WOLFVILLE, N. S., AUG. 13, 1909.

The Strike.

Probably no subject is more discussed in the province these days than the Cape Breton Coal strike, and outside of Cape Breton itself probably no question is less understood.

Those who fancy that this is a struggle between labor and capital are mistaken. It is not a contest merely between the Coal Company and its employees. More properly speaking it is a contest between two divisions of the miners themselves with their common employer siding with the one party against the other.

The initial cause of the trouble arose in the ranks of the Provincial Workmen's Association, a society which for a long time was the only organization among the coal miners.

The control of this society, which in the past was able to accomplish great things for the miners of the province, gradually fell into the hands of a little group of officials who apparently became convinced that the funds and influence of the P. W. A. were their private property to be used for self-enrichment and advancement.

Complaints gradually were made by the rank and file over management of society funds. Suspicions were finally freely expressed that some of the association's most prominent officers were in the pay of the Coal Company which in this way exercised as great control over the P. W. A. as it was known to exert upon the government.

Finally an organized attempt was made by the discontented ones to vote out these officers and put in their places others more adapted to demand the confidence of the membership.

The malcontents greatly outnumbered the friends of the officers, but the officers held one decidedly strong card. They controlled the credential committee and to the consternation of the revolting party it was found that when the membership of the meeting of the Grand Lodge was finally made up the revolvers were mostly on the outside. The courts were resorted to in vain.

The next move followed to get rid of the disgraced officers was the advocating of an amalgamation of the P. W. A. with the United Workmen's Association, a body very strong in the United States and British Columbia.

A plebiscite was taken upon the question and once again it became apparent that while a great majority voted for the union, the officers by resorting to technicalities were able to render the popular vote ineffective.

In despair the disgraced P. W. A. members decided to drop the association and quietly established U. M. W. Lodges and in a very short time the great majority of miners in Cape Breton and Cumberland were enlisted with the U. M. W.

They soon discovered that it was not the money that was the trouble. When the U. M. W. men went to the Company's office for their pay they found that an amount had been deducted from their wages to cover dues to the P. W. A. They protested that they were no longer P. W. A. members and consequently were obliged to make no such contribution. The officers of the new U. M. W. Lodges approached the companies and demanded the same recognition that was enjoyed by the P. W. A., but they were informed that no organization would be recognized but the one they had left. Then it was, that as a last resort, the men struck.

Most people who study the question and approach it impartially will sympathize with the U. M. W. Most people will fail to see the justification of the companies in recognizing the status of an organization controlled by a selfish minority of their employees while denying recognition to the majority. The concern of the companies for the control of the officers of the P. W. A. is not adapted to restore the workmen's confidence in their former tribunes.

Of course the Dominion Coal Company in patriotic fervor denounces an organization of laborers with headquarters in a foreign country. It will be remembered, however, that it was a United States capitalist that originally acquired the mining rights of Cape Breton and organized the Dominion Coal Company monopoly. If it is all right for United States capital to acquire and monopolize our national resources where is the harm in having United States labor associations come in to watch it.

New York pays its mayor $15,000 a year. Philadelphia pays $12,000. Boston, Cleveland, Chicago and Pittsburgh are in the $10,000 class. Allegheny pays $7,500, and there are five cities which pay $6,000 each and seven which pay $5,000 each. The average salary of state governors in the republic are between $4,000 and $5,000 each or half the Canadian rate.

SIGN OF THE SEVEN DEVILS.
A distinguished doctor some time ago wrote to a professional friend, saying: "I would rather see a patient with almost any other disease other my consulting room, than one afflicted with the seven devils of indigestion and dyspepsia."

That doctor knew exactly that indigestion is difficult to cure—that it poisons the blood, starves and weakens the body and nerves. But he didn't seem to know that Mother Seize's Food has cured tens of thousands of cases of indigestion, blood poison, etc. Cape August P. D., Richmond Co., N. S., writes on January 17th, 1909, saying: "For over 3 years I suffered from stomach trouble. The little food I ate gave me no satisfaction in my body. Three months ago, I tried Mother Seize's Food and the bottles of it completely cured me." He adds that it completely cured a number of his friends. Price 50c per bottle. A. J. THE AUGUST HOME JOURNAL.
Thirty-two pages of select reading including new fashions, short stories, and beautiful illustrations, make the August issue of The Home Journal the best ever published of this progressive woman's magazine.

Special articles and illustrations on 'The Pure Milk Campaign' tell about the splendid work being done in the vicinity of Toronto. 'Regatta Day in St. John's N.B.', is a graphic description of one of the greatest celebrations of that ancient colony. It is written by Lady Gay and is in her best style.

The second big instalment of the serial, 'The Mystery of Barry Ingram,' will doubtless be read with interest by those having read the opening chapters of this absorbing mystery story in the July issue.

'Wild Flowers of August' will be closely read by those interested in nature study. Agnes Norton has contributed 'East is East and West is West.' It takes one back to the days when warships and sailors made life happy at Halifax.

'The Household Hints' and 'Culinary Concepts' pages are brim full of interesting notes. 'Cabbages and Kings' and 'But That's Another Story' are in a lighter vein and the splendid illustrations and descriptive matter of fashions for young and old help to make the August issue the largest ten cents' worth ever offered to Canadian women. The special fall fashion number will be out Aug. 23rd.

Southern California.

Last winter kind and enthusiastic friends of mine presented my name to Colonel Schriber, as a candidate for the vacant chaplaincy of the Seventh Regiment of Infantry, of the National Guard, of California, and in March I received my commission signed by Governor Gillett, and Adjutant-General Lusk. The commission gives me the rank of a mounted captain, and it was necessary for me to purchase all the uniforms of an officer of that grade. I have just returned from the bi-annual regimental encampment at Bay City, 30 miles from Los Angeles, on the coast.

Every second year the National Guard of the whole state, composing three regiments of Infantry, and a regiment of artillery, with all the various Signal and Hospital Corps, meet at Atascadero with a regiment of the regular army, for field maneuvers.

We were at Bay City eleven days, and went through all the motions of a regiment of the army in active service. Every incident of the encampment was very interesting to me. I was assigned a horse and a position on the Colonel's personal staff, and rode out on every possible occasion.

After the first day's drill Colonel Schriber gave us to show us what exactly the army regulations were, he said to me, 'Captain, you are an elegant rider, and I am not, but I can show you a few wrinkles about mounting, dismounting and holding your hands.' I confessed that I had been riding cow-boy style, and was eager to learn all the 'wrinkles.' On Sunday, July 25, I conducted divine service under truly romantic conditions.

I used no chair, table or desk, but stood under the national colors in front of the headquarters tent, in my olive drab service uniform. Behind me all the officers, including Brigadier General Wankowski, and four regular army officers, stood in a long semi-circle, to my right was the regimental band with the music arranged so that the accompaniments were a splendid imitation of the pipe organ, to my left my wife and daughter, and several other ladies from San Bernardino, were seated on camp stools, and in front, seated on the ground, were 300 enlisted men. The order of service having been left to me I arranged it as follows:—(1) Selection by the band, and the singing of 'All hail the power of Jesus' name.' (2) Recitation of the Shepherd psalm, (23rd) and the Lord's Prayer, in unison. (3) The 'Master Mason's Prayer,' which was beautifully appropriate for the occasion. (4) Singing of 'Old Hundred,' and a quartette by the soldiers singing, 'Nearer My God to Thee.' (5) Sermon of thirty minutes on the topic:—'Enthusiasm,' with texts, 'And God saw that it was good,' and 'Who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross.' (6) Song 'America,' a fervent prayer, and the benediction. In reporting the encampment for the Los Angeles Times Mr. Harry C. Carr wrote as follows: 'The camp at Bay City is a big military workshop. Everything like pomp and poppy-cock and strutting has been severely squeezed out of it. Every day Col. Schriber turns out his dignified staff and puts them through a course of sprouts which wilts their collars and leaves nothing at all of their pompousness. After parade, yesterday, the last thing I saw as I started for the city in the morning, was a company of hapless staff officers jolting around in circles through the dust on horse back while Colonel Schriber sat in the middle of the circle, and I doubt not, told them they rode like grain-bags, and heeded not their heart-rending looks of remonstrance and pleading.' I was in that circle of manoeuvring staff officers and enjoyed the fun to the limit, for that was exactly what the Colonel did say to a couple of my unhappy companions, who were not accustomed to horses, but having already fixed my horse so that he would do nothing but canter, it was a good-sized picnic for me.

Quite a large excursion party under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias of Springhill arrived by the steamer Prince Albert on Wednesday, for a day's visit in Wolfville. The weather was about as unpleasant as it could well be, which was very much to be regretted, and spoiled the visitors' prospects for a pleasant day. We trust they may come again when nature may be in a better mood.

A party composed of Dr. and Mrs. Moore, Mr. Herman and Miss Nellie DeWitt, Misses Ella and Beld Tufts, Dr. Bosch, Dr. Theodore Egge and Mr. Robt Tufts, represent the Wolfville Tennis Club, went to Windsor on Saturday last and played the Windsor Club, resulting in a draw. The door is of native oak, and is a handsome piece of workmanship.

Give Us the Facts.

DEAR ACADIAN.—In my opinion the controversy between the Western Chronicle and Rev. J. D. Spidell deserves some notice. The people are not much concerned how Mr. Spidell spells his name, or what value the Western Chronicle places upon an M. A. degree from Potomac University. There is, however, an issue that should receive serious consideration. Mr. Spidell has threatened to make public certain scandalous things which he claims to know against a person closely connected with the Western Chronicle, unless that paper keeps silent concerning him. Now it is easy to see by the clinging attitude of the said paper that Mr. Spidell knows where he is speaking. If rumor be true, the person to whom Mr. Spidell refers, aspires to represent this county in the Provincial Legislature. Mr. Spidell owes it to himself and the people of this county to at once publish the facts.

VOX POPULI.

Mr. W. H. Blanchard, of Windsor, died on Saturday morning last. He was a brother of the late Judge Blanchard, of Kentville.

The amount of grain destroyed by the recent hail storms in the North-west, will not, it is expected, amount to more than one per cent of the total crop.

The Reason why We Feel Tired

The system is overloaded with poisonous waste matter.

You expect to be tired when you have been working hard, for the activities of the muscles or brain cause a breaking down of cells, or burning up, we might say, and after while the system becomes clogged with this waste matter or ashes and you get tired.

But you are often tired when you have not been working hard and in this case the conditions are much the same but the presence of the poisonous waste matter is due to the derangements of the excretory organs—the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Under such circumstances you cannot possibly be better than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for they have a direct action on the liver and bowels, thoroughly cleansing the excretory system and restoring normal digestion.

There is no medicine of more frequent or effective use in the family than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for they have no equal as a cure for constipation, biliousness, liver troubles and kidney derangements. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers of Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
