GOV. SULZER MAY BE OUSTED AS RESULT OF REVELATIONS REGARDING FOREIGN FUNDS

Investigations Show That Contributions Far Exceeded Total Sworn to by Governor and That His Personal Bank Account Grew Largely—Dabbled in Railroad Stock Speculation.

(Special to The Toronto World.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Gov. William Sulzer may be impeached at an early date.
The governor and his opponents in the Democratic ranks of the state legislature have been at war for months. Recently the legislature named a committee to investigate the governor. At present it is revealing astounding things in connection with the funds contributed to elect Sulzer governor. Under oath he reported, as the law requires, that $5460 was the aggregate of contributions. The committee is showing contributions far in excess of this, none of which was reported, and in addition, Sulzer's bank account grew more than $30,000 during the campaign. It is asserted by members of this committee that the funds raised by the governor was nearly $75,000.

Removal in Prospect.
The committee is investigating of Sulzer's alleged stock gambling undertakings and hidden campaign contributions has reached a point where only two or three further hearings will be needed to prove official as well as moral obliquity. The investigating committee is on the eve of formulating plans for the removal of Mr. Sulzer from office. Whether the committee will recommend the governor's removal or seek his removal through the agency of indictment and criminal prosecution is a question hinging on developments at a hearing to be held tomorrow morning, and possible final committee sessions in Albany next week.

Events Moved Quickly.
The sudden, though not unexpected, determination to "get quick action," as Councilman Richards expressed it, followed today's hearing.
The one big and highly essential development of today was the frank admission of Philip Boyer of the defunct brokerage firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co., that the campaign cheque book given by Gov. Sulzer to John Lynn of New York was thru his former brokerage house and was deposited by the firm on Oct. 11, 1912.

Heroic Rescue at Underway Bay
Frank Clark Saved From Drowning by Two Humber Bay Residents.

Heroic work on the part of Thomas J. D. Cox and Edward Taverner, two residents of Humber Bay, resulted in the rescue of Frank Clark, aged 10, of 12 Thompson street, Swansea, being rescued from the Humber River late yesterday afternoon.
Clark was lying at the mouth of the river, near the Parkdale Canoe Club-house, when he came under the water and when he came up had lost all sense of direction. He started to swim out in the direction of the shore, but his little fellow started to drown and he was rescued by the two men who worked over Clark and restored him.

SEEKING TO SAVE FRIENDS, YOUTHS IS DROWNED

Responding to Call From Sinking Girls, Wm. Thompson Went to Certain Death in Coatsworth's Cut—Gallant Work by Walter Rubidge.

One more fatality was added to the long list of drownings which have occurred in Toronto waters this summer when yesterday morning William C. Thompson, 18 years, 122 Dovercourt road, in a brave attempt to assist two young girl friends, Violet and Mabel Bell, 31 Jameson avenue, sank to his death in fifteen feet of water within a stone's throw of the east pier in Coatsworth Cut. The tragedy came within an ace of being a triple one. The fact that it was not was solely due to the gallantry of Walter Rubidge, Thompson's companion, who, after being taken down the water, dragged down twice by Violet Bell, succeeded in saving both her and her sister. It was a near escape, though, for after being taken down the water, he worked over Violet for five hours before she regained consciousness.

German industrial authorities almost to a man have declined to exhibit on account of the cost and also because of the American tariff which would make it impossible to extend German trade on the Pacific coast. The government's decision has not yet been forwarded to the United States Government."

Canadian Northern Said to Be Negotiating For Acquisition of Gooderham and Worts' Property on Trinity Street—Plan to Remove to Oshawa Rumored.

It is rumored that the Canadian Northern Railway is conducting negotiations with Gooderham & Worts, Limited, for the purchase of their big distillery property, 2-16 Trinity street, near the Esplanade, to permit extension of the railway's freight yards, and that if the deal goes thru Gooderham & Worts, Limited, will remove their distillery to Oshawa. The distillery, which is somewhat of a local landmark, represents a large investment, and if it is removed to Oshawa a substantial industry will be lost to Toronto.

SCHOONER WITH CREW OF SEVEN IS TOWED INTO CITY HARBOR
Late last night the coal schooner, The Kitchen, sprung a leak when about ten miles out in the lake, southeast of Ward's Island and started to sink. The captain of the schooner, including officers, immediately set to work with the hand pumps and every inch of power at his disposal. The life-saving crew picked up the schooner about a mile and a half off the island and drew up alongside of her. The captain reported that the vessel was leaking badly and had only about two feet of water in the hold. The crew were asked if they would leave the ship and get in the lifeboat, but replied that they would stick to the schooner until she sank.

Hot Weather Questions

My little four-year-old girl has frequent attacks of vomiting in hot weather. At such times, she seems very thirsty but cannot keep even water on her stomach.

What summer fruits may be given to a two-year-old? He may have a small piece of ripe pear or peach; but even while I tell you this I think it much safer to give no uncooked fruit to a child under four.

What suggestions can you give for the amusement of two children, four and six, during a long train journey? Take sheets of paper, animals, dolls and soldiers, and two pairs of blunt-pointed scissors, so that the children may cut out the pictures.

A set of colored crayons and some old magazines will furnish amusement for some time; and if you are not too tired yourself, the reading or telling of a story never fails to interest the little listeners.

Take a bottle of boiled water and have it kept in a cool place. The children are sure to get restless with the water in the cooler.

I have never seen anything in the nursery column regarding vaccination. Do you ever see it, and if so, how should the arm be cared for?

I surely do advise vaccination by a reliable physician; and afterwards allow the arm to dry thoroughly, then put a sterile bandage. Keep the bandage on for four days, then remove it and apply a fresh one.

There was a gay assemblage at the clubhouse of the Vancouver Rowing Club watching with much enthusiasm in honor of the visit of H. M. S. New Zealand. Tea was served from tables brightly adorned with red and white sweet peas over which Mrs. R. P. Woodward presided.

The engagement has been announced in Vancouver of Miss Muriel Vivian Merritt, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Merritt, Shaughnessy Heights, to Mr. William Garnet Anderson, Kempville, Ont. The marriage will take place Aug. 27 in Holy Trinity Church.

KEW BEACH IS ONE OF TORONTO'S MOST ATTRACTIVE BEAUTY SPOTS

Fathers, Mothers and Little Children Enjoy Picnics in Well-Shaded Gardens, While Hundreds of Water Lovers Disport Themselves in the Rolling Lake Breakers.

A man who had lately returned to Toronto after a long trip around the world, was asked by a friend what was the prettiest spot he had seen and he promptly answered "Kew Beach." The fact that the man who asked the question was host to the one who answered, and that the hospitable home was situated on the beach at Kew Beach, is a fact.

Next to it is "Barney Castle," its turrets peeping thru a waving screen of foliage. Hard by are the cottages of W. T. Kernahan, Nell Smith, whose son is soon to receive the Humane Society's medal for life-saving, the Turnbulls, Lorimers, the MacLeans, W. E. Blake, and dozens of others. In fact, all available land for cottages is taken.

The people of the beach are very proud of their young hero, Nell. The World heard about him from more than one source. He is a member of a family of thirteen living children, and has the saving of four lives to his credit. He is a member of the De La Salle Cadet Corps, in which he holds a commission.

Baseball and tennis, a clubhouse in which are dances and socials, including a weekly hop for the little ones, are among the other attractions of Kew Beach. Tho the crowds of visitors prove that the place is known, it is undoubtedly many more who might profit by its situation, for it is truly a bit of beneficence lying side by side with the bustling business of city life.

THE GARDEN SERIAL STORY

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

From Farm to Kitchen

THE home hamper idea is one of the most practical schemes that have been tried for getting farm produce into the homes of city dwellers without help from the middleman.

It originated with a member of the Housewives' League who, disgusted with the high prices asked by green grocers for indifferently fresh fruits and vegetables, arranged with a farmer friend to send her country produce to her by express.

The idea has grown until now many market gardeners are disposing of their goods in this way.

The farmers pack goods in season in hampers and send them to their customers direct, at a flat rate by the year. The price of a dollar and a half a week for enough fruit and vegetables for a family of four has put the home hamper in the reach of the middle class housekeeper and still leaves a profit for the farmer.

When a larger quantity of food is wanted, or a greater variety, special arrangements are made, so any enterprising farmer can work up a fine trade with little effort.

A hamper used by a woman farmer, who has made a great success of the farm to kitchen idea, is a large crate with divisions arranged to form tiers. When this is packed the heavy vegetables like potatoes, beets and cabbage are put in first, on the next shelf are placed radishes, green onions, lettuce and cucumbers and then the fruit and any delicate stuff.

These crates are lined with fresh sanitary parchment paper, which not only insures cleanliness in transportation, but prevents the moisture of the farm produce from evaporating and keeps out dry heat or extreme cold.

Of course the contents of the hamper varies with the season—in winter apple butter, mince meat, maple syrup, cooked pumpkin for pies, country sausage and winter vegetables take the place of autumn fruits and vegetables.

Any enterprising woman with farm produce to draw from need never be in need of money and if her farm includes a dairy, so much the better for her.

The pleasure of city housewives in getting a basket containing rolls of freshly churned country butter, pats of cottage cheese, a jar of real cream, a dozen or two of new laid eggs and a bunch of cress or mint can only be realized by those women who have been forced to pay exorbitant prices for renovated or "made over" dairy products.

THE PERENNIAL PHLOX

The tall slender stalks of the perennial phlox plants are just now coming into bloom. Indeed, some of the earlier varieties have been opening out their five-petaled, long-tubed blossoms for some days. In a week or ten days, the whole array of heads will be heading under their mass of blossoms. The thin lance-like stem seems hardly strong enough to bear more than the crop of narrow sword-shaped leaves. It seems a pity that such gorgeous blooms should be so utterly deficient in fragrance, other than that very slight scarce-detected odor of clean green leaves and fresh blossoming. The place for all these tall-growing perennials is either in double lines at the back of your herbaceous borders.

or in clumps to enlighten dark corners. These plants need a little support, especially where the heads are usually large. The best support that can be given to them, is the support, either of other plants placed in front of them, or the support of themselves as they grow in groups.

I know no other perennials that give such luxuriant returns for such little labor. With the sun at amount of care your phlox will continue to flower year after year, the roots increasing in health and vigor and size, enabling you to increase your stock by division of root each spring.

This is a matter that should never be neglected—the dividing of your roots up into the smallest imaginable pieces, (and it is no easy matter, often to break up the roots, on account of their knotty nature,) every single piece of which will grow and in most cases, if the new root has not been broken off too small, it will send up a stalk that will produce a flower head.

The second year after this minute dividing, you will have some fine flower heads. Two-year-old trusses are always the largest, the following year the heads deteriorating very much in size. This dividing and transplanting is practically the only thing difficult in phlox culture—and who can say that it is a hard thing to do?

The best plan to have a continued succession of large sized trusses, is to have a succession of freshly divided roots. The best way to procure your stock is to buy good one year old roots, named, from reliable dealers, as the seedlings do not always come true. In fact, one often will get rather weird results from seeds, that is, if any results are obtained at all.

Have your soil as rich and as well-drained as possible. Have a sunny situation. Phlox will not do as well in heavy ground, on an airless corner. Remember, a corner, need not be airless, just because it is a corner. Nor need a bed on the north side of a high close board fence be damp and non-flower producing because of its situation. But these are questions for discussion elsewhere.

Plenty of winter protection, moist mulching in spring, and abundance of sun and air, will give an amazing richness of coloring. An occasional watering with liquid manure is a miracle worker in the hot season.

The reliable roots are easily obtained. But be sure to buy named varieties. The following are some old well-tried colors, sure to give plenty of bloom.

Belvidere, is a deep salmon pink, blooming early in July, and half way thru August. Coquelicot is a wonderful fiery red, like a glowing flame, that will brighten your garden. Mrs. Jenkins is snow white, early in July and Ströbelin is an early orange variety.

HARVEST SHOE SALE.

Harvest has begun and no store holds more interest to the people of Canada. To the farmer it means everything and his solicitude is shared by every section of the community and especially by the great distributing centres. Toronto knows the value of a good harvest and the city will also not fail to recognize and realize the advantage of the harvest shoe sale now being carried on by A. Levy, 265 Yonge street.

During this month A. Levy believes his store will be the busiest in Toronto. His reason is that the price cuts made have never been equalled and they include all varieties of boots, shoes and slippers for men, women and children. Those of the public who are from Missouri need only go and inspect his window display to be convinced that in the Right Form Shoe Store they have an unparalleled opportunity. Yesterday all the members of the Tiny Town Company visited A. Levy's store in a body and were fitted from his exclusive and varied stock.

A PRETTY FROCK OF SILK AND LACE

THE belted blouse or coatee effect is to be noted on many of the newest and smartest frocks. This one is unusually charming. It is essentially youthful in all its lines yet it is dainty and dressy enough to be worn to the mid-summer dance. A great advantage is the real simplicity of the design and the fact that the dress can be quickly and readily made.

Design by May Manton. 7423 Costume for Misses and Small Women, 16 and 18 years.

blouse and peplum, 1 1/2 yard of chiffon for the chemise, 3 1/4 yards of edging, 1 1/2 yards 27, 36 or 44 for the upper portion of the skirt and 1 1/4 yards 27 or 36 or 44 inches wide for the lower portion, 1 1/2 yards of lace 8 inches wide for the trimming.

Schools for Negroes

The U. S. Bureau of Education in co-operation with the Phelps-Stokes Fund is now making a comprehensive study of the private and higher schools for colored people. This study is undertaken in response to numerous and insistent demands for knowledge of these schools, the number of which is constantly increasing.

Thoughtful people of the south and of the north, white and colored, are more and more puzzled as to the merits and demerits of the many appeals for money and sympathy in behalf of all sorts and conditions of institutions for the improvement of negroes. Letters from state superintendents of education in the south, emphasize the need of a complete survey of the whole field. At a recent conference of the representatives of some of these schools held in New York, it was the opinion that there is much duplication of educational effort in some sections, but in other sections, in many other sections. Every educational board interested in the colored people, and almost every individual who contributes to this cause, calling for information. After considerable discussion of this need, Dr. J. H. Dillard, secretary of the Slater Board, and other representatives of the "Conference for Education in the South," it was decided to appeal to

"And I say the kid's quit baseball for good," declared the veteran mackerel emphatically. "What do you think about it, Gruchio?" he asked, turning to Hamil.

That puts me in mind of something that happened on the first trip here, replied the gloomy pitcher. "I, a guy comes around to the hotel one night and gets himself introduced to me, and then asks me to go for a ride with him in his speed wagon. He takes me out a ways and all of a sudden he starts to knock Gordon Kelly, and winds up by offering me a thousand bones if I would beat up the kid. 'What do you know about that?'"

"What was the guy's name?" demanded Long Tom.

"I never did catch the guy's name, but he was one of them rich young fellows, to judge by his looks. Other than that, I don't remember. But I do remember the number on his automobile."

"What was it?" cried Long Tom, fiercely.

"It was '50,000 Ga.," replied Hamil.

"The tale created a profound impression on the mind of Long Tom. He was a man of human nature, and he immediately began to connect the owner of Car No. 50,000 Ga. with the disappearance of Gordon Kelly, the man to do the unenviable job that told him unerringly as a catcher when a base-runner would try to steal second base, the case of the automobile and Gordon Kelly. He reasoned that a man who would stoop to hit a fellow man for a few dollars, would stoop to do almost anything. He absorbed in the problem that when he went out on the third base coaching lines he forgot all the same as he was a catcher, and he went on a three-base drive when he had a chance in the upper of scoring. For this piece of stupidity he was laid out by Bill Smith and sent in disgrace to the bench, where the remainder of the game he brooded over the story told him by Hamil.

Long Tom Gets Busy.

After the game Long Tom changed his uniform, threw his clothes and started down town on a street car. On the car he met Whitting. The Georgian's baseball cap was on his head, and he was looking at Long Tom with a peculiar expression.

"Hello, Percy," he said, halting the newspaper man. "You know something about automobiles, don't you?"

"That's my middle name, Tom," replied Whitting. "What do you want to do with your rig?"

"I want to know if you know if there's any way of finding out the owner of a car by the number on the machine?"

"Sure. If you're in a hurry about it, come with me to the office, and I'll find out for you right now."

"I'll go with you," said Long Tom. "By the way, did you write that account about Gordon Kelly being seen up in the moon, and then disappearing at the time the cyclone hit the city?"

"No," Farnsworth wrote that. He went up there and dug up the facts."

"I expect he is. What have you on your mind?"

"Oh, nothing much. Just an idea, that's all," replied Long Tom.

At the Georgian office Farnsworth shook hands with the visitor, while Whitting looked in his desk for a list of automobile owners and the numbers of their cars.

Owned by Forrest Cain.

"Here you are, Tom," said Whitting. "Car No. 50,000 is owned by Forrest Cain."

"Who is he?" demanded the ball player.

"He's a young man about town with nothing but," replied Farnsworth. "I don't know much about him, but he has something to eat with me. I got an idea, and maybe there's something in it for you," said Long Tom. "Much obliged, Percy," he added. "See you later."

When Long Tom and Farnsworth were seated at a table, the veteran catcher reported the story told him by Hamil, after which he reasoned things out so clearly to the newspaper man that Farnsworth became convinced that there was a good deal to Morrisey's theory.

There were two reasons why Long Tom's line of argument appeared to the newspaper man. In the first place, he saw the ingredients of another bang-up story for The Georgian, and in the second place Atlanta happened to be in sufficient heat just at that time, and Farnsworth was casting about for an excuse to get away from the office for a brief period.

Farnsworth sat in the evening learning all there was to learn about Forrest Cain, and then laid wires to get covered up the movements of that person. His method of procedure was to get in touch with Whiskey, not the alcoholic beverage, but the colored man employed by the Atlanta Baseball Club. Whiskey, being a somewhat important personage among his coteries, fixed things up so that Farnsworth, thru devious channels, got the name of the colored man who owned Cain, would receive daily reports of his whereabouts, and in addition he would be informed whenever Cain was to leave town. Then, having arranged things at his office, he by back and waited for something to break.

On Cain's Trail.

Farnsworth had not long to wait. Four days after he set out to run down the Forrest Cain he received word that his underground route that the man under suspicion would leave town next morning by an early train, destination unknown.

Farnsworth sat in a taxicab stationed within 100 feet of Cain's home from 6 until 8.30 o'clock on the following morning, before Cain issued forth without bag, cat, baggage, and jumping into his car, which had been sent around from the garage, was driven to the depot.

The newspaper man followed along behind, but was not quick enough to reach the ticket office in time to learn Cain's destination. He trailed his man into a passenger coach and dropped into a seat ten feet behind him.

The train started, and the conductor being his pilgrimage to collect fares. Not knowing where he was going, Farnsworth said "cash" here from station to station, and before long he had a pocket full of rebate slips. They traveled several hours before Cain made a move. Then he alighted at a small place, Farnsworth had never heard of. Just as the train started again the newspaper man jumped off, and lighting a cigar, kept his eyes on his man. He saw Cain go up to a ticket agent who was holding a horse by the bridle. After a few words with him, Cain mounted the animal and rode off up the road. Farnsworth debated a moment with himself and then approached the man who had been holding the horse. He was now leaning against a telegraph pole, with his hands in his pockets.

"Where does that road lead to?" he asked.

"Up over the mountains," replied the man.

"Up over the mountains?" replied the man.

"New Creek."

"New Creek is far from here?"

"About thirty miles, I reckon."

"No other horse."

"I want to get a hired truck and buggy or something to take me over that road. Can you fix me up?"

The native turned his head and spat, after which he looked at Farnsworth and grinned.

"That there horse you seen me give that man is the only doggone horse around here, sub," he said.

To Be Continued.

MONTRÉAL, Aug. 7.—(Can. ### LYNCH MEXICANS FOR MISUSING GIRLS

American Farmers Kill Seventeen Outlaws For Offending Insults.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—(Can. Press.)—Seventeen Mexicans have paid with their lives for mistreating the daughters of Matthew Gourd, an American farmer, near Tampico last Monday. American farmers participated in the execution of the penalty, according to information regarded as reliable received here today.

The Americans, joined by Mexican landowners in the district of Atascador, near Tampico, organized a posse and rode into the hills in search of the band of outlaws who had killed Gourd and robbed him, and afterwards offered indignities to two daughters in the sight of their helpless father. The band was located and defeated in a fight, and several of the members were captured.

The 17 men killed by the posse included those slain in the fighting and those put to death by the vigilantes afterwards.

FINE PRECEPTS BUT NO PRACTICE

The Telegram's hat is vocal once more. After denouncing the proposed annexation of the territory thru which the Forest Hill car line is to run and doing all it could to block the only measure that could prevent the county council granting the franchise, or in the event of the city's objection, to the grant of a franchise, The Telegram now jumps on the county council for doing what it would not permit the city council to prevent. Then it utters the back stairs words of wisdom which could only have been effective in the practice of the annexation policy it opposed.

REDISTRIBUTION NOW OVERDUE

The Montreal Telegraph discusses the rumor that a distribution bill will not be brought down at the coming session of parliament. It is argued that redistribution cannot become effective before the next general election, and that it may therefore be deferred until, as The Telegraph puts it, "the present parliament is on its death-bed."

The World hopes that the rumor is entirely without foundation. Section 51 of the B. N. A. Act, 1867, is preliminary in its requirement of a redistribution as soon as the result of the census is known.

On the completion of the census in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, and of each subsequent decennial census, the representation of the four provinces shall be readjusted.

The language is unmistakable; indeed we do not remember that any government delayed redistribution beyond the first session after the result of the census was known, until the Laurier government set a bad example by redistributing in 1908 instead of 1907. For the present government to shirk its constitutional duty until 1915—and that is what it would mean if redistribution goes over until the session after next—would be indefensible.

We are less concerned with The Telegraph's protest from the Liberal standpoint and its threat of a senatorial veto than we are with the injustice which will be done to that large body of voters in Canada, increasing rapidly in numbers, who may be styled Independents and Progressives. Many of these are settlers from the United Kingdom and the United States, with strong convictions on social and economic questions, which they may deem more important than the fortunes of either political party in Canada.

Such men may combine with others sharing their views to contest some riding or ridings, or the hope of sending to Ottawa a representative who will voice their opinions on social reforms, the railway question, the currency question, or the tariff question. They are entitled to know how the country is divided for purposes of parliamentary representation. The redistribution made by a parliament on its death-bed would be manifestly unfair to such men, and effectively prevent their active and intelligent participation in the general elections.

We believe that redistribution should be made at the first session rather than at the last session of the parliament chosen in the year of the census. At any rate all will admit that the redistribution based upon the census of 1911 is now long overdue, and therefore that further postponement would be unjustifiable.

AUSTRALIAN FARM LOANS. Now that the United States Commission is in process of preparing its report on the rural credit system of Europe it appears that the members might well have included Australia within the scope of their investigation. But as it happens he has been in fact filled by Mr. D. H. Rices, the Dominion Trade Commissioner at Melbourne, who has met numerous enquiries from Canada but forwarded a report on rural credit in Australia, which is published in the current weekly report issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce. From it we learn that all the Australian States have established systems under which financial assistance is rendered to farmers, the funds being generally raised by the state governments thru the issue of insured stocks, mortgage bonds or as investments made by the state savings banks.

The Australian states, however, have not followed any uniform plan the conditions under which loans are granted, and the maximum amounts of the advances made varying very considerably. Thus New South Wales, the mother state of the commonwealth, permits of a maximum loan of $10,000 on a three-fourths valuation, repayable in sixty-two annual instalments of principal and interest. Victoria sanctions a similar amount on a two-thirds valuation, with sixty-three annual payments; Queensland $4,000 on one-half valuation and forty similar instalments; South Australia $25,000 on three-fifths value and fifty instalments; West Australia $3,750 on three-fourths value and fifty instalments, and Tasmania $2,500 on a half value and fifty instalments. The rate of interest is five per cent. in all states except Tasmania, which charges six.

In most states five years' grace is allowed before the instalments of principal begin to be repayable, and although the period of repayment is fixed it may be anticipated by the borrower. The total advances made in all the states up to the end of 1912 were roundly $46,000,000, and the balances then due were about $23,000,000. Net profits for that year amounted to $150,000, and the accumulated profits totaled $1,110,000. Mr. Ross remarks that considering the magnitude of the advances the arrears in principal and interest are infinitesimal, and rarely has recourse been made to the foreclosure of a mortgage. The system has unquestionably been a boon to farmers, graziers, dairymen and other agriculturists. The system was adopted in the commonwealth for the purpose of assisting improvements and developing land resources, and in these respects is analogous to the Credit Foncier of France and the land banks of other continental European countries. Some of the states also sanction advances for the building of homes, the purchase of stock for breeding purposes and the acquisition of necessary machinery and implements.

Victoria, which leads the other states in the number and value of loans granted, established its system in 1896, and had made advances up to June 30, 1912, totaling nearly $15,000,000, while the amount repaid was $8,000,000. On August 27, 1912, only ten farmers were in arrears to the extent of $468. The balance of the loans outstanding was far more than covered, the margin of security being much larger than required by the regulations.

THE JOHN LIND APPOINTMENT. The selection of ex-Governor John Lind of Minnesota as the president's personal representative in Mexico has called forth a storm of criticism, principally directed against Secretary Bryan, who is held responsible for the appointment. Mr. Lind is a native of Sweden, ignorant of the Spanish language, unacquainted with Mexico, and unfamiliar with the peculiarities of her politics and people. It is, therefore, perhaps rashly assumed that he will fall in his task of mediation. Already we are told that the appointment is unpopular in Mexico, and that General Huerta will refuse to receive the commissioner.

We are not so sure that the wrong man has been selected. The man who would mediate between contending forces must first of all be free from all suspicion of partiality. Mr. Lind will be a stranger, but that will not at all unfit him for reconciling a family quarrel.

In the history of the world, fate, Providence or chance, as one may please to term it, has selected the most unlikely instruments to effect the most far-reaching results. The man in reality best fitted for the job may lack many qualities which, to the superficial observer, appear important. Mr. Wilson's representatives in Mexico, with possessing a big fund of "horse sense" and a happy faculty for settling differences, and persuading factions which have been pulling apart, to pull together. A public man who has belonged to three political parties in his time, without having his motives or good faith challenged, must be a man who pursues a given end, and does not lay undue stress upon essentials.

Mr. Lind may not succeed in bringing about a peaceful solution of the Mexican difficulty, but the conclusion he reaches will be a conclusion that will appeal to the good sense of his countrymen. He will need no guard while he is in Mexico. If any harm befalls John Lind, the big Scandinavian vote in the United States will see to it that a great army crosses the Rio Grande, and the sons of the Vikings will be in the front of the battle.

A TIME FOR CAUTION. No British financial authority ranks higher than Sir Felix Schuster, governor of the Union of London and Smith's Bank since 1895, and president and chairman of the council of the Institute of Bankers. His recent address to the shareholders of the union included a clear and reasoned exposition of the existing financial conditions, and his declaration that there was no reason for alarm, but rather for satisfaction that credit had not been affected more considerably, will tend to assist in the restoration of confidence. In his opinion it was only natural that a general readjustment of values and of the earning power of capital should have occurred. With the disappearance of the speculative causes that rendered this compulsory will come as rapid a recovery.

Now that the prospects of peace in eastern Europe are distinctly favorable, Sir Felix thought it probable that part of the hoarded cash would be released and made available for trade and industrial purposes. But he counselled caution in the matter of loans to other countries, and evidently desired that nothing should be done calculated to impair the economic strength of the United Kingdom or restrict the outflow of money for normal necessities. In this Sir Felix Schuster agrees with other leading authorities. The checking of unwise speculation and the limitation of credit to legitimate business will have a distinctly tonic effect on the economic situation without unduly interfering with trade expansion based on actual conditions.

Editor World: The enclosed letter sent me by The Telegram on Saturday last and which will explain itself has been refused publication by that journal in order to vindicate its own name, as well as in the interest of public decency. I respectfully ask you to give it space in your journal.

W. K. McNaught.

Toronto, Aug. 7. The letter referred to is as follows: Editor The Telegram: If further evidence were needed to prove that no public man who differs from The Telegram can receive fair or even decent treatment from it, your editorial of yesterday in regard to my position on the contemplated purchase of the Toronto Electric Light and Street Railway Companies would surely supply it.

All that I need say in reply to your diatribe is that I realize fully my official responsibility in connection with this matter, and my position is now, and has always been the same as that of the Hon. Adam Beck viz: "It would be manifestly improper for me to express an opinion for or against the proposition until the bargain in all respects is made before the commission." And I have given the commission a person or newspaper contrary to this.

Yours truly, W. K. McNaught.

DUKE OF ABRUZZI STONED BY STRIKERS

MILAN, Italy, Aug. 7.—(Can. Press.)—Fifty persons were wounded and a hundred arrests were made yesterday during a free fight between strikers and soldiers. The fight had its origin in the stoning of a duke by strikers.

The Duke of Abruzzi came in for an attack at the hands of the workmen. He was driving in his automobile thru the streets in the afternoon and was recognized by a band of strikers who were holding a meeting in the street. The workmen hurled epithets at the duke and stoned his automobile until the police charged and dispersed them. The duke was uninjured.

STEAMSHIP COMPANIES MAY BE PROSECUTED

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—It is stated that the government will at once proceed to prosecute certain steamship companies for bringing immigrants to Canada who have not in their possession the $25 required by the regulations and who are liable to become public charges.

It is stated that two ships which arrived recently carried 128 Rumanians, Galicians and Jews who did not possess the necessary funds. The steamship companies are liable to a penalty of $500 for each violation of the law.

CANADIAN NORTHERN RENEWS APPLICATION

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—It is reported that the Canadian Northern Railway is seeking from the government running rights to St. John and Halifax over the Intercolonial Railway, to take effect from the time when its Montreal to Port Arthur line is finished.

The same application was made to the late government, but was not disposed of, and it is believed the late government was favorably disposed to grant the application. The privilege will, of course, not be required until the construction of the line is much further advanced.

EUGENISTS FOR NEW YORK.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(Can. Press.)—The International Permanent Eugenics Committee, at a meeting held in Paris today, accepted the invitation of the American delegates to hold the next international eugenics congress in New York in 1915.

The Philosopher of Folly

THE LONG SLEEP.

Effortless we each must meet our fate and fill a long and narrow grate beneath our native soil; for after his allotted term the Resper comes to the cyclist and bids him cease his toll. And when men hear is final toll the proudest leave their stores of kale, their place of fame or power—the ruler and the meanest serf must rest alike beneath the turf when comes the fated hour. Sooner beneath the sod will lie when our turns come to say good-bye and draw our last short breath; each one hallow Mr. Brown's mound, we'll lumber on in sleep profound the heavy sleep of death. No hint of dawn will greet our sight, no air of life will end the night and rouse us to the day; no sounds will reach our drowsy ears thru all our domes may flow ten thousand times the years that time has passed away. Yet while we lie in crowded rows, with daisies growing at our toes, and headstones at our blocks, what memories may haunt our sleep beneath our blankets six feet deep, each in his ebony box. Our day and we must light flies—a flash, and we must close our eyes on all our plots and schemes; yet mayhap as we slumber so thru what were once our dreams may come a thousand years of dreams! An endless stream of vain remorse thru what were once our hearts may course and mock our lifeless clay. But if, alive, we're on the square, we need not at our end despair or fear the close of day.

TROUBLE STARTS OVER LIBERAL NOMINATION

French and English Speaking Liberals of Chateaugay Disagree Over Candidate.

MONTREAL, Aug. 7.—Competition has already begun among the ranks of the Liberals in connection with the nomination for the by-election to be held in Chateaugay, Que., which seat is vacant thru the death of J. P. Brown. The Conservatives will likely run Mr. Morris, who hails from the province close race at the last Dominion election.

A number of Liberals in the constituency favor the selection of a French-Canadian candidate, tho the French element in the riding want Edouard McGowan of St. Martin, who is of Irish descent, is French-Canadian tho by name.

Many Liberals here hoped that Hon. Charles Fisher would be their candidate, but the former minister of agriculture declined to enter the contest. A visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the constituency last week is believed to have been connected with the differences over the nomination.

EXPECT POWERS TO REVISE THE TREATY

New Arrangement in Balkans Will Not Meet Views of Russia and Austria.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The Times says that Montenegro will receive from Servia an extension of territory east and south, corresponding to the aid which Montenegro rendered Servia in the war with Bulgaria. It adds that Indena and Florina will be Greek, as also will be the Saloniki-Monastir railway to within about 25 kilometers of its head.

The newspaper considers that the treaty of Bucharest will be only a provisional settlement of the difficulties. It says that both Russia and Austria are opposed to Greece having Kavala, and that the powers are almost certain to insist upon a revision of the treaty to meet their view.

"There are more mosquitoes in the city this year than ever before," said a young camper with a swollen red forehead to The World last night,
"and they can sting just as awfully as they did a thousand years ago." He added as he thrust forth his marbled forehead for inspection.
"See that side?" he asked. "Well, that's the side that was turned from the pillow last night, and what a job
they made of it!"
Dr. Hastings, medical officer of health, admits that the mosquito population of Toronto has gone up, and he is concerned not only about the treatment the mosquitoes have given the citizens generally, but also about the treatment they have given him personally.

Oil on Troubled Waters.
The eggs are on the surface of the water and hatch into minute "pollywogs" within a few days.
These worms become mosquitoes, but they must have surface air to perform the process. They get it by coming to the top, but when coal oil is deposited on the water the wogs find it difficult or impossible to break thru the film skin and smother below the surface.
Barrels of coal oil have been used by the city to prevent the breeding, and there is news to come.
Dr. Hastings says that the mosquitoes in Toronto are the migratory kind that will travel miles away from the water. They do not spread malaria and there is no danger of their causing tetanus or lockjaw.

The women's institute will hold gave a hand concert last evening in the grove at the corner of Conduit and Pacific avenue, out of respect to the family of the late John Baird, the concert was not held in Baird Park, as scheduled.

YORK TOWNSHIP.
Yesterday a deputation from the York Township officers inspected the location of the proposed crossings of the new cut-off lines of the Canadian Northern Railway on the Don road and Eglinton avenue. Those present were Frank Barber, the township engineer.
After inspecting the Don road crossing the deputation came to the conclusion that no level crossing could be tolerated at other points, and that the railway should bear the cost of constructing subways and making provision for drainage.

WARD SEVEN
Ward Seven was yesterday visited by an incendiary. About 2:50 p.m.
a little boy, Harry Seith, noticed smoke arising from a shed in the rear of 230
Fairview avenue, and in a few minutes the whole row of outbuildings, five in number, were in a blaze. An alarm was quickly rung in and Keele street, Castion and Perth avenue detachments responded. The light character of the sheds rendered them an easy prey for flames and the firemen had great difficulty in protecting the surrounding buildings. The sheds themselves were almost totally destroyed, only the charred framework remaining. The damage has been estimated as follows: 224 Fairview, J. Miller, owner, damage $15; No. 226, W. S. Thorpe, owner, damage $50; No. 228, W. Gordon, owner, damage $50; No. 230, Jas.
Browley, owner, damage $50; No.
232, John Murphy, owner, damage $50.
The prompt action of Mrs. Thorpe or 226 Fairview avenue, in using the garden hose, had good effect on the burning buildings, checked the fire considerably until the arrival of the firemen.

Early Morning Fire.
The firemen were called out again early yesterday morning to an empty house at 45 Bathurst street. G. D.
Barnes and family, who occupy the house, are away on their vacation, and the origin of this blaze is also mysterious. The fire had gained considerable headway before the detachments arrived and the damage to building and contents amounted to about $500.
A pleasing little ceremony at station
No. 5, on Keele street, was the presentation at 6:30 last evening of a handsome oak Morris chair to P. C. Fenwick (No. 247), who has recently been married. The presentation was made by Inspector Mulhall, in the presence of the staff officers. Mr. and Mrs.
Fenwick will reside at 1305 Dufferin street.

GERMANY PLEASED AT NEW MOVEMENT

British Naval Concentration on Bermuda Marks End of Tense Situation

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(Can. Press)—The German government is pleased with the decision of the British government to station several cruisers at Bermuda. Captain Perle, the naval expert of the Tagblatt, sees the first breach in Lord Fisher's policy of concentrating every available ship of the British navy in home waters, and an indication of the waning of the tense Anglo-German rivalry which has kept the two nations on the verge of war for a decade.

From this point of view Captain Perle finds the action of the British admiralty of more importance to Germany than to the United States. He says Germany also may take similar steps of concentration. He believes that in general the decision was dictated more by the desire to show the British flag than by actual necessity.

The Taglich-Rundschau today publishes a story referring to the possibility of Germany modifying its naval program in view of the acceleration of construction of three battleships of the British navy recently announced by Winston Spencer Churchill. The German admiralty, however, says there is no question of such action.

Canadian Lawn Tennis Tourney Opens Monday

The Canadian lawn tennis championship tournament, commencing Monday, Aug. 11, promises to produce the finest tennis yet seen in Toronto. The entire sixteen courts are being carefully prepared, and will be in commission. The accommodation for spectators is perfect. An interesting innovation of this tournament will be that a board of referees will be appointed, and every match will be refereed strictly in accordance with the Canadian association's rules.

It is the feeling of the Canadian Association that the coming tournament will be a fixture at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club. The appointments of the Toronto Club are unsurpassed by anything in the American continent.

Special added features will be consolation events in the singles and doubles.

CORN BELT SOON TO HAVE RELIEF

Expectation That Drought is at Breaking Point Checks Price Advance.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Belief that the breaking of the drought is near led to heavy selling today in corn. Closing prices were nervous at a range 7 1/2c to 1-8c up compared with last night.

Wheat finished 1-8c to 5/8c down, oats with a gain of 1-8c, and provisions varying from 3/8c decline to an advance of 25c.

Rain, scattered over the northern part of the belt, with additional moisture predicted for tonight and tomorrow, inclined many speculators to a bearish view of the corn market.

Nevertheless, all the offerings were well absorbed, some of the larger bulls becoming aggressive and adding to their holdings. The September option, in which some leader is supposed to have a big line, was especially tight at the wind-up after a series of rapid changes over a range of 3c.

Wheat exports slow. Wheat prices suffered from pressure due to the slowness of export sales and because of the raising of private estimates of yields in the spring crop states. The market rallied a little in the late afternoon, some shorts evincing a disposition to cover up pending the issue of the government report tomorrow.

Primary receipts for 150,000 bushels against 1,518,000 bushels year ago, a range of 3c. Improved shipping demand strengthened oats. The recent break has caused a much better eastern call.

Buyers of lard rallied the provision market. Offerings were scarce after prices began to advance.

NORTHWEST RECEIPTS. Table with columns: Wednesday, Week, Year. Rows for Minneapolis, Chicago, Winnipeg, Duluth.
