RUSSIANS DRIVEN FROM YIN KOW

3,000 Troops With 20 Guns Evacuated the City.

FOUR RUSS DESTROYERS CHASED

Togo Finds Them at Talienwan and Sends Them Scurrying for Port Arthur.

Tokio, June 13, 7 p.m. — A long report has been received here from Admiral Togo, in which he covers the operations of the fleet since June 6, and repeats his former account of the bombardment of the west coast on the Liao Tung Peninsula.

Continuing, the admiral says that the captain of a foreign vessel that left Yinkow on Wednesday, June 8, reports that the recent Japanese bombardment in the vicinity of Kaiping, south of New Chwang, caused the Russian forces to the number of 3,000, with with twenty guns, to evacuate Yinkow. Two men who were taken prisoners by the Japanese while on their way into port report that two Russian regiments, numbering in all about 5,000 men, arrived recently at Manchalin, Vafangow and Vafandien. The prisoners say also that numbers of Russian troops are coming south from Mukden every day.

On Wednesday, June 8, a detachment of the fleet bombarded and dispersed two companies of Russian troops, who were on Kaiping Point. On Friday another detachment of the fleet bombarded the enemy for two hours near Yinchintsu and Tsantiaokiao, inflicting much damage on them.

Another detachment of the Japanese fleet, according to Admiral Togo's report, discovered four Russian torpedo boat destroyers in Talienwan Bay, near Shaopingtan, and drove them back to Port Arthur. Over seventy mines have been destroyed in Talienwan Bay. Thirty floating mines have been found and destroyed. Some of these were drifting into Pechili Gulf.

In conclusion, the admiral says a dese fog which prevailed for several days fially cleared away on Sunday.

GLOOM AT PORT ARTHUR

Garrison Hoping Kuropatkin Will Attempt a Rescue.

New Chwang, June 13, 6 a.m. — A Chinaman who was smuggled by the Japanese into Port Arthur to act as a spy and escaped from there seven days ago, was arrested at New Chwang last night. He told a correspondent of the Associated Press that the Russians were working a large force of men day and night repairing the warships. They expect that the work will be completed in a fortnight. Four cruisers under Golden Hill (at the entrance of Port Arthur) have their guns trained landward to assist in repulsing a land attack. The channel is partly cleared, but Admiral Togo's blockade is effective.

The spy estimates the total strength of the Russian forces, including the sailors, at less than thirty thousand men. There are many sick and wounded. There is food sufficient for two months. All the Chinese foodstuff has been seized by the authorities.

Two armored trains on board of which are mounted guns landed from the Russian battleship Retvizan recently ran to a point near the Japanese lines and opened fire. The Japanese replied and their shells badly damaged the train, though it managed to return to the Russian lines. The Russians at Port Arthur are gloomy, though hoping that Gen. Kuropatkin will send an army south to assist the garrison of Port Arthur.

BRUTAL CHINESE BANDITS.

Liao Yang, June 14.—Ensign Marloff, who has returned from the battle of Saimatso, fought on June 7, says that the Japanese lost about 300 men. He speaks in the highest terms of the work of the two Red Cross doctors who attended the wounded under fire. When the order came to retire these doctors refused to leave the bandaging station until the last of the wounded were brought in and attended to. After the battle a wounded Russian was found with his tongue out and his fingers severed. There is a general disinclination to attribute this mutilation to the Japanese after the kindness which had previously been shown to the Russian wounded, and it is thought to be more probable that it was the work of Chinese bandits. It is alleged that during the engagement the Japanese again misused the Red Cross by getting within 400 yards under its cover between volleys.

SAVED THE COLORS.

Moscow, June 13. — Six of the survivors of the battleship Petropavlovsk arrived here today. Among them is the sailor Goriachen, who saved the vessel's flag. Goriachen cut loose the flag when he felt the vessel sinking, and stuffed it inside his shirt, after which he leaped overboard. When passing through Mukden, Goriachen was granted an audience by Viceroy Alexieff, who presented him with the St. George's Cross.

PORT ARTHUR BADLY DAMAGED.

New Chwang, June 13. — Admiral Togo is stopping many native boats attempting to land foodstuffs near Port Arthur. Forty-two junks from Che Foo have been sent to Tung Chou Foo. The Chinese guilds are petitioning Lieut.-General Stoessel (the commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur), to permit their members to leave. A flour mill belonging to Chi Feng Tai, the richest Chinaman in Port Arthur, is grinding wheat brought from Seattle in a French ship, which is still at Port Arthur. An enormous amount of damage was done to the new town by the Japanese shells. The Russo-Chinese bank is totally destroyed. The coal supply at Port Arthur is low. It is estimated at only 2,400 tons of Cardiff, and 3,000 tons of Japanese coal.

KUROKI REPORTS.

General Kuroki's headquarters in the field, June 12 (via Fu San, Korea). —According to information here the only hostilities now occurring at the front are daily encounters between outposts resulting in the loss of a man or two every day. A few Russian prisoners are being brought into Japanese headquarters, but no Japanese are being captured. This is taken to show that the Japanese are getting the best of the encounters. Chinese are giving trouble by cutting the telegraph wires nightly; they probably are in the pay of the Russians. The work

NO RELIEF ARMY FOR PORT ARTHUR

Russians Say Stakelberg Is Not Marching to Fortress.

200,000 MORE FOR KUROPATKIN

Reserves in All Parts of European Russia Being Hurriedly Mobilized.

St. Petersburg, June 14.—The Novoe Vremya's military expert authoritatively denies the report that Gen. Stakelberg is on the march south. He declares that the only Russian forces on the Liao Tung Peninsula above Port Arthur consist of cavalry and railroad guards, and adds that it is scarcely possible to interfere with the siege operations before Port Arthur. The chief mission of the Russian cavalry detachments, he says, is to hamper the movements of the Japanese columns from the south to the north.

The Novoe Vremya devotes a long editorial to arguing that wireless communication with neutral territory does not constitute a breach of neutrality, the enemy having practically the same remedy as in the case of cable communication, namely, as previously cabled, in one case of cutting the cable and in the other of stationing a vessel rigged with wireless apparatus between the sending and receiving stations; thus interfering with communication.

The calling out of the army reserves in Kazan, Kieff and Moscow military districts was announced today. This step is for the purpose of filling up the skeleton reserve corps and to replace the regular troops already gone to the front. It also foreshadows the dispatch of four Volga corps, which was predicted in these dispatches a month ago. The latter would give Gen. Kuropatkin two hundred thousand more men.

RESERVES CALLED OUT.

Bobroff, Russia, June 14. — The partial mobilization of the reserves in this district has been proclaimed.

Two thousand men are wanted from here.

Voronezh, Russia, June 14. — An imperial order calling out the reserves of this district has been published.

Petropavlovsk, Russia, June 14.—The last two classes of the reserves of this district have been called out.

A COSSACK HERO.

Liao Yang, June 14. — Two wounded Cossacks, each wearing the Cross of St. George, have arrived here. They tell a thrilling story of the fight near Takushan. Thirty-nine Cossacks were sent to reconnoiter the enemy's position, and when about five miles from Takushan they were suddenly surrounded by Japanese. The Cossacks charged with lance, and were met with a volley from the Japanese, which resulted in the dropping of 20 horses, the killing of two Cossacks and the wounding of six. Dismounted Cossacks scrambled behind their comrades' saddles. With nearly every horse in the command carrying two men, the Cossacks charged three times, and though covered with wounds, they cut their way out and rejoined the sotnia.

A soldier who was wounded at Saimatze says that information regarding the Russian position there was given to the Japanese by the Chinese, five of whom were captured during the fight.

A JAP DISASTER.

Tokio, June 14. — 4 p.m. — While the Taihoku was engaged in laying mines at the entrance to Port Arthur last night, a mine exploded, killing one officer and eighteen men, and wounding two officers and seven men. The Taihoku, which is a naval transport, was not seriously damaged.

SUBMARINES FOR JAPS.

New York, June 13. —The American says: Capt. Simon Lake, the inventor of the Lake submarine boat protector, sails today on the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm for Europe. He goes to meet the protector which the Lake Company has sold to the Japanese Government.

A stockholder of the company said last night that he understood the Mikado's Government paid the Lake Company $250,000 for the protector, and the patents from which she was constructed.

The protector is on her way to Suez. Engineer Wilson and Electrician Evans, of the Lake force, are with her. These two men, with Capt. Lake, had charge of the protector in the trials off Newport last winter when a United States army board aproved of the protector.

Capt. Lake will himself be given a complimentary commission in the Japanese navy. He says he is violating no neutrality laws.

Others of the Lake working force have left Bridgeport, and it is believed they are on their way to the Orient via San Francisco.

Five submarines of the Lake type now being constructed at Newport News, will be shipped to Japan in parts and put together in that country by Capt. Lake and his workmen.

Capt. Lake said last night he might be away for months, and it was possible he would never return.

PONCHOS FOR RUSSIANS.

St. Petersburg, June 14. — The war office has adopted recommendations made by Lieut. Botkin embodying the use of the United States army model tents. These are convertible into ponchos for the protection of the troops during the rainy season. Orders have been telegraphed to Manchuria to equip as ponchos the ordinary tents in us now, so as to protect the men from rain during the day without impeding their movements and afford them shelter at night.

THE NIAGARA CAMP

Five Thousand Men Expected to Take Part This Year.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., June 14. —The annual military camp of instruction opened here today, and will continue until the 25th inst. It is expected, if the different corps are up to their full strength, to be one of the largest camps held here in some years. Col. Otter, D. O. C., No. 2, will be in command. Up to noon very few troops had arrived beyond a few advance parties, but by tonight it is expected about 5,000 men will be under canvas. The tents have been all pitched and everything is ready to begin the actual work of training tomorrow morning.

Twelve Members of a Suicide Club Have Destroyed Themselves.

New York, June 14.—George Wagner, a wealthy and prosperous German and proprietor of a hotel in Bridgeport, Conn., committed suicide in the Morton House Sunday night by shooting. He was 60 years of age.

Bridgeport, Conn., June 13. — Mr. Wagner, who killed himself in New York, was the moving spirit of a club of well-known German residents, first organized as a "13" Club. Later on, one after another of the congenial spirits began to die by suicide. That gave rise to the report that there was a suicide club in Bridgeport. Practically all of the men who were formerly identified with that organization have died by their own act. There is said to be one member left, who is a jeweler here.

MAY VACATE WEI HAI WEI

Should Port Arthur Fall Great Britain's Lease Would Expire.

London, June 14. — It appears from a question and answer in the House of Commons today that the fall of Port Arthur will mark the end of British tenancy of Wei Hai Wei on the Shan Tung promontory. Earl Percy, the under secretary informed the House today that under the Anglo-Chinese convention of 1898 Great Britain's lease of this Chinese port was only valid so long as Port Arthur remained in the occupation of Russia.

WILL SACRIFICE A MILLION MEN

Czar Is Now Confident That He Will Ultimately Triumph.

London, June 14.—The correspondent of the Times at Vienna says: The Polish Czar, which is usually well informed on affairs regarding the Russian court, publishes today a communication from St. Petersburg on the state of mind of the Czar. The rumors, which represent the Emperor as downcast and doubtful of the issue of the war, are, says the Czar, no longer in accordance with truth. Emperor Nicholas, "on the contrary, is full of confidence in the army and its ultimate triumph. The change in his mood dates from the day he passed in reviewing the troops starting for the front.

The Czar is uninformed of the real state of the country, and has been led to believe the war is exceedingly popular. His advisers have succeeded in persuading him that the intellectual classes and the partisans of reform are responsible for all the hitches and disturbances. A diversion has thus been created in favor of a corrupt and inefficient bureaucracy.

Though originally opposed to the war the Czar recently expressed his readiness to sacrifice a million men, if necessary, in order to defeat Japan, and in working for this end he believes himself able to rely upon the patriotic cohesion of all parts of his empire.

CONSERVATIVES RAISE RACE CRY

The Opposition Organ at Ottawa Stirring Up Strife.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., June 14. — The next political campaign will be fought by the Conservatives on race and religion. Another great effort is to be made by the Opposition to stir up strife and discord among the people in the main hope of getting power. The local Opposition organ has got an inspired article this morning against the "fifty" Frenchmen who hold Sir Wilfrid in power, and who, according to the Citizen, gets all the patronage. When the French Conservatives in the day of Sir John Macdonald held the Government in power, it was a different question. In those days French Canadians were patriots and now they are described as "Uitlanders." This will deceive no one, as it has been tried too often.

In the railway committee this morning, W. F. MacLean's bill to compel Canadian railroads to give a two-cent passenger rate, and admission of all telephone companies to all railroad stations was fixed for June 29. The Canada Southern bill was set down for same date.

2,000 ARMENIANS PUT TO SWORD

Sultan Resumes Persecutions—More Massacres Feared—Troops Ordered Out.

Constantinople, June 14. — Armenian patriarchs have received information that an irade has been issued by the Sultan, which has resulted in wholesale massacres and the destruction of much Armenian property.

The irade prohibits the settlements of Armenians in the villages destroyed.

According to information received, two days were devoted to the massacres, May 16 and June 3.

On these two days 37 villages were destroyed and of a population of 5,000, 2,000 were massacred. The women of the villages, who disappeared during the massacre have been recovered by their husbands, but most of the girls have not been seen since.

The villages destroyed were in the districts of Chetas and Hiân.

Massacres are feared in other places. Shops have been closed for three days at Bitlis, while at Diarbekir and Sessoun, reserves have been sent for by the authorities to suppress disorders.

PLUNDERED THE HOSPITAL TRAIN

Equipment Furnished by Royalty Carried Off by Officials.

M. PHELVE FAVORS A LONG WAR

Minister of Interior and His Supporters Fear Peace Would Cause Their Downfall.

London, June 14.—News from a variety of sources in Russia for the past few days has been scarcely less interesting or important than the great events which are supposed to be taking place behind the veil which screens Port Arthur from the world.

It is difficult to believe that the internal condition of that unhappy country can be much prolonged without a crisis of some sort. It is a land literally given up to tyrants and plunderers. To such a pass have matters come that nothing is held sacred.

The crowning audacity has just been shown. The Czarina, the Queen of Denmark, the Queen of England and other royal personages recently equipped a hospital train at St. Petersburg it was fitted with every requisite for the comfort of the sick and wounded, and was dispatched with every box compartment carefully secured with the imperial seals.

Soon after the train left St. Petersburg something induced the Czarina to telegraph to Moscow to make a careful inspection, and this was done. The seals appeared to be undisturbed. One was broken as a test, and the contents of the compartment were found to be useless blocks of wood. The whole train was then examined. Everything of value had disappeared, and only blocks of wood were found.

This incident has produced a far greater impression on the English than the naval or military misfortunes of Russia. It is naturally argued that nothing but disaster swift and sure can befall a country where such things are possible.

M. de Plehve and his supporters will favor the continuation of the war, no matter what successes Japan may gain. It is peace, not war, which the Russian war party fears. They believe that so long as the war continues they can suppress the revolutionary tendencies and plunder the country at their leisure. Peace, when it comes, will double the difficulties of Russia's present masters in controlling the great national wrath against the tyranny and corruption which dominate the Russian Government.

112 MILES, 101 MINUTES

Fast Time of Special in Race Against Death.

Marshalltown, Ia., June 14. — Elias Kempner, of New York, yesterday made a vain attempt on a special train to reach his dying brother in Denver before death came. He received a telegram at Belle Plaine, Ia., this afternoon announcing his brother's death.

When Mr. Kampner reached Chicago last evening he missed connection with the fast Colorado special train leaving on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad at 10.15 o'clock. He secured a special train on the Northwestern road at 12:46 p.m. This special had orders to overtake the Colorado special as soon as possible. The line was cleared and the Kempner special sped away to the west in a fast chase after the Colorado special. The Kempner special averaged 60 miles an hour from Chicago to Marshalltown, 289 miles, where the Colorado special, due at 5:28 p.m., was held seven minutes to take Mr. Kampner aboard. Between Clinton and Belle Plaine Mr. Kempner's train made 112 miles in 101 minutes.

BOMB IN HER POCKET

Miss Merjeersky Under Surveillance of Russian Police.

St. Petersburg, June 14. — Miss Merjeersky, who is a daughter of Prof. Merjeersky, the principal alienist doctor in Russia, and a member of the Privy Council, and who was arrested on May 10th in St. Petersburg, and was found to have a bomb in her possession, which it was believed she intended to throw at the Czar as he passed her father's house on his way to the parade ground, has been detained since at her parents' residence, under police surveillance. She has now been taken to prison.

She is accused of threatening the lives of the Emperor and his ministers. A report that she had been hanged is untrue. It is believed that she was in a hysterical conditon when she committed the offense of which she is accused.

KILLED HIS SON

Father Mistook Him for Highwayman and Stabbed Him to Death.

Mount Holly, N. J., June 14. — Frank Reincke, aged 16 years, was killed late last night by his father, while trying to play a joke on the latter. Young Reincke hid in the bushes along the highway, and, as his father approached, the boy jumped out, expecting to scare him. The elder Reincke drew a knife and plunged it into the lad's heart, killing him almost instantly. Mr. Reincke thought he was about to be attacked by a highway man. The father is almost insane from grief.

REFUSED TO PAY THE POLL TAX

Italians at Sydney, C. B., Will Be Prevented From Leaving the Country.

Sydney, B. C., June 13. — The entire police force of this city have been ordered to report for duty today to prevent the departure of a crowd of Italian laborers, who intend to leave for the United States by the early express. The police have been trying to collect poll tax from most of these men for the past week, and nearly all have refused to pay it. Yesterday was payday at the wash plant, where the Italians are employed, and although there was a squad of police with warrants on the scene they could not extract a cent from any of the men. Trouble is feared, when the men attempt to take their departure, and the police are making preparations for a clash.

The P. W. A. have adopted a novel method of identifying the men who persist in working at the steel works. As each man enters or leaves the plant he is photographed by a man employed by the strikers' association, stationed near the gate with his camera. In this way they hope to prevent the strike-breakers from getting work in union workshops, factories or mines where they may apply. As regards the situation at the works, there is no change. The men affected by the strike as well as the public generally, appear to be waiting for Mr. Plummer's arrival before any important developments occur.

DUNDONALD'S CASE BEFORE MINTO

Premier Discusses the Cabinet Report With Governor-General.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., June 14. — The Premier spent the greater part of the forenoon at Rideau Hall with Lord Minto talking over the Dundonald case. This was upon a report of the cabinet relieving Lord Dundonald of his services in Canada as general officer commanding the Canadian militia. The House of Commons will be informed of the result probably tomorrow. Meantime Lord Dundonald has left for London to attend the militia camp. While Sir Wilfrid was at the Government House the cabinet was in session. The Premier returned shortly after 1 o'clock, and the cabinet remained in session until about 2 o'clock.

ROOSEVELT TO BUCK COAL TRUST

The U. S. President Determined to Have Big Combine Dissolved.

Washington, June 14. — Action against the coal trust will probably be brought shortly in order to demonstrate to the country that the retirement of Attorney-General Knox from the cabinet does not mean a cessation of the warfare the Government has begun against unlawful combinations of capital. Attorney-General Knox himself will initiate the proceedings, according to the present programme.

President Roosevelt believes that the coal trust can be dissolved. He pins his faith to the decision of the supreme court in the Northern Pacific merger case. With that ruling as a lever, he believes that similar action can be had against the coal barons.

It is understood that as soon as Mr. Knox returns to Washington, probably on Wednesday next, the President will confer with him toward taking the step indicated.

CANADIAN SHIP FINED BY U. S.

C. P. R. Will Appeal to Washington From Unjust Action.

DISPUTE MAY CAUSE FRICTION

Steamer Heavily Mulcted for Transhipping American Passengers for Seattle.

Victoria, B. C., June 14.—Out of the peremptory action of the collector at Ketchikan in fining the steamer Princess May $2,600 for carrying thirteen passengers bound for Seattle from Ketchikan to Vancouver, there is likely to arise an international question of far-reaching possibilities. The C. P. R. Company will fight the case to a finish.

The authorities at Washington, when the circumstances have been fully presented to them, and the injustice of the fine referred to has been clearly and exclusively shown, may set the matter right and give instructions which will obviate the many annoyances to which the Canadian company has recently been subjected. If Washington does not take this view of the case, then, under the existing conditions, it is doubtful whether the C. P. R. Company can continue in the Yukon business. Certainly drastic measures will ensue.

The collector at Ketchikan, who has precipitated the trouble, has proceeded under section two of the act of Congress, passed in 1898, which states: "No foreign vessel shall transport passengers between ports or places in the United States directly or by way of a foreign port, under penalty of $200 for each passenger transported or landed."

The C. P. R. Company contest this law has in no sense been violated The passengers were transported to Vancouver. There they were given an option of taking the train to Seattle or coming to Victoria, and then transferring to the C. P. R. Company's steamer Princess Beatrice on the Seattle run. Three of them did so, and then went by rail from Vancouver. They all carried orders from the company's agent at Ketchikan to secure their transportation before proceeding into American territory.

TO BLOW UP CHURCH

Stick of Dynamite Discovered Beneath Altar of Cathedral.

St. Louis, June 14.—It became known yesterday that an attempt had recently been made to blow up the Church of St. Anthony, which is in charge of Franciscans. A stick of dynamite was discovered under the altar, attached to a fuse running to a candle. Inability of an attendant to light the candle to which the fuse was attached led to the discovery of the fuse and the dynamite.

The fuse was so arranged that if the candle had burned for a certain time, it would have ignited the fuse and caused an explosion, which might have destroyed the building and caused a great loss of life.

GIROUARD STEPS OUT

Brilliant Young Canadian Resigns From South African Post.

London, June 14. — Persistent adverse criticism of the management of the South African railways under Lieut.-Col. Sir Edouard Percy Girouard, commissioner of railways for the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony, led to the appointment of a committee of inquiry, and the result will probably be the resignation of the commissioner.

Although the committee has issued a majority report in favor of the retention of the existing system, the report of the minority members, who represent the business interests, demands his removal on the ground of administrative and financial inefficiency.

The matter was debated in council at Pretoria, when Sir George Farrar, one of the signers of the minority report, addressing Lieut.-Colonel Girouard, personally acknowledged that the country owned him a debt of gratitude, but added: "You are a great military expert, with a great reputation, but your work here is done. We require a man of administrative ability and financial knowledge, which you do not possess. Now you must go."

Lieut.-Col. Girouard, who is well known as a Canadian, in a manly reply assured the council that he had no desire to cling to his office. The debate was then adjourned.

It is rumored in London that Commissioner Girouard has already resigned.

MERRY ISLINGTON.

London, June 14. — The King and Queen revived the glory of Merry Islington on Thursday last, when they went in semi-state to open the Royal Military Tournament at the Agricultural Hall. The tournament, which is to run for about a fortnight, is likely to be popular as ever. The heroes of the tourney this year are the horses, which in addition to smart military movements, carry on a game of football. There are three horses on each side; there is a huge ball, which the riders must not touch; the horses play the game, pushing in the approved fashion of footballers. It is a wonderful performance, and all London is rushing to see it.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 14. — L. D. Allen and wife were found dead in their room in an apartment house today, the woman having shot her husband and then herself. Allen was 23 and his wife 20 years old. The young woman evidently fired four bullets at her husband, two of which took effect, after which she wrote a farewell note to relatives and then killed herself. The cause for the tragedy has not yet been learned.

DROWNED IN A TUB.

Collingwood, Ont., June 14.—Yesterday at noon a little 2-year-old child of George Foster was playing around the yard, where a tub of water was standing, and falling backward into the tub the little one was drowned before the mother had noticed the accident.

MAY SUPPLEMENT S. A. PENSIONS

Announcement of the Gov't Policy To Be Made Shortly.

THE ANTI-CIGARETTE BILL

Measure Given Its Second Reading—Mr. German Denies Charge Made by Col. Hughes.

Ottawa, June 13. — The Minister of Militia this afternoon expressed the opinion that the Canadian people would support the Government in supplementing the imperial pensions to Canadians disabled in South Africa, wherever the imperial is less than the Canadian pension scale. He intimated that the preparation of the pension list was in progress, and hoped to be able before the end of the session to make a definite pronouncement of Government policy. Mr. Maclaren's bill prohibiting the manufacture, importation or sale of cigarettes was given the second reading without debate upon a non-political vote. The measure still has to pass through the committee and third reading stages respectively before it goes to the senate. The resolution providing for the registration of union labels was reported, and, having conformed to the rules of parliamentary procedure in this respect, Mr. Ralph Smith reintroduced the measure, which was recently ruled out of order, giving effect to the resolution. A number of resolutions and private bills and bills of a public nature introduced by private members were advanced a stage.

Mr. Charles Marcil introduced a bill to amend the act concerning the jurisdiction of the exchequer court in railway debts.

GERMAN AND HUGHES

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. German replied to the charge by Colonel Sam Hughes on Friday that he had interfered and objected for political reasons to the extension of the term of Colonel Gregory, as commander of the Second Dragoons at St. Catharines. Mr. German gave the charge an absolute denial, and defied Col. Hughes to bring any person forward who would say he had done so.

BOUNTY ON CRUDE OIL

Mr. J. E. Armstrong (East Lambton) asked what arrangements could be made for paying the bounty on crude oil, which has been going forward the last few days through pipe lines and tank wagons?

Hon. Mr. Fielding replied that when the act was introduced and considered embodying the resolution, the details would be considered and an effort be made to meet any difficulties that stood in the way.

DR. PICKELL AGAIN.

Mr. R. L. Borden asked for the presentation of any further correspondence relating to the striking out of the name of Dr. Pickell from the list of offices for the Thirteenth Light Dragoons.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in the absence of the Minister of Militia, said he had reason to believe if there was any further correspondence it would be brought down.

FRENCH STEAMSHIP LINE.

Mr. Casgrain obtained an order for the papers in connection with the contract of last year for a line of steamers between Canada and France. After a brief discussion, Sir Wilfrid Laurier implemented his statement of a few days since by the information that negotiations are now pending with Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., a firm of very high standing, who he was sure, if they were willing to enter into a contract, would carry it out.

Mr. R. L. Borden suggested that the Government had not met with better success in negotiating for a line of steamers to France than had attended their efforts to obtain a fast Atlantic service.

WORKED THE WIDOWS

Prominent Church Woman Charged With Wholesale Swindling.

Elgin, Ill., June 14. — Miss Martha E. Lunn, 61 years old and for many years prominent in Elgin church, social and woman's club circles, has been arrested here on the charge of forgery and is now in jail. Elgin attorneys, it is stated, hold notes for collection against Miss Lunn amounting to more than $12,000. Most of these notes are signed with the names of B. E. Lunn and W. W. Teal. Mr. Teal declares his name has been forged in every instance. It is alleged that Miss Lunn has borrowed money on these notes from many persons in Elgin and nearby.

It is asserted that many of her alleged victims were widows who had collected life insurance upon the death of their husbands.

THE PALMA TROPHY

Englishmen Approve Sportsmanlike Spirit of the Americans.

London, June 14. — Lord Cheylesmore, professor of the British National Rifle Association, commenting on the action of the American National Rifle Association in deciding to return the Palma trophy to the British association, said to a representative of the Associated Press today:

"At present no official communication announcing the resolution of the American association has reached us, but I feel certain that our council appreciate the sportsmanlike decision. Until we have received an official communication of its course, it is impossible to say what action our council will take. I can only express my personal satisfaction that an agreement satisfactory to all has been attained, and repeat that it has never been the wish on this side to import any bitterness into the correspondence, or to in any way attempt to upset the result of the match."

AN ATLAS LOAN CASE.

Toronto, June 14.—Suit has been begun by the liquidators of the Atlas Loan against Sarah Davis and W. H. Davis. At the time of the first trouble of the company Davis was a depositor, but transferred his account to his wife. The liquidator seeks to set aside this transfer, as Davis is also a contributor.

WILL BE RELEASED

Anglo-Americans Kidnapped at Tangier About To Be Freed.

Washington, June 14. — If all goes well, Perdicaris will be released next Wednesday. It is estimated that it will require this length of time for the mission which has gone to his relief with the ransom demanded to reach the brigand's camp. The French Government has been active in conducting the negotiations for Perdicaris' relief, and the United States Government will express its appreciation of these efforts as soon as he is free. It is also expected that the United States fleet at Tangier will not tarry there long, as Raisuli's prisoners returns to Tangier.

MORE CAPITAL COMING

Predicted That It Will Presently Pour Into Canada.

Montreal, June 14.—Mr. George E. Drummond, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, on his arrival home from England on Sunday, observed: "I venture to predict that more British capital will seek legitimate investment in Canada within the next five years than has reached us during the whole of the past decade. We owe not a little of this rapidly growing and intelligent intest in things Canadian to the discussion of the great fiscal question projected with such force into imperial politics by Mr. Chamberlain.

"Canada is looked upon rightly as the pivotal point of the whole preferential problem. I desire to emphasize this fact, that there is in England a very large circle of people who are waiting anxiously to learn through the official mouthpiece of the Canadian people, the Parliament of the country, as to whether we favor or oppose the principle of a mutual preference between the mother country and her colonies. The question is of great moment to our future."

TWO BOXES OF

MILBURN'S HEART and NERVE PILLS

Cured Mrs. Edmond Brown, Inwood, Ont., when she had almost given up hope of ever getting well again.

She writes: "I was so run down that I was not able to do my work, was short of breath, had a sour stomach every night and could scarcely eat. My heart palpitated, I had faint and dizzy spells and felt weak and nervous all the time. My husband got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills but I told him it was no use, that I had given up hope of ever being cured. He however persuaded me to take them and before I had used half the box I began to feel better. Two boxes made a new woman of me and I have been well and have been able to do my work ever since."

MR. J. McGUIRE, OF THE KINGSTON POSTOFFICE, TELLS HOW HE WAS CURED.

"I was almost crippled with corns. They made me so lame and sore I could scarcely walk. I used a number of remedies, but got no relief. Fortunately I tried "Putnam's Corn and Wart Extractor," and the results were as thorough as they were prompt. A few applications cured me perfectly. The best corn cure I ever heard of or used is Putnam's.

TO RESIST A STRIKE

Toronto Railway Men Say Company Is Making Preparations.

Toronto, June 14. — While negotiations are being carried on between representatives of the employes and the officials of the Toronto Railway, the men believe the company is making extensive preparations to resist a strike. Gas pipes, they assert, have been laid into the barns for the purpose of cooking meals for strike breakers, not being necessary for lighting purposes. Lumber has also, they assert, been distributed to all the barns for the purpose of barricades, while 150 strangers have been taken into the service. None of the officials of the company could be seen last night as to the truth of the statements.

RACETRACK WAR LIKELY

Chicago Expects Serious Clash Between Bookmakers and Police.

Chicago, June 14.—A riot similar to the one at the Garfield course in 1903, when Capt. J. H. Brown, of Texas, was killed and many others badly hurt, may occur at the Washington Park race-track next Saturday, when the national race meet of the Washington Park Club will begin with the American Derby as the chief attraction. Pursuant to orders of Mayor Harrison, that bookmaking on horse races is not to be permitted in Chicago in any form, Chief of Police O'Neill declared yesterday that the orders of the mayor would be carried out to the letter. The bookmakers have announced that they intend to do business at the Washington Park this year as usual, and unless one side or other changes its attitude, a serious clash seems inevitable. The war against the bookmakers is one phase of the fight now beeing wagd by the University of Chicago and owners of property in the district in which the track lies, to abolish the race track altogether. No official statement could be obtained from the Washington Park officials, but the management already has announced that the stand of the city officials against bookmaking will not interfere with the running of the Derby on Saturday.

PRECIOUS STONES GIVEN TO POPE

Rich Gifts of Diamonds for Crown of Virgin Reach the Vatican.

Rome, June 13. — The diamond crown which the Pope will solemnly place upon the statue of the Immaculate Virgin in St. Peter's next December on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the definition of the dogma of the immaculate conception, promises to be one of the most splendid pieces of jewelry in the world.

M. Moester de Ravestein has given a ring containing five splendid diamonds, and the Neapolitan Duchess Del Gallo has sent a jeweled crown, a ring, a brooch and two diamond earrings. Miss Matete, of Gand, has sent a diamond cross. Miss Neve, of Brussels, Belgium, two magnificent diamond buckles, a pin and two rings, while the Children of Mary, in the famous institution of Itelmet, have collected a large number of unset diamonds.

All of these will be used in the crown, which is to be made by the pontifical jeweler, who has charge of the papal tiaras.

Mgr. Falconio, apostolic delegate in the United States, arrived here tonight from Naples, where he was met by Mgr. Kennedy, rector of the American College, and by several other prelates. He thankfully declined the hospitality tendered him at the American institution, as, being a member of the Franciscan Order, he preferred to live with his brethren at the Convent of St. Antonio, in the Via Merulana.

He probably will be received by the Pope on Monday next, and will be a daily visitor to the propaganda, where many questions are awaiting him.

Among the most important business he will discuss with the Pope is that of a modification of the decree on church music, so far, at least, as the church in the United States is concerned. Mgr. Falconio is convinced that the absolute exclusion of women from the choirs in America is impracticable. He bears a collective letter from the American archbishops on the subject.

As soon as Mgr. Falconio has been enabled to express his views the few vacant dioceses of the United States are to be filled.

It is the custom at the Vatican that a lay attendant make his bed across the door leading to the Pope's apartment in order that no one may enter in the night.

The other morning Pius X. awoke earlier than usual, and, as it is his custom to dress unattended, and even to shave himself, he was ready for his morning walk in the gardens long before the sleeping servant had time to rise, make the bed and disappear. At the sight of the Pope the sleepy servant was profuse in his apologies, but Pius reassured him and bade him continue his sleep.

U. S. COASTWISE LAWS

May Be Used to Restrict British Trade in Philippines.

London, June 13. — Lord Muskerry (Conservative) in the House of Lords this evening questioned the Government concerning the reservation of other countries of coastwise trade vessels of their own nationality, and especially to the proposed application to the Philippine Islands, of the coastwise laws of the United States.

Foreign Secretary Lansdowne replied. He said the proposed restriction in the Philippines seemed inconsistent with certain declarations of the United States Government at the time of the drawing up of the treaty of peace. The British representative at Washington, the secretary added, had been asked to call the attention of the United States Government to the matter and point out the detrimental effect of the restrictions of British trade. The discussion was still proceeding at Washington, and it would not be in the public interest to enter into details regarding the exchange of views. The new law did not take effect until 1906. Therefore, there was plenty of time to consider the matter, which deserved, and would receive, the attention of his majesty's Government. "The colonial governments," Lord Lansdowne also said, "differed widely in their attitude on this subject. Some of them were entirely opposed to the exclusion of foreign vessels from coastwise trade while others had announced their intention of excluding them. No doubt the present system was a disadvantage to Great Britain, but they must be careful not to exaggerate the extent of the grievance. If Great Britain excluded foreign vessels, she would be liable to reprisals on the part of those countries now admitting British vessels. At any rate the whole question was intimately connected with the fiscal problem, which the Government could not deal with fragmentarily.

THOUSANDS OF WEALTHY MEN

WOULD GIVE HALF OF THEIR WEALTH TO BE ABLE TO SAY WITH MR. R. A. BARTON, "I CAN EAT WHATEVER IS SET BEFORE ME"--HE USED DODD'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS.

There are thousands of wealthy men in this country who would give half what they possess to be able to say "I can eat whatever is set before me asking no questions."

Yet any man, no matter how long he has been in Dyspepsia's grasp, can truthfully use those words if he will first use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Mr. R. A. Barton, 23 Tyndall avenue, Toronto, is in a position to speak on this matter. He says:

"I had Indigestion in its worst form. I consulted several doctors, but their treatment did not do me any good. As a last resort I tried Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I took several boxes before I got much relief, but I persevered and I am thankful to say they had the desired effect. Now I can eat whatever is set before me, asking no questions."

If you take your indigestion early, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure it quickly. But if it takes years getting rooted, it takes time to root it out.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it though.

Quick Time to Saint Louis.

Londoners taking in the St. Louis Exposition will find the excellent service of the Canadian Pacific Railway worthy of more than passing consideration. Not only is the mileage shortest over this road, but, as naturally follows, the Canadian Pacific makes the best time between London and the Exposition City. Sumptuous through sleepers leave here for the Fair twice every day, thus making the trip a pleasure to even the most wearied traveler. See W. Fulton, the City Passenger Agent, corner Dundas and Richmond streets, for particulars, tickets, etc. 27n

AUSTRIA AND ITALY

General Garibaldi Sees a Menace in Former's Armaments.

Rome, June 14.—Gen. Ricciotti Garibaldi has issued a proclamation in which he declares that the armaments of Austria cannot be but against Italy, rendering impossible her opposition to an Austrian march through the Balkans to Salonica. Gen. Garibaldi urges the Italian youth not to provoke a fight with Austria, but to hold themselves in readiness, forming special committees which shall be capable, in a moment of need, providing a few days' notice, a body of 50,000 trained and well-armed volunteers.

It was stated in a recent dispatch from Rome that Gen. Garibaldi had undertaken the organization of the Albanians living in Italy, who numbered 200,000. His aim, it was said, was to exercise an influence in behalf of the Balkans, especially Albania.

AN OPEN LETTER

Addressed by a Citizen to the City Council.

Gentlemen—I would like to make a few remarks in reference to, roads as initiated by the city engineer.

There is no doubt that London is lacking in good roads, in comparison to other cities; and, as long as you have to keep the taxes down, by cutting the estimates of the board of works, we will not be able to get much in the way of improvements. Another mill on the dollar for a few years would permit of putting down very many blocks of macadam roads.

Strong objections are taken by owners against having to pay full cost of road improvements in front of their property, roads that in many cases of greater use and benefit to the citizens at large than the residents on the street (as for instance, Stanley street). New roads as advertised are main arteries and of benefit to all, roads in the outskirts are of only personal benefit, and are not likely to be paved in any event.

Why do you not put down roads the same as you do walks, the city paying one half the cost? If you did so I have no doubt very much of the opposition would cease.

The kind of road is a burning question, and when the owners pay the cost, they should certainly have what they want, but under the present system they have no choice, but to accept or refuse.

Very many are of the opinion that a macadam road with cement curbs is a very good road for streets not in the heart of the city, and if properly laid and well rounded up, would be very easily kept in repair, and at the same time not too costly.

Another question arises—the cost. Different prices are quoted, I am informed that one person going around with a petition against the Clarence street pavement informs an owner of 44 feet that it will cost $30 per annum, while another says it will only cost $15. Which is right? No good business man will bind himself to a contract from which there is no escape without first knowing what he will have to pay. But you expect the citizens to do so by their not opposing your proposition. Then, you call for tenders and go ahead with all the expenses.

Why not first call for tenders? Then notify the owners, not only that you are going to put down a pavement, but also let him know the cost. Every person can tell about what a cement walk will cost, and the same rule should apply to roads.

I would suggest that arrangements be made so that the engineer will call for tenders for all kinds of pavements for the season, and the owners be allowed to select such pavements as they desire, or that tenders be received before final action is taken on petitions, so that if price is not satisfactory, the ratepayers will have a chance to withdraw. ASKS $5,000 FROM HER

"It's Just as Hard for a Man to Be Jilted as a Girl."

Wilkesbarre, June 14.—Elmer Oliver, who declares that Miss Elizabeth Alspaugh, of Pittston, threw him over after being engaged for five months to marry him, has sued her for $5,000 damages. He said today:

"A man who wants to jilt a girl is always afraid of a breach-of-promise suit. A girl, however, never thinks that the men have any redress. It's just as hard for a man to be jilted as a girl. He feels it just as much. Then, too, coupled with disappointment is the fact that the man usually spent a good sum of money showing the girl a good time, and has settled himself in view of the coming marriage. When he is jilted he not only loses the money but he has to begin all over again. Perhaps my suit against Miss Alspaugh may be a warning to other girls. I hope it will."

BABY STOPS FLYER

Sits on Track and Laughs as Engine Bears Down on It.

Binghamton, N. Y., June 14.—As a fast flying northbound Ontario and Western train was nearing Smyrna yesterday the passengers were startled by several violent shrieks from the whistle and a stop so sudden that many were thrown from the seats.

Those who went out to investigate found Engineer Clark removing a 2-year-old child from its seat on the rail about two feet in front of the engine.

The engineer had seen the child there a considerable distance away and blown his whistle, but the child only laughed and waved its hands in glee at the locomotive.

The train was held for two or three minutes until the child's mother came from her house several hundred yards away and got the youngster.

A COURIER FROM RAISULI.

Tangier, June 14. — A courier from Raisuli, the bandit chief, who kidnapped Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley, arrived here during the night. United States Consul-General Gummere and the British minister subsequently visited Mohamed el Torres, the representative of the Sultan of Morocco, to discuss the contents of Raisuli's message. The distance of Raisuli's headquarters makes the negotiations drag. It is now thought possible that the captives will not be released this week.

THE KING MAY BE THERE

His Majesty to Witness International Athletic Meet.

London, June 14. — It has been decided by the Oxford-Cambridge committee to propose July 23 or July 30 as the date for the athletic contests with the Harvard-Yale team. At the same time the committee expresses the hope that July 30 will be selected, as possibly King Edward might be unable to attend on the earlier date.

The committee also decided to propose the same programme used in the meetings of 1899 and 1901. This consists of nine events, including hammer-throwing, and discarding weight-throwing, as before, under identical conditions. The latter include proofs of amateur and student status, with the eligibility of competitors limited to four years from matriculation, as in the Harvard-Yale and Oxford-Cambridge sports of 1904. Thus, if the conditions named are accepted, no one except those qualified to compete in the recent meetings will be able to take part in the July contests.

MOB CHASED DOWIE

London Crowds Gets After Lije, Who Escapes In Cab.

London, June 14. — All day Sunday crowds were in the vicinity of the Zion Tabernacle on Euston road. John Dowie arrived at 10:30 o'clock, had his meals inside the tabernacle, and remained there throughout the day. While three services were held, the attendance was confined strictly to ticketholders. Towards 9 o'clock Dr. Dowie ventured to leave the building with his wife and son, and the long waiting mob, with frantic shouts, dashed after their cabs, while reporters in hansoms joined in the chase over a circuitous route to the Hotel Cecil. It is said that Dowie obtained rooms at this hotel by withholding his name, but that he has been requested to leave in the morning. At the evening service Mr. and Mrs. Booth-Clibborn, the latter the eldest daughter of General Wm. Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, were ordained elders in the Zionist Church.

PREDICTS END OF WORLD

This Man Starts Out to Convert New York Before 1908.

York, Pa., June 14. — Lee Spangler, a merchant of this city, who for 12 years has been predicting the end of the world in June, 1908, made some startling prophecies today.

Three months before their occurrence, Spangler prophesied the Baltimore fire, the death of Mark Hanna and the breaking out of the war in the east. Last April he predicted a cool summer.

He has sold out his large store in this city, and will shortly go to New York to preach his prophecies.

Spangler said today: "The Lord has directed me to go to New York to sound a cry of warning to the people there. If I can carry righteousness into New York, then the mission that God has intrusted to me will be accomplished. New York is the model city of the United States. Not a model of virtue, but of sin. If I can convert New York, the conversion of the nation will follow."

"The war in the east will be brought to a close before the middle of autumn, when Japan will have conquered Russia.

"War will shake this nation. Civil war. It will begin in the households. Divisions in a household of five, two against three, and three against two, and there will be many traitors.

"A great calamity in the shape of a fire will visit Philadelphia during the present summer. While the property loss, which will reach millions, will not equal that of the Baltimore fire, the loss of life will be extensive. This fire will come at night.

"Before the dawn of the year 1907, a great drought is to prevail in this nation, in Northern Europe, in parts of Asia and in islands of the Pacific Ocean.

"My prediction of a cool summer is being fulfilled. There will be many hailstorms, and more cool days than hot days. Before the destruction of the world some blessings are yet to be visited upon man.

"The things which I prophesy are revelations from God. He has admonished me to go to New York, and I must go, even though they may hoot at me, and gibe me there, and cast me into prison."

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

New York, June 14. — Mrs. Nan Patterson, the former actress, against whom an indictment for murder in the first degree in connection with the death of Bookmaker Caesar Young was returned by the grand jury yesterday, today entered a plea of not guilty before Judge Newburger in the court of general sessions. The plea was made with leave to withdraw by next Friday, and in the meantime her counsel will serve notice on the district attorney that he will move to inspect the minutes of the grand jury.

VERDICT FOR $1,000,000.

New York, June 14. — A verdict for $1,000,000, with interest for one year and eleven months, making a total of $1,100,000, was returned by a jury before Justice Spencer, of the supreme court, in Brooklyn, today, in the suit of Morris Henges against Gen. Louis Fitzgerald for services rendered in bringing about the sale of the Western Maryland Railroad to a syndicate. The case has been on for several days, George Gould and other prominent capitalists appearing as witnesses.

RUSH TO DAWSON

Winter Breaks Up and Hundreds Hike to Gold Camp.

Vancouver, June 14. — Mail advices from the north say that the ice on Lake Labarge has broken up and that navigation from White Horse to Dawson is open. The first steamer for the year has already passed down the river in safety. This was the little Prospector. Other vessels followed and within three days after the sailing of the Prospector fully 800 passengers, who had been waiting at White Horse for the opening of navigation, reached the Canadian metropolis of the far north.

Word has been received here that Edward Vachon, a miner, 52 years old, was drowned in the Klondike River recently. He was traveling in a small boat with John Whellan, when the boat capsized. Whellan escaped, but Vachon lost his life in the water of the turbid stream. Deceased was a cousin of ex-Aldermen Peter Vachon, of Dawson, and was a native of Quebec.

In an accident on Thirty-Mile River, caused by hidden rocks, two heavily freight laden scows belonging to George Suter, Thomas Shaw and Thomas Morgan, all of Dawson, were completely destroyed, and $15,000 worth of general produce was lost. The scows struck on the rocks and their bottoms were torn out.

CO-OPERATORS CONFER

The English Society Shows a Profit of 36 Per Cent.

London, June 14. — As usual in Whitsun Week, the British co-operators have had their annual conference. Some 1,500 delegates met at Stratford, and in the Stratford Hall there was an interesting exhibition of the products of co-operative industry, which, as the chairman declared, had enjoyed a success, which is nothing short of a social miracle. The co-operative societies show an average profit of some 36 per cent on the capital employed, or an aggregate of about ten millions a year. Co-operation seems to flourish in spite of general adverse trade conditions, and this makes them hopeful of a great future for the movement. They have yet to get a hold in London, where co-operative stores are almost unknown among the industrial classes, and co-operators profess no party politics, but, as traders and workers, they took occasion this week to make a vigorous and almost unanimous declaration against Mr. Chamberlain's proposals, and, considering the influence of co-operators, especially in Scotland and the North of England, this declaration will have great weight at the general election, whenever it comes.

The experts of the United States Agricultural Department have a theory that the degeneration of the modern culture has been based upon seed originally imported from Arabia, and that by getting back to the wild coffee plant, the habitat of which is the Province of Kaffa, West Africa, a new variety may be created, the value of which will be incalculable. A supply of Kaffa coffee is to be secured through King Menelik.

A Libel On the Court.

A lying caricature of an alleged scene in the London police court appears in the Toronto News of Saturday. The pictures of the magistrate, police court clerk and truant officer appear at different angles of the picture, and in the center is the miniature so-called scene, where a little boy is inverted over the knees of his father, who is in the act of spanking him in full view of the magistrate on the bench, clerk, truant officer, and a big policeman.

Needless to say, no such scene ever occurred. It originated in the imagination of the artist, whoever that individual may be.

The circumstances in connection with the thrashing that did actually occur were also misrepresented. The magistrate did not intimate that the imposition of a fine would be the alternative of the father's failure to punish the boy. It is true that the magistrate suggested to the father that, as the boy was incorrigible, and had appeared before him repeatedly, he (the father) should try the effect of a properly administered thrashing. The father said he could not do so without the consent of the mother, as his attempts in that direction heretofore had resulted in a separation. The case was accordingly adjourned until the following morning, when the mother appeared and consented that the father should castigate the boy in a proper manner, she alleging that she did not object to proper correction, but would no permit her husband to use chairs and clubs, as he had heretofore done.

The correction was not administered within the sight or hearing of the court officials, but probably occurred in the basement of the building. It has had a very good result, as the boy has conducted himself in a model manner since. It can be seen from the above how veracious the News' report is. Perhaps that journal has been misinformed by some erratic correspondent, but in any case it owes an apology to the magistrate and police court officials of London

Lord Dundonald's Dismissal.

The Cabinet will, it is understood, dismiss Lord Dundonald by canceling the order-in-council under which he holds office. The General must be very obtuse if he does not realize that he has made his position untenable, and that his resignation would be the smoothest way out of the difficulty; but perhaps he is disposed to make the situation as unpleasant as possible for his superiors in order to emphasize his supposed grievance.

Discipline is the soul of military organization, and the breach of discipline by the commander of the Canadian militia, who should set an example to the force, cannot be overlooked without putting a premium on insubordination. Lord Dundonald's speech was more than an indiscretion—it was a premeditated insult to the Cabinet. His lordship was nettled by what he conceived to be a personal slight. This is shown by the following extract from his memorandum read in the House of Commons:

"In accordance with general orders, approved by council, I gave orders in the customary manner in the month of February last to organize the Thirteenth Scottish Light Dragoons, as a cavalry regiment, with headquarters in the Eastern Townships of Quebec. Lieut.-Col. G. A. Smart was gazetted the commanding officer on Feb. 19. Other officers were also appointed to the same regiment. Shortly after the promulgation of the order authorizing the organization of the regiment I received an order from Sir Frederick Borden, through Col. Pinault, the deputy minister of militia, to stop the organization. No explanation or reason for this step was vouchsafed, but indirectly I learned that the Minister of Agriculture was responsible for the delay which thus occurred. I greatly desired to have the organization proceeded with, as the time for holding the annual camps was approaching. I accordingly twice communicated with Mr. Fisher by telephone, on two dates some distance apart, and made appointments with him in order that his reason for the obstruction might be explained. Mr. Fisher did not keep either of the appointments. On the second of the occasions above referred to, when speaking to Mr. Fisher over the telephone, I explained the urgency of completing the organization of the regiment without delay, otherwise it would be impossible for it to go into camp. I also inquired what Mr. Fisher had to do with the organization of the militia. To this Mr. Fisher responded by inquiring whether I thought he had no right, as a cabinet minister, to interfere. My answer was that in my opinion Mr. Fisher had no right to interfere with Col. Smart's selection of officers, as I understood he had been doing."

It will be noticed that his lordship's bile was first warmed by the Minister of Militia's order to stop the organization. Here is the Minister of Militia's explanation:

"I was aware that Lieut.-Col. Whitley, one of the ablest and most efficient cavalry officers in Canada, had been consulted with reference to the organization of the proposed new cavalry regiment mentioned in the Montreal speech of the general officer commanding, and also that Lieut.-Col. C. A. Smart had been recommended by Lieut.-Col. Whitley and the general, and approved by me as commanding officer thereof. Toward the end of March last I wrote Lieut.-Col. Whitley, expressing a desire to see him. Having learned afterwards that he was in England, I requested the general to suspend the work of organization until Lieut.-Col. Whitley's return, having previously explained the reasons to the military secretary for the information of the general. About the end of April, Lieut.-Col. Whitley returned, and early in May brought Lieut.-Col. Smart to Ottawa to have a conference with me. This conference was of a most pleasant and satisfactory character."

The Minister of Militia asked for the postponement of organization for a very good reason which he communicated to the military secretary for the information of Lord Dundonald. Perhaps the information did not reach Lord Dundonald; but it was entirely in the discretion of the Minister of Militia to proceed with the organization or suspend it as he chose. But Lord Dundonald becomes angry. On the strength of "indirect" information he blames the delay on Hon. Sydney Fisher, calls up that Minister by telephone, and proposes to discuss the matter then and there. Mr. Fisher will not bandy words over the telephone and prefers a personal interview. Mr. Fisher expects Lord Dundonald to call upon him at his (Mr. Fisher's) office. Lord Dundonald expects that Mr. Fisher will go to him (Lord Dundonald). His lordship rings up again and asks Mr. Fisher what he has to do with the organization of the militia. Mr. Fisher informs him that as a cabinet minister he has a right to interfere. At this time Mr. Fisher was acting Minister of Militia in Sir Frederick Borden's absence. He was the official superior of Lord Dundonald, and his lordship's cross-examination was rank impertinence, but it is not on record that the Minister took any steps to discipline his subordinate.

As to the charge of political interference, the facts are admittedly as follows. Mr. Fisher suggested the organization of a cavalry regiment in the Eastern Townships, his own district, and it was due to his initiative and efforts that such a corps was eventually created. It was natural and desirable that he should take a personal interest in its formation. When the list of proposed appointments was submitted by Col. Smart, he found the following:

Dr. Pickell, to be major, nephew of Senator Baker.

F. R. Pickell, to be captain, son-in-law of Senator Baker.

G. H. Baker, senior captain, son of Senator Baker.

John Gibson, nephew of Senator Baker.

Thomas Cotton, grand-nephew of Senator Baker.

Senator Baker is the biggest Conservative of the district, and the list had the ear-marks of a family and political intrigue. But Mr. Fisher did not propose that these Conservatives should be supplanted by Liberals. He indorsed John Gibson, because the latter was a graduate of the Military College, Kingston, although he was a prospective Conservative candidate for Parliament. He suggested that Lieut. Holand, a South African veteran and a Conservative, should replace W. H. Russell, a Liberal, as major of one squadron on the same ground—experience. He suggested that Lieut. Baker, Senator Baker's son, who had had training, should be captain in place of one of his inexperienced relatives. He favored appointing Capt. Carr, another Conservative, as major, in place of Dr. Pickell. He approved the selection of Surgeon-Major Macdonald, also a Conservative. In view of these recommendations it cannot be said that Mr. Fisher tried to make the regiment a political machine. If his conduct had any political complexion at all it was because he objected to having the list of officers stuffed with the names of men who were not qualified, and some of whom were apparently selected from political motives alone. Col. Smart, commander of the regiment, wrote to Mr. Fisher, thanking him for his assistance in officering the corps, though Smart, for some unexplained reason, afterwards complained of Mr. Fisher's meddling. Mr. Fisher in no case exceeded his constitutional rights, nor can it be shown that he was actuated by other motives than the interest of the corps. It is Lord Dundonald, who is shown up in the most unfavorable light. He crowned his insubordination by sending his memorandum on the question to a private member of Parliament, giving the Minister of Militia, his superior, only a copy.

The Drama.

The past season has been the most disastrous one in the history of the American stage. This is not due to the panic following the Chicago theater fire, as poor business was the rule before that horror occurred. In England the same conditions exist. According to the London Express, never in the memory of the oldest theatrical manager have the London theaters done so badly as during the present season. Failures have followed failures and it was estimated that at least $500,000 had been lost in theatrical ventures in London alone. The cause cannot be laid to hard times. There is no unusually severe depression in the United States or England, and even in very bad years the theatrical business has done better. One London manager says: 'The reason for the slump is not easy to determine. Possibly public taste is changing and we have not discovered its latest development.' It is to be hoped his analysis is correct, because if public taste is changing it can hardly change for the worse. The public fixes the standard for the stage and popular favor in late years has run toward a light and frothy class of entertainment, with the result that legitimate drama has been almost banished from the footlights. It is rarely this community is brought within reach of such entertainment as was afforded yesterday by Ben Greet and his company, who showed what could be done by the stage to delight, instruct and elevate the mind, but it is too true that there is not much encouragement to genuine artists to devote their talents to the highest form of the drama. In place of educating popular taste they find it more remunerative to stoop to it. Those people who avoid and condemn the theater could help to uplift it, and enable it to perform the noble mission of which it is capable, if they would countenance the good plays, as well as avoid the inferior. It is a case where discrimination would yield better results than all-round denunciation. It is to be hoped the financial depression in the theatrical business is symptomatic of a desire on the part of the public for a more wholesome diet.

By the way, were there any politics in the militia before the Liberals took hold?

Engineer Kyle, of the G. T. P., expected to import American brains, but he didn't foresee that he would have to export his own.

The Pittsburg Dispatch also takes Canada's anti-dumping legislation philosophically. Says the Dispatch: "It is noticeable that our manufacturers can draw the sting from any such enactment by letting the people of the United States have their goods at the same prices as they give the Canadians."

The City Council, or, rather, several of the aldermen, have done well to back down on the question of the Fair Board lease. The present lease has three years to run, so that the fifteen years' extension will give the Fair Board a tenure for eighteen years from date. Some of the aldermen who predict the finish of the fair may know better by that time.

Marconi's latest achievement is the publication of a daily paper on the Cunard Line Campania during the trip from Liverpool to New York. The Campania received news first from the station at Poldhu in Cornwall, then from Cape Breton, and finally from Cape Cod. Poldhu was not lost till the ship was 2,300 miles away, and for two days in midocean communication was maintained with both shores. The Cape Cod station was first heard from at a distance of 1,030 miles.

The Petrolea Topic, which ought to know something about the oil business, says:

"With the information at hand we are of the opinion that the Government have enacted legislation which will meet with popular favor in the country at large; legislation which will give a stimulus to the refining industry while not injuring the producer.

"Just as we go to press Mayor Noble said to the Topic: 'I do not think the contemplated changes in the tariff will injure the crude oil producers or retard prospecting and the development of the oil-producing territory.'"

Mayor Noble is one of the most prominent Conservative workers in the oil district.

LAMENTABLE IGNORANCE.

OLD DARKEY'S THUNDER SONG.

[Atlanta Constitution.]

SOMETHING NEW

[Montreal Herald.]

Mr. Fielding has given tariff makers something new. The self-acting automatic surtax on slaughtered goods makes its initial bow to this world.

AMERICAN VIEW OF THE BUDGET

(New York Post.)

Minister Fielding, in his budget speech, has presented a plan for revising the Canadian tariff, and naturally he has not failed to commend the schedules he arranged six years ago by pointing to the sensational prosperity that Canada has enjoyed ever since. How far Mr. Fielding's tariff created the forests and fisheries of the Dominion, how much it did to make the Northwestern territory fertile, we may later decide. For the moment it is enough to show that Canada has greatly prospered under schedules so low that, we are assured, their adoption would ruin this far richer country. If industrial development and agricultural returns are possible only under the aegis of a virtually prohibitive tariff, then Canada should long ago have gone to the international poorhouse.

To us who are told that our prosperity and our very safety lie in letting the Dingley bill alone, Mr. Fielding's act must seem, according to our political affiliations, like that of a hero or a madman. That he seems neither in Canada indicates either that our northern neighbors are running wantonly into self-destruction, or that we are living under the tyranny of a most insubstantial bogey.

VERDICTS BY CARLYLE.

(Exchange.)

In one of his recently published letters Carlyle says of Macaulay, the historian, "We have had Macaulay for two days; he was a real acquisition while he lasted, and gave rise to much good talk, besides an immense quantity of indifferent, which he himself executed. A man of truly wonderful historical memory, which he has tried in really extensive reading, and has always lying ready, with this or the other fact, date, or anecdote on demand; in other respects constantly definable as the sublime of commonplace, not one of whose ideas has the least tincture of greatness or originality, or any kind of superior merit, except neatness of expression."

Carlyle gives this striking picture of Samuel Rogers, the poet: "I saw Rogers a while ago at dinner with Taylor, a half-frozen, old, sardonic whig gentleman, no hair at all, but one of the whitest bare scalps, blue eyes, shrewd, mouth drawn up to the very nose, slow-croaking, sarcastic insight, perfect breeding—staterooms where you are welcomed even with flummery; internally, a Bluebeard's chamber, where none but the proprietor enters!"

Of Thackeray Carlyle wrote: "Thackeray and his two girls were with us. I had never seen him so well before. There is a great deal of talent in him, a great deal of sensibility, irritability, sensuality, vanity without limit—and nothing, or little, but sentimentalism and playactorism to guide it all with.'

LORD DUNDONALD'S BLUNDER.

(Toronto Star.)

Lord Dundonald apparently is possessed of the true military spirit, the spirit which inspired Charles I. when he contended that the army should be controlled by the King, not parliament. British officers who come out here seem to think that in this young country we have but a toy Government and that the control of the militia should be in the hands of its military chiefs, and independent of Parliament.

CAMERAS BARRED IN JAPAN.

(From Harper's Weekly.)

To use a camera in the southern island towns means its polite but immediate confiscation and a punishment by a fine. By great courtesy, a display of passports and a proper degree of self-reproach for having ignorantly disobeyed the laws, you may, at the end of twenty-four hours, secure the return of the camera, minus the roll of films. So strict is the camera regulations at fortified ports that an English lady who took a picture of the captain on the bridge of one of the vessels in the harbor of Moji was approached, several hours later, by a member of the harbor police, and asked to deliver up her camera. Protests were useless, and the camera was taken ashore, the films probably developed, as they were never returned, and the camera was sent back the following day.

On another occasion a traveler who opened up a small pocket camera in the streets of Shiminoseki was promptly piloted to the station house violently protesting that he had done no wrong, and that he had not attempted to take any photographs of fortifications nor soldiers. The diminutive and quiet captain of police, who spoke English brokenly, remarked, solemnly, "We will see," and the tourist waited four hours while they saw. At the expiration of this time he returned and said, "What you said was true, but we shall, notwithstanding, be obliged to punish you with the extreme severity of the law in this case. You have photographed no fortifications or soldiers, but you have committed a crime"—and, while the trembling culprit blanched in terror, he finished—"and your fine will be 80 sen" (40 cents).—Harpers Weekly.

THE BILLETING SYSTEM.

[Ottawa Journal.]

It has been noted that the London Conference of the Methodist Church has visited to return to the old system of billeting, during conference, which was dropped last year. The reason given for the return is that the doing away with billeting would tend to separate the clergy and the laity. There may be a difference of opinion about that. It strikes the average man that it is not calculated to make a family have or laymen of a church body to have the kindliest feeling towards those who are in many cases utter strangers to them quartered upon them for a week or so, often at great inconvenience as to meals, hours and other matters. Yet, as the delegates only go to the homes of those who agree to take them and as the theory of billeting is in thorough harmony with the principles of the religion the delegates talk about the system should work out all right.

THE DUKE'S PLAIN FARE.

[Montreal Star.]

The London Spectator quotes from Gleig's Personal Reminiscences of the Duke of Wellington: "He dined at 7 on the plainest fare, consisting of soup, fresh herrings, one entrement, a small leg of Welsh mutton, a roast pheasant and a pudding."

Poor beggar!

THE FINGER METHOD

A Wonderful New System to Identify Criminals.

Toronto, June 14. — Inspector Stark, who has just returned from the convention of police officers held in St. Louis says one of the things brought up at the convention that impressed him most was the "finger print" system of measuring of criminals. The system at present in use in Toronto and in general use throughout the United States is the Bertillon system. The New York and Scotland Yard officers are enthusiastic about the new system. It eliminates all the photographic work, and practically the only expense is for paper, printer's ink and a small sheet of brass. The old system required elaborate measuring of the forehead, the depth of the head, the length of the fingers and many other portions of the body, perhaps the chief one of all being the length of the ear.

Inspector Stark said in reference to the new system: "Its superiority lies in a few facts. The first is that the Bertillon system is only good for full-grown subjects. A person much under the majority mark is so apt to change in his measurements that it is almost impossible to rely with any accuracy upon the details obtained by the system. With the new system, the impress of the lines of each of the fingers is taken on a piece of white paper. No matter how much a person may grow or change, the lines will remain the same. Even a scar across the fingers is shown for years. The rings and circle of a person's fingers never change. It is a good thing in its favor that the most up-to-date police officials in the world recognize it as being the best system, and the cost and trouble of operating it are so much less that it would be a good thing to have it instituted in Toronto. Even if we have both systems, it would not interfere greatly."

Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N.Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years, being troubled with menorrhagia. My back ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restful sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, I tried your Vegetable Compound on the recommendation of a friend from the East who was visiting me.

"I am glad that I followed her advice, for every ache and pain is gone, and not only this, but my general health is much improved. I have a fine appetite and have gained in flesh. My earnest advice to suffering women is to put aside all other medicines and to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MISS NELLIE HOLMES, 540 No. Division St., Buffalo, N.Y.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

AN EDITOR'S EXPERIENCE

In the Treatment of Humours with More Than Magical Effect with

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

A Remarkable Testimonial from a Most Intelligent and Trustworthy Lady.

"A tumor came on my neck and in a day or two it was as large as half an orange. I was very much alarmed for fear it was malignant. My friends tried to persuade me to consult my physician; but dreading that he would insist on using the knife, I would not consent to go. Instead, I got Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Ointment. I took the former according to directions, and spread a thick layer of the Ointment on the swelling. On renewing it I would bathe my neck in very warm water and Cuticura Soap. In a few days the Cuticura Ointment had drawn the swelling to a head, when it broke. Every morning it was opened with a large sterilized needle, squeezed and bathed, and fresh Ointment put on. Pus and blood, and a yellow, cheesy, tumorous matter came out. In about three or four weeks' time this treatment completely eliminated the tumor. The soreness that had extended down into my chest was all gone, and my neck now seems to be perfectly well.

"About five or six years ago my sister had a similar experience, used the Cuticura Remedies with magical effect. I am willing you should use my testimonial, with the further privilege of revealing my name and address to such persons as may wish to substantiate the above statements by personal letter to me." Chicago, Nov. 12, 1902.

Through Train Service to Exposition Grounds Via Canadian Pacific.

By a special arrangement, the Canadian Pacific is able to land its passengers in St. Louis, either at the exposition ground or at the union depot, as they prefer. An outlay of some $50,000 has been necessary for the erection of a new station which is located directly in front of the main entrance to the grounds, and through which a very large volume of the season's business will pass. The most thorough precautions have been taken in the laying out of the new structure to avoid crowding.

¶ Do you ever think your boy plays too hard?

¶ I tell you a boy that knows how to play has good stuff in him. He'll work all the better for it bye and bye.

¶ But remember, he's burning up a lot of energy.

¶ Give him plenty of "FORCE."

Sunny Jim

A boy can easily grow thin and starved and anemic, even if he does stuff his stomach three times a day—unless the food is the right sort.

It isn't what you eat that counts—it's only what digests—the part that is absorbed and builds up muscles and nerves and brain.

"FORCE" is the ideal food for growing children, because it not only digests itself but helps to digest the other food substances that are eaten with it.

"FORCE" is made in Canada.

London's School Board To Be Further Reduced

Will Include Only Nine Members After Jan. 1 Next—Council's Latest Move.

Last night the city council put through by a unanimous vote a resolution which sounds the death knell of the old school board of London, and the manner of electing it. At present the board is composed of fifteen members, eight of whom are elected by the people for a term of two years, and six of whom are appointed as high school trustees by the city council for a similar term, the other number being the separate school trustee.

Last April the Ontario Government passed a law, however which completely revolutionizes the board. The act does not especially apply to London, though London asked for just such an act before the measure was framed, but leaves it optional with cities and towns having a population of under 100,000, to say whether they shall elect their school board under the old or the new system. If they wish to adopt the new system, the council must, on or before the first day of October, 1904, put through a resolution to this effect at a special meeting of the council called for this purpose. And London, wishing to do away with the old order of things, last night put through such a resolution. It was moved by Ald. Stevely and seconded by Ald. Judd.

Consequently, Londoners will be called upon next year to elect a school board of nine members, and the separate school board will appoint one trustee, making ten members in all, or five less than on the present board. In January, 1906, the four trustees receiving the smallest number of votes will drop out, and the people will elect four trustees thenceforward annually.

The new system also puts into force the "one man one vote law," and those who had votes for trustees in more than one ward this year will find themselves confined to but one vote this year. This, of course, means one vote for each candidate, or nine votes in all. But the voter can vote in one polling subdivision only. The act also reads as follows:

"The members to be elected as aforesaid shall be elected by general vote of the persons qualified to vote for public school trustees in any such city, town or village, and the election shall be held at the same time and place, and by the same returning officer, and shall be conducted in the same manner as the election of mayor; and, save as otherwise provided by this act, all the provisions of the public schools act respecting the election of trustees by ballot shall apply to the said election of members of the board of education, but no person shall vote more than once for members of the said board.

"Each person qualified to vote as aforesaid shall be entitled to as many votes as there are members to be elected to the said board, but may not give more than one vote to any one candidate."

TWO ARTISTIC PRODUCTIONS BY BEN GREET'S ENGLISH COMPANY

Shakespearean Plays Presented On the Lawns of the Western University.

On a rustic stage, roughly hewn and covered with green boughs, and with towering trees for wings, and a wealth of green foliage for a setting for the background, Shakespearean comedy was on Monday afternoon interpreted on the lawn of the Western University by Mr. Ben Greet and Miss Edith Wynne Matthison, and their company of woodland players, in a manner which charmed a cultured and critical audience of perhaps three hundred or more persons.

The play chosen was that masterpiece of Shakespeare, redolent of woodland witchery, "As You Like It." Not in many years has it been the privilege of Londoners to witness a performance of such intrinsic merit, and by such an evenly-balanced company. Each character was portrayed in a manner worthy of the brain which created it. Each line was delivered with a clearness of enunciation, a richness of voice, and an intelligence which illuminated Shakespeare's exquisite verse and made its recitation a delight.

In the character of Rosalind, Miss Matthison charmed her audience. She is a magnetic player, with a voice of rare quality and carrying power. Of all the artists that have been seen here for some years in the higher drama, Miss Matthison easily stands first.

In the role of Jacques, Mr. Ben Greet showed a rare culture and finish. His clear delivery of his lines was particularly gratifying. The soliloquy, "All the world's a stage," was a masterpiece.

Supporting the stars were an exceedingly capable coterie of artists, of whom, if there be any choice among them, Mr. B. A. Field, as Touchstone, and Mr. John Sayer Frawley, as Orlando, were the favorites. Mr. Frawley made an ideal lover, and Mr. Field an intensely droll Touchstone. Miss Agnes Scott, as Celia, shared the honors with Rosalind, and Miss McLaughlin, as Audrey, gave a striking bit of comedy work. All the other members of the cast were above criticism.

The choruses were a distinguishing feature of the performances. The company contains some excellent vocalists and the charm of the music was heightened by the sylvan surroundings.

In short, the afternoon performance afforded local lovers of Shakespeare one of the greatest treats enjoyed for many years, and the only pity is that such companies in such plays are not seen oftener in London.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM.

Under perfect weather conditions and before a much larger audience than in the afternoon, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was presented at the evening performance, and once more it was demonstrated that Mr. Greet is a master of stagecraft, a scholar, and artist, and that the members of his company are without an exception in the foremost rank of their profession. The comedy is of the lightest texture, airy, and fantastic, a dream woven of moonshine and fairy magic, and was in all probability written for a festival play. One does not look for the cumulative interest and final denouement of the real drama. It is shadowy, illusive, whimsical, as befits a dream story. Lovers there are, to be sure, and for a time tragedy hovers over the loves of Lysander and Hermia, Demetrius and Helena. It is entirely a matter of chance, adventure hinging on the caprices of the fairy-folk.

So accustomed have we become to the association of the footlights with the drama, that nothing but the highest art can make an out-o'-door presentation of Shakespeare effective. The genius of Mr. Greet has rendered the illusion almost perfect and the absence of the proscenium arch is forgotten. There are other difficulties. For instance, it is impossible that Oberon, Titania and their folk can ever be presented on the stage to satisfy the demands of the imagination. Alas, we do not possess the happy gift of the children of investing the prosaic and material with the qualities of romance and mystery. It is, therefore, all the more creditable when such a fantasy as "A Midsummer Night's Dream" can be so played as to cause one to half-believe it a dream.

The mechanical arrangements were most skillfully made, beautiful pictures resulting from the play of tinted lights upon the foliage. The grouping was harmonious, and the mystical atmosphere pervading the elvish revels magical.

Mr. Greet took the part of Bottom, and needless to say his reading of the part was scholarly and polished. If there was a weak spot in his playing, it was a tendency to burlesque the character of the clownish weaver of Athens. He was most capably supported by his band of citizen players, and in the rehearsal scene and the rendering of the play before the duke, the comedy was excellently done. There is little opportunity for Miss Matthison in the role of Helena, but, as usual, her acting was full of that charm and magnetism for which she has become famous. Miss Agnes Scott is possessor of a robust beauty, and a splendid voice, which was equally fascinating.

Not the least attractive feature was the fairy scenes played by children. When a mite of a girl, little more than a baby, recites her lines with ease and naturalness, and with an intonation of remarkable purity, it does not require a very great stretch of the imagination to believe her a veritable fairy. That mischievous elf, Puck, was cleverly acted by Edith Taliferro, while Gertrude Robinson made a kingly Oberon, and Edith Speers, a queenly Titania. As Theseus, Mr. Charles Rann Kennedy had placed in his mouth some of the most noble lines of the play, and his rendering of them was a revelation in declamation. Lysander and Demetrius, portrayed by Messrs. Anderson and Crauley, were acceptably presented. The incidental music was from Mendelssohn, and was charmingly played.

ARE YOU RHEUMATIC

DO YOUR JOINTS AND MUSCLES ACHE IN DAMP WEATHER? — WHAT ARE YOU DOING TO GET CURED?

Every sufferer from rheumatism will be interested in learning that Nerviline has made so many permanent cures that the manufacturers now guarantee every bottle.

To show you how Nerviline has helped other chronic sufferers, the following extracts are quoted. Read them carefully:

"The only relief I ever got was from rubbing on Polson's Nerviline," writes Mrs. E. V. Carter, of Dansville. "It penetrated to the very core of the pain and eased my suffering in a few applications. I have used many rheumatism remedies, but none had the soothing, pain-subduing power of Polson's Nerviline, which I recommend very highly."

Mr. Thos. McGlashen, of North Pelham, Ont., was cured of muscular rheumatism by Nerviline and says: "I suffered all manner of pain for years, and Nerviline was the only thing that did me any good: I can recommend Nerviline for all forms of rheumatism; it goes right to the core of the pain and brings lasting relief. Let every sufferer from lame back, aching joints and swelled limbs use Nerviline."

There is no risk in using Nerviline, because nearly fifty years has proved its merit. Get a 25c bottle from any druggist.

Reporter Jumps Into the Allegheny River From a High Bridge.

Pittsburg, June 13.—Charles O'Donnell, a reporter on the Pittsburg Dispatch, and a brother of John O'Donnell, managing editor of the Dispatch, jumped off the Sixth street bridge into the Allegheny River at 3 o'clock this morning and was drowned.

In company with George Hart, Cree Horner and Daniel McMunnigle, newspaper men and Spanish war veterans of the Philippine campaign, O'Donnell started for Allegheny. When the party reached the center of the bridge some one dared O'Donnell to jump off. Taking off his coat and shoes he sprang over the rail. The river was about 70 feet below.

After he struck the water O'Donnell twice cried for help. Skiffs were procured but he had disappeared. The body has not been recovered.

A PAISLEY PIONEER GONE.

Paisley, Ont., June 14. — The rather sudden death of a respected citizen occurred yesterday in the person of Mr. T. Rowe. He was a pioneer of Paisley, and was on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. C. Michael, of Gravenhurst, when the summons came, as he was preparing for church. He was in his 80th year and had lived in Paisley for over 53 years, having settled here when it was a wilderness, being the second settler to navigate the Saugeen River and locate Paisley before it was surveyed.

of keeping General Kuroki's army in supplies of all kinds continues to be performed with excellent results, and is beyond criticism. The conduct of the Japanese soldiers is irreproachable and their spirits are high.

MORE MEN FOR KUROKI.

London, June 14. — A dispatch from Seoul says 20,000 men have been sent to reinforce Kuroki. He is still at Feng Wang Cheng, but has pushed his advance into the Motien Mountains.

A dispatch from Che Foo says: According to the captain of a Japanese cruiser blockading Port Arthur, the Russian cruiser Novik has been out of the harbor on several occasions hunting Japanese destroyers. The captain thought that the obstructions at the mouth of the harbor prevented the exit of the larger Russian vessels. According to the Japanese, the Russians have three submarine boats which presumably have been put together at Port Arthur since the beginning of the war.

The Tokio correspondent of the Standard says that the extension of the Korean railway to New Chwang is considered necessary for military purposes. The Nichi-Nichi, in discussing this question, thinks that such a link of the railway system will conduce to the promotion of the peaceful interests of foreign powers and that therefore there is no cause for any third party to object to its construction.

OUTPOST AFFAIRS.

St. Petersburg, June 13. — The general staff has received the following dispatch from Major-General Karkevitch, dated June 12: "There was no change on June 9, June 10 and June 11 in the position of the troops in the neighborhood of Vafangow Station, Liao Tung Peninsula. Small outpost skirmishes occur daily. The attempts of the Japanese to drive back our posts south of Wanfantien have been checked by the forward movement of our Cossacks. All is quiet on the western coast of Liao Tung. The enemy's ships appear from time to time, but do not approach near the coast. The Japanese have not advanced from Siu Yen. According to intelligence received they are entrenched there."

TOTAL RUSS LOSSES.

London, Tuesday, June 14. — The following official statement of Russian losses in the war has been issued at St. Petersburg: Navy, 44 officers and 920 men killed; 13 officers and 220 men wounded. Army, 36 officers and 980 men killed, 103 officers and 2,080 men wounded. Taken prisoners, 20 officers and 656 men. Total losses, 5,112.

RAN THE JAP LINES.

Liao Yang, June 14. — A Russian correspondent and two officers who escaped from Port Arthur, arrived here last night. They say that for four days they were crawling through the Japanese lines, the Japanese having picketed all roads at intervals of 50 yards. The fugitives traveled mostly at night and kept to the hills. They were greatly exhausted. They caught a hospital train leaving Vafandian, which also brought a number of men wounded in skirmishing along the railway. Most of the wounded are recovering rapidly. Many of them have been awarded the St. George's Cross. The refugees say that Port Arthur is well provisioned, the merchants having managed to get in large quantities of supplies before the railway was cut.

NOTHING OFFICIAL YET.

St. Petersburg, June 13. — No information reached the general staff today regarding the reported ambushing of Russians at Pu Lan Tien, as the result of which they were alleged to have lost 800 men. The only thing of the least significance in this section was the short dispatch received from Major-General Karkevitch, which was sent on June 12, the day the battle was alleged to have occurred. General Karkevitch does not mention the Pu Lan Tien fight, of which the authorities presume he would have heard had it occurred at the same time. His dispatch only covered events up to the preceding day. General news from the southern part of the Liao Tung Peninsula is of the scantiest, and in the absence of official news, the officials here are not inclined to speculate as to the situation. Up to a late hour tonight nothing further had been heard from Port Arthur.

WORK FOR THE FOREIGNER

Government Secures Employment for 6,000 Italians.

Ottawa, June 14. — W. L. King, Deputy Minister of Labor, after an inquiry to ascertain the circumstances under which a large number of Italian navvies were brought out to this country and thrown on the charity of their fellow-countrymen, is preparing a full report to the Government. He finds that of the 6,000 or 7,000 who were walking the streets of Montreal a few weeks ago, all have now obtained employment but about 800. Some were taken for railway work, some for corporation and other labor. The immigration department had nothing to do with bringing these Italians across. They were hired by employment agencies, and he finds that the headquarters of the movement was in Montreal. Mr. King's report will show all the terms imposed on the immigrants by the men who bring them out here. The deputy minister found that a great many more of the Italian newly-arrived navvies would have secured engagement with the C. P. R. but for the fact that the latter has taken on an unusual number of Galicians and other settlers in Western Canada who are in need of ready money.

"'TIS WELL TO KNOW A GOOD THING.—Said Mrs. Surface to Mrs. Know-well, when they met in the street: "Why, where have you been for a week back?" "Oh, just down to the store for a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil," and Mrs. Surface, who hates puns, walked on. But she remembered, and when she contracted a weak back there was another customer for Eclectric Oil.

John Mitchell, the president of the United Mine Workers, was talking one day about poor men and their troubles. "I remember," he said, "hearing two breaker boys once discuss socialism, reform and kindred topics. The smaller boy said: 'What is the thing that they call "division of labor?" Do you know?' 'Oh, yes, I know, all right,' said the other boy. 'Well, what is it?' said the first. 'Division of labor,' said the big boy, 'is like this. 'You are workin' hard with the sledgehammer. I come and say we'll have division of labor. You agree to that. Then, afterward, you keep bangin' away with the sledgehammer the same as before, only I go "ugh" for you now at each stroke.'"

The sovereign who reigns over the smallest monarchy in the world is the King of the Cocos, a group of islands near Sumatra. These islands were discovered about three hundred years ago by the captain of the Keeling, but were comparatively little known until 1825, when Mr. Ross, an Englishman, visited them, was struck by their beauty, and took up his abode there. It is his grandson, M. George Reiss, who now holds sway over the Cocos.

LICKED THE STAMPS

And as a Result the Postmistress Lost Part of Her Tongue.

Derby, Conn., June 14.—Licking postage stamps has cost Miss Myra Sylvernale, assistant postmaster in Norfolk, part of her tongue. A few weeks ago Miss Sylvernale's tongue began to swell, and physicians diagnosed the trouble as blood poisoning, due to the mucilage on the stamps.

Miss Sylvernale went to the Hartford Hospital, where an operation for the removal of nearly half of her tongue was performed yesterday.

The young woman is expected to recover, but there will be an impediment in her speech.

A WARNING

Testimonial Fakirs Are at Work Throughout the Country.

Messrs. Edmanson, Bates & Co., proprietors of Dr. Chase's family medicines, desire to warn the readers of this paper against having anything to do with these fakirs, as they positively refuse to accept any testimonials except directly from persons who have actually used their medicines.

This warning is made necessary on account of recent disclosures in Toronto and other cities where these parties are at work. Though the police authorities made an effort to put a stop to this fraud some days ago, it is still going on, and thoughtless persons are being induced, by the offer of a dozen free photographs, to sign fraudulent statements about medicines almost, if not entirely, unknown to them.

Every testimonial, and every photograph used in reference to Dr. Chase's remedies is backed by a $500.00 guarantee that it is genuine.

The original, signed letters of persons recommending Dr. Chase's medicines are kept on file at the offices of Edmanson, Bates & Co., and will be cheefully shown to anyone who doubts the truthfulness and accuracy of any published testimonial. You are also invited to call on the person whose name appears in the testimonial whenever possible.

As a matter of fact, so many people are ready and willing to certify to the merits of Dr. Chase's medicines that it is quite unnecessary to employ persons to solicit testimonials.

Day by day letters are pouring in direct from persons who have been freed from sickness, disease and suffering, and who, as a result, write with a heart full of gratitude for the benefits obtained from these great medicines.

Yesterday's Balloon Ascension

Yesterday's balloon ascension in this city was a decided success, and, judging by the crowd which assembled, the interest in these events increases. The preliminaries were watched with intense interest, and as the intrepid Prof. Stewart left terra firma everybody cheered.

The number of people present to witness the death-defying drop from the clouds is estimated at 14,000.

At 7 p.m. Prof. Belmont, who supervised the ascension, shouted the traditional "let go," and the huge balloon shot towards the skies with the aeronaut clinging to the parachute.

After rising 4,000 feet in the air, the parachute cut away from the balloon, and was seen darting through space. The landing was effected a few minutes later without any accident.

On the balloon could be read the following: "Chew Stag plug tobacco and save the snowshoe tags for valuable presents." The snowshoe tags referred to are found on every plug of tobacco manufactured by the Empire Tobacco Company, who redeem them with valuable presents. Their premium department in Toronto is situated at 167 Yonge street, where a full display can be seen of the premiums offered in return nfor snowshoe tags.

THAMESFORD.

Thamesford, June 13. — The past week, especially the early part of it, was very wet, and as a consequence the corn crop will only be a partial one. Many are plowing it up and sowing millet or Hungarian grass. The wise ones say that it was the winter that killed the germ of the corn, and that along with the cold, wet spring consummated a failure.

EVERY SOO PLANT TO BE STARTED

Complete and Immediate Restoration of the Giant Industry.

Toronto, June 14.—It is stated that F. H. Clergue will not be given any responsible position in connection with the management of the industries at Sault Ste. Marie. It is learned that the resumption of work at the Sault is now an absolute certainty and that the preparatory details in connection therewith are now in the hands of the new executive. One matter to be decided is the appointment of a general manager. An announcement in this regard may be expected any day. C. D. Warren, the newly-elected president of the Lake Superior Corporation, who attended the organization meeting of the company in New York last week, has returned to the city. In answer to the question this morning Mr. Warren said that with the exception of a few formal matters which required to be adjusted, the way was absolutely clear to the resumption of operations at the Soo. The claims of the various creditors in Ontario had all been satisfactorily settled. Most of these creditors, he added, had entered the underwriting syndicate, in the belief that they would realize not only the full amount of their claims, but a profit as well. The new company would start. Mr. Warren announced, with a total working capital of $4,000,000, $1,000,000 in cash, $1,500,000 in liquid assets, and $1,500,000 of first mortgage bonds in the treasury.

Mr. Warren said that no decision would be reached as to who would be the general manager of the company until the executive committee visited the works at the Soo and looked over the grounds, probably about the end of the week, or early next week. The head office of the company, Mr. Warren said, would in all probability be located in Toronto, although this had not been definitely decided upon yet.

Referring to the resumption of operations he said that every plant would be started. The first attention would be given to placing the steel rail mill in order, and the company would be manufacturing finished rails at an early date. He intimated that the management had some large orders in view, but no contracts had been entered into as yet.

SORROW IN CAMP ON THE HEIGHTS

Senior Bandmaster Zellar's Young Son Drowned in the Grand River.

Senior Bandmaster Zellar, at the Carling Heights camp, who is in command of the Twenty-ninth Regiment Band, received the sad intelligence last evening, that his 15-year-old son, Ernest Zellar, was drowned in the Grand River at Berlin. The boy's elder brother Julius was also at camp, and to both father and brother the news was a terrible shock. They left for home at the earliest opportunity.

The accident occurred as a result of the boy attempting to swim in water beyond his depth. The dispatch stated that he was in swimming with some other boys at a place where the water was about fifteen feet deep. The companion of the drowned boy swam across the stream, and young Zellar, thinking he could do the same, made the attempt, although warned not to do so. He could get no farther than half-way across, when his companion went to his assistance. But the efforts of the other boy were not availing, being forced finally to let go of Zellar, as the latter was pulling him down.

The accident was witnessed by people who were unable to render any assistance.

FIRST HUSSARS OFF TO NIAGARA

Squadrons "A" and "B" Entrained by the M. C. R. and Left for Camp.

The First Hussars are off to Niagara-on-the-Lake. This morning squadrons A and B entrained at the M. C. R. freight sheds and left for the camp, to join the Kingsville and Leamington squadrons at St. Thomas.

Col. Gartshore, who has been appointed to the staff at Niagara, as brigadier, and Col. King, commanding the First Hussars, left yesterday for the front, an advance guard going also.

This morning the M. C. R. were ready and waiting for the mounted soldiers, who arrived at 10:30. As quickly as possible they were entrained.

"A" Squadron did not arrive with "B" Squadron, so the latter was loaded first. Altogether there were nine horse cars and five coaches. The horses were on the whole a creditable bunch. More than half of "B" Squadron horses were first-class, and the most or all of "A" squadron horses are excellent steeds.

"A" Squadron is under the command of Major Abbott, whose officers are Lieuts. Garvey, Dinnon, Leonard, Jordan, Turville and Bryce (of Watford). The squadron is full complement. 72 men, all of whom are drawn from London except nine from Watford. The officers of "B" Squadron are Major McCombe, commanding; Captain Gilson, Lieuts. Wallace and Brown, with 60 men drawn from the county.

Rev. J. G. Stuart, chaplain of the regiment, accompanied the two squadrons to camp today.

The Layborn cup, which has been in the possession of "A" Squadron was

H. C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, June 14—Noon.—There has not ben very much activity in the market this morning, and with the exception of one or two stocks there is nothing of special interest. The feature of the trading is without doubt the strength of Manhattan, which has advanced sharply on limited trading. The buying in that quarter is excellent. It is said that both Manhattan and Inter-Borough will be listed within a short time on the London Exchange. During the second hour St. Paul has shown considerable strength, although in the first hour it eased off under selling for London. Steel, preferred, and Reading have been steady. All the tractions benefited by the advance in Manhattan and both Metropolitan and Brooklyn Rapid Transit are strong. The market is quiet. The New York Central debentures have been over-subscribed. Sales to noon, 113,500.

TORONTO JUNCTION.

Toronto Junction, June 13—The briskness of the market at the Union Stock Yards this morning was somewhat out of the ordinary. The buyers were on the market very early, and the first sale was made fifteen minutes after midnight. At 3 o'clock in the morning all were sold except three loads, belonging to Mr. Scott, of Brampton, who did not arrive until about 8 o'clock, and shortly afterwards these were sold.

There was a dispute over the first sale of two loads, which cannot be settled, as one said they were sold at 12:15 and another at 12:16, and the only way they account for the difference is in the watches.

The receipts amounted to 49 cars—969 cattle, 15 sheep, 15 calves, 6 hogs. All being first-class, the prices steadily advanced.

C. Snell & Co. purchased 5 loads of butchers and exporters, paying for the former $4 50 to $5 and the latter $4 75 to $5. A. McIntosh bought 3 loads of exporters. W. B. Levack bought the 15 sheep, paying 4c, and 15 for $7 apiece. Wm. Other buyers were: W. J. McLelland, 70 best butchers; J. Rountree, 11 butchers and exporters; J. Collins, 12 butchers.

Cattle were a little scarce today, especially butchers. Prices were good and steady.

QUITS SOCIETY

Lady De Grey Grieving Over the Death of Herbert.

London, June 14. — London society has suddenly lost one of its most beautiful and most charming figures. Lady de Grey has withdrawn into complete retirement from the giddy whirl. She has taken no interest in society since the death of her brother, Sir Michael Herbert, late British ambassador at Washington. She lives all the time at her beautiful house at Coombe, near London, a prey to melancholy, from which all the efforts of her friends and family have failed to rouse her.

For years she has been one of the acknowledged social leaders, not only of English, but of the highest French society. She is a great personal favorite of Queen Alexandra, in whose court she holds a high position. Mainly to her musical enthusiasm, indomitable energy and cleverness are due the revival of Italian opera in London. She is persona gratissima with all the great operatic artists, and her unparalleled charm of manner and winning ways have smoothed many a difficulty which to a mere man might have been insurmountable.

Lady de Grey married first the late Earl of Lonsdale, with whom she had a most unhappy time. By him she had one daughter, Lady Juliet Lowther, who last year married Robert Duff, of the Life Guards, a future millionaire.

TO RAISE THE CANADA.

Montreal, June 14. — A meeting of the directors of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company was held this morning, at which, as the result of the recent report of a marine expert who visited the wreck and made a careful examination, it was decided to call for tenders for the raising of the sunken steamer Canada.

The Japanese sword is usually wielded with both hands. The cutting plays a much larger part in their sword play than the thrust and point. They also fence with two swords at once, the long, two-handed weapon being held in the right hand, while the left uses the shorter and lighter blade. The fencer stands with his right foot forward and his sword held in both hands directly in front of him, its hilt at about the level of his waist, its point being at nearly the level of his opponent's eyes.

GENERAL SESSIONS OF PEACE OPENED

Judge Elliott Outlines Cases to Grand Jury—Civil List Taken Up.

The attendance at the opening session of the county court and general session of the peace this afternoon before Judge Edward Elliott was very small, owing, no doubt, to the unimportant nature of the cases.

The three criminal cases on the docket were presented to the grand jury by the judge. The first was that of Francis Chantler, charged with receiving stolen cattle. The other two were those of Wm. Winslow, charged with forgery, and Thomas F. McCarthy, charged with theft at Fort William.

The first civil case taken up was that of McFarlane vs. Gillies, in which the plaintiff claims damages of $200 for trespass.

The names of the grand jurors are as follows: James McRoberts, Caradoc; Donald Dewar, Metcalfe; George E. Campbell, London; James Stanley, Lucan; Daniel A. Steele, Ekfrid; James McFarlane, London Township; Joseph Grant, Biddulph; Alex S. McDonald, Ekfrid; John Callard, London; William Laidlaw, Westminster; John I. Wilson, Parkhill; Roger Dewar, West Nissouri.

Mr. John Callard, of this city, was chosen foreman.

CITY WILL LOOK TO OTTAWA FOR PAY

Militia Authorities Expected to Foot Bill of the Smallpox Patient.

At the least possible calculation, each smallpox patient costs the city in the neighborhood of $600. This was the city's expense in the case of the man who came from the Michigan lumber woods loaded with smallpox last winter, and who was a charge upon the city for a couple of months. In this particular case the city sought to have the Dominion Government pay the cost of taking care of the patient, on the ground that the officers at Port Huron had been negligent in permitting a man with smallpox to cross the international boundary; but the Government did not see it in this light, and refused to pay the bill.

Now, however, the city has a case of smallpox on its hands which it feels the Government will be compelled to pay for. This is the man Craig who come here to camp with the Twenty-eighth Regiment, and who later developed smallpox, and is now in the hospital tent down the river. At the next meeting of the board of health it is proposed to communicate with the militia authorities, with a view to having the Government recompense the city for Craig's care.

A report was in circulation about town today that two more cases of smallpox had developed, but Dr. Hutchinson gave an emphatic denial to the report. Craig is said to be on the road to recovery.

GOOD HEADWAY IS BEING MADE

Grading of Grand Trunk Completed as Far East as Ingersoll—Widening Bridges.

The grading of the Grand Trunk for the double track between London and Paris has been making exceptional headway during the past few days, no delays being occasioned by unfavorable weather. The work is practically completed from London to Ingersoll, while east of that place as far as Paris there are a number of stretches ready for the laying of the rails and ties. The latter work, however, has not been commenced, and may not be until the greater part of the roadbed is in readiness for the track. East of Paris as far as Hamilton, there are a number of gangs of men at work, and they are doing as well as they are on the western section. The great difficulty in the way of the contractors on the east end is the cutting down of the grade at Copetown. This will be reduced many feet, as will also the hill to the east of Woodstock, between that city and Eastwood. The reduction of these two grades will mean the removal of two of the greatest obstructions to train operating on the line of the Grand Trunk between Sarnia and the Falls.

Several large bridges have had to be widened to make room for the second track. One of these is at Waubuno, a few miles east of this city. The stonework has been completed, and the steelwork required is now on the spot, which means that with anything like good weather not a great many days will elapse before the bridge is ready for the track.

SAVORS OF INTERFERENCE

London Newspaper Says Dundonald's Action Was Out of Place.

London, June 15. — The Westminster Gazette says: It may be that Canada would be all the better for dragooning. It may be the case that the militia officers of Canada are to often, like the magistrates of this country, appointed for their politics rather than their merits; but the way to get matters straight is not to do as Lord Dundonald has done. His action savors of interference, which all the colonies, rightly or wrongly, resent and will not tolerate.

WANSTEAD WRECK RECALLED

Two Women Claim To Be Widows of Same Man—Decision Reserved.

In the divisional court at Toronto yesterday, the case of Morton vs. the Grand Trunk Railway received some attention. The cases arise from the wreck on the Grand Trunk at Wanstead a year ago last December, both actions being brought by two persons who claim to be the widows of Wilson Morton, one of the victims of the wreck. The defendants claim that the actions should not be allowed to be tried concurrently, and the court reserved judgment. Mrs. Morton No. 1 alleges that she is rightfully entitled to the damages, as the deceased had not secured a legal divorce from her before he married the second time.

RUSSO-JAP WAR HELPS THE WEST

Large Quantities of Flour Being Shipped Daily to the Orient.

Dr. McGugan, a former Londoner, and now mayor of Vancouver, was a caller at the city hall today. He was met there by a large number of local physicians, with all of whom he appeared to be a great favorite. The doctor has come east on a business trip to Ottawa, and took advantage of a couple of off-days to visit London.

Business is booming in the west, the doctor says, and prospects were never brighter.

The Russo-Jap war is helping British Columbia just now, for immense quantities of flour are being shipped to the Orient by each steamer.

As regards the Grand Trunk Pacific, the doctor says it will be sure to prove a good thing for the west, though, of course, the people of British Columbia would rather see the terminal further south than Port Simpson.

Dr. McGuigan says also that while the people of Ontario waded through three and four feet of snow all winter, the people of Vancouver scarcely saw a snowfall. The weather being mild and comparatively fine all through the winter

HAS A PENCHANT FOR PECULATION

Joe Planse at It Again—Stole $10 and a Ring—Confessed and Made Restitution.

At the police court this morning a young man named Joseph Planse was charged with stealing $10 and a ring from Ernest Norton, of 421 Ridout street.

Norton and Planse boarded in the same house, and on May 6, while Norton was at work, Planse entered his room and took the money and ring. Then Planse went to Detroit, where he remained until a week or ten days ago, when he returned.

On being arraigned in the police court, Planse pleaded guilty, and was alowed to go on suspended sentence, restitution being made to Norton.

This is not the first offense for Joe by any means. Since he was of very tender years he has periodically shown a strong attachment for other people's valuables, and has many times found himself in the cells as a result. But there is this good feature about him. No matter how often he is arrested, no matter how much or how little he steals, he has never failed to admit his guilt, and also to tell the police magistrate everything. He has never been known to try to deceive the officers.

This, no doubt, had much to do with his once more being released on suspended sentence.

LORD DUNDONALD REACHES LONDON

General Officer Commanding at the Camp—His Case Much Discussed.

Lord Dundonald arrived in the city this morning, but whether his visit is to be an official one or not is not known. It is understood that he wired the headquarters here that he would not require anyone to meet him at the depot, so no escort was sent. He and Capt. Newton, his aide-de-camp, however, drove to the residence of Mr. Geo. B. Harris, on Ridout street, where they were entertained at luncheon at 1 o'clock. There is some doubt as to whether Lord Dundonald intends to review the troops on Carling's Heights or not. It is considered by some that he will not, as he also notified the headquarters staff here that he would not require horse accommodation while here.

No plans had been made by the commandant at 3 o'clock.

The Dundonald case has been one of the most engrossing topics ever discussed in camp, and many are the expressions of opinion. Last evening, it is said, there was quite a warm time in one of the officer's tents, where officers of several regiments had gathered. A number sided with the G. O. C., but many agrede that he was in the wrong, the majority admitting that he had made a great mistake. Even the men are talking of the case, and all were anxious today as to the outcome of the cabinet meeting.

Today's orders were made out irrespective of what the G. O. C. might want, but on learning that he would be here, a delay in the issue of the orders was made. Brigade drill was called for this morning, and the new Dundonald drill was gone through in brigades, instead of in sections, as has been tried previously at the camp.

Tomorrow the Thirty-second and Twenty-second Regiments are ordered to march to the cove ranges for musketry instruction.

Major Meredith, commanding the Ottawa Field Engineers, has been attached to the divisional staff.

Leave of absence has been granted the following officers: Major Holmes, of the Thirty-third Regiment; Major Craig, of the Thirtieth; Capt. Burritt, of the Twenty-eighth; Surgeon-Major Capt. Berdan, of the Twenty-sixth, and Lieut. A. E. Elliott, of the Twenty-sixth.

Lieut.-Col. McQueen is in Woodstock today consulting with the medical health officer regarding the matter of quarantining the Twenty-second Oxford Rifles before they are allowed to return home.

The subscription list for the sports on Friday are meeting with a ready response from the citizens. A committee is working on the list of sports, and it will no doubt be a great day for the soldiers in camp. The sports are to be under the patronage of the D. O. C. and divisional staff, and of the commanding officers. Besides races and all kinds of sports the Indians are expected to give a war dance, and in the evening there will be a grand military tattoo.

This morning the Twenty-sixth Regiment court-martial was held. Two members of one company were brought up on a charge of stealing clothing belonging to their comrades and selling them. It is said that a keeper of a canteen is involved, and that there will be trouble for him. The prisoners will likely be handed over to the civic authorities at once.

HUMBERTS AT WORK

Family That Juggled Mythical Millions Now Earn a Few Centimes.

Paris, June 14. — After juggling with mythical millions, the Humberts, those prestidigitateurs of finance, are poor indeed.

Therese Humbert is only "No. 3,410" in the penitentiary at Rennes. Instead of the old satins and laces, she wears at this season a striped cotton skirt, a checked waist, a blue fichu, white apron and false sleeves. She who was most luxurious must arise at 5, be at work at 6 and eat a scanty breakfast at 8. The woman who squandered fortunes is engaged at packing collars and cuffs, for which she is paid 10 cents a day.

Mme. Humbert goes to mass, and is very docile and respectful. She has made friends with many of her companions, and tells them she will not be in prison long.

Her brothers are immured at Poissy. Romain Daurignac, it appears, was at first put to work at bookkeeping, as being an employment most likely to suit an ex-financier. But, strange to say, he proved hopelessly incompetent, and now he makes little wooden pegs, turning out about 1,200 a day and earning thirty-six cents thereby. Twenty cents of that sum the prison authorities keep. The remainder provides the prisoner with a few luxuries. Romain still keeps up his old good spirits.

Not so Emile Daurignac. He is sulky and despondent. He is looking forward to a sojourn in the infirmary. Emile is constructing cabinets, although the Humberts came near destroying one cabinet.

IN "PIE ALLEY"

Hetty Green Lunched With the Newsboys of Boston.

Boston, June 14. — Hetty Green paid Boston one of her periodical visits last week. A great part of the time she was down on the south shore where she intends, it is said, to pass the summer. But she was in town yesterday, and, as is her custom, she lunched in the newsboys' restaurant in "Pie" alley.

After she had gone and when the small crowd which had gathered about to see the richest woman in the world had dispersed the proprietor confided to an inquiring reporter that Hetty's menu had cost her just 8 cents. Buttered toast, 3 cents; tea, 2 cents; apple pie, 3 cents; total, 8 cents, comprised her bill of fare.

FIGHTING FOR A NAME.

"Hum—then you have come to your senses sufficiently to own your sins," was the evasive reply. "Where have you been all these years?"

"In that land where numberless other scoundrels seek an asylum—Australia. But you don't appear to be very glad to see me, Uncle Ben."

"No, I'm not," was the blunt and unequivocal retort.

"That is very encouraging to a returned prodigal," said Richard Heatherton, bitterly, and flushing hotly.

"Prodigal; yes, I guess that's about the right term to apply to yourself," Mr. Lawson grimly responded. "But why have you allowed us to believe you were dead all these years? What could be your object?"

The man flushed again, and seemed undecided what answer to make to this question; but after a moment he replied:

"You all renounced—discarded me, you know, and there was nothing left to me but to clear out and try to take care of No. 1; so I thought the farther away I went the better."

"Then it was all a lie—your dying aboard that vessel?"

"Yes. I may as well admit that it was only a story intended to cover my tracks more effectually. There was a death however, on board the vessel in which I sailed—a man who shared my stateroom, and who, having lost both wife and children, had no ties in this country, and had turned his back upon it in the hope of being able to forget amid new scenes the grief that was breaking his heart. He was taken suddenly ill the second day out, and from the first day the ship's surgeon said he could not live. I resolved that I would let him be taken for me. I had broken away from everyone—no one cared for me, or would mourn for me—indeed, I thought it would be a relief to you all to believe me dead. This man was delirious from the first, so he was unable to contradict any statement which I might make. I assisted in the care of him—spoke of him as 'Heatherton'; the surgeon and steward appeared not to suspect anything wrong, and thus it was easy to carry out the deception. When the man died the certificate was filled out with my name, the death was so recorded in the ship's log-books, while I was believed to be he, and addressed by the name which he had borne, consequently your worthless nephew, to all intents and purposes, passed out of existence."

"What was your object in returning to existence?" Mr. Lawson pertinently demanded, as his companion paused. "Perhaps you imagined that it was time your uncle had passed in his checks, and possibly you might find a fortune awaiting your return."

Richard Heatherton flushed hotly—a deep, conscious red suffusing cheek, neck and brow, while an angry oath leaped to his lips, although it was instantly checked.

"Truly, Uncle Ben, this is a sorry welcome with which to greet a man who has been a wanderer for more than twenty years," he remarked in an injured tone; then, added, with well-assumed regret, "I perceive that you cannot forgive the extravagance of which I was guilty in my youth."

"Extravagance! If that was the worst of your sins, we might perhaps talk about forgiveness," the old man retorted, a vindictive gleam in his eye, as he thought of the wrongs of the gentle woman who had so faithfully presided in his home during the last few years—as he thought of the bright manly fellow who had been obliged to fight his own way in the world when he should have been surrounded by the care and protection of his father."

"The worst of my sins!" repeated his nephew, "I am not conscious of having done you any other wrong than that of leaving some rather heavy bills for you to settle, when I so unceremoniously left the country."

"Your wrong against me is the least of your guilt," was the stern rejoinder.

"You deal in enigmas. What can you mean, Uncle Ben?"

"It is useles for you to feign ignorance, for I know, though you may think I do not, how you wronged and deserted a beautiful young girl—"

"Ha! What—how—"

Richard Heatherton staggered as if his uncle had struck him in the face, as he uttered these surprised exclamations.

"What do I mean? What do I know?" severely questioned his accuser. "I know enough to condemn you as a most heartless rascal—as a selfish, soulless scamp, bent only upon the gratification of his own desire—enough to brand you as worse than a Cain, the mark of whom should be stamped upon your brow, so that every good and true man and woman might know you for what you are, and despise you accordingly—"

"This is rather harsh language, isn't it, Uncle Ben?" the man interposed, a frown of anger contracting his brows. "All young men have their wild oats to sow, you know, and I have been no worse than hundreds of others—"

"I have no patience with that senseless adage," cried Mr. Lawson testily. "The Book of Wisdom, and all nature, also, teaches that 'whatsoever a man sows, that will he reap.' All this talk about 'sowing wild oats,' as if it were something to be expected and condoned in young men, exasperates me beyond endurance; especially when, on the other hand, a young woman cannot be guilty of the slightest indiscretion without being branded for all time. You have sown your 'wild oats,' Richard Heatherton—they have grown to maturity, and there will be an abundant harvest for you to reap, to your sorrow."

"I suppose you mean by that—" began Heatherton.

"I mean," interrupted his companion, "that the wrong which you did that young girl is going to rebound upon yourself."

"What do you know of Miriam Wallingford?" demanded his nephew.

"I know that no nobler woman lives than Miriam Wallingford Heatherton."

"Ha! Why do you call her that.

"Why? Did you not marry her?"

"Ha, ha! Who's been trying to sell you now, old man?" cried Richard Heatherton mockingly. "That ceremony was but a farce—one of my 'wild oats,' if you please. Where did the girl find you to appeal to you and fill your ears with such a tale as that?"

"Miriam Heatherton is too proud a woman to appeal to anyone," Benjamin Lawson sternly replied. "But your 'farce,' as you call it, was no farce. That 'wild oat,' as you are pleased to term it, has brought forth better than you know, for Miriam Wallingford was made your legal wife, and has the papers to prove it."

"You lie!" cried Richard Heatherton, so fiercely and with such a startled look that Mr. Lawson involuntarily recoiled.

"I do not lie," he quietly returned, after a moment. "The man who performed the ceremony, which you regarded as a farce, was a regularly ordained clergyman——"

"I don't believe it," Richard Heatherton burst forth, excitedly.

"Believe it or not, it is a fact. The name of the man was Harris—he had been settled over a small country parish only a short time previous. Your friend, Mathews, suspected your game and balked it. He has since become a doctor of divinity and now occupies a prominent pulpit in Chicago. He neglected to give you the certificate that night—he could never learn your address afterward to send it to you; but he did sent it, later, to the girl whom you tried to wrong, and it is now in her possession to prove that she is your legal wife——"

"Great heaven!"

The cry was full of horror and agony.

"And Edward Wallingford Heatherton is your legitimate child!" Mr. Lawson concluded, without heeding the interruption.

"Ha! What are you telling me?" cried the man in a tone that would have been a scream of intense excitement, had not terror deprived him of his voice, while his eyes seemed almost to start from his head and a shudder shook him from head to foot. "I don't believe it, I tell you—I will not believe it!"

"Facts are facts," laconically observed Mr. Lawson.

A groan of anguish burst from the other man's lips; he appeared to be utterly unnerved by what he had heard.

"It can't be true! Heavens! I will not have it so!" he muttered, shivering as with a sudden chill. Then he cried eagerly: "Where is she—this woman who has lied to you so?"

EMSLIE IS NOT AFRAID OF RAIN

Robert D. Emslie, the one umpire "not afraid of the rain," has been umpiring for sixteen years, says a Pittsburg exchange. Of this number thirteen have been in the employ of the National League. Mr. Emslie is a native of Guelph, Ont., but has made his home in St. Thomas for many years. He first learned to play ball in London with the Atlantic Club, of that place, and afterward played with the champion Harrison Browns. He then went to St. Thomas, and for many years played with the fast aggregation of local ball-tossers known as the Atlantics. In those days Emslie was one of the best amateur pitchers in Canada, as any of those players who batted against his curves can testify. In 1884 he started out as a professional pitcher, joining the Merrit Club, of Camden, N. J., which was then in the Interstate League. He showed up so well with that club that the same year he was sold to the Baltimore Club of the American Association, where he remained until July, 1886. A bad arm was responsible for his release at this time, but after a few weeks' rest he joined the Syracuse Club, where he finished the season, winning the New York State League championship for that club. All of the year following Mr. Emslie was a member of the Toronto International League team, and in 1888, being again troubled with his arm, he went to Savannah, Ga., in the hope that the warm climate would bring his "wing" back to life again, but that club disbanded in June and he came home. On July 1 he took up umpiring in the International League. Here he remained until the close of the season of 1889 and in the following year umpired in the American Association.

PREHISTORIC CLAIM OF THE BROOKLYN CLUB

Nothing more ridiculous has happened in the history or on the records of "organized baseball" since its establishment than the claim made to the National commission last week by the Broklyn club for the sum of $1,500 from the Milwaukee club for two players, John Anderson and Dave Fultz, now of the New York American League team. This claim of Ebbets' dates so far back that everyone else had forgotten the Brooklyn club ever had any claim to the two players named, and few recall that they were ever with the Milwaukee team. The Milwaukee American League club, to which Anderson and Fultz belonged, has been out of existence for several years, and the man who owned it is dead. The franchise was transferred to St. Louis in the fall of 1901. The present Milwaukee American Association club is a different organization, with different owners and in a different circuit. Fultz went to the Philadelphia Athletics along with Manager Mack. Anderson went to St. Louis, and after over three years both find themselves on the same team again.

ATHLETICS.

BEAT A RECORD.

St. Louis, Mo., June 11. — In one of the most remarkable meets in the history of western colleges, the Indiana University won the western collegiate athletic championship today at the stadium. In the 120-yard high hurdle T. Shideler, of Indiana University, beat the world's record of 15 1-5 seconds by one-fifth of a second, but as there were only two official timers, the time made by Shideler will not be officially recognized as a new record.

DELMAR TO TRY FOR A RECORD AT BUFFALO

Buffalo light harness enthusiasts will probably have a chance to see at least one attempt to break a world's record during the Grand Circuit meeting in that city during the first week in August, for Major Delmar, 1:59¾, will, it is quite likely, start to beat the world's record for trotting geldings to wagon. E. E. Smathers, the owner of Major Delmar, signed a contract to exhibit the champion gelding during the Buffalo meeting some weeks ago. Whether he will send him to beat his own record to sulky or drive him to beat the gelding record to wagon was left for the New York turfman to decide, but as he is most anxious to capture the latter record with his great gelding, it is likely that he will decide to drive Delmar to wagon in his Buffalo exhibition. It is no secret that Mr. Smathers believes Major Delmar will trot in 2:03 or better to wagon this season, and if it is decided to start him in this hitch at Buffalo he will make a supreme effort to drive him to his limit on that occasion. If, on the other hand, Mr. Smathers decides to start his great gelding to sulky to beat his record of 1:59¾, that will be evidence that he will be in shape to do himself justice. In either event Buffalo racegoers will be rarely entertained by the champion gelding's exhibition.

BASEBALL.

Old Canadian League players are holding their own in the far west. A number of them are in the Pacific Coast League, and of them the following have .250 or better to their credit, in the batting column: Sheehan, .336; Mohler, .318; Francks, .264. The Oakland, Cal., team, of which Pete Lohman is manager, has seven men with an average better than .250.

METHODISTS HAVE BASEBALL LEAGUE

Formally Opened On Saturday at Cove Diamond—Dundas and First Churches Won.

The Methodist Baseball League was formally opened on Saturday afternoon on the cove diamond, when the No. 8 Club of Dundas Street Center Church defeated a nine from the Colborne Street Church, and the Victorias, of the First Methodist Church, defeated the Askin Street boys.

Just before commencing play, Mr. A. E. Barbour, president of the league, called all the players together, and asked the Rev. C. T. Scott to address them.

Mr. Scott spoke of the benefits of sport in general, pointed out that the object of a game of this kind was not so much to win as to develop both mind and body. He thought that self-control was perhaps better developed by sport than in any other way, and he said he hoped the boys would learn, among other things, not only to graciously and generously suffer defeat, but also to accept victory with a true humility.

He wished the boys every success, and urged them to play a manly and Christian game, saying that if they would keep their sport clean and up to the highest standard, he felt satisfied that before the close of the season they would find out themselves, and they would convince others as well, that a good game of baseball, when properly played, and in its proper place, could be placed side by side with the prayer-meeting as a means for the development of true character.

The No. 8 Club then took the field. Mr. Scott threw the first ball and the game was on. The sample of ball put up was of the first-class amateur variety, with an occasional play verging pretty near the semi-professional. The feature of the first game was, perhaps, the battery work of Skinner and Wood, for No. 8 Club, Skinner being credited with no less than 14 strike-outs in the seven innings. At the close of the game the score card read as follows:

	R.	H.	E.
No. 8 Club	11	8	5
Colbornes	6	5	7

The First Methodist team then took the field, and after a most exciting and hard-fought battle succeeded in defeating the Askin Street team by a score of 9 to 8.

The whole four teams appear to be very evenly matched, and if the teams put in by the other Methodist churches in the city are of about the same caliber a very pretty and exciting race may be expected.

TROUBLE BREWING IN THE NATIONAL

Other Clubs Have Been "Knocking" Pittsburg—Dryfuss Declares Himself.

There is serious trouble brewing between Pittsburg and the rest of the National League. The other magnates do not like Pittsburg's dealings with the American League in the matter of players, but Dreyfuss does not care what is liked by his former alleged friends, and has told them very plainly that he will do just as he pleases, and if the National League does not like it it can lump the balance. Time was when Dreyfuss would not deal with the American League in any way, but the knowledge has been forced on him that those whom he befriended in the National League have this year thrown him down, and he has announced that he will take care of himself. He has tired of being a cat's paw for the National.

The fact is evident that every other team in the National League is doing its best to prevent Dreyfuss from winning his fourth straight pennant. "Sell no players to Pittsburg" has been the cry of every magnate in the National League. There have been deals proposed and offers made by Dreyfuss to club owners who have men of whom they wish to be shed, but the fear that Pittsburg would be strengthened has made the club owners stand aloof. There are good pitchers in the National League for sale, and Pittsburg will pay big money for them, but they cannot be bought by Dreyfuss for Pittsburg cannot be allowed to strengthen if it is possible to keep her down.

This move against Pittsburg began before the season was opened, when a certain club in the National League was approached by Dreyfuss, who had a trade in view. The trade would have made Pittsburg very formidable, but the other league magnates announced plainly that they would not consent to the deal whereby a fast man should come to Pittsburg. Then it was that Dreyfuss declared himself, and said he would go to the American League for his men and would win that pennant if he had to buy the entire American League to do so.

STEERAGE LIFE ON OCEAN LINER

Emigrants Never Before Saw Such Cleanliness as They Are Obliged to Practice.

New York, June 14. — W. A. Bennett, the well-known correspondent of the London Daily Mail, arrived in this city today on the steamer Potsdam. On the way over Mr. Bennett made a particular study of the conditions and treatment of emigrants on the ship. He finds a great contrast between the accommodations enjoyed now and those to which voyagers of this class were subjected a quarter of a century ago. He says:

"A quarter of a century ago emigrants to America were brought across in ships herded together like cattle. Today's steerage passengers have smoking rooms, music rooms, bath, sleeping accommodations and far better food than they have been accustomed to at home. The Holland-American Company have a large hotel for emigrants on Wilhelminakade, Rotterdam. One of its curiosities is a huge bedstead capable of sleeping 36 persons.

"The day we sailed 757 men, women and children came aboard at Rotterdam. Every one carried his own luggage on head, back or in hand. Nearly all the single men were placed in the bow of the boat and the married couples and unattached women in the stern. The quarters below were roomy, if not luxurious, the bunks being arranged in each cabin in fours. Every bunk contained a straw mattress, pillows and blanket.

"All emigrants had to be up by 5 o'clock in the morning and breakfast immediately followed. Meals were partaken of at long trestle tables, placed outside the cabin doors. Very few were particular about washing prior to breakfast and nearly all wore their hats and overcoats during the meal. The food was brought round in huge puns by Dutch stewards, and each immigrant helped himself. The cleanliness of the stewards and their efforts to induce a naturally dirty people to become partial to soap and water was remarkable. Every morning the decks and cabins were scoured thoroughly, but after the very next meal the steerage section was full of filth.

"We had an American in the steerage. He was a "hard luck story" with a vengeance, and on investigation was found to be absolutley true. J. Leo Hover was born in San Francisco 23 years ago. He received a college education, but three years ago a financial crisis suddenly made him both penniless and friendless. Before the voyage was half over J. Leo Hover had become assistant to Mr. D. H. Bos, the purser of the Potsdam.

"There were Hebrews of 18 different nationalities on board. By far the majority of them were tailors and regarded North America as a land of promise for their endeavors. The Russians to a man were deserters from the Czar's army. Pumpkin seed was served out to the children, and a variation of this was coarse black cake that had been soaked in water.

"The day after the boat sailed all in the steerage were vaccinated. Several sucked the lymph from each other's arms, thus neutralizing its effect. Many creature comforts were to be had in the steerage. Altogether, it was a wonderful $9 60 worth, and, Ellis Island reached, the emigrants were never in better health in their lives. Certainly many of them had never lived so cleanly or so well before."

A BIG FAMILY.

New names have to be designed every year to accommodate the Disease Family, but they all revolve around one cause—The Stomach.

The receptacle of all you eat or drink cannot help but get crippled—very few escape. How can they? Just think of what lands in the stomach during a few hours—All sorts of things—sour, sweet, acid, starchy, light, heavy, vegetable and animal; all this raw material is tumbled into the stomach without much thought as to the order of its going, every particle of which has to be worked over, digested, and converted into food for nerves, blood, brain, kidneys, liver and bowels—for every tissue, cell and fibre of the body. Sometimes the stomach is overloaded, shocked and deranged and cannot do its work properly, and right here begins the starting point of disease, as no organ now receives proper nutriment, and usually the weakest cry out their warnings. That's why a well stomach means a well body, and that's why ANTI-PILL has such a marked effect. It soothes the irritated linings of the stomach, and so acts on the mucous membrane that the necessary supply of gastric juice to secure digestion is assured—ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment makes a well stomach.

A most successful meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the First Methodist Church was held on Monday afternoon. Mr. Wallace, a member of Victoria University Band, gave a very instructive talk on the needs of the work in West China. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Mrs. (Dr.) Fowler; president, Mrs. Fred Smith; first vice-president, Mrs. (Rev.) Kennedy; second vice-president, Mrs. (Rev.) Boyd; third vice-president, Mrs. (Rev.) Bishop; recording secretary, Mrs. J. S. Barnard; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Barbour; treasurer, Mrs. Phelps. The meeting adjourned until the second Monday in September.

GROWTH OF LEPER WORK.

The June meeting of the Mission to Lepers was held yesterday in the rooms of the Y. W. C. A., and was of special interest because of the presence of Mr. Jackson, deputation secretary of the mission. Mr. Jackson has been engaged in leper work for the past ten years, and reviewed the work done on the field in that time. He spoke of the increase in the number of asylums for lepers and of the increase in funds contributed, which ten years ago amounted to $20,000, and last year amounted to $100,000, of which sum Canada and the United States contributed $30,000. The great possibilities for expansion of the work depend on Britain and America, he said. Mr. Jackson gave an interesting description of the work done at Purulia and Ramachandrapuram and gave a synopsis of the work being done in other centers in China and Japan. The mission is undenominational and international. The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. Crewes. The society was indebted to Mrs. McKee for her sympathetic rendering of the beautiful sacred solo, "There is Never a Day so Dreary."

FINE VAUDEVILLE BILL.

The excellent weather of yesterday and last night brought the best crowd of people to Springbank Park of the season. Every seat was occupied in the park theater, and large crowds viewed the performance from the banks. It was one of the most entertaining bills of the season, and enthusiastic recalls were demanded by the audience. The feature of the programme is the mimicry of Falardo. From his "Instrumental Song" to imitations of a trolley car ascending a hill, his act is a novel and difficult one. The McCann family are interesting dancers. The two children give the best act of the kind yet seen in London by people of their age. Emile Subers, in a dark face monologue, was compelled to respond to encores. He is an old-time minstrel and knows what will please an audience. His jokes are new, while his parodies brought plenty of applause. Georgia O'Rainey, as a singing comedienne, is well worth hearing. She has capital songs and a good voice. Bandy and Wilson danced themselves tired, but the audience demanded more and gave them liberal applause for their efforts. It is a good bill throughout.

Compromise Arranged=== Fair Has Lease Extended

Grounds to Remain in Its Possession for Eighteen Years.

Number of the Aldermen Experience a Change of Heart.

Deputation From Fair Board Lays Case Strongly Before the City Council.

The city council met in special session last night, and after a deal of discussion, agreed to extend the lease of Queen's Park to the Western Fair Board for a term of fifteen years from the expiration of the present lease, which means that Queen's Park will be in the hands of the board for another eighteen years, at least. The arguments advanced against an extension for a longer term than 10 years were somewhat weak, and after Mr. Allan Bogue and Colonel Little had stated the unvarnished facts to the aldermen, several of the city fathers who had previously been opposed to a lengthy extension, experienced a change of heart, and they proposed a compromise to a 15-year extension as a means of settling the dispute. This motion was finally carried on a vote of 8 to 4.

DEPUTATION HEARD.

A deputation composed of ex-Mayor Little, Messrs. W. J. Reid, John Pringle, A. M. Smart, Allan Bogue and Secretary Nelles waited on the board to back up the fair board's request. Mr. Bogue was the first speaker. He said that the fair board had worked long and faithfully for the good of the city of London, and for the good of the fair. The exhibition had been carried on by the board without asking the city for a cent, and the board was well warranted in coming before the council and asking for a 20-year renewal of the lease. The council might have advanced money for the erection of buildings, but the city never advanced a dollar for the running of the exhibition. And during the years the board had occupied Queen's Park it had spent nearly $60,000 on improving the buildings and grounds. Contrast the way in which the Western Fair was run with the way in which Toronto's show had been conducted, said Mr. Bogue. In Toronto, after 20 years at the helm, the fair board had to drop out and hand the reins over to the city, because the board were thousands of dollars behind. In London the fair board had added probably $60,000 to the city's assets. Consequently the fair board should come first in the eyes of the aldermen. Years ago the board, had it surmised that the aldermen of today would assume their present attitude, might have had a lease of Queen's Park for 40, instead of 26 years. How could the fair board accept the grant of $10,000 from the Government with only a ten-year lease of the grounds? He asked the aldermen to consider the matter very carefully, as not only the city of London, but the entire county of Middlesex—in fact the whole of Western Ontario—was interested in the fate of the Western Fair.

DID NOT WANT TO DICTATE.

Col. Little said there was no desire on the part of the Western Fair directors to say or do anything which might be looked upon as dictation. Nor did they desire to press their demands too far. They simply wished to be looked upon as No. 4 committee of the city council. The carrying on of the exhibition was a most important matter. Very few of the directors were personally benefited in the slightest by the fair. It was a very big advertisement for the city, and consequently it should be carried on. The board had managed for eighteen years to run the exhibition without asking the council for a dollar. Seven or eight years ago the city had spent $25,000 on buildings, but in time some seven or eight acres of land, purchased by the board, will come into the hands of the city, and this will more than make up for the $25,000 expended by the city. Speaking of the Government's intention to erect a dairy building in London, Col. Little said anything which tended to improve the farming community of this section meant more money to the city of London.

Col. Little then pointed out that the receipts of the board totaled about $9,000 annually. Of this amount, $9,000 went for prizes and $3,000 for attractions. Of the $9,000 for prizes, $3,000 remained in the city of London, so that of the $25,000 receipts fully $16,000 stayed right in the city. Then there were 70,000 visitors to the fair, who, at an average of $1 50 each, spent $100,000 in London, and this was equal to the amount disbursed per annum by an industry employing from 200 to 225 hands. If any persons were dissatisfied with the fair board, it would be an easy matter to clean them out, as was done in 1885. In conclusion, Col. Little said that the board could not consistently accept the $10,000 from the Government on a ten-year lease. In a few words, if the council could not see its way clear to extend the lease for 20 years, the dairy building would not go up. This was not a threat. It was merely the truth.

A TEN-YEAR PROPOSAL.

When Col. Little concluded Ald. Garratt arose and again moved his resolution, submitted at the last meeting of the council—that the lease be extended for ten years.

Ald. Becher seconded. He thought ten years was plenty long enough to leave Queen's Park in the fair board's hands.

Ald. Greenlees then moved, seconded by Ald. Stevely, that the lease be extended for nineteen years from the expiration of the present lease. After the arguments advanced, Ald. Greenlees said the council, in the interests of the city of London, could do nothing but extend the lease for a lengthy term of years. If any alderman had the temerity to say that the people of London advocated the selling of any portion of Queen's Park, he was very much mistaken. Every person he had spoken to wanted the lease extended and the park left alone.

Ald. Stevely said the fair board was really a committee of the council, as five of the nineteen members of the board were also members of the city council. If at any time in the future the city wished to change the present order of things, he had no doubt the fair board and the council could come to terms.

Ald. Forristal said a large number of people in the east end wanted the fair grounds removed. He had, however, intended to vote for a fifteen-year extension of the lease from date, but after hearing the arguments put forth he was ready to vote for an extension of practically eighteen years—that was a fifteen-year extension from the date of the expiration of the present lease. It was his opinion that in fifteen years not a head of cabbage would be exhibited in the fair grounds here. Ald. Cooper seconded this motion.

A SMALL TILT

Ald. Cooper then began to address the council, but the members talked in groups, and he failed to get an audience. Therefore he threatened to sit down and talk no more, when Ald. Judd remarked:

"The council wouldn't lose much if you did."

A titter went around the board at this, but Ald. Cooper retorted:

"It won't be much loss if they lose you, as they will in a few months. Don't you think you're the whole push around here. Don't get fresh!"

The mayor corrected Ald. Cooper, but the latter began to argue with his worship.

"Perhaps they think they have a right to interrupt me because you do," he said.

Ald. Greer favored the fifteen-year proposal. The time was not a day too long. The city could not afford to see the fair buildings torn down. The proposal to sell any portion of the grounds was rank nonsense, he said. And if the city were to sell a portion of the property what better off would the city be a year afterward? Not a cent. Moreover, the board would be very foolish to take $10,000 from the Government and spend it on a ten years' lease.

Ald. Matthews asked if the Government had been approached as to whether the city would get the $10,000 for a dairy hall if the lease was not extended for a longer term than ten years.

Col. Little said not as far as he knew. Col. Gartshore had spoken to one of the members of the Government, but had received no definite answer.

Ald. Matthews then said Queen's Park was not a park at all. In fact, no woman in the east end would dare go through it after dark. He suggested that the fair board erect the dairy building on its own property, as it now owns eight acres of the park, and then it would be in no fear of the Government.

Ald. Wyatt said that at the rapid rate the city was growing he did not feel that he had any right to vote for a longer term than ten years. When the grounds were located in the north end of the city the people were constantly objecting to them, and it would soon be the same in East London.

THE DAIRY HALL.

Ald. Judd said if the aldermen voted for a fifteen-year extension they had no guarantee that the dairy building would be erected, as the board had put itself on record as refusing to ask the Government for the $10,000 if the lease was not extended for twenty years.

Col. Little said the resolution was not so strong as Ald. Judd had put it. He was authorized to say to the council that if the aldermen saw fit to extend the lease for a period of fifteen years from the expiration of the lease, the deputation would do all in its power to see that the fair board drafted it.

Then the question was put, and on motion of Ald. Forristal, seconded by Ald. Cooper, it was decided to extend the lease for fifteen years from the expiration of the present agreement, providing the Government grants the board $10,000 for a new dairy hall. The vote stood 8 to 4, as follows:

Yeas—Ald. Judd, Cooper, Stevely, Greenlees, Greer, Garry, Abram and Forristal—8.

Nays—Ald. Becher, Matthews Garratt and Wyatt—4.

SOLDIERS INDULGE IN VARIOUS SPORTS WHEN NOT ON PARADE

Camp Continues To Be Drawing Card for Citizens—Shooting For Bankers' Shield.

Camp continues to draw the citizens of London on sight-seeing expeditions. Last evening, for instance, there was a constant stream of people, walking and driving about the grounds. It was a particularly good night, too, for before it got too dark, there was much doing in the way of sports. Football, lacrosse and athletics, such as running, were chiefly indulged in. The Oneida Indians are practicing for a match to be played tomorrow evening with the London lacrosse team.

As darkness came on the boys turned to other amusements. For instance, a group of men in the first brigade got out the camp giraffe. Two men managed to make a good giraffe—at least that was what it was announced to be, and the announcement managed to gather a good-sized crowd about the menagerie. Then in front of the Twenty-seventh Regiment tents, another scene was enacted. A violin and a guitar supplied the music for an old-fashioned reel, and there on the green the boys swung about as happy as if they were swinging their best girl. To all appearances, this was the case. The visitors who arrived before 8 o'clock had the privilege of seeing the Thirtieth Regiment march in from the Cove. The now almost famous bugle band of this regiment headed the warriors. The brass band was playing martial music, which also helped the men along, for music has a wonderful power in keeping up the ranks on a long march. The march to the Cove on a hot day with an afternoon of shooting and a march back late before supper is not easy. But the Thirtieth showed up particularly fine, as it came into camp. The shooting done by the Twenty-ninth in the morning, and the Thirtieth in the afternoon, was said to be first-class.

Last evening the commandant and brigadier were dined by the officers of the Twenty-ninth Regiment, the regimental band playing during the mess.

Quite a number of the men attended the song service at the Y. M. C. A. tent, where a fine gramophone did excellent service. The week-day services as might be expected were scarcely as well-attended as those on Sunday.

There was some talk in camp yesterday about the selling of liquor on the grounds on Sunday. It was said that a number of young men were intoxicated on that day. Whether this be so or not, it must be admitted that the temperance conditions show a great improvement over those of a few years ago. The instructions are again this year that no liquor will be sold at any time at the canteens. However, a case was reported last evening, where on the Sunday evening one of the pickets had found two or three men trying to force a very young lad to drink against his will from a pail of beer. The picket ordered them to desist and threatened to call out others if they continued. This it is said caused the culprits to take their departure very quickly. Such cases, however, are rare at this camp. Even of the great number who go down town during the day or evening, very few fall into temptation, comparatively speaking. The police say they have never seen a more orderly camp and never had so little trouble. It would be very natural to suppose that in a camp of almost 2,400 men, many of whom are away for the first time, a highly hilarious outing would be sought by a great many. That this is not so, but that the camp every night is an orderly one to the extent that it has been commended by those in authority, is a good sign of the times and should be an encouragement to those who desire to see right conditions prevail at a camp.

The Twenty-sixth Regiment Band will get leave of absence on Thursday to attend the school picnic at Springbank.

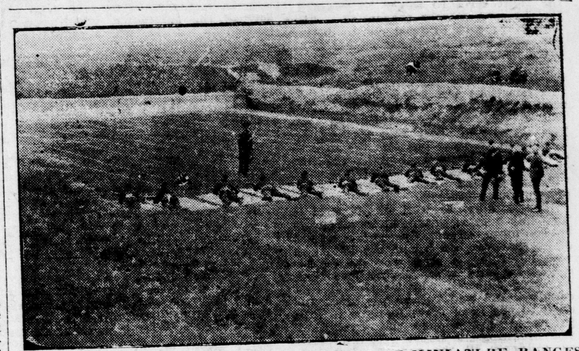

The sergeants of the Twenty-sixth Regiment have organized a sergeants' mess, with the following officers: President, Sergt.-Major J. C. Fletcher; secretary, Band-Sergt. Perrin; treasurer, Color-Sergt. Elliott.

The Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh and Thirty-second Regiments have been shooting for the Bankers' shield, and No. 4 Company, of the Thirty-second, has made the highest score up to date. The second brigade will shoot now. The scores made by the first brigade have been as follows:

Twenty-sixth Middlesex Regiment—No. 1 Company, Capt. Garnett, 9; No. 2 Company, Capt. Mills, 12; No. 3 Company, Capt. McGee, 15; No. 4 Company, Capt. Colerick, 19; No. 5 Company, Capt. Elliott, 15; No. 6 Company, Capt. Routledge, 15; No. 7 Company, Capt. Orr, 9; No. 8 Company, Capt. Mackay, 17.

Thirty-second Bruce Regiment—No. 1 Company, Capt. Fletcher, 14; No. 2 Company, Capt. McDougall, 9; No. 3 Company, Capt. Malcolmson, 15; No. 4 Company, Capt. Hay, 29; No. 5, Company, Capt. Moffatt, 22; No. 6 Company, Capt. Milne, 23; No. 7 Company, Capt. Buckley, 19; No. 7 Company, Capt. Buckley, 19; No. 8 Company, Capt. Fowler, 17.

Twenty-seventh Regiment — No. 1 Company, Capt. McKenzie, 10; No. 2 Company, Capt. Nesbitt, 18; No. 3 Company, Capt. Bryant, 14; No. 4 Company, Capt. Armstrong, 15; No. 5 Company, Capt. Isbester, 11; No. 6 Company, Capt. Kelly, 15; No. 7 Company, Capt. Symington, 9; No. 8 Company, Capt. Coulter, 10.

SCENES AT LONDON CAMP—SQUAD OF MEN AT MINIATURE RANGES.

Council Accepts Offer Of Bell 'Phone Company

Exclusive Franchise for Three Years Granted at $2,500 a Year —Free 'Phones Wanted.

Though there has been much talk the past few months of telephone competition in London, when the matter of granting a franchise came up at last night's special meeting of the city council only one offer was considered, and that was from the Bell Telephone Company. Nothing has been heard of the Canadian Telephone Company or its offer for some time, and in any event, as the mayor put it, the telephone is a natural monopoly, and a dual 'phone system, even though it did introduce competition, would be a greater nuisance than a benefit to the business community of this city.

After going into the matter in detail for some time the council decided to accept the offer of the Bell Company of $2,500 per year for an exclusive franchise, providing the company will give the city 20 free 'phones.

In introducing the telephone franchise matter, the mayor produced a comparative statement, compiled by City Clerk Edwards, regarding 'phone rates in different places, and showed in part as follows:

Officers, except doctors—London, $40; Hamilton, $45; Ottawa, $45. Doctors—London, $25; Hamilton, $37 50; Ottawa, $45. Private houses (unlimited)—London, $20; Hamilton, $30; Ottawa, $25. Under the old agreement, London got $1,000 for an exclusive franchise; Hamilton, $2,900; Ottawa, $2,500. From the figures, the mayor said it appeared that 'phone rates in London were very reasonable.

Ald. Greer wanted to know why it was that the doctors enjoyed special rates here, and why it was proposed to also give the veterinaries a special rate. He said this was legislating for special classes. It would be better to charge all classes of citizens the same rate and pour into the city coffers, for the benefit of all, probably $500 more.

The mayor suggested that the company be given a three-year franchise and the rates be allowed to remain the same.

Ald. Stevely then moved that the offer of the Bell Company, namely $2,500 a year, for an exclusive franchise, be accepted providing the company gives the city fifteen free 'phones and places the veterinary surgeons on the same basis as the doctors.

Ald. Matthews moved that the company be asked to provide a telephone alarm system for the fire brigade. The local alarm system is in a very bad condition, Ald. Matthews said, and if the Bell Company could be induced to install a system for the fire brigade it would mean a big saving to the city.

Ald. Greer thought the city should ask for $2,500 and 25 free 'phones. The city now uses 22 'phones in all its offices.

Ald. Judd explained that there had been some indirect negotiating between the city and company of late. In short the company had offered to renew the old agreement with the city, but instead of paying $1,000 as formerly for the franchise, the company will pay the city $2,500, and further, the company will give the city its 22 'phones for an average of about $31 per 'phone per annum.

Ald. Forristal said the company's offer was a fair one, but he thought the company could also be induced to grant the city free 'phones for civic uses.

Ald. Greer supported the idea of having the company maintain the fire alarm service for the city, but the statement was made that the company would not entertain the proposal.

Ald. Judd said apparently the aldermen were forgetting the matter of 'phone competition altogether.

Ald. Matthews answered apparently so, but he said that the city would never free itself from the effects of the Bell monopoly until it faced the so-called evil effects of a dual 'phone service, and brought in another company to compete with the Bell. The merchants, he said, were eager for competition.

It was then pointed out that the proposed renewal of the contract with the Bell will not mean that any person must have a long-distance 'phone, or pay long-distance rates, unless they wish to, but some of the aldermen declared that the Bell Company made things unpleasant for those who had Blake transmitters, and forced them to put in the long-distance equipment.

Mayor Beck said his experience in other places led him to believe that the service afforded the people of London by the Bell Company was the best it was possible to give.

Ald. Stevely's motion, that the city accept the Bell offer for three years at $2,500 a year for an exclusive franchise, on condition that the company give the city 20, instead of 15, as as first proposed, free 'phones, and place veterinaries on the same footing as doctors and dentists, was adopted, all the aldermen, with the exception of Ald. Matthews, voting yea.
