

SUCIDE OF KING LUDWIG.

BAVARIA'S MAD MONARCH FOUND DROWNED IN A LAKE.

His Majesty's body was discovered in the lake near Munich. The king had been seen in the morning at the lake, and was found floating in the water. The coroner's jury has returned a verdict of suicide.

CHAMBERLAIN ON CANADA.

An invitation to this country to declare its independence. The Chamberlain's speech against the Home Rule Bill is a remarkable declaration, which was approvingly received in the Commons. The hon. gentleman went into the history of Canada and his advice towards autonomy, and then drew the inference: "You will have to give Ireland political independence, for there is no denying the fact that the self-governing colony of Canada is practically independent. The legislative assembly in that country has only to pass a resolution voting off its allegiance to the crown, and there is not a man in this House who would not stand up with his hand against it."

Based on Common Sense.

Manchester, June 14.—The Guardian says that Mr. Gladstone, Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain, the ministers who direct the desperate campaign in which the country is placed by a mistake policy on the Irish question, and that he alone perceives how the country can be saved by a change of policy. "We are confident," adds the Guardian, "that the country will not be misled by the diagnosis and proposed remedy, for they are based on rigorous common sense."

Evils from the Crisis.

The Conservative provincial papers bitterly criticize Mr. Gladstone's manifesto. The Irish papers do not make their comments on the manifesto a feature of their issues, but criticize it as a matter of course according to their political party bias. Without expressing a distinct opinion as to the expediency of the Home Rule Bill, the manifesto is, however, a masterpiece of statesmanship. The Edinburgh Standard says that Mr. Gladstone, in his manifesto, represents the people of Great Britain. "He never voted on the question of coercion without having in mind the interests of the people," says the Standard. "He never advocated the Government in this House."

MR. MORRISON'S TARIFF BILL.

Its Early Consideration by Congress Probable. Washington, D.C., June 14.—Mr. Morrison, in an interview today, said that he would soon introduce his tariff bill. The chances of success, he said, depended on the votes of the New York Democratic members, and had from the first been very uncertain. He said that the bill was a measure of protection, and would have brought in or called up the bill at any time since February, but he had not done so because of the value of the National principle to refrain from committing a tariff. "I have not been able to get a majority vote of my friends in this House," he said. "I expect a heavy majority on the bill without knowing more on the subject than he did at first, except that he was encouraged by the friends of the bill."

REV. DR. HANNA'S OPINION OF IRISH HOME RULE.

The People of the North Ready with Effective Means of Resistance.—The Rev. Dr. Hanna's opinion of the Home Rule Bill is a remarkable declaration, which was approvingly received in the Commons. FRENCH EVANGELIZATION.

WHAT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ACCOMPLISHED LAST YEAR.

Father Chénery Believes an Address Before the General Assembly at Hamilton—Praying for Light to Descend on the Ministry. Hamilton, June 14.—A deputation from the Methodist Missionary Association waited upon the General Assembly this morning, and through their spokesman, Rev. Dr. Hunter, welcomed the assembly of Hamilton, and congratulated them on the great work the Presbyterian Church was doing in Canada. In the afternoon an overflow from the Presbytery of Overton, meeting at Hamilton, twelve months' service in the mission field, instead of six as at present, be made compulsory upon graduating students of the Theological Seminary, and one from the presbytery of Kingston, making that the rule requiring graduating students to serve in the mission field be abolished, and that the rule be changed to that of the presbytery of Kingston. The college principals pointed out that it was asking too much to require students to go to the mission field after a seven years' collegiate course. It was decided to do away with the rule in so far as it concerned Canadian colleges. The principal of the Theological Seminary suggested that the rule be changed to that of the presbytery of Kingston, and that the rule be changed to that of the presbytery of Kingston.

FESTIVAL WEEK.

Toronto is about to realize her greatest effort in the way of musical development in the series of concerts commencing to-night under the conduct of Mr. Torrington.

The extensive preparations that have been made—the trouble of organization, the creation of a guarantee fund, the selection and drilling of choruses, the finding of a hall, the west of the city, the selection of an orchestra—has taken into consideration no one need be surprised to hear that the public are rushing in to secure seats, and that the prospects are good for a crowded audience at each of the four concerts. From what The World has seen of the rehearsals, of the business management, and from what it knows of the skill of the conductor and the reputation and ability of the chief performers, we have no hesitation in saying that the great audience that will attend will be fully satisfied.

A Full Chorus Rehearsal.

The final full chorus rehearsal was given last night before a large audience. The chorus and orchestra were given every indication of thorough and careful training by Conductor Torrington. Their excellence will in all probability be appreciated by crowded audiences at each of the four performances.
