

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., FEB. 18, 1887.

ELECTION.

Another week has passed away the great political battle in this Dominion will have been fought and victory won; and the political press on the one side will be claiming a great moral victory, while that of the other will be proclaiming to the world that bribery and corruption has been the lever which accomplished such a result.

Handoc Items.

I've found out what politics is at last. There was a political meeting out here the other day and I went. Political meetings are great things, aren't they? I was never at one before. They make people enthusiastic. They make Grits Grittier and Tories more Toryistic. This one was a decided success in more ways than one. I gave universal satisfaction. Everybody was delighted with it,—both Grits and Tories,—and that's what I liked about it.

I must say I was ashamed of Dr Borden that day when he commenced talking about Repeal and the United States. I was never so ashamed of anybody in my life. It was disgraceful. And I was glad when Woodworth came to that point in answering him. I felt like shaking hands with him and giving him a cent, and I couldn't help that when he was with all his might. The idea of us just as soon using American products as Canadian!

I've been reading the papers some lately, and noticing things around, and listening to people, and I've come to the conclusion that the Yankees are getting mighty jealous of us. Perhaps Canada isn't going right ahead or anything, and perhaps she isn't some of these days just going to walk right ahead of things and beat the United States every time. Perhaps not. And what's doing it? Anybody would be a mighty narrow-minded Grit and not a Liberal. I say, send Sir John back again. Who cares if he isn't on the right side of politics? We're not so piggy as all that. Even Mr Blake, who D. B. Woodworth even admitted was one of the greatest men of Canada, has, after much thought on the subject, supported it, and he's good enough authority, I guess. He's studied up the business, and he knows we can't get a reciprocity free trade treaty with the United States if we want it ever so much. It takes two to make a bargain, and when the United States finds out they're going to get the best of it, they'll consent, and not till they do.

Poultry Keeping.

Few people are aware of the vast extent and magnitude of the poultry interest in America at the present day. If you mention anything about poultry to the average man, he would say, "Oh, yes, it is well enough for women and children to take care of them, but it don't pay for us to bother with them; they don't amount to much anyway."

Who in the face of such figures will dare to belittle the poultry question again? Do not be afraid of over-doing the business either, for the United States imports millions of dollars' worth of poultry annually, and the supply is not equal to the demand for first quality articles.

From these facts it will seem that it would be well for each and every one to look well after the poultry; and not only for the money profit to be obtained but also the increased comfort and health of the family accruing from the regular and satisfactory supply of such nutritious foods. I say everyone, because there is hardly a family in King's county so situated but could profitably keep a small flock of hens. Of course every farmer keeps poultry, and nowhere else can fowls be kept so profitably or reared to so high a state of excellence. Even the fancier need not begin to compete with the fowls raised with the unlimited range and freedom of the farm, even if the farmer's fowls received but one half the attention he bestows upon his. All those who reside in villages have plenty of room in the rear of their dwellings for a few hens at least, and most of them have a building suitable also.

But, first of all, do not think of entering upon the business, except in the smallest degree, with the idea of either pleasure or profit, unless you are fond of taking care of them, else you will be sure to be disappointed. This is one of the chief causes of the failure of many who have kept poultry on a large scale. Still there are few persons, especially among women and children, and it generally falls to their lot to look after them, who do not delight in feeding and watching the movements of the pretty, graceful birds as they sing around; now catching some little insect unawares, now pecking at a speck of grass, ever busy and active earning their own living and at the same time destroying many enemies to vegetation. I have often after feeding them watched them by the hour almost; they are so bright and interesting in all their actions, as they keep scratching and pecking away. Then perhaps suddenly one spies a bit of meat or something nice that it cannot swallow at once, and then such a chase ensues! The fortunate one dodges around amongst the others with the greatest skill and dexterity, until finally it thinks it has gained a corner unobeyed by the others and gently lays the tidbit down,—Oh, it's lost!—that dark-necked pullet was watching all the time. Now the chase goes on again, till at last the morsel is either torn in pieces or else some one with a larger mouth than the others has caught it and swallowed it whole. Then when the cute little chickens are latched out in the spring—oh, my! I couldn't begin to describe their funny actions.

Another cause of failure, especially among those living in a village where the "play ground" for the poultry is rather limited, is the tendency to increase their flocks beyond the quantity which they can profitably maintain. People are apt to reason that because they can keep a small flock with profit, if they should increase their flocks, their profits would increase proportionately. So they would if all the former circumstances and surroundings bore the same proportion to the new flock. But as a matter of fact very few of them are changed at all, consequently, as the premise is false, the conclusion is false also. Of course with one who is thoroughly acquainted with all the requirements and conditions of poultry life and is willing to devote most of his time to them, the case is different. On a farm the risk is not so great, as here their run is practically unlimited; still there is danger of over-crowding the house, when sickness and loss are sure to ensue. I will speak more particularly of this question of numbers in the next paper; what I would impress here is that every family, which has land enough to hold a small hen-house and yard, should keep a few hens, sufficient at least to supply their own table. There is no reasonable practical objection to it, and I am sure that after keeping them a few months they will be so well-satisfied with the increased comfort, enjoyment and profit that they will wonder how they ever existed without them. If any who have not been pleased with their former experience with poultry will follow the directions given in these papers, I know from my own practical experience that their efforts will be crowned with success.

TO THE LIBERALS OF KING'S.

To the Editor of the ACADIAN:

Messrs Editors,—I am a Liberal, if that much abused term has any significance in these days. I am in favor of progress and of removing abuses that have nothing to recommend them but their antiquity. I sympathize with Gladstone and the English Liberals in their efforts to improve the masses at the expense of the classes. I belonged to the old Liberal party of Nova Scotia and believed in it and still believe that it accomplished very much for our Province. I sympathized with the Howe repeal movement and like that eminent statesman I accepted the situation. It seems to me now that the Macdonald administration is the party of progress and that the so-called Liberal party is a party of reaction. I find that we are now part of a Dominion large enough to be seen on the map and recognized by intelligent men everywhere. We have railroads of which any country might be proud stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific opening up vast reaches of fertile prairie and giving homes to thousands who might otherwise be in poverty. We have manufactures of all kinds within our own limits, giving employment to thousands of operatives, thus making a market for farm produce and at the same time cheapening to every one the necessities and luxuries of life. I find that since Confederation sugar has declined 50 per cent, flour nearly as much, cotton about the same, and soap and matches—in fact, everything that the working-man need; while wages have advanced so that, as a man earning wages, I find myself richer by the changed condition of affairs. So is every one richer, that works for a living or has a salary or is living on an income. He has more money and the money is worth more. And who is poorer? A few capitalists have lost money in learning the manufacturing business, but what they have lost is a gain to all consumers, and now all the factories are on a solid foundation. As things look to me now it would be folly to oppose the government that has been instrumental in securing these advantages to the people of the Dominion, for we must attribute the present easy condition of things largely to the fiscal policy of Sir John A. Macdonald. I would therefore, Mr Editor, through your courtesy, respectfully ask the electors of King's to throw away prejudice and support the National Prosperity party. PATRIOT.

THE NORTHWEST.

To the Editor of the ACADIAN:

Sir,—Will you allow me space to refer to an article under the above heading in the Acadia Athenaeum for this month. The reverend author of that article has drawn a highly colored and not altogether accurate picture of the difficulties to be met with by settlers there; but I think, and very many with whom I have conversed on the subject think with me, that he has greatly and most unfairly exaggerated these difficulties. His article has been copied into a Grit paper in Halifax and thrown broadcast over the province for nothing that one can see but political purposes. Does the reverend explorer suppose that in a country like Winnipeg, he is to find everything ready made to his hand? He talks utter nonsense when he tells us there are "some rivers with water in them, some lakes with fish in them, and some days when the cold is too great for the mosquitoes to be out. Lots of wood where it is not needed and lots of water where it is not wanted," and so on ad nauseam. If the Creator had consulted Mr Harrington when He made the world, we might have had a Winnipeg ready cultivated, drained, and built on for such tenderly nurtured people. In a minister of the gospel I think we have a right to at least expect truth and fairness in describing a country. "There is," he admits, "good land in some places, fine weather sometimes, and good crops in some parts." Young men who have not the money to buy a farm ready cultivated, naturally expect to have these natural difficulties to overcome. Where are our young men to go if not to the far West of our own country? Does he expect University graduates to go out there with piano-playing wives and all the paraphernalia of the owner of a model farm in England? "Nova Scotia," he says, "is a far better land than the Northwest even will be!" How does he know these things? He knows, or ought to know, that our young men cannot get enough farm land here to make them stay at home and make it pay them. He travelled 450 miles and saw nothing but swamps and mud, with battalions of mosquitoes lurking under every blade of grass. It is, sir, a great pity that anyone, most of all that a professor of religion, should write and cause to be published such an unparliamentary and apparently untruthful and certainly grossly inaccurate account of the Northwest for what seems to be purely political reasons. For those who are not afraid of the natural drawbacks to commencing life in a new country, the Northwest of Canada is as fine a field as any in America, and one which will outlive even the unfavorable and unfair description of the Rev. F. C. Harrington. I am, sir, yours etc.

REMARKABLE Financial Results.

EXPERIENCE OF POLICY HOLDERS IN THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK.

The wonderful financial results achieved by The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York have attracted the attention of the people at large, and are particularly gratifying to 129,000 members of this institution.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York has now in trust for policy holders, $114,181,063, and it has paid out since its organization, over $243,000,000 to the holders of its policies.

As an evidence of the wise management and admirable investment of its funds, the following list of payments for death claims in 1886 has been published, showing what the cost of insurance is in this Company. It will be seen that for every dollar paid by the insured to the Mutual Life, the Company returned $2.68 to the policy holder.

Table with columns: Total Claims Paid by Company, Net Amount Paid for Each Insured, and Amt Received by Policy Holder. Rows list months from Jan 8 to Dec 31.

$5,492,920.00 $2,048,222.78

The average duration of these policies was 14.4 years and thus it will be seen that the holders thereof received all the premiums back, improved at 12 1/2 per cent compound interest.

It is unnecessary to remark that there is no other form of investment so profitable as this, and the security is found in The Liberal Company in the world.

MONEY! MONEY! MONEY!

IN THE FARMERS' OWNERS OF HORSES AND STOCK RAISERS.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that you can save one third the expense of keeping your Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine and poultry by using a small quantity of The Vegetable Combined Stock Feed & Condition Powders.

This Feed is made from the recipe of a noted and popular English Veterinary Surgeon, and has been thoroughly tested for the past twenty years in this and other countries.

It is composed of purely vegetable remedies, and is warranted to cure and prevent Heaves, Coughs and Colds, Lung Fever, Loss of Appetite, Epizootic, Pink Eye, Distemper, Worms, Swelled Legs, Scratches, Collar Boils and Galls, Cribbing, Wind Difficulties, Mange, Abortions in Cows, Milk Fever, Retention of Water, Bloody Urine, Pleuro-Pneumonia, Loose Cud, Gravel, Impure Blood, Cramp in Legs, Hollow Horn, Foul Nose and Rot, Hog Cholera, Roup and Pip, Hide Bound, Kidney, Heart, Liver and Bladder diseases.

The majority of animal diseases come from derangement of the KIDNEYS and LIVER; the same is true of the ANIMAL CREATION. All animals require and deserve this remedy.

It is the cheapest food for fattening all animals that can be produced; will increase the flow and improve the quality of milk 20 percent. 50 cts per package; in bulk and quantities much less. Sample box and testimonials by mail 60 cts in stamps. If your druggist does not keep it send direct to us and I will forward it promptly.

In cases of scratches, Mange, Galls or when the skin is broken from any cause, the Remedial Healing Ointment should be used in connection with V. C. S. Feed & Condition Powders. If used according to directions a cure for any of the above diseases is warranted. (Correspondence solicited.)

Ointment, 25c. by mail or had from druggists. Send for circulars and testimonials.

It requires only a casual glance as you enter their store to convince you of the truth of their statement.

Line upon line: pile upon pile, of the best goods marked away down to hard pan prices.

No shoddy; all honest good stock, which will suit the taste of the most fastidious.

Space is not sufficient to enumerate the stock, but we shall be pleased to have a visit from every man, woman, and child of Wolfville between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Don't Read Tearfully, But Do Read Carefully!
