WAR SUMMARY.

American troops standing at Vaux, northwest of Chateau Thierry, have completely smashed repeated and determined counter attacks by the Germans who sought to oust the Americans from new positions. That the Germans have tried desperately to reverse the decision in the battle is an indication that the occupation of Vaux is viewed as important by the enemy commanders. Over the lines held by General Pershing there has been bursting a storm of steel from German cannon, high explosives and gas shells are being intermingled in the projectiles hurled by the foe's cannon. The Americans, however, have not yielded a foot of ground, and when the enemy has attacked he has been permitted to approach close to the American lines before a storm of bullets has cut through his ranks and broke his attack. As a result of these assaults the Germans have lost very heavily, the ground being covered with their dead and wounded. They have in addition lost many prisoners who have been gathered when the tide of battle had ebbed. The battle there is being fiercely waged. French units are said to be engaged in the region of Vaux, but it is probable that they are not very numerous. The battle at Vaux has seemingly absorbed the most of the activity on the west side of the salient running north from the Marne, but far up toward the Oise at Moulins-Sous-Touvent, a little village east of the De-Laguye forest, the French have struck the German line over a front of nearly two miles, and have penetrated to a depth of approximately half a mile. Prisoners to the number of 457 have been reported captured. The British were unable to retain the position seized on Sunday near Bouzincourt, north of Albert. After a terrific bombardment the Germans succeeded in retaking the ground on the north of the Picardy sector. At Boyelles and Moyenneville and in the Lys sector at Merris the British have taken prisoners in raiding operations. The Italians have again shifted their attack and this time chose the Piave front for a demonstration of their strength. After a bombardment which amounted to drum fire intensity, the Italians crossed the Piave northeast of Capo Sile. In some of the flooded areas before them they made some progress, which is admitted by Vienna, and captured 1,900 prisoners and took valuable war material. American counter attacks in the Grappa region east of the Brenta have been repulsed. American air fighters have participated in combats during the fighting at Vaux and are credited unofficially with destroying seven enemy machines. In fighting on Tuesday the British destroyed 13 airplanes and forced nine down out of control. The Ukraine Government, which was set up by German military authorities is tottering to its fall. It is reported. The alleged attitude of the Government towards the peasants is said to be the cause of the impending crisis.

RUSSIA'S NEW CAZAR.

AMSTERDAM, July 3. Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovich, brother of former Emperor Nicholas, has been proclaimed Czar of Russia, according to the Ukrainian telegraph bureau at Kiev. He is marching with the Czech, Slovak and Polish forces against Moscow. Grand Duke Michael after the abdication of Czar Nicholas was named Regent.

NEW SITUATION IN RUSSIA.

WASHINGTON, July 3. Unexpected development of strength by Czech-Slovak bands which are making their way across the Siberian Plains from European Russia has attracted the attention of officials here and formed the basis of earnest conference among diplomatic representatives of the Entente Powers. Official reports received to-day confirmed and amplified the press despatches which the Czech-Slovaks had taken over administration of the Pacific part of Vladivostok, after overcoming armed opposition by the Bolsheviks in battle in which there was considerable loss of life. The significance of this event as seen by officials lies in the fact that there now is a real nucleus in Siberia for the gathering of the various elements which have revolted against Bolshevik control and surrender to German influence, while it is by no means certain that the Entente Allies or America are disposed at present at least to take advantage of the situation thus created to begin a military campaign in that quarter. It is regarded as a valuable asset in the solution of the problem.

RUSSO-UKRAINE ARMISTICE.

MOSCOW, July 3. (By the Associated Press.)—An armistice between Russia and Ukraine was signed on June 14th by a Russian delegation, headed by M. Rakovsky and a Ukrainian commission led by M. Schelloucin. The armistice provides for a discontinuance of military operations on all the Ukrainian front; the free repatriation of nationals of both countries, war prisoners first and then women and children; the return to Ukraine of the railway rolling stock taken away during the war, terms to be fixed by a mixed commission, for the immediate resumption of telegraph, postal and railroad services, and re-establishment of diplomatic and consular relations. It was agreed that during peace negotiations, which will be begun at once, trade and exchange of goods will be arranged for at the earliest possible date. To make this arrangement a mixed commission is to be appointed within a week after signing the armistice.

AMERICA'S BIG WAR EFFORT.

WASHINGTON, July 3. Supplementing President Wilson's announcement that more than a million troops have embarked for France, Chairman Dent of the Military Committee laid before the House to-day a review of war preparations during the fifteen months of war prepared by Secretary of War Baker. It showed that there are now 140,000 officers and 2,010,000 men with the colors, compared with a total of 9,524 officers and 202,510 men in the regulars and National Guard fourteen months ago. The statement shows that 286 combat airplanes had been delivered up to June 8, and that the production rate of this type then was 80 per week. More than 2,000 liberty motors have been delivered and the weekly production rate was 115 during the first week of June. More than 900 heavy Browning machine guns were delivered during May, and the deliveries for that month of light brownings totalled 1,800. Sufficient rifles are now being received, the statement says, to equip an army division every three days. More than 1,300,000 rifles had been produced and delivered up to June 1.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, July 3. (Official.) Between the Oise and the Aisne we executed a local operation north of Moulinsous-Touvent. Our troops captured German positions on a front of three kilometres and obtained a depth of 800 metres. The number of prisoners at present enumerated is 220. West of Chateau Thierry, a German counter attack in the region was checked by the French fire. Prisoners remained in the hands of the French. Other German attacks northeast of Moncel and in Upper Alsace obtained no results. The night was calm on the rest of the front.

KILLED IN EXPLOSION.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 3. Forty-five men were killed in an explosion of the plant of the Semet Solvay Company, at Split Rock, just west of this city last night. Forty-two bodies had been recovered at 8 o'clock this morning and there are three more in the ruins. The injured number at least 80. Most of them are in local hospitals but many of them were removed to their homes in the rush to remove them quickly from the scene of the disaster. Many of the injured are expected to die. At least half of the great munitions plant was wiped out by the fire and series of explosions which followed. Ten buildings were destroyed and the property damage will exceed $1,000,000.

AMERICAN TROOPS.

PARIS, July 3. In six months there will be 2,500,000 American troops on the French front, Andre Tardieu, head of the general committee for Franco-American War matters, has declared to the editor of the Petit Journal.

FORCED BY HUNGER.

AMSTERDAM, July 3. Admission that Austro-Hungarian and German war prisoners are fighting on the side of the Bolsheviks against the Czech-Slovaks in Russia is made by the Berlin Koelnische Zeitung. The prisoners, it says, were forced by hunger and privation to enter the military service of the Bolsheviks against the counter-revolutionary forces.

BLAMES THE ALLIES.

LONDON, July 3. The Daily Mail gives prominence to a despatch from its Harbin correspondent to the effect that goods badly needed by Germans are being sent to Russia by Chinese merchants and are almost certain to fall into German hands. China, according to the despatch, has removed the embargo on the transportation of food and goods to Russia which originally was adopted as a war measure, intended to complete the eastern blockade of Germany, on the ground that imports to Russia cannot influence the war, that Chinese residents in Russia have been suffering from the embargo and that Chinese commercial interests are suffering severe losses. The Mail comments on the despatch as a disquieting development constituting a big leak in the blockade but blames China less than the Allies. It contends that the Allies culpably neglected to help Russia by way of Siberia.

HEAVY GERMAN COUNTER ATTACK.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, July 3. (By the Associated Press.)—A heavy German counter attack against the American positions at Vaux launched at one o'clock this morning was repulsed, the enemy losing very heavily. Not a foot of the ground won by the Americans in their attack on Monday night was lost. The counter-attack developed after the Germans had heavily bombarded Vaux and Bois de la Roche. When the German infantry leaped from the trenches the troops came over in close formation. In some cases whole companies were allowed to approach close to the American line, then the American machine gunners from their hidden nests let loose a perfect hail of bullets mowing down the enemy ranks and piling the dead all over the ground where the Germans were trying to advance. The American artillery breaking up the enemy attack which was launched with fresh remnants of storm troops. The number of prisoners taken by Americans in the operations near Chateau Thierry was increased to-day with the American infantry, operating except as skirmishers. German shells have been raining on the new American positions and the enemy fire has been answered by the American guns. The American line was the target of projectiles of all calibres; gas shells were mixed with high air explosives while the shells have been falling heavily in the areas behind the line. The enemy fire particularly on the right flank of the new positions at Vaux, was most intense for hours.

ITALIANS DEFEAT ATTACK.

ROME, July 3. The Italians successfully withstood an enemy counter attack at the head of the San Lorenzo valley in the Grappa region where they had taken important positions in the fighting of the day before. The number of prisoners taken here has reached 621, while 22 machine guns and quantities of war material were also captured.

MARTIAL LAW IN AUSTRIAN DUCHY.

AMSTERDAM, July 3. Martial law has been proclaimed in the Austrian Duchy of Styria, the newspaper Bester Lloyd of Budapest announces. The measure was taken it is stated, in order to deal with mutiny and desertion of the refusal of some persons to serve the state in any capacity as well as other offences.

SEEKING PROTECTION.

ARCHANGEL, July 3. (Havas Agency.)—The Consuls of France, United States and Great Britain to-day received a deputation of delegates from the Murman coast and the White Sea coast, asking for protection of the Entente Allied Governments.

AMERICA'S SHIPPING.

WASHINGTON, July 3. Merchant ships built in the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, as officially returned to the Bureau of Navigation, numbered 1,622 of 1,420,790 gross tons, giving America a merchant marine of 10,000,000 gross tons. The output of the past four months, 706,081 gross tons, almost equaled that of the preceding eight months and is greater than any previous output in the nation's history. The year's output is more than double the largest output of German shipyards in peace times.

TRIBUTE TO RHONDDA.

LONDON, July 3. A war tribute was paid Viscount Rhondda in the House to-day by Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer and former Premier Asquith. Bonar Law referred to the quiet courage, tenacity, purpose and business like capacity which had enabled Lord Rhondda to overcome the difficulties caused by the submarine campaign. The seeds of disease from which he died, the Chancellor recalled, were sown in the purpose in which he was subjected with his daughter, when the Lusitania was sunk. His hard work since that time, and the speaker, had reduced the Viscount's capacity to resist the disease.

Beaumont Hamel Hero

DIES AT JENSEN CAMP. At 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning there passed to the Great Beyond, at Jensen Camp, Pte. Gregory Neville, of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Deceased, who was in his 22nd year, was one of the immortal band comprising the Newfoundland Regiment who went over the top on that memorable day, July 1st, 1916. In this engagement Pte. Neville was severely wounded in the arm; complications set in and it was found that he had contracted a fatal complaint. He was in hospital in England for one year, and on returning home in July, 1917, he entered Jensen Camp, where he succumbed yesterday. He is the only son of Mr. Patrick Neville of Topsail, to whom the Telegram offers deep sympathy. The remains were taken from Undertaker Martin's mortuary room yesterday afternoon to the railway station, accompanied by relatives and a squad from the Royal Nfld. Regiment, and sent to his late home, Topsail, where interment takes place this afternoon.

To-Day's Messages.

FRANCE CELEBRATES THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

PARIS, To-day. President Poincare called President Wilson yesterday that the French Government, agreeing with the national representation in Parliament, wished to observe the day to become a French holiday. To-day our two nations will join in memories of the ancient battles which won liberty for America, he said. The approaching victory will reward the Allies for their long efforts and ensure a fruitful and just peace, based on the rights of nations, and strengthened by the approval of human conscience. President Poincare closed his message by expressing the best wishes and congratulations of France to the United States and President Wilson.

KERENSKY FOR RUSSIA.

PARIS, To-day. Havas Agency—Expressing great admiration for the heroic struggle that France has made, and energetically affirming that there is nothing in common between the authors of the shameful treaty of Brest-Litovsk and true Russia, Alex. F. Kerensky, former Russian Premier, laid stress to-day on the fact that he represents no Russian party and carries with him on his mission no mandate from that country. No one worthy to be called a Russian will ever recognize the Brest-Litovsk treaty or the regime of terrorism, anarchy and tyranny that puts Russia at the mercy of the Germans. He said the Russian working masses who have fought for democracy and made untold sacrifices, should have the right to count upon the fraternal, unselfish and allied democracies. Socialist members of the House of Deputies gave a luncheon to M. Kerensky to-day. Among those present were Albert Thomas, Marcel Sembat, M. Moutet and Marcel Cachin, Socialist leaders, and Rene Viviani, former Premier. In an address Kerensky said that the efforts of Russia for internal unity and for independence had been betrayed by the Bolsheviks, and expressed confidence in the future of Russia. The French speakers promised the support of France toward intervention in Russia, and united in saying that the Allies will safeguard Russia from German autocracy. M. Vivant praised the attitude of America, which was ready to make any sacrifices to defend the freedom of France and Russia, without asking anything for itself.

BRITISH SHIPYARDS OUTPUT.

LONDON, To-day. The British Admiralty announced last night that during the month of June, 134,159 gross tons of merchant shipping was completed in the United Kingdom yards and entered for service. The record of British shipyards for June fell below that of May when a total of 197,274 gross tons was entered for service. That was the highest figure for any month during the last year. In April, the shipping completed totalled 111,533 and in March 161,674 gross tons.

IRISH APPEAL TO WILSON.

DUBLIN, To-day. The Mansion House anti-conscription conference, last night issued a message sent to President Wilson through Ambassador Page in London. The document is lengthy and recounts all the well known grievances concerning British mis-government in Ireland. It asks sympathetic judgment from the United States, at a time when Great Britain, which strove a century and a half ago to crush the American colonies for asserting the principle of no taxation without the consent of its representatives, now threatens to crush the Irish people unless they consent to a blood tax against the protests of their representatives. The document emphasizes that up until the year 1900 the privilege of free citizens to bear arms in self-defence had always been refused in Ireland, and continues, during the American revolution the champions of your liberties appealed to the Irish Parliament against British aggression. To-day it is our turn to appeal to America. To-day as in the days of George Washington, nearly half of the American forces have been furnished from the descendants of our own banished race, yet while self-determination is refused, we are required by law to bleed to make the world safe for democracy in every country, except our own. Declaring that the bones of ten thousand children of Ireland are whitening on the battlefields of the present war, the appeal asks what is to be their reward. The spot on earth which they loved best, and which they hoped their sacrifices might help to freedom, lies unreserved under an age long, tyrannical. 50,000 would be forever lie, it adds, were every man himself in England's service, unless the clamor of a dominant caste be rebuked and stilled. The document concludes with an eloquent

Independence Day Honoured

In honor of American Independence Day, most of the city business houses are to-day flying all the bunting they possess. The public buildings and churches are also honoring the American holiday, and the various flags present a very pretty sight. Many people took particular notice of a flag flown by the Royal Stores on Water Street, containing 60 stars, 40 red and 20 brown, indicating that they have given 40 of their employees and 20 more have offered, but without success.

C. L. B. Camp.

The C. L. B. under Lt.-Col. Rendell, O.B.E., and officers are making arrangements for their annual camp at Tokehill. Tents are being repaired and the usual equipment gone over. The brigade will leave the Armoury on Wednesday, July 31st, and march over the road to Tokehill where they will camp for the usual ten days. The camp this year promises to be a record one and will include in its number J. C. from Bell Island and Capt. W. Lindsay and officers, also a contingent from Heart's Content under command of Capt. (Dr.) Arthur Anderson.

How One Britisher Successfully Fought SIX GERMAN FLYING MACHINES.

LONDON, June 26.—A remarkable account of the feat of a squadron commander of the Royal Air Force, who is now in London on leave, is being told at the Aero Club. The day he was to leave France for England he determined to attempt to bring down one more German before his departure at noon. At 9:40 his machine left the airfield. At 9:55 he met five German scouting Pfalz machines and one German two-seater, just east of Ploegsteert, Flanders. He shot down two scouts and so successfully chased two others that their pilots lost their heads and crashed their machines into each other, both collapsing in mid-air. The Englishman then attacked the German two-seater, shooting it down in flames despite the attempt of the fifth scout machine to interfere. Falling in its attempt, the last German machine flew away, escaping the vigorous pursuit of the Englishman who returned to the airfield in time for luncheon, and to catch his train.

The Pacifists of Britain.

London Morning Post: We observe with regret, but without surprise, that this is the moment chosen by Mr. Arthur Henderson to announce once more that he and his friends seek peace "by diplomatic, moral, and political arguments," addressed to the German people. Mr. Henderson is driven to this declaration by the complete repudiation of his policy on the part of the American Labor Delegation, which wholly severs Mr. Henderson, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. Snowden and their friends in high places from the Western Democracy. The Americans have plainly told the European Pacifists that they will have no truck with Germans. Nor do we understand how any decent person after reading (among other records) the report of Mr. Justice Younger's Committee on the treatment of British prisoners by the Germans, can arrive at any other decision, or hold those mysterious "secret interviews" to which Mr. Henderson refers, a reference we commend to the attention of Parliament. Mr. Henderson appears to believe that the war is being fought to deliver the German people from their rulers. Let him say so to the next soldier he meets and ponder the reply he will receive. We can tell Mr. Henderson in one word what are the "war aims" of the people who are fighting the people's war. It is justice.

The Housing Problem

Last night at a meeting of labor representatives organized by Frank Jas.
McGrath, of the L. S. P. U., who acted as chairman, the housing problem was discussed, and a scheme which will be expected to be the solution was brought forward. Mr. Chairman Mc-Grath in opening said the idea was to lay the prospectus before the different unions for the purpose of getting their opinions and support, and it is hoped to have the corner stone of the first house laid on Labor Day, especially if all co-operate. The object, he said, is to provide homes for working classes at a cheaper rent and of a far more comfortable type than they at present occupy.

The Hon. M. P. Gibbs, who next spoke, said he felt it was one of the most vital subjects in the country today, as the foundation of the state is the home, and if we expect a healthy race we must provide healthy homes for the young and growing children.
There are in this city upwards of 14, 000 people living in houses unfit for habitation. The 5,000 men in the unions, by subscribing 20 to 25 cents a week towards providing themselves homes can solve the vexing problem.
When the features of the scheme are fully recognized and the benefits realized he felt sure all would unite in promoting it. His Excellency the Governor, His Grace Archbishop Roche, and others in high places have signed their approval of the plan. His Lordship Bishop White and Rev. Dr.
Curtis will be consulted to-day, and their approval is also confidently expected. The plan is under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor, and besides those mentioned above, the Mayor, Hon. Sir Edgar Bowring, Sir Jon. Outerbridge, Hon. J.
Harvey, Hon. John Anderson and Hon.
J. D. Ryan and other prominent citizens have associated themselves with it. Each of 6,750 by subscribing 20 cents per week would raise $70,200 per year. The annual building expenditure, say 50 houses at $1,200 each, would be $60,000. It is expected that at least 5,000 citizens not in unions will co-operate in the scheme, so the money can easily be secured.

The houses will be of different grades, say 350 at $1,200 each; 100 at $1,500; and 50 at $2,000. Each member would contribute $10.40 a year, or $104.00 for the ten years, and would be a shareholder in one of the largest companies in the country. It is expected that a public meeting will be held at which His Excellency and Archbishop Roche will be present. Mr.
Jonas Barter will be the company architect.

After passing a vote of thanks to Hon. M. P. Gibbs, Pres. McGrath and
Hon. John Anderson, the meeting closed.

Another Successful Student.

At a recent distribution of prizes at Mount St. Vincent Academy, Halifax, N.S., the gold medal for excellence was awarded to Miss Edith Cleary, a daughter of Mrs. Isabel Cleary, Ren-nie's Mill Road. Since Miss Cleary became a pupil of the Academy last September she did very satisfactory work; at each successive examination her percentages were remarkably above the average; she is held in love and esteem by the good Sisters, and with her school companions she is a great favourite.

Miss Cleary is spending the holiday with friends in Nova Scotia; on the re-opening of the Academy she will return there to resume her studies.
We trust that in the new scholastic year she will meet as much success as has crowned her first year at that famous Hall of learning and thus win honour for herself, her friends and her native land.

We offer sincere congratulations to Miss Cleary, to her mother and her friends, and also to the accomplished ladies who have been her teachers.

A Straight Talk

BY A UNITED STATES MINISTER.

From 1885 to 1898, Colonel Denby served as United States Minister in China. On his return, in an address delivered by him he said: "I have made a study of Missionary work in China. I took a man-of-war, and visited almost every port in the Empire. At each one of the places I visited I inspected the mission station. I went through missionary hospitals, attended synods and church services. I saw missionaries in their homes; I saw them all, Catholic and Protestant, and I have the same opinion of them all. They are all doing good work; they merit all the support of philanthropy can give them. I unqualifiedly, and in the strongest language that tongue can utter give to these men and women who are living and dying in China and in the Far East my full and unadulterated commendation. My doctrine is to tell, if I can, the simple truth about them, and when that is known, the cavilling, the depreciation, the sneering, which too often accompany comments on missionary work will disappear; they will stand before the world, as they ought to stand, as benefactors of the people among whom their lives are spent, and fore-runners of the coming of the new earth."

As the fifty-six original signatories to the document of independence "in support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence" mutually pledged to each other their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honour, so have to-day been pledged by the United States the lives of her soldiers, the

"OVER THERE."

From the Knickerbocker Press we take the following reference to Private Henry B. Steer, son of Mr. Albert T. Steer, of Albany, N.Y., and nephew of Messrs. Steer Bros., this city. The young soldier is a Newfoundlandier but left here with his parents about 20 years ago to reside in the land of Uncle Sam.

ALBANY BOY LEADS BAND "OVER THERE."

Private Henry B. Steer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Steer of 2 Leonard Place, Albany, N.Y., and a member of the First Battalion, Tenth Engineers, somewhere in France, has turned bandmaster and has organized a volunteer band of thirty-six pieces, which is in great demand for concerts at camps in France, according to a letter received by his parents. Private Steer was graduated from Cornell University, in 1915. He went to France early in September with "E" Company, second battalion of the regiment, but was transferred to the first battalion recently. Before enlisting, Private Steer was connected with the forestry division of the department of the interior at Washington. His letter to his parents follows:

"Over Here."

"Sat. 5-11-18. "My Dear Mother,—I am simply swamped with letters—not that I have been receiving any more than usual lately, but I have not had the time to answer them. I think I wrote you last Monday night, after I returned from the little performance given by Elsie Janis. Since then I have not had a moment to write a letter, though I have received eight or ten. Tomorrow is Mother's Day, so they tell us, and it is more than probable that I will pen another epistle to you then. However, if I do not find time to do the same, let this take its place.

"I believe I wrote you in great detail of our first band concert. I am enclosing a couple of pictures a Frenchman took of us. They are not very good for two reasons—his camera was small, and he could not get the entire band in, and it was about 7.30 when he took them, and also the stand is about five feet higher than the surrounding ground, which makes it difficult to get good pictures with no step ladder or other means to elevate the camera. In the picture taken from the rear, the two horns right in the centre are the baritone, and the best men I have; on the left of the picture is the drum section, while on the right the two piccolos are about all you can see. You will doubtless recognize me quite plainly in this picture. In the other (taken from the front) only part of the cornet section can be seen (I have ten altogether), while the two funny looking things on the left are the saxophones. Right under my arm (right) you can see one of the bass horns, while one of the six altos is visible right on my left. You may have some difficulty recognizing me from my back, but you can see a corner of my big glasses. We did not know the pictures were being taken, so they are perfectly natural. You now have tangible evidence that I am leading a band 'Somewhere in France.' The thing keeps coming right along—I have thirty-six men now—the following is my instrumentation—ten cornets, six altos, five clarinettes, two saxophones, two flutes, two baritone, two basses, four slide trombones, snare and bass drums and cymbals.

"Here's a chance for some 'charitable' institution in Albany to send us some music. Don't jump to conclusions as we need lots of practice, and don't get much time, but by the time we sail for home we will have a fine band, and of course the longer we stay here, the better band we will have.

"Your letter of April 3 reached me this past week, and was read with interest as all your letters are. I also had one from Margaret, and numerous cards and a couple from Mary; also one from Ada. I wrote that I had had a perfect deluge of papers, four bundles in all. As for the socks, mother, I have all I need at the present time, and will write when I need anything. You see that is one good point about 'that parcel regulation'—a fellow can write for what he needs, and not be bothered to carry about a lot of useful junk, which although it may be sent in the best spirit in the world, is still useless because the sender does not really know the conditions over here, and what we can use and what is useless. Imagine a fellow being sent silk pajamas and a bathrobe!

"To-morrow evening we repeat our concert of last Sunday for the French people. There is some kind of a festival or carnival or get-together going on here and they asked for the band. It's all right this time, but we don't intend to humor them too much—for you see the band is an entirely voluntary organization. A week from Sunday we go to a nearby Canadian camp at the request of the Canadian officers, and I imagine that nearly every Sunday from now on we will go somewhere, all of which is very nice. I am putting in all my extra time getting parts (I have to write extra ones, for the ordinary instrumentation does not include enough for a band of this size) and I am arranging a medley of popular airs for the fellows which is no end of a job. It's the love's labor lost, but I feel more than repaid by seeing the band make good.

"Will try and drop you a line to-morrow, and see if it makes any better time than this one, which will go in a blue envelope at the same time.

"With best love and hoping you all continue to keep well.

"As ever affectionately,

"HENRY."

"Pte. H. B. Steer, "Forestry Battalion, "10th Engineers."

To Shop or Not to Shop.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Do you shop? Or do you just go out and buy? A discussion arose at the knitting club, the other day, as to which one should do. That is, is it foolish or is it wise to go from shop to shop looking for a thing until you find just what you want?

"I think I'm just as likely to be satisfied if I buy in the first or second shop, as if I go to every place in town," declared one woman. "If I go looking everywhere, I get so confused that I don't know what I do want. And think of the time and strength it takes!"

She goes to Every Place in Town. "But suppose you buy a gown at the first place you look and then see one you like better somewhere else?" urged another woman. "I never buy anything important until I've been to every place in town. I wouldn't be happy if I didn't."

"Yes, and I've gone chasing around like that, and then bought something that I didn't like, after all, or gone back to the first place and bought one I saw there," retorted the first woman. "Well, I've bought something in a hurry and then seen something else I would have liked much better, or that cost a lot less elsewhere," counterpoised the other.

So the argument ran. For myself, my sympathies were divided. I couldn't take either side because I saw the other too strongly. Buying in Haste to Repent at Leisure. I've bought things in a hurry and regretted my choice; and I've hunted in a dozen places and gone back to the first. And, on the other hand, I've seen something in the second or third place that I knew at once what I wanted, and bought it instantly and never had a regret. And I've held out and refused to buy because I didn't see just what I wanted, and finally found it in the fifteenth place.

It seems to me one must steer one's course according to circumstances. One must take into account one's own time and strength. I do not believe in hunting all over town to accomplish a small money saving that is not worth the time and strength spent.

Read The Advertisements. One should read the advertisements carefully. One should be content with a reasonable saving at mark-downs. One should know values. One should also know one's mind. Oftentimes the reason a person goes from shop to shop is not so much because she doesn't find what she wants, as that she doesn't know what she wants.

One should not shop after one gets so tired that one's judgment is befuddled. And, above all, one should never, having bought a thing, permit oneself to look about afterwards to see if one might have done better. "That way lies madness."

Your Boys and Girls.

Mothers often set a bad example for their children by the manner in which they misuse their teeth. For instance, many mothers bite threads instead of cutting them. Everyone should know that this is injurious. By biting fibrous substances the enamel of the teeth may be cracked and ruined. Biting hard articles endangers the teeth in like manner.

To crack the enamel is not merely to make a surface break. Each tooth is a mass of sensitive pulp, having a living nerve and covered by a hard and thin coat of enamel. The saliva gets through this tiny fissure and is absorbed by the spongy structure, and the result is a filling if not the loss of a tooth.

The complete breaking up of solid food, and its thorough mixture with saliva, is indispensable to solution in the stomach and intestines, upon which our vigor largely depends. Hence it is worth while to avail oneself of the skill of the dental specialists to prolong the life of the teeth.

FOURTH OF JULY.

The old bell rang, that glorious day. When Freedom as a babe was born. Yet none there was could truly say The meaning of that splendid morn.

Men knew, because they saw and heard, That life was passing through a change; But neither dream nor printed word Could sound the depths of deeds so strange.

Into the parliament of life A child had come from parents' line— Born in the days of stress and strife According to the will divine. Men knew the shackles forged of old Were thick with rust and time's decay—

They grieved then with swiftness of bell. Races long used to keel distress Learned of this babe across the sea, But in the darkness failed to guess That some day he should set them free.

Year after year the infant grew, And those who loved him set aside His date of birth to pledge anew Their faith and be re-ascended. Yet few could penetrate the dim, Far distance of the future years And see what purpose waited him

When war should flood the world with tears. None saw the courage of his soul. None guessed the splendor of his brow. But God has opened wide the scroll: Freedom has come to manhood now!

America, the child of old, Destined by God on high to be His instrument of courage, bold, To set all troubled peoples free, Has blossomed out of early youth Into the splendor of a man, And stands to-day to serve the truth According to the Master's plan. Ring bells, and thundering cannons roar. Let hallelujahs shake the hills. Tyrants shall fall, to reign no more; Freedom her destiny fulfill!

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Milady's Boudoir.

FOR CHAPPED HANDS.

With the crisp days that bring roses to the cheeks, and the heart glad with the coming of winter, comes the old problem of keeping the hands soft and white and presentable. In the summer time, unless one worries about tan and freckles, manicuring is the only hand treatment to think about, but in winter the danger of roughened and reddened skin returns.

If the hands have become rough and unglorious, a simple home remedy is the quickest way out of the difficulty. Soak half a pound of oatmeal in a half quart of water for twelve hours, strain off the water, add a teaspoonful of ammonia, a teaspoonful of olive oil and a few drops of glycerine. Rub this into the hands at night after they are thoroughly washed, and rinse. Then slip on an old pair of gloves, which have the finger tips cut off. It would be well to follow up this treatment for two or three weeks, until the hands have regained their natural whiteness and softness. Be sure to keep them out of very hot water, and most important of all, dry them thoroughly whenever they have been washed.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Should I be particular to see the mother of my girl friend when I call before leaving," inquired Jessie.

"Having been entertained in the home of a young girl or young woman, friend whether the company be large or small, she does not leave the home without seeking the mother of her host or hostess and expressing appreciation of the hospitality," answered sister Marion.

The Scandal-Mongers.

(From the Winnipeg Free Press.)

A magnificent specimen of the scandal-monger's art was presented to the public view in the recent Billing case in London. By the publication of vicious statements about Miss Maud Allan, afterwards withdrawn in court, the defendants in that notorious trial were enabled to put in evidence a hotch-potch of filth and imagination which was valued at its true worth by sensible people in Britain. Press and platform have been unanimous in their repudiation of the highly-sensational but utterly unscrupulous and unfounded imputations upon the characters of most of the public men and women of England, which was permitted to be read into the evidence pertaining to the statement originally complained of. Strong aspersions upon the judicial aspect of the case have not been wanting. Altogether, the atmosphere which has been created by the neurotic vapors of Billing and his associates has been that of the strongest condemnation, not of the victims of the scandal-mongers, but of the scandal-hunters themselves. The unhappy consequences of all such disgraceful outbreaks is that credulous persons hide a certain morbid disappointment that, after all, these things cannot be harmonized with the recognized characters of the persons attacked, under the ungenerous generalization that "there is no smoke without fire." If even a tiny fraction of the charges freely bandied in the Billing case had been true, the British people could not have survived the trials and tests of the last four years. In these they have been sustained and guided by the very people whose honor was attacked, in circumstances which precluded defence, by the indirect and disgraceful methods of the scandal-monger.

SUMMER WEATHER.

WALT MASON

The days are growing hotter, although they're hot enough, and as I ply my sweater I'm feeling pretty tough. The solar rays are pelting, from heat there's no sunrise, and I am slowly melting and swimming in my grease. I overhaul the verses I wrote four months ago, and marvel at the curses I handed sleep and snow. Oh, I was surely nutty, when I such language tossed; his head is stuffed with potty wild rials at snow and frost. For winter's wholesome rigors are good for man and beast; there are no flies and chiggers on human limbs to feast. Men sit before their heaters, while loud the bilzard rants, and there are no mosquitoes, no worms or bugs or ants. From germproof Athabasca the wholesome breezes blow; from ocean washed Alaska comes down winter's healthful snow. And yet when winter's fining its blessings all around, when we should all be singing, we raise a doleful sound. Because some ears are frosted, because a nose is peeled, the language is exhausted, so bitterly we've speeled. The days are growing hotter, and hotter still, my friends; as to my tasks I totter, the mercury ascends. The flies, in countless legions, are roosting on my dome, and in the arctic regions I fain would build my home.

Hints for Housewives

A few drops of lemon-juice rubbed briskly on black or brown leather will give it a brilliant polish.

Remove the white stains on tables caused by hot dishes by rubbing into the wood with a soft rag spirits of camphor.

Vinegar makes a splendid disinfectant. If a little is burnt or sprinkled about the room it is both refreshing and agreeable.

To prevent old potatoes from sprouting, place in a wire basket and lower them into boiling water for a couple of minutes. Afterwards dry and put them away in sacks.

Knives should never be dipped in hot water, as it loosens the handles. The blades may be placed upright in the water in a mug, by which plan the handles will be kept dry. Tiles should be cleaned by wiping with a cloth wrung out of soapy water. Much scrubbing and use of water will in time loosen the cement of tiling and dislodge the sections.

Lend Him A Hand

Suppose YOU Were Going Over the Top,

Out into the night, into the roar of shell fire, through the barbed wire and the mud, into the enemy trenches—would you stop to count the cost?

No, you would go without question because it was your duty. You would not stop to ask about the safety of the undertaking. You would not stop to argue as to the amount of glory you might earn. You would not suggest that some one else be sent in your place. You would just go, head down, through hell on earth because your country asked it.

But you are not going over the top. You are at home with your friends and your family. You are called upon by the Government simply to lend money to back up the soldiers who have gone into the trenches for you in France. Your dollars will save their lives.

Will you not stop to consider that VICTORY BONDS are the SAFEST INVESTMENT IN THE WORLD.

Will you let others come forward with their money while yours lie idle?

Will you not act because it is your plain duty—your plain duty at a profit to yourself, — because human lives are at stake, because lending money to the Government here to-day will save humanity on the fields of France to-morrow?

Save Soldiers and Secure 6 1-2 p. c. Interest on Your Money by Buying VICTORY BONDS.

The Gospel of Hate.

Conan Doyle, the well-known novelist, is making a unenviable name for himself in England. First, as an advocate of an easy method of securing divorces, and later as a preacher of the "Gospel of Hate" towards Germany, he is the mouthpiece of a by no means small section of the English people. Nor are those who agree with him, at least in his later role, confined to the British Isles, as is evidenced by a column in one of our foremost Canadian dailies by one of its leading contributors. The Bishop of Winchester, who ventured to dissent from his proposal, is described by the above writer as having come off second best in the argument, and it is stated that the British Government "could follow no truer patriot, no man with a better understanding of the common-sense of the average man who speaks the English language."

The gist of the argument is that it is "useless to quote Christ while carrying on a war." He refuses to see "the distinction between hating the sin and hating the sinner." He claims that the Germans have recognized from the beginning of the war, and prior to it, the value of inculcating in soldiers and civilians alike, a hatred for their enemies, and that he would have a propaganda carried on throughout England for the purpose of developing a similar spirit of hatred on the part of the British towards the Germans.

His doctrine is that, in order to fight successfully a soldier must hate his enemy. It is not unfair, however, to place side by side with this statement of no less a man than General Byng, the hero of the November drive on the Western Front, who said: "Give me Christian young men. They endure the monotony better than non-Christian men, and their valour is equalled in the hour of crisis." Which of the two is the more likely to be correct? If it is brutality that Conan Doyle wants, his doctrine is doubtless the correct one. If, however, it is courage, steadfastness, unselfish devotion to a just cause, loyalty and obedience to leaders, patient endurance under all conditions that is desired, experience has shown beyond the shadow of a doubt the absolute hollowness of such a doctrine. To be consistent, he would remove all Christian influences from our men at the front. The Word of God would be a closed book. The partaking of the Sacrament before going "over the top" would be eliminated. In place of prayer, there would be thoughts of hate, and men would go into the presence of their maker with cursing in their hearts.

Apart from all these facts, which we humbly suggest Conan Doyle and his friends should think over seriously, we ask how long such a doctrine would hold the forces of the Allies together? What was it rallied these around a common cause and is holding these forces together to-day but the belief that the cause was and is in harmony with God's will which is Christ's will? What is it but this very doctrine that we are fighting to-day? What right has he to consue the words of Christ as meaning that even when divine interests are at stake we are to sit down and let the enemies of God ride rough-shod over us? Let him not forget that like beggars here, and that there will be a reaping after the war from the seeds sown during its progress. If he wishes to destroy the unity of the Allied cause, if he wishes to propagate adultery with all its horrid brood if he wishes to destroy the restoration of a rightful and abiding peace impossible and to drag the good name of England down into the stinking mire, let him and those who are supporting his unpatriotic, unmanly and ungodly propaganda, so influence "the powers that be" in Great Britain that they will follow his leading. Canada will not follow it, and we do not believe that the United States or even the Motherland will follow it. —Canadian Churchman.

Just a Minute.

About this Victory War Loan—just a word. You are on your mettle. The Government asked for Two Million Dollars. THEY GOT IT IN A WEEK. They have decided to receive all that comes in up to the 27th of July. They expect to get FOUR MILLIONS. MAKE IT FIVE. That's where you come in. Maybe you didn't intend to subscribe. Perhaps you were a bit pinched when the call came. Now's your chance. Get in on the enlarged Loan. Sacrifice to subscribe. Talk it up amongst your friends. Get them interested. Don't allow yourself or them to get Loan-weary. If you have already bought a Bond, buy a second. One good Bond deserves another. Step right up to the Bank and have another round of Bonds. You can't have too much of a good thing. Nor can your family. And remember, it will help the boys "Over There" and shorten the War—maybe bring HIM home to you safer and sooner than you expected. Get into this Loan campaign head first, and boost 'till you nearly bust. It won't hurt you to get 6 1/2 per cent on your money, but the money will hurt the Hun, hinder Hindenburg, and Kan the Kaiser. Here's hoping.

At the Casino on Thursday evening you will hear Sergt. Loveys' account of his experiences in Germany as a Prisoner of War.—July 2, 21

German Fairy Stories.

An Atlantic Port—"The blockading" of the port of New York, the "raiding" of Boston and Atlantic City and the "aerial bombing" of American cities as far west as St. Louis by German U-boats or "Gothas" is narrated in pamphlets dropped by Hun aviators all along the Allied lines in France, according to passengers aboard a French steamship which arrived here to-day.

The whole United States was represented as being terrorized by the German air fighters and residents of Brooklyn were reported to be living in cellars fearful of raids, the passengers declared.

Allied soldiers laughed at the pamphlets, while French newspapers had reproduced them as first page matter in comic supplements.

Finish This War.

Finish this War! Don't leave it to someone else to do it. You want Peace? Help make it yourself. Money, not men, will finish the war. Your money can do it. If you were in command of a company of men, you could fight physically and have your men fight with you. If you own money, you can make your money fight for you. Invest it in Victory Bonds and it is immediately turned into soldiers, cannon, food, equipment and all the necessary military material needed to put an end to this struggle. While your money is working for your country and yourself, you will receive interest on it at the rate of 6 1/2 per cent, and you will also get back all you have loaned at the end of the ten years. Get into this fight right now. It is a fight for Peace. It is a fight against future Wars. Protect yourself and those you love. Safeguard your home. Help your country. This is a patriotism that pays, but which pay honourably. ARE YOU ON THE PAY ROLL OF YOUR COUNTRY? IF NOT, WHY NOT?

Warm Debate Over Submarine Raid.

U. S. Navy Department is Charged With Neglect—Senator Lodge Defends Department—Crafter of Great Help in Controlling Menace.

Washington, June 26.—Attacks on the navy for permitting submarines to sink American ships off the Atlantic coast precipitated a sharp debate to-day in the senate.

Charges that senators invited the attacks by making inaccurate statements as to conditions in the United States were made by Senator Lewis (Democrat), of Illinois, in reply to a newspaper editorial read by Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, which attacked the navy department for not warning mariners of the presence of undersea craft and asked to the whereabouts of destroyers and submarine chasers the navy has been getting ready to repel attacks.

The U-boats raids were not attempted, Senator Lewis declared, until Germany was advised by inaccurate information that the American government was "honeycombed with fraud," and "reeking with pollution and corruption"; that the United States had no army or navy and "that we had fallen down in every undertaking."

"These charges," he said, "induced Germany to believe that we could not defend our own country." With apparent feeling, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, Republican, said: "Nothing has stimulated and invited Germany as the loose brags and boasts about the number of troops we are transporting to France."

"Germany was not invited here by attacks on the navy, because 'here has been none. The Navy and the Navy Department have taken precaution. No doubt in some newspaper offices there are men who might have done better."

The navy's activities cannot be made public for patent reasons. Senator Lodge said, declaring no one can tell where a submarine will strike.

"As soon as the navy had any authentic news indicating the presence of submarines," he added, "they acted. They have the means to do it."

Citing the fight of the British navy for four years against the submarines, Senator Lodge said that with American assistance a "larger control" of the submarine menace has been established on what might be termed the "naval front."

Method Succeeding. "That control is succeeding," he said, "more than any of us dared to hope. It is done by multiplication of ships and of methods."

"That the defence will be effective I have no question," continued Senator Lodge.

Possibility of a submarine base in the western hemisphere seems remote, said Senator Lodge, pointing out the difficulty of getting a mother ship out of Germany, and adding that "it is probable that the Germans have a base on the United States or the Canadian coasts." He also thought no base could be had in the West Indies.

"It is possible to have a base on Mexican territory," he said, "but a base there cannot be freely used. It would be extremely difficult to get to and to get away from there in more than a month."

The precautions the navy has taken along the coast cannot be revealed, the Senator added.

Field Marshal Haig.

(From the Montreal Gazette.) Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig is 57 years of age, having been born in Scotland, June 19th, 1861. The Commander-in-Chief of the expeditionary forces in France and Flanders is the most notable member of a family well known in the United Kingdom.

Several of the Haigs are high officers in the army and others have achieved success in the spheres of medicine and education. Sir Douglas Haig was educated at Oxford and entered upon his military career in 1885, when he joined the 7th Hussars. He saw service in the Sudan in 1898 and in South Africa in 1899, in both of which campaigns he did good work. In 1903-6 he was inspector-general of cavalry in India. His promotion was rapid. In 1904 he was appointed major-general and in 1910 lieutenant-general. When the great war broke out he was one of the first of the high officers in the field, and after the preliminary engagements with the German armies he was appointed a general for his distinguished services. In 1916 General Haig succeeded General French as Commander-in-Chief of the British fighting forces, and a year later he was awarded the coveted rank of field marshal. To-day he is in higher esteem than ever, for under his direction the tremendous military establishments raised by the United Kingdom and the dominions have reached a high state of perfection, and are doing their full share in holding in check a powerful foe. Haig's men may be relied upon to continue their great resistance, with the armies of France, until the rapidly-growing United States army shall have reached a size to justify the assumption of a general offensive movement against the enemy. So success to Haig, and may the war have reached a satisfactory conclusion before his next birthday comes round!

"Attaboy!"

WHAT THE AMERICANS THINK OF ENGLAND. (By Thomas Burke, in the Daily Mail)

It has lately been my good fortune to meet socially numbers of the American soldiers now in town. I have been showing them the intimate life of the town—not the 'night's'—and listening to their impressions of us, and, generally, summing them up as they sum us up; and my feeling can be boiled into the word at the head of this article—"Attaboy!"—the cry of the baseball "fan" to his favorite, implying, "That's the boy for me."

I have met boys from Texas and boys from Chicago; boys from the Bowery and the Tenderloin, and boys from far-away Montana and Nebraska, who had never seen the sea and who thought of Florida as a foreign country.

Many of them had travelled 4,000 miles for this job, and, naturally, they were at first abt benumbed. But their first impression of England was its amazing greenness in March and April—the American spring comes later than ours—and after that our tea-drinking habits.

They liked our well-ordered fields, and our neat lanes and country roads; but our trains and goods trucks moved them to laughter. Apparently children play with trains of that size in America.

Our tobacco they hated; they found it "horrid." Our Tommies they liked immensely, but the trench slang had them "beat to a frazzle," and the brass buttons with which Tommy in most regiments is smothered roused more laughter.

Many people whose remarks I overheard during the recent procession expressed the opinion that the Americans had not the smartness and unity of movement of some of our regiments; yet the American soldiers I have met expressed the same opinion about our boys in the matter of clothes. "They're much more sloppily dressed than our gang," one remarked; and this seems justified when you note the clean-cut outlines of the American uniform.

They were intensely interested in our old English chop-houses in the City, to which I took three of them, and the grey-headed waiters; and also in our working-men's homes and "Good Pull-ups for Carmen." A joint of boiled mutton with caper sauce and turnips puzzled them; it was "a new one on them. Steak-and-kidney pudding produced another shock, while they turned resolutely away from our various "offal" dishes, such as baked sheep's heart, brains, and sweetbreads.

England seemed a mighty little country to them, but London overwhelmed them by its size. I made them realise this by taking them for a ride from Seven Kings to Ealing; and at the end they inquired whether there was any more of England besides London and Liverpool, because there couldn't be much room for anything else.

Among all the Americans I have met during the past few months I have found no trace of arrogance. They realise now what they are in for, that they are a bit late, and they seem to get away from there in more than a month.

The precautions the navy has taken along the coast cannot be revealed, the Senator added.

The American is in his heart the most "homey," the greatest "mother's boy" of any type, though on the surface he is hard and materialist. He will quickly reveal himself to a sympathetic companion. Meet him and "get next."

But don't call him "Sammy"; the name is not popular with him. I suggest "Attaboys" as a generic term.

Hear the Other Side.

THE ARCHBISHOP VINDICATED. Lord Denbigh, to whom we all owe a deep debt for his outspoken exposition of German aims, condemned some sentences in a reported address of the Archbishop of York. Dr. Lang was said to have urged his hearers in America to think kindly of the Germans who obey orders and fight against us under the belief that they are doing their duty. We are glad the Archbishop has now made his position clear. On Good Friday he preached on our Lord's prayer for the forgiveness of His enemies, and told his congregation that we can only pray for those who rule in Germany that their eyes may be opened to see their wickedness and thereby may be led to repent and change their hearts. His Grace, as a minister of the Gospel, was bound to strike this note. Heaven is not closed to repentant Germans who fulfil the conditions of repentance and faith. We can quite understand that the Archbishop had not opportunity in a twelve minutes' address to declare his dejection of Teutonic inhumanity. That hatred is implicitly contained in the whole sermon. We think at a time like this it is well that public men should make sure they quote authorized reports. At the same time needless harm has been done to the Archbishop and the Church he represents by the delay in contradicting an erroneous and mischievous report which was read by millions of people.—Church Family Newspaper.

Great News From Bagdad!

It is a relief to turn from the terrible which Germany produces in every case to the exhilarating news of what the British occupation of Bagdad and of the Land of the Two Rivers means in terms of human happiness to those who dwell there in.

"The highly satisfactory results that have been produced in the Bagdad Vilayet by a year of British military administration have not failed to make an impression on the local population," says Reuter. "In the words of an Arab proverb, 'the Arab's intelligence is in his eyes' and all can understand the picture that is presented this spring.

"The care which the military administration has expended on agricultural development and on irrigation is bearing fruit in abundance. On land which has lain unutilized for many years the rural cultivators and the tribesmen now see crops ripening; and they compare the prospect before them with the harrowing reports of starvation which refugees have brought down from Turkish and Persian territory. By timely aid famine has been averted in the occupied territories on the Persian frontier, a region which the Turkish armies had devastated.

Great Harvests.
 "Writing from Mesopotamia on the success of irrigation works in the Euphrates Valley undertaken by the British since the capture of Bagdad, Mr. Edmund Candler says:—
 "During the summer we have been at work on the irrigation scheme. This year nearly a hundred canals on the Hillish branch which had fallen into disuse have been dug out.
 "Three hundred thousand acres have been brought under cultivation, and there is promise of the greatest harvest in the memory of man, possibly the greatest since the days of Nebuchadnezzar.
 "The effect of the work will be far-reaching. The irrigation scheme will reduce the tonnage required for food-stuff on the line of communications by thousands of tons, and set free rolling stock and river transport for ordnance and other supplies."
 Shekhs on Trains.
 And here are a series of wonderful paragraphs translated from the Bahadri native paper, Al Arab, which in their simplicity of fact tell a wonderful tale:—
 "When the British began to complete the railway to the Persian Gulf, they induced certain of the Arab to work as labourers. They did this more to disarm the timid Arabs of fear of foreign invasion than of need of their help. Hence the people in their goat-hair tents watched the shining rails being pushed southward by their own men, and by the time it was completed they had heard from them what it all meant.
 "One of the things the English did was to invite the shekhs of important tribes to go to Bushrah in the first through train. They went in silent acquiescence, but came back loud in their praise of what it meant to their land, and asking of Allah every good to come to the great British Government.
 "But one of the best things the new government has done is to gather together the idle and good-for-nothing in the city and put them to work, thus bringing rest and safety to all.
 Fair Rents.
 "Under the rule of the Turks, the land adjacent to the rivers was let to those of the tribes who practice farming, at increasingly high rates, until their taxes were so high that they barely managed to live. One of the first things the British did was to take over all those lands and rent them to those oppressed tenants at a reasonable figure.
 "The Governor of Bagdad has announced that every house in the city has been registered and appraised. No one will be allowed to charge rent for any dwelling exceeding ten per cent of its valuation.
 "A system of education has been inaugurated in this city of Bagdad by the British, and the children are all busily studying, where before they had never had a chance to get even a little education excepting at the mission schools.
 "The endowments (wakf) of the various places of worship have also been registered, so that nothing can be expended without being accounted for by the notable in whose hands they are kept.
 "Early in November, when the Electric Light Company lighted the streets of Bagdad with electricity, the people were filled with astonishment. Some declared that nothing less than the Jinn could produce such brilliant light. Others asserted that it was male and female, the latter being the lights of the city, while the males were kept in the pockets of the Englishmen."—Public Opinion.
