a conflict seems unavoidable.

Even discussions among the opposition parties have virtually ceased. Only the irreconcilable socialists whose deputies met in the chamber today still oppose Italy's participation in the war and their attitude is believed to be guided more for a desire of constancy than by an opposition to war.

FORECASTING TROUBLE.

Paris, May 11—The opinion is general in Italian parliamentary circles, according to a Milan despatch to the Petit Journal, that the government must make known its decision in regard to entering the war not later than the last week in May, but could easily assume a decisive attitude before this extreme date.

The customs receipts at St. John, N.B., for the month of April were

Forty British Prisoners Were Burned Alive
London, May 11.—The Press Bureau has given out a Foreign Office statement enclosing sworn statements from two Dutch newspaper men in which the charge is made that British prisoners of war were shot by German troops. The documents comprise statements alleged to have been made to the newspaper men by two German deserters who were ordered by Prince Rupprecht to take no British prisoners under pain of severe punishment. All had to be shot, the deserters said.

One case is instanced in which it is alleged that 40 British prisoners were burned alive in a hangar, the Germans concerned receiving a medal. Another instance deals with 24 British prisoners alleged to have been shot against a wall at Warwick.

The German deserters who are said to have been responsible for these stories disappeared mysteriously following a visit to the German Consul.

A curious declaration has been signed by visitors using the books in Trinity College Library. The following is the text of the declaration: "I, A. B., do solemnly promise in the presence of God that whenever I shall enter the library of this college I will handle the books and other furniture of the library in such a manner that they may last as long as possible. I promise also that I will not carry away any book, willingly injure one, write in one, or in any way abuse one nor will I, so far as in me lies, permit others to do so. Moreover, I will communicate to the Provost or Librarian the names of those who commit such offences, within three days after I shall know of them. All and each of which things, and all the statutes of the library, so far as they relate to me, I promise and pledge myself to observe faithfully." Some people have lately raised objections to signing this declaration.

The King's proposal to debar liquor from the Royal household, is greatly appreciated in Glasgow. The shipyard workers almost to a man have refused to enter public houses and in restaurants and clubs little or no liquor is called for. A remarkable sequel is that tea rooms are crowded out. The reformers declare that the King's action has solved the liquor question as with a stroke of the pen.

Obituary
The death occurred at Neponsete, Rhode Island, of Rev. John Wye, eldest son of the late Mr. John Wye, for many years a prominent resident of Brantford. The deceased was ordained in the diocese of Huron, and occupied more than one parish in Ontario, but some twenty years ago left for the States. He had latterly been on the retired list. He was a scholarly man and a preacher of fine pulpit ability.

He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and three children, Rev. Lionel Wye, New York, Victor, Berlin, Ont., and Ethel, teacher of Latin in Columbia University. The Misses Wye of this city are sisters. The funeral will take place in Brantford Wednesday to Grace Church, upon the arrival of the 9.55 train, and thence to Mt. Hope cemetery.

Says the Hamilton Times: "Mr. Eldoras Todd, a well-known and respected resident of this city, passed away very suddenly yesterday morning at his home, 336 Main street east. He had been around as usual on Saturday, and early Sunday morning appeared to be quite well, but was taken suddenly sick, and passed away inside of half an hour. He had resided in this city for the past four years, and was connected with the First Methodist Church. Prior to coming to this city he resided in Caledonia, where he had one of the best farms of the country. His widow, three daughters—Misses Almira and Beatrice at home, and Mrs. S. Atkinson of Hazersville—and four sons—William and Wesley of Caledonia, Reginald of this city, and Ernest, who is travelling in Western Canada—survive, as well as two sisters and one brother. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon, at half-past one, from his late residence by a special car, via the Brantford & Hamilton

A Crimean veteran, Mr. John Coone, died recently at Bloomfield. He was eighty-five years old. In the year 1848 he enlisted, joining the 12th Regiment of Foot. He was stationed at Gibraltar when the Crimean War broke out, and as his regiment was not under orders to go to the front, he volunteered with the 55th Regiment, and took part in the battles of Alma, Inkerman and Balaclava. He was wounded at the fall of Sebastopol in September, 1855. After peace had been declared he returned to Gibraltar, where he rejoined his former regiment, and subsequently proceeded with it to the Cape of Good Hope. He did service all through the Indian Mutiny and was awarded medals with several clasps. In 1870 he was discharged from the Army after 21 years service.

Colborne St. Sunday School Anniversary

The 28th anniversary of Colborne Street Church Sunday school was celebrated in a most successful and excellent manner last evening. Ever since its organization the Sunday school has steadily grown in size until it is now one of the largest in the city.

Much credit is also due to the capable staff of teachers for their untiring efforts have done much for the welfare of the children.

PRIMARY CLASS
All of the songs and recitations by the little children were very good and liberal applause marked the conclusion of each item.

INTERMEDIATE CLASS
The numbers in this second part were given by older children, and proved to be excellent.

SENIOR CLASS
The duet by Mrs. Frank Leeming and Mrs. Secord was excellently rendered and was worth the hearty applause it received.

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO, May 8.—Huge sales, the largest perhaps in months, broke down the price of wheat at one time today to 7-8c a bushel. Fear of complications resulting from the sinking of the Lusitania was most to do with the setback, but the bearish crop report from Washington cut a good deal of figure and $3,000,000 of the renewal of war rumors about Italy. Prices were unsettled, 2 3-4c to 4 1/2c under last night's other net losses were: Corn 5-8c to 7-8c; oats 4c to 4 1/2c; and provisions 10c to 11c.

THE SITUATION.

The British and the French troops in their recent offensive movement towards Lille met with success, the latter to a greater degree than the former, but both to a satisfactory extent.

This murderer—he has been rightly so branded by the jury investigating the Lusitania horror—is very strong on Scripture. He ought to study that passage regarding those who raise the sword perishing by the sword.

The Russians in the Caucasus are handling the Turks in excellent fashion, but have undoubtedly recently met with serious reverses at the hands of the Germans.

Italy still remains out of the fray. It is said that one phase of the hesitancy, although not in any sense a compelling one, is that she hates to face the certain destruction of her many beautiful buildings.

THE UNITED STATES AND THE WAR.

Our neighbors have had every conceivable provocation to cast in their lot with the Allies in connection with the present war. Germany endeavored in the first place to win their goodwill by every possible device and adopted very elaborate measures in this regard.

Miss Limburg will be pleased to give any lady her advice on corsets at any time, and no charge will be made for fitting any corsets. Further, we guarantee to our many patrons that all fittings will be perfect.

President Wilson at the time of writing had not delivered any formal message from the White House, but he made a speech last night in Philadelphia which may be taken as a forecast of his views.

It is very evident from this that the cap of Uncle Sam will not be tossed into the ring. His added sympathy and help for the cause of the Allies may, however, be taken for granted.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Certain Grit papers which were continually bull-baiting the Borden Government with reference to the war have suddenly ceased. There has evidently been some influence at work to call them off—certainly not their own common-sense.

The Kaiser is still using the term "woe to them," just as if he was controller of the universe.

The words Kultur and Vulture rhyme in every sense.

One story is that the Germans burned forty-two British soldiers who were in a hangar. It sounds incredible, but then look at their crimes in Belgium and their gloating over the innocent victims of the Lusitania.

It is stated that President Wilson may address a personal letter to the Kaiser. If so, it may be regarded as booked for the waste-basket route.

The Lusitania murder has given a boost to recruiting in the Old Land. Nothing can quell or cow the British spirit.

In a recent engagement the Turks in hurried retreat are reported to have abandoned their tents. That was because the firing was intense.

EDITOR JACK ROGERS GONE.

Toronto May 11—Latest word from England gives no hope of any more passengers on the Lusitania being saved. E. S. Cowper, private secretary of J. R. Rogers, editor of "Jack Canuck," sent the following cable to Mrs. Rogers yesterday: "Sadly afraid Rogers gone. Last seen a minute before final plunge. Quite unconcerned and with baby in arms."

Rogers has evidently died like a Briton, and whatever may have been his public standing, his most bitter enemy must grant him the honor of a "hero's death." He died as he had lived—"game."

Italy still remains out of the fray. It is said that one phase of the hesitancy, although not in any sense a compelling one, is that she hates to face the certain destruction of her many beautiful buildings.

Children's Hero Not Millionaire Sportsman Now

Queenstown, May 11.—The body of Albert Thompson, of Toronto, brought in by an admiralty trawler last night was found drifting with wreckage near the coast not far from the scene of the Lusitania disaster, which leads to the hope that additional bodies may be found in the vicinity.

A current of from two and one-half to three knots races around Old Head, Kinsale and this has been augmented by a stiff east wind, which at the end of eight or nine days may carry bodies ashore around Cape Clear on the west Irish coast.

The Cunard Steamship Company, after much trouble, has sent a tug to the scene of the disaster with instructions to run into the nearest cove and inform Cunard officials here if even a single body is found.

There are indications that the heavy roll among the passengers in the first cabin was due to a scarcity of life-belts, many of the men having given the life preservers they had obtained to helpless women.

Mrs. Stanley B. Lines of Toronto, paid a glowing tribute to the gallantry of Alfred Vanderbilt and his valet, Ronald Denver, "People will not talk of Mr. Vanderbilt in the future," said Mrs. Lines, "as a millionaire sportsman and a pleasure-seeker. He will be remembered as 'a children's hero' and men and women will salute his name."

When death was nearing him he showed a gallantry which no words of mine can adequately describe," said Mrs. Lines. "He stood outside the palm saloon on the starboard side, with Ronald Denver by his side. He looked on the scene of horror and despair with pitying eyes. 'Find all the kiddies you can' he said to his valet."

The man rushed off immediately collecting children and as he brought them to Mr. Vanderbilt the latter dashed to the boats with two little ones in his arms at a time. When he could no longer find any children he went to the assistance of the women and placed as many as he could in safety.

In all the work he was gallantly assisted by Ronald Denver, and the two continued their efforts until the very end. I hope the young men of Britain will act the same for the country now as Mr. Vanderbilt did for somebody's little ones."

When the Lusitania was in cooler death throes there was no her group aboard than that composed of Mme. Marie Depage, Herbert S. Stone

London W. Bates, Jr. and Dr. J. T. Houghton. The last named was the only survivor of the party. This little band guided women and children, supplied life belts, bound up the wounds of other passengers and then plunged hopelessly into the sea, having given up their own life preservers.

LOCAL CASUALTY LIST

this gallant deed was the presentation at the hands of Her Majesty of the V.C. and the privilege to retire and wear the prescribed uniform, and retain his rank of captain. He was a visitor at most regimental or Highland functions in Aberdeenshire.

At the outbreak of the war he offered his services to the War Office and was attached to the base hospital in France, where with his special typing machine, he is playing the best part he can, writing letters for disabled soldiers.

PTE. W. BABCOCK was 36 years of age, and has led an adventurous life, soldiering in many lands under the British flag. He has been in the Egyptian campaign, and was present at Tel Keber, had served through the Boer war, and was in the big fights at Paardeburg and Petermaritzburg. He is unmarried and resided with Mr. Hunter, being employed at the Bixel Brewery.

PTE. CLAUDE CHARLTON employed before enlistment with the G. S. & M. Company, was well known throughout the city. He has served in the United States navy for two years and in the New York National Guard for two years. He resided at 154 Nelson street.

Mrs. Kirby has received the following letter with reference to her son, who left with the first contingent—13 Stationary Hospital, Boulogne, Ward 6. April 24, 1915.

Your son, Tom Kirby, armorer, came into this hospital this morning, suffering from a head wound of a serious nature, but he is so far very fairly well, quite as well as can be expected, and I trust will do well. I will write again. He sends his love.

Yours faithfully, May Bradford.

Pte. A. G. Holway is the latest Brantfordite to be reported wounded in the Ypres battle, and according to a letter received yesterday by his he was wounded over the left eye and overcome by the asphyxiating gases which the Germans used with temporary success in their advance. He is now in a hospital somewhere in France. No further details are included in the letter, but Pte. Holway expressed grave anxiety for his fellow-soldiers of the 4th Battalion, which lost heavily in the fighting.

PTE. KINSELLA is another of the men who left Brantford with the first contingent to be wounded. He was injured during the Ypres fighting and it is not known how seriously. He is unmarried and had followed farm work as a vocation.

PTE. A. J. BARNES, also on the wounded list, had been an active member of the Dufferin Rifles and when the call came for the first contingent, took prompt action to volunteer. He is an Englishman by birth and was an employe of the Massey-Harris works. He enjoys the regard of a large number of friends.

Paris, May 11—It is being persistently rumored in Paris that Germany and Austria-Hungary have already declared, or are about to declare war on Italy in anticipation of such action on her part directed against themselves.

Another rumor which made its appearance on the Bourse to-day is that the Italian Government has signed an agreement with the allies, Great Britain, France and Russia to take part in the war not later than May 26. This rumor also is without confirmation.

French observers of the political situation in Italy infer from the audience yesterday between King Victor Emmanuel and former Prime Minister Giolitti that the non-intervention policy in Italy has determined to withdraw all opposition to the war. Consequently the Italian parties would be united in support of a war policy, in the judgment of French observers.

Military writers are presenting the argument that war for Germany and Austria on a third frontier undoubtedly will make the resistance of the central empires on their other fronts more feeble, so much so that with the advent of Italy, victory over Germany is set for the middle of the summer.

CAMP KITCHENS A GREAT NECESSITY

Letter From Colonel Ashton to the Brant Chapter.

Col. E. C. Ashton has sent the following letter to Mrs. Gordon Smith, Regent of Brant Chapter, I.O.D.E., which speaks for itself.

Headquarters, 36th Batt. C.E.F. Hamilton, May 8th, 1915. Mrs. Gordon Smith, Regent, Brant Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Dear Mrs. Smith:—I hope you are meeting with no difficulty in raising sufficient funds for the two Field Kitchens you have undertaken to supply to our Battalion.

I cannot tell you how deeply your offer is appreciated by the Regiment, as without your help we should have to take the field very poorly equipped.

You are aware that the Government does not supply these articles, but only a wagon for each company to carry the kettles, etc., and camp fires have to be built after the men arrive, which is often a difficult matter.

Every regiment that has left Canada with these kitchens has had to procure them by subscription, and you can assure those who subscribe to your funds, that they are furnishing a great necessity, which we can procure in no other way.

God knows our poor fellows who are risking all for King and Country deserve all that can be done for them by those who are unable to go.

Thanking you again for your invaluable assistance, which has lifted a great load from my shoulders, Very sincerely yours, Ernest C. Ashton, Lt.-Col., Commanding 36th Batt. C.E.F.

MORE BODIES ARE BEING RECOVERED

Special Wire to the Courier. Queenstown, May 11.—The number of bodies of victims of the torpedoing of the Cunard liner Lusitania at Baltimore, a small seaport on the southern Irish coast, was increased this morning to 10. Two other bodies have been brought ashore at Castletownsend, near Baltimore. Of the bodies at Baltimore, six are of men and four of women.

The Cunard line to-day despatched a tug to Baltimore to bring all twelve bodies to Queenstown. Relatives of survivors who had planned to leave to-day, are going to remain over in the hope of the possibility of making further identifications. It is reported here that one body at Baltimore had on it papers bearing the name of Harrison, Brain street, Bridgeport, Conn., and on another there was found the circular of a firm called Florence and Company, tooth brush manufacturers, in Connecticut. The tug despatched yesterday evening by the Cunard Company to the scene of the disaster, to look for bodies had not returned to Queenstown up to noon to-day.

TO TAKE ACTION. London, May 11.—American Ambassador Page has received a message from United States Consul Frost at Queenstown, urging him to make it clear to the Cunard Company and to the British Admiralty that "really effective measures to recover the 1,100 missing bodies from the Lusitania are imperative.

In this connection, Mr. Page said to-day that the embassy was doing everything possible to expedite the recovery of bodies, and that he had assurances from the Admiralty that the company that they were doing and would continue to do the same.

The embassy has taken steps to have the bodies of Americans embalmed, and upon identification it will be seen that they are returned to America.

With the City Police

Tried upon a charge of arson this morning, Mrs. Annie McNicholl was discharged by Magistrate Livingston, because the evidence was not strong enough to justify conviction. Mrs. McNicholl pleaded "Not Guilty" and told the bench she was not near the house, which is situated on Reeve Morgan farm, when the fire broke out. She had seen two or three little boys around the house and she thought they might have been responsible for the conflagration. She had not poured coal oil over any kindling wood and did not know anything about it. She explained that the oil can was found just where she ordinarily kept it.

Summing up, the bench said the evidence did not show that Mrs. McNicholl was responsible for the fire and that she did not appear to be of a vindictive nature. He could not ascribe such an act of incendiarism to her. The charge was therefore dismissed.

Obituary. The death occurred of ex-Reeve Miller of Paris Plains, who had been ill for some time. He was a fine man in every sense of the word, and held the high regard of everyone. As a floriculturist, he had far more than a local reputation. The Township Council, as a mark of respect, will attend the funeral in a body to-morrow.

THOS. WILKINSON. The sad death of Thomas Wilkinson occurred in Echo Place, at the house of his daughter, Mrs. Fred Bannister. He was in his 64th year, and was a widely known resident in this district, having left his home in England over forty years ago. He was formerly a resident of Burford and this city and an earnest member of the Congregational church. He leaves to mourn his great loss a wife, two daughters and two sons, Mrs. John Armstrong and Mrs. Fred Bannister of Echo Place, and William of Brantford and Harry of Hamilton.

The funeral is to take place on Thursday afternoon, interment at Salt Springs cemetery.

KEEN COMPETITION FOR NUMBERS IN REGIMENT

A Company Leads, But C Company Makes Close Second. The Dufferin Rifles held their weekly parade last night and reached a total of 402 present.

On parade with the regiment were Col. H. Genet and Staff Major Bal-lachey and Adjutant Cutcliffe. The time was occupied in the practicing of the new platoon drill and in bayonet practice, the men shaping splendidly.

The parade slate shows "A" still leading, but "C" giving the winner a close run, and "H" company emerging from the "also ran" class into last lap for the winning post. The bugle band keeps up to 34 with a conspicuous regularity, and the brass band, though slightly vacillating, also shows commendable anxiety to turn out in good stead.

The parade was as follows: A, 42; B, 36; C, 41; D, 33; E, 31; F, 37; G, 33; H, 39; brass, 28; bugle, 34; stretcher bearers, 17; sig. corps, 19.

BROWNING THE POET. Browning, the poet and philosopher has many admirers who rate him second only to the greatest of all geni of literature, Shakespeare, and among their number must be included the Rev. Mr. Norwood, who gave a very instructive and interesting address upon the merits of this great man of letters. The Rev. Mr. Norwood is a splendid elocutionist, a deep thinker, and a man imbued with the courage of his convictions. What he said of Browning, in clear and concise terms, almost dramatic effect, he meant, and the school room of Grace church was filled for the occasion, when the address was given under the auspices of the A. Y. P. A.

The speaker char-acterized Browning as the greatest dramatist since the days of Shakespeare, and decided to try what Dodd's Kidney Pills would do for it. I took five boxes in all and I am happy to say I am quite well again. My back is strong as ever it was. I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house.

Women who are weak and run down and suffering from lame back always find quick relief and permanent cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cure the Kidneys, the cured Kidneys strain all the impurities, all the poisons, out of the blood and the purified blood carries new strength to every part of the body. All over Canada women are telling each other of the new health they found in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Considers Them Her Best Friend

MRS. FRASER TELLS WHY SHE RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. They Cured Her Sore Back and Earned a Permanent Place in the Family Medicine Chest.

Bois Franc, Que., May 10 (special).—I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills one of my best friends." This is the statement of Mrs. Joseph Fraser, a very estimable lady living here.

"I had a very sore back," Mrs. Fraser continues, "and decided to try what Dodd's Kidney Pills would do for it. I took five boxes in all and I am happy to say I am quite well again. My back is strong as ever it was. I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

Women who are weak and run down and suffering from lame back always find quick relief and permanent cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. ### Lloyd George's Bill Passes Second Reading

London, May 11.—The House of Commons last evening passed the second reading of Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George's bill to amend the Defence of the Realm Act. The bill originally was destined to place a heavy surtax on wines, spirits and beer, but under pressure from the Irish party its provisions were amended to giving the Government control of the sale of liquor in areas where munitions of war are being made.

NEW HOPE FOR SUFFERERS FROM PARALYSIS

There are cases of paralysis that cannot be cured. But that is far different from saying that every case of paralysis is incurable. There is absolute proof that many forms of this disease are curable. Of the cases that cannot be cured many can be so benefited that the formerly helpless sufferer will once more find life worth living.

Attention is called to the remarkable cures that have been effected in cases of partial paralysis, and other severe nervous disorders, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Some of these cures are so wonderful as to challenge belief, but in every case the statements have been carefully verified and may be investigated by anyone interested. In this connection the case of Miss B. Milehan, of St. John, N. B., is worthy of the most careful attention. Miss Milehan says: "Some three years ago I was taken seriously ill with diphtheria. The doctor thought me safely through this dreaded trouble and I was assumed well. But two weeks later I took a relapse, my throat and limbs ceased to move. I was under the most of medical care, and after a few weeks was able to sit up in bed. My throat was still completely unresponsive and I could only utter unintelligible sounds. I was treated by three of St. John's best physicians for this trouble and my case was given up as hopeless. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills but I had spent so much on medicine without help that I thought it would be only a further waste of money. However, I felt myself growing daily weaker and weaker, and I decided as a last chance that I would try the Pills. By the time I had taken half a dozen boxes I could walk across the floor, something doctors had told me could never happen again. I still continue to take the Pills, my speech recovered, and I felt myself in perfect health. My friends thought my restoration nothing short of a miracle and I think myself that I have to thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I am living to-day, and I feel confident they can do quite as much for others as they did for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills effect cures in cases of this kind because they make new, rich, red blood, which feeds and strengthens the nerves and tones up the whole system. If you are in need of a medicine give these pills a trial. We are confident you will not be disappointed. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

WILL INVESTIGATE

Mr. Lloyd George has promised to appoint a committee to inquire into the charges of drunkenness among workmen, and all parties, including the Laborites, have expressed their satisfaction with the bill.

'COURIER' MAN HELD UP AT ARMORIES

Burford Sentry Takes No Chances and Means Business.

A Courier man who visited Burford last night, had the unique experience of having a somewhat constrained conversation with a veteran Dragon outside the armories, while the said gentleman tickled the trigger of his Ross rifle in anything but a reassuring manner. The incidentals of the armed post mortem are such. Desiring to have a talk with the Sergeant-Major, the Courier representative advanced up the entrance way and was halting the sentry with a cheerful "Good Evening" when he found himself gazing down the barrel of a Ross rifle and a voice barked, "Halt."

CANADA'S GREATEST MOUNTAINS DEPICTED

The Grand Trunk System has just issued a booklet which takes high rank amongst railway literature in general. This publication is entitled "The North American Alps" and is descriptive of that magnificent territory in the Canadian Rockies, which has Mount Robson as its centre, and which includes two great mountain parks with scores of glaciers, waterfalls and flower strewn valleys. The illustrations are especially fine in this brochure, presenting for the first time recently opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific transcontinental line. Travellers taking a trip to the Pacific Coast should see this great alpine playground so well depicted in this booklet.

A copy may be had free on application to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

ALEXANDRA ANNIVERSARY WAS SUCCESS

Splendid Musical Evening—A Rare Treat.

The Alexandra Presbyterians have celebrated the second anniversary of the erection of their new church, and it may be stated without fear of contradiction, that never in the annals of the older structure was there such a successful annual observation. It is not given to every church to be able in present-day times to clear off one thousand dollars from the church debt in one day.

The composition of the four is unique, a violin, a cello, flute and piccolo, forming the means of exquisite extraction. In a home-like scene, the melodies were pleasantly reminiscent and included such masterpieces as Michele's "Hungarian Dance"; Nevin's "Rosary" and "Allegro Vivace" from Rossini's overture "William Tell".

ROSS BINKLEY'S DEATH IS REPORTED FROM OTTAWA

Official notification has been received from Ottawa of the death of Corporal Ross Binkley. It was reported unofficially some time ago that Binkley had been killed in action, but a later report stated that he was wounded.

"Bink" was one of the best known football players in Canada, and his loss will be keenly felt by the sporting public in general. He came to Toronto from Dundas, and for a number of years played with Argonauts. He was also a curler, and was a member of the Granite Club, where, beside curling, he also played indoor baseball.

CHARLIE PICK NOW WITH DUNN'S CLUB

Ex-Leaf Third Baseman Purchased by Richmond From Washington.

Richmond, May 11.—A fast outfielder named Pick, who performed last season for Toronto, and who was secured at the end of the year by the Washington Americans, has been purchased by Manager Dunn from the Senators. The local management had to part with several bright shining simoleons to land this youngster. He is a clean fielder, and a hitter of some repute. It is very probable that he will play third base, while Arragon, who is at home at any position on the infield, will play shortstop in the place of Sam Crane.

Old Country Notes

A surprise visit was paid by Lord Crewe to the Indian Hospitals at Brighton a few days ago. There are at present over 2,100 patients in these buildings. The Corporation of Brighton most generously made over the Pavilion and the York-place School, and these fine buildings were rapidly converted into first-class hospitals. At the Pavilion Lord Crewe saw many Indian soldiers who have recently returned from the fighting at Neuve Chapelle. He was greatly struck with their cheerful demeanour, and with their keen eagerness to get back to the front. There is little doubt, the medical authorities state, that the success of the Indians at Neuve Chapelle has had a great effect upon their spirits. At the Kitchener Hospital, Lord Crewe was greatly interested in the electrical appliances, which are very popular among the Indians. Every man whether his case calls for it or not, begs to be allowed to be treated by electricity. They regard it as jadu or magic, and certainly in many cases the treatment has had magical effects.

An analysis of the offers of war service from women has been completed. The percentage of married women brought up originally in the country and prepared to go "back to the land" is notable. An apparent dislike for factory life does not prevent women from essaying the manufacture of ammunition. They seem close to the fighting forces of the nation when assisting to furnish the actual munitions of war. It is estimated that the offers of help now number 25,000. Even Englishwomen abroad in the U.S.A. cabled in their haste and prepaid the reply, and offers have also come from Canada and Portugal. Firms who are prepared to find employment for women are beginning to make their wants known, but not much information is at present available.

A new punishment for drunkenness and minor offences can now be inflicted by magistrates under the Criminal Justice Administration Act passed last August the greater part of which came into force a few days ago. The new power of dealing with offenders provides that, instead of passing sentence of imprisonment, the management may detain an offender for one day in the precincts of the court, but not necessarily in a cell. In future a man fined £1 with the alternative of fourteen days in prison will, if unable to pay the fine, be allowed to pay half the fine and to serve half the sentence. Under the new Act reasonable time will be given for the payment of fines, if the magistrates are satisfied that the offender has not sufficient means to pay at once.

The remarkable fact in an Essex village minor offences of deceased persons were compelled to dig their graves was referred to at Billericay Gardens the other day. It was reported to the Board that contractor for workhouse burials had complained that owing to the increased clergy fees he now made no profit on his contract. The Rural Dean, said he had made inquiries, and it was not the case that the clergy fees were more; there was the increased cost of digging graves, which in his time had more than doubled. The Rector of Little Burstead, said he knew of a parish in the Roothings where no one could be got to dig graves at any price. Relatives of deceased persons had to dig the graves as best they could. Men's pay for women is a question which is occupying the attention of labour leaders at present. Miss E. Sylvia Pankhurst, who wrote to Mr. Lloyd George asking whether the Treasury agreement between the Board of Trade and Labour representatives would secure that women should receive equal pay for equal work with men whom they replace, has received the following reply: The words which you quote would guarantee that women undertaking the work of men would get the same piece rates as men were receiving before the date of this agreement. That, of course, means that if the women turn out the same quantity of work as men employed on the same job, they will receive exactly the same pay.

Four hospital barges have been equipped for use in the war, states a report issued recently by the British "Water Ambulance" Fund. The total subscriptions now amount to about $50,000. Subscribers of $5,000 are entitled to name a barge, and subscribers of $100 to name a bed. Six barges altogether have now been obtained and equipped—four as hospital barges, one as a staff barge, and one as a general store barge. Each hospital barge contains accommodation for fifty wounded, each on a comfortable, large-sized hospital bed. A specially fitted operating theatre has been provided on one of the barges, with a hoist for lowering the patients thus avoiding any jolting.

A lost identity case was recently solved in a curious manner. The commanding officer of the depot of the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry saw in a newspaper the picture of a wounded soldier who lost his memory at Neuve Chapelle. He telegraphed at once to the Queen Mary Hospital, Southend where the man is lying, to say that he believed the soldier's name was James Crowley of that Regiment. The doctor went at once to the wounded man, and put him to the test with a list of names. When he came to the name Crowley a smile of recognition came over the man's face, and he said, "That's it." Crowley was also identified by a wounded officer who is now at Torquay, and the two soldiers who fought with him. A photograph of his wife was next shown to him. He showed great delight, recognizing it at once.

While amusing himself exploding signal torpedoes, Ernest Cormier, a Moncton, N.B., boy, lost an eye.

Constantinople, May 10.—via Amsterdam and London, May 11.—The following statement was issued to-day by the Turkish war office: "On the Dardanelles front the enemy made four desperate attacks near Ari Burnu Sunday night, but was repulsed by bayonet attacks and suffered heavy losses. Three enemy battalions were annihilated. Monday afternoon the enemy constantly carried away wounded to their boats. In the south near Seddul Bahr the enemy attacked under the protection of naval guns, but owing to our counter attacks, his assault was unsuccessful."

BRITISH AND FRENCH ARE ADVANCING

Allied Drive Gains in Many Sections of Battle Front.

Northern France, May 11.—(London Times dispatch).—Yesterday and today fierce fighting took place between the sea and the Scarpe. It opened yesterday with a furious German bombardment of the British lines to the eastward of Ypres, followed by German infantry attacks which lasted throughout the day and night of Saturday and led to several hand-to-hand encounters.

Owing to the superiority of German numbers and guns on this part of the field, the British had a difficult task, but to-day, thanks to reinforcement of the line and pressure brought to bear elsewhere, they have once more firmly established themselves on fresh lines to the east of Ypres. The German attacks, which have cost the heavy tolls in casualties, have died down.

TERRIFIC BOMBARDMENT

As a return blow the British and the French on the line from the neighborhood of Lavante to the Scarpe gave the Germans yesterday some unpleasant experiences. They subjected this line to a heavy bombardment, which began at 5.30 a.m. and lasted for some minutes. The earth shook under the constant detonations of the bursting shells, which wrought havoc in the German lines.

Following up this bombardment the British infantry attacked and carried the front lines of the German trenches over a mile in width on the road from Lavante towards Aubers.

The British troops were subjected to the fire of many German guns, which were posted in concealed positions on their flanks, but in spite of this fire and the German counter attacks, the British are still in possession of the trenches they won.

INFLECT HEAVY LOSS

Farther to the south the English artillery did much damage to the Germans, but the infantry attack, which was begun at this point, was not pressed, owing to the unmasking of many German gun batteries. These attacks, however, have served the purpose of holding many German army corps on this part of the line, causing the Germans heavy losses and reducing the strain on Ypres.

Aided by this energetic action, the French troops on their right made notable progress yesterday. They overthrew the Germans on a front of nearly four miles and captured the German trenches. At sunset they had won nearly the whole length of the Arras-Lens road, capturing a number of prisoners and guns. The fighting all along this front is still continuing.

BIG FRENCH OFFENSIVE

London May 10.—North of Arras there has developed an offensive on the part of the French that is bringing big results. For some days past the French forces in this vicinity have been pressing hard on the German lines and following up their gains reported on Sunday there were further advances to-day, particularly between Carey and Sauchez. Official statements issued to-day said that up to 3 o'clock this afternoon there had been more than 2,000 prisoners taken and a later dispatch from Paris to-night predicted the number of prisoners at 3,000. Included in these are a considerable number of officers. In addition 10 cannon and 80 machine guns have fallen into the hands of the French.

The Arras operation is part of a general advance that both French and British are now making along a broad front. The British statement yesterday reported gains in the direction of Fromelles, to the east of Ypres.

GEN. FRENCH REPORTS

Apparently the fighting had died down to-day somewhat in that quarter, judging by the following report which came from Sir John French: "Our line to the east of Ypres, in spite of repeated attacks by the enemy during last week, is substantially the same as that to which we withdrew on the night of May 3-4," he says in his report to the war office. "During the fighting in this quarter yesterday the enemy made five unsuccessful attacks and his losses in these failures were very heavy. On the front of the first army the fighting to-day has been confined to artillery action."

STRONG POSITION TAKEN.

There has been fighting at a number of other points on the western line. To the east of St. George's the French captured a strongly fortified German position, while German attacks were repulsed in the Le Pretre Woods and at Berry-au-Bac. Dunkirk has also been shelled again, apparently from the same distant point as formerly, indicating either that the airmen did not succeed in putting the big gun out of business or else that the Germans have been quickly able to bring another to bear upon this coast town.

An official announcement from Berlin to-night states that on the western front enemy attacks nearly everywhere have been repulsed with heavy losses to the allies, especially to the British. This is in direct opposition to the report given out by Sir John French. This is in direct opposition to the report given out by Sir John French. This is in direct opposition to the report given out by Sir John French.

TREATY DRAFTED

Tokio, May 11.—The Japanese foreign office is drafting a treaty with China, based upon the acceptance of the provisions in Japan's ultimatum, including the restoration of Kiaochow. Admitting that the public is displeased with the results of the negotiations, the Conservative press is urging the Japanese to exercise self-restraint with regard to China. A- vices from Peking state it is believed there Russia will demand privileges in North Manchuria, similar to those granted Japan in South Manchuria.

LEAST EXPECTED

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, May 11.—While the press continues to display intense interest in the sinking of the Lusitania, the discussion in its editorial columns is now turning more towards the political side of the tragedy and the probable attitude of President Wilson. Much curiosity is displayed regarding the decision of the Washington Government. The Matin believes the least the United States could do would be to expel the German ambassador.

Loder suddenly lifted his head. "Absurd!" he said. "Absurd! Such a scheme was never carried through." "Precisely why it will succeed. People never suspect until they have a precedent. Will you consider it? At least consider it. Remember, if there is a risk it is I who am running it. On your own showing you have no position to jeopardize."

The other laughed curiously. "Before I go tonight will you promise me to consider it?"

"No."

"Then you will send me your decision by wire tomorrow. I won't take your answer now."

Loder freed his arm abruptly. "Why not?" he asked.

Chilcote smiled nervously. "Because I know men and men's temptations. We are all very strong till the quick is touched. Then we all wince. It's morphia with one man, ambitions with another. In each case it's only a matter of sooner or later." He laughed in his satirical, unstrung way and held out his hand. "You have my address," he said. "An revoir."

Loder pressed the hand and dropped it. "Goodby," he said meaningly. Then he crossed the room quietly and held the door open. "Goodby," he said again as the other passed him.

As he crossed the threshold Chilcote paused. "Au revoir," he corrected, with emphasis.

Until the last echo of his visitor's steps had died away Loder stood with his hand on the door. Then closing it quietly he turned and looked around the room. For a considerable space he stood there as if weighing the merits of each object. Then very slowly he moved to one of the bookshelves, drew out May's "Parliamentary Practice," and, carrying it to the desk, readjusted the lamp.

CHAPTER VI.

ALL the next day Chilcote moved in a fever of excitement. Hot with hope one moment, cold with fever the next, he rushed with restless energy into every task that presented itself, only to drop it as speedily. Twice during the morning he drove to the entrance of Clifford's inn, but each time his courage failed him and he returned to Grosvenor square to learn that the expected message from Loder had not come.

It was a wearing condition of mind, but at worst it was scarcely more than an exaggeration of what his state had been for months and made but little obvious difference in his bearing or manner.

In the afternoon he took his place in the house, but, though it was his first appearance since his failure of two days ago, he drew but small personal notice. When he chose, his manner could compel attention with extraordinary effect, and of late men had been prone to draw away from him.

In one of the lobbies he encountered Fraide—surrounded by a group of friends. With his usual furtive haste he would have passed on, but moving away from his party the old man accosted him. He was always courteous, particular in his treatment of Chilcote, as the husband of his ward and godchild.

"Better, Chilcote," he said, holding out his hand. At the sound of the low, rather formal tones, so characteristic of the old statesman, a hundred memories rose to Chilcote's mind, a hundred hours distasteful in the living and unbearable in the recollection, and with them the new flash of hope, the new possibility of freedom. In a sudden rush of confidence he turned to his leader.

"I believe I've found a remedy for my nerves," he said. "I believe I'm going to be a new man." He laughed with a touch of excitement.

Fraide pressed his fingers kindly. "That is right," he said. "That is right. I called at Grosvenor square this morning, but I've told me your illness of the other day was not serious. She was very busy this morning. She could only spare me a quarter of an hour. She is indefatigable over the social side of your prospects, Chilcote. You owe her a large debt. A popular wife means a great deal to a politician."

The steady eyes of his companion disturbed Chilcote.

He drew away his hand.

"Eve is unique," he said vaguely.

Fraide smiled. "That is right," he said again. "Admiration is too largely excluded from modern marriages." And with a courteous excuse he rejoined his friends.

It was dinner time before Chilcote could desert the house, but the moment departure was possible he hurried to Grosvenor square.

As he entered the house the hall was empty. He swore irritably under his breath and pressed the nearest bell. Since his momentary exaltation in Fraide's presence his spirits had steadily fallen until now they hung at the lowest ebb.

As he waited in unconcealed impatience for an answer to his summons he caught sight of his man Allsopp at the head of the stairs.

"Come here," he called, pleased to find some one upon whom to vent his irritation. "Has that wire come for me?"

"No, sir. I inquired five minutes back."

"Inquire again."

"Yes, sir," Allsopp disappeared.

A second later after his disappearance the bell of the hall door whizzed loudly.

Chilcote started. All sudden sounds, like all strong lights, affected him. He half moved to the door, then stopped himself with a short exclamation. At the same instant Allsopp reappeared.

Chilcote turned to him excitedly. "What the devil's the meaning of this?" he said. "A battery of servants in the house and nobody to open the hall door!"

Allsopp looked embarrassed. "Crap-ham is coming directly, sir. He only left the hall to ask Jeffries."

Chilcote turned. "Confound Crap-ham!" he exclaimed. "Go and open the door yourself!"

Allsopp hesitated, his dignity struggling with his obedience. As he waited the bell sounded again.

"Did you hear me?" Chilcote said.

"Yes, sir," Allsopp crossed the hall. As the door was opened Chilcote passed his handkerchief from one hand to the other in the tension of hope and fear, then as the sound of his own name in the shrill tones of a telegraph boy reached his ears he let the handkerchief drop to the ground.

Allsopp took the yellow envelope and carried it to his master.

"A telegram, sir," he said. "And the boy wishes to know if there is an answer." Picking up Chilcote's handkerchief, he turned aside with elaborate dignity.

Chilcote's hands were so unsteady that he could scarcely insert his finger under the flap of the envelope. Tearing off a corner, he wrenched the covering apart and smoothed out the flimsy pink paper.

The message was very simple, consisting of but seven words: Shall expect you at 11 tonight.

Loder.

He read it two or three times, then he looked up. "No answer," he said mechanically, and to his own ears the relief in his voice sounded harsh and unnatural.

Exactly as the clocks chimed 11 Chilcote mounted the stairs to Loder's rooms. But this time there was more of haste than of uncertainty in his steps, and, reaching the landing, he crossed it in a couple of strides and knocked feverishly on the door.

It opened at once, and Loder stood before him.

The occasion was peculiar. For a moment neither spoke; each involuntarily looked at the other with new eyes and under changed conditions. Each had assumed a fresh standpoint in the other's thought. The passing astonishment, the half-impersonal curiosity that had previously tinged their relationship, was cast aside, never to be reassumed. In each the other saw himself—and something more.

As usual, Loder was the first to recover himself.

"I was expecting you," he said. "Won't you come in?"

The words were almost the same as his word of the night before, but his voice had a different ring, just as his face when he drugg back into the room had a different expression—a suggestion of decision and energy that had been lacking before. Chilcote caught the difference as he crossed the threshold, and for a bare second a flicker of something like jealousy touched him, but the sensation was fleeting.

"I have to thank you," he said, holding out his hand. He was too well bred to show by a hint that he understood the drop in the other's principles, but Loder broke down the artifice.

"Let's be straight with each other, since everybody else has to be deceived," he said, taking the other's hand. "You have nothing to thank me for, and you know it. It's a touch of the old Adam. You tempted me, and I fell." He laughed, but below the laugh ran a note of something like triumph—the curious triumph of a man who has known the tyranny of strength and suddenly appreciates the freedom of a weakness.

"You really realize the thing you have proposed?" he added in a different tone. "It's not too late to retract even now."

Chilcote opened his lips, paused, then laughed in imitation of his companion, but the laugh sounded forced.

"My dear fellow," he said at last, "I never retract."

"Never?"

"No."

"Then the bargain's sealed."

Loder walked slowly across the room and, taking up his position by the mantelpiece, looked at his companion. The similarity between them as they faced each other seemed abnormal, defying even the closest scrutiny. And yet, so mysterious is nature even in her lapses, they were subtly, indefinitely different. Chilcote was Loder deprived of one essential; Loder, Chilcote with that essential bestowed. The difference lay neither in feature, in coloring nor in height, but in that baffling, illusive inner illumination that some call individuality and others soul.

Something of this idea, misted and tangled by nervous imagination, crossed Chilcote's mind in that moment of scrutiny, but he shrank from it apprehensively.

"I came to discuss details," he said quickly, crossing the space that divided him from his host. "Shall we?—Are you?" He paused uneasily.

"I'm entirely in your hands," Loder spoke with abrupt decision. Moving to the table, he indicated a chair and drew another forward for himself.

Both men sat down.

Chilcote leaned forward, resting elbows on the table. "There will be several things to consider," he began nervously, looking across at the other.

"Quite so," Loder glanced back appreciatively. "I thought about those things the better part of last night. To begin with, I must study your hand-writing. I guarantee to get it right, but it will take a month."

Life insurance claims paid in respect to British officers killed in the war amount to $9,500,000.

Dining cars are likely to be taken off all trains in England, in accordance with the campaign to economize the claims of civilian traffic on the railway system in favor of the national military requirements.

The King has awarded the Board of Trade silver medal for gallantry in saving life at sea to Wilfrid Whitehead, leading seaman of H.M.S. Essex, who tried to rescue a diver working on the wreck of the Empress of Ireland in the St. Lawrence river on June 21, 1914.

Army huts are being erected in St. James' Park, London. Work is now in full progress on the grass slope along the Mall near the Admiralty end of the park. The site of the buildings is about 200 yards in length and the huts are being built on brick foundations.

A group of Chinese toys with which the King played when a child are included in the Nature Study and Art Exhibition now opened at White-chapel Art Gallery. They are now the property of the Stepeny Borough Museum to which institution they were presented by the Queen.

A new style of finger print clue was mentioned at Kingston Police Court the other day, when a police constable stated that his suspicion that a man he was watching had gone into a certain house was justified by the sight of finger prints on the dew on the gate near the latch.

In order to enlist motor drivers for the mechanical transport section of the Army Service Corps, a recruiting meeting was held the other night at the National Motor Club Company's garage in Hammersmith road, London. The men are offered 6s. a day, with separation allowance and all found. Mr. Bywater, general secretary, of the London and Provincial Union of Licensed Vehicle Workers, in appealing for recruits, announced that he had himself enlisted as a motor driver.

SCOTLAND.

Forestry employment is to be given to women and invalided soldiers in Scotland. At a meeting of the Council of the Royal Scottish Arboricultural Society, held in Edinburgh, it was reported that considerable progress had been made with the arrangements in connection with the employment of women in forestry operations. The replies received from the representatives of properties in various districts were most gratifying, and already a number of women have received appointments. Further demands for them were coming in. It was also suggested that soldiers discharged owing to physical weakness might find employment in connection with forestry operations and this matter is to receive the attention of the committee.

The outstanding fact of the statistics of crime in Edinburgh during the first quarter of the year, as dealt with at the police court, is that there has been a substantial decrease in the total number of appearances as compared with the figures of the first month of last year. Under the heading of drunkenness, however, an increase has to be recorded. These figures represent perhaps persons arrested as being incapable, but drink is also the cause of the majority of persons apprehended for disorderly conduct, and under this heading the figures show a gratifying decrease.

The half yearly "Feeling Fair for East Stirlingshire" was held the other day in Falkirk, when there was a large attendance of farmers and servants. Labour, however, was scarce, and some degree of difficulty was experienced in securing servants. So far as male workers were concerned, this was regarded as being due to some extent to enlistments. The wages offered for male employees showed an increase compared with the figures of last "feeling fair."

C. P. R. METHOD OF PURCHASING OF SUPPLIES.

Nothing in municipal history excited more interest than the recent adoption by the City of New York of the C. P. R. method of purchasing supplies. New York orders for municipal goods each year, and found that there was much duplication and waste, some of the departments paying retail prices for the same goods as were purchased wholesale by others. Under the C. P. R. system everything is centralized so as to cut out the possibility of duplication, either in purchase or payment of goods, while the terms are naturally all the more in favor of the railways. New York City sent a special investigator round the Continent to study methods of purchasing supplies and he decided that the C.P.R. system was the "best for efficiency and saving." This was naturally the source of much gratification to Sir Thos. Shaughnessy, who was himself at one time purchasing agent for the C. P. R., and established the present system. The New York expert investigator has been busy ever since answering letters from other American municipalities. They pour in at the rate of about one hundred a week, all wanting to know about the C.P.R. and its method of purchasing department, with a view to adopting similar methods in other cities. It has been calculated that the adoption of C. P. R. methods by American cities has saved Uncle Sam a waste of over a billion dollars.
