Inspector Kelly Submits Plea for Guidance of Misguided Children.

SIGN ADVERTISER BALLOT

Citizens Must Clamor For Action To Get Court Vital To City.

In a stirring plea for the misdirected or misguided child, Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society, whose years of experience in the above capacity in London and Middlesex County are ample qualifications for an authoritative statement on the question, declares that a juvenile court should be established in this city.

"We have not the proper method of dealing with the misdirected or misguided child, who perhaps has committed his first 'petty theft,' and who needs protection and guidance rather than punishment and humiliation," said Inspector Kelly today.

He then described the procedure taken for such cases in London. Following a complaint being laid against the child, he is summoned to trial. His parents are notified, and they attend court with the child, who is confronted with a constable in uniform for the second time, the first meeting being when the officer delivered the summons at his home.

"A plea is taken and evidence heard as in criminal cases," continued Mr. Kelly. "All of this is in the presence of the accused child. Perhaps the young culprit is convicted and sentence suspended, going forth into the world to be often reminded of the sentence suspended on him, even by his own parents in order to bring him into subjection.

Must Abolish Threats.

"Too often the threat is used that the policeman will again be called," asserted Mr. Kelly. "This system of dealing with the delinquent child should be abolished in our city, as it has been in all other progressive cities and counties. There should be no taint of a criminal court in proceedings against such children."

Inspector Kelly knows whereof he speaks, and his opinion is shared by every intelligent thinking citizen of London. But despite this opinion, Mayor Cameron Wilson and his twelve city councillors have ignored it, and with their terms of office more than half served have made no plans to put the wishes of the people into action.

Delinquent children of London should be regarded as wards of the province, to be cared for and guided by it, and not as an enemy to be punished by it.

In juvenile cases, in place of a charge, subsequent trial and conviction, there should be a careful inquiry into the condition and environment of the delinquents and the conduct of the parents.

The remedy could then, by the provisions of the statutes, be easily attained by recourse to the juvenile court judge. The province is willing to accept its share in the responsibility of this duty to London's youth, but the city has failed to avail itself of the opportunity to create better citizens.

Distorted justice handed to them while in their teens has too often been the means of placing the hang-

SCHOONER SINKS WHEN RAMMED OFF VICTORIA

Victoria, B.C., July 17.—The steamer schooner Harry T. Scott was sunk in the Straits of Juan De Fuca yesterday morning and four of her crew were drowned. Crashing into the freighter Harry Luckenbach in a dense fog, the Scott survived the collision only a few minutes, and the fact that 26 men were picked up by the freighter is considered little short of miraculous. The Luckenbach was not seriously damaged.

HOPE TO STRIKE TWO NEW WELLS

Utilities Commission Has Expert Drillers Working in North London.

Believe Abundance of Water Will Be Discovered at Ninety Feet.

"Two more new wells for London, calculated to yield daily thousands of gallons of pure fresh water."

This is the earnest hope and belief of the expert well drillers, employed by the Ohio Well Digging Company of Massillion, Ohio, and under contract with the public utilities commission, who are busy testing at two new sites in the northeastern section of the city.

While progress is temporarily halted this week at the new well in Southeast London, A. O. Hunt, acting manager of the commission, reported Monday that the drillers are determined to overlook no section of the city that promises to yield water in any abundance, and test wells are now being sunk in two places, one near the river at the northern extremity of Waterloo street and the second near the Lorne Avenue School.

While the diggers have reached the depth of about 50 feet at the latter location, both wells will reach, as in the case of the southeast well, a distance of 90 feet. These operations, the manager explains, will conclude the company's actual search for water in this vicinity, as the last area, about a mile square, will then be accounted for.

That water in abundance will also be found here is their honest belief at this moment. While water has been actually noted when but a distance of 15 feet was reached, it is hoped that when the wells are completed a supply will be forthcoming that will rival the output of 2,000,000 gallons per day anticipated in Southeast London.

Casing for the lower section of the latter well is being shipped from Massillion, Ohio, in order that the undertaking may be rushed for the final test. Pumps will be placed in immediate action, and Londoners will know once and for all whether they will have fresh water within the city limits that will supply them for years to come or whether they will be compelled, at an enormous expense, to divert water here from either Lake Huron or Lake Erie.

In the meanwhile, operations will continue at the two new locations, following which, if expectations are realized, full-sized wells will be immediately sunk and new pumps ordered.

Despite the continued criticism and fault-finding from persistent opponents of the new projects, the utmost enthusiasm still prevails among the well drillers and at the utility department. Little fear as to the possible outcome is discernible.

TRIES TO SELL INVENTION FOR EXTRACTION OF GOLD

Vancouver, July 17.—J. C. Degarry, one of the best-known men in Australia, is in Vancouver en route to New York, where he hopes to negotiate a big loan for the furtherance of his irrigation scheme at Kenendup, Western Australia. Mr. Degarry is also negotiating with United States interests for disposal of the world patent rights on a new metallic contact process for the extraction of gold from the crude ores.

AMUNDSEN TO FLY OVER NORTH POLE IN PLANE

Will Hop Off at Point Barrow With 26-Hour Supply of Gasoline and Food.

ROALD AMUNDSEN (right), his two air pilots, Lieut. E. G. Fullerton (left) and Oscar Omdal (center), the monoplane in which they will fly over the pole, and a map of the course they will take.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 17.—Over the North Pole in an airplane! This is the plan of Roald Amundsen, now on a seven years' cruise in the Arctic, announced here by his business manager, Sir Haakon S. Hammer.

Amundsen and his party are now nearing Point Barrow, most northern point of Alaska, in the schooner Maud. Here Amundsen and two pilots, Lieut. E. G. Fullerton and Lieut. Oscar Omdal, will hop off, with gasoline and food to last 26 hours. They will fly to the North Pole and will land there for observations, if conditions are favorable, before continuing the flight. If conditions are unfavorable, they will proceed directly to their destination, Spitzbergen, north of the Scandinavian peninsula, or to Grant Land—depending upon the gasoline supply.

The flight from Point Barrow to Spitzergen, under favorable conditions, will be 1,800 miles, and will take 23 hours. In case of mishap, the adventurers must depend upon carrier pigeons to carry word to rescuers and upon inflated pig-bladders to keep the plane afloat until help arrives.

Amundsen expects to get invaluable scientific data on the flight, and will take motion pictures.

In addition, data collected will aid greatly in directing the Maud's crew to the best advantage as their little vessel drifts through these regions, it is expected.

Amundsen, upon completing the Point Barrow-Spitzbergen flight, will rejoin the scientists and sailors on the Maud, taking a plane from Seattle to the ice-bound steamer.

Reports 83 High School Pupils Out Of Every 100 Win

RECORD SLIGHTLY BELOW 1921

APPROXIMATELY 83 out of every 100 public school pupils who wrote the high school entrance examination have been successful, according to the official report which reached the city Monday morning from Dr. Grant, minister of education.

While this record is slightly below that of 1921, the school officials expressed themselves as highly pleased with the results under the circumstances.

While Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer states as a reason that the tests were much more severe this year, G. A. Wheable, supervisor of principals, ventures to look further. He places inadequate classroom accommodation as perhaps the chief reason for any low standards. "In my opinion," he stated, "full justice is not possible to the studies by the congested condition of certain of the classrooms."

The following list gives the names of those who have been successful in completing junior high school entrance standing at city of London centers, either by principals' certificate or departmental examination. High school entrance certificates will be mailed at once to all students whose names appear on the list below. This certificate entitles the holder to attend any high school, technical school or collegiate insti-

MEETS DEATH AS CANOE CAPSIZES

Harold Smith, Former Londoner, Drowned in Detroit River On Sunday.

After six years' residence in Windsor, Harold Smith, of 627 Arthur street, a former Londoner, remembered with affection by scores of friends here, met death by drowning Sunday in the Detroit River, off a summer camp, seven miles from Windsor.

Mr. Smith, who was 40 years old, had been camping with his family throughout the week, and was spending Sunday afternoon bathing.

With his 15-year-old son Clayton and another man, who identity has not yet been ascertained, Mr. Smith ventured out into deep water, and being unable to swim, was drowned when the canoe capsized.

Both Clayton Smith and the other occupant of the frail craft were swimmers, and it is believed that the accident was due to the fact that they were jumping from the sides

CAPTURE 500 IN IRISH FIGHTING

National Army Troops Victorious in Week-End Operations.

Report Port of Cork Closed by Order of Republicans.

Dublin, July 17.—During the week-end operations throughout the fighting zone the national army troops captured about 500 prisoners from the Republican insurgents, it was announced today. These included 300 captured at Dundalk, 70 at Collooney, 54 in North Tipperary, and 21 in County Donegal. Reports today represent the city of Cork as suffering grievously at the hands of the Republican insurgent forces, who are said to be in absolute control of the city.

The port of Cork has been closed, it is said, ships not being allowed to enter or leave. Businesses have been seized and their contents appropriated for the Republican troops.

After the fall of the Four Courts the Irregulars became more aggressive and patrolled the streets of Cork in armored cars, suppressing all public expression of opinion in favor of the free state. The free state forces in the city being overwhelmingly outnumbered did not oppose them, and consequently there was no fighting, crime, but alas, London as no

Mother Applies For Aid, Believing 16-Year-Old Son Gone With Circus

Running away from home, with a companion last Wednesday night, Charles Huntley, 799 Central avenue, 16 years old, is believed to have joined the circus which was here on that date. His mother has applied to Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society for help in locating her son.

Both boys left work Wednesday at a downtown store, and wore no coats when they left home. They were riding bicycles and had but a small amount of money in their possession at the time.

The missing youths, who are of the same age, are described as tall for their years, and might easily pass for older lads. Inspector Kelly has forwarded circulars, describing these boys to other branches of the Children's Aid Society in Ontario, in the hope that they may be located.

Huntley is no novice at running away from home, the Children's Aid Society at London reporting that he departed for parts unknown two years ago, returning when repentant.

HUDSON SOON TO ENTER CABINET

South Winnipeg Member Would Be Acceptable Acquisition to Farmers.

Prime Minister Unlikely To Make Change Until Late in Summer.

Special to London Advertiser.

Ottawa, July 17.—Hon. A. B. Hudson, member for South Winnipeg, is looked upon as likely to enter the King cabinet within a comparatively short time, and his entrance will considerably strengthen the forces about Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, says the weekly letter of the National Liberal organization committee, published in the Capital.

At the present time Manitoba is without representation in the cabinet. When the question of a Liberal-Progressive fusion came up shortly after election Mr. Hudson was prominently mentioned as one of the men who would be taken in. His entry would be acceptable to the farmers and also to the Liberals, and during the past session of parliament he has shown himself a capable member.

"Sitting with the Liberals, he has at the same time been closely in touch with the Progressives in the House, and has been looked to for guidance on many occasions. With Mr. Hudson in the King cabinet, the Crerar party would feel that they had a friend at court almost as much as though Mr. Crera himself were there, and Mr. Hudson appears not unwilling to take over one of the posts if the prime minister should desire it.

"It would appear unlikely, however, that anything in the nature of general cabinet re-arrangement would take place before later in the summer, by which time the political atmosphere in the province will have cleared considerably, and the prime minister will be able to lay his plans better."

SHOPMEN CLAIM RAILROADS ARE BREAKING LAW

Canadian Employees Object to Attempt to Enforce Wage Reduction.

WILL NOT TAKE CUT

Expect Returns of Strike Ballot To Be Complete Saturday.

Claiming that the railroads operating in Canada are breaking the law in attempting to inforce a wage cut among the shop crafts men, without first giving the employees a chance to appeal to a board of conciliation, 1,000 shopmen in the city will take a strike ballot Wednesday night. Thousands of shop employees all over the country will cast their ballots this week, and by Saturday all the returns will be in Montreal.

A prominent official of the Canadian Federated Shops Crafts, who was in the city Monday morning, stated to The Advertiser that the men have passed the tolerant stage and are now determined that a wage cut of any amount will be rejected. A year ago a 15 per cent reduction in wages was enforced by the Canadian railroads, and as the men claim that the cost of living has not been reduced to such an extent to warrant another wage cut, the proposed reduction of from four to nine cents an hour which was supposed to have gone into effect Sunday, July 16, will not be accepted.

Local men have declared emphatically that they will not be driven by the roads to conditions under which they worked before the war, and that they will walk out rather than accept a reduction.

Name Representative.

At the negotiations between the shopmen and the Canadian Railway Association last week representatives of the employees applied for a board of conciliation and named Fred Vancroft of Toronto as their official representative.

After a few days' delay, the minister of labor granted the men conciliation boards, and by the end of the week negotiations will be under way and the board will decide whether the proposed reductino by the Canadian rbads is just or unfair.

If the board of conciliation upholds the action of the railways then a nation-wide strike is inevitable, and thousands of workers, employed by all the roads in the Dominion, will fight to the last ditch, as union officials declare that the men are looking for an increase in wages and not a reduction.

Takes St. Thomas Man For Easy Mark

SEER MAKES PROPHECY.

"YOU have lost a very dear friend just recently. She has gone to distant places. I see her laden down with bundles."

Such was the startling information gleaned by a prominent resident of St. Thomas as he sat in a fortune teller's booth at Port Stanley early last week.

"You bet I have," responded the surprised but expectant "sitter." "It is my housekeeper who has disappeared, and she has taken considerable of the household effects with her. Can you tell me where she is?"

The obliging madam behind the curtain was quite confident that she could—for a more substantial remuneration.

"How much might the gentleman from St. Thomas have with him?"

It developed, as the latter subsequently related to County Constable William Fifield, that he had $7, a "five-spot" and a "two." "Would that be sufficient?"

"It would for a start," the "seer" replied, "but he would have to come back again. An undertaking of such an important nature as finding a housekeeper would necessitate great concentration."

The scene then changes to Springbank Park, down the river, where evidently the reader-of-palms and teller-of-fortunes holds sway when she is not at the lakeside. Eager and desirous of knowing the worst, from the Railway City on an early train came the one in search of his erring helper.

Remarkable progress was noted, he was informed. But the end was not yet. Was he all set for the final test? He was. Then all he would have to do would be to follow instructions.

"Procure a fresh egg, wrap a crisp five-dollar bill around it. Bringing it back, he was to put it on the floor beside a glass of water. In order that the test be regulated properly, he must leave his watch as well."

There was but little left to be accomplished. He might return home again, enjoy a sound sleep, with the assurance that his housekeeper would be returned safe and sound, and return on the morrow with a $20 bill.

Concluding that it was time for a halt, the visitor upon his return, pre-

FINES CONDUCTOR ON LIQUOR CHARGE

G. T. R. Official Mulcted $400 When Whiskey Is Found in Car.

Because nine police officers in a raid on a dining car of No. 15 (the International Limited) Grand Trunk train at the downtown station at 9 o'clock Sunday night found 20 bottles of whiskey in the car, J. H. Lowell of Toronto, the conductor in charge, was fined $400 and costs by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court Monday morning.

Lewis McGregor, Jones Sims, William McGoa, James Reed and Alonzo E. Tansil, all colored, and employed on the car, were freed.

Lowell, who was defended by Jared Vining, has decided to enter an appeal. He will be allowed his freedom until the appeal is heard on condition he furnishes the amount of the fine and $100 to cover the costs of the appeal, or securities of the same amount.

Declaring he was not attacking the Ontario temperance act, but a system which, unable to obtain evidence of guilt, assumes, Mr. Vining asked Lowell's dismissal.

Although several officers swore no one left the car while they were on guard, the six prisoners stated four colored men, Giles, Cochrane, Beaman and Wormley, left the car when it reached the station.

Those taking part in the raid, which was led by Inspector Thomas Lucas, were: Constables Walter Pope, Percy Last, William Parke, William Snell, Robert Fraleigh, Agmon Barryman, Malcolm McCrae and Elmer Walsh.

The dead were brought to Wellsburg and the wounded taken to Wheeling hospitals.

Governor Morgan has ordered Sheriff Harry Clouse of Ohio County to take charge of the situation. State police and Ohio County deputies are en route to the scene.

Firing is still going on along the road leading to the mines.

Four deputies, Cody Robins, Charles Nichols, Emerson Hough, N. Muringo, all seriously injured, have been brought to Wellsburg.

At 10 a.m. an ambulance loaded with deputies, started from Wellsburg to force their way to the mine to bring in the wounded and the bodies of the dead.

Chicago, July 17.—Approximately 25,000 maintenance-of-way men have struck without permission from President Grable, J. C. Smoke, vice-president of the union, estimated today.

Mr. Smoke said the strikers probably will be outlawed by their national officers.

Peace negotiations in the railway strike temporarily were at a standstill today.

Rail heads and strike leaders expected the day's developments to indicate more clearly the ultimate outcome, however, with statements and circumstances variously pointing toward a spread or settlement.

Much importance was attached to the number of shopmen returning to work today, as this date marked the

GRAND TRUNK SHOPS PICNIC

Springbank Park Is Mecca of Many Londoners Saturday Afternoon.

Foresters, Carpenters and Letter-Carriers Also Hold Outings.

Hundreds of Londoners, seeking relief from the city's heat Saturday afternoon, found a haven at Springbank, where a cooling breeze combined with shady nooks made one forget that such things as dusty streets, peculiar to cities and towns, ever existed.

Among the leading celebrations of the afternoon was the annual picnic of the Grand Trunk car shops, when more than 750 employees and their families made merry at the annual outing. It is estimated that approximately 1,500 people attended the car shops picnic alone.

One of the main events on the program was the baby show for children 18 months and under. The judge was Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. P. P., who also donated a dainty ring as one of the prizes. The winners were Elaine Arbuckle, first; Edith Ganney, second; J. Bradby, third, and Lavada Watson, fourth.

Three fast games of ball were played, the Painters defeating the Carpenters in the finals by the score of 7 to 5.

The members of the various picnic committees were: General committee, W. Sproule (chairman), Richard Stringle (secretary-treasurer), and William Sickle (assistant secretary-treasurer); refreshment committee, W. Birch (chairman), W. Wilkey, W. Page, N. Barnes, T. Crockford, B. Collier, S. Arbuckle, A. Vining, G. Wallace, J. Matthews, H. Poole, W. Shirley, and E. Pridom; sports committee, C. Teale (announcer), S. Karn (starter), S. Erdaman, T. Powley, A. Osborn, J. Lewis, M. Fisher, W. Davis, and A. Lean (judges and referees).

Foresters' Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Independent Order of Oddfellows was featured by a ball game between the Eureka and Chorazin lodges. The game was fairly even all the way through, but Chorazin edged out an 8-to-7 win in the last inning. The batteries were: Stevens and Dear for the Chorazins, and Ruddy, Crawford and Armstrong for the Eurekas.

Carpenters Hold Outing.

The sports program provided the keenest excitement, and action lagged not a moment at the carpenters' picnic, which was held at the west end of the grounds. The 250 carpenters and their families voted it to be the most successful outing in years. Under the leadership of the picnic committee, consisting of W. Ellis (chairman), R. Martin, T. Doyle, F. Blackwell, E. G. Clements, and F. H. Shed, financial secretary, the varied program was run off in a most efficient manner.

Posties at Park.

Perhaps one of the jolliest and most successful of Saturday's outings at Springbank was that of the Federated Association of Letter Carriers, which was attended by more than 300 posties and their friends.

The committee in charge of the picnic was: D. Rehder (chairman), P. Ferguson, J. Watt, A. Watt, B. Kennedy, F. Rumball, T. Thoragood, D. Cooney, A. Gillett, J. Lashbrook, and Mr. Arnold.

The results of the races held by the various picnics are:

NINE KILLED AS MINERS BATTLE

time limit for retaining seniority and other rights.

Hopes for an early settlement at an early date appeared to be based chiefly on the attitude of President Grabel, of the Maintenance-of-Ways Employees' Union, who came to Chicago today from Washington, where he held a conference with President Harding.

Mr. Grabel said he would confer with the members of the United States Railroad Labor Board here to get support to prevent carriers from requiring maintenance-of-way men to do strikers' work. He also said he had called a meeting of the brotherhood grand lodge to be held in Detroit Thursday.

Predicts Strike Extension.

Possible extension of the strike was forecast in the statement of William Parker, head of the eastern chairmen of railway workers, that local officials in eastern centers were having increasing difficulty in holding the maintenance-of-way men at their jobs. He said 20 per cent of the 70,000 men in the metropolitan districts already were on strike.

Seventy new shop employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad and seven city policemen were suffering today from poisoning, after having eaten food prepared for railway strike breakers.

These men were stricken during the last three days, ten of them yesterday.

A score of health department workers were assigned to cover every railway yard in Chicago and rigidly inspect all food served to workers to prevent recurrence of the trouble.

The policemen stated that they had eaten lunch in dining cars provided by the railroad.

It was indicated to day that Dr. Louis J. Veit in charge of the investigation of the organ of the poison had information which he expected would lead to the discovery of the poisoners.

BUILDING PERMITS issued in London this month now number 73, and the total estimated cost of the construction involved is $107,155.

JUNIOR BOYS ARRIVE AT GLEN

125 Western Ontario Lads Commence Two Weeks Camp at Lake.

Fisher's Glen Under Leadership of Experienced Y.M.C.A. Men.

Fisher's Glen, which has been fittingly described as "an ideal spot for an ideal holiday for boys," will be enjoyed to the utmost for the next two weeks by more than 125 junior Y. M. C. A. boys from all parts of Western Ontario. Of that number London claims 65 of the junior campers. The party from this city left at an early hour Monday morning under the leadership of Wilfrid Spearman, assistant boys' secretary of the London "Y," who is the camp secretary for 1922.

Fisher's Glen is the official Y. M. C. A. boys' camp for Western Ontario, and is under the leadership of experienced men who know and love boys. The boy's safety and happiness is their highest concern, and everything that will tend to make the two weeks spent at the Glen the happiest period of the year for the boy has been installed by the Y. M. C. A.

Among the attractive activities on the camp program this year are baseball, volley ball, tennis, hikes, interest groups, athletic competition, lifesaving instruction, bird talks, flower talks, water sports, Bible study, devotional talks, camp fire talks, and trail ranger badge tests.

Two of the special features this year are a diving board and war canoes.

The directors of the camp are:

Camp director—Frank B. Watson, boys' secretary, Y. M. C. A., Hamilton.

Business manager—Frank Whitehall, President Dominion Seeds, London.

Camp secretary—Wilfred Spearman, associate boys' secretary, London.

Program director—Hartley Fowler, boys' secretary, Y. M. C. A., Galt.

LOCAL MACHINISTS THINK STRIKE VOTE UNAVOIDABLE

Union Members of Opinion That Last Ballot Was Indicatic of Views.

Prominent members of the local Machinists' Union explained Monday that while a strike vote seems unavoidable, they do not believe that they will have to ballot again.

"As I can see it," he explained, "we have already voiced our opinion in the matter. Our last ballot was practically a strike ballot. Two clauses were included in this ballot which we answered which would convey the intelligence to our chiefs that we were willing to strike if necessary."

"As I understand but a half dozen of our local were of the opinion that no drastic action should be taken. That has already been recorded in The London Advertiser."

The last vote was tabulated and sent first to Canadian headquarters, District No. 4, Winnipeg.

FLOODS CHICOPEE WHEN DAM BURSTS

Twenty Million Gallons Water Pour Over Massachusetts Town.

Chicopee, Mass., July 17.—Twenty million gallons of water flooded a large part of this town early today, when Landwalk's dam and another dam at Robert Pond gave way. Residences and business places along Chicopee street, the principal thoroughfare of the town were flooded, and the occupants were forced to flee to the second stories. No lives were lost.

The Boston and Maine tracks were washed out in a dozen places, while a score of other buildings were swept from their foundations. Twenty million gallons of water went through the broken dams it is estimated by the officials.

Panic reigned among the residents of the territory affected as they were awakened by the roar of the rushing water. Many rushed out in an effort to escape, but were forced to give up the attempt, and instead devoted their attention to removing children, elderly persons and effects to upper stories out of reach of the water.

Near Willimansett railroad station, at the northerly end of the village, the water poured through an underpass in great volumes and swept southward, flooding the main north and south street from Chicopee to Holyoke, and spreading out into the side streets to a depth of several feet in its first russh. As the locality is flat, the water quickly drained away, most of it finding its way to the Connecticut River. Both trolley and automobile traffic was suspended.

PLAIN WEAVES MAKE THE SMARTER SUITS

They Do Not Look Overdressed When Fancily Designed.

"Plain cloth does not appeal in the bolt, but it very often makes the smarter-looking suit. If there be life in the color, whether it be a gray, a brown or a homespun—a smartly-fashioned suit will look better, and its wearer will grow fonder of it in the years of its service," said the Chief Designer of Semi-ready Tailoring.

"One wearies of a fancy pattern, but never does one tire of a plain, color, a solid gray of the homespun with a few relief dots. These are staples of what one calls conservative patterns. Yet they are the joy of the true artist, provided there be life in the color—for one can fashion and fit a homespun to express any walk in life. A plain cloth grows upon the wearer, and it is this sort that one rescues from the discard and boasts of its lineage. A fancy pattern in a tweed or worsted looks foppish in a fancy design." R. Leo Watson, of Dundas street, is showing all the new Semi-ready models, including the new four-piece suits for business and play.—Advt.

LAY MARRIAGE DECLINE TO ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

Ottawa, July 17.—That the present economic conditions were the cause of a marked decline in the number of marriages per year in Ottawa was the consensus of opinion of a number of ministers of different denominations interviewed today. Last month there were only 140 marriages. Before 1917 the number of marriages for June would be around 200, when the city's population was much less than it is today.

Members of Legal Profession Doubt Legality of 5-Cent Fare Legislation

In order that a definite and final interpretation of the bill authorizing the London Street Railway Company to charge five cent fares on cars may be obtained, Ald. L. H. Douglass announced Saturday that at the next meeting of the city council he will introduce a motion asking the city solicitor to give his legal opinion on this bill.

Doubt has been expressed by some members of the legal profession in London as to whether the bill overrides the previous agreement to sell seven and nine tickets for a quarter, and makes the five cent fare compulsory for citizens.

No action on the bill is contemplated until an opinion on its legality is obtained from the city solicitor. If this opinion is unfavorable to the five cent fare, startling developments are predicted.

ASK MAYOR WILSON PROTECT JUVENILES

man's noose about the neck of hardened criminals. It is true that they expiated their crimes on the gallows, but these crimes were the result of getting started wrong in their younger days.

Would Reduce Crime.

A juvenile court would not eliminate capital punishment in London, nor would it be the means of converting the county jail into a community hall, but it would reduce crime in this city.

Statistics from other Ontario municipalities and the given word of those conversant with the situation stand out as proof positive of this statement.

It should be a matter of great concern to every church organization and every society in London that their support should be pledged in making a juvenile court a reality for the Forest City.

In Ontario there are homes for the aged, and institutions for the feebleminded and incurables which are crowded to capacity. It is equally essential, if not more so, that every effort be made to protect and care for the future citizens of London, and the first step is the establishment of a juvenile court.

The right man on the juvenile court bench can convince the most skeptical of critics that the experiment as some people choose to call it, is a permanent asset to any city.

Must Proclaim Act.

All that is necessary to bring about a juvenile court in London is that the city council proclaim a juvenile delinquents act here, and proceed with the formation of the court. Although the matter was considered by last year's council, with a host of public-spirited citizens and community organizations lauding the enterprise, the process of consideration died an untimely death.

No cause for the negligence of the city fathers was assigned at the time, although numerous theories were advanced. Now that a post mortem examination of the said consideration seems inevitable, friends of the cause declare that the grim reaper was not on the job at all, but that the officials responsible merely suffered a lapse of memory, intentional or otherwise.

London must have a juvenile court and have it soon in order that this city may keep pace with sister municipalities of the province. To those who look upon the date of its establishment as an evil day, it may be pointed out that they are erroneous in their impressions, and that it will be a banner day in London's history when the court becomes a reality.

The Victoria Industrial School at Mimico today harbors young boys of London, rubbing shoulders with the worst criminal element of the country, because a dispenser of justice, immune to the pleas of the average wrongdoer of adult age, viewed these sons of respectable parents with the same critical eye, and condemned them to an institution where contamination with others of a worse type hovers as a potential life wrecker for them.

Kindly Judge Needed.

A kindly juvenile court judge, gifted with the power of reading character and able to sort out the good from the bad, mingled with a touch of human nature and a love for children, could have plucked these youths from the brink of the black abyss of crime, but alas, London has no juvenile court!

It is a crying shame that such a state of affairs should be allowed to exist in the city of 62,000 population, of which the same number of people are proud. Those responsible for shelving this juvenile court proposal when confronted with the facts, can present no argument to uphold their inaction.

"Passing the buck" is a well-known political game, and is no stranger to London. Steps to obtain a juvenile court for this city should be taken by all who are concerned about the welfare of our young people.

"Let George do it" has been worked to death, and can no longer be applied to this important civic question.

"Let Mayor Wilson and the city council do it," sounds better, but citizens of London, alive to the needs of the child, are clamoring for action, and unless it is forthcoming immediately threaten to adopt as their slogan, "Make Mayor Wilson and the city council provide our city with a juvenile court."

vailed upon Constable Fifield to accompany him, just to note proceedings that seemed indeed remarkable even to locate such an important personage as a truant cook.

With but little difficulty the observant constable persuaded the "queen of the palmists" to delve into the money bag and return such bank notes as had been paid as requested while the watch was also returned.

Back to St. Thomas traveled the disappointed gentleman, still seeking definite information as to the possible whereabouts of his housekeeper.

TO ARREST EIGHT MUNCEY INDIANS

Police Conclude Investigation in Wholesale Theft of Cattle.

Concluding their investigations and believing that they have the names of all persons whom they suspect as having been implicated in various depredations in that district, county police, Monday, caused to be issued warrants for the immediate arrests of 8 residents of the Muncey Reserve and vicinity.

Armed with these documents, the constables are confident that another trip to the reservation will net at least six of these persons, thought to have been responsible for the wholesale theft and butchery of cattle in that district in June last.

Two of the suspects have already fled from these parts, but warrants were forwarded early last week to Cape Croker and other points north of London for their arrest on sight.

By the apprehension of these men the police anticipate that they will have dispersed a "gang" whose nefarious activities have been a source of constant trouble all year to residents of West Midlesex.

NABS MAYOR ON SPEEDING CHARGE

Motorcycle Officer Pursues London's Chief Magistrate On Hamilton Road.

Convincing proof that the law is no respector of persons was presented to Mayor Cameron Wilson Saturday afternoon, when Motorcycle Officer Gavin Monahan pursued his car through city streets and took his name on a charge of speeding.

Although Mayor Wilson is a member of the police commission, which body directs the duties of Constable Monahan, that officer did not swerve from the path of duty when he spied the mayor "burning her up," and his worship now awaits a summons to appear before Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, who is a fellow police commissioner, to explain details.

Mayor Wilson was proceeding along Hamilton road at a brisk rate, bound for St. Williams, where he intended to catch some fish. Constable Monahan was proceeding in the same direction determined to catch the mayor.

At Rectory street, the speed officer managed to pass Mayor Wilson, and cutting in front of him, stopped his car.

"Hey, there!" shouted the constable. "You are going 28 miles an hour. What's your name—O, it's you, your worship," he added in surprise.

Dr. Wilson pleaded guilty to a charge of being chief magistrate of London, but made no incriminating statements relative to alleged speeding. Ald. F. R. Watkinson and Ald. J. T. May, who were also in the car, diplomatically allowed the mayor to carry on the conversation with Constable Monahan.

"The joke is on me," said Mayor Wilson to The Advertiser Monday morning, in discussing the case.

of the canoe to swim in the deeper water.

The son, who was a Boy Scout, made a heroic effort to save his father, and supported him until practically every vestige of strength gave out, hoping that aid might be secured in time. He was in a state of complete exhaustion on reaching the shore.

Immediately word was given of the drowning, search was instituted and the body recovered about 7:30 Sunday evening.

Mr. Smith was the proprietor of a barber shop in Detroit, but had made his home in Windsor. His widow, Mrs. Agnes Smith, their 15-year-old son Clayton and a daughter, Margaret, aged 13, are the survivors.

In addition to having many friends here, Mr. Smith is survived by his father, Mr. John Smith, who resides at 183 Clarence street, and two sisters, Mrs. Murray Tribe and Mrs. W. H. Smith, 153 Waterloo street.

The father and brother-in-law of the victim have left for Windsor to make arrangements for forwarding the body to London, where the funeral will take place from the home of Mrs. Murray Tribe.

SAYS CAR TRACKS ARE ASSESSABLE

That tracks of the London Street Railway Company, on its own property are assessable for taxes, is the opinion of City Clerk S. Baker. This official declares that all tracks of the company are liable to assessment for city taxes, and hence the extra mileage of tracks as measured by City Engineer H. A. Brazier last week, and which has escaped assessment owing to a mistake in the figures on which the assessment has been based.

Should Be Assessed.

"The tracks on the company's property adds value to it and therefore are assessable for taxes," declared the city clerk. "All their tracks in the city should be assessed."

GARNER SPEEDERS OVER WEEK-END

Just as autoists will persist in speeding on the county and provincial highways so do the police authorities persist in bringing them into the police court to stand trial.

Monday morning witnessed the appearance before County Police Magistrate A. N. Hawkshaw, of the usual quota of drivers garnered by the vigilant constables over the week-end, whose fines added materially to the county's exchequer.

CULPRIT DESTROYS FLOWER GARDEN

"Say it with flowers," it a well-known slogan, and supposedly good advice, but the flower-lover who devastated the geranium bed of Charlie Maker, market clerk, at 601 Ridout street, north, Sunday night, evidently forgot to say anything to the owner when he took the posies.

The flower bed is a large one, being eight feet wide, and Mr. Maker is ata a loss to understand why the guilty party or parties did not take fancy to the castor bean plant that occupied the place of honor in the center of the bed.

Mr. Maker stated that half the bed of geraniums is of no use to him whatever, and he promises not to molest the thief if he will be good enough to come back and take the remainder.

SWITCHMEN PLAN NEW LOCAL UNION

Make Move to Re-establish Chapter Independent of Railroad Trainmen.

Evidencing the fact, despite all reports to the contrary, that the local union of the Switchmen of America is still in existence and seemingly in a flourishing state, members of that body met in special new body that their membership will day night.

Local conditions were considered, and plans were launched for further organization in the local Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific yards. It is the hope of the officials of the session at the Labor Temple Sunbe 100 per cent on both roads before the summer months have expired. The greater number are employed on the former line, however.

Although there has not been a switchmen's union in London during the past several years, the present organization came into existence several weeks ago, when international organizers from across the boundary invaded the Dominion in great numbers in an effort to revive the old union, Switchmen of America, in distinct from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, with which the Canadian switch-tenders and yardmen had been affiliated.

During the so-called "outlaw" switchmen's strike of early 1919, the union suffered reverses and lost membership by the hundreds on both sides of the border, and the recent establishment of new locals in London indicates another effort by the "rail-benders" to consolidate.

BELIEVE FOWL ON SALE STOLEN FROM R. MYALL

London Township Resident Reports Theft of 20 Ducks and 100 Chickens.

Upon the assumption that the fowl are his property, Robert Myall, a London Township resident, will be asked to view a number of chickens purchased Saturday by a local dealer and now on sale.

When Mr. Myall reported Saturday the theft of 20 ducks and 100 chickens, the county police made hurried investigations. The complainant, who lives on the Hamilton road, just east of the city limits, states that he is confident that his dog was chloroformed in order to facilitate the deed, as it is extremely vicious, and never sleeps during the night.

County Constable Alex. Shaver also reported Monday that he had located a farm in London Township upon which were the exact number of ducks as reported stolen. He will bring Mr. Myall there in order that he may identify them if possible.

GETS 30 DAYS FOR STEALING RIFLE

For stealing a Lee-Enfield rifle from a fellow-soldier at Wolseley Barracks, Reginald McAdams, a member of the regular forces was sentenced to 30 days in the common jail by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon Monday morning.

McAdams claimed he was "up against it" and pawned the rifle for $10. He intended to return it later, he stated.

Colonel Robinson stated McAdams had given the authorities much trouble, and had refused to tell where the rifle was. The military authorities placed the matter in the hands of the local detective department and the rifle was recovered from the pawnshop.

CITY COUNCIL CASTS CARE ASIDE AND GOES A-FISHING

CASTING all care aside, Mayor Cameron Wilson and members of the city council motored to St. Williams, on Lake Erie, Saturday, where they indulged in a day's fishing. Three autos conveyed the party to the fishing grounds.

Ald. John May acted as superintendent of the repair gang, and his duties en route to St. Williams were onerous to a certain extent, owing to the fact that the party encontered two blow-outs and two punctures.

Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, was present, and he represented the board of health, which body was functioning during the trip. The party ran into several stretches of road, which Ald. John Ashton declares he will report to the board of works in an effort to have them graded.

City Engineer H. A. Brazier, who was also present, made note of the complaints regarding bad roads.

Ald. Gordon Drake, who operates a grocery store when not too busily engaged wrestling with civic affairs, provided watermelon, fruit and other refreshments for the party, while Ald. Watkinson directed the distribution of lunches.

Following arrival at St. Williams the party engaged two launches and adjourned to the bay in search of fish. There were thirteen present, and that this number is not unlucky was evidenced by the fact that forty fish were hauled in.

Concluding that no healthy fish could be captured by the city fathers, Dr. Downham condemned them as sick and unfit for consumption. However, his ruling was disregarded, and fish dinners are being served in London homes Monday. Ald. J. C. Childs is searching for the fish that he caught, and suspects that one of his council colleagues purloined his string.

The forty fish captured were pulled in on the following lines: Ald. J. C. Childs, 22; City Engineer H. A. Brazier, 23; Ald. L. H. Douglass, 26; Ald. John Ashton, 0; Ald. Gordon B. Drake, 23, and Ald. H. B. Ashplant, 11. Despite the fact that the totals above do not correspond with the actual catch, and although other members of he party maintain that the fish were biting their bait the above-named officials vouch for the accuracy of the report.

As a fisherman, Dr. J. C. Wilson is a good mayor, catching one black bass in six hours, and Ald. Ashton alleges that this unfortunate fish was placed on the mayor's hook by a sympathetic spectator. During the fishing bee, Ald. Childs, City Engineer Brazier, Ald. L. H. Douglas and Mayor Wilson entertained by exhibitions of fancy diving off the deck of the launch.

Ald. Childs capsized a rowboat attempting to climb into it. There were no casualties. The Advertiser representative present astonished the city council by catching three black bass in four minutes.

His record was dampened, however, by the fact that it required one hour's warming up before he could persuade the three fish to nibble at the minnows on his hook.

Paving Superintendent William Hunter caught several fish, but the skipper of the launch threw them back into the bay, as under size, according to the city engineer's measurements. Ald. F. R. Watkinson landed several sunfish, which he took home for breakfast.

When Ald. H. B. Ashplant tired of fishing he enjoyed a nap, and to his surprise, awakened to find his pockets filled with fish. Ald. O. I. Cunningham explains that a soda biscuit in each pocket acted as an attraction for the fish, but Ald. Ashplant doubts this explanation.

The party returned to London Sunday with a large box of black bass and several coats of tan as a result of the expedition.

Those present were: Mayor Cameron Wilson, Ald. J. C. Childs, J. T. May, G. B. Drake, L. H. Douglass, John Ashton, F. R. Watkinson, H. B. Ashplant, O. I. Cunningham, City Engineer H. A. Brazier, Dr. W. S. Downham, William Hunter, and Roy McLeod.

Who Starts Them?

THE soldier settlement at Merville, on Vancouver Island, has been wiped out by forest fires. A sudden change of the wind sent the flames down on that spot, and all that the settlers had is gone.

Living as we do in this part of Ontario, where such things are unknown, people here have little idea of the fiendish alacrity with which the fire demon works when it gets beyond control, when it is fed by dry underbrush of a resinous nature and driven ahead by a strong wind.

When we read of families cut off, of livestock wandering around, half-burned, with the glue-like substance coming from their hoofs, we can get a small idea of what it means to those who have gone through it.

It was fourteen years ago, on the first day of August, that the Crow's Nest Pass was swept by one of the worst fires in the history of British Columbia. The City of Fernie was the storm centre on that occasion. For some days there had been small fires in the bush at some distance from the town. It needed only a big wind to do the rest, and the big wind came. When it was all over about a dozen houses were left in one corner of the town, and the main office of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company was still standing. That one place, standing alone in the centre of a block, was the spot that saved hundreds of women and children. Had the men of the town failed in their efforts to save that building the loss of life would have been staggering. Children were separated from parents for days. Workers picked little ones up wherever they found them, on the streets, in the yards, and hurried them off to the points that were thought to be safe. Hundreds were huddled around the big coke ovens, others piled into freight cars that were run through a veritable wall of flame to safety, the engine drivers being blistered and burned almost to the point of death, but never faltering with their precious loads. And all the time the wind poured through the Pass, carrying with it burning, stinging fire, ashes and dust. A few sought shelted in wells, only to be smothered.

And then came the night, as cool as the day had been hot—little children with nothing but tiny dresses, sitting perhaps for hours by the edge of some friendly stream. Then it is that human love asserts itself again. Shirts and coats taken from men and wrapped around the little ones. Improvised methods of sleeping, for sleep is sure to come to the child.

The next morning the trek back to town and home. Here is the miner who knows his wife got on the train going to Michel, who hears that one of his children was seen going toward the coke ovens. He pokes around through the still hot ashes of what was once home. A few twisted bed frames, a hole where the house stool—that's all.

British Columbia has a big and a bad problem in these bush fires. They are a menace to life, property and advancement. And they must all start some place, and be started by some one. There may be such a thing as an occasional combustion fire, but the chances are all against such a thing. Some stringent means have been adopted to fight the menace, but the fact that the menace still exists shows that the cure has not been found.

British Columbia is a big province, and its forests cover wide areas. It is impossible to keep trace of all who go into these woods to camp, prospect or for other purposes. If it were possible to locate the man who goes into the bush and starts a fire, it would be an easy matter to make short work of him. The trouble is he cannot be caught and proved guilty.

The Guns Are Ready.

PHOTOGRAPHS reaching this country show machine gun companies encamped in the yards of the railway shops at several points in United States.

The machine guns are there to shoot down those who seek to interfere with work being carried on in the shops.

It is a sad, disheartening picture, one that turns its back on everything that is right and sane in industrial relationships.

Co-operation is the basis on which a railroad can run. Men who are working under the protection of machine guns cannot do a day's work.

Men against whom the guns may be turned are getting themselves in a frame of mind where they can do nothing constructive.

It means the wrecking and the undoing of years of work toward decent shop management and working conditions.

Machine guns and industry have nothing in common.

Racetrack Money.

THE Brussels Post says: "Complaint is made that while the DRURY government "whale" racetrack gambling they pat it on the back by sharing in the rake-off. If the work is crooked taking a portion of the ill-gotten gain, will not make it straight. Value received is supposed to be a necessary accompaniment to genuine business transactions, but this necessary qualification is wanting in gambling. Moral loving people say: 'Cut it out and do it quick.'"

Is the idea in this that the province should not take the tainted money? If so, the cure is to go ahead and make racetrack gambling an illegal thing.

But, dealing with things as they are today, the situation is this: A large amount of money is being bet openly on the tracks—it is legalized gambling, if that phrase can be used. The government decides to take 5 per cent of the winnings. Is it any more harmful than other money the province takes? A man is engaged in the illegal business of rum-running. He is caught, convicted, and fined $1,000. That thousand is paid into the public treasury out of money that has been made in the pursuit of an illegal calling. Shall we say we cannot accept this fine?

The Richter System.

DURING the past few months reference has been frequently made by the newspapers of London to the RICHTER System of assessment. Despite the fact that this system, originated by J. G. RICHTER of this city, an expert on municipal assessment problems, has been in force throughout the city for several months, few citizens are conversant with the details upon which it is operated.

MR. RICHTER has explained to The Advertiser that his system was inaugurated because of the fact that every assessor on duty had his own ideas of how property should be valuated, and therefore a common system was in demand.

It is applicable to land and buildings in the City of London, and is aimed to eliminate irregularities and confusion in assessment.

Prior to devising the system the originator obtained figures of realty sales in London for the months of June and November, during a given year. These figures revealed the startling fact that the assessment in these cases averaged 61 per cent only of the sale value.

There is a limit to the municipal tax rate in Ontario, which is defined by law. At that time the City of London tax rate was bordering on this limit. The problem to be settled offered two solutions. The undesirable one was for the city to run into debt, while the lesser evil offered was to increase the assessment of taxable property in London.

Comparison of the Forest City with taxation figures in other municipalities of the province showed that London's assessment was very low on a population basis. The city council then agreed that it would be much better to increase the city assessment and lower the tax rate, than to lower the rate and keep to the limit of taxation, because the advent of new industries to London was dependent on a favorable tax rate.

All of the above facts paved the way for the RICHTER System of assessment, the primary object of which was to increase the city's revenue.

In devising his system MR. RICHTER divided all dwellings into groups. An information form upon which details regarding each house were to be recorded was prepared, rentals, foundation, roof, number of rooms, age, plumbing and heating facilities and similar assets being listed.

The house is then placed in a definite classification upon which a fixed valuation has been made by MR. RICHTER, the assessor to the best of his ability listing the dwelling in the classification to which it conforms in the greatest number of details. Rooms are valued from $250 to $900 each under the RICHTER system, and houses are graded from A to E, with values accordingly.

Special consideration is given to certain types of dwellings such as duplex, apartments, or combined houses. In cases where there is a protest or the classification is disputed the houses are measured, and assessed according to cubic contents.

With regard to land assessment a lot whose depth is 140 feet has been taken as the standard, because that is the average depth of lots in London. A fixed valuation per foot frontage is placed upon land in each district. Then with 140 feet lots reckoned as 100 per cent, the value of the frontage for each lot is reckoned according to the depth.

That is to say, a 140-foot lot is assessed at 100 per cent of the frontage value of that district. A 100-foot lot would be valued at 100-140 of that frontage, the depth of the lot governing its value. Very deep lots are not valued much higher than the 140-foot standard, because of the fact that property set back from the street is not considered as desirable and useful as the front portion.

Special consideration is given to rear property in the business district because of its adaptability for warehouse sites. Stores, warehouses, factories, office buildings, hotels and banks are also graded in value similar to dwellings, situation and usefulness being the standards employed in addition to the general condition and size of each structure. Each is placed in the value group with which it best conforms.

Irregularly-shaped buildings and lots are also taken into special consideration under the RICHTER scheme. Although it has been accused of placing a premium upon improvements made to a home, MR. RICHTER asserts that his system varies from no other assessment scheme in this regard, a new veranda, furnace, or a cellar, naturally increasing the value of the building in contrast to neighboring structures.

MR. RICHTER points out that under the assessment act land may be assessed at its full value, and he has expressed the hope that his assessment system is being employed equitably in conformance with his original intention, when he drafted it.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT has been a success as a visitor to England. He has the qualities that make him agreeable to the English, chief of these being that he was the best loser who ever left the White House at Washington. He retired because another Republican wanted the presidency, split the party to get in, and caused the election of a Democrat. He has retained his identity and individuality to a greater extent than possibly any other ex-president of the United States.

Beauty is usually associated with youth, but at a Belgian beauty contest the crown was given to a white-haired woman of 80 years of age, the mother of five children. The New York Mail, commenting on this incident, says: The mistake many women make is to assume that beauty departs with youth, and that old age cannot have beauty. Beauty requires a certain character. For a face to acquire character takes dignity and years. The glory of white hair is seldom premature. The beauty of a woman of 80 with her children and her grandchildren, her character formed, her face showing a record of pure thoughts and a valuable life, is something to which it is time a beauty show awarded a prize.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

No. 268—Picking a Bill Collector.

It all depends, of course, upon the particular type of bill collector you want, as to what indications of character you look for when you are picking him out.

But the consensus of opinion among successful credit men is that fighting and fighting ability do not count for so much as some people would imagine. The bill collector who goes around hunting for a fight with the debtor generally gets the fight, but not the money.

Tact, quick wit and friendliness are in most cases the ideal characteristics of the bill collector, and if you just take the trouble to look for the physical indications of these mental characteristics in those who apply to you for the job, you should be able thus to get considerable aid to your judgment in picking the right man.

Tact and friendliness are all the attributes predominately of the narrow-headed and the long-headed man. Quickness of thought and energy are predominantly the attributes of the blond and the person of convex profile.

Therefore, if you were picking your man solely from what you could see of him, as distinct from what he tells you about himself, you would incline to give the position to a healthy looking individual of light hair and light eyes, a slanting forehead and a slanting or square chin with a narrow head and preferably a long one. This gives you your preliminary basis which, of course, you will want to modify more or less after an interview.

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY CABR

THE BOOK OF LIFE. By Upton Sinclair. Upton Sinclair, Pasadena, Cal., and The Paine Book Company, Chicago, Ill., Publishers.

THIS large volume is really two books in one, and part of the material has been published before. As it appears now it is divided into four parts, "The Book of the Mind," "The Book of the Body," "The Book of Love," "The Book of Society," the whole forming an ensemble which the author dubs "The Book of Life."

The material covers practically all phases of modern life, and resolves itself into an attempt by the author to afford a sort of guidebook to decent living.

Written in a peculiarly crisp style, it quite escapes the insidious fault of preachiness and presents an imposing array of facts and logical reasonings for common sense and ideals in modern life.

There is much in it with which most people are already in cordial agreement, and there are certain other aspects of the book which are still sources of enraged controversy.

Birth control, for instance, is one of the things which Mr. Upton Sinclair advocates and which, from all signs, has as many enemies as friends, if not more.

Certain facets of "The Book of Life," however, are to be cordially approved, and among them are the author's searching commentaries on the questions of diet and the pleas for just marriages of love.

Attacks, which are but reiterated by the author, on capitalism and the misdemeanors of the "smart set," are to be found presented with Mr. Sinclair's usual vivid and overemphatic manner. He is essentially a controversialist, although this is, perhaps, nothing to his discredit. He fights sturdily for his views and is, as usual with hard fighters, rather prone to overshoot the mark in his excitement.

It is quite possible that "The Book of Life," with its simple and engrossing presentation of so many of the weaknesses of modern civilization, will prove a popular book, particularly among those groups desirous of a new order of things.

Many a worse book, be it said, has been popular with them.

Boy! Page Mr. Einstein

THE shortest distance between a seller and a buyer is a straight line. If there is any shorter, let us page Mr. Einstein and ask him about it.

In advertising, the Daily Newspaper is the most direct line possible, and the customer you seek keeps the kinks out of it. He sees that he gets his newspaper at the earliest possible moment. He is not satisfied to wait until the postman delivers something that has been "directed" to him at his home address.

When the daily newspaper passes into the reader's hands, it is expected, welcomed and read. It has his interest before it even gets to him. He will complain loudly to the news dealer if an issue escapes him. He will stand in the heat and the cold while the newsboy fumbles for change. When the delivery brings the daily paper to a home, it is taken in eagerly by someone.

Did anyone ever telephone your office to complain that your circular or form letter had not arrived? Have you ever noticed men waiting in line for the postman to deliver your printed matter? Have you ever seen the daily newspaper flipped off the desk or the supper table while second-class mail is read to the family? Until you have, let us be honest and distinguish between "direct" advertising and printed matter "directed" to your address.

A very interesting game of baseball was played on Erie Flats between the Beavers and A. Stewart's nine. The score resulted 23 to 17 in favor of the former. Batteries for Beavers — Stewart and Stephens; picked nine, Gates and Westman. Sweeney and Payne. Umpire — G. Gibson. The feature of the game was H. Haylock's third base work.

The regular meeting of the board of works was held last night. G. E. Sampey et al. petitioned for a granolithic sidewalk on Albert street, between Richmond and Talbot streets. Inclosed with the petition was a tender for the work from A. Graham. The engineer said the sidewalk would not be necessary until next year. Ald. Cooper thought that such work should be encouraged, instead of gravel being laid on streets where it was not needed.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

MAD DOG! WHAT TO DO

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

MAD DOG! Perhaps you will hear that terrible cry once or twice this summer. It is a signal to scurry for shelter.

During the "dog days" of summer everybody fears a "mad dog." Yet rabies or hydrophobia, which often follows the bite of a "mad" or rabid dog is just as dangerous in winter as in the hot season. For rabies, contrary to popular opinion, is an all-the-year-round disease.

The germ that causes rabies is present in the saliva of a rabid animal, and enters the body of another animal or human being through a bite or break in the skin.

Generally the disease develops within 15 to 90 days in man, though it has been known to develop as early as 10 days and as late as a year or more after the infecting bite.

To guard against the danger of rabies, everyone should know the symptoms.

There are nine which may easily be recognized by the layman. They are (1) sudden change in disposition; (2) unusual nervousness or irritability; (3) tendency to leave home; (4) change in voice to a hoarse bark or husky growl; (5) difficulty in swallowing, particularly fluid food; (6) tendency to snap or bite without provocation; (7) weakness or paralysis of the legs or lower jaw; (8) an increased flow of saliva; (9) the desire to swallow abnormal substances such as wood, stones, etc.

If a dog has bitten anyone, don't hasten to shoot the offending animal, but lock it up in order that a diagnosis may be made. As the first stage of the disease progresses a dog will scarcely touch its favorite food or will refuse to swallow it even after having it in the mouth. Later it will reject all food, but chew objects within its reach and swallow them if possible.

Cauterization of the wound and the Pasteur treatment are measures designed to prevent the development of the disease after being bitten, but should be undertaken only under the supervision of a competent physician.

Everyone Is Welcome at Any of These Churches On the Sabbath Day

Believes "More In Christianity Than Mere Assurance Against Future"

"There is more in Christianity than a mere assurance against the future," said Rev. N. S. McKechnie in his sermon before the combined congregations of Knox Presbyterian and Wortley Road Baptist Churches, in the latter church Sunday night.

The pastor took his text from Ephesians 1., 18 and 19. He explained that Paul, in his letter to the Ephesians, told them that since he had first heard of their faith in Jesus, he had not ceased to pray for them.

"Paul prayed that the Ephesians might know the hope of his calling. He saw in these people possibilities just as Christ sees possibilities in us today," said the preacher.

"Jesus has in mind for us a greater education and expression in life. This is the hope of our calling in Christ Jesus.

"Paul prayed that they might come to know the richness of the glory of Christ's inheritance in the saints. Christ has an inheritance in the saints, and all Christian people. He craves the privilege of lifting men out of the mire of sin.

"The third request that Paul made was that the Ephesians might come to know the exceeding greatness of Christ's power those who believe.

"How little we know this power. We seek to overcome our obstacles by the little strength we have, while there is a vast reservoir of power available for us. God help us to avail ourselves of it."

ASSERTS HYMNS GOOD SERMONS

"A Song of the Sabbath," was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. W. H. Hiles in Robinson Memorial Church Sunday morning.

Taking as the basis of his remarks Bishop Wordsworth's beautiful hymn, "O day of rest and gladness," Mr. Hiles pointed out that next to the reading of the Bible, nothing will bring us greater rewards than the reading of the church hymnal. The Book of Psalms was the hymn book of the old Jewish church, but it came to be also an integral part of the Old Testament scripture. Our blessed Lord himself must often have read those hymns, for in the great crises of his life they leap from his soul through the doors of his lips. When we read the great hymns of the ages we find that some of them are hymns of praise, some songs of thanksgiving, some are prayers for cleaner hearts and purer lives, and some are thoughtful and beautiful sermons.

Bishop's Wordsworth's hymn is one of the best sermons that has ever been written. The first stanza of the hymn is a fine description of what God meant that day to be—a day of rest and gladness, of joy and light, and at the same time, the day is most of all a great day of worship. Men have invented many ways of enjoying the Sabath, said the preacher, but there is no way that will bring so much of joy, and gladness, and real blessing as God's way.

Why do Christians keep the first day of the week as the day of rest? The second stanza of the hymn answers the question, and lays bare the roots of our gladness on the Christian Sabbath. At the creation, God said: "Let there be light," and there was light. "And the evening and the morning were the first day." But more wonderful still, on the first day of the week Christ rose from the dead, and every Christian Sabbath is therefore an Easter Day. Also on the first day of the week "the Lord victorious, the spirit sent from heaven." The keeping of the first day of the week as the day of rest is simply the Christian's confession that to him Jesus Christ is all in all. And yet there are those who try to make out that Christians have deliberately substituted a pagan festival for the Sabbath of the Lord our God. It was inevitable that the Lord's Day for Christians should supersede the Jewish Sabbath.

The most wonderful picture in the Book of Revelations is the picture of the worshipping company of heaven, and one of the stanzas of the hymn is devoted to the thought of the Sabbath Day as the day in which great blessedness comes to the nations because of the corporate worship. "What greater calamity can fall upon a nation than the loss of worship—then all things go to decay." But the Sabbath Day gives us the great opportunity of worship.

ORANGEMEN HOLD CRUMLIN PARADE

London District Lodges Attend St. Luke's Church—Plan Big Day.

Large numbers of London Orangemen motored to Crumlin Sunday, where a church parade was held to St. Luke's Church by Orangemen from all parts of the London district. The Cavell Ladies' Lodge of this city attended in a body, with the fife and drum band, and many representatives of other London lodges.

The pastor of St. Luke's Church, Rev. R. Clarke, spoke to the lodge members on the story of Gideon. He pointed out in his remarks the need of men today who possessed the courage of their convictions. Protestants as a whole should be more sincere, and hold more faith, he said.

The pastor also made a strong plea for unity among the Protestant churches, remarking on the unity of the Roman Catholics in the country. He stated also that he believed the true state of things with regard to religious beliefs in the country were not known generally among Protestants.

As an illustration of what unity could accomplish Rev. Clarke held up the army and its achievements during the late war.

A large Orange celebration will be held in London on Aug. 12, Derry Day. The demonstration will be under the auspices of the Royal Black Knights of the British Commonwealth.

The major part of the day's program will be carried out in Queen's Park. At 1:30 in the afternoon a parade will be held beginning at Victoria Park. The procession will be headed by the London Orange brass band.

Hon. W. D. McPherson, K.C., grand master of the Orange Lodge of British America; Dr. Kennedy Palmer of Ottawa, and if he has not returned to Ireland before that day, Hon. William Coote, L.D., member of Parliament for Ulster, who spoke in the Masonic Temple a short time ago, are expected to be on hand to speak at the park.

Lodges from all Perth County, St. Thomas, St. Marys, Stratford and many places in the surrounding district will be in attendance at the Derry Day celebration.

DECLARES NO HOPE FOR WORLD APART FROM GOD

APART from God, civilization offers no hope for the world, according to Rev. John Richardson, who preached on "Why I Go To Church," to his congregation at Chalmers Presbyterian Church Sunday night. Mr. Richardson pointed out that the church is one of the fundamental principles upon which civilization is based, and that despite all the arguments advanced against church attendance, there is not one of them that will stand close scrutiny.

"Every now and then someone sends a letter to the press to be published, stating the reasons why many people do not go to church," began the minister. He mentioned some of these reasons as neglect on the part of the minister, some alleged discourtesy in the church, doubt of the sincerity of the "Everybody welcome" sign on the church, hypocrisy of some professed Christian, or that the church is not filling the popular need and has lost its hold on the masses.

Mr. Richardson declared that often such a letter to the press betrays the fact that the writer is a stranger to the church. Many of these writers, although arraigning the church, have stated that they would not welcome the day when church worship would be denied the people.

Think Wickedness Fun.

"When we come down to the marrow of the fact the only sort of a religion that justifies a church is the religion that is dead set against sin, and possesses some sort of power to smash sin," said Mr. Richardson. "Any person who knows modern life realizes that a great many people do not want to get rid of sin. They think that wickedness is fun, or that it is profitable.

"The church makes people think about themselves, God, sin and its wages and about salvation. The church shows up palsies and leprosies, and for these reasons it is not acceptable to many people. Personally I do believe that a great part of the lack of church sway over the masses is on account of the antipathy of the masses, the materialistic pleasure lovers, and money grabbers, to its demands for spiritual living.

"Many and various reasons are given by people for not going to church. We feel perfectly certain that no one of them is the true reason. I do not ever remember seeing any letter sent to the editor of a newspaper on 'The reasons why I go to church.'

"People go to church because, through it, they come in contact with the biggest reality in life. They meet God there, and because they desire to obtain good and do good. They maintain their religious side of life, and wish to see the healing light of Christ Jesus shining over the darkness of earth's sorrow and sin.

Man Is Religious.

"These people go to church because they feel the pressure of spiritual needs and to get a grip upon spiritual things. Man is a religious being, and has always felt the need of God. In this seducing world, we are liable to lose sight of that part of our being which relates us to God. That part is the soul.

"We go to church to obtain the strength to say 'Thy will be done' when we enter our Gethsemane. Civilization apart from God offers no hope. One hundred years from now will tell whether our age will become a byword or not. Let us never neglect the church, as it is still the greatest institution upon earth, and much is left for the church to do. The eyes of the world are fastened upon the church today.

"The Christian church has the only real permanent solvent for the world's troubles. The church is engaged in the colossal task of ushering in the kingdom of God. It is the hope of a vexed, troubled and harried world. If we Canadians are to be alive to our great responsibilities we must tighten our grip upon the Lord's Day and public worship and the church."

Peril to Church.

Sunday morning Mr. Richardson preached on "Are Canadians Holding the Lord's Day Too Lightly?" Pleading for a safe and sane Sabbath, he pointed out that it is of no consequence whether the Sabbath be held on the first or seventh days of the week, the main need being that the people devote one-seventh of their time to consecration and worship.

He declared the manner in which a man spent his Sundays to be a searching test of his religion. If the Sabbath is being disregarded in Canada, the Dominion will suffer as, in his opinion, nations depend upon the security of their Lord's Day for virility.

"The Sabbath was made for man," asserted Mr. Richardson, quoting his text. "We ask how it should be used. Simply be loyal to Jesus. He wishes us to separate it from other days as a day which serves mankind to a better purpose than any other.

Has Bad Effect.

"It is most deplorable that so many desert the House of God, especially during the summer months," said the minister. "Many turn the whole day into a holiday, with no vestige of worship or service. With endless joy riding, pleasure seeking, there is a tendency for the Lord's Day to slip away from us with much of its sanctity and practically all its quiet. That will have an injurious effect upon the moral life of Canada.

"We are not pleading for a Puritan Lord's Day of bigotry and intolerance. We should appeal for a safe and sane Lord's Day. We appeal against the loose, lawless, flabby habit which many approve today. We do not condemn recreation on the Lord's Day such as a quiet walk or ride in the fresh air, or going to visit the sick and aged, but the tendency is for laxity and easy-going indulgence.

"We are not the judges of any man in his observance of the Sabbath, but we do contend that Jesus established the Lord's Day for man. The agitation for Lord's Day games keeps up. Surely we can get all the sport we need apart from the Lord's Day. The nations with the finest sporting records are the nations which have been most strict on Lord's Day observance.

"Let Canada run wild, at breakneck speed, with physical recreation, theaters, horse races, games and amusements of all kinds on Sunday, and at last we will get rid of religion. To make a common holiday of the Lord's Day is a peril to church, home and nation," concluded Mr. Richardson.

SAYS HAPPINESS INDESTRUCTIBLE

Rev. J. F. Reycraft Preaches on "Voice of Man in Street."

Rev. J. F. Reycraft, taking his text from Job, i., 9, preached on "The Voice of the Man on the Street," at the First Methodist Church at the morning services.

The preacher pointed out that Job had been sore distressed with the burden of his cares and that when he called his friends unto him and they told him what they thought, he did not blaspheme or deny God.

Mr. Reycraft asserted that the philosophy that would stand the test of everyday life was no good. Life could not be measured by rule. No man can teach God how to run things. No man can tell God why he does the things that he does. Life cannot be explained by rule, nor yet made into a measure. "God does not do things without a purpose." One cannot measure what God means to do with life by the way it stands in the pathway of the ordinary individual.

The question is heard, "What must I do to be saved?" It is sometimes interpreted to mean that one can be saved by just being good, but that does not count. It does not mean to accept the fact that Jesus Christ was a historical figure; but it does mean that one must lay one's whole soul and life on the love of Jesus Christ and then one shall be saved.

The preacher then touched on the subject of the atonement, declaring that while there had been enough books written on the subject to fill the church edifice that the atonement had never been explained. Nevertheless, there is something said about blood and something about Christ as being the atonement. The foundation of man's freedom is laid on the foundation of the great love of God for man. He worked it all out according to his own idea of man-made philosophy. Few people understand this life, yet we live it.

We must test the answer to our lives by life. We start in error oftentimes. Take, for instance, the search for happiness. If a definition of happiness was asked for, and what was the individual conception of being extremely happy, a wonderful variety of answers would be given. Sometimes it is by doing something that a person expects to be happy. If one follows the definition of the man in the street for happiness one would have to chase around all one's life. "Happiness has its real roots down in the deep purposes of life."

Christ made the most wonderful will that has ever been made on earth, he said: "My peace I give unto thee." Not the peace of the world but the peace of Jesus. There is no power on earth that can destroy the roots of real happiness.

"Folks today are taking a lighter view of sin," declared the speaker, "but a rattlesnake is no less dangerous than it used to be, so, therefore, no matter what view is taken of sin or what different name it is called by, it does not become less dangerous. The thing that the present-day religion needs is the sincerity of the old-fashioned religion of our grandfathers."

FLAMES DESTROY TOT'S PLAYHOUSE

There are several little broken hearts in the vicinity of 490 Dundas street, Sunday, for at noon a fire destroyed a pretty little playhouse built snugly in the yard.

Firemen responding hurriedly extinguished the flames, but not before the toy house was completely gutted. Members of the department are of the opinion that some of the children were playing with matches.

SAYS LIBERTIES NOT SUFFICIENT

Rev. Dean Tucker Declares People May Be Slaves of Evil.

In explanation of the fact that while it was possible for one man to control the mind of another, it would be impossible for him to control another's conscience or imagination, Dean Tucker, preaching at the morning service in St. Paul's Cathedral, instanced the period of reformation, when the "Infallible" church attempted without success to impose its views upon the minds of men.

"When the Magna Charta was signed," the dean said, "the foundations were laid of our political and religious liberty. It is curious to note the peculiarities and inconsistencies of human nature. Freedom is the right of every man, on every count. 'All men are free,' saith the Lord, and are to be subject to no human yoke. Yet while this is acknowledged, men have always been loath to grant freedom to their fellows."

The dean recalled the 300 years' persecution of the early Christians, pointing out that when they did finally attain their freedom, it was because rulers were powerless to obstruct it. He drew attention also to the instance when the church itself endeavored to implant its doctrine upon the masses and traced the struggle that followed in England down to the days of "Bloody Mary" and the coming of William of Orange.

While it may in a measure be true that the Protestants had since been guilty of the same offence, Dean Tucker held that the modern church had granted political, social and religious liberties and had adopted a broad attitude of tolerance.

"People may be free in their own land," he said, "but be slaves to evils. Selfishness was one of these. While the other liberties, political, religious and social, have become realities after a struggle of 2,000 years, they are yet insufficient.

"The true Christian is the one who can overcome selfishness and other slavery of the mind, and come upon his own initiative into submission to the will of God."

CALLS ON PEOPLE TO BE OPTIMISTIC

A ringing note of optimism was sounded by Col. W. Beattie, D.D., in his Sunday evening sermon, preached to joint congregations of his own, the First Presbyterian Church, and St. Andrew's, in the latter church. Dwelling upon the optimism of the Bible and the Christian religion, and emphasizing the solid foundation for this hopeful outlook, he closed with this inspiring message, "All God's transitions are from less to greater, from poorer to richer, from loss to gain. The flower withers that the perfect fruit may be developed."

Drawing upon the Bible for illustration, he pointed out that the Christian's optimism is not born of sunshine or passing pleasure, but is the permanent possession of the spirit, the result of triumph over storm and difficulty. Paul was referred to as the outstanding optimist, giving voice to triumphant joy in the stress of the closing years of his life, sounding the call: "Rejoice, and again I say, rejoice."

"He was kingly in courage, priestly in dignity. He fought and labored, possessed of the irrevocable conviction that right would ultimately prevail. It was the same spirit that the soldiers manifested through the trying days of the war, at the most critical periods, the conviction that all things would work together for good," said Dr. Beattie.

Attention of the congregation was drawn to two qualifying statements. Paul called for "rejoicing in the Lord," and the promise of the Bible was: "All things work together for good to those that love goodness."

"Does this put a limit on human optimism?" was a question raised by the preacher. "It does, but it does not rob life of one whit of joy. It puts life in the realm of pure things, where God intended it to be."

The musical services were led by the choir of the First Presbyterian Church, conducted by George Lethbridge, who was at the organ.

A fine interpretation of "By the Waters of Babylon" was a feature of the evening service.

SUGGESTS PLAY PARK AT DAKIN ST.

Should the taxpayers of Southeast London honestly desire to have the board of education property in their district, the much-contested Dakin street site, converted into a civic playground, now is their time to approach the public utilities commission, according to W. A. Tanner, secretary of the former body.

The secretary believes that while the trustees will more than likely abandon the site in question for school purposes, it will then be placed on sale. Then he points out the commission can step in and make the purchase.

GOVERNMENT STEAMER NOT SERIOUSLY DAMAGED

North Sydney, N. S., July 17. — The Canadian Government Merchant Marine Steamer Canadian Commander, ashore near Plate Point, Little Miquelon, since July 3, has been refloated, and taken to St. Pierre Roads, where she will make temporary repairs before proceeding to Quebec, according to advices here. It is not thought that the Commander is seriously damaged.

Avers It Is Only Through Jesus That Kingdom of Heaven Can Be Reached

The peace of mind and soul which follows submission to the will of God, and the awakening to a consciousness of His omnipotent love, was the subject of the sermon delivered in Maitland Street Baptist Church Sunday night by Rev. C. Cameron, of Durham, who took as his text the words from the fifth chapter of St. Mark, "Jesus said unto her, 'Woman thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace.'"

He contrasted the service Christ held along the shores of the Sea of Galilee with the present day services held in the magnificent edifices of the modern church, and again with the pioneer Christians of Canada, who conducted their service in rude shacks or on the edge of forest clearings.

"The value of anxious thought about Jesus is incalculable," Mr. Cameron declared. "The woman to whom Christ spoke was so inspired by the thought of Him that she had sufficient faith to believe that merely the touch of the hem of His garment would prove a cure for her ailment. We should have that sense of Jesus in all our services, both in the church and out of it, the sense that He is always present, and that by reaching toward him we may be cured of the ills of worldliness and made whole in His spirit. It is through Jesus himself that we may reach the kingdom of heaven, and it is only by pressing toward Him that we may gain access to the almighty presence of God Himself."

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

It's a weary business hanging on at the end at the week-end market. Some people must be last, to be sure, but, it is a near tragedy when the first are among the last as well, and have the experience of seeing later comers sold out while they wait on endeavoring to dispose of all their produce before going home. And sometimes they don't achieve, and it is by no means altogether a matter of quality or price.

Fortunately for the tardy city folks, there is usually a large display of wares still remaining after 12 o'clock. And some of the townspeople have a shrewd idea they get better if they go late. Sometimes they do. Quite often they don't.

Somebody got a mammoth fowl for a song Saturday, compared to prices some months back. It wasn't over fat or over lean, guaranteed to be just a year old, Plymouth Rock, ideal table bird, and the price asked was just $1.75. With its companion, it was almost mistaken for a young turkey.

But, the public evidently isn't appreciating "old birds" these summer appetite days. The quest is for the tender broilers, and these were fairly reasonable, ranging from seventy-five, ninety cents, one dollar to one thirty-five for a beautiful bird of an early hatching.

Ducks were alleged to be twenty-two cents a pound. But, who ever heard of buying poultry by the pound at the Covent Garden market on Saturday forenoon? It simply isn't done. At least, it isn't sold that way, and the purchaser usually follows the lead of the original owner in putting through the deal. Ducks were all gone by the time Aunt Maria arrived, or they were hidden from view by the throngs of people seeking fruit. Saturday afternoon and evening must have been strenuous times in scores of London kitchens, judging by the numbers of baskets of cherries that were carried away. Montmorencies, $1.25 a basket, gooseberries at a shilling for the green ones, and 15 cents a quart for the big, plump, ripening ones; raspberries by the crate, 20 to 22 cents; the "black caps" to give color, at 20 cents a box; the black currants, 25 cents, and the red at 12½ cents.

Ever have bubbles rise up and jeer at you from the jars of fruit you have canned or preserved with infinite care, sterilizing jars, rubbers and all filling rapidly when the berries or cherries, or whatever they may be, are boiling hot, and then chasing the bubbles with a silver knife before sealing securely?

Made Failure Stepping-Stone.

One woman was heard confiding her troubles in this respect to a friend.

"It was simply heart-breaking," she said, "after all the trouble I took, the way my raspberries acted. I did them over again, and they all went to pieces and had rather a washed-out look, instead of the lovely ruby red I had hoped for."

"Some of mine did the same thing," said the second woman, "and it was a real grief to me, because I have so little time to repair damages. I'm rather glad now they did, because I have a new kind of conserve as a result. I tried mixing red currants with the raspberries, using a quart box of the currants for each quart jar of the preserved raspberries. I put the currants in the preserving kettle and mashed them with an old-fashioned potato masher, just as if I were preparing to make currant jelly. I added a little water, so they wouldn't stick and burn, and let them boil about ten minutes. I added an equal quantity of sugar, heated, and let that boil a few minutes, then I poured in a jar of cooked raspberries and stirred up the mixture. I boiled it all together briskly for about three minutes, then filled a quart jar and a smaller container, keeping some out for a taste. It was delicious, not stiff, but nicely jammed. Now I'm going to try a quart of black currants with another quart of the raspberries that must be done over."

"Did you ever do black currants with rhubarb?" queried a farmer's wife, what at that moment was filling a sack with currants for the city woman who is making of her failures stepping-stones to new preserving kettle triumphants.

Talking of black currants, by which our grandmothers laid such store, a real grandmother's method was passed along for the benefit of Aunt Maria's readers (if she has any).

Two For One.

Daughter-in-law said: "Grandma J—— always covers her black currants with water, covers them well, then lets them boil hard five minutes. She pours off most of the juice and makes jelly of that, using an equal amount of sugar and liquid. She doesn't bother heating the sugar first, just boils it with the juice about ten minutes, and it turns out beautifully. I did mine the other day that way, and the jelly was lovely, and no trouble at all. From the pulp and juice left she makes jam, adding whatever amount of sugar she desires, and so, you see, she has both the black currants and the jelly."

Peas were offered in abundance, 25 and 30 cents a quart, shelled, and 10 cents or three boxes for a quarter, unshelled. Has the edge been worn off the appetite, or is it true that they are not quite so sweet, even if as tender as the first offerings of the season some weeks ago?

People were selling and buying new potatoes by the bushel, instead of the peck, half-peck, quart or pound, as they were doing a few weeks ago. The lowest price discovered was near 1 o'clock, when a young farmer stated he was willing to sell for $1.40 a bushel, because his potatoes weren't "big as some."

The prevailing price for eggs was 30 cents, and for butter 38 cents to 40 cents.

New honey was a good deal in evidence, 90 cents or $1 a pail for the new clover extraction, depending upon who was doing the selling. Comb honey disappeared early in the forenoon at 30 or 35 cents a section.

Chinese Cabbage.

A new variety of vegetable was discovered, though it may be familiar to a number of people, Chinese cabbage. Only a couple of "heads" were left when Aunt Maria arrived to inquire about the unfamiliar, long, green leaves. How do you use it? Cook it or make salad of it, just like ordinary cabbage, according to the grower.

The flowers were in riotous bloom, gorgeous bunches of peas and snapdragon for just 5 cents and 10 cents, varieties of the marigold family, corn flowers, pinks and a coppery tangerine blossom resembling honeysuckle, only it wasn't.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the flowers could be bountiful and cheap in dull, shut-in days of fall, winter and early spring when the houses so much need their cheering presence? Every housewife appreciates the fruit, but there are times when the most ardent enthusiast over jamming, jelling an canning wishes in the depths of her soul the desirable small fruits wouldn't come on with such a rush when the days and the evenings are so perfect for staying outdoors, far from maddening gas flame or electric white fire, and far from sticky pots and pans.

TO PICKLE CORN.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a constant reader of your page, and enjoy it very much, although I have never written before. I saw where Rose asked for a recipe to pickle small corn cobs, and thought I might be of some help to her, as I have often taken recipes from this page. Take just tiny cobs and remove husks and silk. Boil in salt water from 10 to 15 minutes, drain water off, put cobs in jar and pour vinegar over, do not make water too salty, just enough to make corn taste nice. Please tell me, if you can, what days the following dates fell on May 1, 1898; December 27, 1891; June 21, 1894; October 17, 1902; May 15, 1896. Inclosed find dime for hospital fund. Wishing Miss Grey and the Boxites good luck.

BETTY BROWN.

May 1, 1898, fell on Sunday; December 27, 1891, Sunday; June 21, 1894, Thursday; October 17, 1902, Friday; May 15, 1896, Friday. Many thanks for remembering the hospital fund with a mite. We have collected over $700 now and are going to make an extra special effort to raise the last $300.

SENDS HOSPITAL MITE.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a line for your Mail-Box. I have been a reader of your column for years. I wrote you a long time ago to say how much I have enjoyed it, and am writing to say so again.

I have tried many recipes the readers sent in and have found them splendid.

I am inclosing a dime for the kiddies as I am always interested in them.

Wishing all our dear readers the very best of happiness. Will sign myself, MARY ANNE.

Thank you, Mary Anne, for your tribute to our page, also for the hospital mite. We will be looking for a letter from you again soon.

HAS NOT RECEIVED PARCEL.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw in Monday's Advertiser that "Contented" had some clothes for one to cut down for the children. I wondered if I should do right by sending for her address, as it is in the city, and I could send for them when convenient to her. I also saw, dear Miss Grey, where you mentioned that I had had one parcel from the Boxites. I thought I would mention this, as there may be a mistake, for I have not receive one as yet. Some kind soul sent me a $1 bill, for which I was very grateful, and you printed my letter of acknowledgement in Monday's paper. It was very kind of Pansy and Hertfordshire to mention me so kindly, and dear Miss Grey, I feel as though I love you for your great consideration. You see, I appreciate it so much, because I have nobody in this country. I left my parents and nine brothers and sisters in England, besides some very dear friends. Again thanking you. I am, yours truly,

HOPE.

I am sorry to hear, Hope, you have not received any help as yet. I misunderstood your letter. I thought you said you had received one parcel. I am mailing you Contented's address, so that you may get in touch with her, and I am sure she will help you.

ONE YEAR OLD TODAY.

Dear Miss Grey,—May I become a correspondent of your interesting and useful Mail-Box column, which I have so often enjoyed, and always with the hope of one day becoming a Boxite. I am a mother of three healthy children. My baby is one year old today, my boy is past three, and my oldest girl is five, and she is through the primer book. But as a result from overwork I have got run down, and last January developed neuralgia on my lungs, and I am very delicate and unable to do my work at present. I often wish I was qualified in some light work so I could earn a little at home for my children and myself. I would be very grateful for any sympathy rendered to my family and myself from any of the kind readers of The Advertiser. I will leave my address with Miss Grey. I have found these recipes very beneficial for one in poor health.

Substitute for Coffee.—Take whole corn and roast very brown, then take and plunge into boiling water and boil 15 minutes. Serve same as tea or coffee. I have also found that a cereal made in the following manner is very agreeable: Take whole corn and roast very brown (not burnt), then grind the roasted corn in a food chopper. It makes a fine flour or meal, which you make the same as any cereal. It seems so soothing to the stomach. My babies always do well with it, as it does not sour readily. CENTREE.

Please remember to write on one side of the paper only next time you write. It is a blessing your children are healthy, Centree. I have placed your name on file, and anyone wishing it may have it from the Mail-Box. Many thanks for passing on the recipes.

WASN'T SUPPOSED TO.

Dear Miss Grey.—Here I am again, although I didn't expect to be strolling along so soon again, but as you were so sure you sent me some cinnamon vine bulbs I have been so sorry to think they have been lost. I have called at both express offices and the post-office. After sealing your letter I found I had left the donation out which I intended then to send as soon as I received more stamps, but I guess I was not supposed to get any of those vines as it all went wrong, didn't it? Oh well, perhaps some other time you may have some, or something else that I can make for our home, some nice crochet patterns or something to copy and return. Anyway, my donation went into the envelope first this time, and hope to send more next time. Best wishes from

SUNFLOWER.

I am sorry you did not receive the bulbs, but better luck next time, Sunflower. Many thanks for the generous hospital mite, which was in the letter all right this time.

THINKS MAIL-BOX WONDERFUL.

Dear Miss Grey and Mail-Box Friends,—Glad to see so many letters in the Mail-Box again. What a wonderful good the Mail-Box is doing, so many receiving help. I must thank the two kind friends who sent me parcels. I only wish they could know the good they have done. I was all discouraged, wondering how I could manage to dress my boys, when along came two parcels, just what I needed. I am training my boys to always help others, and hope I may be able to help others in the near future. I see by this morning's paper where several are asking for my address, which has been lost. Please send it to Five Roses and J. A. G. The parcels will be very acceptable, as I have four boys of school age and two younger at home, and it seems as if I always need pants and shirts for them. I am inclosing mite for hospital, and only wish it were more, as I dearly love kiddies. Wish the Mail-Box every success.

APRIL SHOWERS.

I am mailing your address to those asking for it; I was wondering where you had gone, as I asked for your address so many times. Many thanks for the hospital mite. I am delighted to know you received such lovely parcels

TO DESTROY ANTS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please tell me what will destroy ants, and drive them away, as they seem to come in from out of doors, and trouble me through the summer months.

ANXIOUS.

Dissolve two pounds of alum in three or four quarts of water, and let it stand for some time. Apply with a stiff brush to every joint or crack in shelves, bedsteads or floors. Keep the wash boiling hot while using. This is very effective.

SEND IN ADDRESS.

Dear Cynthia,—I see in The Advertiser an inquiry for April Shower's address, and as I have it I thought I would send it on to you. I sent her a parcel, and hope it was of some use to her, but I never saw an acknowledgment of it in the paper. I always enjoy the Mail-Box, and often find good recipes, as well as other helps. Inclosed please find a hospital mite. I hope to see the remaining $300 added soon, but money is scarce, and there are always so many ways to spend it. I am very sorry for all those in trouble, and hope they will soon obtain work, so that they will not be in need. AUNT HEM.

It was very thoughtful of you to send in April Shower's address, which had been mislaid. She wrote the other day acknowledging your parcel. Many thanks for the hospital mite. The Boxites have grown lax since the hot weather, but I hope soon they will return with renewed energy.

HONOR BRIDE-ELECT.

The spacious and beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carling Gray, con. 7, London Township, was the scene of a very pleasing event in the form of a miscellaneous shower given in honor of one of Melrose's most popular young ladies, Miss Gladys McIntyre, whose marriage takes place this month.

The beautiful grounds were artistically decorated with Chinese lanterns and seats were placed beneath the trees.

In the course of the evening, while the guest of honor was enjoying a game of blind man's buff, little Arlene Bowman, who looked sweet in her little bridal dress with veil, and carrying a shower bouquet of roses, accompanied by Master Lonson Randall, dressed as a little groom, appeared drawing an express wagon decorated in pink and white and laden with gifts. The handkerchief was then removed from Miss McIntyre's eyes, and after opening the lovely gifts she thanked her many friends.

Refreshments were then served by Misses Stella, Mary and Edna Gray and Mr. Mackey Gray. Among those present from a distance were: Miss Mackey, Parkhill; Mrs. O'Neal, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thompson, Thorndale; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tuckey and Miss Eleda Gray, London.

BIBLE CLASS HOLDS PICNIC.

The Bible class of St. George's Church, London Township, held a picnic at Springbank Park last week. One of the most interesting features was a ball game, the captains being Elliott Shipley and William Roadhouse. The latter won by a few points.

Supper was served at 5:30 to a jolly group numbering over 30.

Sports concluded the afternoon's program.

JOINT PICNIC AT EMBRO.

The W. M. S. of Knox Church, Embro, met at the manse on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Lane and Miss Graime McDonald gave good reports of the convention held at Chesterfield. Mrs. W. W. Murray and Mrs. Lane gave two interesting missionary papers. Arrangements were made for the mission band and this society to hold a joint picnic next Friday afternoon, July 21, at the manse. After the meeting refreshments were served and a social half hour was spent and enjoyed.

EMBRO CONGREGATIONAL W.M.S.

Th W. M. S. of the Congregational Church, Embro, met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Day, president. Mrs. Cody presided, and after the usual opening exercises and a short time spent in talking over business matters, Mrs. G. M. McKenzie gave an interesting paper and several selections were rendered on the phonograph. The hostess, Mrs. Day, served very dainty afternoon tea and a social half hour was enjoyed.

BUNYAN ATHLETIC CLUB.

A very lively lawn social was held on the lawn of Mr. J. B. Maitland, Sarnia Township, on Friday evening, July 14, under the auspices of the Bunyan Athletic Club.

Raspberries with whipped cream, cake and coffee were served. At a booth, ice cream, watermelon, bananas and other refreshments were sold.

Early in the evening a game of baseball was played between the Townline team and the local team. The score was 8—12 in favor of the Townline team.

Rev. Mr. Rothby of Petrolea acted as chairman for the program during the later part of the evening. An orchestra under the capable leadership of Mr. Fisher of Petrolea gave some splendid music. Some very entertaining songs were given by Misses Webb and Polly and excellent readings by Miss Thompson. These artists from Petrolea deserve high praise for the fine type of program which they gave. The proceeds of the social amounted to $9, and young people of the athletic club are now in a position to make their club one of the best in the county.

PETROLEA

Special to London Advertiser.

PETROLEA, July 16.—The monument to be erected here in honor of the Petrolea and North Enniskillen boys who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war, has been completed by the Thompson Memorial Company, Toronto, and will be ready for erection early in August.

Plans have been completed to electrify the Petrolea waterworks pumping station at Lake Huron. The hydro line was staked out Thursday, and work will be commenced on the erection of poles and wires the latter part of next week.

Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of highways, will visit Petrolea on Aug. 3 to meet the good roads delegation of the Petrolea and District Chamber of Commerce, that waited on the county council during the June session.

SCARAMOUCHE

by Rafael Sabatini

In the background, on a settee at the salon's far end, sat Aline staring in bewilderment and some fear at a face which, if unrecognizable through the mask of blood and dust that smeared it, was yet familiar. And then the man spoke, and instantly she knew the voice for that of the Marquis de La Tour d'Azyr.

"In danger?" Almost he seemed silently to laugh at the unnecessary question. "If I were to show myself openly in the streets just now, I might with luck contrive to live for five minutes!"

He peeled off the shaggy great-coat, and casting it from him stepped forth in the black satin that had been the general livery of the hundred knights who had rallied in the Tuileries that morning to the defense of their king.

His coat was rent across the back, his neckcloth and the ruffles at his wrists were torn and bloodstained; with his smeared face and disordered headdress he was terrible to behold.

"My dear Therese, unless you carry charitableness to the length of giving me to drink, you will see me perish of thirst under your eyes before ever the canaille has a chance to finish me."

She started. "I should have thought of it!" she cried in self-reproach, and she turned quickly. "Aline," she begged, "tell Jacques to bring . . ."

"Aline!" he echoed, interrupting, and swinging round in his turn. Then, as Aline rose into view, detaching from her background, and he at last perceived her, he heaved himself abruptly to his weary legs again, and stood there stiffly, bowing to her across the space of gleaming floor. "Mademoiselle, I had not suspected your presence," he said, and he seemed extraordinarily ill-at-ease, a man startled, as if caught in an illicit act.

"I perceived it, monsieur," she answered, as she advanced to do madame's commission. She paused before him. "From my heart, monsieur, I grieve that we should meet again in circumstances so very painful."

Not since the day of his duel with Andre-Louis — the day which had seen the death and burial of his last hope of winning her—had they stood face to face.

"But sit, monsieur, I beg. You are fatigued."

"You are gracious to observe it. With your permission, then." And he resumed his seat. She continued on her way to the door and passed out upon her errand.

M. de La Tour d'Azyr at last pleaded weariness, and withdrew that he might endeavor to take some rest. When he was gone, madame persuaded Aline to go and lie down.

Left alone, madame lay down on a couch in the salon itself, to be ready for any emergency.

The timepiece on the overmantel chimed the hour of ten, and then, startling in the suddenness with which it broke the immediate silence, another sound vibrated through the house, and brought madame to her feet in a breathless mingling of hope and dread. Someone was knocking sharply on the door below. Followed moments of agonized suspense, culminating in the abrupt invasion of the room by the footman Jacques. He looked round, not seeing his mistress at first.

"Madame! Madame!" he panted, out of breath. "There is a man below. He is demanding to see you at once."

She was perfectly composed. "Conduct him to me, and then beg Mlle. de Kercadiou to join me if she is awake."

The door opened again, and Jacques reappeared; after him, stepping briskly past him, came a slight man in a wide-brimmed hat, adorned by a tricolor cockade. About the waist of an olive-green riding-coat he wore a broad tricolor sash; a sword hung at his side.

"Andre-Louis!" she exclaimed.

CHAPTER XII

THAT gift of laughter of his seemed utterly extinguished. "Rougane could not return," he informed her shortly. "At M. de Kercadiou's request, I come instead."

"You! You are sent to rescue us!" The note of amazement in her voice was stronger than that of her relief.

"That, and to make your acquaintance, madame."

"To make my acquaintance? But what do you mean, Andre-Louis?"

"This letter from M. de Kercadiou will tell you."

Intrigued by his odd words and odder manner, she took the folded sheet. She broke the seal with shaking hands, and with shaking hands approached the written page to the light.

"And so you know, my child?" Her voice was stifled to a whisper.

"I know, madame my mother."

She took one or two faltering steps toward him, hesitating. Then she opened her arms. Sobs suffocated her voice.

"Won't you come to me, Andre-Louis?"

A moment yet he stood hesitating, startled by that appeal, angered almost by his heart's response to it, reason and sentiment at grips in his soul. This was not real, his reason expostulated; this poignant emotion that she displayed and that he experienced was fantastic. Yet he went. Her arms enfolded him; her wet cheek was pressed hard against his own; her frame, which the years had not yet succeeded in robbing of its grace, was shaken by the passionate storm within her.

"Oh, Andre-Louis, my child, if you knew how I have hungered to hold you so! If you knew how, in denying myself this, I have atoned and suffered! Kercadiou should not have told you—not even now. It was wrong—most wrong, perhaps, to you. And yet—come what may of this—to be able to hold you so, to be able to acknowledge you, to hear you call me mother—oh! Andre-Louis, I cannot now regret it. I cannot . . I cannot wish it otherwise."

She sprang away from him with a startled cry. Beyond him in the shadows by the door a pale figure shimmered ghostly.

"You heard, Aline?"madame exclaimed.

"I could not help it, madame."

"Aline!" It was the countess who spoke. She knew the danger of half-discoveries. "I can trust you, child, I know, and Andre-Louis, I am sure, will offer no objection." She had taken up the letter to show it to Aline. Yet first her eyes questioned him.

"Oh, none, madame," he assured her. "It is entirely a matter for yourself."

Aline looked from one to the other with troubled eyes, hesitating to take the letter that was now proffered. When she had read it through, she very thoughtfully replaced it on the table. Then impulsively she ran to madame and put her arms about her.

"Aline!" It was a cry of wonder, almost of joy. "You do not utterly abhor me!"

"My dear!" said Aline, and kissed the tear-stained face that seemed to have grown years older in these last few hours.

In the background Andre-Louis, steeling himself against emotionalism, spoke with the voice of Scaramouche:

"It would be well, mesdames, to postpone all transports until they can be indulged at greater leisure and in more security. It is growing late. If we are to get out of this shambles we should be wise to take the road without more delay."

It was a tonic as effective as it was necessary. It startled them into remembrance of their circumstances, and under the spur of it they went at once to make their preparations.

They left him for perhaps a quarter of an hour, to pace that long room alone, saved only from impatience by the turmoil of his mind. When at length they returned, they were accompanied by a tall man in a full-skirted, shaggy greatcoat and a broad hat, the brim of which was turned down all around. He remained respectfully by the door in the shadows.

Between them the two women had concerted it thus, or rather the countess had so concerted it when Aline had warned her that Andre-Louis' bitter hostility toward the marquis made it unthinkable that he should move a finger consciously to save him.

They had made the mistake of not fully forewarning and persuading M. de La Tour d'Azyr.

They had reckoned without the queer sense of honor that moved such men as M. le Marquis, nurtured upon a code of shams.

Andre-Louis, turning to scan that muffled figure, advanced from the dark depths of the salon. As the light beat on his white, lean face the pseudo-footman started. The next moment he, too, stepped forward into the light, and swept his broad-brimmed hat from his brow. As he did so, Andre-Louis observed that his hand was fine and white and that a jewel flashed from one of the fingers. Then he caught his breath, and stiffened in every line as he recognized the face revealed to him.

"Monsieur," that stern, proud man was saying, "I cannot take advantage of your ignorance, if these ladies can persuade you to save me, at least it is due to you that you shall know whom you are saving."

Archery Will Give You Grace and Poise—It's Fun

THE latest fad in women's athletics is the revival of the noblest old sports—archery.

Cupid, of course, holds the world's championship. Just the same, there is no good reason why he should have a monopoly of this form of amusement, or why any one shouldn't have fun with targets less dangerous than the human heart.

That was how the Campfire Girls figured it out when they started to revive the sport. So they made it a part of their training to master the technique of the bow and arrow and now they have in demand for teaching society and business girls how to play Diana's favorite game.

At parks, country clubs and on greenswards generally splashly looking targets are being erected and the most attractive sport togs are being exhibited to advantage. Archery clubs may become as common as those of golf and tennis.

The one great advantage of archery over every other sport is its decorativeness.

There are bound to be ungraceful moments in golf and tennis, but archery gives an opportunity always for the most graceful and beautiful of attitudes.

Not only that, but it really develops grace and symmetry more than any other form of exercise, besides affording development of arms and shoulders.

Archery is not an expensive sport. After the original outlay for the bow and arrows the worst is over.

A good bow may command any price, according to its merit. It is handsome, preferably of yew, and must balance exactly. The arrows, too, must be of perfect balance.

Regulation arrows are tipped with brass. Many society women are having their arrows tipped with silver, ivory or gold. Naturally, these embellishments are expensive.

The sartorial equipment is limited only by your imagination and your wallet. Any snappy sports costume is bound to be seen to advantage. Naturally you want something that insures freedom. Practically any color looks well against green.

The strength of the bows is computed in the pounds of pull necessary to draw back the string until the arrow head touches the wood.

Ulysses, you remember, had a bow of such strength that no other man could string it. One way to keep your archery set exclusive is to develop a similar strength.

Radio Radiations

BY THE RATIO EDITOR.

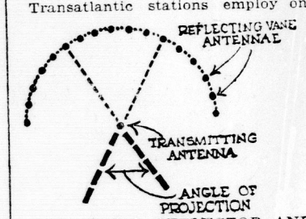
THERE is little doubt that very small amounts of radio energy will enable the negotiation of great distances.

Radio engineers are now working on the application of the radio reflector principle particularly for those stations which communicate over great distances.

Of the energy now transmitted from the antenna of a station only an infinitesimally small part does useful work at the receiver. The total energy used is spread over a vast circular area.

If it were possible to direct all the energy employed toward one definite point, a great reduction in the power required to reach a certain distance would be possible immediately.

Transatlantic stations employ on the average about 250 horsepower of energy.



THE RADIO REFLECTOR AND HOW IT WORKS.

Marconi's reflector device is one way of solving this problem of energy wastes.

Little Energy.

With a beautifully constructed model transmitting on a wave length of one meter, he directed the course of the wave at will within a very small angle.

Behind the transmitting antenna is placed a reflector of semi-circular shape. This reflector is composed of vanes which are really antennae in themselves. These are spread exactly one wave length from the transmitting antenna.

Energy thrown off from the transmitting antenna is absorbed by the wave antennae and is re-radiated. The energy which is thrown back toward the transmitting antenna is so timed, due to the spacing between the antenna and reflecting vane, that the radiation from the antenna is reinforced to a marked degree. Thus, the greater portion of the radiant energy is thrown in one direction.

Stations using these methods are already in experimental operation abroad, and the way is pointed toward further possibilities for radio communication.

White Gains in Popularity This Season

DESPITE the early vogue of bright colors and of patterned materials it begins to look as though the summer season itself were to be one of white.

White silks and crepes, white ratine, homespun, swiss organdy—white in every conceivable material is being shown and worn.

Sometimes white is used as a background for colored trimmings as in the slip-on blouse sketched. This is smocked in vari-colored yarns. It is worn with one of the well-liked pleated skirts.

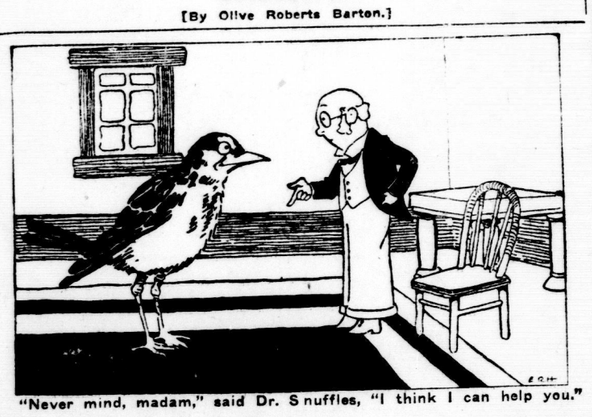
Slip-on dresses made with an elastic gathered waist are very popular and are shown in many styles.

Many women prefer them to skirts of knickers and blouses for sports wear and the elastic waistline permits one to swing one's arms with all the fervor at one's command.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

SNUFFLES AIDS BABY ROBINS

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]



"Never mind, madam," said Dr. Snuffles, "I think I can help you."

"DR. SNUFFLES! Dr. Snuffles!" called Nancy to the kind little fairy gentleman who doctored all the creatures in Outdoor Land. "Here's Mrs. Robin to see you."

"All right, I'll be down in a minute," called the doctor, shaving, as he hurried.

"Why, Mrs. Robin, how do you do!" he said. "You don't look a bit sick."

"And neither I am," answered Mrs. Robin, sadly shaking her head. "It's not I, doctor, it's—it's, oh, doctor, I'm so mortified! It's my new babies! They hatched out of their eggs yesterday and instead of being lovely little fluffy darlings, as I had expected, they're as bare as doorknobs. There isn't feather or a bit of fuzz on them and they look awful. I'm so disappointed!"

Mrs. Robin began to cry.

"Never mind, madam," said Dr. Snuffles, "I think I can help you. I'll give you something that will make your children have lovely soft feathers in about three weeks' time."

Dr. Snuffles called to Nick to bring him some milkweed and pokeberries. These he squeezed and mixed together. Then he handed Mrs. Robin a bottle with some instructions.

"Will that medicine really do any good?" asked Nancy when Mrs. Robin had gone. "I thought all baby robins were bare and it took three weeks for their feathers to grow."

"That's right," nodded Dr. Snuffles, "it does. But in the meantime Mrs. Robin won't be worrying her head off, and that medicine won't hurt 'em a bit. There are tricks to all trades, my dear."

For Crepes and Silks and Fragile Laces

—to keep them fresh and new

Prettier every time they are washed! Think of being able to say this about the crepes, silks and satins which used to be such a problem.

Think of being able to cleanse them conveniently and economically in sudsy water, thanks to the special soap science has perfected for the washing of dainty materials.

Wear your best things every day—put them on and enjoy them. They are cleansed in an instant without harm in the dainty lather of Princess Soap Flakes.

What are Princess Flakes?

Mild, pure, whole soap, dainty enough for toilet soap, with a refining touch of perfume.

In convenient flake form, wafer-like and curly so that they won't mat and lump, so that the action of water will dissolve them instantly.

These curly white flakes make the stiffest of lather which freshens and renews while it cleanses.

Princess Flakes are the safe soap for fancy washing and the efficient soap for general use. And a convenience and economy into the bargain.

Two big savings

Princess Flakes go much farther than common laundry soap. This is because they are pure whole soap, with no filler and little moisture. This saves soap money.

They also protect your clothes from effects of destructive soap ingredients. Broken threads and weakened texture usually are not due to poor material, but to the effects of common laundry soap.

For washing woolens

Princess Flakes are ideal—no shrinking, no harsh stiffness, but washes sweaters, scarfs, leggings, blankets, all soft and wooly, warm as new.

In the washing machine

Princess Flakes haven't an equal. The thick suds dissolve dirt like magic and stands up so well it doesn't have to be renewed.

This is in bulk, which makes Princess Flakes as much an economy as they are a convenience.

Once you learn the value of Princess Flakes you will order by the 24 pound carton, which allows a big saving. You will use them for every laundry purpose and for general household needs.

Buzz Plugs Southpaw Works With Good Effect.

Wetzel flung the whole southpaw works at the Kitchener Beavers Saturday, Carmen in the first game and Bullard in the second, and the locals grabbed off both ends, 8 to 1 and 6 to 1. Even in defeat the Beavers showed Saturday afternoon that they'll be a team to upset the dope when least expected in the second series under Pierce's management.

Sixteen hits and two errors, both of the latter counting in on one run, tells the story of the first game and a quarter of these swats were three baggers, sired by the top of the London batting order, Stimpson, Schaefer, Butle, and Blake, none of which went to waste.

The London attack was concentrated in the 4th, 5th and 6th stanzas, though they pried open the lid with a run in the third to ease things over. Outside these three frames, Berry pitched nice ball, and the Kitchener defence looked much more solid than it has this season.

The lone run in the third came when Carmen was dead-headed to first, was safe at second when Mostade dropped Hindt's throw on Butler's choice, went to third on Blake's single to right, going home when Berry let the throw in from McManus get away from him.

With one gone in the 4th, Malmquest was hit, Boyle singled and both advanced a base on a balk. Carmen's double brought them in. Stimpson's long triple to right scored Carmen, and Stimpson came in on the wings of singles by Butler and Blake, to make up the quartet of runs.

In the 5th, the Tecs got another lone counter, Schaefer's one hit of the day, a triple, starting the chapter off. Mackey flied out, Malmquest walked. Boyle laid down a choice at first base, Schaefer being nabbed at the plate. Another walk issued to Fedor filled the bags, and pitching to Carmen Berry unfurled a wild pitch. Malmquest dashed in home, and Boyle stemmed right in on the second sacker's breeze and apparently made it. However, Berry walked over to the dugout and made the put out there, claiming that Buck hadn't touched the plate, and the umps agreed.

A second two-ply knock by Carmen and triples by Butler and Blake got the last brace of counters in the 6th.

Hindt's single, Stimpson's error and a ground out advancing both, paved the way for the Beaver run, as Hooker lifted a sacrifice fly. The Beavers were in a position to be dangerous at several stages, but the necessary hit wasn't forthcoming when it was most needed.

The Second Game.

The shortened-up affair was much a peppery engagement, and until the local Braves punched out four runs in the 6th, they were forced to trail ahead slowly with only a two-run margin for the whole game.

They got these in the 4th. Two singles, a sacrifice and a ground out pushed one run in, and Boyle's infield smash completed the lowly duece. Came the 6th, and singles by Blake and Schaefer, and Churry getting hit had the bases crowded. Malmquest's single relieved the congestion by two. Boyle grounded out, but Churry taking a tantalizing lead off third, Hartline took as a personal slight and he heaved the ball in the general direction of third. While Hooker out in left field retrieved it, Churry and Malm. galloped home.

With one away in the 7th, McManus, who was heralded through the press the first day of his joining the Beavers as striking out four times, got some of the average back with a triple to left. Hixenbaugh's ground out scored him and upset Doc Bullard's carefully mixed-up pail of whitewash.

MARGARET DILLON TROTS MILE IN 2:00

Tommy Murphy Drives Her To New Season's Record.

FORT MIAMI PARK, Toledo, Ohio, July 16.—A new mile record for the year was established in the Willys-Overland Stake, 2:03 pace, the final even of the Grand Circuit program here Saturday, when Margaret Dillon, driven by Tommy Murphy, paced the circuit in 2:00 flat, beating the year's record of 2:02¼, established Friday by Roy Grattan and tied in the first heat of yesterday's race by Margaret Dillon. This record established a record for the three best heats of the year—2:02¼, 2:00, 2:01½.

L. C. Webb of Mason, Mich., one of the judges who resigned following Friday's demonstration against the decision awarding first place in the second heat of the 2:08 trot to Princess Etawah over Prince Loree, resumed his seat in the judges' stand yesterday. Associated with him were George C. Bryce, secretary of the Toledo Driving Club, and W. O. Holst, another member of the club.

"Webb reconsidered his action of Friday in leaving the stand when the officials of the Toledo Driving Club declared all bets off," Secretary Bryce said.

The Great Volo, driven by Cox, captured the 2:09 trot in straight heats.

LEAFS TRIM TERRIERS 5--4

Scrappy Game Causes Several Near Riots With 9th Rally Climax.

GUELPH, July 15.—The Maple Leafs put another crimp in the aspirations of the Galt Terriers this afternoon, when they gave them a 5 to 4 beating. The game was marked to some extent by the crabbing of the players regarding the decisions of Umpire McAvoy of Waterloo, the Galt players doing most of the fault-finding, and there was almost a riot during the first half of the ninth inning, when the crowd thought Wylie Wilkinson, who played second base for the Terriers, deliberately tried to injure Lindsay, the Leaf's third baseman, when he was caught twenty feet off the base. Players and spectators crowded around him, however, and no one was hurt. The Leafs were the first to score, and at the end of the seventh inning the count was 4 to 1, and then Galt had a rally which came very near winning the game, scoring two runs in the eighth and having three on the bases with one out, but a fast double-play killed off their chances. The Leafs scored one in their half of the eighth, and the Terriers came strong in the ninth. With one out, Kress tripled to deep left and Wilkinson put up a Texas leaguer back of first, which fell safe. Kress scored and Wilkinson went on to second, and on a short wild throw he tried to take third, but was an easy out. Both Graham and Henry were in trouble in almost every inning, but fast work kept the score down. Henry pitched a steadier game than Graham, and after the row in the ninth was replaced by Goyer, who easily retired the side without further damage.

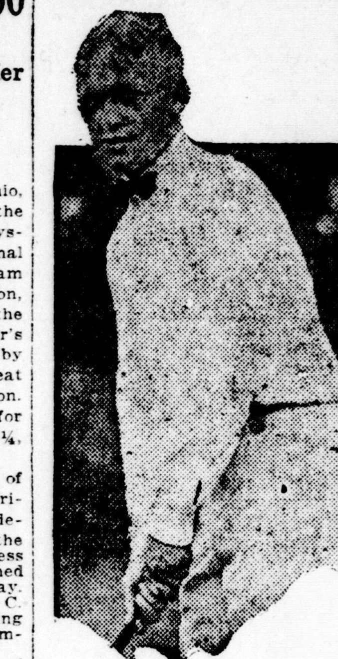
Ties For Second



BOBBY JONES.

TIEING for second with Black, the aged pro, put Bobby Jones, the youthful Atlanta golfer, at the head of those most fancied for the national open title.

UNKNOWN YOUTH WINS GOLF TITLE

21-Year-Old Gene Sarazen of Pittsburg New Champion.

SKOKIE COUNTRY CLUB, Glencoe, Ills., July 15.—Gene Sarazen, of Pittsburg, a little 21-year-old native-born American of Italian descent, yesterday pushed his way out in front of many of the world's greatest golfers and won the national open golf championship with a score of 288 for 72 holes of play, lasting two days.

A hooked drive out of bounds on the 71st hole, followed a moment later by a wild spoon shot, cost John Black, Oakland, Calif., professional, a tie for first, and these strokes, with a missed putt a few greens earlier, kept him from winning the title. He finished a stroke behind Sarazen, in a tie with Bobby Jones, youthful Atlanta, Ga., amateur, for second, while William Melhorn of Shreveport, La., was fourth with 290, and Walter Hagen of Detroit, British open champion, fifth with 291. Jim Barnes of Pelham Manor, N. Y., defending his title, was hopelessly out of the running, finishing well down the list.

Only one of the three Britons finished among the first twelve, George Duncan tieing for sixth with Leo Diegel of New Orleans. Jones was amateur in this list.

Sarazen's victory was won by an exhibition of golf that has seldom ever been approached in a titular contest, for his final 18 holes were made in 33 and 35—68, two strokes under par and one of the only two scores to break par in two days of play.

The tournament generally produced record-breaking golf. All of the prize-winners—the first ten—finished with scores of 300 or less.

Those who finished in the first ten places and won prizes follow: Gene Sarazen, Pittsburg, 288; Bobby Jones (amateur), Atlanta, 289; John Black, Oakland, 289; William Melhorn, Shreveport, La., 290; Walter Hagen, Detroit, 291; George Duncan, England, 297; Leo Diegel, New Orleans, 297; Jock Hutchison, Chicago, 298; Mike Brady, Detroit, 298; John Golden, New York, 298.

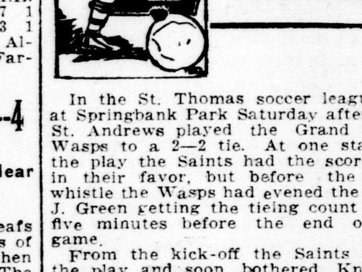
WOODSTOCK SKIP WINS L.R.C. EVENT

F. L. Smith, secretary of the Woodstock Bowling Club, guest at the L. R. C. greens Saturday, skipped a local rink to victory. It was a battle of secretaries, as J. Farrow, secretary of the local club, was second to the Woodstock official.

A. Beal, J. J. Jepson, A. F. Allen and F. L. Smith, skip; 3 wins, plus 25.
Waugh, Dr. Spence, W. Stallard and J. Farrow, skip; 3 wins, plus 15.



In the St. Thomas soccer league tilt at Springbank Park Saturday afternoon, St. Andrews played the Grand Trunk Wasps to a 2—2 tie. At one stage of the play the Saints had the score 2—0 in their favor, but before the final whistle the Wasps had evened the score, J. Green getting the tieing count about five minutes before the end of the game.

From the kick-off the Saints forced the play and soon bothered Knowles, whose good work alone prevented the Scotch team from tallying. Finally the Wasps broke away, and the forwards carried the ball to the Scotch citadel. J. Green, centering a rapid shot, forced Adamson to his knees and conceded a corner, but with no result. Before the end of the game the Saints were again around Knowles. Moore giving him a hot shot to handle, but he made a sensational save. The period closed with the score 0—0.

At the opening of the final bracket both teams pressed hard, but the Scotch team showed the way. They got their first counter on a scrimmage in front of the G. T. R. goal, Whitelaw doing the trick. Encouraged by this, the Saints added another, Morgan scoring the second one. With a two-goal lead to overcome, the Wasps braced themselves, and in a short time Evans tallied on a rebound from Adamson, who previously made a good save. The Trunks kept up the attack, and with five minutes to go J. Green beat Adamson, thus equalizing the score. All attempts to break the tie were unsuccessful, and the game ended with the count 2—2.

The teams:

St. Andrews—Adamson, Wilson, Croal, Russell, Whitelaw, D. Smith, Moore, Morgan, Peebles, McFarlane and Owen.

Grand Trunk—Knowles, Brewer, Crinnin, MacClenahan, Askew, Thorne, Lownie, Evans, Green, Hazlewood and Angus.

FLINT NICK ACES.

FLINT, July 16.—Flint took the opening game of the series with Saginaw today 6 to 5, in an 11-inning battle.

A rally in the eleventh with two down, gave the Vehics two runs, enough to tie up the game and win it.

Neither of the original pitchers were able to stay through the game, though the batting was light. Precarious base conditions caused them to be yanked. Saginaw tied it up in the seventh, after being held runless and hitless for five innings by Bodecker. Flint went ahead in the seventh, and Saginaw knotted it in the eighth. Two passes and Kirby's single got the Aces a run in the eleventh, but James' double scored Young, who had forced Wotell with the tying score. Jackson fanned and Morehart strolled. Striker hit to deep short, and James scored when Miller threw over Pike's head to get Morehart going into second.

RANGERS BEAT WOODSTOCK

Get 1--0 Verdict in W. F. A. Soccer Third Round.

KITCHENER, July 16.—The Kitchener Rangers intermediate W. F. A. team scored a one to nil victory over the Woodstock team at the Victoria Park grounds here Saturday night in the third round of the series.

The locals more than earned their advantage, but the phenomenal goal-keeping of Brotherton for the visitors held the count down. Brotherton stopped dozens of shots, the locals having decidedly the better of the play in the field.

It was not until midway through the second period that the Rangers were able to tally, and then it was on a penalty kick, Tommy Langton being the marksman.

The return game will be played in Woodstock Tuesday, and the winner of this series will meet Brucefield in the semi-finals.

The teams:

Baseball's Biggest Bones

CAN you imagine a player sitting on the bench through a seven-run rally and forgetting to take his place at bat?

That is what actually happened in a game between New York and St. Louis in the American League. The game was played at St. Louis.

The player who forgot to take his turn at bat was Claude Derrick, playing shortstop for the Yankees in that game.

Frank Chance was then managing the New York club. Chance came close to being the victim of Derrick's forgetfulness, or lack of interest, as you will have it.

It so happened that Chance became a hero for a day because of Derrick's "bone." However, he had just as good, if not a better chance, of landing in the dub class.

It might also be of interest to know that Derrick never played another game for Chance, or in the American League, after that day. It marked his passing from the majors.

Up to the eighth inning of the game St. Louis had New York badly beaten. The Yankees were trailing by about six runs. Chance put himself into bat for Pitcher Fisher and hit safely.

That hit started a rally. After Chance had scored he went to the coaching lines at third. Derrick was hitting eighth in the batting order.

When it came Derrick's turn to bat someone yelled to Chance at third that he was up again. Instead of hitting ninth in the pitcher's place, he hit eighth in Derrick's place on his second trip.

Chance again singled, scoring two runs. Those two runs proved to be the margin by which the Yankees won the game.

Not until the inning was over did the St. Louis club discover that Chance had batted out of order his second time up. However, it was too late then; the damage had been done.

SCHMIDT IS REINSTATED.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 16. — Walter Schmidt, premier backstop of the Pittsburg Nationals, who was a holdout at the beginning of the season, has been reinstated by Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, and will report to the Pirates at once.

Alerts and Orients emerged victors in Saturday's O. B. A. games at Queen's Park, which were well attended despite the numerous counter-attractions.

In the opening contest Bryce McLeod hurled air-tight ball for the first series winners, and was reached for only two runs, while his mates touched up Johnson for twelve safeties and turned them into nine counters.

Jeffries and Steeper had perfect days at bat, while Milligan and Smith also hit well for the winners.

In the second game the Orients downed the Forest City aggregation by a score of 11 to 2. Hank Down twirled well for the winners, allowing only six fits, which were good for two runs, while, on the other hand, Russell was not as effective as usual, and was touched up for thirteen bingles, which the Orients turned into eleven runs.

Down, F. Burgess, J. Smith and Logan hit well for the winners, while Hazelgrove for the losers appeared to be the only man who could fathom Down's delivery to any extent.

TAYLOR-FORBES 11 BEAT OSHAWA 4--0

Meet Ulster United Monday Night in O. F. A. Finals.

GUELPH, Ont., July 16.—Taylor-Forbes soccer team earned the right to enter the final for the Ontario district championship in the competition for the Connaught Cup this evening when they defeated the 34th Ontario Regiment team of Oshawa by a score of 4 to 0. Owing to the fact that the grounds were being used for baseball and were not available earlier, it was almost 6 o'clock when the two teams lined up, and it was evident from the start that the visitors were not in the same class as the Taylor-Forbes team, even though it took the latter 20 minutes to net the ball for the first time. After that the locals simply played rings around the Oshawa boys, and before half time was up they ran in their four counters.

As this was not by any means a hard game, they will be just right when they play the Ulster United at Toronto on Monday night on Scottish field for the honor of representing Ontario in the games against the Grenadier Guards of Montreal.

It is expected that a large number of local fans will accompany the team to Toronto. Two special Toronto suburban cars have been engaged. They will leave here at 2 p.m.

The teams:

Oshawa—Goal, Waugh; backs, Gillett and Wood; half backs, Kerr, Mitchell and Edwards; forwards, Telford, Williams, Dodd, Morrison and Gowan.

Guelph—Goal, Scott; backs, R. Fell and McColl; half backs, Renton, Carter and Collins; forwards, Halliwell, Mooney, A. Fell, Macin and Kerr.

Referee—Mr. Gray, Hamilton.

Five doubles and a brace of home runs figured in the decision, while the Wolves took Ulrigg for 14 hits, including four two-base knocks.

Schwartje was injured in the first inning by a batted ball, and Gillenwater took his place, but could not hold the Saints in check. TORONTO CLEANS UP AT C. W. A. MEET

Bill Coles, Local Rider, Wins Two Heats, But Is Unplaced in Finals.

WATERLOO, Ont., July 16.—Toronto riders and runners made a clean up at the annual meet of the Canadian Wheelman's Association, held in the Waterloo Park, Saturday. Bill Coles of London won his heat in each of the quarter-mile and mile bike races, but was beaten out in the final.

In the five-mile race the judges mixed things up by ringing the bell when four miles had been completed and some of the riders, after making another lap, turned in, thinking the race was over, whereas there were three more laps to go. It was an unfortunate mix-up.

William Wardhope of the Toronto Central Y. won the 100 and 220 dashes, with Jack Hemphill of Waterloo, second in each case.

In the five-mile foot race Jimmy Dellow ran a head race and won by about 80 yards without a great deal of extra effort. If extended he could have won by more. Art Allison hung close until the final three laps, when Dellow gradually started pulling away from him. White was lapped, but kept on plugging and finished third, while S. Murray quit at the eighth lap when he was lapped.

The weather was very warm and the crowd quite small for some unaccountable reason, for there were no other counter attractions in the afternoon. The results:

Several Local Weak Spots Will Be Patched Up For Tilt.

The local lacrosse team will take on St. Thomas, winners of the group's first series, in the opening game of the second half Wednesday afternoon at Tecumseh Park.

So many times this season, the one-time stars of the national pastime have failed to get out and help the club, so London will depend on the loyal bunch who have stuck out the schedule to face the Saints on Wednesday.

There are two positions that the locals need filled, and there is a likelihood that these weak spots will be filled by Wednesday. If they are the Saints won't walk away with the pastime without knowing they've been in a lacrosse game.

The local defence will be tightened up considerably, as it is realized that the St. Thomas home is their strongest department.

CROWE AND NORTHOVER LEAD BISLEY COMPETITIONS

Capt. E. H. Robinson and Lieut. J. A. Clarke Tie for Graphic Cup

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 16.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—The veteran marksman, Major C. R. Crowe of the First Wellington Rifles, Guelph, Ont., and Major Northover (unattached), formerly of Winnipeg, each with a total score of 67, led the Canadian Bisley contingent in the Graphic competition on Saturday. The shooting was on the 300 and 500 yard ranges, seven shots on each, making the possible 70.

Pte. Lousdale made a possible on the first range, but fell behind badly on the second range. Pte. Whitehead spoiled an otherwise good score on the 300-yard range by placing a bullseye on the wrong target.

Two claims for higher scores in the Graphic competition are to be considered, but they do not affect the principal prize-winners.

Capt. E. H. Robinson and Lieut. J. A. Clarke, R.N.R., are tied for the Graphic Cup, and they will shoot off on Tuesday. Third prize goes to S. M. Dickman, Royal Garrison Artillery.

RECHNITZER WINS HANDICAP TITLE

Anderson, Jr., Defeats Baird For Canadian Title.

TORONTO, July 16.—Frank Anderson of New York won the men's open singles title of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association here Saturday, defeating Robert Baird, Toronto, in three straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3. The title was decided on the basis of the best three out of five sets. The first set was won handily by Anderson, who smashing everything that same within his reach quickly brought the score from 3-all to 6-3. In the second set, however, Baird regained his usual good form, and won the first three games, but Anderson came right back and forged ahead, only to have Baird again tie the count, 4 to 4. Anderson by heady work won the next two games, and with them the set. In the third set Anderson easily maintained his superiority, winning 6 to 3. The score mounted 2-0 3-0, 4-1. Baird on his service captured the sixth and eighth games, leaving the score 5-3 in Anderson's favor. In the final game Baird was ahead 40-love, but Anderson raised the score to deuce and succeeded in winning the game.

After winning the championship, Anderson and his father, F. G. Anderson, Sen., met A. S. Milne and G. Peers, Vancouver, in the finals of the men's open doubles, and succeeded in defeating them 6-3, 6-2, 1-6, 5-7, 6-4.

In the final of the men's handicap singles, E. V. Rechnitzer of London defeated Ian MacLachlan, Toronto, 6-2, 9-7.

In the semi-final he defeated D. C. Johnston, Toronto, 6-4, 8-6.

Mixed Doubles.

Miss Hutchings and Verley defeated Mrs. Wright and Rennie, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Miss Macdonald and Richards defeated Miss J. Stewart and Bruneau, 6-3, 6-0.

Men's Handicap—Semi-Finals.

Ian MacLachlan, Toronto, defeated D. N. Henderson, Toronto, 6-3, 6-2.

NEED ONE MORE PAIR.

Only one more entry is needed for the L. R. C. Scotch doubles, being staged Wednesday afternoon. The affair promises to be keenly fought, as some of the best-known pairs in the city are entered.

CHINESE SLAIN BY THOUSANDS

Army Mutineers Sweep Through Country and City in Wave of Death.

LEADERS SHOT DOWN

SHANGHAI, China, June 15.—Missionaries and others in touch with the recent uprising of mutinous troops in Kiangsi province declare that the full extent of this horror may never be known.

A score of community centers were laid waste and thousands of innocent inhabitants were slaughtered ruthlessly. No foreigners, however, were killed.

The Kiangsi outbreak in the unrestrained loosing of evil forces and the wanton slaughter and destruction is said to surpass anything of a like nature in the past decade.

The mutiny started among troops sent by General Wu Pei-Fu to block Sun Yat-Sen's advance into Kiangsi.

These forces, under Tsai Chen-Hsun, met defeat at the hands of Sun's southerners, and in their retreat a few got out of hand. The fever of revolt spread quickly until between 10,000 and 15,000 men were involved. Some of the detachments shot down their leaders, who tried to keep them in check.

The muntineers swept over the country, looting, burning and killing, devastating towns and rural communities alike. The city of Kianfu was almost entirely wiped out and many hundreds of its inhabitants slain. The lives of upwards of 100 foreign missionaries were in peril, but all escaped.

The principal centers destroyed were the cities of Kianfu, Wananhsien, Lungchuan and Taiho, while upwards of 20 smaller communities also were damaged or wiped out.

RECOVER BODY OF EARL KANE

Firemen, After 6-Hour Search, Find Remains of Stratford Merchant.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, July 16.—The body of Earl P. Kane, who was drowned in the river here while swimming about 2 a.m. Saturday, was recovered in a deep channel at 8:30 Saturday morning by firemen. He had then been in the water about six hours.

The deceased was a popular young merchant, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kane.

About 1:30, in company with Borden Norfolk and George Robinson, deceased went swimming behind the postoffice. They started for the diving board, 200 feet distant. As Norfolk climbed to the board he noticed Kane throw up his hands and sink. When he did not rise they immediately gave the alarm to the fire department.

The late Mr. Kane served overseas, enlisting with the 71st Battalon. He lost the sight of one eye, and was badly gassed. He was born in Stratford, and is survived by his parents, one brother, Edward, and two sisters, Susan, and Mrs. Mary Abraham, of this city.

THREE DIE WHEN STEAMER SINKS

VICTORIA, B. C., July 16.—The steamer schooner Henry T. Scott was sunk in the Straits of Juan De Fuca this morning, and three of her crew were drowned.

Crashing into the freighter Harry Luckenbach in a dense fog the Scott survived the collision only a few minutes, and the fact that 26 men were picked up by the Luckenbach is considered little short of miraculous.

The Luckenbach was able to proceed under her own steam after hours of cruising about in the fog searching for the three missing men. She arrived in Seattle at a late hour tonight. The accident happened off the northern coast of the State of Washington, six miles southeast of Cape Flattery.

DENIES TALKING TARIFF ISSUES AT WASHINGTON

Premier King Announces Trade Matters Not Up For Discussion.

EXPECT STRENUOUS WEEK

Cabinet To Meet Tuesday To Deal With Important Questions.

OTTAWA, July 16.—(By Canadian Press.)—Four or more problems, in addition to the Rush-Bagot agreement, were discussed between the Canadian and American authorities during the visit of Premier King to Washington. This was made clear by the prime minister on his return to the city today.

These other questions included the fisheries on both coasts, the great waterways, Canadian representation at the United States capital, and reciprocal treatment of income taxation.

Besides these some other matters of minor importance were referred to during the conferences. The trade question was not discussed, stated the premier.

"It has been suggested," said the Canadian Press to Mr. King, "that your visit to Washington was a result of difficulties they are having over their tariff and that they called you in to help them."

"You can state definitely," was the reply of the first minister, "that we did not discuss the trade question at all."

Explains Revision Need.

The prime minister intimated that the need for a revision of the Rush-Bagot agreement grew out of changing conditions on the Great Lakes. The Canadian government had to deal, he said, with a number of applications for the passage of armed vessels through the Canadian canals. These were used for the training of naval militia on the lakes.

Further, United States shipbuilders on the great lakes wished to be allowed to compete for the construction of war vessels for the United States navy. These matters were bound to become of increasing importance, and it was deemed wise to take up the revision of the Rush-Bagot agreement as soon as possible.

The present was a suitable time, too, as the disarmament conference at Washington had created an atmosphere favorable to it. It was felt, also, that if the situation was allowed to develop further the damand was sure to arise from the Canadian side of the great lakes for the presence of armed vessels of our own.

Cabinet To Meet.

With the return of the prime minister from Washington, the way is cleared for a strenuous week in cabinet circles. Mr. King went up to his summer home at Kingsmere this afternoon, but will return to the city tomorrow. The cabinet has been summoned for Tuesday and will sit nearly every day this week.

In addition to the report which the premier will have to make on his visit to Washington, the cabinet is expected to deal with the railway question, the royal commission on returned soldier problems and a number of judicial appointments.

The minister of railways has announced that the appointment of a new board of management to the National Railways is necessary before the work of co-ordination can be completed and the reorganization of the Canadian government merchant marine carried out.

Much difficulty has been met in securing a judge to act as chairman of the royal commission on pensions and re-establishment.

The number of judicial vacancies to be filled has reached the half dozen and includes appointments down by the Atlantic and in Saskatchewan as well as in Quebec.

FASCISTI SEIZE ITALIAN TOWNS FROM RADICALS

Populations Hail Them As Liberators From Terror of Red Domination.

CHAMBER IN AN UPROAR

ROME, July 16.—An acute situation has developed from the struggle between the Fascisti and Communists. The Fascisti have mobilized their bands and occupied several towns where communism is rampant, the chief places taken being Viterbo, Cremona and Alatri.

The Fascisti complain that the government, although proclaiming its desire to re-establish order without partisanship, "in realty sides with the Socialists, who take advantage of this for resuming their overbearing attitude, as before they were organized."

For this reason the Fascisti say they have decided again to rely on their own forces.

In all the towns occupied, a large majority of the population received the Fascisti as liberators from the Social Communist terror. This was especially so at Cremona, where an enthusiastic reception was given to the 3,000 Fascisti who entered the city.

The Avanti, Socialist organ, recently published a violent attack against the Fascisti, who, considering it an act of provocation, devastated the Chamber of Labor in Cremona, which was the Bolshevist centre, and destroyed the printing house of the local Communist paper and the seat of the Communist co-operative. They also set fire to the houses of the Christian Socialist Deputy Miglioli and the Socialist Deputy Garivotti.

The carabineers and Royal Guards were insufficient in number to prevent the violences, and 500 soldiers were hurriedly sent to Cremona to re-establish order. They were received in a fraternal manner by the population, while the Fascisti greeted them with cries of "Long live the army!" Long live our brother soldiers!" and "Down with the Communists and Bolsheviki!"

When reports of the grave situation at Cremona reached the Chamber of Deputies the Socialist and Communist Deputies and the Deputies of the Extreme Left Wing and Catholic party made a violent attack on the government.

Chamber Transformed.

Soon the chamber was transformed into a place of pandemonium with the Socialists, Communists and Extreme Catholics on one side and the Fascisti and Nationalists on the other, shouting accusations at the government. Each side charged the government with favoring the opposite party. Violent invectives and offensive insuits were used, and the greatest efforts were needed on the part of the calmer deputies to prevent hand-to-hand fights.

Signor Casertano, under secretary of the interior, gave an official version of the incident at Cremona, saying the government had sent most energetic instructions to prevent and repress disorders. It had blockaded the Province of Cremona. The leader of the Fascisti, who tried to run the blockade, was killed, disarmament of the population had been ordered, the populace even being forbidden to carry sticks.

Deputy Miglioli declared the situation at Cremona was tragic. He defended the Socialists who had conquered the municipality, asserting that the Fascisti wanted to dislodge them by force.

In the course of the disturbance the Social Deputy Mingrino shouted at the Fascisti: "Resign! Resign!" whereupon the Fascisti Freco reported: "Brigands, you would like to reduce Italy to the same state as Russia."

The Socialist Volpi exclaimed: "As we are in a state of revolution, let us cry: 'Down with the monarch!'"

The president adjourned the sitting until the government has sufficient information about what really occurred at Cremona today.

YOUTH SNATCHES $1,500 PAYROLL AND ESCAPES

MONTREAL, July 15.—The $1,500 payroll of the firm of N. C. Polson & Company, wholesale druggists, 311 Notre Dame street west, was stolen today when a youth snatched a satchel containing the money from the hands of a girl cashier as she was entering the company's offices with it.

The thief made his getaway in a high powered car which was waiting for him near the scene of the robbery.

It is the second daylight payroll robbery to occur in the city in a week, the $29,000 payroll of the Dominion Textile Company having been stolen last week when the paymaster's automobile was held up on St. Ambroise street.

Life and Character Reading.

JULY 17.

The proper development of Cancer children is often seriously retarded by over-fond parents, nurses, guardians, who insist upon clasping them close to themselves. These electro-magnetic conditions are annoying, exciting, and very debilitating to the nervous system. No child should sleep with old people, but this is particularly true of Cancer children, who are very easily depleted and made ill.

These children have several faults to be overcome, before they can be successful men and women. They are jealousy, laziness, selfishness and vanity.

These children are likely to suffer from weak digestion and gastric trouble, and their food should be plain and of the choicest.

DISTRIBUTE FISH IN THIS DISTRICT

Distribution of 200,000 young fish is being carried out in this district by the Ontario Government, according to Dr. H. J. Stevenson, M.L.A. for London. He states that ponds in the vicinity of London are being stocked with these members of the finny tribe and that within three years they will be of such a size as to battle with disciples of Izaak Walton.

Dr. Stevenson has forwarded a request to Toronto for a further supply of 10,000 minnows to stock a pond near Belmont. He has received no reply, but expects that these fry will be forwarded as requested.

The majority of the minnows forwarded to London district by the provincial government are black bass.

SIX NATIONS TO CONDUCT COURT

Brantford Police Agog at Reports Emanating From Indian Reserve.

Red Men To Take Punishment of Crime in Own Hands.

Brantford, July 17.—The local police court will have the privilege of administering justice to the red men of the Six Nations only for a short time to come, according to reports from the Six Nations chiefs this morning. The police are agog at the news that, in the near future, all misdemeanors among the red men will be tried by their own people, excepting when the misdemeanor takes place on the white man's land.

According to the report from the Six Nations chiefs, received by the local police this morning, arrangements are being made for the erection of an Indian jail at Ohsweken, where all Indian miscreants will be incarcerated if they are found guilty of breaking any of the laws of the land.

There have been rumors to this effect for some time, but the idea has been more or less scoffed at. The matter seems to be coming to a head, and it is intimated that it will not be very many months before an Indian court of justice will be installed at Ohsweken for the law affairs of the Six Nations men.

According to this morning's report, the Indians will try all of their own men who have broken the law, and will hand out justice as they see fit. In case any infringement of the laws should take place on the white man's land, the Indian constables will escort the miscreant to the boundary line of the reservation and will hand them over to the white police. If, on the other hand, one of the tribe commits a crime in the reservation he will be apprehended by the Indians, given a trial on Indian land, and, if found guilty, will be incarcerated in an Indian jail.

Whether or not the proposition will be successful is subject to some conjecture, but there is every indication that the new system will be given a thorough try out before it is considered a failure.

SHOPMEN CLAIM ROADS BREAK LAW

cial of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, will leave today for Montreal, where together with J. E. McGuire, general chairman of the Grand Trunk Lines, and A. Lawrence, of Montreal, will open negotiations with the Grand Trunk Railway officials, and will place before them the claims of the men.

SAYS CANADIANS ARE READY.

Montreal, July 17.—Interviewed this morning on the subject of wage cuts, Frank McKenna, vice-president of Division No. 4, of the Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor, said:

"The conciliation board asked for by maintenance-of-way employees and shopmen of Canadian railroads, will be the greatest test of the Lemieux act in history. All over Canada the men are in just a mood for a strike. They are straining at the leash."

J. E. Maguire, chairman of the grievance committee, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Engineers, and a committee, were here today to interview Grand Trunk officials and protest against wage cuts. Notification from the minister of labor that railway shopmen and maintenance-of-way employees have applied for a board of conciliation, was received by the Railway Association of Canada this morning. The association was requested to choose their representatives for the board. The shopmen's representatives will be Fred Bancroft of Toronto, while David Campbell of Winnipeg will, it is stated, represent the maintenance-of-way men. Approximately 75,000 men are affected by the reductions in wages put into force by the various railways of the Dominion, but which will not become effective until Aug. 15, as two weeks' pay is kept in hand by the companies in accordance with an established rule.

EAU DE QUININE DRINKERS DEBATE HOTLY IN COURT

Magistrate Dismisses William Coyne, Charged With Theft of $27.

After hearing evidence of Christopher Riley and William Coyne, and the wordy battle between the two in court, Magistrate Graydon freed Coyne of a charge of stealing $27 from Riley.

Riley declared he made a little money at Sarnia, returned to London and paid his debts, and had about $30 left. Then he bought Coyne's breakfast, and gave him $1.25. Later, he stated, when he was sitting under a tree near Dundas street bridge, Coyne took $27 from him and ran. Riley was unable to pursue him, as he was a cripple, and was held by a man named Mitchell, he stated.

Cross-examination by Coyne brought out the fact that Riley had been giving Coyne money to get eau de quinine, which the men were drinking.

During the cross-examination both men lost their tempers and engaged in hot debate.

Coyne stated the other two men in the party were Frank Mitchell and "Slim" Nichol.

After dismissing the case, Magistrate Graydon fined Coyne $10 and costs for assaulting Ellen Webster, a charge to which he had pleaded guilty, Friday.

SUES FOR DAMAGES CAUSED TRUCK BY COUNTY ROADS

Columbia Handle Works Enters Action Against Middlesex and Elgin.

The municipal corporations of Middlesex and Elgin counties are the joint defendants in an action just filed for damages by the Columbia Handle Works of this city. The case will proceed at the next sesion of the Supreme Court of Ontario, with John M. McEvoy, K.C., appearing for the plaintiff.

The latter seeks unstated damages and the costs of the action for alleged damage to a company truck by reason of the negligence of the defendants who failed, it is claimed, to keep the county line road between the two counties in a proper state of repair, the same being a highway.

Scheduled to be re-opened for argument Tuesday morning next before His Honor Judge Talbot Macbeth, the case Sheppard vs. Sheppard has been indefinitely postponed. John McEvoy, K. C., one of the counsel involved, being out of the city Saturday.

TO INSPECT SOUTH COLLEGIATE SITE

Engineer Will Make Effort to Reach Understanding With Board.

When City Engineer H. A. Brazier returns to the city arrangements will be made for an inspection of the South London high school site, with a view toward arriving at an amicable understanding with the board of education pertaining to the sale of a portion of the same.

A special committee of the latter body, comprising School Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of No. 3 committee; E. A. Miller, principal of the newly-created South London high school, and W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board, will visit the site with the city engineer.

It is now contended by the school authorities that the site will be too small for high school purposes, and if any portion of the same is disposed of to the city for a continuation of Belgrave avenue, as is requested by Mr. Brazier, it would be necessary to divide the remaining land into town lots and sell them to the highest bidders.

As yet it develops the provincial department of education has declined to sanction the site, although property was purchased several years ago.

ROTARIANS WILL AID AT PLAYPARKS

Clarence May Reports Activities at International Clubs' Convention.

Wonderful enthusiasm for Rotarianism was exhibited at the International Rotary Club convention, which concluded in San Francisco a week ago, according to Clarence May, secretary of the local club, who delivered a comprehensive report to London Rotarians at their Monday noon meeting.

He told of the changes in the constitution, the matters discussed at the convention, and the entertainment provided by the clubs both in California and along the route to California for the visiting Rotarians.

The name of the club was changed to oRtary International, he reported, and several other minor changes were made in the constitution, the Canadian advisory council being changed from five to nine members.

The aim of service was stressed at the meeting, and business methods, the unprivileged boy and other works of Rotary Clubs throughout the world were debated, Mr. May stated.

It was announced at the gathering that next Monday the club would hold its luncheon at Westminster Hospital. Dr. McGhie, head of the institution, will describe to the Rotarians the work that is accomplished there.

Jared Vining, the Rotary Club president, announced at the meeting a list of committees, to whom were allotted the looking after of the children's playgrounds. Each committee will assist the superintendents at the various playgrounds to keep order and help in the games. The committees are especially appointed to look after this work on Tuesday and Friday evenings, when the largest number of children are at the playgrounds.

FINDS PRISONERS GUILTY OF KILLING GENERAL WILSON

English Grand Jury Returns True Bill Against Two Former Soldiers.

London, July 17.—The grand jury today returned a true bill against the two men charged with the murder of Field Marshal Sir Henry H. Wilson last month, whose names were originally given as James Connolly and James O'Brien, but which a police officer testified at the hearing the prisoners later had said were really Reginald Dunn and Joseph O'Sullivan, respectively, both former soldiers.

The trial of the men will begin at the Old Bailey tomorrow

At a meeting of the Londonderry Corporation today, Mayor O'Doherty of Belfast declined to accept a resolution of sympathy with Lady Wilson for the murder of her husband, the late Feild Marshal Sir Henry H. Wilson.

"It appears this gentleman was assassinated by two Englishmen," he said, "and we have nothing to do with it."

ASCENDS MOUNT VICTORIA.

Lake Louise, Alta., July 17.—After the fourth attempt, Val. A. Fynn of St. Louis, noted amateur mountain climber, and Rudolph Aemer, Swiss guide at Chateau Lake Louise, succeeded today in climbing the face of Mount Victoria in the Selkirk range, 11,600 feet. This is the first time this feat has been performed.

ALLIES DECIDE GERMAN PACT

Will Submit Mandate On Colonies to League of Nations.

French Seek Protection Against Political Activity of Missionaries.

London, England, July 17.—An agreement has been reached by Great Britain, France and Belgium respecting the points in dispute in the various mandates for former German colonies, and those countries will submit to the council of the league of nations at its session begun here today new draft mandates for class A and class B territory.

These revised mandates are believed by the Allied powers to embody all the changes requested by the United States to meet the objections raised in Secretary Colby's note of February, 1921.

Desire More Protection.

Only one point remains unsettled, and that concerns the missionaries in French mandated territory. The French desire more protection against political activities by missionaries. It is said the episode in Syria last spring, in which Charles R. Crane of Chicago was involved, has made the French more emphatic on this point.

It seems almost certain that an agreement will be reached on the class mandate and that they will be ratified. This means that the mandatory system in Central Africa will soon become effective.

It seems more doubtful, however, whether an undertaking can be reached at this session on the Palestine and Syrian mandates, the negotiations over which are much less fully matured, and regarding conflict of divergent elements goes deeper. Both the vatican and the French government feel that they have special claims on the holy places in Palestine, while there are sharp divergencies among the Zionists, the Catholics and the Arabs. The Italian government officially represents the vatican, it is stated, when the league takes up this dispute, this being the first time since 1871 that the government has stood in such a relation to the holy see.

Powers Be Safeguarded.

The most important subject on the agenda of the council's nineteenth meeting ratification of the "A" and "B" mandate, which was delayed by the claim of the United States to be consulted as to the disposal of mandates, and that her interests as one of the allied and associated powers, be safeguarded in the mandatory areas.

The United States agreement with Japan regarding the Island of Yap, and the recent approval of the Palestine mandate, which settled the points to which the United States took exception, enables the present council meeting, which originally was intended as a session for dealing with the Palestine mandate, to proceed with the work of approving of the mandates not only of Palestine but also of Tanganyika and Kenya, East Africa and the French colonies of Togaland, Kamerun and Syria.

Other subjects for the council's consideration will be the report of the work of the temporary mixed commission on reduction of armaments, questions of reconstruction, world health, refuge and holiday questions, which have been under consideration since the league's organization.

In anticipation of long and important session the league has transferred almost its entire personel and administrative material from Geneva. Every subject in which the league has been interested since its formation will probably come up for consideration in some form, as well as a number of questions left over from Genoa and The Hague.

Neutral Assume Chair.

It was expected that the Earl of Balfour would preside, but in view of the delicacy of the mandate question, the council held that it would be desirable to have a neutral assume the chair. Therefore, Senor Quinones De Leon, representing Spain, was in the presiding officer's chair when the session opened. Great Britain was represented by H. A. L. Fisher, the minister of education, but during the remaining sessions Lord Balfour will be the British representative.

The morning session was devoted to organization matters, administrative problems and the reparations agenda, while the afternoon was set aside for consideration of the traffic in women and children, epidemics in Russia and the eastern Mediterranean countries and the deportation of women and children in Asia Minor.

FINED $200 ALTHOUGH HE SMASHES WHISKEY BOTTLE

Sieman Golock Fails to Convince Court of His Innocency.

Although Sieman Golock, a Russian Pole, smashed a bottle of whiskey, which he had when Sergt. William Middaugh chased him on the south end of Maitland street at 3 o'clock Monday morning, he was fined $200 and costs in police court. The fragments of the bottle, which Sergt. Middaugh and Constable Gavin Monahan salvaged, together with their evidence, clinched the conviction.

Morris Gootson acted as witness, counsel and interpreter in the case. Golock denied having the bottle, while the officers stated he had it hid inside his shirt. Both saw him throw it against a fence. Then he was arrested after Sergt. Middaugh chased him three blocks.

Another Pole, who was with him, and who was fined $10 and costs for being drunk, also ran away, but was caught by Constable Monahan.

Gootsno claimed to have witnessed the whole affair from his veranda at 41 Maitland street, but officers stated Golock came from 34 Maitland street, went to Gootson's home, and then came away again, Gootson taking him into the house and letting him out again.

Gootson claimed he and Golock arose early to go to Grand Bend to get a horse he had purchased.

POTATOES SELL AT $1.50 BUSHEL

Expect Large Offerings of Raspberries On City Market Tuesday.

There was fair demand for the 12 loads of new hay which were offered on the local market Monday morning, but only two loads brought the top price of $14. The majority sold for around $12 and $13.

Grain is becoming scarcer from week to week and none was offered at all this morning.

Everybody is looking forward to Tuesday as the big raspberry day of the season, and it is expected that this variety of fruit will feature the market. The crop of red berries has been exceptionally good, but the black are rather scarce. Saturday afternoon and evening the price dropped as low as 15 cents a box.

Chicago, July 17.—Wheat scored a moderate upturn in price today during the early dealings, bullish sentiment making headway on account of apparently unpromising outlook for settlement of the railway strike. Higher quotations at Liverpool tended further to lift values here, and so too did prospects of a good-sized decrease in the United States visible supply total. Big receipts here, 540 carloads, failed to act as an offset. The opening, which started from ⅛c off to 1c advance, was followed by gains all around.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. After opening ⅛c to ¾c higher, the corn market held within about the initial range.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c lower, and later made slight general gains.

WILL COMMENCE CABINET MEETINGS ON TUESDAY

Prime Minister Returns From Washington and Will Attend First of Sessions.

Ottawa, July 17.—(By Canadian Press).—Cabinet meetings, for the week, will commence tomorrow, and in official circles it is expected that the bulk of the important program before the government will be dealt with during the next few days. The prime minister, who returned from Washington and New York yesterday, is at his country place at Kingsmere today, but will be in the capital tomorrow for the first of the cabinet sessions. Sir Lomer Gouin, who has been holidaying at Murray Bay, will return this afternoon.

Appointments during the week will likely include the royal commission to investigate the charges made by the Great War Veterans' Association against the pension board, it being generally understood that any difficulties in securing a suitable personnel for the commission have been largely overcome. There are also several judgeships to be filled.

It is understood that the cabinet will devote most of its time to the railway situation and announcement of the new board of management of the Canadian National Railways is not unlikely.

THE GOVERNOR'S ROAD, east of London, which has been surfaced with concrete as a provincial highway for several miles, was opened for traffic Saturday. Completion of this section of pavement eliminates a detour for motorists which has been used since June, and also lightens traffic on the Hamilton road.

DROWNING VICTIM IDENTIFIED.

ST. CATHARINES, July 16.—The body of the man picked up in Lake Ontario off Dalhousie last Wednesday, and which was thought to be that of a Toronto man, was this afternoon identified as that of William Henderson of Hamilton.

TRAVELERS JOIN IN NOVEL FROLIC

Season's Largest Crowd Attracted by Picnic At Lakeside Resort.

Enjoy Merry Program of Sports On Land and Water.

The commercial travelers' picnic at Port Stanley Saturday attracted the largest crowd that the popular resort has seen this season.

In addition to thousands of members of the Commercial Travelers' Association with their wives, families and friends, hundreds of outsiders attended the picnic, drawn by the jovial companionship of the "knights of the grip" and the unusual and elaborate program of sports prepared.

Invererie Heights swarmed with eager spectators as at 1:30 the first of the races began. Every novel feature which the active minds of the sports committee could devise, both to arouse the energy of the participants and to provide amusement and interest for the watching crowd, was introduced in the day's events.

Hold Water Sports.

Dancing and water sports were carried out on the beach, following a ball game, in which travelers and Kiwanis wrestled for premier honors, but in which the travelers upheld the prestige they had already gained, carrying off the victory with a score of 14 to 5. The batteries were: Travelers—Fred Johnston and Charles Perry; Kiwanis—A. T. Taylor and F. McLaughlin.

The baby show on the Heights was the greatest held at Port Stanley this year. Fifty-three entries were listed, each contestant receiving a gold pin as a remembrance of their first travelers' picnic.

GALT WORKMAN SCALDED BY TAR

Charles Johnson Frightfully Burned When Big Cauldron Overflows.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, July 16.—Charles Johnson of Branchton, employed by the Brennan Paving Company at their ashphalt plant here, was frightfully burned on Saturday, when the tar boiled over the big cauldron in which it was heated before going into the mixer, and covered Johnson. His head was completely enveloped, and his condition is serious.

Work will be commenced this week on the new union depot of the Lake Erie and N. and G. R. Railways on Main street, the contract having been awarded to Webster and Trory of this city. A pile driver will start work on Tuesday morning, sinking 100 piles on which the foundation will be built.

Before an audience of about 2,000 people, the Guelph Musical Society Band under the leadership of Mr. Philip, gave a delightful sacred concert Sunday afternoon in Victoria Park. It was one of the scheduled events on the band circuit.

Galt's parks are increasing in popularity as picnic grounds. They are in great demand. Saturday the Chosen Friends of Brantford, Paris, Galt and Preston, held a big union picnic at Soper Park.

BOY DIES FROM EFFECT OF FALL

BELLEVILLE, July 16.—Ambrose McDonald, aged 12 years, whose home was in the Monteagle Valley, North Hastings, was visiting at Bancroft when he raced into a clothesline and was thrown violently to the ground, injuring his spine and brain.

He passed away before his parents could reach the bedside.
