Interesting Account of Trench-Making at the Front.

(By Lieut. Col. Percy A. Guthrie Who Speaks from Experience)

The Communication Trench

Now that we are fairly well installed in our position and put-up our wire and established our listening posts, we must turn our attention to the diggings of a communication trench leading from the firing line back to the support line, and from thence to the reserve. In the day time no communication except by telephone could be kept up between these three lines, owing to the sharp eyes of the snipers. At night a constant shooting up of flare lights make the bringing in of supplies and ammunition and the taking out of the wounded and the dead most dangerous indeed. The men on the firing line, being in the most dangerous position, and being more worn than the others, are not required for this work. The support men, therefore, start digging a zig-zag trench from their line to the firing line. Reserve line men are told off to dig another zig-zag trench from the reserve line to the line of support. After a few nights of digging we have a communication trench leading from the reserve line all the way to the firing line, along which orderlies can pass with messages in case the wire is down, or urgent cases of wounded can be taken to the rear with very little risk. These trenches are dug in a zig-zag fashion to prevent a gun being trained upon them and sweeping the whole line.

The Sandbag Trench.

Down on the flat land on the swampy field of which I have spoken, our comrades have dug a little distance into the earth, but soon they found the water level and can dig no farther. They must have protection, however, and now begins the work of building up a sandbag trench. Sandbags of a course hempen material about the size of an ordinary pillow case are sent up by the thousands. These are filled at night either by earth from a nearby rise in the ground or from the soil in front of the trench line. If water lies deep when a hole is thus dug it is turned to advantage by the men, and a long moat is constructed beyond the wire entanglements so that the enemy approaching will have to cross a moat, then the wire entanglements, before he reaches the parapet. These bags are carried and piled in a great long rank crosswise one upon the other, until a parapet four feet high is formed, in which we find traverses built upon the same principle as that which I have recently described. The pile extends to the front in thickness from 7 to 8 feet, and then is covered over with mud and grass, so as to hide it as much as possible from view. A parapet of sandbags is erected in the rear, listening posts are established at the front, up to which a communication trench is made of sandbags in a zig-zag line to the fort, which helps to protect the sentries who are on duty. If it is necessary because of the distance of this low-lying piece of ground from the high ground to the right or left, to have a communication trench built back to the support line, the same is erected of sandbags in a zig-zag manner and upon the same principle as the front line trench was built. The communication trench is covered with earth and sods, because of the constant traffic back and forth within it boards are obtained from nearby villages and laid along in the bottom of the trench to keep the earth from working into mud and from mud to mire.

The Net of Knowledge.

While all this work has been going on the signalling section of each battalion has been busy at its particular job. They have started from a point in the reserve or support line trenches and we find them by night proceeding over an open field, or following a road way, ditch or hedge, or perhaps the communication trench itself to the firing line trench. One man advances and leads the way; two others follow with a roll of wire, which revolves as they advance upon a stake run through a hole in the reel and held to each end by the men. Another man, following at some little distance, reeves the wire through his hands so as to prevent any tangling. Two more follow, placing the wire in as safe a position, as possible, and when a roadway is crossed either digging it in and covering it over in a little trench across the hard surface of the roadway to protect it from wheels of carriages and feet of men, or by attaching it to poles so that it may cross over the roadway overhead. They reach the front line trench, and then proceed along the same, following the parapet with their wire until they come to the position of the officer in command of the company. Wires are then installed, so that each company commander is in touch with the officer commanding his battalion and each battalion commander is in direct communication with the brigadier, who has his position located at a spot easily reached by each where in the rear. The next thing to do is to have the brigadier's position connected by wire with the commander of the artillery brigade, and when it is all complete we find a network of wire by which communication can be kept up with all branches of the service, and the officer in the firing line can communicate directly with the General of the Army Corps, situated miles away. The keeping up of this communication requires the greatest fortitude and courage. In the middle of an action, perhaps, the line is broken at some point by the explosion of a shell. Instantly out into the open rush the signallers. One man reeves the wire through an eye in the end of a stick, and rushes forward at top speed to find the break. Another man is pushing him from the opposite direction. The snipers are busy trying to pick off these brave lads. Some may fall but others will follow. The break is reached and mental communication is complete once more.

How the Troops Are Fed

How are we fed? Each morning the lieutenants in charge of the platoon send in their casualty reports and strength reports to the captain of the company. The four captains send in their company strength to the officer commanding the battalion. The O. C. battalion reports to the brigade, the brigade to the division, and by noon the O. C. army corps knows how many men he has in the field. The quartermaster-general has at hand his advanced supply depot where the army corps food and munitions are kept. He has before him a map showing the approximate position of the brigades that command and the roads leading to their positions. Soon the men of the Army Service Corps are at work apportioning out the rations to the different units, and in a short time we find the heavy motor trucks of the divisional supply column bumping along over the cobble stone roads to their various destinations. The mud roads are reached and teams from the battalion transport section carry the provisions to the battalion quartermaster's headquarters. Here four divisions are made and handed over to the quartermaster sergeant of each company, who in turn, with the assistance of his clerk, divides it again according to the strength of the four platoons. Night comes on the clerk guards the company supplies. The quartermaster sergeant goes up to the

Yes, ma'am. And, oh, Norah! The mistress had an after-thought. If the knife does come out clean, you might stick all the rest of the knives into the pudding."

Interesting Account of Trench Making at the Front.

firing line. From the four sections composing each platoon men are told off and these four platoon ration parties are guided back in the darkness to the place where the supplies are waiting. Some carry water bottles which have been taken from their comrades and fill these at the water carts which are also there. Others divide the rations and ammunition among them and wend their weary way back to the firing line where the food is divided up and each man starts another day with a full water bottle and twenty-four hours rations. Ammunition is brought up and deposited in the same way and deposited in convenient places along the trench, where men may replenish their supply. Sometimes when the ration party are on their way back a high explosive shell which is intended for a battery showing too much midnight activity drops among them. When this happens the ration party usually fails to report and the men in front go dry and hungry for a day.

Some Untouched Subjects

I have tried in my humble way to place before you in as concise a manner as possible how two great armies meet, fight, dig in, and settle down to the trench warfare which follows when they each are established in their position; how the trenches have grown from day to day and have been netted together by communication trenches; how the listening posts and the reconnoitering patrols perform their duties; how communication telephone lines are laid, ammunition supplies brought in, and how above our heads men contend for the mastery of the air. I wish I had time to discuss in detail the many other things that happen in the war zone. It would be interesting to describe how the aeroplane with its camera attached and regulated by its height and speed takes a picture of the enemy's lines in front of the guidance of our infantry, and the direction of our artillery; how machine gun emplacements are made, how the artillery hide their guns from the observing airman; how the engineers in a short time bridge a raging torrent, or build a road for heavy guns across a morass; how the surveyors map the country to the rear, and it is blocked and measured; how a battalion commander carries on the interior economy of his battalion, and the brigadier of his brigade; how sanitation is observed in the trenches; how the men are relieved when a fresh battalion marches in; how life is spent in billets; how men wash in the bath train and new clothes are supplied; what the duties of the scout and the sniper are; how the broken, wounded man is handed back from the dressing station to way hospital, and from way hospital to base, and many, many other things that I know would be interesting to those who have not had the opportunity of being here to see. Perhaps on some other occasion I may have the opportunity of dealing with these many matters, and of describing also how when the order to advance is made the wire entanglements of the enemy are destroyed, their moat crossed, their defences demolished, their position captured, consolidated, and how it eventually becomes part and parcel of our own line, and perhaps in this connection also relate some of my own experiences in the battles of Langemarck and Festubert, the trench warfare in which I was engaged, and incidents dealing with the bravery of the gallant men I had the honor to command. These things can well be made the subject of a future discourse.

The Call for Men.

I have tried to trace the movements of the young man from his home, through the training camps in Canada and England, to the firing line in Flanders or in France. He has been engaged in one of the greatest battles of the war; he has lain upon the hillside in the heat of the combat, while the rifles whispered, the machine guns muttered, and the bombs shouted "death." He has been nearly buried by the high explosive, shrapnel shells have burst in the air sending their deadly pellets all around him, pointed missiles like drops of rain have descended upon him from above; how his comrades have been killed or wounded by his side. I have left him in his trench on the far off hillside: he is there tonight in the cold, the rain and the darkness. He is risking his life for the safety and protection of your wife and your child, your mother and sweetheart. He has fought for months under practically the same conditions as now exist. He is the haggard, worn and broken remnant of a man. Is it fair to ask him to fight on and on without your assistance? Can you see him looking back across the waters, can you hear him calling for the help you have not given? Shall you let him look and call in vain, or shall you do your duty and enlist now with the honored leader of the 104th, Colonel Fowler, who has heard and is answering the call to duty, and does not say to you "Go and fight," but "come and we shall, if need be, bleed and die together." Carry not, oh my friends, do your bit for the Empire in this great world wide conflagration, but don the khaki and hand down to your children an honor that will sparkle brightly in the years to come.

ZAM-BUK CURED IN 2 MONTHS

After 2 Year Useless Treatment

The healing power of Zam-Buk is so much greater than of other ointments, that it has cured in many cases when all other ointments have failed. One such instance is that of Mr. Earle E. Gardiner, of Marquis, Sask., who writes: "For two years I suffered with a bad attack of salt-rheum on my feet. During those two years I tried every known remedy, but could find nothing that would cure the disease. Then I heard of Zam-Buk, and commenced using it. After the first few applications I noticed an improvement, and this encouraged me to continue. Although I had suffered for two years, after only two months' treatment with Zam-Buk I am completely cured."

Zam-Buk is equally good for eczema, ulcers, abscesses, blood poisoning, piles, cold sores, chapped hands, chilblains, eruptions, etc. At all drug stores, 50c. box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

SUGAR CONSUMPTION MUST BE REDUCED

London, Feb. 15—The Royal Commission on sugar supplies announces that owing to restrictions in importations the quantity of sugar available in 1916 probably will be from 20 to 25 per cent less than in 1915, and that therefore an equivalent reduction is necessary. The commission expresses the hope that all consumers will restrict their use of sugar in this proportion.

The announcement says there will be no increase made in the scale of prices.

"The motion picture, with all its thrills, and its wealth of romance, has never produced anything more startling than the recent news that Mary Pickford had received the staggering offer of $300,000 a year to leave the company with which she has been connected during the past three years. Phenomenal as this offer seemed to be, Miss Pickford has rejected the huge sum in order to remain with her present employers."—So says a press agent.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"What ruined your business?" "Advertising." "How?" "I let it all be done by competitors."

It is proposed to have Tuesday, 29th February, kept as a Fish Day throughout the Dominion, an introduction of a day to be set apart each year as fish day, the date to be subsequently agreed upon. Will you observe it as such?

While you are receiving those very attractive catalogues from the Mail Order Houses, at the same time remember that the Home Merchant needs your first consideration. He is the man who is building up the town, supplying the schools, paving the streets, in fact working for the general good of the community at large. Don't you think he deserves your patronage? Just think it over.

Germany Must Collapse—What can Germany hope to gain by a continuance of the struggle? It is not to be expected that the Entente Allies will make peace except on their own terms and it is also quite conceivable that the nature of these terms was decided upon long ago. Germany's hope in the beginning of the war was to win by sudden smashes. That hope has long since departed. The advantage of preparedness which she possessed at the beginning is being overcome every day, while her offensive and defensive strength is gradually waning. It is all very well for her officials to issue statements to the effect that the war can be prolonged indefinitely, but the world knows better than that. The war must end sometime and end in disaster to German arms. The longer the process is delayed the more bitter will be the defeat when it comes, and the more costly the price to be paid. Germany must collapse and, for her, the sooner the better.

Canadian Club of Boston Celebrates Anniversary.

The editor of The Advertiser just before returning home from Boston had the pleasure of meeting with the Canadian Club of Boston. On the invitation of Mr. John F. Masters I was invited to attend the 16th anniversary dinner on Saturday last held at the Boston City Club. There it was a most unusual pleasure to meet a number of former Canadians, many of them Nova Scotians who have become prominent in all professions, in business and in financial circles in Boston and vicinity. The regular business of the club was transacted including a report of the arrangements for ladies night held the following Monday evening, Feb. 21st and also reports on the Charity Ball to be given March 6th at which over 1000 persons were expected to participate the proceeds to be devoted to the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

The Canadian Club has done much to foster Canadian sentiment in New England and keeps the Homeland prominently before all our Maritime Province people who are making their home in the United States. Its members have been so successful in professional and business life as to leave the impression upon United States citizens that "Canadian" stands for success and prosperity. Mr. John A. Masters is a charter member of this Club, a former president and is now historian for the Club. Dr. Wilford E. Harris of Cambridge, Mass., formerly of Aylesford, is also a former president, and Dr. Austin K. DeBlois is chaplain. The Club has five honorary members and two of those are natives of Kings County—Sir Robert L. Borden and Sir Frederick W. Borden.

Acadia University Will Raise a Complete Company for the New Highland Brigade.

Acadia's Sons are True to the Flag

Acadia University will raise a complete company of two hundred and fifty men for the New Highland Brigade. A splendid beginning was made at Wolfville Wednesday when eleven Acadia men enlisted and the promise of many others to follow was given. Beside the college men two bank clerks enlisted, who will probably join the ranks of the University Company. This is the biggest single effort yet made by any of the Maritime Universities.

Acadia University, old, historic and distinguished in its services to Nova Scotia has selected her place in the great recruiting scheme that is being inaugurated. Its a big place, but Acadia is capable of filling it.

Almost a hundred years ago the Baptists of Nova Scotia determined to have a college of their own, worked, sacrificed, and denied themselves in order to accomplish their aim. Today that same spirit of sacrifice is spurring the University forward in this noble task.

Since the war began Acadia University has given over one hundred and fifty men for the service of Canada and the Empire. There are now only about one hundred students remaining in the College. From this number there will be a large proportion recruited for the company, while graduates and friends of the University will make up the strength. There will undoubtedly be a number of recruits from the United States, as many of Acadia's brilliant sons have procured high positions in the Republic. They have never, however, lost their loyalty to the old flag, and will undoubtedly respond to this call of their Alma Mater and their country.

Acadia's men are to be found in almost every branch of the service. In the early part of the war her students and graduates enlisted mostly in the Medical Corps. Later when the Sixth Mounted Rifles was organized a large number were enlisted therein, and another batch in the 25th. The 85th Nova Scotia Highlanders when organized claimed a goodly number and nearly all of them have either taken commissions or are non-commissioned officers.

The following were the men who enlisted at Wolfville Wednesday:

- Manning, G. W. C.
  - Wright, C. A. D.
  - Manning, O. W.
  - Draper, J. G.
  - MacPhee, E. D.
  - Moore, Ralph.
  - Spriggs, W.
  - Lantz, O. L.
  - Scott, H. C.
  - Parks, H. C.
  - Corey, A. B.
- The Bank men were as follows:
Langille, L. H.
Banks, C. M.

The New Highland Brigade is made up as follows:
85th Batt.—Lt.-Col. Parsons, O. C.

185th Batt.—Lt.-Col. Day, O. C., (Recruited from Cape Breton).

193rd Batt.—Lt.-Col. Stanfield, O. C., (Recruited from the Eastern Counties of the Province.)

219th Batt.—Recruited from the Western Counties of the Province.

Brigadier General A. H. Borden, O. C., the New Highland Brigade.

A Woman's Problem

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:—

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and backache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. MARGARET GRASSMAN, 759 N. Ringgold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and I have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—Mrs. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Roundy St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—Mrs. E. KISSLING, 931 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

Apple Market Report

The following Apple Market Report has been received by Mr. Robert Harrington of this town:

London—During the past week a cargo of Nova Scotia Apples ex s. s. "Rappahannock" has been handled here. At my Sale of this fruit the undermentioned prices ruled:

Baldwins	No. 1.	19- to 22-	No. 2.	17- to 20-	No. 3.	14- to 18-
Gov. Kessets		25- to 28-		23- to 26-		19- to 24-
Starks		19- to 21-		17- to 19-		14-6 to 17-6
Fallwaters		19- to 21-		18- to 19-		14-6 to 16-6
Spies		24- to 26-		17- to 20-		15- to 20-
Secks		20- to 22-		19- to 20-		15-
Greening		18- to 20-		16- to 17-		12- to 14-

There was one lot of very spotted Baldwins, out of condition, which had to go for less money. A couple of lots of slack-packed Starks also had to go at 17- to 18- for No. 1s, and 14-6 to 16- for No. 2s.

As anticipated, the market has not looked back, on the contrary, it has improved. Prices must continue satisfactory. The next consignment from Nova Scotia is not due here until the 20 inst., by which time the market will be empty and the fruit should be eagerly competed for at advanced values.

FRENCH APPLES are plentiful, but mostly of poor quality. Any attractive lots are quickly sold at good prices.

Yours very faithfully,
J. O. SIMS.

IT ISN'T YOUR CHURCH, IT'S YOU.

If you want to work in the kind of a church you like. Like the kind of a church you like. You needn't slip your clothes in a grip. And start on a long, long hike.

You'll only find what you left behind. For there's nothing that's really new. It's a knock at yourself when you knock at your church. It isn't your church, it's you.

Real churches aren't made by men afraid. Lest somebody else goes ahead. When everyone works and nobody shirks. You can raise a church from the dead.

And if while you make your personal stake. Your neighbor can make one, too. Your church will be what you want to see— It isn't your church, it's you.

CANADIAN RED CROSS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Canadian Red Cross Society recently held in Toronto produced striking evidence of the multiplicity and magnitude of the operations of the society. There were present delegates from many branches together with many distinguished Canadians representative of the social, political, financial and philanthropic life of the Dominion.

The presence of the Duke of Connaught emphasized the Society's unique status as an official ally of the army Medical Service sanctioned by Act of Parliament. The Society is thus in a certain sense a State Department, and the election of the Duches of Connaught as president for 1916 is further tribute to the official importance of the Red Cross.

The Governor General's testimony to the efficiency and probity of the Red Cross administration was heartily applauded. No one recognizes more than I do," he stated, "what a splendid work the society is doing for the alleviation of sickness and suffering. I am positive that every dollar contributed to the Society has been properly and wisely spent. Canada should be proud to support a society like the Red Cross."

A letter was also sent by Sir Robert Borden to the Chairman of the Executive Committee and containing a handsome appreciation on the part of the Government of Canada of the work of the Canadian Red Cross.

"I desire," said the Prime Minister, "on behalf of the Government, to express to the Executive Committee and to the workers throughout the country, our appreciation of their splendid efforts. I hope that every one in Canada realizes the extent and efficiency of the Society's work."

The report of the treasurer, the Hon. James Manson showed a total receipts for the year of $975,515 including a balance from 1914. The records of the last three months' receipts in London, were unavailable, so that the complete income for 1915 can be conjectured as well over $1,000,000.

The Chairman of the Central Council read a report containing impressive details of the work done in Canada, in England and the war zones. There are now 484 branches in Canada—an increase of 300 over 1914. To these must be added a large number of auxiliary societies acting in co-operation. Assistance has been given to auxiliary hospitals in Canada, and the Alberta Provincial branch has established the Ogden Convalescent home in Calgary.

In England the Duchess of Connaught hospitals has been equipped at a cost of $200,000 and is now operating up to its capacity of 900 beds. Convalescent hospitals are maintained at Bushy Park, and at Buxton, in addition to an Officers hospital in London. Further, over 100 hospitals and institutions, in England, France and other war zones have received Canadian Red Cross supplies from the warehouse in London. An estimated amount of $3,000,000 of these supplies have been sent from Canada carried free by the Railways and Express companies, and at a very nominal rate by ocean transport.

Over 50,000 cases were shipped including 120 motor ambulances. Publicity has been given to the society's work by the issue of nine editions of 200,400 copies of a booklet containing instructions for Red Cross work, and also the publication of a monthly bulletin.

These facts which will be published at length in the annual report, together with full particulars of the work done by the Provinces and their branches, a report by Col. Hogetts the Commissioner in England, and a statement of like nature from the Assistant Commissioner in France will constitute an imposing array of statistical evidence. It will omit perhaps the most eloquent testimony to the good work of the Red Cross—the gratitude and thanks of the wounded and prisoners who have benefitted by its humanity.

WOMAN'S HEALTH NEEDS CONSTANT CARE

Work and Worry Leaves Her a Victim of Many Distressing Ailments.

Every woman's health is peculiarly dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness. If you have any of these symptoms you should begin today to build up your blood with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Under their use the nervous energy of the body is restored as the blood becomes red and pure and the entire system is strengthened to meet every demand upon it. They nourish every part of the body, giving brightness to the eye and color to the cheeks and lips.

Mrs. Jas. S. Francis, Oakwood, Ont., says: "I should have written long ago to tell what Dr. Williams Pink Pills did for me, but I suppose it is better late than never. In June, 1913, I had to go to a hospital for an operation for female weakness. I was in the hospital for a month, before I was able to get home. Three weeks after this I started for a trip to the Pacific coast, in the hope that my health would further improve. On the way I stopped to visit a sister in Southern Alberta, and on arriving at her home (after a 35 mile drive) I was completely done out. I found my sister ill, her baby having been born the week before. As there was no one to help, I had to take care of the child and do the household work, and in the three weeks that passed before my sister took charge I was completely worn out, and again nearly ill. However, I started on my westward trip, and decided to stop off at Banff, where I remained a week, but it did not seem to help me, and I resumed my journey. On the train I took sick, and could not eat, and as I was alone my condition was pitiable. Finally the porter wired ahead to North Bend for a doctor to see me. The doctor wanted me to leave the train and go to a hospital, but I determined to continue my journey to Vancouver. The medicine the doctor gave me did not help me, and I was getting worse all the time. And then a young man who had the opposite berth asked me if I would try Dr. Williams Pink Pills and gave me a box he had. I used these and the porter got me two more boxes, and by the time I reached my journey's end I was feeling some better. I stayed two months on the coast, and continued taking Dr. Williams Pink Pills all that time. I had gained in weight and appearance, and when I started for home I felt better than I had done for years. Now I always keep Dr. Williams Pink Pills in the house, and both my husband and my young daughter have been benefited by their use. I bless the day that young man on the train gave me his box of pills, otherwise I might never have tried them, and would have still been an invalid."

You can get Dr. Williams Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail, from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A LETTER FROM SIR FREDERICK FRASER RE RECRUITING.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 19, '16. To Editor of The Advertiser: Sir:

Among the many products of Nova Scotia there is none of which she may be more justly proud than her splendid manhood. Her sons are intelligent, industrious and brave and have attained to the highest positions of responsibility in our own and other lands. But never has this manhood received a more urgent and noble call than at the present hour. Canada has authorized an army of a half a million men. This is a strenuous but glorious demand upon our resources. 5,000 of these must be raised at once in Nova Scotia. Our Province has given generously already. Not a few of our lads who had been successful abroad have flocked home to join the colors. Now comes the summons for every available man. Nothing is any longer of consequence but to win out and to obtain security and freedom for the future. In this appeal the Recruiting Committee rely with implicit confidence upon that patriotic co-operation that the press, and your paper among others have given, since the very inception of the war.

The arrangements for enlistment are most attractive. The new recruits are to be bracketed in a Highland Brigade along with the 85th, one of the finest bodies of men ever gathered on our shores. The very act of enlistment, even should a soldier never fire a shot, will do something to hasten the victory. The enemy is surveying with evident uneasiness the swelling ranks of the British Army. The moral effect of a universal response would be stupendous. If we join in dribbles, no one can tell how long the agony will endure; if we all join together, the end is in sight. The enemy is overwhelmed. There are glens in Scotland without a man, shall it be so in New Scotland? Never has cause been more honorable; never has peril been so deadly. Life, love and liberty are at stake; the ruin of Belgium and Serbia must be averted. Therefore: "For all we have and are For all our children's fate Stand up and meet the war The Hun is at the gate." Yours faithfully, C. FREDERICK FRASER, Acting Chairman Nova Scotia Recruiting Association

Miss Addie Primrose Becomes the Bride of Capt. F. W. Miller of the 85th Battalion

All Saints' Cathedral, Halifax,
 was the scene at 7.30 o'clock on Monday evening last, of a military wedding in which an unusual amount of interest was taken. The principals were Miss Adelaide Primrose, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Primrose, of Kentville, and Captain Frederick Warren Miller,
 of the 85th Overseas Battalion,
 Nova Scotia Highlanders,
 C. E. F.

Although the guests included
 only immediate friends and relatives, there was a very large attendance, the Cathedral being thronged to the doors. The fact that the wedding was a military one, together with the popularity of the contracting parties, accounted for this. All the members of C. Company, to which Captain Miller is attached, were present, and the officers and band of the battalion were also there.

The Rev. Dean Liwyd, rector of the Cathedral, officiated. The service was beautiful and impressive, the Cathedral organist and the battalion furnishing the music. The bride, who was given away by Major Creighton, of the 85th, looked very charming in a travelling suit of navy blue,
 with which she wore a black hat with blue trimmings. She carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses and ferns.
 Miss Frances Fraser of Halifax,
 the bridesmaid, was gowned in a Belgian blue suit, with which she wore a black hat with blue feather trimmings, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.
 Lieut. Layte of the 85th was groomsmen, and the ushers were also from the battalion.
 When the marriage service was concluded and the bride came down the aisle on the arm of her husband, the 85th band, stationed near the chancel, struck up the wedding march and the officers of the battalion drew up on either side of the aisle and formed an arch of swords under which the wedding party walked.

When the bride and groom came out of the Cathedral they were greeted with a storm of cheers from the men of C. Company, who made a hurried exit
 in order to bid their Captain and his bride good-bye. As they drove away, the men cheered lustily and sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and other rousing songs.

A large number of presents were received. These included a silver tea service from Colonel Borden and the officers of the 85th, and a silver tea service from the non-commissioned officers and men of C. Company, 85th Battalion.
 Among those who were present at the wedding were Mrs. F.
 M. Slade of Montreal, sister of the groom, who wore navy blue crepe meteor, with coral pink hat; Mrs. Philbrook, of Montreal, brown crepe du chene
 purple hat, with plumes; Mrs.
 James Fraser, Mrs. Schenck;
 Mrs. Eaton of Grand Pre, aunt of the groom; and Mrs. Leonard Grant of Charlottetown, cousin of the groom.

Captain and Mrs. Miller left that night on a short wedding trip. After their return they will reside in the city until the groom leaves with his battalion for the front.
 At North Street Station, before the train drew out, Captain and Mrs. Miller were given another send-off by the men of C Company, who had hastened up from the Cathedral. The men gave three cheers for Captain Miller and his bride and entertained the station crowds with some of the now famous battalion songs.

Winfort Hilchey, son of Mrs.

 charming wearing silk chiffon

 Immediately after the ceremony

FIRST SHIPMENT OF FISH TO CANADIAN TROOPS OVERSEAS

The first big consignment of Canadian fish for Canadian soldiers now overseas has been despatched to England. About 40 tons of lake and sea fish will be sent weekly henceforth. The first lot was made up of salmon and halibut from the Pacific coast, and cod, soles, smoked haddock, and fillets, from the Maritime. Later shipments will contain lake white fish from western lakes and herring from Lake Superior.

In this way the whole fishing interests of the Dominion will be represented in the new fish diet for the boys at the front.

At present fish prices are away up in England, and the militia department, co-operating with the fisheries department, is taking advantage of the situation, not only to provide a cheap and popular ration from Canada, but also to promote what is hoped will be a permanent and big market for Canadian fish in the Motherland.—Ex
