On 279 Special Trains,
C. G. Railways

Up to March 1st 757,400 Troops have travelled over Government Railways.

Thousands arrive each week at Halifax and are sent forward to Dispersal Areas.

Since the war began in 1914 up to March 1st, when S.S. Belgic disembarked her returned soldier passengers at Halifax 757,400 troops have been carried on special trains over the Canadian Government Railways.

The first train which carried troops over the Government Railways the year the war was declared was numbered one and all special troop trains to and from Halifax since that time have been numbered consecutively. The last train from the Belgic was on Saturday N 1279. Each train averages about twelve cars with an average of 50 men to a car, which figures up a total of 767,400 men carried. Of course in addition to this thousands of soldiers have journeyed between Montreal and Halifax by regular trains during the past four years.

The movement of troops back to Canada is now approaching its greatest activity. Last Sunday 5000 arrived at Halifax by the transports Lapland and Belgic and fifteen special trains were despatched westward inside of four hours.

S. S. Megantic with soldiers and dependants arrived Wednesday and S. S. Adriaticis due Sunday. The movement of return men is to be kept up actively.

In founding His Church, Christ built wisely and well. Though destined to reach and embrace all classes of men, it was, nevertheless, to be a united body—one in faith and one in doctrine. This unity demands that order should prevail in its government. In his diocese the bishop, in union with the Sovereign Pontiff, the successor of Peter, is under the providence of God the efficient cause of the marvellous unity of the church. It is from the Pope, the Vicar of Christ, that the bishop receives his commission. He is one of the generals in the great Christian army of which the Sovereign Pontiff is commander-in-chief. The day of his consecration he takes his place in the ranks of that divinely-endowed host which embodies the teaching and governing Church. He is the guardian of the faith in the diocese of which he is the head. He is one of the links of that spiritual chain which binds all Catholic hearts together under the supreme guidance and direction of the Holy See, thus with the universal episcopate, fulfilling the solemn prayer of our Blessed Saviour pronounced on the eve of His death for us on the Cross—"That they may be one, as Thou, Father in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in Us; that the world may believe that Thou has sent Me—that they may be one, as We also are one; I in them, and Thou in Me; that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that Thou has sent Me, and hast loved them as Thou hast loved Me." (John XVII. 21-23.)

Like his divine model, the bishop is the shepherd of his flock. Christ took special delight in being called by the title of the "Good Shepherd"—a title that so aptly expresses His goodness and His tender love. "I am the Good Shepherd," He tells us, "The good shepherd giveth his life for his sheep. I am the good shepherd; and I know mine and mine know me. As the Father knoweth me and I know the

Farewell Pastoral
Father; and I lay down my life for my sheep. And other sheep I have that are not of this fold; them also must I bring, and there shall be one fold and one Shepherd. (John X. 12-16.) So, dearly beloved, the bishop must know and love his flock. He must know and protect them, watch over them, and be ready even to lay down his life for them, if their spiritual welfare require it. His sympathy and loving care must go out to all. He must encourage the strong and strengthen the weak. He must shield the erring from the evil consequences of their sins. The poor as well as the rich, the weak as well as the strong, the sinner as well as the virtuous—all—but especially the orphans and little children—the lambs of the flock—must ever find in him a true father and friend. Like the great Apostle of the Divinity on His sacred humanity in the hypostatic union of the Word made Flesh. He, the great High Priest, at the solemn moment of the Last Supper with the chosen twelve, established a Priesthood and an Episcopate which were to endure throughout all ages. Christ is therefore the Divine model to whom the Bishop must look for the ideals of his episcopate. These ideals include the office of teacher and ruler in the Church of God. One of the great duties of the Episcopal Office is to provide for the Christian education and instruction of his flock, in obedience to the mandate of the Divine Master—"Go, therefore, teach all nations." "Preach the Gospel to every creature." The bishop is also a ruler, clothed with true authority, appointed to govern the church. Thus, St. Paul, addressing the bishops of the Apostolic Ages, said—"Take heed to yourselves and to the whole flock, wherein the Holy Ghost has placed you bishops to rule the Church of God." (Acts XX, 28.)

Henry Joseph, by the Grace of God and Favour of the Apostolic See, Archbishop-elect of Edmonton, Acting Bishop of Charlottetown.

To the Clergy, Religious, Orders and Laity of the Diocese of Charlottetown, Health and Benediction to the Lord.

Dearly Beloved Brethren:

Seven years ago, in obedience to the voice of the Vicar of Jesus Christ, I undertook the burden and responsibility of the Episcopal Office in your midst. The source and origin of this mission is, as you are well aware, none other than our Lord and Saviour, Christ Himself. Christ was the first Bishop, consecrated by the outpouring of the sacred unction of the Divinity on His sacred humanity in the hypostatic union of the Word made Flesh. He, the great High Priest, at the solemn moment of the Last Supper with the chosen twelve, established a Priesthood and an Episcopate which were to endure throughout all ages. Christ is therefore the Divine model to whom the Bishop must look for the ideals of his episcopate. These ideals include the office of teacher and ruler in the Church of God. One of the great duties of the Episcopal Office is to provide for the Christian education and instruction of his flock, in obedience to the mandate of the Divine Master—"Go, therefore, teach all nations." "Preach the Gospel to every creature." The bishop is also a ruler, clothed with true authority, appointed to govern the church. Thus, St. Paul, addressing the bishops of the Apostolic Ages, said—"Take heed to yourselves and to the whole flock, wherein the Holy Ghost has placed you bishops to rule the Church of God." (Acts XX, 28.)

In founding His Church, Christ built wisely and well. Though destined to reach and embrace all classes of men, it was, nevertheless, to be a united body—one in faith and one in doctrine. This unity demands that order should prevail in its government. In his diocese the bishop, in union with the Sovereign Pontiff, the successor of Peter, is under the providence of God the efficient cause of the marvellous unity of the church. It is from the Pope, the Vicar of Christ, that the bishop receives his commission. He is one of the generals in the great Christian army of which the Sovereign Pontiff is commander-in-chief. The day of his consecration he takes his place in the ranks of that divinely-endowed host which embodies the teaching and governing Church. He is the guardian of the faith in the diocese of which he is the head. He is one of the links of that spiritual chain which binds all Catholic hearts together under the supreme guidance and direction of the Holy See, thus with the universal episcopate, fulfilling the solemn prayer of our Blessed Saviour pronounced on the eve of His death for us on the Cross—"That they may be one, as Thou, Father in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in Us; that the world may believe that Thou has sent Me—that they may be one, as We also are one; I in them, and Thou in Me; that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that Thou has sent Me, and hast loved them as Thou hast loved Me." (John XVII. 21-23.)

Such is, dearly beloved brethren, the serious office, the important mission which it was my duty and privilege to undertake in the diocese of Charlottetown seven years ago. In the fulfillment of my mission and in the discharge of the duties of the Episcopal office, I have not been unmindful of my own unworthiness and of my many shortcomings; yet, through the mercy and goodness of Almighty God, this mission has not been without its graces and blessings, for all of which I am sincerely grateful to our Divine Master and to the zealous clergy and religious and faithful laity of the diocese.

It is now my duty to announce to you, dearly beloved, that my mission as your chief pastor has been completed. Our reverend Holy Father has by letters of recent date severed the ties that have hitherto bound me to my beloved flock of the diocese of Charlottetown, and has graciously designed to transfer the scenes of my labors to a far distant field—the Archdiocese of Edmonton. It is not without sincere sorrow and regret, dear brethren, that I leave this little Isle, the scene of so many happy and consoling memories, and bid farewell to you, my beloved clergy and faithful and devoted laity. I desire in this, my farewell message, to bear testimony to your strong and valiant faith and earnest zeal for the spread of God's kingdom on earth. As a result of your zeal and fervour, this little Isle bids fair to deserve, one day, the title of "The Island of Missionaries and Saints." That under God's loving providence such may be its destiny, and that He, the Giver of every good and perfect gift, may shower upon this favored spot His choicest blessings is my earnest prayer to our Divine Master and to His Holy Mother—a prayer that shall be mine to the very end of my life.

To the Clergy, in particular, upon whom in greatest measure depends the spread of God's kingdom upon earth, I would recall that on my arrival here as your spiritual head seven years ago, I requested your obedience, your loyal co-operation, and what is more—your priestly friendship. I am now glad to testify that all of these you have given in generous and overwhelming measure, and as my beloved brothers and co-workers in Christ from my heart I thank you, bespeaking, at the same time, the same true and loyal devotion for my successor in office. Your generous co-operation and brotherly friendship will be his greatest consolation and encouragement amid the cares and difficulties of the Episcopate.

To our non-Catholic friends I also offer my sincere thanks for their sympathy and friendship. I have ever been animated with feelings of kindness and charity towards them, and in return I have received their cordial friendship, and also many tokens of their kindnesses, which I deeply appreciate, and which shall ever remain among the many treasured memories of my pastorate in the diocese of Charlottetown. In conclusion, dearly beloved brethren, from my heart I ask God to bless you, my devoted clergy and faithful laity. May He ever fill your hearts with His Divine love; may He guide your footsteps safely along the rugged pathway of life, leading you on to the goal of all your aims—our eternal home in heaven. In return, I humbly ask the charity of your prayers.

When your liver gets sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, head aches, tongue coated, breath bad, and that before your eyes, you are bilious, have heartburn, water brash, jaundice, etc.

Use Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills to make the liver resume its proper functions by removing the bile that is circulating in the blood and poisoning the system.

Mr. Le Roy Allen, Springfield, N.S., writes—"I desire to express my thanks for the relief Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills have given me. I had been suffering from constipation for three years, and also had headaches. I tried many remedies, but got no relief. My general health was about as bad as it could be, and I would not be without them in my next illness."

It is my pleasant duty to announce to you that our beloved Supreme Pontiff, Benedict XV., has provided you with a new chief pastor in the person of the Rt. Rev. Louis James O'Leary, D. D., formerly the auxiliary bishop in the diocese of Chatham. You will therefore place his name "Ludovicus" in the Canon of the Mass, and will also insert the special prayer of thanksgiving, "Pro gratularum actione" in the daily Mass from now until the Feast of All Saints. (Servatis rubricis). The date of the arrival of your new Bishop has not yet been decided. When it shall have been definitely fixed you will be duly notified from the Chancery Office. Meanwhile let us implore upon the new Bishop-elect of this diocese that blessing, strength and endurance which God gives to His chosen Apostles. Let all, both clergy and laity, supplicantly pray that God may ever bless and guide the new chief pastor in the fulfillment of his mission and the discharge of the duties of his high office. This letter shall be read in each church of this diocese by the pastor, or priest delegated by the pastor, on the first Sunday on which Divine service is held therein after its reception.

Given at Charlottetown on the Feast of St. Teresa, in the year of our Lord 1920.

Archbishop-elect of Edmonton,
Acting Bishop of Charlottetown.

The Tariff And Foreign Capital.

In their representations to the Tariff Commission the Western Farmers' organizations attacked protection principally on the ground that it was a special privilege granted manufacturers. They quite overlooked the fact that we have manufacturers because of protection, and not protection because of manufacturers.

At the present time there are located in Canada 650 branches, or organized companies, having a parent organization in the United States. The capital engaged in these amounts to about $415,000,000, and employment is given to upwards of 90,000 employees.

During recent years there have been established in Canada about 60 branches of manufacturers in Great Britain, giving employment to another 19,000 people.

What has become of Mr. Crerar? Is he still political leader of the Western Farmers? The stillness of his voice these months back might in itself justify an inquiry as to his whereabouts politically where there not more positive indications that he is lost somewhere in the wilderness—such indications as the forgetting of his name by Western Opposition newspapers catering to Farmer sentiment while they are repudiating his policies.

A reader of the Regina Leader, for instance, might well be tempted to the conclusion that Mr. Crerar doesn't exist in relation to the Farmers at all. The Leader is still endeavoring to make political capital out of the wheat board agitation and the new-found affection of the Farmers for that institution. In its demand for the resurrection of the once-detested wheat board, the Regina paper repudiates Mr. Crerar's publicly declared attitude while completely ignoring the man himself. It contends that the representatives of the Farmers in the House of Commons—and Mr. Crerar was their leader—were not qualified to speak for the Farmers as a whole. Here is how the Leader puts it:

- (1) To handle the Canadian market at close range. (2) To grow as a Canadian industry with the expanding market and increasing purchasing power. (3) To enjoy as a Canadian industry the benefits of any special trade arrangements made for the units of the British Empire.

(4) To handle the export orders received by the parent company in the United States for shipment to the United Kingdom and other points in the Empire. Commenting on this situation Mr. A. G. Sclater, Manager of the Statistical Department of the Union Bank of Canada, New York, recently remarked that these foreign manufacturers had established themselves in Canada, first: to escape the Canadian tariff, and secondly: to take advantage of the preferential tariff treatment given by other parts of the British Empire on goods originating within the boundaries of the British Commonwealth. Further, he stated:

"To the American manufacturer who has any large volume of business in Canada, must establish himself in Canada to hold that business. The instinct of financial self-preservation is forcing Canada to do her utmost to curtail purchases in the United States and to make within her own borders those things which her people need. In this way the price that the world's market says it is prepared to pay for his product. He asks for no protection whatever in any shape or form."

However, it is Mr. Crerar we are interested in, and here is what he had to say in the House of Commons at the time the Wheat Board question was up:

"There have been whisperings and misgivings that my hon. friend, the Minister of the Interior (Mr. Meighen) who as well as being an able debater, is also a skillful politician, had in mind the permanent continuation of the board in order that he might hold out to the farmers of Western Canada—who, I can assure him and the House, are not in a very friendly mood towards the hon. gentleman—some counter-attraction to the requests that have repeatedly been made to governments in this country for reductions in the tariff. I do not know what the Minister's intentions are, but his speech today rather leaves the suspicion in my mind that he is harboring such an idea. If he is, I think that the House and the people of the country are entitled to know what the policy of the Government is. Are they going to extend this principle and establish a permanent policy? That, I submit, is something we are entitled to have some information upon. It is one thing to interfere with trade because of the exigencies and conditions resultant from war. It is another thing to have that control woven into the fabric of our laws as a permanent policy of the country; and in that respect we are entitled to some information on it from the Government."

"Personally I am opposed entirely to any permanent policy that means the control of the marketing of grain in this country. I agree with my hon. friend from Vancouver Centre (Mr. Stevens). With him occasionally I have differed in the past; but I am at one with him in this respect, that this measure, if adopted as a permanent policy, will be a long step forward in the direction of the socialization of industry in this country. If my hon. friend the Minister of the Interior and other members of the Government contemplate embarking on the theories of Marxian socialism in this country, well and good; but any permanent control of wheat marketing in this country means that and nothing else, and for that reason I do not think it is wise as a permanent policy, either in the interests of the consumers or in the interest of the producers, and I desire to state my position in that regard in relation to this bill."

That was Mr. Crerar's attitude in regard to the Wheat Board, and the Regina Leader, professing to speak for the Farmers, refers to those who favored the Wheat Board as being "better qualified to speak for the farmers as a whole than any individuals in the House of Commons."

Is it Mr. Maharg or Mr. Crerar that is now leader of the Farmers? —Ottawa Journal.

Minneapolis Daily News: Minneapolis people will spend more than thirty-five million dollars this year in just operating and maintaining the upkeep of their automobiles. How much of that staggering amount is wasted because roads are unfit for motor travel? And for the same reason, how much is lost by the people of the state because the freight which now overburdens the railroads cannot be diverted to motor trucks?

It may be that times have changed, but responsible attacks such as those of King W. I. M. and William Duff, M., on Hon. C. C. Ballantyne don't seem to awaken a response in the public heart today as in the old days when guff and declamation counted. Mr. Ballantyne's reply was doubly effective because his substantial public services is well known and appreciated by the Canadian people. In the upbuilding of the merchant marine—a profitable undertaking—he has accomplished more in a few years than Mr. Duff is likely to accomplish in his lifetime.

Disgusted with labor conditions at present prevailing in Britain, a number of coal miners on Friday last sailed from Liverpool for Canada. It provides five per cent ad valorem duty on certain American products entering China. Indian guides and old-timers, familiar with the bush and its ways, says there will be no snow before Christmas. Indications, according to this man, are for the "green Yule." This information comes from Cobalt, Ont. An earthquake shock was registered at Gonzales observatory, Victoria, B. C., on Saturday. Supt. Denistoun places the disturbance at about 1,500 miles from Victoria, probably in Alaskan peninsula. Twelve stores, half the business section of Wadena, Sask., were in ashes on the 20th and the flames of the fire caused $300,000 damage to the town of 1,200 population. The cause of the fire is so far unknown. Sir George Foster and Right Hon. C. J. Doherty, Canadian delegates to the League of Nations Assembly, sail for Europe on November 3rd. In England they will be joined by Hon. N. W. Rowell, the third member of the delegation. A federal indictment containing 127 counts, were returned in New York last Friday against Armour and Company, Chicago packers, and various officers of the concern charging with protesting in violation of the Lever Act. King George has set an example for householders throughout the country in the saving of coal by ordering that fires in the Royal palaces shall be lighted only when absolutely necessary. Even then they are to be kept as small as possible. Fires which started on the 20th in the Hop Exchange in South-west London, were still burning next morning. Damage totalling many hundred thousands of pounds was done to the exchange. Some estimates place the loss at £1,000,000. Nere Moran and N. Richard, Independent Liberals, have both been elected respectively in Kamouraski and St. Maurice County, Quebec. The Liberals chosen by the Liberal Convention, L. A. Dupuis and J. H. Guillemette were defeated by respectively 20 and 280 votes. New York city is at present in the midst of a prolonged warm spell, and Friday afternoon the thermometer registered 77. On other Oct 21 in the official records over 50 years has the mercury reached that altitude. The average for the month, however, is not as high as the record of 61 in 1900. No coolness is in sight. Bulawayo Chronicle: All the tyrants who ever ruled, from the bloodthirsty monarchs of ancient Asia down to the milk-and-water Romanoffs, might turn in their graves with envy at the program and practice of the modern Bolshevik, who has one heel on the throat of Russia and seeks to place the other awharw the windpipe of Western Europe. From Accra, West Africa, has been received an inquiry for 100 tons. Quite recently 500 tons, or approximately 1,000 barrels, of Canadian flour was sold to Greece through a New York broker.

Insurance and Marketing

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—The Government is carefully watching the various purchasing systems employed and marketing conditions generally in this and other countries, and is ready to take steps to ensure the fair marketing of Canadian wheat.

In these words Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in a statement issued this afternoon sums up the attitude of the Government towards resumption of Government control on the marketing of wheat.

"The Government is carefully watching the various purchasing systems employed and the marketing conditions, generally in this and other countries and is ready to take steps to ensure fair marketing of Canadian wheat, should a situation such as last year's develop again."

"Demand has been made by the United Farmers of Alberta and the Dominion Council of Agriculture and various associations of grain growers for the re-establishment of control of the Canadian wheat market through a Board similar to that which functioned last year, and for which legislative provision was made at the last session of Parliament. The demand is made because of the drop in current wheat prices, as compared with last year, and with the thought that in some way or other not clearly shown a Wheat Board could assure a higher price."

"Mr. Wood, president of the Dominion Council of Agriculture in answer to the question, 'What reason is there for wheat this year selling at a lower figure than in 1919?' is reported to have said: 'From the standpoint of the law of supply and demand there is absolutely none; the only reason in the world is the inefficiency in the selling of wheat this year. Great Britain and other nations are working together and acting in an intelligent manner to get the wheat at the lowest possible price, whereas Canada and the United States, as selling nations, are taking no intelligent action with a view to getting the best possible price.'"

This states the case clearly from the standpoint of those who demand a re-establishment of control, but an examination of the real situation does not bear out the statement above quoted. The law of supply and demand has in reality everything to do with the basic determination of the world price for wheat. Circumstances of transport by sea or land, financial exchange conditions and methods of buying may temporarily affect and vary the price, but the determining factor is the relation of the supply to the demand. The price will vary from time to time by greater or less pressure to buy arising from the supply temporarily on hand and readily available."

"Last year the situation which in the opinion of the Government rendered the functioning of the Wheat Board necessary were: 1.—A lack of money and credit on the part of most European buyers and a consequent necessity for advances by exporting countries in the shape of loans or credits. Canada itself made large advances to European countries. 2.—A system of Government control operating in all European countries, in the United States and in most other exporting countries which resulted in concerted pool Government buying by the European countries and the virtual elimination of free buying agencies. 3.—The U. S. Government purchased and sold at fixed prices the U. S. export wheat crop surplus and the U. S. market was consequently shut against the import of Canadian wheat. This year the situation is entirely different. 1.—Neither Canada nor the United States are giving Governmental credits to European countries to enable them supply wheat to their people. 2.—There is no concerted or pool buying by purchasing nations. Each one of the European countries which are this year buying wheat is buying entirely independently of the other and making its own arrangements as to purchase and payment through normal agencies of purchase and sale. 3.—There is no longer Government control in the United States and Canadian wheat may be freely sold by their countries."

"This sharply disappreciated the present from the past year. This year exchanges are working and there is free and independent buying by the nations concerned, in contrast to last year's concerted Government buying. Closed exchanges and virtual prohibition of individual buying."

"Mr. Wood's contention therefore that the fact that prices this year are less than those of last year is due only to different methods of selling will not bear analysis. If the board were to be re-established as last year a Canadian embargo on both the export and import of wheat would presumably have to follow. "With the U. S. market open and the Canadian market under control the tendency would be to freer purchasing in the American market by other countries and the consequent stopping back of the Canadian wheat movement."

"The Government is carefully watching the various purchasing systems employed and the marketing conditions, generally in this and other countries and is ready to take steps to ensure fair marketing of Canadian wheat, should a situation such as last year's develop again."

Spying out holes in the little worn hose, Laying by shoes that are worn through the toes, Looking o'er garments so faded and thin— Who but a mother knows where to begin? Changing a button to make it look right— That is what mothers are doing tonight. Calling her little ones all round her chair, Hearing them hiss forth their evening prayer, Telling them stories of Jesus of old, Who loved to gather the lambs to his fold; Watching, they listened with weary delight— That is what mothers are doing tonight. Creeping so softly to take a last peep, After the little ones all are asleep; Anxious to know if the children are warm, Tucking the blanket round each little form; Kissing each little face rosy and bright— That is what mothers are doing tonight. Kneeling down gently beside the white bed, Lowly and meekly she bows down her head, Praying as only a mother can pray, "God guide and keep them from going astray."—Anonymous.

Correcting Mrs. Sims

(Concluded.) Both young women nodded. Conscious pride and Mrs. Billy went back to her own bay window, where she was wrestling with the bills sent that morning by the "butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker." Every bill seemed too large by several items. Tapping her nose with the pencil, she chanced to look up in time to see Mrs. Sims, fresh and placid and unburied, on her way to the car. "Oh, that woman!" cried Mrs. Billy. An hour later the second Sims girl was observed in the bay window of the corner house busily shaping a basket. "I do declare," Mrs. Billy told Billy when the club had been wrestling with Mrs. Sims for several weeks, "we're at our wits end. Everything we teach her she picks up so quickly and then calmly passes it on to the girls and they have too much to do already. We're afraid that if we keep on teaching her things she may pass some of 'em off on poor Mr. Sims!" Billy stopped in the middle of the room and looked at Mrs. Billy thoughtfully. Then he made a surprising suggestion: "Why don't you ask Mrs. Sims to turn teacher herself? Why don't you get her to tell you folk how to do something?" Mrs. Billy sat up with a jerk. Her eyes widened and her cheeks reddened. "Why, Billy, what a good idea—and you had it!" "Thanks awfully!" said Billy with a bew. "That would put her on her wits' end," said Mrs. Billy. She'd have to learn something. Why, Billy, the more I think about it the better I like the idea! It has never occurred to any of us that she could teach us anything!" The club, interviewed individually, hailed the idea with some faith, but more derision, and Mrs. Billy was deputed to suggest to Mrs. Sims in a delicate way that it was her turn to benefit the other club members. Tuesday, the time set for the usual covered-dish luncheon, rolled round again before Mrs. Billy could find Mrs. Sims at home. The other club members had assembled at Mrs. Jordan's and were watching as their delegates, cool and collected, in her white

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning that an extremely hazardous condition is developing. They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I was taken ill with kidney trouble, and so weak I could scarcely get around. I took medicine without benefit, and finally decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After the first bottle I felt so much better that I continued its use, and six bottles made me a new woman. When my little girl was a baby, she could not keep anything on her stomach, and we gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured her." Mrs. THOMAS LITTLE, Wallaceburg, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures kidney and liver troubles, restores the back, and builds up the whole system.

Some moments later she emerged, looking altogether different. Her face was warm and her manner curiously agitated. Her hat rode unheeded on top of one pink ear.

"Quick!" she panted as soon as the hall door of the Jordan house closed behind her. "I must tell you before she comes, so you won't be dazed as I am. She thinks we have known all along what her business is—"

"Business?" interrupted a dozen voices.

"Mrs. Billy fought for breath."

"Yes business—she does the marketing for twenty families in this city, and plans all the meals for some of 'em. Wealthy families, you know, some of the legations, and—like that; and she'll teach us—here she comes—we'll all need note-books and more brains than we've ever used in this club—"

Mrs. Billy's voice died away as Mrs. Sims entered. She bore a covered dish of muffins made by her oldest daughter, and apologized for being late. "I was bargaining with a poultry raiser from the northern part of the State, and couldn't get away earlier," she explained.

A few hours later, Mrs. Billy sat on the arm of Billy's chair. Her self-appreciation was at low ebb. She held a sheet of paper close for him to see its contents of addresses and figures, while she discoursed on the events of the afternoon.

"Think of it, Billy. She says we have been so lovely to her that she wants to teach us how to buy, and what to buy, and all those things that she has made a study of for years. Oh dear, I never felt so ignorant in my life. I don't know anything about the very foundations of my business as a housekeeper, the raw material side, and Mrs. Sims will teach me—us, all of us. She says we can come to her at any time, and that we can go with her when she buys—and it all came out in such a lovely way that she looks at us as nice, well-meaning children and she's been longing to teach us for some time—"

"O Billy, she pays her daughters a regular salary, and it makes them want to help in the house before they are really old enough."

"Billy's twinkling eyes looked over Mrs. Billy's sunny head and described a man going down the street. Billy's voice was mischievous.

"There goes p-o-o-r Mr. Sims. By the way, dear, he told me today he bought the corner house because his wife is so much in love with this neighborhood—says she never lived in a place before where there was so little gossip and so much kindness floating around."

"Have You Met Her?" She is not the Early Victorian type—by no means. On the contrary, she is frequently particularly modern and up to date quite a strenuous worker in the pursuit of pleasure. It is only in the home circle that she shows herself in her true colors. She sets everyone to work the minute she appears, doing little odd jobs for her, and never seems to think that other people may be just as tired or as busy as she is herself. She expects people to pass her things or fetch and carry for her, however much inconvenience they may be put to, taking it for granted that their chief object in life is to see that she does not have to move from her "comfy" chair. She is seldom dressed and ready to go out without a fuss and a flurry, and two or three people tearing up and down stairs finding her gloves (that she has mislaid) and her umbrella (that she thinks she had better take after all). The fact that she will lose her train if not waited on seems to her ample reason for commanding the service of everyone within call. She is never struck with the fact that other people catch their train and get on in life in general without anyone but themselves bothering about it. She has to be helped with her packing when going away. The rest of the family find it advisable to do theirs in good time, so that their combined efforts may be concentrated on hers at the last minute. It is the only way. She will go to stay with a friend who keeps no maid, and expect to have everything done for her as if there were six. As for lending a hand, it never occurs to her. But she is not invited again. She has a soft time in comparison with her more capable sisters, but she has fewer friends.

Way To Wash Dishes.

Did anybody ever enjoy washing dishes?

Yes, some women really do enjoy the task. But even to them it is monotonous.

Now there are two ways to lessen the burden of dish washing: One is to lessen the number of dishes to be washed.

The other is to improve the condition of the dish washing.

In lessening the number of dishes to be washed, paper dishes may be called into use. One clever housekeeper substituted paper tumblers for summer beverages in the afternoon and evening. Of course, these paper dishes could be used only once—and were therefore rather expensive. Nevertheless, her plan is worth trying if time is more valuable than money. In cooking it is quite possible to get along without using half as many dishes as most cooks use—and that is another way of lessening the number of dishes to be used. The same cup can be used for all measuring—for it can be rinsed out between measures. The same bowl can be rinsed and used for several mixings.

Your Heart! Does it Palpitate?

The component parts of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are indicated to do away with palpitation and other heart weaknesses and thus strengthen both the heart and nerves.

Mrs. F. X. Gasser, Tibury, Ont., writes: "During 25 years past I was greatly troubled with palpitation of the heart, and sometimes so much so that those around me thought I would die at any moment, being so much weakened by the symptoms of the palpitation which would last sometimes up to three hours. I had the doctor who kept me taking his medicine, I overcame the disease, but to no effect. There was no change at all for the better."

Two years ago a friend advised me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I began to use them at once, and at the second box I began to feel some relief, so I continued to use them according to directions, and now I am perfectly well. Before using the pills, I weighed 100 pounds, now I weigh 117, and feel as if I were young although I am over 60 years of age."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHOOPING COUGH

Her 3 Children Had It.

This disease begins like a simple cold in the head that rapidly goes to the chest. The cough is at first short and sharp, but gradually increases in severity and occurs in sudden spasms.

Often vomiting follows a severe attack of coughing, and sometimes there is nose-bleed.

Mothers should never neglect the treatment of whooping cough, for it is much more serious than most people think, as it may be followed by some grave lung trouble, such as bronchitis, pneumonia or consumption, since the sundering power of resistance are often greatly weakened by the violent and exhausting cough.

On the first sign of a "whoop," Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup should be administered as it helps to clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucus and phlegm.

Mrs. Burton Leopold, New Ross, N.S., writes: "My three children had the whooping cough so bad last winter, I thought they would choke. I tried many different remedies, but none of them seemed to help. At last I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and I was greatly surprised to see how quickly it helped them. I shall always recommend your wonderful remedy to others."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 85c and 50c a bottle at all drug stores and dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
