

"A GOOD PLACE TO BUY GOOD CLOTHES"

Evening Dress Suits

"I don't want to buy this morning," said a young man who came into our store a few days ago; "Just want to see your dress suits."

He tried on a couple of coats, thanked the salesman and walked out.

In the afternoon he returned and said "I'll take that suit I looked at this morning. I know more now about dress suits than I ever did. I've seen them all. Finish this and send it to the Dufferin tomorrow morning."

It was a 20th Century Brand Dress Suit. They're good clothes and their values are real values. Dress Suits, $28. White Dress Vests, $2 and $2.75.

Important Evidence Now Looked for in Graft Inquiry Over Turf Bill

New York, Dec. 2.—The books of the Metropolitan Turf Association, an organization of book makers which flourished before the passage of the Hughes anti-grafting bill, will be produced before the legislature graft investigating committee today.

This announcement was made by J. J. Kresel of counsel for the committee, who said that James R. Evans, treasurer of the association, who was subpoenaed on Wednesday had agreed to appear today, bringing the books, evidence which the committee has been most anxious to acquire.

G. P. R. BIG STEAMERS FOR BOTH OCEANS

Montreal, Dec. 2.—(Special)—It was announced this morning at the C. P. R. headquarters that plans for construction of the largest and most up-to-date steamships for the C. P. R.'s Pacific and Atlantic fleets, which have been under consideration, will, with the arrival of Sir Arthur Peers, who is now on his way here for a special conference with Sir Thomas Shillington, be completed and contracts awarded. It is expected these steamships will be ready for service by 1912.

The order, when given, will be the largest of its kind in the history of the country.

DOCTORS REVIVE THE CONTENTION FOR OPEN HOSPITAL DOOR

Medical Men Met Last Night to Discuss Action in Reference to St. John Institution

The doctors not on the hospital staff are renewing their agitation to be given the right of attending to their own patients who are taken to the private or semi-private wards in the hospital for treatment. This matter was taken up by the commissioners some time ago and the application refused.

A meeting of doctors interested was held last evening, and it was decided to again press their claims, and if necessary, to present a petition to the commissioners. It may be that legislation will be sought, if they are not successful otherwise.

HOUSE OF COMMONS TO ADJOURN ON DEC. 11 FOR XMAS HOLIDAYS

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 2.—On December 10, the Commons will rise for the holidays. The senate has adjourned until January 11.

TOMORROW WILL GIVE LINE ON ELECTIONS

The indications are that it is more likely to be in favor of unionists than radicalism.

Today's S.S. By Acclamation

The nucleus of the next House of Commons is formed today by the unexpected return of eleven Unionists and four Radicals, all with mandates to the commons.

There has been no transfer of seats from one party to the other. The Unionists elected Joseph Chamberlain, Birmingham; A. J. Balfour, George Wyndham, Dover; and J. S. Harcourt-Banner, Liverpool; while Thomas Burt, long the representative of the miners in Merthyr, came back on the Liberal side.

A. A. Haworth had an unexpected walk over to South Manchester, the Unionist candidate P. K. Glazebrook turning up at the last moment. Glazebrook explained that he had thought that the hours for voting nominations were from 12 to 2 o'clock but his protest was disallowed and Haworth declared elected.

Tomorrow will see seventy polls. The constituencies are so scattered throughout the United Kingdom that the results should furnish a fair index of the feeling of the country, inquiry as to those formerly held by Liberals, twenty-six by Unionists and eight by Laborites. In many cases the majorities were so small that the verdict of January last may easily be reversed.

One Unionist forecast is a net gain of thirty seats and Unionist optimists see the possibility of an anti-government landslide. However the confidence of the Liberals in a return to power with an undiminished coalition majority is unshaken.

The Daily Telegraph says that in consequence he will close early about the middle of December and he is closed until some time in January, when he will bring out "The Count of Luxembourg."

TEMPLE OF HONOR COURSE

A large number of people were present last night in the Temple Building, Main street at the opening lecture of the Alexandra Temple of Honor course. H. W. Wilson occupied the chair, and a fine programme of instrumental and vocal solos and readings were successfully given.

KINGS COUNTY LUMBER

(Success Record.)
The Messrs. Flewelling, Hampton, are entering for one of the largest cuts in their history this winter. About eight million feet of logs will be handled and has a busy season ahead of it. Some very large shipments for foreign buyers are being got in readiness. The closing down of the Cushing mill at St. John has cut off the box supply very materially in the St. John district and the Flewelling concern is handling its old orders as well as a number which previously went to the St. John concern.

Considerable lumber will be shipped from Sussex station next spring. There are a number of portable mills getting ready for business in this vicinity and some of them will have fairly large lots of logs to handle. Mr. Crandall, of Moncton, is erecting his mill on the Oldfield Mace property, Newmarket, and will saw close on to a million. This will be shipped from the military siding. King McFarlane will locate his mill on the Albert Sander property on Parlee Brook and expects to bring in a million feet. Another mill will work on the old Greig property at Newmarket. This lumber will also be forwarded from Sussex.

LAST NIGHT'S VOTE

The House of Commons at an early hour this morning declared by a large majority that it approves of a Canadian navy, to be an integral part of the navy of the empire. Mr. Borden and his followers voted in opposition to the policy which they approved less than two years ago. Mr. Foster made a long speech, performing at the same time the feat so aptly described by Mr. McDonald as that of swallowing himself. Mr. Monk would not support Mr. Borden's amendment, but Mr. Borden supported that of Mr. Monk. The Conservative party has not appeared to good advantage in this affair. It has kept too close to the Nationalists, whose policy would separate Canada from the empire and also keep alive the race issue in this country. It is useless now for Mr. Borden to demand an appeal to the people on the naval programme, for his record shows that less than two years ago he supported that programme. He has once more demonstrated his unfitness to be the leader of a great party. Mr. Foster, after making his speech last night left the chamber along with seven other Ontario Conservatives before the vote on the Monk amendment was called. Mr. Borden stayed and voted for it, though Col. Sam Hughes declined to swallow the dose. On this, as on other matters, the Conservative party is divided. The Liberals, on the other hand, are united in support of a policy that is alike true to the interests of Canada and the empire.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

The annual meeting of the board of trade, to be held next Monday afternoon, should be attended by every member who can make it convenient to do so. Mayor Frink will address the meeting on the proposal to dispose of the west side wharves to the government. It will be remembered that at the beginning of his term as president of the board, Mr. T. H. Estabrook urged that action be taken to provide St. John with permanent streets. Following the agitation then begun, a fine beginning has been made, and the paved sections of Main, Smythe, Water and Germain streets are the result. The board has had a busy year, and has done much for the benefit of the city. Its efforts should be continued, for St. John has entered upon an era of expansion, and many matters call for the careful study of business men, in order that a policy adopted may be good not only for the city of the present but the larger city of the future. The board during the next year could not do better than devote its attention in large measure to the questions of civic government and civic taxation. Monday's meeting should set the pace.

THE FERRY DEFICIT

If the $2,000 voted last night is used, the ferry this year will cost $19,000 more than the receipts. This is a pretty large order, and suggests that there should be some further enquiry about a bridge. It is true that the ferry is in a better state than formerly, and that there has been considerable expenditure of an extraordinary character, in rebuilding wharf and pontoons, and possibly this work will not have to be done over again for some time. But there is said to be a growing necessity for an additional ferry boat, which would call for further large expenditure and an enlarged cost of operation. The council should look this question squarely in the face, with regard not merely to the present but the future. The annual deficit, with the interest on the cost of a new ferry boat, would go a long way toward paying the interest on the city's share of the cost of a bridge.

A SERIOUS QUESTION

Mr. Peter McArthur, an Ontario farmer, in a letter to the Toronto Globe declares that the farmers of that province are opposed to a naval programme of any kind. He says they are not disloyal to the empire, but would cheerfully fight in its defence if necessary. He says that they look upon the naval programme as the result of a manufactured scare, and believe that there is no need at all for a Canadian navy. Mr. McArthur asserts that this feeling among farmers is almost unanimous, although he declares that he himself is in favor of a navy.

Mr. McArthur is probably not very well informed. The farmers are surely as self-respecting as other folk, and they must realize that somebody must provide for the defence of Canada and the empire. They would probably regard as a feeble minded person one who would say that the British navy ought to be dismantled. The navy is the first line of imperial defence. It is true there is a vigorous agitation in Quebec province against a navy, and it may be true at the present time of many Quebec farmers that they are opposed to a navy; but taking the country at large it is surely very wrong to say that there is any considerable feeling in opposition to immediate action by Canada to place herself in a position to share in the defence of the empire. If there is such feeling, it is the leaders of public opinion, and those who realize fully the importance of placing Canada in line with the mother country and the other overseas states in regard to the whole question of imperial defence began to bestir themselves. Some observations made by the Victoria Colonist (Conservative) are especially worthy of note.

The Colonist says:—

"It seems almost unthinkable that a rich, prosperous, growing country like Canada, a country of illimitable possibilities, can be content to remain a part of the British Empire, and yet shrink at participation in the maintenance of the first line of defence. It makes one blush with shame to be told that the people of Canada would, if they were given a chance, refuse to take up any part of the imperial burden of defence; that they would shirk behind the petticoats of their great Mother Land; that they would ask the burdened taxpayers of the United Kingdom to stand between them and all harm; that they are unwilling to send a ship or the money to build one to defend the heart of the Empire; that they are too small-souled to even make a beginning of defending their own coasts. There ought to be an efficient squadron on both of Canada's ocean fronts; there ought to be at least one fighting ship, paid for with Canadian money, ready to defend the shore of the land that has always stood ready to defend our shores. We refuse to believe that the majority of the people of Canada are so lacking in manliness, not to say patriotism, that they will refuse to discharge any part of this obligation, an obligation that ought to be a pride as well as a duty. What we fear is that the politicians will so confuse the public mind that it may fail to appreciate the real nature of the great issue. Two years ago Parliament was unanimous in declaring in favor of the participation of Canada in the naval defence of the Empire. The government adopted as its own a resolution to that effect moved by the opposition. That resolution was said to represent the opinion of the people of Canada. Can such a resolution be carried unanimously now, and if not why not? Much more depends upon the answer to this question than some may think. We are living in days heavy with responsibilities to Canada and the empire."

The smoker to be held by the Young Liberals this evening will be an event of much interest.

Large manufacturing concerns are opening maritime headquarters in St. John. This is another cheering sign of the times.

New Brunswick apples have been winning more prizes in London. Which goes to show that more attention should be given to the orchard industry in this province.

Seldom has there been a more universal expression of relief and pleasure in this city than was heard this morning when news came of the safety of the pilot boat which it was feared had foundered in the storm.

Thanks to one lady's beneficence, New Brunswick will have a sanitarium for consumptive, limited, it is true, as to present accommodation, but capable of expansion by the addition of cottages. This is a great forward step in the fight against the white plague. The provincial government will do well to be liberal in its provision for the maintenance of this institution.

Speaking at Missoula, Montana, a few days ago, Dr. George R. Parlin pointedly reminded his hearers that the people of this continent could learn many lessons from such countries as Britain, France, Germany and Italy. The Missoulian, commenting on his address, says:—"Dr. Parlin's bitter medicine is a good dose; it is the sort of corrective which Americans need. We know we are the best people on earth, but we should not rest upon that knowledge; there is a chance to be better."

A man seldom has any money. Before he gets married he spends it; after marriage his wife spends it.

Virtue isn't always satisfied with its own reward.

AFTER AWHILE

(Mr. H. L. Spencer)

After awhile the flowers will wave,
For Nature is kind—above his grave.
After awhile his head will rest
Upon his mother's loving breast.
After awhile, on fluttering wing
At his head and feet the birds will sing.
After awhile the leaves will fall
Over his form—a kindly pall.
And after awhile the circles small
In the sea of time that were made by his fall
Will cease to exist, from shore to shore
And its face will be calm as it was before.
No more of the world; the world will smile
And grieve as it's wont to go, after awhile.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

GRADUATING PROGRESS
"How is your wife getting along?" we ask of our friend.
"Splendidly," he beams. "The doctor began with a tonic consisting of a new hat every two weeks, and now he's got just so that she can wear a seal skin coat and a full set of emerald lace."—Chicago Post.

SYMPATHY
Lady of the house (sincerely):—"Mother! I love! Help!"
Barbar:—"Alum, you've got an awful cold; why don't you do something for it?"

ANSWERED
Maud:—"Did I suggest give her age when she was asked?"
Clara:—"No."
"Did she refuse?"
"No. She said she was twenty."

HOPEFUL
Bramble:—"Yes, I'm ugly—I know I'm ugly—but there is one great consolation."
Friend:—"What is that?"
Bramble:—"It ever I should become great and the people of our great country should resolve to erect a monument to my memory, they won't be able to make me out any uglier than I am."

NOT THE LATHERY KIND.

A farmer came to the city the other day and among other things, he visited a high-class restaurant. His appetite ran to cheese, and, inquiring of the waiter what sort of cheese was used, remarked that he desired "something new."

"Why don't you try a bit of Roquefort?" suggested the waiter.

"What's that?" asked the farmer. "Hang it," he added, "bring me some I like the name anyway."

He ate it and liked it. So he thought he would take some home to his wife. Arriving late he laid the small cheese wrapped in silver paper on the sideboard.

He forgot to inquire about it till next night, and when he asked his wife how she liked it.

"Oh, I s'pose it's mighty stylish up to the city, but I s'pose kinder couldn't use it. I couldn't get no foam out of it, and when I washed the children they smelled kinder funny, and I can't say I like it."—Philadelphia Times.

THE REFORMATION
I feel it wrong to stroll along
The idle path of pleasure
And wish to say that I today
Renounce a life of leisure.

My mind's made up, and I will stop
On duty fare no longer,
But have instead a crust of bread
(This crust should be stronger).

Through rain and snow, though winds may blow,
And roads be rough and hilly,
I'll take my way from day to day
(Please shut the door, 'tis chilly).

Thus on I'll tread with lifted head

Some Queer Inventions
The government Patent Office in Washington contains some odd and unique patents, the models being stored away in the archives of the great building. There is one patent of a self-lifting hat, claimed by the inventor to do away with the wasted energy of lifting one's hat to a lady. This hat is provided with a crown with a pendulum. When the wearer bows the pendulum is set in motion and the gear is released, raising and tipping the hat.

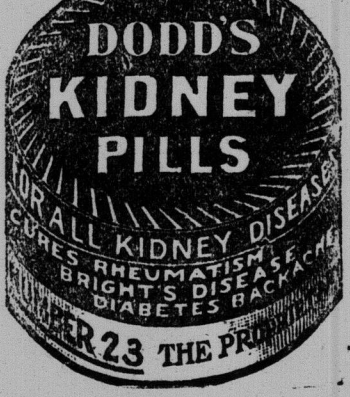

One inventor claims to have benefited mankind with a skeleton cat—a feline which works by clockwork and contains a bellows inside, swelling up its tail and emitting sounds to wake up the entire neighborhood. The cat's claws are made of steel, and when the terrible-looking animal is wound up and placed on a roof according to the inventor, it is in perfect condition to deal death to every midnight prowling cat.

Another inventor has been granted a patent on a phosphorus-eyed cat, for the sole purpose of frightening away prowling mice. The eyes of the cat are claimed to shine out in the dark and give a terrible glare to the mouse.

One of the most unique inventions on record is that of a Frenchman who applied to the Patent Office for letters patent on a great suction tube. It was the plan of the foreigner to lay his great suction tube along the coast of our country, the end reaching out into the water. He claimed that with the powerful drawing force of the tube the enemy's warships would be drawn up to the mouth of it and then our soldiers could lay waste the vessel from shore.

A California man was granted a patent on an electric whip. This whip has two forked ends and at the butt end contains a storage battery. When the whip, according to the inventor is touched to the back of the horses, they receive a slight shock strong enough to make them increase their pace.

DRESSY BLOUSE OF PRINTED AND EMBROIDERED CREPE

While this blouse, intended for wear with tailored coat and skirt costumes of dark worsted materials or mohair, appears exceedingly dressy and elaborate, the design is really most simple. The model is a seamless peasant style with sleeves in one with the blouse, and all the elaboration is achieved by means of embroidery. This embroidery is done in blue shades upon a blue printed crepe material, the printed pattern being used as a basis for the embroidery motifs. Touches of black and white add to the effectiveness of the embroidered design. The blouse opens at the top in three-cornered turned-back pieces over a yoke of black chamois lace. These turned-back pieces and also the girdle and cuffs are made of Colonial buff velvet.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

"W HERE, I know she'll never forgive me, but I just couldn't help giving her a piece of my mind."

The lady who spoke had just said all she thought—and in the heat and abandon of the moment, a good deal more, I suspect—about a certain celt, to which one of her dearest friends was deeply devoted.

She had been impulsive.

She had been undignified.

She had hurt her good friend deep, deep down where hurts are powerfully apt to fester instead of healing.

But she had had the exquisite pleasure of giving away a piece of her mind.

Wonder if it paid?

Looks to me like a very big price to pay.

I should think you might call that being "generous to a fault"—that is, being willing to give away a piece of one's mind at such a cost.

And what a lot of people are generous that way.

I was talking just the other day to a clever girl who has somehow failed to receive the advancement in her business career that one would expect from her unusual brains and ability.

The talk turned on this delicate subject.

"I'll tell you just what I think it is," she said frankly.

"You know I never could be smooth-tongued and hypocritical like some folks, and even when people were above me I never could keep from giving them a piece of my mind once in awhile."

Lucky she was clever. If she hadn't been her propensity would doubtless have cost her her position as well as her advancement.

Of course there come to all of us cases in which these uncontrollable fits of generosity when we feel that we simply must give someone a piece of our minds.

To most generous impulses it is well to yield before a cold-blooded second thought has time to annihilate them.

But as to this kind of generosity—well it seems to me it is good to remember when one is attacked this way, that blessed as it is to give away things, most of us have need of all our brains for the business of living and can't afford to give away a piece of our minds, however small.

When cooked on both sides remove to a hot serving dish and sprinkle with crushed and sweetened pineapple. Bake the remainder of the batter in the same way, filling in layers with the pineapple between the cakes. Cut in triangular pieces, like pie, and serve very hot.

CREAMED BACON

Cut the bacon in thin slices, cover it with milk and let it stand for about 20 minutes. Then remove it from the milk and roll each piece in flour (discard the rest of the milk). Fry in a hot pan with a tiny piece of fat and put the bacon in it. Let it fry till crisp and brown. Then place it upon a hot platter and pour over it a cream sauce prepared from the milk that the bacon was soaked in. The cream sauce should be boiling hot. Decorate with parsley and serve immediately.

PINEAPPLE PANCAKES

Make a batter, using a half pound sifted flour, and three good-sized eggs, with a cupful of milk. This makes a very thin batter. When smooth and free from lumps, bake in a well buttered frying pan, making the cakes about eight inches in diameter. As soon as brown on one side, turn

RAISED RAISIN CAKE

Discard half a square of compressed yeast in one large cup of lukewarm milk, and stir in one pound of flour; let rise in a warm place for one hour. Add one cup of butter and sugar, yolks of four eggs, one cup of stout raisins, some citric acid, and one cup of lemon juice. Stir this into the dough, beating it very light (it is best to use the hand); let rise again in a warm place and bake in an even but moderate oven.

DOCTOR TOLD HER SHE DID NOT HAVE A PINT OF GOOD BLOOD IN HER BODY.

Mrs. Dorothea P. Cormier, Middle Sackville, N.B., says:

"In the spring of 1897 I was all run down, and the doctor told me I had not a pint of good blood in my body. I took different remedies from doctors, but they did not seem to do me any good. After having taken a lot of different other kinds of medicine, and they did not seem to benefit me, I was almost in despair and did not know what to do until my husband met a lady and told her about my sickness and she told him to try Burdock Blood Bitters as she had received the greatest benefit from using it. My husband went and bought me a bottle, and after having taken it I felt better, so I kept on using it until after another bottle I was again feeling better and then I was strong and well. I am now a healthy woman and I feel that it is due to the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. One spring since then I was feeling very well and had a lot of work to do, so I thought I would secure a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and after I had taken two I was able to do a lot of hard work all the summer, and I never felt better in my life. In the winter of 1909 I had pneumonia, and it left me with a severe pain in the left side. Every morning when I would get out of bed I had to sit down for a while as it was so painful. After I had used Burdock Blood Bitters the pain disappeared completely. It has also cured me of bleeding piles. I have received so much benefit from Burdock Blood Bitters that you may publish this as it may help others who are in need of it."

Robert McElroy

Robert McElroy, aged 61, one of the leading millmen of Carleton county, died at his home in Grafton yesterday afternoon. He leaves three sons, George, Everett, and Harry; and four daughters—Mrs. Wallace Gibson, Mrs. Warren Hale, Miss Louise and Miss Jennie. Mr. McElroy was formerly in business with his son, but recently on account of ill health sold his interest to Edward Murrice and the firm has changed to McElroy & Murrice.

Cheesecloth Useful

Though few women are aware of the fact, cheesecloth is one of the most useful of materials, and no household is quite complete unless it contains a quantity of the cloth. Cheesecloth tents make good coverings for house plants during cold weather, when they can be covered to prevent danger from frost. The peaks of these tents are fastened to a center stake, the end of which is embedded in the plant pot. Barrel cellar windows are made insect-proof by the use of cheesecloth, and the thin material allows the air to enter, although shutting out the light, unlike the common netting. Many other uses can be found for cheesecloth in the home, and almost every day its necessity is discovered.

DR. TORREY'S MEETINGS

Tonight at 7 o'clock the doors of the Queen's Hall will be opened and at 7:30 the song service will begin. As all indications point to a record attendance, the singers and other assistants are requested to be on hand earlier than usual. This will be the last week night service and Mr. McElroy is planning a programme of specially attractive music which will include the songs that have become most popular during the mission.

At 8 o'clock Dr. Torrey will speak on the subject, "The World or Christ, Which?"

The afternoon meeting will be at 2 and the subject, "How to Study the Bible."

On Sunday the mission will be brought to close. At 3:30 p. m. in response to a very general request, a great mass meeting for men only will be held and Dr. Torrey will speak on Sin. At 4 p. m. a meeting for women only will take place at the Queen's Hall church, to be addressed by Mrs. Moody Palmer of Chicago, a speaker who has been remarkably successful in work with women, both in Europe and the United States.

At 7 o'clock the first night service begins and at 8 o'clock the second and farewell meeting.

Last night's text was "Be sure your sin will find you out." The sermon was one of the most impressive yet delivered by Rev. Mr. McKinnon in this community only at Lake's, Rev. Mr. Purdie.

Remember, I am giving my guarantee upon what has been accomplished by the use of Rexall's "33" Hair Tonic.

I have the right to assume that what I have done for thousands of others will do for you. In any event you can't lose anything by giving it a trial on my liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall's "33" Hair Tonic at all drug stores, or write to our store, The Rexall Store, Chas. R. Watson, 100 King street.

VERDICT AGAINST POLICE IN METROPOLITAN CASE

The Metropolitan Hotel case of Gertrude Hopper vs. Chief Clerk, Sergeant Campbell and Police Constables Rankine, Sheehan, Lewis and Marshall was concluded in the district court yesterday afternoon. The jury after two hours' deliberation returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, awarding her $250 damages. The verdict resulted in a vindication of the plaintiff's character and also characterized the Metropolitan Hotel as a reputable house.

The jury in the afternoon and the case was left with the jury. The case from the public standpoint was one of the most interesting tried here in years. It arose out of a raid on the Metropolitan Hotel on the night of March 17, 1909. The plaintiff, who is a stepdaughter of Charles Grogan, proprietor of the hotel, in company with several others, was arrested on a charge of being an inmate of a bawdy house. The charge of being an inmate of a bawdy house was not pressed against the plaintiff, she in company with her mother, being allowed to go. In bringing the action she claimed damages on the ground of assault, wrongful arrest and false imprisonment.

On concluding his address yesterday afternoon, Judge Barry submitted on his own behalf several questions for the jury to answer in bringing in a verdict. He also submitted questions on behalf of Mr. Mullin and Recorder Baxter.

BELLISLE BAY SCOW GETS INTO POLITICS

G. B. Jones, M. P. P., is Asked for Some Information About High Handed Procedure

Editor Times:

Sir,—One year ago last April the Hazen government built and put in commission a ferry scow, for the transportation of the travelling public, to and from across the waters of Bellisle bay, near Long Point.

The scow was built by one David Jones of the parish of Kars and by the way an uncle of G. B. Jones, M. P. P.

Committees appointed: Jas. Donnelly, foreman, assisted by Bros. Morrison, Billiard, Thorne and Dumbuck. Officers were elected by the officers of the district. The tellers were Bros. Brown, of L. O. L. No. 141, and Wm. Simpson, of L. O. L. No. 24. Many speeches were made by the officers at the close.

But as Mr. Jones lived in a cove where it always freezes over from ten days to a fortnight earlier than it does in the river, of course it was necessary for him to get her down before his little cove froze over, which would deprive him of getting a few dollars for hauling her out in the fall, painting, etc., in the spring.

But the end is not yet—About two weeks ago, although the weather was fine and warm, again Mr. Jones arrived and told me that he had come for the scow to lay her on the bed where she slept so securely last winter.

And still there is more to follow. The fact is Mr. Jones' son was moving across the river and with some other ferrying that he wanted done, he takes the scow built by the government with the people's money and utilizes her for his own personal benefit, whilst those who wished to cross the river, can stay on the side where they are, or drive fourteen miles to get on the opposite side. What the public on both sides of the river are asking is: What right has Mr. Jones to take the scow from where she belongs, even to pass the winter on his shore, three miles away from her moorings, when Mr. Morrell is as competent a man to take her out of the water and care for her during the winter as any man either in Kars or Springfield.

Will Mr. David Jones of Kars, or Mr. G. B. Jones, M. P. P., be kind enough to give the public some information regarding this kind of procedure, and unfair treatment?

Of course the Liberals of Kars and Springfield are smiling up their sleeves as they hear the Conservatives on all sides pronouncing anathemas on such a government. The strongest of them declare that they will not stand for this sort of thing and are anxiously waiting for the time to come when they will have an opportunity to help redress the wrong. It is conceded by both Conservatives and Liberals that David has done more to make possible the defeat of the Hazen government at the next election in the above named parishes than any other force or influence that is or may be brought to bear.

However, our advice to David is to "go on," while he has the opportunity for the day is not far distant when his voice will not be heard even in the county council.

The river is still open, and not a day passes but the scow is needed. People from a distance, not aware of the fact come to the shore expecting to ferry—When the doctor is needed from Hatfield's point, which has been the case every day, he must take the drive around or he at great inconvenience getting teams to convey him after crossing in a boat. All this is due to the fact that David Jones owns the scow.

DAVID JONES, CONSERVATIVE.

YORK L. O. L. MEETING

York L. O. L. No. 3, met in their hall in Germain street last evening, W. M. G. A. Earle in the chair. Bro. Jas. Donnelly was presented with a handsome collar by the W. M. Bro. Geo. A. Earle in recognition of the great assistance he has given York L. O. L. No. 3, during the last year. The presentation was made by Grand Secretary Neil J. Morrison, of the Grand Lodge, in a very neat address.

The lodge then proceeded to nomination of officers, as follows: W. M., Geo. A. Earle; D. M., Geo. Gordon; chaplain, Geo. Oldford; E. S., Walter W. Gray; F. S., E. S. Hennigar; treasurer, Chas. Beers; D. C., Frank Gillett; lecturer, R. H. McIntyre; D. L., Chesley D. Colwell; I. Tyler, Ed. Dickie.

Scratched Until I Tore The Flesh

"It was in the latter end of the year 1908 that a nasty itch came through my skin, and I scratched it until I tore the flesh. I tried several ointments to no effect. I went to a skin hospital. They advised me to go to the Hospital, but I refused. I could not sleep with the constant itch. I was that way until one o'clock about the middle of January. One day I chanced to see in the papers a cure like mine, but I gave it no credence. At last I said, 'I will try Cuticura Remedies. With the first wash and Cuticura Ointment I used, I found their effects. I got one box of the Ointment more, and in less than one week the skin was all right, and left no traces after it. I have not had a return of the same ailment, and I shall always praise the Cuticura Remedies, being the means of my cure.'"

(Signed) John Tyrell, Liverpool.

In a further letter Mr. Tyrell writes: "The first appearance of my skin eczema was a burning itch which I tore and left bleeding, legs and arms one mass of sores. It caused sleepless nights, but now I can sleep as well as ever."

TWICE RECOVERED HIS SIGHT.
A remarkable case of a blind man's seeing after years of blindness happened at Northampton recently.
A grocer named George Vaughan, aged 64, who was quite blind, recovered his sight five years ago. He collided with a pillar box and immediately found his sight had been restored.
Some time afterward he again lost his sight, but recovered it again some hours before his death. He was then able to see and recognize the members of his family—

Changed His $100 Bill
(Louisville Times)
When Capt. Tom Hanlon, the well known New Albany politician, was a conductor on the Southern Railway through Kentucky he came in contact with many remarkable characters. One unique one was a gentleman from the rural districts who had a habit of boarding Capt. Hanlon's train and producing a century note, which he offered in payment for his four-mile journey.
Of course, the conductor was invariably shy the required amount to make the necessary change for the $100 bill, and so the practice of riding for nothing continued until the wily "railroader" hit upon the novel plan of getting sufficient here in 5 and 1 cent pieces to take his customer's "big bill" into camp, which he did, with the result that thereafter the gentleman from the timber region always handed over the exact amount when he was asked for his fare.

ARE MILITARISTS NOW

(Ottawa Free Press.)
General Bourassa of the Nationalist forces having sailed across the sea to foreign shores, the command of the army outside of Parliament has fallen into the hands of that ardent militarist, Captain Armand Lavergne of the 61st regiment; and he and his allies appear to have determined to wipe out the stigma of their shameful campaign against the marine department in Drummond and Arthursville now proving that they can be more vocif-erous in their demand for an active military policy than ever Col. Sam Hughes.
Not only did Captain Lavergne tell the Toronto Military Institute on Saturday week that he favored the creation of forty thousand new troops, but he also declared for a policy which would provide for the rapid mobilization of our military forces, and would prevent the cutting of our lines of communication east and west.
"We have three thousand miles of open frontier, where there does not exist a single fort which would be able to retard the advance of the enemy," he said.
"In Drummond! Speak it not in Arthursville!" The Nationalists have now become the advanced militarists and are demanding more expenditure upon armaments!

SAYS $3,000 INCOME IS NOT ENOUGH

Mrs. La Bar Asks Court to Make it $4,000—She Goes
Over the Items of Interest
New York, Dec. 2.—"It is impossible for a woman to live in comfort in New York on $3,000 a year."
This is the statement of Mrs. Janina La Bar, who has petitioned the orphan court of Seneca Park, to allow her an additional thousand dollars so she can send her 11-year-old son to school.
The things Mrs. La Bar thinks absolutely necessary for a modest menage are:

"One servant.
To dress, not handsomely, but neatly.
A healthful apartment.
The best the market affords for the table.
A vacation to the seashore country or mountains every summer.
"I can't get along on $3,000," said Mrs.
La Bar "and I'm not extravagant, either, because I don't owe a cent."
"Ten years ago, when my husband was alive, we lived well at a hotel and went to the seashore every year. We had a maid to wait on the boy, but didn't keep house."
"Now it is absolutely impossible for us to live at a hotel on account of the expense and we have to take an apartment.
It is only a moderate sort of one, but comfortable, in the first place I'm not strong enough to do the work, and in the second place there is no reason why I should put my time in the kitchen. I consider a servant one of the necessities.
"Then butter, eggs meat and everything else has gone up so and I insist upon the best for my table, because that was what I was raised to have, and I am unwilling to eat inferior stuff or give them to my boy. I consider money spent for good food an insurance out of which you get heaps of pleasure besides.
"People in Seneca Park, ask me why I don't move into the country, because I could live much cheaper there and economize. I don't see what good that would be—the prospect looks unutterably dark to me. I would be lonely, and I don't like the country any-
how. New York is a necessity.
"In regard to clothes, A woman in New York, if she is to be presentable at all, must have decent and appropriate clothes, and some of them I will confess to fixing over. That saves a great item of expense for the budget. I don't think imported clothes and I don't like the country any-
how. New York is a necessity.
"There is a small amount of entertaining that is obligatory and an occasional trip out of town during the summer and doctor bills every once in a while.
"We have $500 a year now, but I simply could not pinch out another cent, for we are living up to the last penny now, unostentatiously as we are established. My boy has been with me so much and I want him to be taken care of by me now, and put through a good discipline to keep him from being effeminate through my influence. That's why I have chosen a military school for him, and that will cost $500 a year, including board and laundry, but not uniforms or gymnasium or books.
I consider the school a necessity.
"During my husband's life our income was $6,000 a year, and the estate is now yielding at least $8,000 so I don't see what law there can be that refuses a woman half of her income."

COME IN ANYTIME and it will be our pleasure to show you our tremendous stock of everything in JEWELRY suitable for everybody in the family from Grandpa down to the toddling tot.

Most important of all to you —compare our prices with those of others.

The provost of St. John last evening paid an official visit to St. David's church, where a large congregation attended. Rev. H. E. Reid, presided, and addresses were given by Rev. Messrs. W. M. Townsend, G. Dickie, and J. H. A. Anderson. Rev. Jas. Ross was also present.

MANCHESTER TRADER IN

Manchester line steamer Manchester Trader, Captain Maguire, arrived off the island last night and docked at No. 5 berth, Sand Point, this morning. She encountered strong easterly gales all the way across, otherwise the voyage was not productive of anything out of the ordinary. She discharged 167 tons of her cargo at Halifax and there remains 432 tons for this port.

ST. JOHN MAN DROWNED

A traveller for a city firm called at the Times-Star office this morning and brought news of a drowning accident which occurred in Quebec in February last, but which, so far as is known, has not been reported. The commercial man said that he had met on the train coming to the city this morning, J. C. McDonald, of Mabou, C. B., who was passing through to his home after spending some time in the woods in the vicinity of the G. T. P. He asked the traveller to inform the Times-Star of the drowning of a young man about twenty years old who was said to belong to St. John, and whose name was either Patrick Turner or Patrick Gurney, who had been employed in the woods of Quebec by the G. T. P., but who met death in the St. Lawrence in February last.

THE MISSING PILOT BOAT IS ALL RIGHT

Came Through Big Storm in the Bay and Reached Rockland, Me., Safely—Word Received Today

There is joy in the homes of pilots Miller, Spears, and Sherwood and Capt. Smith and crew of the pilot boat No. 5, J. U. Thomas, (formerly the Defender), of which no tidings had been heard since she left port on Thursday last. She was practically given up as lost but word came today that all are safe and are probably now on their return here.

The good news came in the form of postal cards from Pilot Miller and Spears from Rockland, Maine. They were dated November 30, and show that the schooner passed through the storm of Saturday and Sunday all right, in fact this much is said in one of the cards.

The card from Pilot Charles H. Miller is very short, but a few words, but they mean much to Mrs. Miller and her little family. He simply says: "We arrived safely in Rockland, Me."

That from Pilot William Spears gives some brief details. He says that they were caught off the Larchers in the storm and had to run before it.

Late last night he had been practically abandoned as at no place along the coast had anything been seen or heard of the missing pilot boat.

PRISONER GOT AWAY; CITIZEN FAILED IN DUTY TO THE POLICE

A Lively Time in North Street Late on Wednesday Night Illustrates Police Difficulties

Quite an exciting scene was witnessed late on Wednesday night in North Market street. There had been some trouble between youths near lunch wagon, and one young man had received a very bad blow, splitting his nose open, and causing blood to flow profusely from the wound. He had been drinking, it is said, and made considerable effort to get into the lunch cart where the man who had struck him had gone, in order to retaliate if possible. While this was going on, quite a crowd gathered, and a policeman soon put in an appearance, taking the man who had been assaulted in charge, and placing handcuffs on one wrist, evidently thinking that he would have to make more than one arrest.

Seeing that he could not get the prisoner into the lunch wagon where the other man had gone, the policeman handed his charge over to a citizen, said to be a fireman, who promised to look after him until the policeman came out of the cart.

The policeman then went inside, while the fireman held the prisoner. It is said that at this time a man in the crowd called to the fireman to let the prisoner go, and, not thinking of the consequence, probably, he did so, and the prisoner, still with the handcuffs on his wrist ran off and out of sight.

When the policeman came from the lunch wagon he was surprised to find that his man had escaped and the fireman, realizing his mistake, had gone too. The policeman made after the latter and caught up with him in Union street, but what transpired there is not known. It is believed that the policeman had intended bringing his prisoner into the lunch wagon for the purpose of identifying his assailant.
