The Remedies With a Record

Father Morrissey's "No. 10" For Throat and Lungs

During his many years of practice Father Morrissey successfully treated thousands who were suffering from Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Inflammation of the Lungs. His favorite prescription was a Cough Mixture and Lung Tonic that came to be called "Father Morrissey's No. 10."

Unlike the majority of cough mixtures, "Father Morrissey's No. 10" does not depend on such drugs as Opium and Morphine to deaden the irritation and give temporary relief—in fact, there is not a trace of any of these dangerous drugs in it.

The simple but effective remedies provided by Nature herself were selected and combined by Father Morrissey, with remarkable skill, into a medicine that has earned the name of a "Lung Tonic" as well as a "Cough Cure." It soothes the inflamed membrane of the throat or lungs, removes the irritation or mucus that causes the coughing, relieves the congestion, and restores the parts to a healthy condition. More than that, "No. 10" tones up and strengthens the whole system and fortifies it against future colds.

For ordinary winter coughs and colds "No. 10" is unsurpassed and is one of the safest remedies you can use. Trial size 25c. per bottle. Regular size 50c.

Read what it has done for these two sufferers:

I had been ailing for some time and in a low, run-down condition; two experienced physicians were consulted and gave me case up as hopeless. I determined to try Father Morrissey's Lung Tonic, and had scarcely finished one bottle when I felt my strength returning. I persevered in the treatment, and am now perfectly well, and would recommend the Lung Tonic to all who are afflicted as I was.

I can testify to the benefit derived from Father Morrissey's cure for Bronchial Trouble. For some time I was a sufferer from this trouble, and could get no relief from it, until I used his medicine prescribed.

On taking Father Morrissey's medicine, to my surprise, I began to improve, and was completely cured. With a grateful heart I give this testimonial to the great value of Father Morrissey's prescriptions.

FATHER MORRISSEY'S LINIMENT FOR ACES AND PAINS

In treating Coughs and Colds with "No. 10," or Rheumatism with "No. 7," it helps a great deal to rub the affected parts with Father Morrissey's Liniment. For sore throat and cold in the chest a piece of flannel should be wrung out of hot water, sprinkled with a few drops of the liniment, and applied after the rubbing. For Rheumatism the liniment should be warmed and rubbed in freely, morning and evening.

The genuine Father Morrissey remedies are being put up by the same druggists, in exactly the same way, as they were prepared during the priest-physician's lifetime. What they accomplished then for hundreds of sufferers they will do for you now. You know something of their record in years past; you can depend on them now. Get them at your dealer's or from

FATHER MORRISSEY MEDICINE CO., LTD.

Father Morrissey's "No. 7" For Kidney and Rheumatism

When the slightest exposure to dampness or cold brings rheumatic aches to joints or muscles, it's a sure sign that the blood is wrong. It's loaded with Uric Acid, poisonous and exceedingly irritating—formed from the worn out tissues and waste matter taken up by the blood from different parts of the body. When things are working right this poison is immediately filtered from the blood by the kidneys and got rid of. But sometimes the kidneys do not keep up with their work—the blood gets overloaded with Uric Acid, and it collects in the fibres of the muscles—in the joints—in the valves of the heart. Then there's a case of Rheumatism, caused simply by defective action of the kidneys, and brought on by exposure.

Father Morrissey had a wide experience in treating Rheumatism, and an exceptionally successful one. The prescription on which he depended was one of his own, called "Father Morrissey's No. 7." It acts directly on the kidneys, and has a toning, invigorating effect on these organs, helping them to clear themselves of the accumulated Uric Acid and to get working properly once more. Then they quickly purify the blood—and the cause of the Rheumatism is gone. The joints limber up, the pains go away and the disease is eradicated from the system.

I sought the advice of the late Father Morrissey about two years ago. I was suffering from Rheumatism, aggravated by other complaints, and had been treated by local physicians without any result whatever.

Almost totally discouraged, I consulted with the late Father Morrissey by letter and he prescribed for me. His medicines, while not effecting a permanent cure, benefited me greatly. You are at perfect liberty to use my name, as I shall deem it an honor, and the mark used with the skill of the late Father Morrissey in any way, however remote.

Yours truly,

PATRICK BYRNE.

Mr. Stanley K. Smith, Gen. Secretary Chatham Y.M.C.A., writes on July 3, 1909:
"Having used Father Morrissey's Liniment in my capacity as Physical Director of the Chatham Y.M.C.A. for rubbings on sore muscles or aches, I can heartily recommend the liniment to runners, athletes or anyone whose muscles are subject to strain. During the season the Y.M.C.A. have placed a large number of athletes in the field, and the majority used nothing else but this liniment. For removing stiffness and soreness of the muscles, it is unequalled."

THE FAIR IMPOSTOR.

CHAPTER XXXIV.
The Voice of the Storm.

As she slipped into the corridor a gust of wind caught the old house and seemed to shake it from cellar to garret. She paused a moment and had got her foot on the stairs, when another and a fiercer blast followed and something fell in the gallery.

At the same moment she heard her name called by Sir Talbot. She stood a moment motionless. Her nerves were strung up to their extreme tension. Pale and trembling she clung to the balustrade, listening. Another and yet another blast seemed to shake the house; and once more she heard her name called; this time from the picture gallery.

With an effort she gained command over her limbs, which for a time had refused to obey her, and went swiftly toward the gallery.

By the aid of a dim light she saw an indistinct object, half kneeling half crouching before a picture. It was Sir Talbot, his white face upturned, his eyes, with a strange wildness, fixed on the picture of his dead wife. The sudden blast had shaken the ebony doors open, and the beautiful face looked down with, as it seemed to Lillian, overwrought nerves, an expression of anger.

Trembling and agitated she went up to him and put her hand on his shoulder.

"What is it, papa?" she said.

"Why have you come here?" The old man did not remove his eyes from the picture, but holding up one trembling hand, muttered:

"Hush! she speaks. That is my wife. She is asking me what I have done with her child." Lillian, horror-stricken, knelt beside him and clung to him. Had he gone mad, or, rather, had the moment of awakening come, and did he know her for an impostor?

"Her child," he repeated, dreamily. "She cannot see you. Look, Helena, this is she; this is little Lillian. Why does she look at you as if she did not know you? Do not stare so coldly, Helena. I wronged you, but I have made atonement. Ask her—she is your child—ask her if I have not loved her. Lillian, speak to her! Tell her who you are and how we love each other, we two."

It was the last straw which broke the back of her endurance; with a wild cry she threw herself on the floor at his feet, and hid her face in her hands.

"Oh, Heaven!" she moaned, "come away! She will not look at me—she does not know me! I am not her daughter!"

The old man looked down at her with a vacant smile.

"What is it you are saying?" he said, gently. "Are you married? You are Harold's wife are you not?"

He went to find my daughter, you know and she—and she—why, you are she!" and he took her white hand and stroked it. A silence terrible and indescribable fell upon them. It was broken suddenly by the old man; the attack of delirium brought about intense weakness was passing, he was recovering his senses. With a startled cry he called to her.

"Lillian! Lillian! what are you doing here—what has happened? What—what—"

A blast of wind shook the gallery and silenced him.

As if it had been the voice of an accusing angel, Lillian covered and hid her face.

"Come, my dear," he said, with a troubled look. "What are we doing here? Why should we weep before your mother's portrait? If those were her eyes and lips, in very truth they would beam and smile with solemn joy at you—at our happiness—for what remains of my life is bound up in you, my darling, my poor wronged wife's child! Lillian, I shall never forget the night, that night I misjudged her so cruelly; the night she fled from her home—from this house—she took you with her, a wee little thing, that I loved, oh, so dearly! but I hardened my heart and strove you out of it; ay, and to my own cost, nearly succeeded, until I learned that I had wronged your mother. Well, well—do not let us go back—all that is passed! Come, dear, let us go down to dinner."

But she did not move; half kneeling, half crouching at his feet, she clung to his arm, her lovely face with a wild misery wrestling its delicate lines; there was love, remorse, and an agony of piteous imploration in the dark eyes and strained lips.

"Father!" she breathed with an effort. "Can you hear—oh, Heaven—can you hear to hear the confession of a miserable, wretched, crime-stained creature? Can you bear it? For I must tell you, I cannot endure it longer. To night a mist has cleared away, and I see what I have done in its true light, and know what a black, base-hearted wretch I am!"

The old man stared at her with puzzled, frightened eyes, and would have drawn her closer to him, but she shrank guiltily and humbly away, and seemed scarcely to dare touch him. He did not speak, but his lips trembled.

"Father!" she wailed. Then she paused and broke out in a low moan: "If he thrusts me from him I shall die! Father, look at me, listen to me. Do you understand? I want, I must tell you something that I have done—a cruel, wicked crime I have committed."

He smiled, and stroked her hair lovingly.

"You—my Lillian!" he said, with a shudder.

"Oh, don't speak, do not look at me so gently, or my heart will break! Speak harshly, spurn me from you, for I am an impostor. I am not your daughter, Lillian Woodleigh—I am not your wife's child. I have no right here, at your feet, and—oh! the Heaven would let me die!"

Something, the force of truth, which rang in her anguished tones, pierced his brain. He looked at her, his hand faltered, his face went deadly white. With a troubled gesture, he put up his hand to his quivering lips.

"What do you say?" he murmured. "Do you want to kill me? Come nearer. Have I gone mad? I used to be called mad Woodleigh, and they said that I should end my days in a madhouse. Am I mad—or—am I dreaming? Come nearer, Lillian, let me touch you."

"No, no! Be strong! Be strong!" she burst out, not loudly, but with fearful intensity. "I am not worthy to have your head upon me. I am an impostor—a traitor! I have betrayed your love. I am not your wife's child. I am an outcast, an actress, an adventurer. Now spurn me and cast me from you."

With an articulate moan he sank into a chair, and hid his face in his hands. Then, suddenly, he rose and looked down at her, a strange light in his eyes.

"I hear, I understand. Where—where is her daughter? and he pointed to the portrait that looked down at them with a solemn stare.

"Dear," moaned Lillian, crouching with her hands clasped in her lap. "Dead," he echoed. "Dead," he repeated, with a sob; then he bent toward her with a solemn, eager scrutiny, and seemed to scan every feature of her working face.

"Then, who are you? You called me father, even now. Is that also a lie?"

"No," she cried, and the cry seemed to pierce the old man's heart. "I am your daughter—disowned and deserted—"

He stopped her with uplited, trembling hand. He knew, and saw it all in a moment.

For a minute, that seemed an age, he looked at her, and then held out his arms.

"Come, my daughter," he said, simply. "Yes, I can bear to hear it all now, for you are still mine. Come, my poor child."

With a cry she threw her arms round him. "Father, you do not throw me off?"

"Come," he said, and bending, put his arm round her neck.

With a stifled sob she hid her face on his bosom, and he in silence poured upon her his forgiveness and unalterable love.

"How long she knelt she knew not. A step in the gallery recalled them to the world.

It was a servant. He paused, afraid to disturb them, but as Sir Talbot turned his head interrogatively, the man said:

"The duke is in the library, Sir Talbot."

"The duke? Let us go, my child," said Sir Talbot, and with his arm linked in hers went slowly down the stairs. Lillian drew back at the door, but the old man turned an imploring look on her, and still arm-in-arm they entered.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

Does it ever occur to you when something very unpleasant happens, that it isn't as bad as if it were twice as bad?

A mong my friends I have one incurable optimist. From every unkind blow that fate deals him—and it has dealt him several very harsh ones—he recovers himself with a smile.

And it isn't by any means the silly grin of the cheerful idiot—who doesn't know enough to be down in the mouth, either. It is the rainbow smile of the man worth while.

The man who can smile. When everything goes dead wrong.

In sheer amazement at his refusal to appear in the least disconcerted, just after a knock-down blow that would have made most men go about looking like walking tombstones, I insisted one day that he explain himself, and he gave me that first sentence as the key to his optimism:

"When I was a little boy and anything I didn't like happened, I always tried to comfort myself with that 'Tisn't as bad as if it were twice as bad."

"No matter what the trouble was—whether I broke my leg or one of my pet rabbits died, or it rained the day of the Sunday School picnic, or I didn't get the skates I wanted, or Christmas, I'd always cheer myself up with 'Tisn't as bad as if it were twice as bad.'"

"And I still do."

A funny little notion, isn't it?

But isn't there a whole philosophy of life in it?

There are two points of view from which to look on life, and I am more

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

HOUSEHOLD NOTICES

A good bait for a rat trap is a paste made of cornmeal and eggs.

Cucumber and almond cosmetics both cleanse and whiten the skin.

The interior of every refrigerator should frequently be scalded with soda water.

Very delicate flannel work may be cleaned with a paste of sweet oil and trippol.

Nothing else is as good as kerosene to keep vermin out of garbage kettles.

A nutmeg or cheese grater is more quickly cleaned with a stiff brush than in any other way.

White silk shirt waists should always be washed in tepid water. Warm water will turn the silk yellow.

Wash chamomile skin in tepid water, with plenty of white soap, and let it dry without wringing out hard.

Peaches may be as easily peeled as tomatoes, if the fruit is plunged for an instant only in boiling, not hot, water.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
Cleanses

The bags in which flour or sugar come make excellent dishcloths. It is well to stitch up the bags, using them double.

The dishcloth should be washed in a good lather after it is used, then rinsed in clear hot water and hung out to dry.

Scraps of soap should be put into a little muslin bag and tied up. The bag can be shaken about in the water to produce a lather quickly.

Blood oranges are delicious to use when making orange ice or ice cream. Not only do they give a satisfying flavor, but the color is pleasing.

Don't use scouring soap on enamel bathtubs; the enamel will soon be cut through if you do. Kerosene applied with a rag will remove all spots.

If a lemon is heated, either by being plunged into boiling water or by being put into the oven for a few moments, the juice will be more readily extracted.

An infallible rule for all steamed foods is to place them over cold water, but when it begins to boil never let the water stop boiling until the food is done.

Eggs stuffed with sardines are very tasty. They may be served either hot or cold; if hot, a cream sauce, seasoned with a little lemon juice, goes well with them.

If apples are cored before they are pared, there is less danger of their breaking. A clothespin may be substituted for the regulation corer with good effect.

Cut a raw turnip in two and use it to "grease" the pancake griddle. It will do as well as grease and the pancake will be without the slightest greasy taste.

An experienced cook says that when using molasses she always cooks it first. She lets it come to a boil, and then skims it carefully. Then there is no unpleasant raw taste.

A little minced sweet green or red pepper added to the croquettes, hash or morning dish of eggs, weathered, spiced, scrambled or served as an omelet, will prove a tasty change.

If one would have the cheese keep moist and not mildew, wrap it in a cloth wrung out in vinegar and then slip it into a paper bag before putting it into the refrigerator.

Kerosene poured upon wash basins, upon pools, into rain barrels and tanks—wherever there is water or accumulation of waste—will lessen the breeding of flies and mosquitoes.

An excellent whitener is made by adding a handful of borax to the pail of soapsuds used in washing floors or woodwork. The borax also renders the suds less trying for the skin.

Lacquered brass should never be cleaned with anything but a soft rag, dampened in tepid water. Bright brass can be rubbed with soft soap and vinegar and then polished with whiting.

If the Parmesan cheese is purchased by the pound and then grated or run through the grinder it will be less expensive than when bought already prepared for use with macaroni or soups.

A good way to scent lingerie and blouses is to make drawer linings of a double fold of white muslin or silk into which a pad of wadding is slipped slightly perfumed with one's favorite scent.

When making a peach shortcake, make a syrup of half a cupful of sugar and four table-spoonfuls of water. Pour this white hot, over the sliced peaches before spreading the fruit on the buttered cake.

A.P.C. Report.

The field of operation of the A.P.C. for lectures during the summer was chiefly confined to that section of Trinity Bay extending from Bonavista to Cavendish.

A public meeting was held at each of the following 25 places, but a great many other harbors were visited also: Bonaventure, British Harbor, Ireland's Eye, Britannia Cove, Burgoyne's Cove, White Rock, George's Brook, Shoal Harbor, Clarendville, Foster's Point, Elliott's Cove, Heckman's Harbor, Deer Harbor, Fox Harbor, Northern Bight, Long Beach, Hodge's Cove, Little Heart's Ease, St. Jones With-out, Bay Bulls Arm, Chance Cove, Bellevue, Norman's Cove, Green's Harbor and Cavendish. The meetings were all well attended and in several instances people walked five miles to be present.

One would think that this district, owing to its proximity to St. John's, and also for the past few years having a railway service, that modern ideas and conditions would be moderately in evidence. Although on the surface this may seem true, yet in reality other circumstances are to be found. In many places a mall boat is never seen and the nearest railway station is two miles distant. Again, trains usually pass at midnight or in the early morning; so the advantages to be derived from this source are greatly minimized.

Rather than dwelling upon the prevalence of consumption let us direct our attention to conditions which were found that are greatly conducive to the disease. For it must be understood that consumption is rampant and the vast majority of young people who die are victims of the Great White Plague. In one small place of about 200 population a well informed resident in the course of a short conversation enumerated very readily 20 who had died of pulmonary tuberculosis. A not unusual occurrence was for my attention to be directed to houses where practically whole families had been exterminated by consumption; but apart from the past history it appears that there are existing at the present time an alarming number of cases, and the doubt of the populace as to whether such a person is suffering from consumption or not is frequently expressed, though in many of these cases the disease is conspicuously and painfully evident.

PEOPLE.—The people for the most part are kind and affable and very often most obliging. Their isolation has rather militated against the spread of modern ideas. The tendency quality. They are often situated in the drain by the roadside, where animals of all kinds have free access. A hole on the lower side of the road receiving the drainage of several houses and gardens often furnishes the water for the neighbouring families.

SCHOOLS.—In a few localities large and properly planned buildings are being erected, but on the whole the school buildings are not suited to accommodate the pupils and the furniture is rarely of the desired kind. The facelions existing in these places act detrimentally to the good of the children and leave a delapidated building where a suitable and commodious structure might easily be erected. But the fact stands out clearly that crowded in those badly ventilated and poorly constructed schoolrooms are from 30 to 60 children day after day sowing on would-be healthy soil seeds which must choke a healthy constitution and leave growing humanity very susceptible to consumption.

One school opened after the holidays without the floor being scrubbed in the interval. Thirty children were crowded in a small room on a beautiful July day with no window open, and not a window in the whole building could be opened. The sashes are made in one piece and fitted in the box so that they cannot be moved. Four schools were examined in succession and not a window in any of them could be opened. Very little expenditure and a will on the part of the parents and proper enlightenment upon the danger to the health of the children could easily revolutionize these conditions.

LODGES.—Meetings were usually held in the Orange Lodges, and it must be admitted with pleasure that the Orangemen were always willing to do their part to aid the work of the A.P.C. Many of the Lodges are good buildings, but ventilation in nearly all is insufficient, and in many hills crowded, and in summer, can readily be understood. Several Lodges were unfinished, and during the explanation of the plans and of the reasons for the incomplete buildings, the cause assigned in some cases was that death dues were heavy and thus impoverished the till. In those cases it was very common to find the cause of the deaths to be consumption. A member of one Lodge stated that two members had died of tuberculosis recently, and a coincidence worth noting is, that spitting in that hall was the worst seen in the bay.

The passage of hygienic laws in such Lodges must of necessity increase the financial prosperity of the Society and be of lasting good as an example to the community. A few Lodges had anti-spitting by-laws, but spitting was most conspicuous at many of the meetings until its evils were pointed out. If the Orangemen as a body made it a point to discuss tuberculosis at some of their meetings it would prove of incalculable value.

SPITTING.—The habit of spitting is well formed and unconsciously the sputum is deposited on the floor in masses repugnant to behold. One gentleman of a group while conversing on tuberculosis loudly proclaimed that he had been spitting for the past eight years and he intended stopping it for no man. Evidently it is considered an interference with man's prerogative to attempt to put down the pernicious habit of careless spitting, even by explaining its evils.

What is H.P.?

Just arrived from England
Ask your Grocer.

COOKING.—Cooking is of the crudest kind, very little attention being paid to varying the methods of presenting the food. Stores furnish very little variety of foodstuffs, as it is claimed they will not sell. In most households there are a large number of meals. Flour is usually of a good quality, and if cooking classes could be established for a few months in some of those localities the women would be very teachable, and under a competent nurse with the same expenditure the appetite could be much more effectually appeased. The stomach would not be compelled to work overtime. The system would be better nourished and the proclivities to consumption would be lessened.

M. C. ROBERTS.

NOTE.—The conditions upon which Mr. Roberts comments in the above report are more or less prevalent over a large part of Newfoundland, as most people know. There is some reason to think, however, that in some degree they are improving. The principal hope of betterment would appear to lie in continuing the agitation that has been begun and pursuing a campaign of education by lectures, by trained nurses and through the schools and societies. The subject is admittedly of sufficient importance to call for the appointment of a special Health Officer or Department whose entire time and attention can be devoted to the study and improvement of public health matters. The cost would pay for itself over and over again. The people are ready and willing to learn, and our social obligations demand that this question should be seriously dealt with.—Com.

Wedding Bells.

PIPPY-BERTEAU.
"Happy is the bride the sun shines on." Such were the words that was spoken yesterday when it became known that the wedding of Francis F. Berteau and Nellie V. Pippy would take place in the Methodist Church at 2 p.m. before a large audience. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. A. M. Bamford. The bride, handsomely attired in a dress of cream lace over satin, with wreath of orange blossoms, sweet peas and chrysanthemums, looked charming as she entered the church, leaning on the arm of her father, Thos. A. Pippy, Esq., with Miss Enid Berteau as bridesmaid. She was met at the altar by the groom, he being supported by Alexander Winter, Esq., St. John's. The ceremony over, the bride parted left the church amidst showers of rice and the old slipper. The wedding reception was held at the residence of John B. Martin, Esq., where a large number of guests were invited, of whom were Dr. G. N. Murphy, Misses Berteau (3), Mr. and Mrs. Berteau, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Martin, Mr. Hayward, Miss Nettle Anthony, Miss May Downer, Miss Nellie Warren, Miss Ramsay, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Miller, Miss Pearl Pippy, Mr. Harold Pippy and Master Teddie Berteau. After the reception the party left for Port-au-Fort to spend the honeymoon, returning to the island on Saturday next. The presents were costly and numerous. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold necklace and the bridesmaid a gold stick pin. We wish them many years of wedded bliss and abundant success in the welfare of their future happiness.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 38, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Kaufman Rashes Lang.

Around the Ring in Sixth Round but Unable to Knock Him Out.

National Base Ball Park, Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Al. Kaufman, the heavyweight of California, to-night got the popular decision over Bill Lang, the Australian heavyweight. In only one round did Lang show to advantage, the second, in which he fought back and punished the Californian as severely as the latter had hurt him in the opening round. From this round to the close of the fight, Kaufman had all the advantage.

The fight as a spectacular exhibition was disappointing. Time and again Lang would lead with his right and then to a clinch, requiring the assistance of the referee to force the men apart. In the fifth round Kaufman rushed his man all around the ring but was unable to land the knockout. Kaufman left the ring without a mark, but Lang's face was swollen and there was a cut between his eyes, where Kaufman had a hard left. The "go" was scheduled for six rounds and was witnessed by 8000 persons.

Itching Piles For 27 Yrs.

Despaired of ever getting relief until cure came 3 years ago with use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mr. John Johnson, Cawley, Alta., writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of twenty-seven years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I could ever get from the terrible misery of piles. Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time now and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this Ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Any one doubting this can write direct to me."

Do not accept an imitation or substitute in place of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there has yet to be discovered a treatment which so promptly gives relief from itching and so thoroughly cures every form of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto. Big Hotel Projected.

We are glad to learn that a forward step is being taken in the movement to establish a large hotel in our midst. It will be remembered that we devoted considerable space last October to ventilate the views of prominent citizens of St. John's on this project. Since that time a large hotel company of London have interested themselves in the movement and are willing to enter upon the project if local men will put as much money into it as the company. We learn that the Reid-Newfoundland Company are willing to invest $50,000 cash in the stock, and also to transfer their leasehold interest in the site and foundations at Cavendish Square and also to hand over the plans and estimates they had prepared some twelve years ago. We understand that the Government are willing to grant the reversion of this leasehold interest to the Hotel Company, so that the latter would hold the fee simple interest in the property. The stimulus a large modern hotel would give to our increasing tourist traffic would be great. It is to be hoped that the project will materialize.

Memorial to Captain Cook.

It is proposed to erect a memorial in London to the memory of Captain Cook, the great navigator, and whose connection with surveys in Newfoundland is well known. Lord Brassey who was here recently in his famous yacht, Sunbeam, is one of the Committee, who are raising £3,000, and who have subscribed one-third of it among themselves. It is proposed also to erect tablets at Marton-in-Cleveland, Yorks, Cook's birthplace; at Great Aylton, where he was educated; and at Whitby with which he was long associated. Lord Brassey is the treasurer of the fund.

Nldr. Held For Murder Acquitted.

It will be remembered that early in the summer a young lad named William Shute, a native of Harbor Grace, while working longshore in Montreal hit and killed a man named William Miller, who, it was sworn had persecuted Shute and had cast repeated aspersions on his mother. Much sympathy was expressed for Shute who was quiet and inoffensive, but nevertheless he was arrested and tried on the capital charge. Lieut. Col. Renouf, a patriotic Newfoundland, residing at Montreal, wired people here that Shute, who was defended by Lawyer Greenshield, had been acquitted. The verdict was received with satisfaction by all who followed the case, and though the death of Shute's tormentor was deplored, it was generally held that Shute could not do otherwise than defend his mother's honour.

By the regular at 6 p.m. yesterday there went out about 50 passengers.

Archbishop Howley

Considers Award Very Satisfactory

There is, perhaps, no living man who knows more about the Newfoundland fisheries question recently adjudicated upon by the Hague Tribunal than does the Most Reverend Michael Howley, Archbishop of St. John's, Newfoundland.

His Grace is at present at Montreal attending the Eucharistic Congress, and is a guest at St. Patrick's Presbytery. The distinguished prelate has recently returned from The Hague where he heard the case presented for Great Britain and the United States by the great jurists representing the two arbitrating powers.

It is a well known fact that Archbishop Howley played a very prominent part in the preparation of Newfoundland's case although His Grace with characteristic modesty gives all credit for the splendid manner the ancient Colony's side was drawn up by the Hon. J. M. Kent, K. C., the late Minister of Justice in Sir Robert Bond's Cabinet.

"Speaking generally—and I am compelled to speak so, not having had the opportunity of studying the several phases of the award closely—I may say that the decision is or should be satisfactory to Newfoundland and Great Britain. The Hague Tribunal has sustained our contentions in a manner quite acceptable to us and it only remains for our government in the colony to exercise the rights the award gives us to greatly promote the best interests of the people of the island. Whether this will be done or not, I cannot say. I am sorry to confess that political exigency has played too prominent a part in the affairs of Newfoundland in the past. It does not require any great exercise of one's memory to recall election issues there which resulted in the people espousing a cause opposed, I am convinced, to their best interests.

"But the pride of our selection this season is the new Hardy Poetz Narcissus, a unique Hybrid, which grows flowers in clumps; beautiful shades of yellow, orange and white. Also, no one has any interest in bulb culture should start some of these. Price 75c. a dozen—adv't.

Commenting on the details of the decision of the tribunal His Grace said:

"What the American has gained is of little value and does not seriously affect existing right from Newfoundland's standpoint.

Treaty Nation Subject to Local Laws.
"Clause I, states the principle that a nation granting treaty rights has power to make laws governing the exercising of those rights on land or sea, and that the treaty nation is bound to respect the laws and regulations of the one granting these privileges. This is important, considering the stand the treaty nation has adopted at the Hague. This, in a treaty nation, when confronted with the application of local laws, might say, 'I care nothing for your laws; I have no treaty rights here, but I can be readily understood, is a pernicious principle and would be disastrous to us in Newfoundland especially. The broad principle laid down in this clause means that local laws cannot be ignored by anyone, whether citizen or otherwise.

"In section 2 of this clause the term equitable and fair is vague and may possibly lead to misunderstanding in the future; but with this we are not concerned at present.

"Clause 1, as I have said, is important as it is well to have our rights definitely recognized and established, but existing conditions will be little affected by the award in this regard. It affirms a broad, abstract thing to have in our favour.

"Clause II, which states that others than citizens of the United States may be employed by American fishing vessels is of little importance.

Little Change Wrought by Award.
"Clause III is in our favour. The Americans maintained that they could do as they liked without respect to our customs and policing regulations. The award decrees little or nothing that has not been in vogue for years, but it established our right to enact local and governing conditions purely local and which right was attacked in the United States contention.

"In Clause IV little change is effected from the old order of things and in this there is little or no significance.

"The decision of the tribunal, as handed down in Clause V, is of the utmost importance to the island and establishes definitely what are to be considered territorial waters. Through this pronouncement Fortune Bay—a most valuable ground—is placed within the three mile zone and under the jurisdiction of the Newfoundland government. The definition of the outline at Placentia Bay establishing the line from Latine Point on the eastern mainland to the most southerly point on Red Island, and thence to the most southerly point on Merasheen Island to the mainland, is also of great importance and it is well to have any established.—Montreal Star, Sept. 10.

Donaldson Liner Here. Fatally Injured in Saw Mill.
The Donaldson liner s.s. Salicid, Capt. McKelvie, arrived in port this forenoon from Glasgow with 750 tons coal for A. J. Harvey & Co. and 2,000 tons for Bowwood, with two tons powder and dynamite also on board. She made the run out in 7 days and had fine weather all through except for a N.E. wind and some sea after making this coast. She is a vessel of over 3,000 tons gross, 2,635 tons net, and can steam at the rate of 14 knots an hour. She was formerly owned by a Spanish firm, was built on the Clyde 15 years ago, and rumor had it today that she was the first of the Spanish mercantile marine captured by the Americans in the Spanish-American war. Her captain, however, denies this. She carried the Spanish mails and was bought a few years ago from her former owners by the Donaldson people. She brought four passengers, viz. Miss Bright, Mr. Southcott, Mr. Dodd and Rev. Mr. Whittle.

Historical Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the Historical Society took place on Thursday last. Mr. A. J. McNelly, K.C., Y.P., occupied the chair, and the business before the body was to wind up affairs relative to the settling of the Guy Celebration business. A financial statement will soon be issued, and an interesting report of the celebration compiled, and it is not unlikely that a credit balance will appear on the account books.

Presentation.

Mr. E. J. King, the choir master of Gower Street Methodist Church, was waited on by the members of the choir last night and presented with a handsome marble clock as a wedding gift. Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite, the pastor, made the presentation and delivered an appropriate speech, to which Mr. King replied in felicitous terms and thanked the donors on behalf of himself and Mrs. King. Refreshments were then served and a very pleasant evening was spent. The only guests present were Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Fenwick, and Mrs. R. F. Horwood who kindly acted as organist in Mr. King's absence in the Old Land, whence he returned lately with his bride.

C. E. T. S. Meeting.

An important meeting of the C. E. T. S. takes place in the Synod Hall, Monday, at 8 p.m. His Lordship Bishop Jones will preside, as he has for the past three years over gatherings of the same kind held during the month of September when important temperance resolutions were adopted. The C. E. T. S. have done excellent work in the great cause of temperance, and the coming meeting should attract a large gathering of temperance workers.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES COLDS, Etc.

HE RECALLS OLD TIMERS AND OLD PLAYERS.

Wednesday afternoon Delaney, Tucker, Mrs. Tucker and myself strolled up to see the big cricket match between the City team and the Shamrocks.

Mrs. Tucker was ironed out and you could hear her boots creek as she walked. She was very much amused at the attention of the gentle sex. Mrs. Tucker puts on a special step when she goes out walking with Tucker, something between the gait of a successful candidate for political honors and a man who did well at the fishery. We would remind you of a wrecked Norwegian crew looking for the Minister of Marine and Fisheries as we trudged along, and when we reached the field the boys were just beginning to catch on and yell out "what rock did we strike?"

A man poked his nose out through a hole in the fence, took our money, gave us some tickets, and soon we were sauntering up the field.

"We'd better go on the grand stand," said Delaney, "for it looks too cheap to have a woman standing for three or four hours."

We took the hint, and after buying some more pasteboard we were shown to our seats on the stand. I noticed many old-time enthusiasts amongst the spectators, and soon fell in chat with an old friend of mine, Mr. Jardine, down in the Custom House. He and Mr. Greene in the Council always remind me of the days when Johnny Bennett held sway. Nobody who ever saw Bennett bowl can forget his lightning bowling, and his boundary hits are imprinted on my memory to remain till I kick the bucket. Will someone please tell me what concoction Jerry Savage takes to keep him everlastingly young? Really and truly, I see no difference between him now and the time he played with the Avalons. Pat Berrigan is to my mind the best wicket keeper ever seen around here. His quick eye and his sure grasp on the ball is well worth watching, and he is ever on the alert. No man can successfully charge him with dilly-dallying in the game. Where was that great bat Charlie Ryan? Where was Sandy Burke? I'm not the only one that asked that question, for all delight in seeing Sandy. He's so faithful to his side, ever ready to argue a point, and he's generally right. Perhaps he may be a little too explanatory in describing how he got bowled out, but then every one of us has our peculiarities. I hope to see Sandy in the next match. "Jack" Keating. Oh how vividly I recall his "shooters" in the days when "Willie" Job held the wickets and with Mutch to match him they tantalized the bowlers for an hour. What's wrong with Job? Surely he's not shelved. To my mind he's as smart as a bee to-day, and I hope we'll see him giving his puzzling balls in the next match. But to get back to Keating. His fielding was certainly good, but I think his hands were soft for want of practice. We hope to see him for a long time yet on the field, and would remind him that a man is only as old as he feels.

Some of the Shamrocks, the younger generation, will do well to practice trying to touch their toes without bending their backs. They can manage this in their bedrooms when no one is looking. Jack Larkin has the same old easy swing, but I think he's a bit too eager to run up a score. He's a good man and works hard for his side. Nix Vincombs should be on the next match, for I believe his display of bowling, fielding and batting in the C. L. B. match merits approval.

For the king of the Shamrocks I think Wallace makes the bid. His catching and fielding would have done credit to a professional, and I'd like to ask a simple question: does he know what the word "fired" means? Ned Berrigan and Linegar were seen to advantage, especially Ned, whose fielding and batting showed that he hadn't forgotten the instructions he received, even in the middle of the winter, from our friend Sandy.

"The City crowd," said Delaney, "are all a kind of strange to me. There's a foreign look on some of their faces that puzzles me."

"What city do they belong to?" asked Mrs. Tucker. "Ancient Greece or Halifax?"

"They are all our own crowd," said I. "Why there's Jack Munn over there; surely you know him?"

"Do you tell me," said she. "Oh, what a big boy he has grown. Why 'twas only the other day I used to see him in short pants. 'Tis wonderful how children do run up. But who is that man over there," she said, "the man in his own clothes?"

"Were you ever to a match before in your life?" said I. "Don't you know Pat Myler? He's the umpire, the man who says whether you're in or out."

"Is that Pat?" said she. "Why I'd never know him. Why he'd be a grand man to send away on the Hague question. He's so knowledgeable. And who's that fine looking man over there?" said she, as she pointed to the genial captain of the Shamrocks. When I told her who he was, she said there were some big guns on the other side.

"Isn't it a pity we have those boundaries, for the other way, to get as many as you can by running for it, is a fairer way. Take, for instance," said she, "a team in luck makes a good stand at the wickets. They are greatly helped by not having to run the runs. The fielders are all tired out with trying to save boundaries, shifting for overs, etc., and when their turn comes to go in they are actually played out; while on the other hand if the players had to run also they'd become played out too, and there'd be a better chance of stumping them when they'd get lagged."

"Well, ma'am, you're a proper seelawyer," said a young fellow with a fag between his lips. "They should have you for an umpire, sure."

Mrs. Tucker gave a sarcastic glance and told him he'd get the watch.

"What watch?" asked he.

"Oh, you may not get the first prize," said she, "but you'll surely get the watch."

"For what, ma'am? Can't you tell us for what?"

Mrs. Tucker moved out closely to him and whispered in his ear—"for minding your own business."

He skulked away and was soon lost in the crowd.

"That's the way to treat high education ignoramuses," said Delaney, as he put in his pipe to have his thirty-second smoke.

As you know, the Shamrock boys got licked, but they had a powerful team up against them—young men every one of them almost. The Shamrocks shouldn't be discouraged. After all, if the Shamrocks continue to be successful, if they were always on top, interest in the game would soon lag out. A new life has been given to it now, for the Shamrock will have to do their utmost to regain lost ground, and their rivals will need to let no grass grow under their feet in order to hold their place.

Who can close a writing on a cricket match without mentioning the name of Peter Routledge. Some men make a name for themselves in poetry, others in commerce, others in uprightness and integrity of character. Peter was the ideal entertainer, good hearted, witty and humorous, a defender of his favorite team and a true lover of the noble game. His name will live in our memory as long as a bat is wielded or a wicket knocked down. I don't know whether he is alive now or not; but this much I do know that, whether he is or not he is happy. I hope when my turn comes to die I will be placed on the one seat in Heaven with Peter, and trust that Sandy Burke will get in over the fence, unknown to St. Peter and sit beside us. Then, "There'll be no sorrow there."

At Last an English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

McMURDO & CO. HAVE IMPORTED IT.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-sought-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair-dressing. McMurdo & Co., your druggist, is the first to import this preparation into St. John's, and a large, generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Badly Needed.

A larger post office is badly needed at North Sydney for the handling of our Newfoundland mails. The office there at present is little better than a sentry box, and is a disgrace to our country. Messrs. Shano and Gushue, the two hard working officials there should be given more fair play to do their work, as it is bad enough to have them working night and day on half salaries, but they should not be cooped up in such a small flat roof building of one storey and not room enough to turn round. In the warm weather of summer the heat there must be intolerable.

Visited Wabana.

Hon. J. S. Pitts took the visiting Directors of the Nova Scotia Steel Company who came here by the S. S. Florizel, as recorded by the Telegram yesterday, to Bell Island to examine the works there. They went by motor to the Cove and crossed to Wabana in the ferry. They visited the mines and were delighted with all they saw. The party included Mr. R. E. Harris, K. C., President; Mr. Thos. Cantley, Vice-President and General Manager; Senator Jeffrey, of Toronto; Senator McGregor, of New Glasgow; Messrs. G. S. Campbell, J. W. Allison, P. Stansfield and G. W. McMillan. A new plant has been erected and a new hoisting engine installed. The visitors will return to Halifax by the S. S. Florizel.

That Supposed Wreck.

Yesterday on the report of the S. S. Harmony as she came south and saw a light near the Funks, Thursday night, it was supposed that a wreck had occurred there, and Mr. Piccott instructed the captain of the Dundre to investigate. He had the following wire from Algistrate Millin, of Bonaventure, which throws some light on the subject:—"Referring to our public news despatch, Edgar Kean, of Greenspond, left Funk Island yesterday morning. On Thursday night his vessel was made on to the island, and he and others had lights up jiggling squid and splitting fish. Kean was on shore before leaving yesterday."

A Flattering Tribute.

The New Freeman, of St. John, N. B., the organ of the Catholic people of that city, in a recent issue editorially pays a flattering tribute to Mr. A. J. W. McNelly, K.C., of this city, on the brilliant oration delivered by him at the Guy Ter-Centenary Celebration. The articles states that the effort entitled Mr. McNelly to be ranked with such brilliant declaimers as O'Connell and Grattan, and it points with pride to the fact that Mr. McNelly is a countryman of these two great orators.

Bitten by a Horse.

Yesterday as a cooper on Bowring Brook, premises was stooping to lift a barrel, a horse nearby rushed on him and bit him severely on the forehead, compelling him to go to a doctor for treatment. It is positively dangerous for people to go on steamboat wharves where horses collect, for some of the animals are as vicious as rabid dogs. Men owning horses of this kind should have them muzzled, or should be compelled to do so.

Pretty Fossils.

Mr. James Galway, of the General Post Office, has two very pretty fern fossils embedded in stone that came out of a blast on the branch railway line at Trinity. They were sent him by the foreman on the work where who wishes to dispose of them.

Little Girl's Mishap.

A little girl named Andrews, a Syrian, residing with her parents at 85 New Gower Street, fell on the jagged edge of a tin can over the stairs at her home this morning and was badly cut about the head. The child bled profusely. Her friends took her to Dr. Tait's surgery where the wound was dressed.

Personal.

Mr. J. P. Cash who was spending a holiday with friends in the States, ran over by train to Montreal last week to see the celebration.

Mr. Thomas Hanrahan, Supt. R. C. Schools, is in town.

Mrs. T. J. Foran who was at Placentia the past month on a visit to her sister, returned to town by train last night.

Here and There.

TOURNAMENT.—The People's Club will have a card tournament for a ham at their meeting to-night.

His Grace Archbishop Howley arrived by the express to-day from Montreal, accompanied by Rt. Rev. Mons. Reardon and Rev. Fr. Doutney.

NEW NEWSPAPER OFFICE.—We learn that the management of the Daily News will shortly start the erection of a new newspaper office at 200 St. John's Street, in the residence of Dr. Renaldi's residence on Duckworth Street. It will be a fine building and the work of excavating for the foundation begins next week.

BADLY DAMAGED.—The s.s. Harmony was docked this morning and her bottom was found to be badly damaged. The stem and outwater below are broken in and the plenk for seven feet on each side is crushed. It will take several days to effect repairs.

A GREAT NUISANCE.—People who are in the habit of throwing dirty water from their doors should take time by the forelock and desist. This afternoon a man coming down Long's Hill narrowly escaped a ducking from this system of throwing water in the drains.

MARSHALL BROTHERS.

Another Eloping Couple Seek Refuge in Nfld.

They Go West on the Steamer Portia—
The Wronged Husband Arrives
by the S.S. Rosalind.

Immediately the Rosalind tied up at her pier yesterday, after coming from Montreal and Sydney, a young man, a railroader of St. John, N.B., in the person of Mr. Antonio Boobana, repaired to the office of Inspector General Sullivan and solicited that gentleman's aid in the arresting of his wife, who had eloped with another man and after arriving here had gone west on the Portia. At the police station last night he told of the unfaithfulness of his wife and the duplicity of her paramour, and the receipt of his wrong considerably affected him. The husband of the faithless woman is a railroader on the I.C.R., and a smart looking young chap, who is receiving a salary of $100 per month. Seven years ago he married the woman who deserted him, and who is a native of Tracadie, Nova Scotia. Every second day he would go on his train trip, and on Friday last he left as usual and returned Saturday morning to the hotel where he boarded with his wife and their little girl, aged 4 years. On entering the apartment which he and his family occupied he was greatly surprised to find his wife absent and the place stripped of all that heretofore made it so homelike and pleasant for him. He was shocked at the discovery and was trying to evolve a reason for his wife's absence when a mistake which lay on the floor, and which he opened and perused, soon gave him the key to the problem. It was written in his wife's hand and dated from the Grand Hotel, Sydney, C.B., July 10th, and ran as follows:—

"My Dear Eva,—I am sending you $25 and want you to come at once and I will be good to you. Come to Sydney and I will do all I can for you, and leave your husband and I will keep you in good shape now. Good bye.
From yours truly,
R. SUMMERS."

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained by using DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD
The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.
A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.
Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A.W. Chase's Nerve Food.
Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Strathroy, Ont., writes:—"My nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves."—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The suspicion that his wife was unfaithful and had been in criminal intimacy with another man came to the husband as a terrible blow, for he had not the slightest suspicion that the woman was anything but good and honest. His first feelings of sorrow and regret were soon changed to anger when he realized how shamefully he had been treated and how deeply wronged he was, and he immediately determined to trace the guilty pair if he had to go over half the world to do so. Making enquiries as to his wife's movements, he was informed by a brother-in-law that she had gone to Sydney, leaving her child in the hotel to be cared for by friends, and was left by the next train for the Cape Breton mining town. When he arrived at Sydney he found that his wife had only preceded him by an hour, and going to the pier from which the Bruce sails he saw that ship moving off for Port aux Basques and his wife amongst the passengers standing on the deck. Had he arrived at Sydney 20 minutes earlier he would have been in time to intercept the woman, whom he now plainly saw must be bound for St. John's. Her paramour, Summers, was on the ship also, and had Boobana been in time to meet him face to face it is hard to say what the consequence would have been. He left by the Rosalind on Wednesday at midnight for St. John's, sending enquiries here found that his wife and Summers had gone by the Portia to Cape Freels, near Trepassay, where the Canadian Government is building a new lighthouse, the work of which Summers is inspecting. The runaway couple arrived here by the Bruce on Friday. The woman on leaving St. John took with her $185 in cash, owned by her husband, with all her jewelry and trinkets, and the day before she came away she took a gold ring (a present from her husband) from her finger and gave it to him as a keepsake and a pledge of her love and fidelity. Last night the man said that her every wish was a law with him, and his greatest happiness was to supply her with anything she wished for. Three weeks ago she said she would like a diamond ring and he promptly purchased one for her, paying $87 for it, while a week after she showed him a pearl necklace in a store and he made her a present of it at a cost of $14. Last week he gave her $47 which he had garnered, and in recounting this last night and considering the ingratitude which had been returned for such kindness the man was overcome with emotion. The woman sold almost all his clothing, and those who heard his recital of these facts could not but denounce such heartlessness in a female. Immediately the facts reported above were placed by the man before Mr. Sullivan, he telegraphed to leave the woman detained and sent back here. The man in the case will no doubt give the injured husband a wide berth, and it will be well for him that he does so. Mr. Boobana feels his position keenly and is to be pitied. He showed the police last night a photograph of the woman, who is a brunette of a very prepossessing appearance and whose features would betoken characteristics other than those which her conduct indicates.

One Hundred Thousand Cholera Victims.

Special Evening Telegram.
ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16.
The cholera epidemic which originated in Southern Russia and has claimed already upwards of 100,000 victims, is stretching its way across Asiatic Russia, and to-day was officially declared to threaten the Province of Amur, in southeast Siberia and which is separated by the Amur River from Manchuria. The reports now in possession of the Sanitary Bureau show a total for the season of 122,227 cases with 83,600 deaths. These include the early returns for the week ending Sept. 10 and the revised figures for the preceding week. Complete reports for the week of September 4 to 10, inclusive, are lacking, but the total for the seven days at hand are 7,553 cases with 3,557 deaths. The totals for the preceding week are 13,230 cases with 6,187 deaths. There have been 13 and 12 deaths in the City of St. Petersburg yesterday. This brings the total in the Capital to 3,750 cases with 1,310 deaths. The total aggregate show a falling off of cases and deaths.

The Klondike Gold Output

Special Evening Telegram.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.
The Klondike Placer Mining District in Alaska has produced $150,000,000 in gold since 1898, and mining experts estimate the amount yet to be mined will equal that already produced. Consistent with this Dawson states that the gold output for 1910 will exceed that of 1909, when more than three and a half millions were produced. Most of the gold is being shipped to the United States. A small quantity went to the new Canadian Mint. Consul Cole reports that 12 ounces of gold have been discovered in the southern part of the Klondike District.

International Tuberculosis Congress.

Special Evening Telegram.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.
Official that the Seventh International Congress on Tuberculosis will be held in Rome, Italy, September 24th to 30th, 1911. The headquarters of the International Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, the Congress, which meets every three years, was last held in Washington in 1908. It is expected that an American Committee of 100 will be appointed as official delegates to the Congress. Estimating on the present rate of increase, the National Association announces that the American Committee will be able to give a most flattering report at the next Congress. They will be able to announce that the number of Federal Agencies in the United States has tripled in the three years, since the last international Congress. That more than twice as much money is being spent in the fight against consumption by private societies and institutions, and that the appropriations for Tuberculosis work by Federal, State, Municipal and County Authorities have quadrupled.

Will Taft Stand Again?
Special to the Evening Telegram.
BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 16.
The publication of a story in certain newspapers yesterday, purporting to come from President Taft and announcing that he had decided to step aside as a Presidential candidate in 1912 to make way for Roosevelt, brought many inquiries to the official capital today. For a time an official denial was considered, but it was decided not to deny the story, which is reported to have been without any foundation whatsoever, with a statement. It can be stated that there is no change in President Taft's attitude towards a second term since he told a number of friends a few months ago that he would accept nomination to the White House if elected to it, and that if that portion of the American people represented by his party seemed to want him. The President, it is said, is not considering his chances for a second term one way or the other at this time. From the first he has said he would devote his time to carrying out as nearly as possible the pledges of the platform on which he was elected for a four years' term. Mr. Taft, it is pointed out, does not know how to play politics, and he has been quoted as saying that he would not do so if he could. The fact that he has often in his speeches referred to the fact that he has only the remainder of his present term to serve is stated here, that Mr. Taft does not feel that he can nominate himself, and that he will not make a political bid for the nomination.

Employment for Newfoundlanders

Mr. Patrick Maher, of Duckworth Street East, had a letter from his cousin, Messrs. Wm. and Frank Maher, of Newark, N.J., a couple of days ago in which they informed him that they had just completed a large iron foundry at a cost of $75,000 and were commencing work then with 350 hands, amongst whom were a number of Newfoundlanders. The father of these enterprising young men and an uncle of Mr. Maher's, was principal of the building firm of Maher & Flockard, and when he died, some months ago his estate was valued at $400,000. He was a leader in Newark society, President of the Board of Trade for years, and was highly esteemed by all. The name of the new firm is Edward Maher & Sons. Mr. Maher and his wife will spend the coming winter with these people at Newark.

Reported Ethel Le Neve to turn King's Evidence.

Powerful Influence Exerted, and it is Believed She Will Yield to Pressure.
London, September 7.—Ethel Clara Le Neve, the girl for whose sake Dr. Crippen is alleged to have poisoned and mutilated his wife, Belle Elmore, will turn King's evidence against the physician, it was said to-day, and her testimony will complete the link in the chain of evidence against him. The charge of murder against the girl has been reduced to that of being an accessory after the fact, and this is regarded as the first step toward producing Miss Le Neve as a witness of the Crown. It is known to-day that most powerful influence has been exerted by her family and the King's prosecutors to induce her to give evidence against the American doctor. Her manner in court is held to be more to have indicated that she had yielded and turned against Crippen. The extreme penalty for being an accessory after the fact is death, but the usual sentence in such cases is twenty years. If Miss Le Neve turns King's evidence, she will escape with a nominal punishment. The trial yesterday was marked by sensational disclosures and dramatic scenes. Nearly everybody in London had believed Crippen guilty, but the proceedings showed that the police have amassed evidence that seems conclusive.

City Council

The Council met at 7.30. Fell Board present.

Councillor Mullaly pointed out that the minutes and the reports of last regular meeting quoted him as being opposed to a reduction in the Nickel tax, but did not mention that he had said he would fall in line with any arrangement that could be shown to be better than the present. Also, he asked to point out that it had been said he was here in the interest of the rich man, because he advocated the return of the motor tax. He wished to repudiate this statement, and to say that he thought the money should be refunded because the Council had no moral or legal right to collect the taxes, and he thought that under these circumstances, it was very undignified for the Council to hold money which did not belong to it. Councillor Channing had asked what was his object in advocating this; his object was to show the public the manner in which the affairs of the Council were conducted. Three years ago a man was paid by the Council to draw up a law to provide for the collection of an annual tax. That was not properly done, and Councillors had sat at this Board for three years, and either did not know it, or wilfully ignored it. So far from being here in the interest of the rich man, he would say that when the proper time came, he intended to propose that the tax be increased from $10 to $25. He was not here in the interest of any particular class, but of the public in general. He could not help noticing that there was no flaw in the Act that required a truckman to pay $7 taxes, but it was easy to discover a loophole in the law that affected automobile owners. He would not say the mistake was made deliberately, but the fact remained that it was made.

John S. Currie drew the attention of the Council to the decision of the late Council to extend the water and sewerage to Freshwater Road, and asked when the Council intended to proceed with the work. The matter will receive consideration shortly.

Residents of Lime St. petitioned for water extension. Granted.

Kenneth R. Prowse applied for permission to build concrete wall around his property on corner of Barter's Hill. Referred to Engineer.

Several citizens complained of condition of Munn's Bridge. Ordered that it be repaired.

Boyd and Crocker and Thos. Brown applied for water connection. Waterford Bridge Road. Ordered to be done.

J. F. Breen and others asked for street crossing at foot of Steven's St. Deferred.

Phillip Jackman called attention to unsanitary condition of stable on Gilmore St. Matter will be attended to.

Petition for drain from residents of South Side, near Blackhead Road. Referred to Engineer for report.

Lewis Murphy applied for permission to repair house on Water Street West. Granted.

Charles Lester submitted plans for enlargement of stables. Granted.

The Engineer reported that the grading of Duckworth Street was finished, and that work was begun on Cochrane St.

The concrete sidewalk at the Deep Sea Mission excavation had foundered, and was being looked after by the architects of the building.

In connection with Rennie's application for water for his bakery, the Engineer reported that 100 gallons per day were required, and that it would cost $1,100 to connect. Matter deferred.

The Health officer reported that there was no objection to Guzwel's proposed stable. Permission to build granted.

A discussion then took place over the arrears question. Councillor Mullaly thought some new arrangement should be made to collect monthly from poor people, and he suggested that the collectors be given a commission in addition to their salary. Several Councillors agreed with him, and the matter will come up at a future meeting. He thought that people in the back part of the town had been neglected, and not looked after by the collectors as much as they might have been. He also wanted to know whether money collected by Solicitors was handed over to the Council immediately; what Solicitors did the collecting, and who engaged them.

It was decided that several summonses should be issued next week, and that the work of collecting arrears be pushed as much as possible. Poor people, who made an earnest effort to pay up arrears in instalments, would be given a chance to do so.

Councillor Ryan objected to a bill from Mrs. Greene for a ton of hay. He had examined the hay, and did not consider it worth the price asked—$22.00. He also objected to the Council's men carting it.

Councillor Mullaly referred to a letter that had been published in the press, asking some questions about the condition of the water supply at Windsor Lake. He thought the report of analysis should be published for the information of a number of citizens who questioned the wisdom of the expenditure for improvement. It was decided to publish same.

The Mayor stated that Sir Edward Morris had informed him that the loan granted by the Government, was now at the disposal of the Council.

After passing of pay rolls, etc., the meeting adjourned at 10.45.—Daily News.

Notes From Bell Island

The Dominion Iron and Steel Co. are building ten large dwelling houses for occupation of miners who will be working the slopes during the winter months.

The Nova Scotia Steel Co. during the summer has built a powerful plant for discharging of steamers. A valuable lot of machinery has been installed and it will be run by electricity.

The hay crop this summer has been the largest for many years. Farmers have built their barns much larger to hold the crop and the harvest is now practically over.

It would be well for the Government to look after our side drains and roads, and especially the new road leading to the mines, before the rainy season sets in.

Messrs. W. H. Rennie and J. C. Withers were over to spend a few days in the mines and left by the s.s. Mary at 6 p.m. for Portugal Cove.

DIED INTIMATE.—Rev. Gregory Battcock, late Parish Priest, of Holyrood, who passed away Monday night last, died intimate, and Rt. Rev. Monsignor Veitch has been appointed administrator of his estate.

"NO FRILLS"

Just Sensible Food Cured Him.

Sometimes a good, healthy commercial traveler suffers from poorly selected food and is 'lucky' if he learns that Grape-Nuts food will put him right.

A Cincinnati traveler says: "About a year ago my stomach got in a bad way. I had a headache most of the time and suffered misery. For several months I ran down until I lost about 70 pounds in weight and finally had to give up a good position and go home. Any food that I might use seemed to nauseate me.

"My wife, hardly knowing what to do, one day brought home a package of Grape-Nuts food and coaxed me to try it. I told her it was no use but finally to humor her I tried a little and they just struck my taste. It was the first food that I had eaten in nearly a year that did not cause any suffering.

"Well to make a long story short, I began to improve and stuck to Grape-Nuts. I went up from 135 pounds in December to 194 pounds the following October.

"My brain is clear, blood all right and appetite too much for any man's pocket-book. In fact, I am thoroughly made over and owe it all to Grape-Nuts. I talk so much about what Grape-Nuts will do that some of the men on the road have nicknamed me 'Grape-Nuts,' but I stand to-day a healthy, rosy-cheeked man—a pretty good example of what the right kind of food will do.

"You can publish this if you want to. It is a true statement without any frills."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville, in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

We desire to announce that the New Concern, Halley, O'Keefe & Co., will enter into the Wholesale Business of General Merchandise in a few weeks, in that spacious building now occupied by W. J. Halley, 106-108 New Gower Street.

Mr. Charles V. O'Keefe, who, until recently connected with the Robinson Export Co., in the capacity of salesman, will be Manager of the new firm and having had a wide experience in all lines, orders entrusted to him under his Management will be properly taken care of.

He will shortly be leaving for the United States and Canada, where he will purchase goods for all Trade and establish connections for his firm.

We trust when we enter into the field to receive a share of the patronage long accorded Mr. O'Keefe during his recent connections and by strict and close attention to business give all prospective customers satisfaction and a square deal.
