"Love in the Wilds"

The Romance of a South African Trading Station.

CHAPTER XXXVI.
THE UNSOLVED ENIGMA.

As the summer sun generated the shinks of the black velvet curtains and threw the patterns of the lace screens upon the thick Turkey carpet, it showed up the handsome face of the man to advantage. The white forehead was, perhaps, a little more wrinkled, and the mouth a trifle sterner and more impassive than when we first saw them in the smoking-room of the Hermits, but the wrinkles and the hard curve of the lips may have been produced by the things he was gleaning from the note within his hand and not by time and remorse.

"Idiot!" he exclaimed, letting the note fall from his long white hands upon the mass of papers already lying on the desk, rising as he spoke to pace the room. "Idiot! How could they fail? There is some knavery here. The money was sent—a precious five thousand—the arms were delivered. I saw the receipt myself! They should have taken the confounded place or perished. All wasted—wasted!" and he ground his teeth. "Not that I care! Italy is no more than the Cannibal Islands, and the miserable idiots who boast it much less; but—but—what will that white-haired plotter say? And what will she think of the failure of the scheme, upon the success of which I had pledged myself—she, Lucille? Oh, Heaven, that I could free myself from the charms she throws around me! Lucille—beautiful, glorious Lucille! I love thee—I love thee; and must win thee if all the Dale gold, which I

And His Family Medicines

MOST people first knew Dr. Chase through his Receipt Book. Its reliability and usefulness made him friends everywhere.

When he put his Nerve Food, Kidney-Liver Pills and other medicines on the market they received a hearty welcome, and their exceptional merit has kept them high in the public esteem.

Take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for example. There is no treatment to be compared to them as a means of regulating the liver, kidneys and bowels and curing constipation, biliousness, kidney disease and indigestion.

the remonstrance or refusal which the count seemed to dread, said, quietly: "How much do you require of me this time, my dear count?"

Count Vitzarelli seemed taken aback by the cool tone of submission and, with a certain hesitation, said: "This failure of our scheme has entailed serious expense. Fresh men, fresh arms, money to ransom and free the prisoners, and the other consequent claims, will necessitate an expenditure of fifty thousand, of which ten thousand must be immediately produced."

Reginald Dartmouth's face never changed a muscle. He looked the Italian conspirator in the eyes with the same quiet, meditative expression until he had finished; then he rose and, walking to a small cabinet, unclosed a drawer and took therefrom a small, gilt-bound book.

"Count," he said, reseating himself, with his white fingers between the pages—"Count Vitzarelli, let me ask your attention for a moment while I run over a few facts and figures for your consideration. You ask me for ten thousand pounds. Before I give them let me remind you of your past demand and my past gifts. Three months ago I joined—you need not fear," he broke off, as the count glanced toward the curtain with nervous apprehension. "The room is sound, tight, and no one can hear the slightest murmur. To proceed: three months ago I became a member of the secret society of which you are the illustrious and noble chief."

The count nodded, and, after waiting a moment, Reginald Dartmouth went on, keeping his eyes fixed upon the listener's face:

"Your purpose—"

"Buy our, my dear Dartmouth," interposed the count, softly, but with a significant smile.

"Our purpose, then, my dear count, if you prefer it," said Reginald Dartmouth, with a peculiar glitter of his eyes. "Our purpose is the liberation of the Italian states from their present bondage. This purpose is to be attained by legal, illegal, or, indeed, by any means. To this purpose we have consecrated villainy of every kind: forgery, murder—"

"Hush—hush!" exclaimed the count, turning pale and rising, with an alarmed countenance.

Reginald Dartmouth smiled evilly behind the hand raised to stroke his mustache, and in exactly the same tone, and with a malicious twinkle in his keen, eagle eyes, resumed:

"Let me assure you, once more, that we are in no danger from eavesdroppers. This room is constructed—at an enormous expense—to be entirely sound-proof. Were an assassin's hand at your throat and your shrieks rose thick and fast from your dying lips, not one of them could penetrate the barrier of these curtains and the subtly contrived walls behind them."

The count shuddered.

"Well, well, my dear captain; but still, may I venture to suggest that some less offensive, less repulsive words—"

"Bah!" retorted Reginald Dartmouth, with a polite smile. "You shall choose your own terms wherewith to designate the poisoning of the Italian ambassador and the stabbing of the dual minister in the ante-chamber of the palace. I call both deeds murder; and let me add, our judges would punish them as such. But, to go on," he continued, after waiting to watch with a fierce enjoyment the fleeting expression of anger and fear his words had caused upon the count's face: "our purpose is to be advanced by legal or illegal means. We have all pledged ourselves to aid the rebels and unseat the present Italian government. Our money, our talents, our lives, must be vested and spent, if need be, in our sacred cause. All for Italy and freedom!"

The deep sarcasm with which he pronounced the last words brought a flush of crimson to the listener's face and he started to his feet; but before he could give utterance to his indignation or other passions that filled him, the soft voice went on:

"I am not an Italian, count, but an Englishman and a man of the world; and, though I can understand your enthusiasm, I can not be expected to share it. Now, you are an Italian, and being such can be satisfied with your patriotism as a reason for such rebellious conspiracy and life-risking. But you are also a man of the world and should know—nay, must know—that I, who am not an Italian, must needs have some other motive than patriotism for spending my money and risking my life."

As he finished the Italian's face went pale and his lips trembled with a commingling of fear and passion.

He had been deceived—he, the clever man of the world, the genius of Italy—by a captain of dragoons. But with a great effort he controlled his passion and with as good an imitation as he could produce of the captain's quiet and easy smile, said:

"Grant all you say, my dear Dartmouth, and what follows but to ask you to divulge the motive that prompted you to give us your valuable aid?"

"Valuable aid?" repeated Reginald Dartmouth, thoughtfully. "Yes, yes, count; you may say that truthfully. Let me see"—here he glanced at the book which he had in his hand—"here are set down the sums I have handed to the secret council for the furtherance of their designs. Glance at them, my dear count, and tell me if I am correct in stating the amount at twenty thousand pounds?"

The Italian took the book with trembling fingers and nodded.

"It is a large amount, my dear Dartmouth, I admit."

Fashion Plates.

FOR HOUSE OR PORCH DRESS.

Pattern 3277 was used to make this comfortable model. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size will require 6 1/4 yards of 36 inch material. This is a splendid style for mature figures. The lines are simple and pleasing and the skirt is of comfortable width.

Gingham, seersucker, linen, drill, poplin, lawn and chambray are excellent materials for this style.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A GOOD "BLOUSE AND SKIRT STYLE" FOR THE GROWING GIRL.

Pattern 3278 is portrayed in this model. It is cut in 4 Sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 12 year size will require 6 yards of 36 inch material for the blouse and skirt of one material. The skirt alone requires 3 yards of 36 inch material.

This will be effective in plaid suiting for the skirt, and pongee for the blouse. Linen, jeans, wash silk and chambray are also good for the blouse, while the skirt may be of serge, gabardine or khaki.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

Greek Victory Depresses Turks

Preparations to Carry on Being Made -- Plain Statement by Viscount French -- Allies Directing Grecian Forces-- American Flour Prices Decline Slightly -- The Navy on the Job Again.

IRKS DEPRESSED BY NATIONALIST DEFEAT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 27. Depression prevails in Turkish circles over the news that the Nationalists fled in disorder in the first attack against them. Turkish newspapers do not conceal their fear that the situation is becoming grave owing to reported heavy losses of the Nationalist bands in the Ismid region where they are retiring. Ali Fuad Pasha, former commander of the twentieth Turkish Army Corps and one of the Nationalist commanders, is abandoning Kandra, near the Black Sea coast, north of Ismid. There is great rejoicing among the Greeks in Constantinople over the advance of the Greek army west of Alashehr, a walled town in the Vialyet of Aidin, the ancient name of which was Philadelphia. The Greeks report the Turkish losses in the capture of Alashehr as eight thousand men killed, wounded or made prisoners. All Greeks of military age in the city are being recruited to reinforce the army. Recruits are marching through the streets shouting and singing. Greek officials here say that the troops of Kemal Pasha are undisciplined and are poorly equipped with artillery to offer any resistance against the Greeks.

ALLIES MASTERS OF THE SITUATION.

PARIS, June 27. The Allied Nations are masters of the situation in the Near East as else-

DRESSMAKER SAVED FROM OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time.

Ithaca, N.Y.—“Three years ago I suffered from pains in my right side, so severe that I could not raise my feet from the floor. Pains would shoot down my limbs and through my back, and the doctor said I had an abscess. I was in bed two weeks with an icebag on my side and expected any day that I might have to go to a hospital for an operation. A friend came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it, and after taking six bottles I feel well and strong, do my own work and do dressmaking for others. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine and recommend it to others who suffer with female trouble. It is a Godsend to ailing women, and you may see my name at anytime.”—Mrs. PERMILLA HULSHOF, 215 E. Fall St., Ithaca, N.Y.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

said, “It cannot be too clearly shown that the Government never will under any circumstances listen to any proposal either for the establishment of an Irish Republic or the coercion of Ulster. We desire above all things to give the country the utmost measure of political freedom sometimes against hope that a peaceable reconciliation will eventually be effected, but having said so much, I would be wanting in my duty if I did not repeat what I have said before that we are determined the Irish people shall enjoy the same protection as the people of other parts of the kingdom, and the Government will not hesitate to employ all the forces at its disposal to attain this.”

A SHORT CAMPAIGN HOPED FOR.

ATHENS, June 27. Hope was expressed at the Greek general headquarters to-day that the campaign against the Turks would not exceed three weeks. It is recognized, however, that the Nationalists probably will take refuge in the mountains and carry on guerilla warfare indefinitely.

BRITISH AND TURKS CLASH.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 27. One thousand British troops disembarked at Mudanister, Sea of Marmora, to-day and occupied the town for four hours. They then evacuated. The Nationalists resisted and six Turks were killed, two British were wounded.

BRITISH CRUISERS ESCORTING TRANSPORTS.

LONDON, June 27. According to Constantinople despatches to the Exchange Telegraph Company, British cruisers escorting transports have passed through the Dardanelles for Ismid.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Amongst those who left town by Monday morning's train were:—Mrs. Robt. Munn, Misses Gertie Davis, Francis Casey, Gladys Parsons; Messrs. Frank Murphy, Timothy Hogan and Michael Thomey.

Mr. Hayward Webber, who for some time past has been on the staff of the Hr. Grace Standard, left town by Monday morning's train for St. John's, having accepted a position with the Telegram. We wish Hayward every success.

Miss Mary March, niece of His Lordship Bishop March, left by Monday afternoon's train on a visit to her home in Bay de Verde.

Mrs. David O'Keefe, and his two children, arrived from Sydney, C.B., on Saturday night last on a visit to her mother, Mrs. John Hare, and other friends.

Mr. Francis Martin, who spent the past winter in Sydney with his son, Alderman Amos S. Martin, arrived home on Monday, looking very well. Amos is one of our Hr. Grace boys who has made good in the land of the Maple Leaf, and we take this opportunity of wishing him continued success.

Miss Carrie McKay, of McKay's Grocery, returned on Tuesday after spending a pleasant week visiting friends in the Capital City.

was caught in the ice at Hooping Hr. while on a trading trip for E. Simmons last fall, arrived in port on Thursday, having recently got clear of the floes.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tapp left to-day by motor car on a trip round the Bay to St. John's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bateman and children motored from Bay Roberts on Tuesday. Mrs. Bateman is spending a time with her mother, Mrs. (Capt.) Nicholas Fitzgerald, Mr. Bateman having since returned to his duties on the staff of the W. U. C. Co. at Bay Roberts.

The Aero Tennis Club began the season's sport this afternoon, when a very enjoyable time was spent by the members. Tea being served on the Court, which this year is situated at the rear of Brae Head. Last year, it will be remembered, through the courtesy of the Handley-Page Company, the Club had the use of part of the flying grounds. This year the option held by the H.-P. Co. on the land having expired, it fell back to its original holders, and is now doing its best to out-fly the High Cost of Living in the only practical way—that of producing more. We wonder if some of our readers will take the hint.

A number of men are now engaged at repairing the damage done to Harvey Street, at the foot of Kitchen's Hill, during the early Spring by the floods of water coming down from the higher levels with the melting of the snow. The condition of the street in that locality has been wretched for some time past, being almost unpassable for vehicles—especially in these days of motor cars.

A football match was played at Carbonear on Wednesday evening between a team from Hr. Grace and a Carbonear eleven, which resulted in a win for Hr. Grace, by two goals to none. We have a football team here that we are expecting big things from during the coming summer, as so far neither last year nor this year have they met defeat. We hear that a match has been arranged to take place at Bell Island with a team from there, on July 7th, the occasion of the C. B. S. Band excursion to the Iron Isle, which, by the way, promises to be one of the most enjoyable events of the season.

Produce and Provisions.

(Saturday's Trade Review.)
CODFISH.—The exports of dried codfish the past week amounted to 22,365 quintals. Of this total 8,859 were sent to Portugal, 7,530 qts. to Brazil, 5,742 to Spain, and 234 to Liverpool. The Brazilian market, which held up so satisfactory all the Spring is slackening, and they are evidently over supplied. The price is not so attractive this week, but may recover next month. Good fish for this market is what has kept the price up here to $10 all Spring, while fish for Portugal declined. The total on hand in all Nfld. is now well below 100,000, and at normal rate will be all out within a month or six weeks.

CODLIVER OIL.—There were no sales of any account during the week. Last year's stocks are practically cleaned up. It is expected that the new oil of 1920 will be on an entirely new basis. We are eliminating the prices in our tabular column until such time as something definite as to the future trend of the market can be ascertained. As it is, any price quoted would be only normal, as there is practically no oil offering. The export for the week amounted to 5620 gallons.

LOBSTERS.—A few cases of new lobsters, 1920 pack, arrived from Plover Bay this week and were sold from $28 to 30 per case. The fishery continues good. Lobsters are larger a the run, and average 130 to the case against 210 last season. Owing to the failure of the Marine and Fisheries Department to have the lobster export labels printed in time, exporters who wished to send out lobsters, were delayed in shipping up to last week. There is now an ample supply. France has prohibited the export of lobsters, which may weaken the market here.

SALT.—A Cable from Italy this week states that Salt is to be had at Trapani at a very reasonable price.

Several vessels have left Cadiz for Santa Pola, and now with Trapani offering salt, it looks as if these labor strikes in Cadiz are going to ruin their salt trade for the future.

PORK.—The markets show very little change beyond a slight firmness due to recent exchange fluctuation. Latest American advices show that there is very little exportation going on to European countries, resulting in considerable accumulations of Pork at the Packing centres, and a consequent tendency to steady prices at the levels that prevailed all the Spring. The whole situation, outside the more unfavorable exchange rates, point to more attractive Pork prices during the coming fall. In the local wholesale list, Ham Butt is $57.00, Short Mess, $57.00, Fat Back, $46.00, Mess, $49.00, Family, $55.00.

BEEF.—The Beef market this week shows considerable strength, especially boneless, which is $2.00 higher per barrel. The higher grades, while not yet showing any advance, are likely to participate in the revived strong position before long. It will be remembered that for the past five months Beef prices have been very low in comparison with other food products. As a result the farmers have been going slow on cattle raising, owing to low prices offered and the high price of cattle feed involved in raising stock. Packers have been receiving shorter supplies and hence a firm tendency has arisen in prices. In the local market Leading Brands are $35 to $36.00, other grades $27 to $34.

FLOUR.—Nothing worth recording has occurred in the flour market this week. Local prices are still below what it would now cost to import. The latest news from U. S. and Canadian Wheat Territories is generally that the weather for growth has been favorable all June, and the crops are promising well from Coast to Coast. The crucial time, however, is the next five weeks. Leading Brands here are $17.25 to $17.50 wholesale, other grades $16.50 to $17.00. The imports are keeping up well.

SUGAR.—Sugar is now controlled by the Food Control Board here, and prices are fixed for the season. A full supply is therefore assured, except interfered with by transportation difficulties of labor strikes. The S. S. "Choctaw" and S.S. "Edmund Donah" have brought in large consignments, which are being sold by wholesalers at $23.25 per 100 lbs., and by retailers at 20 cents a lb. The latter so far received no reply from the Board through their delegation, as to allowing them to ask two cents a pound more in order to make it pay. Although sufficient sugar has been contracted for by the Food Control Board, those who can afford to do so would do well to stock up now. Lower prices are not possible and difficulties may arise later in getting the sugar here.

MOLASSES.—The importation will be very short, and the last quotation for Fancy at Barbados would put molasses up to $2.05 per gallon wholesale landed in St. John's. Local sales of stocks in hand are being made still at $1.85 for Fancy and $1.75 for Choice in the puncheon. There are four of our vessels now at Barbados awaiting cargoes, and it is not certain whether they will all succeed in procuring same. There are also two vessels on the way up with loads. At best this will bring the imports up to about 6000 puncheons, which is only about half of the normal supply.

COAL.—There is plenty of coal, hard and soft in town this week. By the S.S. "Montana" 2,400 tons of Anthracite were brought from New York to Harvey & Co. and several small cargoes of soft coal from Sydney. There is no scarcity anticipated, and it is quite possible that prices may be easier in July and August.

POTATOES.—The price is unchanged at $7 for the half barrel and $14 per barrel. They are getting scarce every day and not likely to be any lower till the new crop comes. There is a fair supply in the city, and some consignments will be arriving on the next boat down the gulf.

I want another bottle of "Brick's Tasteless", it is the best preparation I have ever taken to give me an appetite.—apr28,tt

Very Timely.

The appended reply to a request for a "donation" has an unmistakable local application. For the following reasons I am unable to send you the cheque asked for:—

I have been held up, held down, sandbagged, walked on, sat on, flattened out and squeezed, first by the Government for War Tax, the Excess Profit Tax, Victory Bonds, Thrift Stamps, Capital Stock Tax, Merchant's License and Auto Tax, and by every society and organization that the inventive mind of man can invent to

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

DIFFERENT WAYS OF DOING HONOR.

RUTH CAMERON

"I don't think she ever cared much for her husband," says a neighbor of mine in regard to a mutual neighbor whose husband died three or four years ago.

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, his grave is next our lot in the cemetery and I'm pretty sure that she has never been near it since he was buried."

It was plain from the manner in which she made that statement that nothing could persuade her that a woman who did not go near her husband's grave might love him just as deeply as one who makes weekly pilgrimages to the cemetery, so I did not try.

Each Thinks the Other is Wrong.

How differently people do feel about such things. And how determined they are to judge others by their own standards.

The same woman was terribly upset when, after her sister's death, her brother-in-law placed an inexpensive marker instead of a costly stone on her grave.

I was telling the Authorman about this and he said, "If anyone puts an expensive stone on my grave, I think I'll come up and roll it off. With all the need there is in the world, I'd rather have someone put a common marker with a little nameplate on it and spend the rest to help some child get an education."

Don't You Think This Would be Beautiful!

Later, however, we talked it over again, and since we had both decided to be cremated we promised each other that the one who lived longest would try to see that the other's ashes were buried simply in the garden at home. And since the Authorman has always loved a flagpole, he is to have a beautiful white flagpole to mark his resting place, and I am to have one of my beloved white birches planted above mine.

Perhaps you think this is too gloomy subject to talk about. I admit I would hardly dare mention such words as funeral and cemetery, were it not that when I last timidly essayed the subject quite a host of reader friends became letter friends for the sake of telling me they approved and agreed.

This is Just What I Would Like. I wish all who did approve might read a wonderful little poem called "My Funeral" which I came upon the other day. I'd like to quote the whole, but since I can't I'm going to give you the last stanzas which (but for the fact that I'd like daffodils instead of red roses) are my sentiments exactly. Maybe you will hunt up the rest for yourself:

"When I am dead, Give me the kind swift flames to set me free; And in the empty room I leave behind In the spilled sun set roses red, And let a lazy wind Drift the light curtains gladly To and fro. Although If I should be elected To be vivisected, I should be interested and proud; Oh, anything is better than monuments erected And a shroud."

—Carolyn C. Wilson.

Household Notes.

Blackberries make a delicious shortcake.

If the skin is sun scorched, bathe it in milk.

Granulated sugar is cheaper for general use.

Raisins are excellent to sweeten rice pudding.

Flour should be measured after a single sifting.

Disinfect all vaults and cesspools with copperas.

Keep flour in a dry, cool place, securely covered.

Tea should be made quickly with water still boiling.

Green peppers make a good basis for a summer salad.

Dip a feather in kerosene and apply to a rusty lock.

One pound of beef yields four ounces of beef juice.

The lightness of pancakes depends on the beating.

Butter, milk and eggs are apt to absorb strong flavors.

HOME BREW.

W. W. MARSH

I made a keg of home brewed ale, with raisins, yeast and water, and now I'm in the county jail, where reason's prone to totter. I made five gallons of the truck to show that I could do it; I drank three quarts and ran amuck, and here I am, beshrew it! My head is out of shape on top, my brow is swelled and hilly, for there the outraged village cop assailed me with his billy. When I get out, some five years hence (this fact I put some stress on), I'll try to brew no Old Stone Fence—I will have learned my lesson. It does not pay to fool the law, in measure small or greater, for punishment is all you draw—it gets you soon or later. A lot of laws give me a pain, I'm tempted to defy them; but in the hours when I am sane I guide my footsteps by them. We cannot pick and choose the laws that we'll observe and cherish; we can't approve one with our jaws, and say the next must perish. We have to take them as they come, and not behave like quitters, and if we find that some are bum, we bravely take our bitters. The law's against all forms of booze, and when my stretch is ended, I will compound no home-lade brews of yeast and raisins blended.

Never allow soiled clothing in a bedroom.

YOUR BEST.

When you hear somebody mutter that an extra care task will do, Or some careless toiler tries to show an easier way to you, Pay no heed unto his counsel, spurn his plea to stop and rest, Nothing's good enough, remember, if you haven't done your best.

If a little more of effort and a little extra care you've done it well, Would improve the task you're doing, give it promptly then and there; Take the longer route to splendor, take the harder road to fame, For a duty that is slighted is a blight upon your name.

Never leave a thing you've started till you know you've done it well, It's your honor and your courage that your finished work will tell; There are times when toil is irksome and perfection seems afar; But remember, by your labor men shall know you as you are.

Heed no man who counsels shirking! Here the course of duty's plain, By the pathway of indifference one shall never worth attain. Face the world erect in honor, fit to meet the sternest test, Good enough will lead to failure—to succeed require your best!

From Printer's Devil to Presidential Nominee.

Warren G. Harding has always been a resident of Ohio, which state he has represented as United States Senator since 1914. In private business life he is publisher of the Marion, Ohio, Star.

He was born on a farm, near the village of Blooming Grove, Morrow County, Ohio, November 2, 1865, the eldest of eight children. His father, George T. Harding, was a country doctor, whose forebears came from Scotland. Before going to Ohio, the Hardings were residents of Pennsylvania, where some of them were massacred by Indians. Others fought in the revolutionary war. The mother of Warren, Mrs. Phoebe Dickerson, was descended from an old-time Holland-Dutch family, the Van Kirks.

In his early youth Warren lived the life of a farmer boy attending the village school until 14 years of age, when he entered Ohio Central College of Iberia, from which he was graduated. As editor of the college paper he first displayed a talent for journalism. He was obliged to stop school now and then to earn the money with which to pursue his college course. At one time he cut corn, at another drove a team and helped to grade the road-bed of a new railway. At 17 he taught a district school and played a horn in the village brass band.

At odd times he worked in the village printing office, in time becoming an expert typesetter and later a linotype operator. He is a practical pressman and a job printer, and as a "makeup" man is said to have few equals. The luck piece he has carried as a Senator is the old printer's rule he used when he was sticking type.

In 1884 Dr. Harding moved his family to Marion. A short time afterward the father purchased for Warren Harding the Star, then a small paper.

On the paper Warren Harding performed every function from devil to managing editor. All the years the Senator has owned it there has never been a strike or a threatened one.

Senator Harding is closely identified with many other large business enterprises in Marion and other parts of the state. He is director of a bank and several large manufacturing plants and is a trustee of the Trinity Baptist Church.

Mr. Harding has twice represented the 18th Senatorial district of Ohio in the State legislature and served one term as lieutenant governor. At the 1914 election Harding was elected United States Senator by a majority of more than 100,000, running 73,000 ahead of the next highest on the ticket. In the Senate he is a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Canned Fish.

The canning of fish foods, other than those of lobsters and salmon, has not been extensively taken up as an industry in Newfoundland, but with the increasing demand for fish ready prepared for eating, there is not any reason why a greatly enlarged venture should not be entered upon. Every packer of salmon or lobster has a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the business, and it but needs a certain amount of local encouragement to inaugurate a complete revolution of present methods, with very little extra expense attaching in the establishment of more up-to-date plants than those hitherto used by ordinary packers. With unlimited supplies of the best food in the world at our very doors, it is remarkable that Newfoundland's production of canned fish of every variety is so scanty. When lobsters were plentiful all round the coast line every man who possessed the means of putting up so small a pack as ten cases was into the business and hence for a time the lobster packing industry grew and flourished. But inattention, carelessness, and negligence all played a part in thinning out the supply of crustaceans, until within the last few years the business of lobster canning has dwindled down to such an extent that now not a tithe of the number of people formerly employed are engaged and the exports have, consequently, fallen off to but a few thousand cases. It might be said that legislation either killed the lobster or that it was brought in too late.

Apart from that fishery, however, it is worthy of note that on the West Coast—where the pioneers of canning lobsters first commenced business—there is another canning industry growing up, halibut and codfish tongues being now sought after in the tinned fish line, and with faith in the promise of good markets, several concerns are starting to pack these in quantities sufficient to warrant a thriving business and lucrative returns. It has not been the custom to go in very extensively in the canning of either halibut or cod tongues, a few cases only being put up as an experiment, without any idea of seeking a larger outlet than the local demand, which because of the limited supply, was unfortunately not great. That may be all changed now, and we trust that in the starting of this—one might say new—venture the returns will be commensurate with the production. Some years ago at Fortune, Burin District, an experienced handler of tinned fish foods, began canning codfish and for some time had all he could do to supply the demand which this novelty in edibles created. But for some reason or other the business did not meet with the success that it deserved, and was abandoned. About the same time, a firm of fish buyers at Channel in an effort to improve on the cod-canning method adopted by the Fortune packers, began the canning of codfish in a new way and by a new process known, we think, as Professor Lamb's method. This produced a demand which continued abroad for no little time, but eventually was also abandoned, though a considerable quantity was exported during the running of the factory. Thus it will be seen that time and again attempts have been made to add to the value of Newfoundland's sea harvest by departures from the old style of drying or shipping salt bulk.

At Bay of Islands and Bonne Bay many people interested in putting up codfish differently from the prevailing method of cure, engaged in shipping in a more attractive and up-to-date style, but owing to a variety of causes, their energy did not meet with equivalent reward. At St. John's too, attempts were made to depart radically from established rules and place upon the outside market cod and other fishes prepared by new treatment. This also failed, but not, it is to be hoped, permanently. New markets can be opened in countries where fish foods are plentifully consumed and if encouragement is needed by those who are now reviving the industry of canned fish, or if they require financial assistance, there should be no lack of either from Government or commercial circles or both. Writing on this subject the Trade Review of Saturday, in an article with the sentiments of which all will agree, says:

"It is the possibility of creating a great export trade that makes the consideration of this branch of the fish trade interesting. It is the kind of goods that the American people are likely to become interested in, and once we get a place on the market in the U.S. cities for canned halibut and canned fresh cod tongues, a great industry will soon be developed. 'The time' is come when every effort should be made to turn all the fishes that frequent our waters, and every part of the fish, to food use, or chemical use in the case of certain by-products.

"Other fishing countries are spending much money on scientific fish research with a view to securing more profitable returns and greater efficiency, and Newfoundland will have to be moving if we do not want to run the risk of falling out of the race for markets now so keen amongst our competitors. 'Especially is this true of Northern Europe where science and applied scientific knowledge made the Norwegian fishery the great industry that it was before the war. This competitor is again emerging from its eclipse of four years enforced cessation to be our most formidable rival in the fish trade.

"As we have all the evidence, that in future Newfoundland will be confronted with more competition than ever in the markets of Southern Europe, we should as a people direct our most strenuous efforts to finding out new methods of packing fishery products for markets on this side of the Atlantic, and halibut and cod tongues in this is an industry that it developed to its possible capacity, will be a valuable asset amongst the resources of Newfoundland."

Obituary.

THOMAS MOULTON.

There was general regret expressed in St. John's on Saturday evening when the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. Thomas Moulton, of Burgeo, was received from that town. The deceased was the senior partner of the firm of T. Moulton, Burgeo, and a director of T. W. Moulton, Ltd., North Sydney, and possessed a large circle of friends in Newfoundland and the Maritime Provinces, all of whom recognized and appreciated his many qualities of head and heart. In his early years Mr. Moulton successfully taught school, afterwards becoming associated with his brother Robert, who represented Burgeo & LaPelle in the House of Assembly for fifteen years—in business at Burgeo, later branching out for himself and organizing the firms already referred to, both of them being in flourishing circumstances.

A widow, two sons, George R. and Lewis; several daughters, one of whom is Mrs. (Rev.) R. H. Mercer, R.D. Harbor Breton; five brothers, George A. of this city; Robert, of New York; Abraham, of Halifax; James, of Burgeo; William, of North Sydney, and one sister, Mrs. George Morris, of this city, survive. Rev. C. A. Moulton, of St. Thomas's, is a nephew. A son, Edgar, was killed in the war. In the expressions of sympathy and regret the Telegram desires most sincerely to join.

Keep July 1st open for St. Joseph's Garden Party.—jue28,31

Educational Campaigns.

We understand from the Executive offices of the Educational Campaign Committee, which collected so successfully last year, that it has been decided by the Church of England and Methodist Campaign authorities to hold short campaigns of about two days duration, probably during the week beginning July 12th, for the purpose of laying before the Campaign Workers the results of the year's collection, calling on those who up to the present, have omitted or overlooked the sending in of their contributions, obtaining new subscribers, if possible, and generally renewing the enthusiasm which was so manifest last year. The organizations are being drawn together again, and the Managers anticipate a highly successful cleaning up of the year's work.

Capt. Whelan's Trip.

Capt. John J. Whelan, of the schr. Agnes P. Duff, may well be proud of the record he has made on his last voyage from here. The vessel left this port on May 12th for Halifax where she arrived on the 19th. Loading lumber there she left for Queenstown on May 21st, where she arrived June 23, leaving the same day for Maryport, England, and arrived there on the 25th, completing the voyage from St. John's to England, via ports of call, in the remarkably short period of six weeks.

Sable I's Passengers.

S.S. Sable Island arrived from North Sydney at 5 o'clock this morning, bringing the following passengers: Rev. Barrett, Miss K. Crouch, Mrs. Elsie Croucher, Mr. J. Crawford, Mr. B. Cohen, Mrs. Mary Clark, Mrs. Campbell, H. Campbell, D. Campbell, Mr. W. Fitzgerald, Mr. Milne Fraser, Mr. G. Henderson, F. Hollingworth, Miss J. Hanford, A. Iseman, Mrs. Mary Lynch, Mrs. Mary Murley, Mr. John Penman, Miss May Simmons, R. M. Wyman.

Trap Fishery at St. Mary's.

A message to the Marine and Fisheries Department from St. Mary's states that traps this side of Cape English are not getting any fish. Traps at St. Vincent and Peter's River averaged from 5 to 10 qts. during last week; from Shagrock on Saturday the average is reported as from 20 to 30 qts.; caplin are plentiful.

Personal.

Miss Hutchings, daughter of the Inspector General of Constabulary, who has just returned from Sackville Ladies' College of Music, will give a solo at the Ordination Service, Wesley Church, 8 p.m. this evening. The choir singing at Wesley during the Conference public meetings and yesterday, has been remarkably good. Capt. Philip Saltmarsh of the 60th Rifles, arrived by the Schem from England to take up his duties as A. D. C. to His Excellency the Governor. In the recent examinations held at the University of Toronto, in Dentistry, Mr. Fred A. Jones of this city was very successful, having passed in all subjects of his second year.

Here and There.

DISCHARGING AT MURRAY'S.—S.S. W. M. Tupper arrived this morning from Boston with a general cargo; she will discharge at A. H. Murray's.

Directly behind Sir Michael Cashin's residence you will have a good time July 1st.—jue28,31

AT THE DOCK.—Repairs to the S.S. Fortia will likely be finished during the week. S.S. Fern also on dock, is receiving a thorough overhauling.

Delicious Ice Cream will be on sale at St. Joseph's Garden Party.—jue28,31

TRAIN MOVEMENTS.—Yesterday's Westbound arrived at Bishop's Falls at 5.30 this morning. The incoming express left Glenwood at 8.30 a.m. and is due about 10.30 to-night.

SUSU'S PASSENGERS.—The following passengers have booked by the Susu sailing to-morrow for Change Islands and intermediate ports: Mrs. Pilsent, J. Bauid, Miss P. Harvey, Miss E. Marshall, J. W. Windsor, Rev. S. Abbot.

NOTICE TO BASEBALLERS.—Have a few throws at Aunt Sall at St. Joseph's Garden Party. It's great practice for your arm.—jue28,31

FISH AND SALMON.—The fish taken on the local grounds this morning were of good size, but the catches were not large. Quite a lot of salmon was offered in the market at from 20 to 25 cents per lb. The fish were of small size and averaged from 3 to 5 lbs.

SACHEM'S PASSENGERS.—S.S. Sachem will sail for Sydney at one o'clock to-morrow taking the following passengers: J. P. Carey, C. J. Brown, M. D. Shears, Mr. Rose, Mrs. R. C. Smith, Mr. A. Gornie, L. W. Williams, A. L. Carter, A. E. Taylor, Miss A. Winsor, W. V. Gals.

How to Save.

"How much is 98c., $15.35 and $11.77?" she asked, restraining the pen she was using from running down a column of figures. "Too much," replied her husband. "The answer to all sums of that kind is the same—these days." "I make it $29.70," she said, "and it doesn't look right to me." "It isn't," he assented. "For about ten minutes there was silence, and then she spoke out with an air of triumph. "I have twenty dollars and thirty cents left out of that fifty dollars you gave me."

"Have you any idea where you left it?" he asked, in a resigned tone that suggested a Job-like patience. "Don't be silly, I have it here, of course—I've saved it; at least I mean I haven't spent it."

He put down the paper he was reading and walked over to the table at which she was sitting.

"It would have been better," he said, "if your parents had saved your school fees; I don't believe they ever taught you arithmetic. You ought to know that nowadays you can't have anything over except overalls and overdrafts." He glanced at her house-keeping book. "Your accounts seem fairly straight for once," he admitted, "except that the balance should be twenty-one dollars and ninety cents; but that's an error on the right side. How ever did you do it?"

She smiled at him. "At The Royal Stores," she said. "The Annual July White Sale is now on and I just bought everything I needed there instead of going from place to place as I used to do, and the plan has worked splendidly. I've got everything I need just the same as usual, and I've got twenty—no, twenty-one—well, anyway, all that money over. And by the way, George," she continued, "on your way down town in the morning please call in and ask Miss S— to send up one of those beautiful Volle Dresses at $9.00 and two more Rompers for Alice and Jack at 98c. They are really good values and I am so afraid that they will all be sold before I get down in the afternoon."

Coastal Boats.

F. H. Ellis & Co. S.S. Susu sails to-morrow morning for ports as far as Change Islands.

Government. S.S. Seal left Burin Sunday morning, going west. S.S. Prospero is probably at St. Anthony, being detained by ice.

Reids.

Argyle sailing from Placentia to-day on bay route. Clyde arrived at Lewisporte at 10.20 a.m. yesterday; sailing this morning. Diana north of Flower's Cove. Carmen leaving Port Union to-day. Glencoe arrived at Humbermouth at a.m. yesterday.

Home arrived at Lewisporte at 4.10 p.m. yesterday; sailing to-day. Kyle arrived at Port aux Basques at 1.50 p.m. yesterday.

Sagons left Port aux Basques at 4.30 a.m. yesterday, coming east. Petrel arrived at Clarenville at 2.30 a.m. yesterday; sailing to-day. Ranger. No report since Shiphead. Edmund Donald left Hr. Grace at 3.30 a.m. Saturday; no later report.

Young man, bring along your best girl and treat her to a nice cup of tea, the kind the good ladies of St. Joseph's are in the habit of giving. You will be surprised at the price they will ask.—jue28,31

Nfld. Nurse Graduates.

The Omnica (British Columbia) Herald of June 11, contains a description of the Graduating exercises at Hazelton Hospital, among the graduates being Miss Eva Martin, daughter of Mr. Arthur W. Martin of the General Post Office, this city. Miss Martin had the distinction of winning the highest marks of any nurse graduating from that institution. Miss Martin is now visiting friends in Vancouver, B.C., before returning home, and takes with her the best wishes of all the people of the district in which the hospital is situated. Says the Herald:—

On Friday evening graduating exercises were held in St. Andrew's Hall, Hazelton, and the place was filled to capacity with admiring friends of the young lady. The hall was prettily decorated with cut flowers and an excellent musical programme was rendered.

Dr. Whinch occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks referred to the excellent qualities of Miss Martin as a nurse and as a young lady. She was to be particularly admired for her courage in completing her course after having to give it up for two years when only partly through, in order to do Missionary work at Kildip when influenza was epidemic among the Indians.

During the evening a letter was read to Miss Martin with the signatures of many friends who expressed their appreciation of her as a nurse. The diploma was presented by R. S. Sargent, and the nurse's pin by Mrs. Hogan. Little Misses Sargent and Wattie presented her with a beautiful bouquet of cut flowers.

Refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

Remember the day, Thursday, July 1st. Remember the place, Rennie's Field; and the committee in charge won't let you forget the good time they have in store for you.—jue28,31

Auction Sale Well Attended.

A crowd of bidders attended the Auction Sale of Unclaimed Goods, held at Harvey & Co's store by Messrs. Dowden & Edwards to-day. Bidding was brisk and several packages of what the general auctioneer called surprise packages, fetched fancy prices. A keg containing liquid was eagerly bid for, but when examined, to ascertain its contents, and found to be—only varnish stain—some of the eager ones were disappointed. A glass case carriage or brougham, of the Victorian days, was purchased by a well known gentleman.

DIAMOND DUST

Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

Contributions to this column are solicited, and need not necessarily be signed—for if its good we'll use it gladly.

Thanks J.M.T. for the "Babe Ruth" number of the Baseball Magazine! You are evidently a great follower of Babe's, but will it interest you to know that Ping Bodie in one season on the coast had 30 home runs to his credit—thus nosing out Babe's record of last year by one run. In five years Bodie has poked out 58 home runs—which makes him King of Swat.

That's going to be some game tomorrow night when the Lions and Irish clash. The famous new Hiltz battery—Robertson and "Coke" Cahill—will make their appearance, and Robbie promises to make the slugging Irishmen look like thirty cents. However, Manager Channing reminds the fans that there's many a slip, etc.

Thursday being a whole holiday, two League fixtures will be played. In the morning at 10.30 the Cubs and C.E.I. will cross swords. The afternoon will be occupied by the Boy Scout Sports, and at 7 o'clock sharp the Wanderers will try conclusions with the Red Lions.

BASEBALL PREDICTIONS

By Sheza Blair, Astrologess to the Court of Nisam.

The Cubs will positively win the flag this year, unless defeated. Victory will remain with the Lions unless passed by the Irish, Harvey crew, or the Hall gang.

Jersey Churchill will realize his dream of leading the League batsmen if Dan Kiely loses an arm.

Lal Thistle will hit a home run if the other pitchers do not fool him.

This year's Inter-Town games will be won by the team getting the largest number of runs in the most games.

Forest Fire Threatened Settlement.

Yesterday forenoon a forest fire started near the homestead of Mr. P. O'Brien, Outer Cove Road, and spreading quickly threatened to destroy the settlement, with its church and presbytery. Some hundreds of workers with axes soon gathered, and started to cut fire breaks, while others helped to beat out the blaze with bushes. After a hard fight the flames were subdued, but not before a fine stretch of timber was destroyed. The turf kept smouldering for some hours, and men, women and children were kept busy bringing water to extinguish it. Watchers were kept on duty all night fearing a further outbreak. Rev. Father O'Callaghan was early on the scene and directed his parishioners. Great assistance was rendered by the people from Logy Bay and other places. It is not known how the fire originated, but it may probably have been through carelessness. As it is the people are thankful that their homes were not destroyed.

- 1.00 p.m.—(1) Troops and War Veterans move to saluting point and on to Government House to return colours, thence to Prince's Rink for dismissal; (2) Brigades move to respective headquarters for dismissal.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS AND OTHERS.

Arrangements are being made to have the soldier patients motored to Bannerman Park by 11 a.m., while the Great War Veterans' Association have undertaken to look after the disabled who are living in private houses.

THE SHRINE.

A very simple shrine, consisting of a pyramid surmounted by a cross, will be erected in the centre of the lower portion of the Park and enclosed by a ring, within which accommodation will be provided for the sick and wounded, the wreath-bearers and the firing party. The outside of the ring is reserved as follows: The Eastern portion for His Excellency the Governor and Party and holders of Red Tickets; the Southern for School Children, who will number some four or five thousand; the Western for next-of-kin who hold white tickets; the Northern for Troops, War Veterans, Nurses, etc., and Brigades.

WREATH-BEARERS.

On arrival in the Park, will those ladies and gentlemen who have been asked to bring wreaths kindly report to Capt. C. B. Dicks for instruction?

Owing to the lack of space and time the general public are requested not to place their floral tributes on the monument until after the ceremony is over.

THE COLOURS.

Citizens are asked to remember what the Colours of the Regiment represent and to pay them all the honour and respect which are due them.

ENTRANCE.

- All who attend the ceremony in the Park will please make use of the various gates as detailed below, and so avoid confusion.
- 11.30 a.m.—The two lower gates on Rennie's Mill Road will be opened for the School Children.
- 11.45 a.m.—The large centre gate on Bannerman Road will be used by the Hospital Patients.
- 12.00 noon—(a) The next-of-kin (Holders of White Tickets), enter by the gate opposite Lady Whiteway's House on Rennie's Mill Road; (b) the holders of Red Tickets enter by the small gate on Bannerman Road, in rear of Colonial Building.
- 12.10 p.m.—Troops, War Veterans, V. A. D.'s, Nurses, Brigades, move into the Park by main gate on Bannerman Rd.
- 12.15 p.m.—The two gates on Circular Road are thrown open to the general public.
- 12.20 p.m.—His Excellency the Governor and Party arrive at the main gate on Bannerman Road.
- Sign posts will be placed at each gate and in the various enclosures.
- N.B.—Is it too much to ask all those who daily seek pleasure in the Park, to show respect for the Glorious Dead, by leaving the Shrine and the Tributes untouched?
- GEORGE T. CARTY, Lieut.-Colonel, Chairman.

Rent Roll of 150,000 Pounds a Year.

The fourth Duke of Sutherland, who died in the early hours of June 27, 1913, had almost fabulous possessions in titles, palaces and rent roll. He owned 1,258,600 acres, and during his dukedom his residences included Stafford House, St. James's, Trentham Hall, Staffordshire, Tintons Chase, Stoke-on-Trent, Lilleshall House, Newport, Shropshire, Dunrobin Castle and House of Tongue, Sutherland, N.B. The unexpired lease of twenty-eight years on Stafford House was recently purchased in 1918 by Sir William Lever and presented to the nation. The Duke offered Trentham Hall to the Stoke-on-Trent Council, but it was refused and was subsequently sold to contractors for demolition. He was the largest landowner in the United Kingdom. In Sutherlandshire alone he owned a million acres, and it is said, that from the ducal seat, Dunrobin Castle, he could walk in a straight line for fifty miles without leaving his own property. This vast Highland estate was obtained by Hugh de Friskin in the twelfth century. The first Earl of Sutherland was created in 1223, with the additional title of Baron Strathnaver. A baronetcy was added in 1620. In 1764 the title of Earl Gower and Viscount Trentham, in 1786 the Marquisate of Staffordshire, and in 1833 the Dukedom of Sutherland. The record of the Earls and Dukes of Sutherland is bound up in the history of Scotland. They were mixed up in all the great centuries from the thirteenth to the nineteenth, were reputed to be handsome men, and the mistresses of Dunrobin have been beautiful women. The Earls of Sutherland claimed descent from the Kings of Scotland. One fought at Bannockburn. The fourth Earl lost his life at Haldon Hill, and the tenth Earl was poisoned by Isabel Sinclair, who wished to destroy the whole of the family, so that her heirs might inherit the titles and estates. But the heir was saved from his father's fate, and the son of the murderer himself drank of the poison and died. The late Duke was 62 years of age, and from 1874 to 1886 sat as Liberal M.P. for Sutherland. In his later years, however, he opposed Liberal legislation. He purchased large tracts of land in Canada to give his fellow-countrymen a chance of doing what they would never be able to do at home. The splendour in which the Sutherlands have lived and entertained has become proverbial. Once when Queen Victoria paid a Duchess of Sutherland the compliment of visiting her at Stafford House, the Queen remarked, "I come from my house to your palace."

Patrick McGrath Gives Testimony About Tanlac

Says It Relieved Him of Eight Years of Stomach Trouble and He Feels Fine Now.

"Tanlac has made a strong, healthy man of me when nothing else so helped me," was the emphatic statement made by Patrick McGrath, of Colliers, Conception Bay, Newfoundland. Mr. McGrath is a well known carpenter and has been all over the United States, Central America, South America, and worked on the Panama Canal.

"I tried every kind of medicine I ever heard of," said Mr. McGrath, "and spent a good sized fortune on my stomach but got no relief at all until I took Tanlac. For eight years I suffered from a bad case of chronic indigestion and no matter what I ate it caused me to bloat up with sour gas which pressed up around my heart making it beat very irregular, and at times it seemed to stop altogether. Sometimes I was so overcome with shortness of breath that I thought I was going to smother, and at nights I couldn't go to sleep for hours. In the mornings I was as pained as if I hadn't gone to bed at all, and I had such little energy that I just had to force myself to work."

"I read in the papers here about the person who had suffered for nineteen years and found relief in Tanlac and it was so sincere that I made up my mind right there to try it, and I'm mighty glad I did for it has simply done me a world of good. Why, it has only taken four bottles to make me feel like a new person entirely, and I can now eat anything I want and am never bothered with indigestion. I go to sleep just as soon as I get in bed and sleep good and sound all night long, and in the mornings I feel just as fine as anyone, and find real pleasure in my work. Tanlac has given me health and strength, and I'm so strong for the medicine that I simply give it my unqualified endorsement."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, by Rev. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle.—adv.

greatly distinguished himself and laid the foundation of future staff appointments; thence once more to the wild, magnificent, semi-Oriental Caucasus as a lieutenant in the dragon regiment which bears the name of Tver, an ancient town on the railway between Moscow and Petrograd.

As a subaltern in the wild country of the Caucasus, Brusiloff had a heart for every adventure, but most of all perhaps, loved the wild and rather perilous boar and bear hunts in the mountain forests which are a part of the regular training of the officers and men stationed there. Alexei Brusiloff earned a reputation as one of the best riders in that whole region, whether after hounds or in regimental steeplechases.

His advancement in the army was steady, and when the war came he was given an important command. One of his last achievements was the great drive against Austria at the southern end of the Russian front. The Austrians were smashed and rolled back, and at one time it looked as if Austria proper would be invaded and Vienna threatened.

But then came the collapse through no fault of Brusiloff. Bolshevism was already beginning to eat the heart out of Russia. Munitions were not forthcoming, and just when the Russian general seemed about to give Austria a knockdown blow, Brusiloff had to stay his hand and retreat. The break up soon followed and in the turmoil of revolution Brusiloff disappeared, so far as the outside world was concerned.

Just Condemnation.

OPEN LETTER TO G.W.V.A.
 Newfoundland Continent,
 53 Victoria Street,
 London, S.W. 1.

The Secretary,
 Great War Veterans' Assn.,
 St. John's, Newfoundland.

Dear Sir—I wish you would have the enclosed letter published in the press for me as the best manner of getting in touch with all the members of the Association.

Thanking you in anticipation,
 Yours sincerely,
 (Sgd.) T. NANGLE,
 C.F. Major.

Newfoundland Continent,
 53 Victoria Street,
 London, S.W. 1

VETERANS OF THE GREAT WAR:

Twelve hundred odd of your comrades are sleeping in the soil of France for a just cause. They helped to win the fight for a great principle and in time the world will reap the fruit of their sacrifice, and in this Newfoundland will participate. But you men who have returned from the strife can also help to fight for other ideals often lost sight of in Newfoundland, and to some of her people I am afraid unknown.

One of those ideals for which I ask you to fight is that no man shall forward his own political, trade, or any other interest at the expense of the denominational good feeling amongst our people, or by making use of the lies we hear our fallen comrades. The combatting of the former evil is too big and has taken too deep a root to handle at this distance; but this new catch-cry is a younger growth, having developed since the War and may be stopped before it grows too deep amongst our politicians and newspaper men.

An article appeared in a St. John's paper, with banner headlines, concerning Wandsworth, which must have caused heart-pangs to the relatives of our comrades, who lie not only in Wandsworth but in others of the great military cemeteries. That did not matter to those to whom political aspiration or sensational newspaper copy was the final objective of their little minds.

You men are scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land. You have had a broader education than those who stayed at home. Your views therefore are bigger and broader. Stick together and set your faces against those who try to keep us in the old narrow ruts.

Last Fall our dead were used for political wrangling. Now again the same thing is being done. Let the G.W.V.A. get together and put a stop to it.

"Those martyrs did not die for chattering daws To loot false inspiration from the grave. While chattering fools turn ghoul to gain applause."

As far as our comrades are concerned you may rest assured that they are safe in my hands, and that everything that can be done to show them proper respect is being done as expeditiously and as thoroughly as possible.

I am, yours sincerely,
 (Sgd.) T. NANGLE,
 C.F. Major.

Once Russia's Hope.

How unreliable is much of the news respecting persons that comes out of Russia is indicated by recent despatches respecting General Brusiloff. It was reported that he had come to the front as a military leader and had obtained such military strength as had enabled him to wrench the supreme power from the hands of the Soviet leaders. The despatches of the following day, however, raised grave doubt as to the truth of the earlier report. It will be remembered that during the early months of Bolshevism it was reported that Brusiloff had been shot by a Bolshevik but not then killed, but that while in his bed at home recovering from his wound, he was murdered by a band of Bolshevists. To couple his name now with a military dictatorship indicates that he is still alive.

Born at Kutais, Alexei Brusiloff went to school in Tiflis, the capital of the Caucasus, thence to one of the Russian military schools, where he

WESLEY CHURCH.

At the Morning Service the Rev. Dr. Fenwick, President of the Conference, as is the time honoured custom, preached in the Conference Church. Associated with him in the rostrum were the Rev. W. Morris, who read the Lessons, and Rev. J. Phillipson, who offered prayer. Before announcing his text the President said he desired to express his grateful thanks to Almighty God that "in 37 years back from this very day, June 27, 1883, when on steamer they entered our Narrows and he entered a Wesleyan Methodist Church on this side the Atlantic—He did not expect to be eminent or great, but he desired to be useful—His prayer was God help me to be useful to my fellow man." But God, and the Methodist Church has honoured Dr. Fenwick in his being elected the second time as President of the Conference, and Superintendent of the Missions in this Dominion. From the text "The disciple is not above his master, nor the servant above his Lord," and from the example of the life work of Jesus Christ, Dr. Fenwick delivered a very able and practical discourse. Looking to him, asking what he would do in the social conditions of life as found the present day to copy his example would be quite proper. Entering into scenes of sorrow, he was sympathetic, though his enemies sought to entangle him. He was patient, his loving spirit would do anything for peace. Though he was not liable and could claim exemption he submitted to pay local taxes. Many further lessons were drawn of the Divine example, some urged it was too high for us; we are not able to follow and live up to it, and sometimes we get hopeless, and abandon the struggle, but to those who "carry on" and try his works to do, he has promised the reward of a good and faithful servant "enter thou into the joy of the Lord." After the sermon, the President said, "It is my privilege to-day for a second time, to conduct the ordination of a Deacon, and Miss Rose Miller, of Birmingham, England, who has been three years serving the Centennial Church, Cochran Street, was called forward, and the Secretary of Conference, Rev. Wm. Morris, rose and said:

Mr. President—I present unto you Miss Miller to be set apart as Deaconess of the Methodist Church.

President—Have you reason to believe her to be fit and qualified by a godly life and by skill and training in womanly ministrations, to discharge the duties of a Deaconess?

Answer—She has given satisfactory evidence during probation, by practical service and by the prosecution of the prescribed studies, of meekness for this calling.

Then the President said to the congregation:

Dearly Beloved,—In the record of the earthly life of our Divine Master we learn that He accepted and honoured the service rendered Him by loving and devout women. In the apostolic age it was the practice of the Church to give employment to the activity of all believers. Notable among their activities was the employment of godly women of suitable gifts as deaconesses or servants of the Church. St. Paul, writing to the Philippians, says, "Help those women which labored with me in the Gospel." He also commends unto the Church at Rome, Phoebe, a deaconess of the Church, which was at Cenchrea. To this honored service this person is now come to be admitted. We have good confidence that she is apt and competent thereto; nevertheless, should there be any of you who know any reason for which it is inexpedient that this person, or any of them, should be so set apart, let it be now declared.

As no impediment was alleged, the President then read, and the candidate responded:

President—The spirit of the Lord is upon me; because the Lord hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound.

Revs. Morris, Howse, Bugden and Phillipson responded: Unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ.

President—Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we Thee an hungered, and fed Thee? or thirsty, and gave Thee drink? When saw we Thee a stranger, and took Thee in? or naked, and clothed Thee? or when saw we Thee sick, or in prison, and came unto Thee?

Response—And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto me of the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me.

Minister and congregation all kneeling, the President said:

Unto Thee lift we up our eyes.

Response by Ministers—O Thou that dwellest in the heavens. President—As the eyes of servants look unto the hand of their masters; Response—And as the eyes of a maiden unto the hand of her mistress; President—Even so our eyes wait upon Thee, O Lord; Response—Until Thou have mercy upon us.

President—Almighty God, our heavenly Father, who didst call Phoebe and other devout women to be the servants of Thy Church, enabling them to minister to Thine Apostles and to many others also, we thank Thee that Thou hast called this, our sister, now being set apart to the office of Deaconess, to undertake the like ministration. We beseech Thee to look graciously upon her at this hour and bless her, anoint her with the spirit of wisdom; clothe her with the spirit of power, and enrich her with all spiritual gifts and graces. Let Thy word appear unto Thy hand-maiden and let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish Thy work of their hands upon her; yes, the work of our hands establish Thou it. Look upon all Thy servants here present in compassion and love, and grant unto them the fullness of Thy salvation, through Jesus Christ our Lord. AMEN.

The candidate then rose and the President said:

DEAR SISTER—We rejoice with you that in the providence of God an open door of usefulness has been found for you in the service of the Church of Christ. In our loving Master's wide vineyard there are manifold forms of labor, and to each disciple some fitting task is assigned. To you is accorded peculiar privileges and opportunities. Released from other cares, you give yourself without reservation, according to the will of God, to the service of the Lord and of His Church, wherever your lot may be cast. Like our blessed Master, you are to go about doing good, ministering, as He did, to the wants of a suffering, sorrowing, and sin-laden world. You are to be an angel of mercy to the poor, to visit the sick, pray for the dying, care for the orphan, seek the wandering, comfort the afflicted, save the sinning, and ever be ready to take up any other duty proper to your calling. Such a ministry confers upon you a great honor, and involves a solemn responsibility. We are persuaded that you have not entered upon it lightly. No doubt, in the sacred stillness of the sanctuary of the heart you have already consecrated yourself to this office and work. What you have done alone with God you are now to do formally and publicly, as the Church sets you apart for your special service in co-operation with your pastor.

Methodist Conference.

SATURDAY MORNING'S SESSION.

The session opened with hymn and prayer. After the reading of the journal various reports were presented. The report of the Sabbath Day Observance Committee provoked a very earnest discussion, and practical suggestions were offered to make the recommendations of the committee effective. The report was passed by the Conference.

The Conference adjourned in the afternoon to attend a reception given by His Excellency, Sir Charles Harris. All the members attending were delighted with the occasion.

Rev. Hugh Pedley, D.D.

At 12 o'clock the Montreal Congregational divine was in his place, and after singing and prayer, took up his theme: "The Smallness and the Greatness of the Preacher's Opportunity." One of the discouraging aspects of his direct contact with the people. He occupies one or two hours weekly in public speech and very far less than that in personal touch. One was almost tempted to ask "Was it worth while?" The speaker then proceeded to enumerate some considerations that mitigate the apparent hopelessness of the situation.

1.—The compactness and power of the truth he proclaims.

In the realm of religion the gauge is not quantity but quality. The necessary truths for constant and continual emphasis were very few. A thing may appear small, but if it be vital it is of vast importance. A little seed, a mighty tree. You may carry a great forest of trees in embryo in a bag upon your back. St. Mark's is but a small gospel, yet how mighty in its influence. He adverted to 2.—The existence of critical moments in a minister's life.

It was time when fundamental importance should be attached to the direction of a force. He gave the following quotation from Victor Hugo: "And these things took place and these things regained their thrones, and the master of Europe was put in a cage, and the old regime became the new, and the light and the shadow of the earth changed places, because on the afternoon of a certain day a peasant boy said to a Prussian in a word, "Go this way and not that." There were the critical situations in life as success or failure. The imminent verge of temptation and the hour of sorrow.

3.—The pervasiveness and continuity of personal influence.

The touch of a personality will often abide when the voice is silent. The speaker paid a great tribute to Norman McLeod, the favourite preacher of Queen Victoria. A biography every preacher should read. His last point was the multiplication of influence. Here he described the great Charles H. Spurgeon going to a service with nothing to say. At the last moment he turned to a gentleman on the platform and told him he was hard up for a subject. His friend gave him the multiplication table. The theme was adequate for the occasion. Spurgeon talked on the increase by addition, division, subtraction, multiplication. The two forms of christian contact were the culminating thoughts of the address: 1. The extensive, coming in contact with the multitudes; 2. The intensive, as the Master himself came in contact with his twelve disciples. The doctor diffused at times in the course of his remarks a degree of pathos that brought smiles and tears. The Congregational friends are indeed happy in having such a preacher to administer to their spiritual needs.

night, all along the journey of life; and may the blessing of God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit be with you, now and evermore. AMEN.

The Doxology and Benediction closed the Morning service.

In the afternoon Wesley and George St. Schools united. Revs. Dr. Burns and Simpson gave splendid addresses, an at night Rev. Mr. Watson, M.A. B. D., delivered a very scholarly and profound exposition of proving that there can be no prayer without religion, nor religion without prayer; but we noticed your Conference Reporter present so will not attempt to supply a synopsis.

mainly fishermen, were now receiving only $3 for fish. He protested against this unnecessary taxation and hoped the Government would even yet reduce it by 50 p.c.

Mr. Walsh followed and in scathing terms denounced the manner in which the estimates were presented, and that they in effect were greasing the fat sow. The placing of two millions extra taxation on the people especially at such a trying time, is directly opposite to the pre-election promises of reduction in taxes and cost of living.

At 1 p.m. the House adjourned till 3 o'clock when Mr. Walsh continued and emphasised the need of developing subsidiary industries. Now is the time to do this when the young men are flocking from our shores to build up other countries. The sum necessary for this is being thrown away in unnecessary salaries and fancy increases. Then, too, the matter of improving the railroad has been totally neglected, and according to Mr. Squires, no legislation in that direction is to be brought down this session. The petitions of 15,000 people for modification of the Prohibition law are also unheeded, though a plebiscite should be granted. Moon-shining and smuggling are rampant. There is widespread complaint, the present law being looked on as class legislation, and if we are to have Prohibition, let us have it, but let the Government stop their running with the hounds policy. Every credit is due to sincere prohibitionists but no condemnation is strong enough for those who make use of the movement for political purposes. Labor matters, employment of children and the prevention of accidents in mines were ably dealt with.

Mr. Fox referred to the bye-election and paid a high tribute to Mr. Pudester as a worker and debater. At Freshwater, Bay-de-Verde, Mr. Scammel stated that the fish regulations were not at issue but all he (Mr. Fox) had heard everywhere was talk of the regulations, and he drew the attention of Mr. Coaker to the lower end of the district where they are strongly opposed and everything is upset. The Government press lied in stating the Opposition had endorsed the regulations, as when they were brought down they had made every effort to alter and modify them, but Mr. Coaker said he was going to pass them in spite of everything. Dealing with the estimates he felt it unjust to saddle the people with such extra taxation when the outlook at present is anything but good. He strongly condemned the raising of members' salaries while some people are without a crust and the voting of money to those in the Upper House while the soldiers and widows are neglected. In the civil service rewards were given on the basis of political usefulness, and those who were even suspected of using their opinions against the Government were thrown out or otherwise penalized. Dealing with taxation he said, it takes 4 quintals of fish to buy a barrel of flour and half a quintal to buy a gallon of molasses and yet two millions extra taxation is put on. The Government press came out with scare headlines about saving $50,000 on salt, but that must be paid with the taxes wrung from the fishermen themselves, who use the salt. A deliberate attempt to bluff them. Soldiers are told there is no money to meet their demands. What of all the glowing promises to them? Members get $1,000 for visiting the House and voting as directed and Old Age Pensioners get $50. Auditors who could get no proofs of all of the charges of graft against the late Government, will cost us about $20,000, but there is not a cent for a reformatory while children guilty of trivial offences are being turned into criminals every day. Nothing is out yet for coast protection and as to hospitals, the vote for the one at Hr. Grace is reduced.

Mr. J. R. Bennett reviewing the history of the Civil Service commission which was really intended to regulate and improve the salary of the small man, said conditions today are not rosy for the future and with the price of our staple product decreasing while the cost of living is steadily going up, bankruptcy is not far off. This is no time to ask the people for two millions extra in taxes, and the reform government should live up to their name and reduce taxation as promised.

In answer to Sir M. P. Cashin, Mr. Coaker stated the price of salt is $5.00 per hoghead and the Government is to pay the difference over that. The salt is costing about $6.00.

At 5.45 the House adjourned till 10.30 Saturday morning.

Mr. J. R. Bennett reviewing the history of the Civil Service commission which was really intended to regulate and improve the salary of the small man, said conditions today are not rosy for the future and with the price of our staple product decreasing while the cost of living is steadily going up, bankruptcy is not far off. ### Third in Hospital Exams.

It is pleasing to learn that Miss Ada Leslie, daughter of Mr. H. Leslie, Whitbourne, has finished her second year's examinations with great success, coming third in a class of fifty nurses. Miss Leslie is studying nursing at the Roosevelt Hospital, New York. Before going to America she spent some time at Jensen Camp looking after the sick soldiers there. We congratulate her and also her parents on her brilliant work.

House of Assembly.

Friday, June 25th.
When the House resumed its session Friday afternoon, Mr. Higgins (Opposition), resumed his criticism of the estimates pointing out that the giving of $250 each to the members of the Upper House is one of the things which is responsible for the unrest so general amongst the people. Regarding the matter of the modification of the Prohibition Act, he thought that it would do no discredit to the Government if they would deal with the matter at once.

Mr. Warren, for the Government, in replying to Mr. Higgins, stated that by adjourning the House from Tuesday to Friday last he did not accept the arguments of the Opposition against the estimates. Here the service is small, the Minister can keep track of civil servants, and it has been the practice to answer questions. In Canada, for instance, the minister cannot keep track of all the civil servants nor give consideration to all the details of the departments.

Mr. Higgins—Is the Government practicing for next year?
Mr. Warren—In other countries supply is brought in without explanation.

Mr. Higgins—We are not dealing with other countries. The suggestion of comparing the presentation of the estimates here with the same in Canada is ridiculous. The estimates are always criticized by us, as we are really the auditors on behalf of the people. Who can say whether the votes are right or wrong. It has been claimed they are based on the commission's report, but I will prove differently.

Mr. Brownrigg—Some votes are based on the report.

Mr. Higgins—That makes the position far worse and indicates the report is only followed in some instances. Why not in others? As to the Minister of Justice not admitting our stand, I am disappointed. The Government takes the position that all precedent be departed from, but good Finance Ministers in the past gave their reasons for the increases in the votes.

Mr. Warren—I can answer all questions as to my department.
Mr. Vinicombe—The estimates were always presented with explanations. After all the pre-election charges we have not been proven robbers, but the estimates show you are making a bold stroke for the money yourselves. Why was one man in the Board of Works Dept. reduced from $1,200 to $720?

Mr. Jennings—I will reply when we come to it.

Mr. Vinicombe—The Inspector General gets increased to $3,500 and Supt. Grimes, after 40 years' service gets $1,500. The former is only a novice compared to him. That's reform all right. There are also ten constables at $3,312.50, but this year they get $7,600. Is that a mistake?

Mr. Warren—That will be explained.

Mr. Vinicombe—It will want some explaining like a good many things. I hope the Finance Minister will explain the huge taxes, as he refused to do before.

Mr. Brownrigg—It's unwise of the Opposition to be criticizing our work.

Mr. Higgins—Our main criticism is against how the increases are made up. The Minister admits grave mistakes in some figures. We are trying to get particulars. The Justice and Education votes are new and we had nothing to do with them.

Mr. J. R. Bennett reviewing the history of the Civil Service commission which was really intended to regulate and improve the salary of the small man, said conditions today are not rosy for the future and with the price of our staple product decreasing while the cost of living is steadily going up, bankruptcy is not far off. This is no time to ask the people for two millions extra in taxes, and the reform government should live up to their name and reduce taxation as promised.

In answer to Sir M. P. Cashin, Mr. Coaker stated the price of salt is $5.00 per hoghead and the Government is to pay the difference over that. The salt is costing about $6.00.

At 5.45 the House adjourned till 10.30 Saturday morning.

Saturday, June 26th.

The House met at 10.30 a.m. Mr. Sianott (Opposition) opened the debate on the estimates. He criticized the Government for levying an extra two million dollars' taxation on an already overburdened country, who,
