settlere about Beaussjour and Bonnis Doon, in Manitoba, who have had their crops, their stock, their buildings, and mearty everything else they owned awept away by prairie firee. After months of frugal living and hopeful waiting for a return on their labor and outlay—when their good wheat crop, reaped, housed, and threshed, finds a waiting it a market that offers a price squal to the highest over paid in Manitoba—to have all suddenly raduoed to sake is a stroke of misfortuno that must try the stoutest heart. Some of the ruined farmers are new who were in the province early enough to experience a few years of the opening good times unatched away from them. Others are new-comers, who have staked and lost their all on a first crop. Thousands of bushels of wheat, thousands of live stock were destroyed along with the homes and personal effects of the settlers. Saddest of all, two women and two children were burned to death and others may have met the same fate. Still more desolating have been the besh fires raging the last few days in Eastern Ontario and across the Ottawa river in Quebec. Three Ontario villages, on the Canada Atlautic rall-way—Casselman. South India, and Cheney, containing the homes of 200 families and the industries supporting them, have been Estento Saveral other villages are in danger. Two women and two children are known to have perished in the flames, and others are said to be missing. On the Quebec side the villages of Kasubazus was hereare at the potter of the settlers are all to be missing. On the Quebec side the village of Kasubazus was hereare at the supporting them, have been faires must be very great. Those people who were driven out of their homes are said to be missing. On the Quebec side the village of Kasubazus was hereare as all to be missing to the channel of a river, well night blinded or inflocated by smoke or nearly a vercence with the heat, and all the time uncortain about the fate of others dear to them. Even fof these whose antierings were least the special report of the club

Striday last the officers and crews of the fishery protection cruisers held their annual athietic games at Georgetown. A special train from this city brought to the castern capital Sir Louis, and Lady Davies, Seastor and Mrs. McDonald, A. B. Warburton Ecc., M. L. A., Superintendent Sharp and seyeral other laddes and gantlemen. All the cruisers were in the harbor and profusly decorated with bunting in honor of the Minister of Marine. The Marines were drawn up in line at the depot and saluted Sir Louis on his arrival. An address from the Liberals of King's, and one from the Liberals of King's, and one from the town council of Georgetown were read and presented to Sir Louis, by Malcolm McDonald, Eq., to which he respected. A handsome bouquet was presented to Lady Davies by Miss Gracie S. ewart, the five year old daughter of A. C. Stowart, E.q. The games were carried out under the direction of Chaptain Spain of the Acadis, and well contested, The games were held on the tract of the Exhibition grounds. At the close the pines were distributed by Lady Davies.

MIGHAEL SCANIAN, of Roxbury, Mass, came to the Island on Friday the Ist inst., in company with Mr. Peter McDonald, of Valleyfield. On the following day, Saturday, they both drove down to Murray of Clock, which resulted in the death River. On the next day, Sunday, Mr. Scanlan went out for a walk and he has not been heard of since. A thorough serron has been made for him by Mr. McDonald and others without success. Much anxiety is felt at his absence.

"It is astonishing how careless women are—it is generally the women about what they leave between the leaves of the books they return to us," said the manager of a very popular library. " I have found the tenderest love epistles and not a (" recipes for hair dyes, and so gr, and I have frequently returned such things their blushing owners These things have, of course, been used as popped in a book to be out of the way. Not very long since I found a false fringe, and County Court summonses have frequently popped up. I found the draft letter of acceptance of a proposal of marriage only last week, and as I know the young fellow to whom it was addressed you may imagine that I smiled. Women often come in with some agitation of manner and ask if we will look in such and such a book to see if some given article has 'got between the leaves,' and when they find that the book has gone out to some other read-er you should see their faces. But we usually examine all books that come in, and only lately we found and restored a #5 note."
