Fourteen Thousand Prisoners and Guns Too Numerous To Mention Have Been Taken In The British Drive

New Allied Advance Has Reached a Maximum Depth of Eleven Miles

FRANCO-BRITISH FORCES REACH THEIR SELECTED OBJECTIVES

New Battle Regarded as Turning Point of Year's Campaign, Perhaps Even Crisis of The Whole War

EFFECTS OF OFFENSIVE MAY BE FAR REACHING

Fighting Continues Fiercely Along Entire Front

Allies Capture More Than 10,000 Prisoners and Enormous Booty in Guns and Materiel — Attack Was Overwhelming Surprise to Enemy and Allied Advance Went With Astonishing Speed All Along the Line — Feature of the Day Was Extinguishing of German Artillery

London, Aug. 9.—Fourteen thousand prisoners and guns too numerous to mention have been taken in the British drive on the front south of the Somme, says today's war office report. The cavalry is still pursuing the enemy. The Allied progress is continuing. The French have taken Fresnoy En Chaussee, while the British have reached a point east of Lequesnel and Caix.

The Franco-British advance on the battle front south of the Somme has reached a maximum depth of eleven miles, according to news received here shortly after noon today.

Advices from the battle front report British cavalry, armored cars and tanks in advance of the infantry to have reached within a mile of the Chaumes railway junction. The cavalry, tanks and armored cars, it is indicated, have gone ahead of the line running from Framerville to Lihons. From Lihons the line runs southward to Mcharcourt, southeast of Rozieres. This represents a total maximum advance of eleven miles.

It will be impossible for the Germans to hold their Montdidier positions, it is believed here. It is also believed that the advance on the Picardy front makes Amiens secure against an enemy attack, and has removed the threat against Paris.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The battle on the front south of the Somme was resumed early this morning and the Franco-British forces made favorable progress from the start, reaching various selected objectives. Powerful cavalry forces are in action.

Paris, Aug. 9.—Latest reports received by the Havas Agency from the battle front are that the fighting continues fiercely along the entire Anglo-French attack front.

Paris, Aug. 9 (4.40 a. m.)—The number of prisoners taken by the French and British in Picardy now exceeds 10,000, according to the latest news from the battle front. The Allies also have an enormous booty in guns and materiel, says Marcel Hutin, in the Echo de Paris.

THE HARDEST FIGHTING

London, Aug. 9.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at British headquarters says the hardest fighting occurred on the northern and southern wings of the British advance, the passage of the river Luce and the capture of the southern woods particularly proving very tough operations, which checked the advance a while.

"But, notwithstanding these checks," says the correspondent, "the advance went with astonishing speed all along the line. The tanks, which did magnificent work, helped the speed, but the prime credit belongs to the dash and training of the infantry. They smothered the German infantry as our gunners smothered the German gunners. Their movement was quick and concerted. The enemy had little time to remove their guns.

"The feature of the day was the extinction of the German artillery. Its answer to our barrage was rather slow and patchy. It was up to the standard at some places, but it lasted a very short time in the first degree of excellence. "One isolated shot deserves mention. It hit one of our ammunition lorries' engines, but it did not explode a single shell or hurt the driver.

"Such partial successes were few, and as soon as the infantry was well on the move the enemy's gunners began to pack up. Many of them must have had little chance of saving their batteries. "As the sun conquered the mist our airmen saw scenes of complicated confusion much further afield. Batteries and strings of vans scampered off, and in the middle of the hurry our airmen with machine gun and bomb took all advantage possible.

"All the prisoners agree that the attack was an overwhelming surprise and that full advantage was taken of it by the assaulting troops.

"The German defenses at any rate behind the front line were for the most part very inadequate. The old zeal of digging in and going to the ground seems to have been lost. Nor did most of the Germans fight well in the center.

"The prisoners were very numerous, though an extremely few were taken on the front lines owing to the devastating effect of the four minute barrage on the indifferent defenses. The proportion of men killed was large, and at our place the numbers were quite unusual."

MORLANCOURT IS CAPTURED BY BRITISH.

London, Aug. 9.—The British have captured Morlancourt, on the northern end of the Somme battlefield, and the infantry line now runs from that point southward to a point southeast of Moreuil. This represents an infantry advance to the maximum depth of seven miles in the center along the Amiens-Chaumes-la Fere railway.

Along the whole front the average advance of the infantry is from five to six miles.

London, Aug. 9.—The Germans put up a vigorous resistance north of the Somme, the official statement shows, and there was heavy fighting between Chipilly and Morlancourt.

London, Aug. 9.—The Germans are evacuating their positions in the Lys Valley, on the Flanders front.

On the Lys front the British now hold Locun, Decornet, Maio, Quentin, Le Petit Pacaut, and Le Sart.

Above the Lys region, on the front north of Kemmel, the British carried out a local operation last night in which their line was advanced somewhat on a front of more than 1,000 yards.

Surprise Was Complete.

On the French Front in France, Aug. 9.—(Havas Agency)—French troops on a front of six miles northwest of Montdidier have advanced to a depth of four miles and captured nearly 8,000 prisoners. Important material also was captured. The advance was carried out with extreme light losses. The French front runs from the Avre north to a point just south of the Amiens-Roye road where it joins up with the British.

The attention of the Germans was fixed on the Vesle attack when the new offensive was opened. There was no reply to the French artillery preparation which lasted 45 minutes.

German soldiers were captured while harvesting grain in the fields, so complete was the surprise. Moreuil and Moriel were carried by assault. The difficulties of crossing the Avre were overcome rapidly, the French using hastily constructed foot bridges. After taking Braches the French captured La Neuville and the series of hills dominating the plain beyond.

May Force Big Retirement.

Paris, Aug. 8.—The Franco-British offensive southeast of Amiens had been expected for some time in well-informed quarters. The recent advances in Picardy and Flanders suggested that such a step was in order.

The axis of the manoeuvre in the present attack seems to be the railway from Amiens to Ham, Tergnier and Laon. The battle may develop great effect upon the struggle going on between the Vesle and the Aisne. Failure to obtain reinforcements to combat the Franco-British armies, it is believed here, may force the German Crown Prince to retreat beyond the Aisne, possibly to the Chemin Des Dames.

If the offensive from Montdidier to Albert is successful and the army of von Marwitz is forced to retreat the armies of von Hutier and von Eben, which are located between Montdidier and Soissons, will be in danger of a compulsory retirement.

French Statement.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The situation on the battlefield south of the Somme is unchanged, today's war office statement announces. The text of the statement follows:

"There is no change on the battlefield south of the Somme.

"During the night, there was a good deal of activity on the part of the German artillery forces in the Champagne. The Germans undertook several raids, in the regions of Frenoy, the Mountain Without a Name and Souain. They were repulsed."

Brilliant Operation.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The French war ministry at 12.30 o'clock today issued the following statement:

"The brilliant operation which we, in concert with British troops, executed yesterday has been a surprise for the enemy. As occurred in the offensive of July 18, the soldiers of General Debeney's army have captured enemy soldiers engaged in the peaceful pursuit of harvesting the fields behind the German lines.

"Our artillery preparation was short, lasting less than an hour. The enemy artillery had made no counter-preparation at the beginning of the action, unexpectedly feebly.

"The original front of the attack was only four kilometers, situated south of

General Feeling Expressed in London

ALLIED PRESS COMMENT

Great Importance Attached to Fact That Initiative Has Been Taken From Enemy and That Victory Was Gained on Ground Dearly Purchased by the Germans

London, Aug. 9.—The general feeling here is that the importance of the successful new battle cannot be over-estimated. It is regarded as the turning point of the year's campaign, and perhaps even the turning point of the whole war. It was only a month ago that all the talk of the British military critics was whether the Allies could hold on in the face of the great German offensive which the German people had been told was to finish the war. The initiative has now been taken from the enemy, and within the month the Allies have engaged in two important battles with conspicuous success.

London, Aug. 9.—While recognizing that the real test of success in the new battle on the Amiens front is yet to come, the newspaper comment this morning dwells upon the importance of the operation as showing that the Allies still retain the initiative and such blows as yesterday's have reduced the likelihood of its recovery by the enemy. That Field Marshal Haig's decision is an even more remarkable confession of defeat than the retreat to the Vesle, for nowhere has he fought harder than he did this spring for the possession of the spot which the Allies would choose for an attack which was the logical sequence of recent events is a measure of the completeness with which the initiative has passed from his hands.

The Daily Express declares that the German hope that the attacks of the Allies had spent themselves and that the enemy would gain time to stabilize his new positions beyond the Vesle have been destroyed.

Paris, Aug. 9.—(Havas Agency)—The Allies success Thursday in forcing the Germans to retire on the defensive on a new and important sector is welcomed here by the press. They attribute the success in great part to the fact that the Allied command is centered in one man.

The Matin says that an enormous amount of material has been captured. It has not yet been listed, but is known to include a great number of guns of every calibre.

Von Hutier Outflanked.

The army of General Von Hutier may be considered outflanked on its rear and right flank, declares the military expert of the Matin. The bulk of his forces are spread out in an arc of a circle from the Avre to the Oise. He has no other road of retreat than through Nese and Ham, which are thirty kilometers away, and the Allied armies are marching towards his essential lines of communication.

Marshal Foch and General Petain, says Marcel Hutin, in the Echo de Paris, are entirely satisfied with the progress made. The Germans, he adds, sustained enormous losses Thursday and left thousands of bodies on the field of battle.

Premier Clemenceau on Thursday went to the scene of "important military operations." He returned at midnight.

A Remarkable Victory.

"It was a victory of a very remarkable character," says the Times. "If the enemy, as Mr. Bonar Law suggested, intended to evacuate this country it is an even more remarkable confession of defeat than the retreat to the Vesle, for nowhere has he fought harder than he did this spring for the possession of the spot which the Allies would choose for an attack which was the logical sequence of recent events is a measure of the completeness with which the initiative has passed from his hands.

The Daily News thinks the fact that Lutendorf should have been ignorant of the spot which the Allies would choose for an attack which was the logical sequence of recent events is a measure of the completeness with which the initiative has passed from his hands.

The Daily Express declares that the German hope that the attacks of the Allies had spent themselves and that the enemy would gain time to stabilize his new positions beyond the Vesle have been destroyed.

French Pay Tribute to Manner in Which Blow Has Been Delivered—Amiens Released From German Menace—Barrier Placed in Way of Prince Rupprecht's Efforts to Reach Channel Ports

Paris, Aug. 9.—Marshal Foch has struck the Germans on a new front and French opinion, lay and professional, is lost in admiration of the manner in which the blow has been carried out. Military observers agree that the new stroke may have important consequences.

The present manoeuvre is similar to the counter-offensive north of the Marne in that it is directed toward squeezing two sides of a salient. Ahead of the front which the Allies already have reached lies the Peronne-Roye highway and they are gaining rapidly toward it. This road has the same importance to the present battle as the Soissons-Chaumes-Thierry road in the battle for Feren-Tardenois. If the Allies reach it all the German troops south of a line through Montdidier, Lessigny and Noyon would be placed in as serious a predicament as those on the Marne on July 18.

That would be the first and immediate consequence. Quite apart from the ultimate effects, the first day's fighting relieved Amiens from the German menace. Montdidier has been surrounded and it will be possible to re-establish the great northern railway through Amiens, the lack of which has seriously handicapped the Allies during the past four months.

As to the more remote effects, without seeming to be premature, it is held here that the new offensive is likely to paralyze the armies of Crown Prince Rupprecht, which would be obliged to bolster up Von Hutier. Consequently Rupprecht may have to abandon the operation he had apparently prepared in Flanders.

In addition the mere announcement that the new battle is due to the initiative of Allies will be a sad blow to both the German army and the German public.

WAR NOTES

The reports received up to 11.30 o'clock show the attack developing vigorously on a great scale.

An enormous quantity of stores and ammunition has been abandoned by the Germans in their hasty retreat.

Cavalry patrols, accompanied by swift "shipper" tanks, are reported by airmen far out ahead of the infantry advance. The infantry at many places was apparently checked only by sheer physical inability to push any farther.

The Germans are blowing up their ammunition dumps in the battle area. This is considered an indication that they are preparing to retreat.

The British casualties since the beginning of the present drive are but three-fifths of the number of prisoners counted up to 8 o'clock this afternoon.

The British cavalry has rounded up many prisoners, but the larger part of the 14,000 so far taken were captured by Canadians and Australians.

Allied airmen have blown up many of the bridges over the Somme River and the enemy's retreat is seriously embarrassed.

BORDEN CONFERS WITH ADMIRALTY ON DOMINION AND IN NAVAL DEFENCE.

London, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Sir Robert Borden, had a conference with the first lord of the admiralty today when he conveyed certain conclusions agreed upon by the Dominion ministers regarding co-operation in naval defence. He visited the war office in company with General McBurn when matters were discussed connected with the defence of Halifax. Later the premier had a lengthy interview with the directors of the Grand Trunk Railway.

PARIS BOMBED.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The Paris region was again under bombardment today from the German long range cannon.

A lot of work was done on the south end playground last evening by teams of men and boys. The wire screen will be up in time for Monday evening's formal opening and ball game.

THE AUSTRALIANS AND CANADIANS ARE BEARING THE BRUNT

(By the Associated Press.)
Australian and Canadian troops are bearing the brunt of the British Picardy drive.

German lines on the Picardy front south of the Somme have been badly broken by the savage thrust of the British and French armies.

A wedge has been driven into enemy territory to a depth of eleven miles along the Amiens Chaumes-La Fere railway, which runs southward of supplies for the German troops fighting in the Montdidier sector of the front.

London announces that fourteen thousand prisoners and guns "too numerous to mention" have been taken in the first twenty-four hours of the drive.

The results of this attack, loosed against the Germans on the Amiens front Thursday morning, appears to have eclipsed those obtained by the Germans on the first day of any of their terrific offensives of the past spring and summer. So far as reports show the progress of the fighting south of the Somme, the Allies are going forward almost without serious opposition. On the north bank of the stream, the Germans have held their lines strongly, but have lost Morlancourt, their stronghold there, after hard fighting. The French, further to the south, have had their advance retarded at numerous points, but the towns officially reported to have been reached are evidence that the momentum of the Allied drive has not nearly spent itself.

From despatches from the battlefield it now appears that the Allies attacked the Germans with little artillery preparation, the method pursued resembling on a grand scale that adopted by General Byng before Cambrai last November. Armored tanks in great numbers tore through the German first line positions, infantry masses followed and then through the gaps in the enemy line the cavalry and armored motor cars swept into the back areas, surprising German detachments and throwing the whole defensive organization of the enemy into chaos.

Hadly had the German reverse along the Somme been reported than despatches began to tell of a German retirement in the Flanders sector on the extreme western tip of the Lys salient, which is now occupied by the British.

In its larger aspects, the success of the Allies south of the Somme constitutes a very serious threat to the German line, especially to the southward. The advance has not so far weakened the German (Continued on page 2, seventh column)

The Canadian Force At Home In France

Our Soldiers and the French Towns—The People and Some of the Customs

ARTICLE NO. 6.
By Lacey Amy, Special Correspondent of The Evening Times with the Canadian Forces in France.

With the Canadian Forces in France, July 8—in the beginning, when the code of nations was laid down, there was handed to the French people a mould from which they have produced several thousand towns, afterwards adding variety by the simple process of altering the slant of the streets and the architecture of the Hotel de Ville. You might drop a Canadian in any one of them, unless he tripped over a familiar cobblestone, he might locate the town anywhere from Poperinghe to Arras, with a range in depth of twenty-five miles or so from the fighting line. Which is about the extent of the Canadian soldier's knowledge of France and includes enough hundreds of towns to make the following description as indefinite in location as an item about a baseball game would be in Canada.

The French town about which the Canadian force is centred—rather pleased—has little distinctive from its fellow products of the common mould. It is so typical that a sketch of it should bring every mother in Canada over to France—if I can do it justice—to see what surrounds her boy so many months of the year.

Picture a spilling of uneven lines from a celestial balloon and you have the plan of the streets. The man who charted them must have been out late on a fete and must have felt the necessity of an unqualified uncertainty of direction. His most convivial evening would never leave him at sea in the streets of a French town. Always there would be a twist ahead to fit into his course.

Having got that thoroughly in mind, one may add the houses. Once the street lines were laid down, builders came along with competitive sites of residence in mind (though seldom of plan) and pointed roughly to the location they desired. The size might not fit into the space, but such a trivial obstacle was overcome by jutting the corner into the already zigzag street line. It cut in so completely that the regulations that they were to observe were usually clean. I do not know whether that is their nature in peacetime, or because when the soldiers are in town they are bound by regulations to clean the streets themselves. To be sure the women and girls of the homes are out at 8 a. m. scrubbing the cobbles almost to the middle of the road. But the first half hour of traffic does all that. The only unshininess is the day's wash-up within doors. Whether it is a factory, a stable or a house, the scrubbing and mopping find outlet into the street, and the khaki street gang come along and see that they do not block the traffic. It is all a clean sort of dirt.

Another result of cobbles is that street sauntering is reduced to the minimum. It is too hard on shoe leather and ankles and muscles. That is why the soldiers favor rich soles to their shoes, so that they may cover a French street without feeling more than the larger unevenness of falling between the stones. Not every lad temporarily missing is a prisoner of war. The houses are quaint. There is a similarity of design, but no symmetry of line. Each house and store has its own walls and roof, its own height, its own finish and color, though the prevailing scheme is white. The roofs are always steep; and I am informed by the Canadian artists now attached temporarily to the force that this is artistic. It is at least effective—in France. One or two towns have the gable ends facing the street, like Arras. But usually the peak runs parallel with the street. A burglar has little chance of escape either by French roofs or French streets.

One grows accustomed to the peculiarities of the French civilian dress, but it still retains some novelty for me. Small girls dress normally enough, but the small boys wear large aprons with yokes buttoning down the back and reaching at a distance the garb of certain religious orders. The women vary as they do elsewhere, with quite as good an average. Just now the fit men are in French grey, which makes a slightly uniform. The trousers of the others are peculiar. They are loose at the top, ending at the ankle in a cuff. The volume of the top establishes the home and origin of the wearer. Some require a whole road to pass each other; others use patience and perform the feat on the sidewalks by turning sideways.

Everyone is kindly and pleasant-faced, despite the war. The children are full of life, but not rough or disturbing noisy and they to him with a camaraderie which makes a real pleasure of a rest camp.

When the mayor wishes to speak to his people he sends round a crier with a brass plate and a wooden mallet. At the clangor the people gather round and receive instructions. They may be a distribution of sugar at the town hall, or a warning to deliver in connection with the war. And like the boy with a new whistle, the crier does not stick his job.

Just now two of three stores are estimated or tea rooms or restaurants, some reserved for officers. There are no street names, and the only visible numbers have been put there by the military for billeting purposes. Many signs are in French and English. Any Canadian soldier in France learns enough French in a fortnight to prefer the French signs as a step in his education. By the way they flock to the stores I suspect they make purchases at times largely to extend their French vocabulary.

The news vendors announce themselves by horns, except when selling the London papers. These they shout with all the pride of English-speaking Frenchmen. In a certain French city I heard a score of young lads shouting the papers in true London accent—"popai! popai! sub!" And the speed of their sales is proof of the popularity of their wares and their English and French.

When the army comes into possession there are other offices besides street cleaning assumed by the military. At every corner where traffic crosses stand traffic men, whose uplifted hands are command for private or general. There is no confusion, and very little delay, though the corners are sharp, blind and narrow, and the passage of war impediments is ceaseless. The get-there policy that makes a road-hog of a man in Canada, and the give-and-take that induces almost incredible amenities into the traffic of London, are unknown in the French town in the military areas. You take your place in the line as laid down by the unstriped arm of a simple private with a black band on his arm. It saves time, temper and rolling stock, and incorporates into the foreign flavor of strange streets and architecture and language the strong, visible arm of British law.

There are other signs of war in these towns. With the commencement of the futile German push in March the enemy opened a further demonstration of twenty miles of the fighting lines have been shelled with varying intensity. A few have been viciously knocked about, others subjected to the German idea of frightfulness as a peace incentive. To say that it has effected nothing of what can be heard the "ore-rump" of shells in almost every house bears a small sign with the information, "Cellar for 8," or perhaps as many as twenty or more, the location of immediate refuge and their capacity.

Into the town I have in mind a few shells were tumbled, but the damage is inconsequential in material or morale. A few unnecessary citizens have flitted, many have sent away their spare furniture, but the town goes on in appearance as usual. To the curious can be shown the marks of the shells, and a house was upset as a petulant child might knock over a toy. And always in the distance, and at night the frequent passage of raiding machines with their ugly burdens.

Yesterday there was a sale of salvage rescued from the edge of the German advance—outs, boxes of tinned goods. And the town women were there with their baskets to bid. The French orga-

How Cooking Is Done in a Fireless Cooker

The principle of fireless cooking is simplicity itself. The heat that does the cooking is stored up in small discs called "radiators." These radiators can be heated over any kind of stove, any kind of fuel. As the heat from the radiators cannot escape from the fireless cooker, it is held imprisoned within the cooking compartment and penetrates the raw food that cooks it—will cook it in practically the same time as an ordinary stove.

This Fireless Cooker will save 80 per cent. of your fuel. Come in and see how the Fireless Cooker will cut your fuel bill in half.

A BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

By an unexpected stroke yesterday Marshal Foch has again thrown the Germans into confusion, upset their plans, and perhaps rendered a drive by the enemy toward the Channel ports as futile as would now be a drive toward Paris.

hood, and her use of the Turk to forward her ambitions in the east. The story of the Bagdad Railway was clearly told, and when the eminent speaker had closed his harangue had a clear knowledge, not only of the tragedy of Armenia but of the blood-guiltiness of Germany in relation to the whole course of the war in the eastern theatre.

OUR INDUSTRIES THREATENED.

In applying the McAdoo schedule and revising the freight rates on sugar the Canadian Railway Commission appears to have had in mind only the refineries in Montreal and the Pacific coast. The new rates would place the St. John and Halifax refineries at a disadvantage that would practically put them out of business.

During a campaign a Tammany leader, a self-made man and one not entirely completed yet in some respects, was addressing a mass meeting of Italian born voters on behalf of the Democratic ticket.

PREFERENCE APPROVED

London, Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press despatch from Reuter's Limited)—Interviewed by the Daily Telegraph Hon. W. F. Massey, prime minister of New Zealand, stated that while it was true that imperial preference was not discussed at the recent imperial war conference of this year's meetings of the imperial war cabinet, both the conference and cabinet last year carried his motion supporting the principle of preference.

BALFOUR'S REPLY TO ARGUMENTS OF PACIFISTS

London, Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press despatch from Reuter's Limited)—Replying to the arguments of pacifists the British foreign secretary, Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, said in the house of commons this afternoon that the true obstacle to peace was that educated Germany unitedly upheld the grossly immoral heresy that a policy of universal domination was the true policy of any nation wishing to be great.

Germany had cynically and audaciously re-arranged the map of eastern Europe regarding national or ethnic limitations, and without German support the whole fabric would fall to pieces.

Mr. Balfour dwelt on the German methods of crushing Roumania and anti-imperialist British with German methods in respect of territories each nation had invaded and occupied.

He showed how the British occupation of Mesopotamia had led to more corn being grown there than for centuries past.

Mr. Balfour said that no greater instrument for disturbing the peace of the world could be conceived than to give Germany a great central African dominion for purposes of offence within that continent and perhaps even for purposes of more perfidious offence against the great international trade arteries.

Mr. Robertson, who described himself as a lifelong pacifist, emphasized that peace was impossible until the Allies were able to compel Germany to disarm.

military establishment, compelling all other nations to maintain conscription. Restoration Terms Proposed.

Berne, Aug. 8.—Replying to questions from members of the Right in the Reichstag recently, Chancellor von Hertling declared that Germany intends to keep Belgium until the Allies fulfill certain conditions, including the payment of indemnities and the re-establishment of Germany and Austria as before the war.

Mr. Balfour said that no greater instrument for disturbing the peace of the world could be conceived than to give Germany a great central African dominion for purposes of offence within that continent and perhaps even for purposes of more perfidious offence against the great international trade arteries.

Mr. Balfour, in his speech in the British house of commons yesterday, showed once more how impossible it is to effect a German peace, or cease war against a German peace, or cease war against a German peace, or cease war against a German peace.

Le dernier cri in Paris is for Milady to carry her tiny portion of sugar in a little painted or enameled case and a few drops of condensed milk in a decorative little bottle attached to her chaine-laine when she goes visiting. In this way she saves her hostess embarrassment of depleting her own limited stock. In England, where even the exigencies of war have not precluded 5 o'clock tea, if plain little cakes are served at the afternoon meal, there is no sweet for dinner. By such means is the balance the balance evened up.

MISS HEGAN TELLS OF WORK OVERSEAS

Miss Edith Hegan, matron of the St. James Street Military Hospital, delighted the members of the Young Women's Patriotic Association at their regular meeting last evening when she gave a very interesting account of her experience as a nursing sister in Russia and France. The meeting was also specially pleased to be able to welcome back the president and the members who had gone with her to the strawberry picking camp at Sackville.

A report from the Navy League committee showed that only sixty-five members had been obtained and as the association is endeavoring to obtain two hundred an additional two weeks for carrying on the campaign was arranged for. Much business in connection with the various activities of the association was accomplished, even to the selling of some excellent lettuce, the product of one member's war garden.

The president, Miss Jessie Church presided at the meeting and many communications were read. One was from the 7th Garrison Battalion and invited the members to a dance to be held at West Side, admission to which will be by association membership card only. Another was from the Housewives' League offered the use of the cooking outfit in the Calvin Hall for any patriotic use the Y. W. P. A. might like to put it to. The Great War Veterans asked that the association undertake to run several stalls at the forthcoming Trades and Labor fair and the meeting was in favor of this request being granted.

The theatrical company of "Everywoman" asked if any of the members would be willing to act as part of the mob in one scene in the play and about fifteen members declared their willingness to do so. A very generous offer from a lady interested in the work of the association was accepted with hearty thanks. She wishes to remain anonymous but has very kindly undertaken to read horoscopes and to give all the money raised by this means to the funds of the Y. W. P. A. The treasurer's report showed $183.28 in the general fund; $86.10 in the reserve fund and $28.57 in the returned soldier's fund.

FAVORS TEMPORARY USE OF COOLIES

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—Hon. F. B. Carvell, minister of public works, in an interview today takes a very serious view of the fuel situation in Canada and advocates strongly the temporary importation of coolie labor as the solution of the problem. The labor question has been before the cabinet repeatedly this summer, but there is ground for the belief that in methods for solving the difficulty which are presented the ministers do not exactly see eye to eye. "There is likely to be untold suffering in the country next winter for lack of fuel," declared Mr. Carvell today, "the situation is that miners are working only about seventy-five per cent. of the time, and getting such big wages that they can afford to loaf the rest of the time. There are industrial plants in Canada, which do not know where their power is coming from next winter. This applies to steel plants. "What is the remedy? I would put ten thousand Chinamen at work in coal mines, steel plants and rail-construction gangs, put them where they can be segregated, and of course have them under indenture to go back when the war is over. This is what they are doing in England and France. Why not in Canada? "There is time enough between now and next winter to do a lot and produce sufficient fuel to obviate a very threatening situation. It may not be popular to advocate action as I do but this is no time for pussy footing."

LOCAL NEWS

James Cunningham, who escaped from the Boys' Industrial Home short time ago, was captured in Chatham on Tuesday. He has been brought to St. John and is again in the home.

The many friends of J. V. Russell, former commissioner of harbors, ferries and public lands, will be pleased to learn that he has recovered sufficiently to leave the infirmary. He is now at his home in King street east and is rapidly improving. It was about fourteen weeks ago that he became ill, but it is reported that now he is regaining the use of his leg and arm which immediately after his illness were powerless.

Helping To Relieve The Coal Situation

How Consumers May Assist in Preventing Coal Shortage Next Winter

(A. D. in Conservation.) Prior to the war, coal production usually exceeded consumption. Consequently, considerable reserves were built up at strategic shipping points to meet local, current demands. But the more or less acute fuel situation of the post-war years has witnessed the consumption of these reserves. No one speaks of building them up again until the war is over, when transportation, industrial and household purposes will have returned to normal. All that the fuel authorities expect of the mines is to produce a year's supply in twelve months. It therefore follows that all orders for even 70 per cent of each consumer's annual supply cannot be filled at once, so early in the season. Best quality and lowest prices.—Basson's, 14-16-18 Charlotte street. No branches.

MORE ORDERS FROM UNITED STATES

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for week ending Aug. 8, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following observations:— Dealers in Canada who are trying to spread around the available supply of steel, among the many firms that present orders for same, are having troubles of their own during these months. It would appear that the procedure is this way: The authorities at Washington, through the war board there, give a certain proportion of the output of U. S. mills to Canada every month. It is then up to the War Board at Ottawa to distribute this supply. This really means that the War Board at Ottawa has got to take on itself the onus of stating which firms in Canada shall have a preference on available supply of material, and the agricultural and other interests are not going to stand aside while the distribution is taking place unless they are being favorably considered in it. Although nothing definite has been given out yet, it would not be surprising were an announcement to appear in the near future that the American war contracts in this country were to be considerably enlarged. Rumors from some of the steel centres in the United States which are very reliable, state that new sizes are being considered there and also draw attention to the fact that a very much increased output of shell steel is asked for in the next few months. Canadian firms have made an enviable reputation for themselves by the way in which they have handled United States business on previous occasions. No doubt they would be favorably considered in any extension to the war programme of the republic. Although reports have not indicated it, the labor situation is causing some trouble in certain localities. One place where it shows very plainly is in regard to the scrap metal situation. Reports from a large number of the big centres in the United States state that the labor shortage is causing some delay not only in the bringing in of material in the first place but also in the sorting after it reaches the yards. In this way it is retarded from a quick move to the foundries, where it is very much needed

CANADIAN AIR SERVICE FORMED

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—Hon. A. K. MacLean, acting minister of the department of the naval service, today announced the formation of the Royal Canadian Air Service. This organization will come under the direction of the naval department and has for its primary object the defence of Canada's coasts, but men enlisting in the air force will be liable for service outside the dominion if necessary. Candidates accepted for the Royal Canadian Air Service will be entered as cadets and will be required to sign on for three years, or for six months after the duration of the war.

Of Great Strategic Importance

London, Aug. 8.—Reuter's correspondent at British Army Headquarters reports that this afternoon the morning's battle developed into a success the strategic consequences of which cannot yet be measured. The tanks drove over the enemy's trench positions and machine gun posts enabling the infantry to establish themselves. Our barrage was simply wonderful. The German front line was smashed up in a minute by our drum fire. One corps alone captured two thousand prisoners in the early morning and one division counted nearly a thousand by 6 o'clock this evening. The Canadians are participating in the offensive.

The twenty-seventh, hundred and eighth and forty-third divisions of the Bavarian Crown Prince Rupprecht's army suffered most heavily whilst the hundred and seventeenth division which only came into the line the night before was badly cut up. Our casualties were light considering the importance of the operation. By 7.30 o'clock the tanks had cleared the enemy out of Cerey and the artillery pushed forward so rapidly that one brigade was in action forward of the old front line within twenty minutes of the men going over the top.

Outside the works hung a board bearing the description: "Strong lad wanted." Hearing a great deal of scuffling outside his office, the foreman thought it time to interview some of the applicants, and, opening the door, was surprised to see only one youth. "You want a strong boy, sir?" "Yes, my lad, I do." "Well, sir, I'm 'im." "But how can I be sure you are strong enough for this job?" "Why, when I now come 'ere there was about twenty other fellers, an' I've licked the lot, so's to git in first. Now ain't I strong enough?" He was.

Foch---Master Strategist Blasts German Hopes

German strategy like the Marne salient, presents a diminished front as the result of Foch's July counter-offensive, brilliantly aided by General Haig and General Pershing with his fighting Americans. Even the Frankfurter Zeitung admits that "Foch's attack threatens the whole of Hindenburg's plans" and this admission is interpreted by the Philadelphia North American to mean "that the most ambitious of Germany's 1918 offensive has collapsed, and that the invaders, weakened in fighting strength, in morale, and in prestige, must laboriously build up the structure of a new campaign." And, as further foreshadowing Germany's doom, a correspondent of the Amsterdam Handelsblat says, "from America issues a force against which no European nation can stand. It is a gigantic force which is developing calmly and scientifically. The German people have not seen what I have seen."

To gain a succinct and accurate knowledge of the great victory of the Allies in the Marne salient, its initiative, its progress, and what it augurs for the future, you should read the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for August 10th. It is accompanied by a full-page map which clearly visualizes the present battle line, and the towns, villages, rivers, woods, etc., through which the Allies forces have fought during the past thirty days.

New Offensive Menaces German Front From Near The Sea To Rheims

(Undated War Lead By the Associated Press.) The historic battle ground between Amiens and Montdidier again is the scene of a mighty contest. This time the British and French are the aggressors and under their fierce onslaughts in the first day's battle they have penetrated deeply into the German positions over a front of more than twenty miles, reaching from the region of Braches to the neighborhood of Morlancourt.

Following short but intensive artillery preparations and aided by misty weather the Allied attack took the Germans completely by surprise and they fled almost everywhere pell-mell before the tanks, motor machine gun batteries, cavalry and infantry sent against them. All the objectives set for the Australians, Canadians, Englishmen and Frenchmen were attained in remarkably quick time, and at last accounts Thursday night, the Allied forces were still making progress. Wherever the enemy turned to give battle he was decisively defeated.

Thousands of Germans were made prisoners. Large numbers of guns were captured. Great quantities of war materials were taken and a score or more of villages and hamlets were re-occupied. In addition heavy casualties were inflicted upon the enemy. At its deepest point the penetration of the German line was about seven and a half miles eastward from Villers-Bretonneux to Framerville, while from two to five miles were gained all along the front from northwest of Montdidier to the region around Morlancourt. The fighting extended north of Morlancourt to the Albert sector, but no official details concerning it have been received.

NO MILITARY DECISION UNTIL NEXT YEAR

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 8.—Although Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of Canada's privy council, is now back in the capital presiding once more at cabinet meetings here, the imperial war cabinet, of which he and Sir Robert Borden are members as representing Canada, is still meeting in London, concluding the conferences as to empire policy and co-operation in the prosecution of the war for the balance of this year and also for the coming year. Sir Robert Borden is remaining in London for a fortnight or so longer pending the conclusion of the meeting of the imperial war cabinet and further consulting with the representatives of the whole empire as to ways and means of accomplishing the common task of securing the decisive and victorious conclusion to the war. It is no breach of the censorship rules to say that a decision, at least in the military sense, is not expected to be reached this year. But the full and frank review of the whole war situation as disclosed to the Canadian ministers at London warrants optimism as to the conclusive results of next year's campaign when the whole weight of the American army will be thrown into the scale and superiority of man power and resources will have been mobilized adequately and effectively against an enemy now at the limit of his resources.

DISAPPEARS ON WAY TO SEE DYING MOTHER

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 8.—Where is Gordon McDonald, of Berry's Mills, a telegraph operator, who has been for some years in Western Canada and who in June last started for Berry's Mills to visit his mother who lies at the point of death? Relatives have been unable to secure any trace of the young man since June 26 when he was homeward bound. Both civil and military police have been working on the case but can get no clue as to his whereabouts. The relatives and those interested have notified Chief Riddout here and he has communicated with Winnipeg authorities and everything possible has been done to locate the missing young man, but all in vain. Gordon McDonald, who is nineteen years of age, left a town in Saskatchewan in June and on the way home stopped off near Winnipeg to visit his brother, who is also a telegraph operator. After visiting his brother he registered at a Winnipeg hotel but from there relatives have failed to secure any trace of him. When he left his brother's home near Winnipeg he had in his possession nearly $300. This has suggested that somewhere along the route he has met with foul play. Gordon was known as a thoughtful son and it is felt that his parents would have been advised if for any reason he was detained. The mother is being attended by Dr. H. A. Jones, of Moncton, who holds out no hope of recovery. Ever since word was received that her son had left the west for home, she has anxiously awaited his arrival. Two valises which safely reached their destination seemingly foretold that he would soon be home and this was joyfully communicated to her but as the time passed her son failed

Test Our Value Giving Power --Satisfy Yourself That Our Made-To-Measure Garments Pay For Themselves Twice Over. THERE has never been a time in which the common-sense and real economy of custom tailored "Made-to-Measure" garments was so marked as it is today. Ready-Made clothes have increased in price and declined in quality. Wool is getting very scarce. Many mills have had to reduce the variety and the quality of their fabrics. Leading manufacturers of men's clothing are now advising the immediate purchase of clothes; they frankly admit that they will be unable to keep the fabric quality up. You can order your new garments for fall and winter now at any one of our 22 Stores and Tailor Shops and obtain suitings and overcoat fabrics that are worth twice our price. Our prices on these fabrics have not been advanced, our inside position on market conditions months ago helped us to keep our prices down. We placed the mills under blanket contract to supply us with fabrics—and today we invite you to test our value-giving power. Our Made-to-Measure garments are far better than the best of "Ready-Made" clothes, our garments will be far better even after a season's wear, than ready-made clothes you will be able to buy then and for which you will undoubtedly have to pay a higher price. Suit or Top Coat Made-To-Your-Measure. English and Scotch Woollen Co. More Quality Less Money. TROUSERS:—We are showing exceptional values in odd trousers from special trouser lengths, so many of these cloths are shown in very limited quantities, we will be obliged to ask customers for a second choice. QUALITY that is distinctive, beauty of fabric, pattern, color and fit that is thoroughly satisfactory—that is what distinguishes our Made-to-Measure garments,—they typify the highest achievements in every respect. Our fabrics have the attractiveness that appeals to the eye, the sturdy wearing qualities that satisfy the requirements of daily service. For economy sake and for the sake of appearance order your next garment Made-to-Your-Measure at any one of our 22 Stores and Tailor Shops,—the garment will pay for itself twice over. LOCAL NEWS

CHARLES STACKHOUSE
The death of Charles Stackhouse of Hickey road occurred this morning after a short illness. He was sixty-eight years old. Besides his wife, he leaves one son, two brothers and three sisters.

ON AN AUTO TRIP.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Best and Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Shaw, of North End, are automobileing to Yarmouth and return via Amherst, Truro and the Annapolis Valley. Postal advices to their friends report splendid roads and fairly good riding weather.

SCOUTS WILL HAVE OUTING.
The Boy Scout Troop of Exmouth street church will hold a picnic at Drury Cove, on the Kennebec, on Saturday. The boys will take their lunches and have a regular typical scout time. Scout Master Harold Hopkins, who is displaying much energy in this troop, has the outing in hand.

FERRY REVENUE LARGER.
Ferry returns for the month of July show an increase in team and passenger travel over the corresponding month last year. During the month 7,986 single teams and 1,869 double teams crossed the ferry, while last year 7,488 single teams and 690 double crossed. The number of passengers crossing during the month was 116,028, showing an increase of 4,175 over July, 1917.

FEWER VESSELS HERE
A report from the harbor master to the commissioner of harbor and ferries shows a falling off in tonnage during the month of July. The total tonnage entering port aggregated 28,916, compared with 89,857 tons for the corresponding month in 1917. Last year 247 vessels entered this port during July, while only 188 came in this year. This is the first month that has not shown an increase since the first of the year.

MISPEC JUNK CASE.
There was a further hearing in the police court this morning in the case of Taxe and O'Brien, charged by Commissioner Hilyard with stealing thirty tons of scrap iron from the premises of the city at Mispec. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter appeared for the city and E. S. Ritchie for the defence. Some further evidence was taken and the case was set over until Tuesday. Bail was granted both Taxe and O'Brien. Dr. Baxter, acting for the prosecution, was in favor of giving the men bail.

PAVING WORK
Commissioner Fisher said today that, if weather conditions are favorable, repairs to Union street should be completed in about ten days. The asphalt plant will then be taken to the street to complete the surface on the southern side of Indian town hill from Adelaide street to Cedar street. He will then have the men go over the section of Indian town hill from Cedar street to Bridge street and have an asphalt top placed over the roadway there. No work will be done between the street-car track section on the hill, as the Commissioner feels that concrete blocks should be used there and the department is not in a position to do that this year.

HELD UP A SOLDIER.
The road-hog is a species of selfish person belonging especially to this age of automobiles. A first-class demonstration of the habits and nature of this undesirable was given on the Westfield road on Monday evening last and the offender was of the genre. A stage battery boy had been granted the right to pass the family cottage on the river. When he started back for the city he had barely half an hour to reach town and ultimately his camp at Red Head, the latter to be reached by auto bus from King square. As he was swinging on to the roadway near his country place the lady chauffeur drove her car leisurely ahead and although the soldier tried to explain by auto toots and attempts to pass that he was in a hurry to reach town the young lady, haughtily ignored him. Every few moments he ran his car up close to attempt passing and each time the lady driver checked him with a burst of speed—a sort of "No-sir-you-won't-pass" determination. So the struggle for first place lasted until Fairville was reached. The soldier boy missed his King square auto bus, got out to camp and, as he had to report to the commanding officer in the morning and do some talk explaining, which just as likely as not, the officer mentally dismissed the soldier. So much for the smart tactics of the chauffette.

ADDS $6,338 TO COST OF FERRY DEPT. COAL

The recent increase in the price of soft coal means an additional expenditure of $6,338.40 yearly for the ferry department, according to the commissioner of harbor and ferries. The fortnightly bills are at hand and the soft coal item alone has been boosted $284.00, or an advance of $329.20 per month. This means that more than $6,000 will have to be expended which were not appropriated for in the yearly estimates.

MRS. C. BLANCHE HOLDER.
During last night the death occurred at the General Public Hospital of Mrs. C. Blanche Holder, the young wife of Samuel J. Holder, the Union street blacksmith, and daughter of Mrs. Augusta and the late Henry Whelpley (ex captain of Harrison street, North End. Mrs. Holder's death was not expected, as she had rallied quite encouragingly during the first few days from a serious operation—an operation made imperative because of a weakened heart. Immediately after the surgical treatment, Mrs. Holder was very low, but she was greatly heartened to have her rally. She leaves three little girls, the oldest seven years. A new baby was buried last week. The surviving members of the family are the mother, Mrs. Augusta Whelpley, F. W. Whelpley, Ethel Whelpley, who is an invalid at present, Mrs. R. Hastings, wife of the well known bank manager, and Harry Whelpley with J. A. McMillan.

Mrs. Holder's father, Henry Alex. Whelpley, died from the effects of a shipboard accident several years ago. The late young wife resided at 29 Cedar street, Indian town, and had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. She was of sweet and bright disposition and will be greatly missed. Mr. Holder and the other bereaved ones, including the children, have general sympathy.

PERMANENT ORDER FOR DARKENING OF THE CITY LIGHTS

Blinds Must Be Drawn At Sunset—Street Lights Permitted But Must Be Shaded—No Electric Signs

Mayor Hayes wishes to notify citizens that all lights will be out again tonight. He is in receipt of the following communication from the committee of public safety:

St. John, N. B., Aug. 9, 1918.
R. T. Hayes, Mayor City of St. John, N. B., City Hall, St. John, N. B.

Worship—At a meeting of the committee of public safety for the port and city of St. John, N. B., held yesterday afternoon, it was decided to ask you to please issue the necessary instructions to have the following regulations carried out by the city authorities and the citizens generally:

1. In addition to headlights on motor cars, motor vehicles, etc., being partly painted or shaded, all street lights must be darkened or shaded in such a manner as to throw the light on the ground; also all street lights which can be directly observed from the sea should have the seaward side darkened or shaded too.
 2. All window blinds on all buildings of whatever nature must be drawn at sunset.
 3. All illuminated signs, advertising displays, etc., are not to be lighted.
- In requesting you to carry out these instructions it will be noted that these are permanent measures until further notice, the same restrictions as are carried out at Halifax, N. S., and elsewhere. It is considered advisable to have these regulations in force continuously, rather than change from light to darkness on submarine presence being notified, as we may not get warning at any time should a submarine act against the city.
- Yours sincerely,
(Sgd.) A. H. MACDONNELL,
Brigadier-General,
Chairman Committee of Public Safety
Port and City of St. John, N. B.

SMALLER RATIONS OF SUGAR FOR CANADA?

Food Board Request Sets Limit at Pound and a Half for Each Person Per Month—Less Than in England

Is Canada to go on European sugar rations? From a recent statement issued by the Canada Food Board it would appear that the people of Canada will soon be allowed one and one-half pounds of sugar per month—the same as in France. In England and the United States two pounds are allowed, according to recent newspaper announcements, and in Italy only one pound.

Under a report of Aug. 4 an Ottawa report says that the Canada Food Board requests a reduction of the sugar ration per capita to one and one-half pounds. And then the board further requests a sort of brown (yellow) sugar be used if possible.

How this request will affect the household's fruit preserving plans is conjectural, but if householders have been caught unawares by this federal appeal to their patriotism the cupboard may be something like Old Mother Hubbard's so far as jams, etc., go the coming winter.

The Canada Food Board says that the one and one-half pound order is a decision based upon a careful survey of the whole situation—the raw sugar situation, the crop on hand and the Allies' requirements. Every Allied nation is being pinched for sweetening until enough is saved to keep everybody going. So far the food skipping measures have averted terrible suffering abroad.

Dr. W. C. Kierstead, New Brunswick deputy for the Canada Food Board, who arrived from Fredericton today, says that he understands the new sugar regulations to be a voluntary matter—a sort of moral obligation upon the people. However, he was not certain of it.

STRONG LOCAL DEMAND FOR LEMON EXTRACT

The lemon extract boozie idea is gaining widespread popularity, since it has been brought prominently before the public through police court channels. An up-town grocer says he is pestered with requests for the flavoring. One man whom he thought to be a countryman buying three bottles at once. When the man returned for the fourth bottle, the grocer refused it, saying: "I guess you have enough lemon for your cake." In the Brussels street district the lemon extract demand is brisk, but shopkeepers are wary of male customers and refuse nine out of every ten requests. One man, after asking for lemon extract and being refused, said: "Well, give me vanilla, then, I guess that will do." The whole thing is a source of annoyance to grocers and the less mercenary ones are asking if there is no relief available.

UP TO THE RAILWAY

For some time Commissioner Fisher has been corresponding with Canadian Government Railway officials in Moncton with a view to having them make repairs to an area at Reed's Point, where the tracks repair a section of Erin street. He has received a communication from C. P. Brown, assistant general manager of the C. G. R. at Moncton, to the effect that when the latter comes to the city in the near future, he will look into the matter and see the commissioner personally. Commissioner Fisher also desires the railway to repair a section of Erin street, where their tracks cross the street, and also at Mill street crossing.

COLORLED TROOPS MUSICAL

Today's instalment of colored recruits were a musical lot, and their close harmonies attracted considerable attention in the depot. There must be about 1,500 of these swartzy troops at the Nova Scotia training camps by this time. They came from the United States.
