Sir William Van Horne, the President of the C. P. R., works in an office which would be considered rather plain by many men who occupy much less pretentious positions in the affairs of this world. A new who were affairs of this world. A great many people would expect the head of the greatest railway in the world to have a palatial office where he could re-ceive his visitors with the dignity becom-ing the high post he fills. It is safe to say, however, that Sir William thinks much less of style when he is at work in his office than he does of how to increase the earning powers of the system of rails from ocean to ocean which he directs. Sir William's office is roomy, but plainly decorated, the walls being relieved by a fow framed scenes taken along the line of the railway, but not different from those

The President works at a roll top desk, which is not a bit more pretentions than the one used by his junior scretary. More interesting than anything in the room, perhaps, is the chair which he sits in when at his desk. It strikes the observer at first as being a somewhat ancient piece of furniture so well has its leather covering been worn. Being a prety heavy man, Sir William has doubtless given it much rougher usage than another man might, and he president is more than likely to be found him so well. It has a low back and the President is more than likely to be found sitting as much on that part of it as on the part of the stilling var. the seat proper. Being of the tilting var-iety, it is easy for him to work it that way to his comfort and advantage. At one end of his desk is a small table owed his first development, for Mr. Hale is the inventor of the earliest swinging harness which made the quick horse possible. When Mr. Henry M. Stanley and his wife were in this country, they witnessed an exhibition drill of the Kansas City fire department. The drill so impressed the visitors that an account of it was published in a Lon-don journal, and this English article brought an invitation to Mr. Hale to visit England as the representative of the American fire service at the interna-tional fire tournament. Mr. Hale and a picked corps went to England, tak-ing with them the remarkably quick horses Joe and Dan, and they became world famous. As the quickest harness-ing time of the London fire brigade is 1 minute 17½ seconds and the Kanass City horses were harnessed in 1½ sec-onds and ware out of the engine house in less than 8 seconds, there could be no competition. In Kansas City four fine bays were harnessed to the hook and ladder truck almost as quickly as even Joe and Dan could jump into their har-nesses. It was a pretty sight to see these four wolk kent horses mring to their a soft moisture in her eyes. The record for quickest time from the engine house to the throwing of water on the fire is held by a Kansas City company. In this instance the horses were harnessed, a run of 2,194 feet (a little less than half a mile) was made, was then in. The swain told me he had been charged by a girl, to whom he had been paying attention, with giving her measles, she claiming that the disease, which had been epidemic in the neigh-borhood, had been communicated to her by kissing her repeatedly while the de-fendant was recovering from measles. The girl's surly father sued the badly alarmed defendant for $50 damages, elsiming he had armended that sum in and water thrown from the hose in the wonderfully brief time of 1 minute 81 1/2 seconds. claiming the had expended that sum in doctor's bills for the afflicted daughter. I tried the case before a kind hearted old squire, and after the court had heard the testimony he delivered a long opin-ion in which he held that a girl as pretty as the plaintiff would make a boy risk measles and 'even dumb chills' to sip the sweets of her corallike lips. To speak of a "tree" without mention-ing its name appears as strange to a "forester" as if one spoke of horses and dogs only under the general name of quadrupeds, or as if we included chickens and men under the torm biped. Sir William Van Horne, the President of the C. P. R., works in an office which would be considered rather plain by many men who occupy much less protentious positions in the affairs of this world. A great many people would expect the head of the greatest railway in the world to many people would expect the head e greatest railway in the world to a palatial office where he could reof the groatest railway in the world to have a palatial office where he could re-ceive his visitors with the dignity becom-ing the high post he fills. It is safe to suy, howaver, that Sir William thinks much less of style when he is at work in his office than he does of how to increase the earning powers of the system of rails from coean to coean which he directs. Sir William's effice is roony, but plainly decorated, the walls being relieved by a fow framed scores taken along the line of the railway, but not different from those

ALL FOR LENKEN.

When Meyer came to Pineville, he gave his name as Wilhelm Windmayer, and it was promptly ubanged by the citizens to Bill Meyer. He came direct from the fatherland to make Pineville his home. He thought it was his duty, too, to tell everybody he had left a sweetheart behind, and that it was for her sake that he was working to make a home. Her name was Lenken. She was very beautiful, he mid, and so good that it seemed almost a miracle she had lived to the age of 20. It was this loyalty to the girl he had promised to marry and who was so far away that made Mayer a favorite with everybody in Pineville. But Meyer was a slow, easy going fallow, and the one thought about Lem-hen seemed to occupy every oranny of Reindeer for the Klondike.

Reindeer for the kloudike. Moss, as we understand it, is rather an uncommon vegetable. It would be diffi-cult, says the London Spectator, for in-stance, to find enough moss by an Eng-lish roadside to feed one reindeer per diem, not to speak of hundreds. But once beyond a certain line on the arctic fringe moss is the one common form of vege table life. Lichen is the more appropriat name, for it is a thick, whitish growth mains, for he is a table, which is solved springing up naturally, and often burned by the Lapps over large tracts, just as Soctch shepherds burn the heather to pro-duce a thicker crop for the deer. It is the natural vegetable covering of the earth where earth, and not rock, is on the sur-face. And the Klondike climate is particularly favorable to this moss, which lies over the whole soil, an invisible vege-sable lining, between the earth and the covering snow. It is so thick that even in summer, when the snow molts, this non-conducting layer of moss prevents the ground from thawing. Before the snow melts, as on the pro-jected journey of the deer, they will be traveling over one vast carpet of snow-covered food; and as each reindeer, male or female, has a third projecting palmated pringing up naturally, and often burn overed 1004; and as each reindoer, make or female, has a third projecting palmated antler, or "snow scraper," with a few sidelong sweeps of which it can brush away the snow, the herds have no trouble in reaching their food. A good reindeer will travel a hundred miles a day over frozen snow. When drawing burdens is will take a weight of 500 pounds, though the Lapps prefer to limit it to 240 pounds.

The Major ther confessed that the Em-peror was known among the common soldiers as "Alarm Fritz," on account of his habit of suddenly, in the middle of the night, rousing the garrison of the town in which he might be staying. The Em-peror laughed heartily at this, and Prince Henry remarked to his brother: "Well, you have a similar name in the navy! The boys call you 'Gondola Billy,' for gondoling about, as they call it, on your ships constantly in the summer, and be-ing everywhere and anywhere on the boats." "Well," said the Emperor, "those are three fine nicknames; but, insamuch as all of them paint me as a busy man, I rather like them." Lenken. "How long since you heard from Lenken?" Molly asked him one day. Meyer thought awhile. "A little over two years ago," he replied. "And when did you write to her?" "And when did you write to her?" "Oh, dat vas t'ree years ago." "Meyer, you ought to be ashamed of yourself," cried Molly. "You must sit down here right now and write Lenken a long leiter and tell her that you are still alive. "No, Meyer, I don's suppose you would or could, but with a woman it is different." An American girl who recently visited an English man-of-war was much sur-prised to learn that a London fashion pa-per was among the periodicals subscribed for by the committee on board. In reply to her inquiry, an officer stated that this war feminine magazine was designed for he distriction of the chaperon. When in port in foreign countries where the official class is English, there is, of course, when indulging in afternoon tes, more opportu-nity for scientific (?) discourse between the pesty girl visitors and the officers when the obsperon is provided with amusement, and instead of an officer permitting him-self to be victimized to the extent of carry-ing on a mild flirtation with the dowager, that social necessity is provided with a copy of the English woman's budoir au-thority, and it has never been known to fail in absorbing her attention to the ex-elucion of every other object of human in-terest.—San Francisco Argonaut. > Speaking of trees. To speak of a "trees" without mention-ing its name appears as strange to a "forester" as if one spoke of horses and dogs only under the general name of quadrupeds, or as if we included chickoms and men under the torm biped. In truth, and men under the torm biped. In truth, we ought to know more about the trees than we do, and to take every opportunity for learning to distinguish them to sight. It is not enough to distinguish them by their leaves, for many of them are swept bare in winter. A botanist says that the peculiarities of different trees are more readly distinguishable in winter than in summer.

This was early in the morning, and while the crew were repairing demonstrate by proceeding on har and while the crew were repairing damages and the ship proceeding on her voyage the big shark came up astern and took up a position on the port side and only about 30 feet away. His length was earefully measured by the officers and recorded at 88 feet 3 inches. He had been heard of through the papers, and the crew were warned to be careful in their work aloft. In hopes to drive the monster away Captain Taylor brought out a heavy shotgun and fired charges of buckshot into him at short range. At that hour the repairs were about somplete, and the men were laughing and joking over the persistency of the demon, when one of them fell from the yard as they were making sail. He turn-ed over, and over in his descent, but struck the water feet first and was out of sight a long minute. When he came to the surface, he shot his fall length out of water, and the men uttered a cheer to encourage him, and the life cheer to encourage him, and the life preserver was cut away. The man had just grasped it when the shark seized him by the legs, and those who were looking saw both man and the life preserver disappear in the maw of the mon-ster. Later on fragments of the float came to the surface, but nothing further was seen of the shark. The incident was logged and duly reported in New York. News of strange things at sea passes about in maritime circles with wonderful celerity. THE CAPSULOID COMPANY

THE CAPSULOID COMPANM, Brockville, Ontario. Gentlemen,—Twelve years ago I had my first attack of kidney trouble following a heavy cold. The pain in the back was sovere and there was smcthering over the kidneys. I rapidly lost in strength, weight, and color. I got over my first attack, but my kidneys were left weak and tender. Soveral small attacks have since weakened them, and about a year were I had the worse attack of all I was confined to my soom for sight. and the worse attack of all. I was confined to my room for eight weeks. My doctors attended me constantly and by their ability unled me through but when I gos around again, I found that my kidneys were in the same old state and nothing that could be done seemed able to heal and make them sound. A friend of mine—a doctor—told me to try Capsuloids. unake them sound. A friend of mine—a doctor—told me to try Capsuloids. A month ago I commenced taking them. Now every one of the bad symp-toms have disappeared. The pain is all gone and I scarcely ever feel any smothering. I have gained three pounds, improved in my appetite, lost that sallow kidney complexion and have a good healthy strong appearance, with lots of color in my face. Best of all, all the kidney symptoms that so worried me have disappeared. It is hard even for me to believe, but it is perfectly true I feel thankful to the Capsuloid Company.

Pear near North Augusta, as the public park, fair ground or place of amusement, it is too bad that the public-pairited citizens could not devise some means to secure the prop-erty and hold it for a few years until Athenians became educated up to the meed of baving the property thrown

The inquest developed the fact stated, with out attaching any blame to Pear. The inquest developed the fact that Scribner had last fall sold the right to make bis spring beds to Pear, and that during the negotiations he had found time to talk love to Pear's sister, Mrs. McIntosh, and that in subsequent or the purchase of the property. time to talk love to Pears suscer, mrs. McIntosh, and that in subsequent cor-respondence they had considered the question of getting married. The widow and son of deceased came

NOTICE is hereby given that after the ex-piration of twenty days from the first permission of this Lotice, an application will counties of the source, and Grenville by Joseph Pembroke Mott of Elizabethtown, in the said County of Leeds. Farmer, to be appointed Guardian of his infant daughter Mabel Carry Mott and her estate, and this nefec is given in purshance of Sec. 11. Chapter 137 of the Re-vised Statutes of Oniario (1887) and Amending Acta. W. J. WRIGHT.

Under the auspices of Court Athens O. O. F. Admission 25c reserved seats 35c. Plan of hall at Lamb's bers of Foresters' Court.

If you want to get even with a man, give his daughter a kodak. She will love you for it, and it will break her father up. It costs as much to run a kodak as to keep a horse or bet on the neces. The amounts are small, but they are yery numerous. Before a girl has learned snough to take and develop a single plo-ture her father will have paid out a sum sufficient to have paid for photographs by a professional of the entire family, the cow and dog included. It is a good echeme for making a man trouble and getting oredit for generosity in doing it.—Atohison Globe.
