THE LYNCH CASE

London, July 29.—The case of the Government against Colonel Arthur Lynch, who was elected to represent Galway City in the House of Commons, and who was accused of high treason, ended in the police court today, and Lynch was remanded to give his counsel opportunity to review the evidence. Among the last witnesses called to identify Colonel Lynch were George Grieg, an American, who was caretaker of a mine near Johannesburg, and another American named Worthington. Both these witnesses testified that they were arrested by Boers near Vereeniging, charged with being British spies, and that Col. Lynch acted as public prosecutor at their trial.

MAY CASHIER THE OFFENDERS

Investigation of Complaint on Behalf of Lieutenant of the Life Guards.

Gregson Was Subjected to a Great Deal of Abuse from the Officers.

London, July 29.—The military court of inquiry, called to investigate the scandal caused by the alleged persecution of Second Lieut. Gregson, of the Second Life Guards, has held a secret session at Windsor. Lieut. Gregson and two other officers testified. The evidence showed that Lieut. Gregson's career was torn up, his kit was damaged and his uniform was ruined. Much interest has been excited by the episode, which already has been the subject of parliamentary questions. It is said at the barracks that two lieutenants will probably be cashiered as a result of the affair.

Details of the persecution of Lieut. Gregson were given in a dispatch from London July 24. The lieutenant, who secured a commission Feb. 15 last, was known to be a hard worker, efficient and popular with his men. On the night of July 21 a number of officers of the regiment chased Lieut. Gregson out of his quarters, bawled him through the barracks with whips, ducked him in a horse trough, and later wrecked his quarters and destroyed his kit. The only explanation of this treatment was that Lieut. Gregson was socially undesirable.

PRaises THEM

Kitchener Pays Tribute to the Colonies and Their South African Soldiers.

London, July 29.—Many pages of the Gazette to-day are filled with Lord Kitchener's final despatch on the Boer war and his mention of the officers and men who distinguished themselves while he was in command in South Africa. The same issue announces the general's new title as "Viscount Kitchener of Khartoum and of the Vaal and of Asphall, in County Suffolk."

In his last despatch Lord Kitchener said of Lord Milner, the British High Commissioner: "In many difficult situations it was always the greatest relief to me to feel that I could always rely upon his unfailing sympathy and ungrudging assistance."

Referring to the deep obligation of the army to the colonies, the writer said no request of his had ever been refused by the colonial governments, and their consideration and generosity only equalled the character and quality of the troops they sent to South Africa or raised in that country.

Lieut. Colonel Girouard, a Canadian officer, is warmly praised. Lord Kitchener saying that he is an "officer of brilliant ability, and I wish him all success in his new capacity as head of a great civil department."

Almost all the leading generals were commended, including the writer's brother, Gen. Fred. Kitchener, who was described as an exceptionally keen and energetic officer.

Gen. Lord Methuen, Lord Kitchener said, had done more than most officers towards maintaining the high standard of personal courage, modesty and unity which characterized the British army. "I share his own deep regret," said the despatch, "that his wounds prevented him from remaining in the field until the conclusion of peace."

The following Canadians are also mentioned: Lieut. Col. Evans, Major Rose, Captains Callaghan, McMillan and Williams, Lieuts. Ryan and Church, Serjts. Doherty, Bliss, Stullwood and Saunders and Private Chesworth.

"DIAVOLO" INJURED
While Looping the Loop in Old London he Sustains an Ugly Fall.

London, Eng., July 29.—The American bicyclist, "Diavolo," sustained a nasty fall while performing the feat of looping the loop at the Aquarium yesterday. He was much lacerated, but he will re-appear to-day.

GREAT BRITAIN'S POLICY IS FOR SOUTH AFRICA

Will be Cautious as Well as Generous—Good Faith Will be Kept With Burghers—Unity of the Empire the Key Note.

London, July 29.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, appeared in the House of Commons to-day for the first time since the recent accident in which he was hurt. He was greeted with hearty cheering, and later he was warmly congratulated by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Liberal leader in the House.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman supplemented his congratulation by asking for information of the colonial conference. He expressed the hope that lenient treatment would be extended to the Boers in South Africa.

Mr. Chamberlain replied that the one spirit animating the members of the conference was the desire to draw closer together the constituent parts of the Empire, and he thought it safe to say that the conference had made important progress toward a perfect union, to which he himself looked forward.

Regarding South Africa Mr. Chamberlain said Lord Milner, the High Commissioner of South Africa, had telegraphed spontaneously that he did not think further legislation necessary to make the banishment proclamation effective. The government, however, reserved to itself the important right in the new colonies to refuse to allow the return or to keep watch over persons who showed themselves inimical to good order and peace. "We are not going to allow the result of the war to be undermined," said Mr. Chamberlain by "intrigues carried on by nominally constitutional means."

Regarding the future status of South Africa, the Colonial Secretary said the Imperial government had established a crown colony in the strictest sense. The next step would be to add a nominated official element. Thereafter there would be an elected official element, and then nothing but circumstances and time would separate the new colonies from full self-government, the ultimate goal of their ambition. That consummation would not be delayed, if for no other reason than because it might relieve the government of the tremendous burden of responsibility involved in the present situation; but all must understand that the government would not be rushed or hurried into any action which circumstances did not warrant.

The speaker said he was one of those optimistic enough to believe that the new colonies would reach the ultimate goal of their ambition much sooner than many persons now thought possible. So far as the government was concerned the surrender promises would be kept in spirit as well as in letter. The Government, he said, was bound by honor and by interest to this course. There remained many questions to be dealt with. A new tariff must be established, involving intricate questions, concerning which experts must be consulted, and the taxation of mines must be settled, but he wished to say nothing would be done to punish owners of mines, as had been suggested in many quarters. The government would do nothing to interfere with a quick revival of development of the country. Subject to that consideration, Mr. Chamberlain continued, no man was more anxious than he to recover some considerable part of the cost of the war from South Africa. He thought it would be perfectly fair to lay a fair part of the cost of the war on the principal industry of the Transvaal, but what amount it was too soon to say.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech won the applause even of such opponents as Henry Labouchere. Mr. Chamberlain dealt comprehensively with the past and future of South Africa. "We have no intention," he declared, "that the Boers should break with their old traditions. We desire that they should preserve all the best characteristics of their race, and hope they will shake hands with us, thus securing prosperity in South Africa under the flag which protects different races and different religions."

That sentiment was the keynote of the speech. Dealing with the much discussed labor question, Mr. Chamberlain said he believed every independent to labor should be held out to the blacks, but he said no scheme of compulsory labor would receive the slightest government support. There was no intention of packing the country with Britishers, but so much Transvaal land was lying idle that the colonies could only be made a great corn producing factor by bringing in British settlers.

Brave Rescue

Port Dover, Ont., July 29.—As a number of men, employed in the fishing business, were crossing the harbor in a small boat, about 1 o'clock to-day, the men changed places in the boat, causing it to partly capsize. One of the occupants, Arthur Brock, fell into the water, and being unable to swim, quickly sank. One of the others, named Taylor, jumped into the water to attempt to rescue Brock, and during the struggle Taylor was pulled to the bottom in a drowning condition. James McDonald, one of the crew of the American yacht Wah-Wa-Taysee, lying in the harbor, immediately went to the assistance of the drowning man and succeeded, by diving, in bringing Taylor to the surface. Doctors were quickly summoned, and succeeded in resuscitating him. In the meantime, McDonald, after bringing Taylor to the surface, turned his attention to rescuing the body of Brock, and in a few minutes succeeded in bringing the body to the shore, but after the greatest exertions of the medical men they found it impossible to restore life. The greatest praise is expressed for the bravery exhibited by McDonald in rendering such timely assistance, for had it not been for his courage in bringing Taylor to the surface so promptly, he would have been beyond medical aid.

NORTH LEEDS GOES LIBERAL

Balfour Government Loses a Seat—The Cause of the Turn-over.

Liberal Press Claims Dissatisfaction with Grain Tax and Education Bill.

London, July 30.—The bye-election for member of the House of Commons to represent North Leeds, resulted in the election of Roland Barron, Liberal. Mr. Barron received 7,339 votes to 6,781 cast for Sir Arthur Lawson, Con. The seat was made vacant by the elevation to the peerage of Wm. Lawless Jackson, Con., who had sat for North Leeds since 1880.

The loss of the seat for North Leeds in the House of Commons has filled the supporters of the new Balfour administration with dismay. The utmost indignity of the editorial papers of the Conservative press is quite ineffectual in expiating the result of the Tory majority of 2,517 in 1900, to a Liberal majority of 558.

The morning Post, which is the frankest Conservative critic of the government, admits that outside of the Birmingham area, which it says is the Chamberlainite preserve, there is scarcely no seat in the house on whose loyalty the government can absolutely rely, and the paper believes the country is dissatisfied with the government's education bill and its acquiescing with protection.

The Liberal papers this morning concur in the opinion that the grain tax and the Education Bill won them the North Leeds seat, the election having been fought on these two points.

The result was received with great jubilation in the House of Commons the members crowding to congratulate Herbert Gladstone, the Liberal whip. It is expected the result of the election will be that Mr. Balfour will, as far as possible avoid making changes in the cabinet involving more by-elections. Gerald Balfour's seat, among others, being considered rather unsafe.

Another incident which is adding to Conservative discontent, is the decision of John Catheart Wasson, Liberal Unionist member, to join the Liberal party. Mr. Wasson supported the government during the war, but he is now so dissatisfied with the government's policy in matters of army reform, education and the Irish land question that he cannot longer support it.

FOOL CLAIM

Said he was Tracy and Wise Peeler Beat Soft Head With Club of Law.

Seattle, Wash., July 29.—William Nixon tried to win a woman's confidence in the guise of Outlaw Tracy, and is nearly dead as a result of his act. He told an actress in a music hall that he was none other than the desperado, and threatened her life if she told. Later, when he re-entered the theater he was attacked by policemen, and the proprietor, Joe Williams, a brother of Deputy Sheriff Jack Williams who was wounded in battle with Tracy at Bothell, July 3. Nixon was pounded into insensibility and has not fully regained his faculties yet. The mistake was discovered when the man's features were compared with a photograph at police headquarters. It is almost a miracle that the policeman did not shoot first and investigate afterwards, as he was told positively that the man was Tracy and a reward of nearly $7,000 is offered for the desperado, dead or alive.

BLAIR WASTED HALF MILLION.

Hon. A. G. Blair has given another brilliant illustration of his incapacity as a Minister of the Crown, and has incidentally thrown $500,000 to the winds. He rid himself of this insignificant (if) sum, by purchasing a steamer to carry the Intercolonial railway trains across the Straits of Canso, which divides Cape Breton from Nova Scotia proper. The vessel has proved a rank failure. She is absolutely worthless and now there is a suggestion that the waters in which she was to have sailed should be bridged. If carried out this work will cost several millions. Mr. Blair has fallen down in almost everything he has yet attempted and the prayers of Canadians should be offered that, if the Straits of Canso is to be bridged, the construction may be placed in hands other than those responsible for the disappearance of a cold half million in a vessel condemned during the first weeks of her service.

BIGGER SALARIES IN SIGHT.

The Hamilton Herald presents the following solution:—
If the Bank of Montreal directors are at all sensitive to criticism, they must have been having some bad quarter hours during the last few days. Their decree that no bank clerk in the employ of the bank shall be permitted to marry until his salary has been advanced to $1500 has been received with a storm of protest from press and pulpit. It is a premium on immorality, says the pulpit. It will further depress the birth rate, says the statistician. It is a piece of petty tyranny—another example of the growing arrogance of organized capital, says the man on the street. It's just real mean, says many a maiden.
But wait a little. It is possible that this unpopular decree may only be the prelude to something that will be distinctly to the advantage of the bank clerks. Surely the bank directors would not increase the matrimonial salary limit unless they intended to make a substantial general increase in the salaries of the clerks. Unless that increase is made the directors deserve all the criticism which has been levelled at them, and more too.

Buffalo Express.
The world loves a soldier. Lord Dunsford, landing at Ottawa to take command of the Canadian militia, has had a reception far more enthusiastic than that ever given to a Governor-General.

INDUCEMENTS TO MARRIAGE.

Montreal Herald.
American papers say that "three wagon loads" of presents were tendered to a young couple who will be married shortly at Newport, Rhode Island. This is certainly an improvement on the hackneyed expression that the presents were "numerous and costly." It may lead the way for a further development of expressions along the same line. Thus it may be that when J. Pierpont

If this is typical English weather we wish, at the peril of being denounced as disloyal, that the Government would place an embargo on its importation to this country. The sample will not pass.

A PARTISAN OPINION.

Hamilton Spectator.
Alluding to the fool proposal to pay the leader of the opposition a salary, the Chatham Banner-News says: "Instead of a slice of government money, Whitney richly earned a bench in the penitentiary." The News seems to be a somewhat pronounced, as it were, in its partisanship.

MORE LIKE KENTUCKY EVERY DAY.

Windsor Record.
If every regiment in this country turns out a brand new colonel every five years the woods will soon be full of them. We will have more colonels than old Kentucky, where they say it is now hard to find a full private.

THE VALUE OF PUBLICITY.

Bellefonte Intelligencer.
A gentleman who has had large experience in municipal affairs, both here and in other places, talking of the agitation for an assessment commission in this city, said: "The idea is correct, but I believe that the only places where strictly correct and satisfactory assessments are made are where the assessors' rolls are printed for distribution among the taxpayers. There is nothing like publicity to bring about the correction of abuses. As it is now not one man in a hundred cares to take the trouble to go and look at the assessors' rolls to see what other people's assessments are, but with the roll printed a surprising amount of interest is speedily shown. I know of places where this is done, the township of Pickering, for example. People there told me they never had a thoroughly satisfactory assessment till the roll was printed, and I don't believe we will ever have one in Belleville till the same thing is done."

THE MARKETS

Planet Office, Tuesday evening, July 29.

GRAINS

J. B. Stringer, of the firm of J. B. Stringer & Co., gives The Planet the following market quotations:—
Wheat—Very little offering. The market is fairly strong wherever any grain can be found. About 78 cents is the present value for fairly good wheat. The new wheat harvest is progressing very slowly on account of the wet weather. The grain is all fully ripe and has been ripe for a number of days. With a few days of dry weather it can all be saved in fairly good condition.
Oats are very much wanted for local use as well as for shipment. The price remains from 42 to 43 cents. (This crop will be ready to harvest in a few days, and is in the best condition of all grains. We look for a large yield with a good quality. Of course very much as to quality depends on the weather. The price for this year's crop will probably be in the neighborhood of 30 cents per bushel. There is some of the old crop left, and the new has been harvested under very unfavorable circumstances, all being very much stained and will likely be fit for nothing but feed. We hear of some ready to thresh this week, 75c to 80c will likely be the value for new.
Corn—Is about all used up, and values are still high, 62 to 64 cents.
Beans—Have made a material advance during the last few days on account of the heavy damage to the growing crop by the wet weather. The values to-day are—Primes, $1.15. A considerable quantity of last year's crop is still held by the farmers and as they are very busy with their harvest, they are not delivering so that any orders that come for car lots must be filled from dealer's stocks which are now getting very low. It looks as though we may have a few cents more of advance in the price of beans before a material decline might occur on account of heavy deliveries as soon as the farmers have more time.

Lake Huron trout, 10c per lb. dressed.
Yellow pickerel 10c per lb. dressed.

CUTLERY MARKETS.

HENRY CLEWS' REPORT.

Henry Clews, of his weekly letter to The Planet, says:—
Gold experts need cause no concern. We usually send more or less gold to Europe at this season, and thus far, since January 1st, we have only shipped about $20,000,000 from this port. As a matter of fact there is little likelihood of further important shipments. Money will probably be scarce and in better demand on this side of the Atlantic than on the other. Our banks are well loaned up and reserves are low, not only here, but in the interior. The European banks are carrying ample reserves; and at some of the foreign markets, especially in France, there is an abundance of loanable funds. A good deal of French money is now being loaned in this market. With the three great banks of Europe holding over $40,000,000 more gold than a year ago, with Transvaal supplies steadily increasing, and with no special speculative activity in sight, there is little reason to expect gold shipments so long as money continues in demand here at profitable rates.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, July 29.—There were some 550 head of butcher's cattle, 200 calves and 500 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were out in full force and were well pleased at the ample supplies of beef cattle, and as the prices were slightly lower than on last week's markets trade was brisk. Mr. G. Martel bought four of the best cattle on the market, paying from 5-4 to 6c per lb. for them; pretty good cattle sold at from 3-4 to 5-1-2c and the common stock at from 2-1-2 to 3-1-2c per lb. Calves were in fair demand and sold at from 3c to 4c each. Sheep sold at from 3c to 4c a little over 3-1-2c per lb. There is a very active demand for lambs and they sold at from $2.50 to a little over $4 each. Fat hogs sold at from 7c to 7-1-2c per lb. weighed off the cars.

TORONTO GRAIN MARKET.

Toronto, July 29.—Wheat—The offerings are very light, there is a good demand for home milling and the market is firmer, with sales of red and white east and west at 80c. Manitoba wheat is 1-2c higher; No. 1 hard is quoted at 81 1-2c, 87 1-2c for No. 1 hard, 85 1-2c for No. 1 northern and 83 1-2c for No. 2 northern, g. i. t. Flour—Scarce and firmer; $2.95 90 per cent patents in buyer's bags, middle freight. Choice brands are held 15 to 20c higher. Manitoba flour is firmer at $4.00 to $4.30 for cars of Hungarian patents, and $3.70 to $4.00 for strong bakers, bags included, on the track, Toronto.

Millfeed—is steady. Shorts are quoted at $20.50 for cars and bran at $15.50 in bulk middle freight. Manitoba millfeed is firm at $23 for cars of shorts and $18 for bran, sacks included, Toronto freights.
Corn—is firm. American sold for an eastern port at equal to 64 1-2c to 65c west. Canadian corn is quoted at 65 1-2c to 66c west.
Oats—Are firm at 45 1-2c for No. 2, white, east and 44 1-2c to 45c middle freight.
Peas—Are steady at 77c east and 76c west.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

Toronto, July 29.—Butter.—The market is in a much more business-like condition now than it has been of late. Farmers who have been holding out for high prices on their dairies are beginning to realize that it is time to come to market and accept what they can get. Offerings therefore are large and they include a great deal of undesirable stuff.

NEW INVENTION

German Said to Have Achieved Good Results With Wireless Telephone.

Berlin, July 29.—Ernest Ruhmer, an electrical inventor, succeeded Saturday evening in telephoning seven kilometers by his wireless method. The speaking voice was perfectly audible continuously during the experiment. Ruhmer, who hitherto has used a searchlight 35 centimeters in diameter, intends to construct another between 100 and 200 centimeters, expecting to speak 40 kilometers, which would be a distance sufficient to cover a modern city. It is affirmed, however, that the apparatus is too large, too expensive and too delicate to be practicable commercially, but it will be highly useful to warships in transmitting orders at sea.

Herr Ruhmer's invention acts on the principle of the transformation of light waves to sound waves by using a searchlight and a microphone.

HORRIBLE DEATH

A Four Year Old Detroit Boy a Victim of Whisky and Tobacco.

Detroit, July 29.—Samuel Romer, the golden-haired four-year-old son of Frederick Romer, living in Highland Park, died a horrible death yesterday.

Mrs. Romer left her home in Highland Park shortly after the family had breakfast in the morning to go down town, leaving the two children at home. Samuel, the youngest one, was still asleep when the mother left. The mother did not get home until after 10 o'clock, and in the meantime Samuel awoke and got out of the bed and went over to a table where a pint bottle of whisky and some tobacco were kept. After drinking the contents of the bottle the little fellow chewed some of the tobacco as he had seen his father do.

When the mother returned she sent the little girl upstairs to wake Samuel. She came down and told her mother she was unable to wake him up. Again the daughter was sent upstairs and again she returned saying that he would not answer. The mother fearing something was wrong, hurried to his bedside and found the child almost unconscious and near him the empty bottle of whisky and the tobacco package.

The frantic mother carried the child to a neighbor, but no one seemed to know what to do, and finally she boarded a car and hurried to the office of Dr. W. H. Scott, in Highland Park, who summoned Dr. A. R. Andrews for a consultation. After working over the limpless form for five hours, being unable to bring him from a comatose condition, the little fellow passed away.

WANTS NEW TRIAL

The Murderer of Heywood Says Solitary Confinement is Awful.

As the result of a visit to William M. Jones, who is serving a life sentence in Marquette prison for the murder of George H. Heywood, Attorney George F. Monaghan has decided to make an application to secure a new trial for the murderer.

Jones had been in solitary confinement when Mr. Monaghan visited him, and the attorney was the first person he had seen, with the exception of the warden and the jailer, since the door of his cell clanged behind him after bidding Sheriff Dickson goodbye on the night of May 22. During that time he had remained in his cell continually. Three times a day food was brought to him, but for the rest of the time he was absolutely alone, and to add to the horror of his position he had absolutely nothing to do. Being deprived of work was part of his punishment.

"I am so glad," was Jones's comment when Warden Freeman told him that Mr. Monaghan was waiting to see him in the office of the prison. Jones shook hands effusively with his attorney and with frightened face he expressed his pleasure at seeing him. The warden withdrew and told Mr. Monaghan he could see Jones in private as long as he wished.

Jones looked considerably paler than when on trial, but he appeared to have put on an ordinary cell.

"My G—, George, it's been awful," he said, in referring to his experience in solitary confinement. "It would be awful for a guilty man who deserved it, but it has been more awful and unbearable to me, because I am not guilty. I'm innocent, George, I'm innocent."

Over and over again Jones insisted that he was not guilty and complained that he had not had a fair trial.

"I don't see how the jury could have analyzed the evidence and found me guilty," he said, and then added: "I was the victim of prejudice. The jury thought about that other matter."

Jones meditated a minute as though trying to arrive at some reason for the jury's action and then added: "I was the victim of prejudice. The jury thought about that other matter."

Jones inquired after his wife and family and asked that his pictures be sent to him as soon as he was removed from solitary confinement and assigned to an ordinary cell.

Jones inquired as to Mrs. Heywood's whereabouts but gave no indication of being particularly interested in her. He was naturally most interested in discussing the prospects of securing a new trial. He inquired eagerly as to how long it would be before the application for a new trial would be decided and as to the expense.

Mr. Monaghan called on President Moriarity, of the board of control of the Marquette prison, and asked that Jones be removed from solitary confinement and be given employment. Such an order was issued immediately and Jones is now at work.

A Sudden Twinge

Of pain is generally the first warning of an attack of rheumatism. It feels as if the disease were in the bones or muscles, but the real cause of rheumatism is found in impure blood. In order to cure rheumatism the blood must be cleansed of the poisonous impurities which are the cause of the disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been very successful in the cure of rheumatism, because it entirely cleanses the blood from the poisonous substances which are the cause of the disease. It not only purifies the blood, but by increasing the activity of the blood-making glands, it increases the supply of pure, rich blood which adds to the vigor of every physical organ.

Mr. R. A. McKnight, of Cedar, Wisconsin, writes: "I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years. I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head), were nearly killing me. My appetite was very bad. Everybody who saw me said I must die. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery', and four vials of 'Pelle's', and today my health is good after suffering twelve years with rheumatism."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery" and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

A BIG BLUFF

Amelia Black, an African Venus, Wanted to Scare Her Husband.

Detroit, July 29.—"Good-by, friends. Ah'm gw in wah ma husband can't desert me no moah."

Amelia Black, 23 years old, tall, slender, an African Venus, made this solemn declaration at 2 o'clock this morning as she looked out of her window at 132 Twenty-eighth street, and wondered where was her wandering master.

A lonesome rain drop splashed on Amelia's nose. She gave a mournful groan, clasped a "poison" bottle to her lips, eagerly gulped the contents, then fell heavily to the floor with a sickening thud, all the while screaming awfully as the fiery concoction ate out her insides.

Her mother, neighbors, friends, rushed wildly in. All the ambulances in town who summoned. Emergency arrived on the gallop and Amelia and her agonized mother were bundled in and a record run made back to the hospital.

In ten minutes Amelia was on the table with a stomach pump down her throat. Then Amelia was put to bed. This morning the hospital authorities state that she will be all right as soon as she gets over the effects of the vigorous pumping.

But Amelia didn't need the pumping anyway. She took molasses all for a bluff to scare her husband into returning home.

"But books do harm as well as good."

"That's a fact! The other day I dropped a volume of encyclopedia on my foot and have been limping ever since."

Shoemaker's Backache.

The constant bending over that of necessity a shoemaker must do when at work comes hard on the back and hard on the kidneys.

Backache, lame, weak and sore back and the bug-bears of a shoemaker's existence.

The kidneys get cramped and strained, are unable to filter the blood as they should—they tell of their disordered condition by making the back ache and pain.

There isn't much use rubbing on liniments or sticking on plasters when the prime cause of the ache lies in the kidneys.

The remedy that is most effective for "shoemaker's backache," as for all kinds of backache and kidney trouble, is Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

John Saunders, shoemaker, Whitby, Ont., gives the following evidence: "I procured a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets at the drug store, and can say that they gave me great relief immediately. I was suffering with intense pain in the back with biliousness, with bad taste in the mouth, and loss of appetite. Under the influence of the medicine all this quickly disappeared and I feel well again. One thing I wish to say, while they did the work finely, they were very gentle in action, no distress, no griping like other medicines, and I was able to work all the time. I can heartily recommend them to all who suffer from backache, kidney trouble or biliousness."

HAND WAS POISONED.

London, Ont., July 28.—Jas. S. Elson, a well known butcher, is dead, the result of blood poisoning. Two months ago he injured his hand on an office file. The puncture was very small, but poisoning developed, and although deceased lingered until Sunday, very little hope was entertained for his recovery for some weeks.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Parry Sound, July 29.—A double drowning accident under very sad circumstances occurred last evening about six o'clock near Two-mile Narrows, about two miles from here, by which the lives of Miss Etta Beatty, eldest daughter of David Beatty, D. L. S. of this town, and Mr. Frank Cross, a young Englishman whose relatives are in England, were both lost. The young couple were with a picnic party of Major Knifton's family, and were in bathing. Miss Beatty, although only a few yards from the shore, got beyond her depth. Mr. Cross at once rushed to her assistance, and it is said he seemed twice to be about to bring her to the surface, but, however, finally being overpowered, in his exertions, was himself drowned in the attempt to save her. Mr. Cross was known to be an exceptionally good swimmer. The bodies were shortly afterwards recovered.

If you want to be wretched, look within. If you want to be distracted and fearful, look round. If you want to be peaceful and happy, look up.

LIKES CANADA

John McCaughey, of Belfast, Admires our Country—N. H. Stevens Guest.

John McCaughey, Belfast, Ireland, is the guest of N. H. Stevens, this city. Mr. McCaughey, is the son of James McCaughey, the senior partner of the firm of that name who are the largest importers of flour and bran in Ireland. Mr. McCaughey in conversation with The Planet stated that during the past 25 years Belfast has had a surprising growth and was now the largest city in Ireland. It had a population of 350,000 and was about the same size as Montreal. The visitor from Ireland from Montreal said that his father's firm purchased their flour and bran from the Liverpool mills and from Canadian and American millers. The wheat from Australia and nearly all over the world was ground at the mills in Liverpool and his father's firm found it cheaper to purchase there because the freight rates from Liverpool to Belfast were low. During the past five years Australia has come prominently to the front as a wheat growing country. Mr. McCaughey will visit Detroit, Montreal, Philadelphia, and other business centres before returning home. He is favorably impressed with Canada and likes this country much. He is very enthusiastic over the pretty scenery along the St. Lawrence, especially below Quebec City.

A BAD BREAK

Peddler of Cheap Glasses Holds up E. J. MacIntyre and was Arrested.

E. J. MacIntyre, the optician, thinks that he knows a thing or two about eye glasses, and he does. He was, therefore, somewhat surprised this morning when a German Jew came up to his door and offered to sell him a pair of cheap eye glasses.

The man gave his name as W. L. Hooper, and Mr. MacIntyre says that the fellow tried to sell him a pair of spectacles for $3 that at 15 cents retail price would have afforded a good comfortable profit.

Mr. MacIntyre was angry that a man should go around victimizing his customers, but the well known jeweler was more, he was adroit. He led the eye glass vendor on to tell him many things and Mr. MacIntyre was surprised to learn that the grip merchant had sold glasses to Dr. Carson, R. Victor Carter, four girls at the Merrill Hotel, and a stationer.

A GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

"I hear that even for smart, like girls it's hard work to get a place as a governess," the poor, pale woman was querulously saying. "Of course, I don't know anything about it, though. Such things are a good many cuts above me, or Fan and Totey. Fan was with her till her health broke down, when she came home and helped me with the tailoring. I do for a West End sweater—for that's what he is. You ought to get something miles better. You might go into a grand draper's shop, only there you'd have to pay a premium. But it may be months before you can get hold of what you want. Wouldn't Lady Cope's heir do something, a little allowance?"

"I wouldn't have a penny from him!" I reiterated, picturing the blank lack of comprehension in these poor narrowed minds if I should blurt out the truth that I had refused Sir Roger Cope, with everything that was now his.

"You must've meant to go somewhere," observed Fan, still sulky, "for you've got a lot of regular Noer's harks out there on your growler. I bet you wasn't going to stop here?"

She finished innocently, but my face must have betrayed that she had stumbled upon the truth. Her jaw dropped. "Well, I never!" she ejaculated. "If I don't believe you meant that very thing?"

"I didn't know," I lied miserably to explain, "that that there were other daughters. I came because I had nowhere else to go, and I hoped—but, of course, I see—"

"We might put you up," said my mother, thoughtfully. "If you could stand it. It does seem hard to send one's own flesh and blood away from one's door. You'd have to help with the expenses, of course. That's what the girls do, though it nearly all comes on Fan now, and I couldn't afford anything else. Your six pounds would last you pretty near three months, the way we live, and you could go about looking for a place. But—"

"Law! you must be off your chump, ma!" coarsely exclaimed Fan. "A sweet-tempered girl like you for a fine lady like 'er. She's most ready to 'old 'er nose as it is."

My mother's thin face flushed angrily, and I felt the blood rush to mine. Until Fan's taunt it would have appeared unbearable to stay in such surroundings, crowding the occupants, who must already be cramped for breathing space. But her words raised in me a curious antagonism, a desire to contradict.

"It is my mother's house," I said, stiffly. "If she says that she will have me I will stay."

"There!" cried my mother. "Well, I do say it."

"Can you really put up with me?" I asked, pretending not to hear Fan's rude laughter.

"Fan can come in here to this bed," my mother returned. "You'd have to bunk in the back room with Totey."

"I'll send 'em away," I said, dreadfully. Then, suddenly I remembered a new embarrassment.

"My luggage!" I exclaimed. "What shall I do with it?"

"Lor!" groaned my mother, ruefully eyeing the proportions of my boxes through the one small window of the bedroom-kitchen.

"Oh, 'ave 'em in, do!" entreated Totey, almost dancing in excitement at the prospect. "We'll manage some'ow. I'm jest dyin' to see 'er things."

Half the street was ready to help the driver carry my belongings into the little house. The big trunks were taken to a tiny bare back room, furnished only with a narrow bed and shabby chest of drawers, the latter having a tin basin and a cracked yellow jug on its top. Small as the room was, the lack of furniture made accommodation for the boxes possible, and they were piled one on top of another against the wall. The cabman, evidently very curious, was paid, and sent away; and during the process of finding the right change I heard Totey whispering to a slatternly woman from next door that her "sister had come 'ome to stop—quite a lady, with no end of smart clothes, and 'ad been livin' with a p'rress."

Ten minutes later, no doubt, all Easel street was in possession of this savory morsel.

Mother had been engaged in replenishing the fire for "tea" when I had arrived. Now Totey was sent out with a few coppers, and shortly after returned with something brown wrapped in newspaper. This something resolved itself into four bladders, a delicacy with which my nose and eyes for the first time made acquaintance, as I was informed that it had been provided in honor of my coming.

While the bladders frizzled pungently in the fire, and the tea brewed in a brown earthen pot with half a spout, I was invited by Totey into the next room, which I was to share with her. Fan followed, with none too good a grace, to remove her belongings from two or three hooks on the wall, and the top drawers of the dilapidated chest. But her big black eyes sparkled as they roved over my boxes.

"I say, you must open them after tea," she said, with a commanding air which was characteristic of her. "I'll be fun to see what you've got."

"Wouldn't it be rather useless?" I asked, tonelessly. "I only brought so much luggage because I could not leave anything at home at Arrish Mell Court, and didn't know where to store the boxes. But, of course, I shall not need the things while I'm here, and they might as well stay packed as they are."

"Well, you will be a pig if you don't let us 'ave a look in!" exclaimed Fan, her red cheeks growing redder. "But it's jest what I expected."

"Oh, if you really care, you shall see everything, of course!" I sighed. And so it was settled. We were to come back directly after tea for the entertainment.

We sat down at the deal table, which had no cloth, and my mother hewed thick, repulsive rounds of bread or the strangest, most lumpy loaf I had ever seen. The girls spread this with the grease from the newly-cooked

Dodd's Kidney Pills

Tea was a serious meal in Easel street, and my three newly-acquired relatives laid in rations to last for several hours, asking me questions with their mouths full, about the doings of the aristocracy. I answered kindly, though as briefly as I could, but they hung upon my words with curious greediness, which I did not understand. Then, pushing back their well-polished plates at last, Fan and Totey sprang up, reminding me of my promise.

Then followed a strange scene. I knew not whether more comic or tragic. But my sense of humor swooned; and, sick at heart, I took from my boxes, exquisitely packed by Swift, my smart frocks, and underlinen of cambric or silk, and lace, sweet with the scent of orris root and violets. Each garment reminded me of some half-sister of mine; things utterly unsuitable to them, yet delighting their hearts with a joy such as, perhaps, they had never known. After the first gift or two, Totey capitulated entirely, smothering me with moist kisses, which I tried not to find repulsive. But Fan was still curiously on the defensive. She accepted what I gave with a stiff "thank you," but she eyed me as a house-cat eyes another suddenly imported to share its rug. I caught her watching me sometimes with a sullen, jealous stare, and one of her lighted with a vivid gleam when she heard our mother appraising my possessions, exclaiming that when my six pounds were exhausted I should have something substantial to fall back upon.

Never shall I forget my first night in Easel street. Used to a big, deliciously springy bed, spread with lavender-scented sheets, blankets light and white as thistle-down, and a satin coverlet that shatched the coloring of my room, the narrow, prison bunk which had to be shared with Totey was almost unbearable in its discomfort and squalor. I had half fearfully expected a letter from Roger Cope in the morning, but there was nothing for me; and after a breakfast of bitter tea and bread (eaten early that Fan might hurry off to the factory), I went out to try my luck at several employment agencies.

At one or two I had to pay a small booking fee in advance, and I was alarmed as I found my money (Swift's money) dwindling. My requirements and capabilities were written down, and towards noon I left the last establishment while I meant to visit that day, faint with hunger and weary for want of sleep.

As I came into the street and climbed adroitly up to the outside of an omnibus which I had halted, something made me suddenly turn my head over my shoulder. A man was looking up at me with intent, narrowed eyes, and an expression both sarcastic and threatening. As he met my astonished glance, his face became more menacing. He pretended to be halting another omnibus close behind the one I had taken, but though it was hard to believe that those dull, commonplace features were acting upon my mother's advice that I should make an instant go, I could not forget the shock I had received.

CHAPTER X.
The Spider in the Glass.

Within the next few days I had occasion to notice something strange in connection with the agencies to which I applied for a situation as companion or governess in a school or family. The managers would be cordial at first, and when she had heard the list of my accomplishments, held out high hopes of speedily obtaining me a desirable situation. But the next time that I went to make enquiries all would be changed. She would be stiff, reserved in manner, almost forbidding, telling me that there was a very little chance of my finding anything of the sort I wanted.

If this had been so only in one case I should have thought little of it; but, acting upon my mother's advice that it was well to have numerous "strings to one's bow," I had laid my claims before several agencies. And it certainly was remarkable, I thought, that in every instance I should be the same.

My half-sister Fan was now sixteen, and yet, as she informed me one day in a moment of confidence, she had no lover. But one evening she came home from the factory looking mysterious, with eyes that advertised a secret. The next night she did not appear till bedtime. We had been sitting up for her, and she awakened me, startled, showing a ring on the third finger of her left hand. This was a present, she excitedly announced, from a young man, a "real swell," who had been trying to make her acquaintance for some time, and who had taken her to the center. He wanted to "marry her family," and she was going to bring him home to the noon dinner next day, which would be Sunday.

I did not wish to meet my future brother-in-law; and besides, I thought that the family gathering would be happier without me, so I dined at a particularly early hour on a piece of bread and disappeared before Mr. Tom Stephens was expected. I would take a long walk, I thought, and not return until he was certain to have escorted the lady of his choice to some Sunday afternoon entertainment.

Hardly had I reached the end of the street, turning into another which led towards Commercial road, when I almost ran into the arms of the man who had stared after me one day as I left an employment agency. He gave me a queer look, and passed on, while I hurried away, fearing that he might follow. Presently, I glanced back, and was relieved to find that he was not in sight; but, sauntering after me, with his hands in the pockets of his Sunday coat, was a young man who lived in the "upper flat" of the house opposite my mother's in Easel street.

"Yes," he said, "I am a self-made man."
"But, my dear sir," returned the other, "why are you so anxious to reflect on your man making ability?"

READY FOR REFERENDUM

Large Attendance at Meeting of Ontario Alliance Held in Toronto.

All Friends of Temperance are Urged to Unite in Favor of the Referendum.

Toronto, Ont., July 29.—The convention of the Ontario Alliance for the suppression of the liquor traffic, called to take steps to organize for the referendum campaign and the vote of Dec. 4, is in session at Association hall, and is composed of over 600 of the most prominent temperance people of the province, presided over by Rev. Dr. W. A. Mackay, of Woodstock. The vice-presidents of the convention are Rev. Dr. Carman, G. F. Marter, R. J. Fleming and Mrs. May Thornley, and the conveners of committees were chosen as follows:

Rev. Dr. J. S. Ross, electoral action; Geo. Wrigley, resolutions; C. G. Fraser, finance; W. H. Orr.

The convention spent the morning in organization, which was not completed, and the heavy work will come on the reports of the committees in the afternoon. The feeling among the delegates is that the coming fight will be one to a finish, and the liquor interests are watching keenly the efforts of the temperance people to form an efficient organization to bring out the vote.

The report of the provincial executive was presented by J. J. MacLaren, K. C., and he detailed the story of the negotiations with the government respecting the change of the date of the referendum. The committee expressed approval of the work of J. L. Nicholls and W. W. Buchanan in the recent provincial campaign, and submitted recommendations that a resolution be adopted calling upon the friends of temperance throughout the province to unite in an earnest effort to win a decisive victory on Dec. 4; that the president of the Prohibition association in each county or electoral district be made a vice-president of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, thus giving each county representation on the executive; that the executive be instructed to take immediate steps to secure a live, working organization in each electoral district; that the referendum campaign be opened on the first Sunday of September; that all churches and temperance societies be requested to inaugurate an active movement to secure signatures from members of churches, Sunday schools and Young People's societies to the following pledge:

"I promise to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage and to discountenance such use by others."

Dr. MacLaren added that many Methodist ministers going to Winnipeg for the general conference might desire to open the campaign on the last Sunday of August.

Rev. Dr. Carman made a vigorous speech in moving that the executive report be referred to the committee on resolutions. There was no room for versatility of that kind at the present time. They must all regard each other as brethren, fellow soldiers, united in the great enterprise of rolling up a magnificent vote. It was within reach, he had no despair of that, if they were true. There were dear men and mighty men among them who said that the moral tone of the country was not up to prohibition. To these men he said: "If the moral tone is not what it ought to be, by all the considerations of religion, by all the considerations of the country, by all the considerations that move honest men, leap into the conflict and come to the assistance. We are going by the grace of God to lift the moral tone, to improve the moral sentiment."

In closing, the doctor hoped to see leading men of the political parties on their platforms. He wanted to see that the conscience was mightier than the caucus.

Senator Vidal, in his address, said Hon. George W. Ross, in introducing the bill, had stated that Senator Vidal had advocated that procedure. He did not wish to criticize that statement strongly, but it was a fearful mistake. Nothing in his mind during the Scott Act debates or at any other time contemplated it.

When a patrol of Mexican troops came to the rescue, two of the women and five of the men lay dead. Yaquis were weak from hunger, and when attacked by superior numbers, they were compelled to surrender. Fifteen prisoners, including two chiefs, were marched to Hermosillo, where they will be sentenced by General Torres. The band is supposed to be the last remnant of those who took to the war path some time ago.

WALLACEBURG

July 30.—W. Turner and Miss Turner.

Although the medicine business should, above all, be carried on with the utmost conscientiousness and sense of responsibility, the unfortunate fact is that in no other is there so much humbug and deception. The anxieties of the sick and their relatives are traded upon in the most shameful manner; impossible cures are promised; many preparations are absolutely worthless, and some are positively dangerous to health.

As a consequence, all proprietary remedies are regarded with suspicion by many people, and the good suffer for the bad.

For these reasons we announce that our proprietors are the principal shareholders in

In some of the Swiss valleys the inhabitants are all afflicted with goitre or "thick neck." Instead of regarding this as a deformity they seem to think it a natural feature of physical development, and tourists passing through the valleys are sometimes jeered by the goitrous inhabitants, because they are without this offensive swelling. Thus a form of disease may become so common that it is regarded as a natural and necessary condition of life. It is so, to a large extent, with what are called diseases of women. Every woman suffers more or less from irregularity, ulceration, debilitating drains, or female weakness, and this suffering is so common and so universal that many women accept it as a condition natural and necessary to their sex. But it is a condition as unnatural as it is unnecessary. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the delicate womanly organs and regulates the womanly functions, so that woman is practically delivered from the pains and misery which eat up ten years of her life between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well.
