The Am. Novel of 1915.

MICHAEL O'HALLORHAN by Gene Stratton Porter.

This is the story of Mickey the newsboy and his ward-peacher, whom he found with a crippled back and cried for until she was cured. It tells of Mickey's part in the romance of Douglas Bruce and Leslie Winton; and of the kindness of Peter Harding and his wife to peacher, and finally of Mickey's own love story with the wife he found years before.

The book possesses, like all of the author's works, a deep feeling for nature, the charm of the woods, the flowers and all growing things. Paper 65c.; cloth 90c. Not a dull page in all the 500 pages.

"ECHOES of the Past; OR, The Recompense of Love!"

CHAPTER XXVII.

"Yes, dearest," he went on. "I want you to marry me at once. There is no reason why we should wait any longer. We must be married quickly, and I'm afraid I shall not be able to afford a long honeymoon; there is so much to do at the office, and they want me in the house."

Her bosom heaved and her eyes glowed; she drew a little nearer to him and leaned her head on his breast.

"I will do whatever you wish, Clive," she said. "Yes, I will marry you whenever you like. But—but are you sure that you want to marry me so soon? You are so busy, so absorbed— Oh, I know it is inevitable. But sometimes I feel as if—as if I only occupied a subordinate position in your life; as if you loved your work first and me afterward."

He put his arm round her and essayed to caress and smile her doubts to rest; but to-night her vague apprehensions found a voice, forced one.

"Clive, sometimes I am conscious of a terrible, horrible feeling that I do not possess the whole of your heart; that—that you do not love me as I love you. Ah, but that would be impossible; but I fear sometimes—it creeps over me like a chill, like the touch of death itself—that if, by some evil chance, we were separated, that all were over between us, you would not care, would not suffer."

"My dear Edith," he began, with a chill like that of which she had spoken creeping over him; but she broke in again before he could continue:

"If there are any grounds for my fear, if for any reason I am right in this dread of mine, I want you to tell me. I could bear it from your lips. It would kill me, but I should not complain. What I could not bear would be to discover it in other ways. That would not kill me, but would drive me mad." She drew herself from him and stood erect, her face white, her eyes flashing; she was at that moment the personification of the pride that is all-devouring, implacable.

Clive took her hands and drew her down beside him again.

"My marriage with you is the one aim and desire of my life, Edith," he said gravely. "Put all such thoughts away from you. Believe me when I say that my whole life shall be devoted to making you happy."

"You can make me happy with a word, a look," she said, "and you know it. Oh, Clive, if you knew how I loved you; but you never will know! Yes; I will marry you whenever you like—you know that."

Lord Chesterleigh knocked at the door while they were talking and arranging the marriage; and he entered into the discussion with a joy and a pleasure too obvious for concealment. Lady Edith decided that she could get her trousseau together in three weeks; and an approximate date for the marriage was chosen toward the end of that period, and Clive went home with that sense of relief which follows on a momentous decision.

Notwithstanding his exalted political position and his increased income, he still occupied his old rooms in Burleigh Street, still very often dined off a mutton-chop, and still smoked his old brier. Now and again he met Quilton on the stairs, or Quilton came to his rooms; but the conversation of the two men was almost entirely confined to political and similar subjects. Miss and the unhappy woman, her mother, was never mentioned. Quilton's manner to Clive was as impassive and indifferent as it had been in the early stages of their acquaintance; or, if there was any change, it was indicated by a certain tone of pity and sympathy for Clive; anyway, Quilton had not treated Clive lately with the touch of sardonic irony which was displayed on one or two occasions some months ago.

That night, Clive paused at his own door and then went up to Quilton's room. He was conscious of a desire to tell Quilton of the approaching marriage. He knocked at the door and Quilton opened it a very little way and cautiously, but seeing that it was Clive, at once opened it widely and beckoned him to enter.

Quilton cleared a chair by the simple operation of tilting the books and papers upon it to the floor, and Clive sat down and leaned his head on his hands. He was the Right Honorable Clive Harvey, Secretary of State for Home Affairs; a possible premier, but at that moment he felt that he would willingly change places with the solitary worker who lived in that cheerless room. Quilton pushed his tobacco-pouch across the table and, seating himself on the arm of his writing chair, filled his own pipe.

"Anything the matter?" he inquired in a casual way.

Clive roused himself from his reverie. "The matter? Oh, no. I am going to be married in about three weeks, and I thought I should like to tell you. Will you come to the ceremony, Quilton?"

"Much honored by the invitation," said Quilton, "but marriages are not in my way. All the same, I wish you luck. Where are you going to spend your honeymoon? Try Switzerland. You look to me off color, as if you wanted toning up, and there is nothing like a dose of Alpine air. Things going all right in the House?"

"Oh, yes," said Clive listlessly.

"I see that some of your Socialist friends are making themselves a nuisance," said Quilton, "and those who are out of the House appear to be as bitter as those in."

"Oh, do they?" said Clive.

"Yes," said Quilton, staring at his pipe. "There's a man named Koshki who seems to have his knife in you. Know him? But, of course, you do. Gentleman speaks with a Polish-

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind and You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed.

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.40. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils. You will be pleasantly surprised to see how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, which is so healing to the membranes. To avoid disappointment, be sure and get your druggist for 2½ ounces Pinex. I don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction; money promptly refunded, goes with its preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

German-Whitechapel alien accent, and adds to his other charming qualities an inherent dislike of soap and water."

Clive laughed mirthlessly. "Oh, I know him."

"Just so. And of course you know you're being shadowed," said Quilton, as casually as before.

"Oh, am I?"

"Yes; very closely and very neatly shadowed. I happened to spot this as I saw you coming out of the House the other night. And a lady is taking part in the game."

"A lady?" said Clive, with some display of interest and curiosity.

"What lady?"

"A lady of Oriental type," replied Quilton. "Lady Edith's Hindu servant, Sara."

"Oh, you must be mistaken," said Clive, with a smile.

"Not very easy to mistake a lady with so conspicuous a presence," said Quilton. "She appears to have struck up an acquaintance or a friendship with our friend Koshki. To tell you the truth, while they have been shadowing you, I have been amusing myself by shadowing them. Yes; that's just it—amusing myself."

"But, good heavens, why should Lady Edith's servant shadow me?" exclaimed Clive.

Quilton shrugged his shoulders. "Can't say. I should have thought you might have known. You don't seem to be nervous about it?"

Clive laughed and leaned back with something like amusement on his lined and haggard face.

"Scarcely. Why should I be?"

There was silence for a minute or two, and Clive relapsed into reverie again; then he rose to go; but he hesitated and said in almost a harsh and dry voice:

"Have you heard—have you any news?"

"Yes," said Quilton at once. "She has been ill. Breakdown, the doctors call it; they have ordered her to give up singing and take a rest. A case of the sword wearing out the scabbard, I should say."

Clive's face grew still paler, and the eyes he raised to Quilton were heavy with pain and trouble and despair.

"Not—not seriously?" he asked almost inaudibly.

"No, no," replied Quilton. "A rest will put matters right."

"Where—where is she?" asked Clive thickly.

Quilton stared before him. "In about three weeks, you think?" he said, as if he had not heard the question. "Let me know when the date is quite fixed, so that I can give a gorgeous account of the affair in The Beacon. What wretched weather we have been having lately, eh?"

Clive knew that he was no use his asking any further questions. With a sigh, he moved to the door. As he opened it, Quilton said:

"By the way, I should keep my eye upon that fellow Koshki, to say nothing of Sara. Koshki deals in dynamite, and our friends the Hindus are most of them familiar with the use of the knife."

Clive shrugged his shoulders with an indifference too profound for contempt, and went down the stairs with a slow and heavy step.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The days rolled on, and Clive moved through them like a man in a dream. Now, Nature keenly resents the kind of affront he was offering to her and she retaliated with—insomnia.

He could not sleep and he dared not take narcotics, for, clever as we are nowadays, no chemist has been able to discover a narcotic that will not affect the brain; and, of course, Mr. Clive Harvey, the home secretary, had to keep his clear and in working order.

Meanwhile Lady Edith was busy with her trousseau, and it engaged so much of her time that she saw very little of Clive, excepting at night, when, flushed with his parliamentary work, he did not look as bad as he really was. And yet, at times, she caught a look on his face which awakened her vague uneasiness, but she lulled it to rest by the reflection that in a little while they would have left London, and Clive would get the rest he so sorely needed.

"They were within a week of the wedding, when, one night, a telegram was brought into the House for Clive. He opened it listlessly; then started and stared at it like a man who has received a sudden shock.

"No bad news, I hope," said Mr. Graham, who was sitting beside him. Clive mechanically handed him the telegram. "My brother Adolphus is dead," he said.

He left the House at once and went round to Grosvenor Square. Both Lord Chesterleigh and Edith happened to be in, and were, of course, aghast at the news, and Lady Edith went white; for in an instant she saw that the wedding would have to be postponed.

"My poor Clive!" said Lord Chesterleigh. "It is so sudden, so unexpected—and yet, he was always delicate and ailing."

"Yes," said Clive in a low voice, "and that is why I did not attach any great importance to some of his letters. God forgive me! I must go down at once, he—he is at Rarborough and I don't know where Bertie is."

He got up and looked round him agnely.

"Yes; you must go at once," said Lord Chesterleigh, with sympathy.

"Of course," he added quietly, "the wedding must be postponed."

Clive sighed. "I'm afraid it must," he said. He raised his eyes to Lady Edith and found hers fixed on him with a curious expression. "But only for a short time. We could have a very quiet wedding as soon as possible."

She said nothing. They were alone together for only a few minutes before he started, and she was very silent. Death had dashed the cup from her lips, would it be withheld from her forever? was the thought, the bread, that smote across her mind, her heart.

"DOWN AMONG THE SHELTERING PALMS."

Mr. Dan Delmar sings: "Down Among the Sheltering Palms" at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day. The picture programme is a really good one; see the Crescent's advertisement in another column for particulars. On to-morrow Mr. Delmar sings a double variety number, a style of singing that Mr. Delmar excels in; don't miss hearing this novelty number.

CHARMING PICTURES AT THE NICKEL THEATRE.

The Nickel Theatre was crowded again last evening and no doubt it will be largely attended again to-day. The programme was one of the greatest excellence. It was lengthy and varied and afforded the audiences every pleasure. The great sea story "Encounters" in which Edith Story, Harry Morey and Roger Lyton starred, is a beautiful picture and appeals to Newfoundlanders especially. The "Trey O' Hearts" and "The Perils of the Jungle" were also high class films and were closely followed. "Love in Armor" is a dainty comedy drama. The music was of the best. This evening the programme will be repeated. The theatre at night is open until 11, so that those in the stores may attend. Be sure and see to-day's subjects. To-morrow there will be another grand presentation.

BRITISH THEATRE.

A very appreciative audience greeted the portrayal of "Trey O' Hearts" at the above Theatre last night. Of absorbing interest was the three reel subject, "Helping Mother," in which two of the best known performers on the screen vividly portrayed their parts. The cornet solo by Mr. Penness was quite a new departure and being handled by such a master of this instrument proved to be a rare treat. A five-piece orchestra will be heard to advantage to-night. But the latest treat of all is in store for the patrons of the British on Thursday and Friday nights of this week and three times weekly thereafter for a limited period when the well-known and ever popular Mrs. Ayre will be heard in some of her best songs. Mrs. Ayre is imbued with the true spirit of patriotism and is doing this work solely for the benefit of the Ladies' Patriotic Association in procuring comforts for our boys at the front, accompanied by Mr. Gordon Christian and with such an object the patrons of this popular house will reward her efforts by giving her a full house.

Prohibition at Long Pond.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—I crave space for the publication of a few items concerning the progress of Prohibition at Long Pond. On Friday night, 23rd ult., Messrs. Soper, MacDonald and Cowan delivered splendid speeches in favor of Prohibition to a packed audience in the spacious schoolroom at Long Pond. The above named gentlemen showed very conclusively in the masterful and convincing arguments put forth, the benefits which would accrue to the country in general, and to St. John's in particular, if Prohibition were carried into effect. The Rev. Canon Colley acted as chairman of the meeting, which was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem. At the conclusion of the meeting a working committee was formed composed of the following members: Messrs. Jos. Dawe, chairman; R. Plovman, Secretary; C. R. Rendell, W. Rendell, Herbert Greenslade, Richard Kennedy, Peter Greenslade, Richard Kennedy, Wm. Dawe, John Bishop, Walter Baird, Jacob Kennedy, Wm. Kennedy, John Dawe. On Friday night, the 29th ult., the committee held a meeting, at which speeches were made by nearly all the members. The committee feel optimistic as to the result of the vote at Long Pond. They are expecting at least 80 p.c. of the total votes of Long Pond will be cast in favor of Prohibition. Thanking you in anticipation of space for the insertion of these few items.

I remain, Yours sincerely, Secretary Long Pond. Pro. Com. Nov. 1st, 1915.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it." "That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggists." Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

Clears The Head, Opens The Nostrils, Stops Sneezing, Cures Catarrh.

You Get Instant Relief by Inhaling the Soothing Vapor "Catarrhazone."

Catarrh is bound to come with this weather. Slight colds become more offensive and sickening every day. The inflammation extends further into the head. Soon the ears begin to buzz and ring. The head aches, the eyes pain dreadfully, the nose gets plugged up and this forces the patient to breathe through the mouth. Vile filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring a great deal of coughing to keep the air passages free. Finally, this foul matter finds its way into the stomach, causing dyspepsia and general ill-health. By this time the patient has SYSTEMATIC CATARRH, which saps strength, depletes the vital energies till consumption is the unhappy result.

There isn't the slightest use in trying to cure this condition with tablets, snuff or spray. Such treatments are wholly inadequate. You must employ Catarrhazone the only remedy that possesses power to kill the germs of Catarrh. The healing vapor of Catarrhazone is carried by the air you breathe to the most minute cells of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. Its antiseptic medication goes everywhere that air can go. No case is too chronic, no person too old—everybody that has cartarrh of any kind can be cured by this grand treatment which is endorsed by thousands of physicians throughout America, who say: "The only way to permanently get rid of Catarrh is to use Catarrhazone."

TWO MONTHS' TREATMENT GUARANTEED TO CURE. PRICE $1.00; small size 50c.; trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

455th Day of the War

Latest From the Front.

Messages Received Previous to 9 A.M.

LONDON, Nov. 1. The King's condition is further improved. Pain is diminishing and temperature and pulse are normal. The mine sweeper Hythe was sunk through collision off Gallipoli Peninsula. About 150 men are missing. France.—Stubborn trench fighting in Artois. In Champagne enemy attacks were defeated on a five mile front, except for a local success on Tahere Hill, with very heavy losses. The enemy claims further progress in Serbia.

A VISIT TO THE FLEET

LONDON, Nov. 1. Graphic descriptions of the first visit of British newspaper men to Britain's Great Fleet are published by all the morning papers. They unite in paying a tribute to the preparedness and efficiency of the British Navy, not only as to the main fighting units, but also to the less prominent, but equally important auxiliaries of various types. A navy officer aboard one of the ships, told the correspondents that in addition to the war fleet proper, there are between 2,000 and 3,000 ships of the merchant marine, employed in transport and supply duty, and as many more engaged in patrol work or in following the declining efforts of enemy submarines. The visitors were shown the celebrated map on which are marked the places where German submarines have been captured, destroyed or sunk, and the various methods of meeting the submarine menace were explained to them. "We actually saw vessels engaged in this anti-submarine business leaving port," says one correspondent, "instead, it is not necessary to go outside the harbor to understand why the blockade has failed. Here at anchor alongside one another, lay bare an antipodal of the world. One full day was spent in inspecting the large naval works at a place which a short time ago was a swamp, but now is a live and busy naval establishment, which will be large enough when completed to accommodate twenty dreadnoughts. The works include three dry docks, each capable of holding any ship afloat. The party visited the cruisers Lion and Tiger, and

"CAN YOU AFFORD TO TAKE CHANCES?"

A little cold may not seem a dangerous thing—you may feel inclined to let it go on hoping that to-morrow it will be better—but can you afford to take chances? Just as the little insignificant acorn grows if let alone, if not stopped right away, that cough, if not stopped right away, grows to a very serious illness. When a cough starts there's no telling where it will end. You know no doubt, of cases right among people you have known where serious complications and fatal illnesses have had their start from a neglected cough or cold.

A cold is more than inconvenient—it is dangerous—so the big thing is to find a reliable remedy—one that will give you quick, satisfactory relief.

There are many treatments that are recommended for a cough or cold but STAFFORD'S PHORATONE COUGH and COLD CURE is recommended to be the safest, surest and most satisfactory way to cure a cold, gripe, etc.

KING BACK IN LONDON.

LONDON, Nov. 1. King George, who was injured last week by being thrown from his bicycle while reviewing troops in the field, returned to London this morning.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Nov. 1. (Official.) Fighting continued last night in the vicinity of Butte de Tahure, without any material change in the relative positions of the combatants. The French took 100 more prisoners.

GERMAN PLANS DEMORALIZED.

LONDON, Nov. 1. Germany's plans in the Riga district have been completely demoralized by the successful campaign of British submarines in the Baltic Sea, and the complete restoration of the Gulf of Riga by Russian mine fields, says the Petrograd correspondent of the Post. The Germans are now endeavoring, with most feverish energy, to prevent all discussion of peace terms, said the Premier. He added that in his opinion attempts to initiate peace negotiations at present, would not likely succeed.

GERMANS SHORT OF BREAD.

LONDON, Nov. 1. Travellers arriving from Scandinavia say that reports are current there that the British Government is now supplying food to British prisoners in Germany. In official circles here it is denied that any such step has been taken by the Government. It is known that relatives and friends of prisoners are sending by parcel post enormous quantities of food, especially bread, as the prisoners complain they are unable to eat the German war bread. The report aroused interest in official circles, where the opinion is expressed that Germany might be making overtures through the States for some such arrangement. The belief is growing here that the shortage of food in Germany is becoming serious.

BULGARIANS REPULSED.

SALONIKA, Nov. 1. Bulgarian infantry, supported by two batteries, made an attack yesterday on the French advance post, covering the Keyvelok, on the right bank of Varder. After sharp fighting the Bulgarians retired, having sustained heavy losses.

ROUMANIA RESTLESS.

MILAN, Nov. 1. At a meeting of the Roumanian headquarters staff, held to discuss the military policy of that country, a correspondent, two-thirds of the Generals declared in favor of entering the war on the side of the Quadruple Entente. General Averescu, formerly Minister of War, was the chief advocate of intervention. Asked by General Christeson if he believed it possible to conduct a victorious war on two fronts, General

Avertscua replied that he not only believed it possible, but that all the necessary plans were ready.

SERBIAN ARSENAL CAPTURED.

BERLIN, Nov. 1. The Serbian town of Kragevatz, in which is located the great Serbian arsenal, has been taken by the Germans.

PRES. WILSON'S WEDDING.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. It was formally announced to-day at the White House, that the marriage of President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt will take place near the close of December. It will be private, at Mrs. Galt's home here.

YACHT ECLIPSE REPORTED SUNK.

NORFOLK, Virginia, Nov. 1. Capt. Trousé, of the British tank steamer Trinco, from Sabine Pass, Texas, for England, which arrived here to-day for bunker coal, reports that on Oct. 12th he saw the yacht Eclipse, on which the six German officers of the interned cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm escaped, three hundred miles off the Virginia Cape, bound east, with engine working and all sails set. She has since been reported sunk with all hands by the British cruiser Sydney.

LANSING'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. Secretary Lansing announced to-day that the note to Britain regarding interference with neutral trade and American cargoes would be made public the day after its delivery in London. Publication will be simultaneous in this country and in Britain. The date of the arrival of the special messenger to London, carrying the note, is uncertain. It is expected that he will arrive this week. Officials of the State Department still declined to-day to discuss the contents of the communication.

FRENCH SUBMARINE SUNK.

BERLIN, Nov. 1. The French submarine Furseuse was sunk by Turkish artillery fire according to an official statement issued by the Turkish War Office.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK.

LONDON, Nov. 1. The British steamer Toward, 230 tons, has been sunk. Crew saved.

SWEDISH BARQUE SUNK.

LONDON, Nov. 1. The bodies of three men taken from a small boat, bearing the name of Wolfe, were landed at Cromarty, Scotland. It is assumed that the Swedish barque Wolfe has been sunk in the North Sea.

HAD NO OFFICIAL INFORMATION.

MADRID, Nov. 1. Premier Dato said to-day that he had no official information concerning the report that Prince Von Buelow, former German Chancellor, would come to Madrid to present King Alfonso with an outline of the conditions on which Germany might be willing to consider peace negotiations. The neutral attitude of Spain prevents all discussion of peace terms, said the Premier. He added that in his opinion attempts to initiate peace negotiations at present, would not likely succeed.

GRAND BANK MAN DROWNED.

CHARLOTTETOWN, Nov. 1. Alexander Fox, of Grand Bank, was drowned at Cardigan. He was one of the crew of the schooner Linds, Capt. Tubbo, which arrived there yesterday from the Grand Banks.

Prohibition.

Another Letter from Mr. Warwick Smith. Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I did not expect that my fanfare of the Prohibition Act would be replied to by such "big guns" as Hon. John Harvey and the famous "Theobald." Yet neither the former himself a law-maker, nor the latter, nor in fact any one else has dared deny the two points that I have made in my letters, viz.:

1. That the Act discriminates in favor of the rich man and against the poor man.
2. That the Act is full of faults and loopholes.

Their answers to the first point amount to this: "What odds if it does! Let the rich man keep it if he wants to. The poor man can't get it anyhow, and that's the main thing with us prohibitionists." Theobald adds: "No gentleman would do it." I did not say "gentleman," I said "rich man." Are all rich men gentlemen? Are all gentlemen rich?

To the second point they reply: "We shall amend the law. That is if prohibition passes they will consider that the Legislature will have a free hand to make any amendments it chooses to our Act confirmed by the people."

Now my contention is, that if the Legislature had simply put the question and only passed an Act stating how and when the ballot should be taken, it would then have a perfect right to pass a law next session enforcing prohibition. The details of such a law would then, like those of any other law, be left to the wisdom of the Legislature.

The Legislature did not do this. It passed an Act with two purposes in view. The first was to make arrangements for the election; the second was to arrange for what would happen if the electorate replied "Yes" to the question and to define beforehand what it would understand the answer "Yes" to mean. Thus the meaning of the question in Section 2 is defined by other sections of the same Act. "Read your context! In other words, the Legislature has said to its master, the people of Newfoundland, "Here is an Act which is an unwilling to enforce without first obtaining your consent. If you say "Yes" this is what I understand you to mean by that reply."

We must remember that we are creating a precedent now which may be against us in the future. The next plebiscite might be on the question of "conscription" or "the right to a big contract which the people might be asked to confirm. Would the answer "Yes" to conscription allow the legislature to amend the law after it would be confirmed, and take married men and the only sons of widows if such were omitted from the Act upon which we would be called to vote? What details can be added to a contract without making a difference in its meaning? What guarantee can Mr. Harvey or "Theobald" or even the Prohibition Committee give us that the Legislature, which gives to any person the right to sue an offender under the Act, will not also give that same person the right to enter your house or mine at any hour of the day or night to search for liquor? There are in the Legislature men whose hatred of liquor is so great that if they had a free hand they would not stop even at that. Is entry to private houses a mere detail or the principle of the Act?

In an ordinary election the voters say to the elected candidates, "We appoint you our agents. Do the best you can for us. In this case the agents not only submit a question, but also indicate what the answer "Yes" will mean. If a man said "Yes" to an agent's letter he would not expect the agent to alter one word of his instructions without again referring to him. Let us tell our agents to write out their instructions better.

This can be done by voting "No." There are many reasons besides why a man may vote "No" with a clear conscience. Some of them are set forth by the Rev. A. G. Bayly, Rural Dean of Bonaville Bay, in an editorial published in the Michaelmas number of "The Mark," and also by a contributor in the same issue. The latter asks, "Have we tried all the alternatives?"

Your own paper, Mr. Editor, published an article on the Swedish system. Why not give it a trial, altering it to suit ourselves? Every man then who is not a drunkard will be able to obtain not more than a few glasses a week. No drunkard can obtain the coupons, and must go without it. Nobody makes any profit, for all who sell it are on salary. No one will push sales. There will be no treating. Drinks from one to the limit will be sold in phials or bottles put up at the Controller's bottling establishment and sealed with his seal. Nobody need get sick before he can have it. But first we must vote "No" to prohibition.

If you don't want Prohibition, don't advise them to put up the notice in their windows. "If you don't want prohibition, don't vote." What I say is vote and vote "No!" Don't be a coward, a shirker, a slacker! Don't let other people do either your thinking or your voting for you. I have given you reasons, it is up to you to judge of their worth. If you want prohibition, say "Yes." If you don't want Prohibition say "No," and don't be afraid to say what you think. The ballot is secret between you and your Maker. Does "Theobald" think He would reveal His Will to Turks and Mohammedans before He made it known to Christians? I am speaking here of "Prohibition," not Temperance nor Total Abstinence. I did not intend to bring religion into this discussion, but the other side have made it a religious question.

If you don't want Prohibition, don't stay away from the polls, but go and vote "No." Remember, a majority of "No" is sure to win. Don't risk the other side getting forty per cent. You do your best towards getting forty-five! True Temperance will not suffer. There are others besides myself who will do their bit. But we do not go to extremes.

"Theobald's" remark about partridges and fruits being more easily procured after prohibition is enforced can best be understood by men who, like myself, do not waste their substance in riotous living, and who nevertheless, are unable to indulge in these dainties. Partridges will certainly not breed any faster; nay, the steady hand of a sure cure of the "spot" of the future will kill them off so rapidly that very soon they will go up in price.

For the fair show you have given me, Mr. Editor, I thank you very heartily.

Yours truly, WARWICK SMITH.

Girls! Have a Mass of Beautiful Hair, Soft, Glossy, Wavy

25-cent bottle destroys dandruff and doubles beauty of your hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Beothic Back Is Being Sold.

The S. S. Beothic, Capt. Falke, arrived back from Mediterranean ports, via Halifax and Sydney. She took a cargo of salt to Halifax and brought a load of coal from Sydney. The crew of the ship had an unusual experience going up the Mediterranean. They saw one German submarine getting sunk; another captured and another make her escape. As soon as she finishes discharging the Beothic will be dry docked and examined by two Russians, Lieut. N. D. Fedstov, Assistant Naval Attaché to the Imperial Russian Embassy, Washington, and H. "The World War Against Alcohol."

In the October issue of the Review of Review's is an illuminating article, entitled "The World War against Alcohol." We call from it the more important statement.

In the first month of the war Switzerland prohibited the use of grain and potatoes for the making of spirits. The State monopoly on the sale of spirits was suspended. No spirituous liquors are supplied to the army, and the sale of any alcoholic drink to soldiers in railway refreshment rooms is forbidden.

Denmark has also forbidden the use of potatoes and corn for the manufacture of alcohol.

The Swedish Riksdag last March vested the governing authorities with power to prohibit the sale of intoxicating drinks "in time of distress and danger of war."

Germany in order to preserve barley for bread, has limited the output of beer to 40 per cent. of average output. Local authorities were empowered last March to limit or prohibit the sale of spirits, and in certain areas spirits must not be sold to soldiers in uniform.

Austria has prohibited the malting of corn, cut down the week-day hours for the sale of drink to those between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., and imposed Sunday closing in all shops where liquor only is sold.

Italy has prohibited absinthe. Spirits are also prohibited in the army and the wine ration is reduced. The Lancet affirms that the Alpine, who have won such renown in the fights in the Alps are "abstainers in the strictest sense."

France has suppressed absinthe. Last August a bill was read in the Chamber of Deputies to stop "home distillation."

To Russia's suppression of vodka and the extraordinary stimulus it has given to Savings Banks, and to the output of industrial concerns, attention was directed some time ago in our columns.

Great Britain has greatly curtailed drinking facilities since the war began.

Australia has done away with "wet" canteens in the army.

South Australia has established 6 o'clock closing.

Victoria has also curtailed the open hours of the saloon.

Several provinces of Canada have done the same.

Alberta recently declared for Prohibition by a 2 to 1 vote.

Supreme Court.

The hearing of the motion for appeal in the Keen-Coaker et al libel suit was continued before the Full Bench in the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon. Furlong, K.C. for plaintiff was heard against the motion. Kent, K.C. for the defendants, was heard in reply. The Court takes time to consider.

Court met at 11 a.m. to-day, pursuant to adjournment. Present, the Full Bench. In the matter of the application of Sina G. Faour for a writ of mandamus directed to the Minister of Agriculture and Mines. Morrison, K.C. moves for an order nisi for a writ of mandamus, and is heard in support of the motion. The Attorney General is heard. The Court takes time to consider, and adjourns until 11 a.m. to-morrow.

Reids' Boats.

The Argyle sailed from Placentia for the westward early this morning.

The Clyde left Nipper's Harbour at 4.30 p.m. yesterday inward.

The Dundee left King's Cove at 4.45 p.m. yesterday, outward.

The Ethie is due at Carbonear to-day.

The Glencoe left Fortune at 10.10 a.m. to-day, coming east.

The Home left Daniel's Harbour at 8.30 a.m. to-day, coming south, due at Humbermouth to-night.

The Kyle left Port aux Basques at 10.45 p.m. yesterday.

McMurdo's Store News

TUESDAY, Nov. 2nd, 1915.

Pure Russian Petroleum (or Purified Liquid Paraffin) is one of the most valuable of laxatives. It in no way interferes with the digestion, and in a sense is not a drug at all but a lubricant. It can safely be given to the youngest infant or to the delicate and aged adult. It has no odor and no taste, acting naturally and painlessly. Price, 50c. a bottle.

Massatha Talcum is about the smoothest and finest talcum powder among them all, and its increasing popularity shows how people are catching on to it. We always recommend it because we believe it to be the best, and nearly everyone who has once used it, continues to employ it. Price 25c. a tin.

Police Court.

(Before Mr. Hutchings, K.C.)

Two seamen, drunk and disorderly, were fined $5 or 14 days each.

A 19 and a 21 year old laborer, arrested this morning, were charged with the larceny of (1) a quantity of liquor belonging to Mr. P. J. Shea, and (2) a quantity of oil clothes, hats, caps, guernseys, boots, socks, shirts, and two watches, the property of Mr. T. Peel. They were remanded for 8 days, as some more suspects are going to be arrested this evening.

BELLAVENTURE RETURNING.—The s.s. Bellaventure is due at Sydney to-day on her way here from Hudson Bay. She will bring a cargo of coal.

GUESTS AT BALSAM PLACE.—Lieut. D. N. Pedotoff, Assistant Naval Attaché to the Imperial Russian Embassy, Washington, and E. Becklerhoff, Eng. Commander I.R.N. Petrograd, are guests at Balsam Place.

Industrial Fair Opened

Under favourable circumstances the Industrial Fair, held under the auspices of the Mechanics' Society, was formally opened last night. Present were:—Sir E. P. Morris, Mr. J. M. and Mrs. Kent, Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Bennett, Hon. J. J. and Mrs. Robinson, Hon. P. T. McGrath, Hon. R. A. Squires, Mr. Lloyd, Mr. W. G. Gosling, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chaplin, Mr. D. Baird, Dr. Traherne, Mr. J. L. Slatery, Miss O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Henderson, Mr. W. J. Higgins, Mr. C. W. and Mrs. Ryan, Mr. W. J. Ellis, Hon. and Mrs. S. D. Blandford, Mr. C. R. Dugler, Mr. D. Monroe, Mr. P. J. and Mrs. Hanly and Mr. M. J. Kennedy.

After being introduced by Mr. M. J. Doyle, Chairman of the Committee, the Rt. Hon. the Premier, Sir Edward Morris, said: It gave him much pleasure to be present at such an interesting function and he felt highly complimented on being asked to open the Fair. He spoke of the wonderful progress and advancement made within the past half century or more in this country along mechanical lines, mainly due to the efforts of the Mechanics' Society. Continuing, he spoke in eulogistic terms of that venerable institution, which, he said, had done so much to advance the home industries and improve the general status of the mechanics and tradesmen in the country, and which society would soon be celebrating the centenary of its work. Sir Edward stated that the object of the Mechanics' Bazaar or Sale was to raise funds to pay off the debt of its Hall, and after wishing it every success formally declared the Fair open.

At the close of the Premier's speech, the C. C. C. Band, which was present, rendered an appropriate selection. The visitors then engaged themselves at viewing the various stalls and buying goods from them. The ladies who presided over the stalls and tables are:—

No. 1.—Mrs. A. Doherty, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Power, Misses McGuire (2), Miss Evans, Mrs. J. Lahey, Misses Lahey.

No. 2.—Miss Myrick, Mrs. P. Myrick, Mrs. W. MacKay, Miss MacKay.

No. 3.—Mrs. E. Voisey, Mrs. Doyle, Mrs. Primm, Mrs. Dunn, Miss K. Brennan.

No. 4.—Mrs. F. Stapleton, Mrs. Knowling, Miss K. Murphy, Miss Morrissey, Miss A. Power, Misses Pond (2).

No. 5.—Mrs. M. Colbert, Mrs. A. H. O'Keefe, Mrs. M. Healey.

Refreshment Table—Mrs. C. Buckley, Mrs. P. Foley, Mrs. Walsh, Miss Brophy, Miss Buckley, Mrs. W. Dunn, Miss Wills, Miss Morrissey, Mrs. Morrissey, Miss Heaney.

The room in which the affair was held was attractively decorated and brilliantly illuminated. Flags of the Allies, and of the local Societies hung in graceful folds from various parts of the room. The stalls, some tastefully decorated with patriotic ribbons in rich designs, contained all sorts of fancy work, including articles of clothing, cushions, toilet mats, rugs and various other specimens of ladies' handiwork, all showing that the wives of the mechanics' were artistic. The stalls were well supplied and the charges found ready purchasers. The ladies in charge of the tea and refreshments also did a brisk business. Occupying the centre of the hall were the hand-made products of members of the Society and an excellent display it was. Of striking significance was a miniature couch. It was the work of Mr. Moses O'Neil, the artist in the style of the Society at present, and peculiarly enough one who never worked at that particular trade, although it would be difficult to excel for excellence of design and finish the article he exhibited.

Industrial Booths.

Standing out prominently on either side of the hall were the industrial booths of the British Clothing Company and the Imperial Tobacco Factory. The former booth was, if not the best, the most striking and attractive. It was neatly designed and finished, set off with foliage, the work of Mr. R. W. Miller, who is an artist in that line. The booth contained a splendid exhibit of men's and boys' suits of clothes and overcoats and the casual visitors spoke favourably of the style, fit and finish of the articles. This was also shown the style for 1916, the whole making an excellent display and showing that it is no wonder the British Clothing Company has gained a conspicuous place in the ranks of the industrial trade of the country. The booth was conducted by Manager Freilich and his assistant, Mr. S. L. Sheppard.

On the opposite side of the hall on exhibition was the Imperial Tobacco Co.'s booth which was attractively decorated and filled to overflowing with numerous brands of cigars, cigarettes, cut plug and stick tobacco. Mr. Thos. Cahill, who was in charge, did a rushing trade, the profits to be devoted to the Funds of the Fair. So pleased were the visitors with the smokes they purchased that not a few of them renewed their orders a couple of times.

The Fair will be continued to-night and will close with a sale and dance to-morrow night. The ladies in charge are to be congratulated on their splendid efforts and we wish them abundant success.

Drunkness Has Decreased.

Dear Sir,—Now that the campaign is drawing to a close, I do not see that the Prohibition Party have advanced many convincing arguments, although they have filled a good deal of your space. Their main cry has been "Put down the saloon," as if that were the only issue. We have thousands of men in this country who take a little wine, beer or perhaps a little whiskey and do not frequent saloons. They have also told us a lot about other countries, mainly Russia and the U.S. We all know that the liquor traffic in Russia needed reform, but comparatively our conditions were not unlike. To read Mr. Callahan's letter in the "News," a stranger would think this country was fairly wallowing in rum and poverty. Residents of this country know that drunkenness has decreased rapidly in the last few years.

We have listened to imported lecturers who ostensibly came to teach us what to eat and what not to eat, but wound up by telling us what not to drink. They tell us that alcohol is no use medicinally, but ask us to vote for a law which gives the sole privilege of sale to Drug Stores.

FRENCH DROVE BACK BULGARIANS.

SALONIKI, To-day.
 The attempt made on Saturday by the Bulgarians with the aid of artillery to dislodge the French troops from their northern position in Serbia met with failure. A few advance posts scouting in the direction of Veles retired before the Bulgarian attack to their base at Krivolak, where a division of French troops is strongly entrenched. The Bulgarians then attacked this position three times. The Bulgars were caught in a cross fire of the French artillery and were stopped when they were met by a fusillade of infantry. Finally the French charged with the bayonet. The Bulgarians were driven into Vardar River which is swollen by recent rains and many were drowned. It is asserted that Kotehanic Pass has been recaptured by the French and that Veles district has been freed from the Bulgarians, although the town and railroad still remain in Bulgarian hands.

PROTEST AGAINST SEIZURES.

NEW YORK, To-day.
 The owners of the American steamer Hocking which was seized by a British cruiser while proceeding from Carriacou, Cuba, and taken into Halifax as a prize, were in consultation to-day regarding the form of protest they would make. The owners of the Dutch steamer Homburg were preparing a protest against the seizure by the British of that vessel while bound from New York to Carriacou, Cuba. The Hocking was one of the forty-eight ships recently published on the British black list as vessels suspected of being connected by German interests or engaged in unneutral service. The officials of the line owning vessels said the statement giving the attitude of the line will be made later. The Hocking sailed from here on Thursday for Norfolk with a load of coal for Argentine. Steamship men believe the steamer was seized by a British cruiser shortly after passing outside the three mile limit of New York and started at once for Halifax.

GOVERNOR OF BRUSSELS REMOVED.

LONDON, To-day.
 A despatch to the Star from Rotterdam says, it is understood General Saubert, Military Governor of Brussels, who is generally believed to be responsible for the final refusal to grant the American Minister's request for the postponement of the execution of Miss Edith Cavell has been removed from office and a new Military Governor appointed.

THE LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day.
 The Germans have occupied Kragevats, the arsenal town of Serbia, while their Bulgarian Allies are pushing their way through the mountains to Nish, Serbia's war capital. From all sides the Germans, Austrians and Bulgarians are slowly closing in the Serbian armies positions, which grows graver daily. They are fighting fiercely to save their country and have inflicted such losses on Field Marshal Von Mackensen's forces that he has been compelled to send for reinforcements and leave the more serious work of invading the eastern and southern part of the country to Bulgarians, who have had more experience in the mountain warfare, such as the Serbians are waging from the junction of Danube and Timok Rivers and the northeast of Uskup. In the south the Bulgarians are moving westward driving the Serbians out of the towns into the mountains, but from Uskup south they have been checked as the Serbians in that territory have been reinforced by French and British with modern guns and with gunners who gained valuable experience in France and Gallipoli. Beyond the forces landed in Salonika, which the Germans estimate place at 70,000 men, there is no news of further assistance being sent by the Allies to Serbia. Russian transports have been reported sunk off Varna, but the report lacks confirmation. There is, however, evidence in despatches from Bucharest that the people of Roumania at least desire intervention and that pressure is being brought on the King and Cabinet to induce them to join the Allies and permit Russian forces to pass through Roumanian territory to attack the Bulgars from the east. Greece continues a friendly neutrality. The Germans having failed in two months almost incessant attacks to reach Riga and Dvinsk by various routes, are now trying along the railway which skirts the shores of Galizia from Turukam and have according to their reports reached a point west of Schlek, which is a very slight advance, such low ground over which it is difficult to move lies between them and their objective. In the Dvinsk sector both to the west and southwest of that city the Russians have begun an offensive apparently in anticipation of renewed attacks by the Germans. They also are on the move in the lake district east of the Dvinsk-Vilna railway and in Volhynia and Galicia. The results of these various battles has not been disclosed if indeed they are concluded. These at the southern end of the line doubtless are designed to prevent the Germans and Austrians from sending reinforcements to Serbia.

THE KING AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

LONDON, To-day.
 The King arrived at Buckingham Palace at 7.30. Although much fatigued by the journey his condition is officially reported satisfactory. The King reached Victoria Station by a special train. Elaborate precautions were taken to insure privacy, the greater part of the station being closed and the public exit was also closed, but the elaborate nature of the measures defeated their purpose as they attracted a large crowd which lined all the approaches for a considerable distance and loudly cheered when the King's motor car appeared followed by several others containing members of his suite.

FIELD MARSHAL FRENCH'S REVIEW OF THE GREAT LOOS BATTLE.

LONDON, To-day.
 Field Marshal Sir John French, reporting from the front, says on October 29th the enemy heavily bombarded the area east of Ypres. With this exception owing to wet misty weather the artillery on both sides during the last four days has been less active. Mining activity continues on both sides. The returns of casualties for the seven German battalions which took part in the last fighting, just published, show losses averaged 80 per cent. of the strength of these battalions. The British have strengthened their artillery by introducing a new weapon, skillfully handled along the front of Flanders, where the Germans were driven back in the great offensive on Sept. 25th. This is the chief disclosure of popular interest in the long official despatch from Field Marshal French to Earl Kitchener, which was published last night. Under date, General Headquarters, France, Oct. 15, General French refers to the arrival in the field from Canada of a new division, which he says are composed of excellent material. This division will, I am convinced, acquit itself as well as the first Canadian division has always done, the Field Marshal says. The despatch is mainly technical and a military review of the inception and carrying out of the seven German battalions which took part in the last fighting. Nevertheless it brings to the British public for the first time a full realization of the tenacity with which the Germans launched their counter attack up to and including October (?). Then he writes, the Germans delivered an attack with some 28 battalions on a front line with larger forces in support which was preceded by very heavy bombardment from all parts of the line except two the Germans were repulsed with tremendous loss. It is computed on reliable authority they left some eight or nine thousand dead in front of the British and French trenches, General French says.

BONAR LAW ON NATIONAL UNITY.
LONDON, To-day.
 The Unionist leader, who now holds the portfolio of Minister of the Colonies, writes to the Agent-General of Tasmania, London, who sought from him a statement refuting reports, published in the Dominions of political warfare in England, injuring Imperial solidarity: I have now been a member of the present Cabinet for more than four months, and I say with absolute confidence that during the whole of that time, no political issue of any kind has ever been raised. This is true of the Government and so far as I can judge, it is true also of the country. The whole nation is absolutely united and determined to carry this war to a successful termination. The only difference of opinion among us is whether the strength which ought to come from this material unity is being most effectively used in the prosecution of the war.

RUSSIAN TROOPS AND VARNA.

LONDON, To-day.
 A despatch to the Times from Bucharest says it is reported in naval quarters here that Russian troops were landed at Varna, Bulgaria, on the Black Sea, Friday.

THE FIGHT IN BULGARIA.

PARIS, To-day.
 An official communication of the Montenegrin War Office, dated Oct. 30, says, the enemy attacks on our positions at Vardia and his advances on Biel Obordo have been stopped, but the combat continues. The Austrian losses have been appreciable. The artillery combat on the Drina, is proceeding.

DEFENCE OF THE SUEZ CANAL.

ROME, To-day.
 The Austro-Germans are preparing a new offensive against the Suez Canal, according to an Athens despatch to the Tribune, which adds the British have made gigantic preparations to meet such an eventuality. Among other things they have flooded the land along the canal leaving the fortifications just standing out of the water, the defenders being supplied with provisions by the gunboats.

POLITICAL DISCUSSION WANES.

LONDON, To-day.
 There has been a notable decrease of political discussion on the Government in the past few days. Equally noted has been the growth of optimism, regarding the success of Lord Derby's recruiting scheme.

A RECORD DAY FOR RECRUITING.

LONDON, To-day.
 The Daily News says that recruiting in London yesterday in spite of dismal weather beat all records for this year. It is estimated that over 2,500,000 men have enlisted. Monday is always a good day, but yesterday so remarkable was the enthusiasm that recruiting officials were taken by surprise.

TEN BURNT TO DEATH.

NEW YORK, To-day.
 Ten persons were burnt to death in a fire which destroyed a three-story tenement house last night.

DERBY PLEASED WITH RECRUITING.

LONDON, To-day.
 Horatio W. Bottomley in lecturing at Brighton yesterday, claimed he had the authority of Earl Derby, Director of recruiting for saying whatever the Earl had thought before, he now was convinced the voluntary system of recruiting would be saved.

Gas the Beneficent Spirit.

The nightly hot bath is the children's joy, and a pleasure to their nurse also, provided that its preliminaries do not involve wordy warfare with an indignant cook who requires the kitchen fire for her own purposes. All such trouble is obviated by the installation of a gas water-heater, which solves the hot water problem once for all.

It is as great a boon to the master of the house who wants to shave in a hurry as to the hockey-playing daughter who comes in tired and muddy, or to the nurse whose baby charge before the simple remedies of an immediate hot bath and a night passed in a room well warmed and at the same time ventilated by a gas fire. Where gas is the family friend, there health, peace and contentment should reign supreme.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A neighbor of mine had to give up a long looked forward to trip last week. Her little boy was sick—one of the exasperating upsets that the young stomach is so liable to. The deprivation was particularly trying because the mother in question had been unusually careful of the youngster's diet for the last week or so in order to avoid this very contingency. You may think that shows that too much care defeats its own purpose, but you are not right this time. You see, the youngster went over to see his chum late on Saturday afternoon. The family were having an early Saturday dinner and plied him with baked beans. He liked them, but the liking was far from mutual, hence the lost trip.

Think Of Offering Baked Beans To A Child!

Of course he has been told not to eat everything that is offered him, but far bigger blame, it seems to me, attaches to the woman who offered another woman's child anything with such a fearful reputation as baked beans.

Indeed, I can't see why women, especially mothers who know what trouble they may cause, will persist in this habit of feeding other people's children. Of course it is embarrassing if a neighbour's child happens to be present when your children are being fed, not to offer him something, but unless the food is something unquestionably harmless it is much kinder.

My neighbour is extremely conscientious about this matter, herself, and always insists that the visiting child go home and ask its mother, or herself telephoned to the mother, before she permits him to share in candy or any such indulgence. Her way is the only fair way and it is poetic justice that she should be the one to suffer from the carelessly hospitable.

Her Name Wasn't In The Paper. A friend of mine told me this story, so I know it must be true, otherwise I should prefer not to think so. She asked a woman who helped last year in the work of collecting money for one of our finest community philanthropies to help again this year.

"No, indeed," said the woman; "I did a lot last year and my name wasn't even mentioned in the paper. Why should I put my time into it again?" Why, indeed, if that our philanthropies usually need money so badly that we cannot do without the services of the women who give in such a spirit.

With My Letter Friends. Question—Would you please suggest what would be appropriate to wear for dancing school?

Answer—That depends somewhat on the size of the class and the age of the pupils. For a child a very simple dress if some dainty thin material (preferably nothing elaborate or expensive) is suitable. For an older girl either a wash dress of some light material or an afternoon dress of a darker shade of silk is permissible. The custom of the class would determine which. Pleating makes an unusually pretty dancing dress. Needless to say, the dress should be decidedly short.

Children's hats are trimmed on the crown—one pretty hat had two pom-poms set right on top of the crown.

DUCK HUNTING.

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Stwash."

Early in the spring the wild duck leaves the south for the summer resorts on Hudson's Bay and as he wings his way north, life is one long Fourth of July for him. What with dodging chilling shot and yawning gun muzzles, he rarely has a chance to enjoy the scenery for so much as a minute at a time.

Duck hunting is a favorite athletic sport in America. The game of golf is supposed to have a firm grip on its victims, but a golfer is fickle and unenthusiastic beside a duck hunter. When the weather gets nasty and the cold wind roars wickedly, a duck hunter will leave a cozy club corner, an evening with his fiancée, a winning hand at poker, a wheat squeeze in which he is the squeezer or a bulletin board of the world's championship series in order to be present at sunrise in a rice swamp waiting to be attacked by a wild duck.

To enjoy duck hunting in its prime, the hunter must first select a day on which the Humane Society wouldn't allow a dog to be kept out of doors. He should then dress himself in canvas clothes, put on twenty-pound hip boots, put forty pounds of ammunition and a sandwich in his pockets, rent a leaky boat and row five miles in a gale, balling out with his cap. Having done this, he should build a blind of reeds and lie in the mud until evening, smoking a pipe for warmth and occasionally breaking the ice around his legs. Many men can only afford one day of such bliss each year, but they look eagerly forward to it and will not accept any substitute, although they could soak themselves all night in a tub of ice-water in the back yard at far less expense.

Because wild ducks are of a retiring disposition, and do not warm up to humans, it is often necessary, when assassinating them, to attract them by means of decoy ducks. Decoy ducks are made of rubber and are used to attract the real birds in the same way that prominent directors are used to attract investors in a stock company. When the wild duck has stopped to share the meal that the decoy duck has found, the hunter, who corresponds to the promoter, gets in his deadly work.

The wild duck when roasted is so delicious that it pays to remove his feathers one by one after a long day's hunting. Duck hunters pay, an average of $2 for every duck they shoot and usually give most of them to their friends. This makes a duck hunter second only to a theatre treasurer in popularity and it is no trick at all for a good shot to get elected to the legislature.

Dr. W. G. Grace Dead in London.

London, Oct. 25.—Dr. William Gilbert Grace, the famous cricketer, is dead. He was sixty-seven years old. Doctor Grace played on English cricket teams for many years continuously. He also wrote on this sport, among his publications being "Cricketing Reminiscences and Personal Recollections."

Everyday Etiquette.

"A girl friend of mine has a cousin visiting her. Is it my place to call on them or should she bring her cousin to call on me?" asked Mona. "If the cousin be a girl you should call on her first. If it is a male cousin he should be brought to your home," said her aunt.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich.—"I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and was so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. 'I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work. In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Whether in house, office, factory, shop, store or kitchen, woman should remember that there is one tried and true remedy for the ills to which all women are prone, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It promotes that vigor which makes work easy. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Dr. Geisel at Botwood. BOTWOOD, Yesterday. Special Evening Telegram: Dr. Geisel arrived here on Strathcona Saturday from Herring Neck. In the evening she addressed one of the largest audiences ever assembled in Botwood, presided over by P. D. Park, Chairman of the Prohibition Committee. She opened her remarks with facts relating to our physical condition and gave most valuable information on digestion, how to get well and keep well. She then launched all her wonderful magnetic power into the burning question of Prohibition, deeply impressing every one present with her eloquence and illustrations backed by scientific facts. It is believed her lecture will have permanent and beneficial results. Rev. J. Newman and Ensign Tuck moved and seconded the vote of thanks in very earnest and appropriate manner which was enthusiastically expressed by the audience and acknowledged by Mr. H. J. Crowe, the Doctor being unable to reply for during her lecture her nose kept bleeding which may be an indication of physical exhaustion. Yesterday afternoon she again addressed an audience quite as large on temperance and health. The impression on the audience was even greater than on the previous evening. Rev. J. Newman presided; Mr. P. D. Park and Mr. Wentzell supported the hearty vote of thanks. In the evening Dr. Geisel, Dr. Smith and H. J. Crowe, left on a special train for Grand Falls where a Mass meeting was held. CORRESPONDENT.

Japan Has Sent Big Supply of Rifles to Russia.

New York, Oct. 27.—More than 3,000,000 Japanese made rifles, with sufficient ammunition for an extended campaign, have been received by Russia during the past three months, according to Albert B. Thayer, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who arrived here today on the steamer Frederick VIII from Copenhagen. In addition, about 500 trained Japanese officers are engaged in instructing Russian artillerymen in the use of new high powered guns.

Mr. Thayer also said that all large factories in Russia, including several purchased from American interests, are engaged in turning out munitions in preparation for a big drive that is expected to begin in the early Spring.

ACCIDENT TO HORSE.—In trying to avoid collision with another team yesterday afternoon a horse, belonging to Messrs. Ayre and Sons, Ltd., fell into a cut in which the City Council are laying pipes. It was only after great trouble that the animal was taken out of the cut, though without much injury.

SALT BULK AND HERRING.—The schr. Atlanta left Woods' Island yesterday with 150,000 lbs. of salt bulk codfish, 446 brls. of bulk herring and 38 brls. of pickled herring.

Campaign Notes.

From Prohibition Committee.

Kelligrews Forging Ahead.

Kelligrews is gallantly forging ahead. Mr. Harold Pike, Secretary Prohibition Committee says the gentlemen who have given their attention to this matter almost have gone from place to place to inform the people about it. He has done noble work, which have swept away all the difficulties and now the people themselves are working for freedom from the accursed traffic in alcoholic beverages. Don't mistake, it must be a hard blow and a united one to kill the enemy.

Bay Bull's Arm.

The leaders in this fight in Bay Bull's Arm are "men in whom you can put your trust." Rev. S. Scott is the chairman of the Committee.

Mr. John Luther one of the most consistent and most reliable and upright men in the place was in this city last week and he informed me, as I chanced to meet him, that he had good hope of the same in that settlement.

Well, done Bay Bull's Arm.

Hant's Harbour Report.
Hant's Harbour sends in an excellent report. A. Targett, Esq., M.H.A., and Capt. Radaway (S.A.), are taking a very active interest in the question and are very hopeful for a great prohibition victory.

Mr. J. T. Clarke reports a very favourable sentiment for Prohibition at Cape Freels and Cat Harbour, and is confident of a large vote for prohibition.

At Seldom.

Revs. Messrs. Guy and Legge held a very successful meeting at Seldom recently with Capt. A. Kean, Chairman. It is almost needless to say that the Captain gave a rousing speech. Anybody in the audience disposed to say anything against Prohibition had an opportunity of walking to the platform and doing so. But none in the audience expressed such a wish and at the close of the meeting a unanimous standing expression was given in favour of prohibition law.

Port Rexton.

This place promises to do good work for the cause. Mr. Coaker is popular in that settlement and as he is visiting or has visited the place a great influence will be felt from his words on the part of the Union members and all other subjects must be held in obedience in the effort to crush out the evil that has crushed so many families in our Island Home.

Grand Falls.

Rev. Mr. Dunn writes with good impressions as to the result of the Prohibition Campaign, but he fears that the lumbering conditions there will tend to diminish the votes on Polling Day. He says there will be 1,500 men in the lumber camps extending over sixty miles, and that will necessarily lessen the votes taken on Polling Day, but we must keep this difficulty in mind and do more strenuous work in other places. Now's the time: "Think of Cromwell's words when about to cross a river to attack the enemy:—Put your trust in God, but mind to keep your powder dry."

Burgeo.

Reports from Burgeo are very favourable and the voters say they will do their duty on Polling Day. Prominent gentlemen are assisting in the settlement.

Musgravetown, Bloomfield, Lethbridge, Portland, Jamestown and Canine's Cove, show a strong sentiment for Prohibition, which will be likely to sway almost the whole population on Polling Day.

Joe Batt's Arm.

A good stirring meeting was held here weekly when Rev. Guy, Higgit and others gave very telling Prohibition speeches. When asked to stand at this meeting to show what side they were on, with one or two exceptions the whole audience stood for Prohibition. The meeting closed with cheers for prohibition.

Botwood In Earnest.

Every member of the Prohibition Committee at Botwood seem to be thoroughly in harness for good, faithful work.

Mr. J. W. Aitken, Secretary of the Canvassing Committee, writes a splendid report of how they are proceeding in that neighbourhood. Each member of the Committee is assigned a place and a duty and in this manner they get through a vast amount of work. They have visited a great many places in the neighbourhood and only heard two persons say they would not vote, one of whom afterward changed his mind and said he would vote. This is alright. It is no harm to hesitate sometimes, but it is better to change the mind from a bad resolve to a good one. Well done, Secretary. Well done Botwood. Do honor to the name! Victory is certain for Botwood.

Freshwater, C. B.

This place is well equipped for work. It has for a chairman Rev. Mr. Broughton and for a Secretary of Committee, Mr. George E. Hudson. These gentlemen, with Judge Penny and others have held meetings here meeting with a good reception. The latest advice from Freshwater assures us of practically a 100% vote. Well done, Freshwater.

"God Helps Those That Help Themselves".

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir,—It is difficult at a time like this when there is before us a question so vitally affecting the welfare of the community, to keep out of the fight without forfeiting one's own self-respect. While thoroughly able to appreciate the argument that it is unjust to interfere with the liberty of the individual unnecessarily, I cannot help feeling that Prohibition will greatly benefit a large number of people and that therefore individual rights must give way to the public good. Whatever Newfoundland as a whole may be, our town of St. John's has been and still is the scene of too much drunkenness. I know St. John's and its people well, being a native of the place, and I would go so far as to state that there is hardly a family in the place which has not suffered bitterly through the drunkenness of at least one of its members—father, brother, son, or uncle. With such an experience in the past or in the present there cannot be many sane men in the place who will hesitate to take steps to prevent a continuance of this state of affairs in the future. The thought that one of my boys may become a drunkard is quite sufficient to make me do what I can to remove the temptation from him. The argument that we ought to allow this temptation to remain and to trust in God for the saving of the tempted, reminds me forcibly of the devil's temptation to Christ to cast himself down from the pinnacle of the temple "for He will give His angels charge concerning Thee."

The State coerces men every day for the general good. It is as intelligent to say that coercion against small-pox or the plague is contrary to the Divine methods as it is to say that men should not be coerced against drunkenness. In both cases we must remove the danger, and make it impossible for the ignorant to hurt either themselves or others through their lack of knowledge and their disinclination to take proper precautions.

Yours faithfully, R. R. WOOD.

Ballot Paper.

The ballot papers for the purpose of the voting under this Act shall be in the following form:

Are you in favour of prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of spirits, wine, ale, beer, cider and all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverages?

YES	NO
-----	----

Directions for the Guidance of Electors in Voting.

EACH Elector, on entering the room where the Poll is to be held shall declare his name, surname and addition.

After so doing he shall receive a Ballot Paper in the above form.

Each elector, if required by the Deputy Returning Officer, the Poll Clerk or one of the agents shall, before receiving his Ballot Paper, take an oath of qualification.

After receiving his Ballot Paper, the Voter shall go into one of the compartments and with a pencil there provided, place a cross to indicate his vote on the question at issue. An affirmative vote on the question submitted shall be made by placing a cross (thus X) in the space after the word 'Yes' and a negative vote by placing a similar cross in the space after the word 'No.'

The voter will then fold the Ballot Paper, so as to show a portion of the 'back only', with the initials of the Deputy Returning Officer and shall hand it folded up to the Deputy Returning Officer, and the Deputy Returning Officer shall, without unfolding it, ascertain that it is the Ballot Paper which he furnished to the elector, and then immediately place it in the Ballot Box. The voter shall forthwith leave the Polling Station.

If a voter inadvertently spoils a Ballot Paper he may return it to the Deputy Returning Officer, who shall give him another.

If a voter places any mark on the Ballot Paper by which he can afterwards be identified, his vote will be void and will not be counted.

If a voter takes a Ballot or Ballot Paper out of the Polling Station, or fraudulently puts any other into the Ballot Box than the Paper given him by the Deputy Returning Officer, he will be subject to be punished by a fine of Five Hundred Dollars, or by Ward Boundaries.

No. 1 Ward shall be bounded by a line commencing at Cuckhold's Head, and running along the boundary between St. John's section and Quidi Vidl section to commencement of the road on Logy Bay road (near Cook's) running from Logy Bay road to the Torbay road; thence along the boundary between the St. John's section and the Major Path section to the Portugal Cove road; thence across the said road to the Portugal Cove old road; thence along the centre of the last-mentioned road to the lane leading past the eastern side of the late Mr. J. THE LIGHT-HOUSE KEEPER'S STORY.

FROM the lighthouse at Lobster Cove Head, Bonne Bay, Newfoundland, Mrs. W. Young sends her experience of Zam-Buk.

She says: "I suffered with eczema for seven years and to my great delight Zam-Buk has cured me. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning—especially when the affected parts were warm—was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed, it turned to bad sores and caused great pain. I went to a doctor and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no benefit, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief, so tried a third doctor, and then a fourth.

"Seven years is a long time to suffer, and I had got used to the thought that I never would be cured, when I saw a report in the Family Herald, telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was in cases of skin disease. I bought some Zam-Buk, and from the use of the very first box I saw it was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful.

"It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zam-Buk all that was claimed for it and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case.

"Since that time I have recommended it for several other cases, and in each it has proved its wonderful merit.

What Zam-Buk Cures
Zam-Buk cures Eczema, Ulcers, Blood Poison, Piles, Cold Sores, Chapped Hands, Scald Sores, Bad Leg, Festering, Children's Eruptions, Cuts, Bruises, Scalls and Burns. All druggists and stores sell at 50c box or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse worthless substitutes.

Drops 10,000 Feet.

Paris, Oct. 21.—The destruction by an officer of the observation post in the Champagne of a German captive balloon of the type known as "sausage," which has been mentioned in a French official statement, is declared to have been a particularly brilliant and difficult feat as these balloons are always carefully guarded.

Determined to get rid of this particular balloon, by means of which the Germans had been enabled to obtain valuable information regarding the movements of French troops, the lieutenant experimented for two months with fire balls. When he was convinced that he had an explosive which met all his requirements, he started out for the attack.

The aeroplanes guarding the balloon moored fifteen miles behind the German lines, were so vigilant that the lieutenant had to try four times before he could rise above it. On the fourth attempt he swooped down from a height of 10,000 feet and placed his missiles accurately before the balloon could be hauled down.

In dropping his fire bombs the Frenchman came near enough to the earth to be in full range of German anti-aircraft guns, but he managed to rise safely, and escaped from a hurricane of bursting shrapnel.

A battle between a French aeroplane loaded with 90-millimetre bombs, and a fast double-engine German plane was one of the incidents of the battle in the Champagne, when the allied offensive was at its height. The French machine had just set out to destroy a line of the railroad just back of the German lines when the German craft emerged from a cloud.

The battle began immediately. Almost as soon as it started the machine gun on the French aeroplane jammed.

"Dive, dive," shouted the French observer to the pilot.

The machine plunged in a sudden curve, but the German, no less prompt, dived too, and continued to fly around the French machine, which was hampered by the weight of the bombs it carried. After firing his carbine until his supply of cartridges were exhausted, it occurred to the French observer that it would be fatal to him and his pilot to land abruptly unless the fuses were removed from the bombs. He coolly set about taking out the fuses and had just about finished the task when a bullet struck him in the back, and a moment later one shattered his wrist.

The pilot was hit in the eye by a piece of the propeller, which had been knocked off by a bullet. Again he fainted and was wounded in the abdomen and fainted. Then the observer seized the levers and guided the machine to the French trenches.

Both the observer and the pilot have survived their injuries and the names of both have been proposed for the Legion of Honor.

Private Alec Hennebury.

Mr. George McF. Hennebury, of the Evening Telegram staff, is in receipt of the following communication from the Hon. Secretary of the Newfoundland War Contingent Association regarding his son, Drummer Alec Hennebury, who was wounded recently at the Dardanelles:—

58 Victoria Street,
Westminster, S.W.
11th Oct. 1915.

Dear Sir,—
I am desired by the Committee of the Association to convey to you their regrets and sympathy that your son has been wounded.

As the telegraph report is not "serious" we trust he will soon recover and be able to join his comrades in the fighting line.

Yours sincerely,
(Sgd.) HENRY REEVE,
Hon. Secretary.

Use "Cascarets" for Liver and Bowels When Constipated.

When bilious, headachy, sick, for sour stomach, bad breath, bad colds.

Get a 10-cent box.

Take a Cascaret to-night to cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, a bad cold, are bilious, nervous, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

FLEEING TIME.

The wind grows keener every day, as from the north they roam, and "Time is winging us away, to our eternal home," still is in haste, Old Father Time he makes his long legs whiz; he seems to have no hour to waste, though ages all are his. His eager stride he never swops, he never rests or stops, he breaks all speed laws as he goes, and laughs at traffic cops. He swings the seasons round so fast there is no pause betwixt, and summer heat and winter blast are sometimes badly mixed. The springtime comes, the robins call, but ere we've learned their strain, we find we're in the midst of fall, and cold November rain. We celebrate the noble Fourth, and ere the echoes die, a wind comes whooping from the north, and Christmas day is nigh. So let us do our shopping late, this merry, festive year, and fill the clerks, who on us wait, with thoughts that scorch and sear. Oh, Father Time, what is the rush? Is time too good to last? Lie down and rest—be quiet—hush! You make us old too fast!

How Sickly Women May Get Health.

If they could only be made to see that half their ills are caused by impure blood, it wouldn't take long to cure them with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Truly a wonderful medicine that invigorates, strengthens, renews. Every tired, worn out, woman that tries Dr. Hamilton's Pills will improve rapidly, will have better color, increased appetite and better digestion.

No better rebuilding tonic can be found than Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are safe, mild and health giving. For forty years Dr. Hamilton's Pills have been America's most valued family medicine, 25c. per box at all dealers.

Obituary.

MAURICE A. DEVINE, J.P.

With sincere regret we chronicle the passing of an estimable citizen in the person of Mr. Maurice A. Devine, J.P., Clerk of the District Court, whose death occurred at his late residence, King's Bridge Road, yesterday afternoon in his 58th year.

Maurice Devine, who will be better known to some of our readers as the Editor of the Trade Review, which paper he published previous to his appointment as Clerk of the Court some six months ago, was a son of the late John Devine, of County Kerry, Ireland, who settled at King's Cove many years ago. He was educated at St. Bonaventure's College. After conducting the Trade Review successfully for 22 years he received an appointment as Clerk of the Court, which position he occupied up to the time of his death. Mr. Devine contested the District of St. George's in the general election of 1897, and was a candidate for St. John's East in 1908-09. He was a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus and also of the Benevolent Irish Society. He married Miss Kinsella, sister of Mr. J. W. Kinsella of the G. P. O., and is survived by her. He is also survived by three brothers—P. K. Devine, Editor of the Trade Review; Thomas Devine, J.P., King's Cove, and John Devine, residing at Port au Port; and three sisters—Miss Lizzie Devine, telegraph operator, King's Cove; Mrs. Bernard McGrath, this city, and Mrs. (Capt.) Doyle, this city. To these and the other relatives of the deceased the Telegram extends sincere sympathy.

Ladies' Costumes Fall---1915---Styles.

Was there ever a more fickle lady than Dame Fashion? She is always making changes, and this season has surely surpassed herself.

There is a more decided change in this Fall's styles than has been known for many seasons. While materials are similar, Serges, Gabardines, Tweeds, Cord, etc., the designs are absolutely unlike any of their predecessors. Coats are of many styles, chiefly a la militaire, with high collars, snug-fitting sleeves, and the entire coat in some instances is beautifully braided. Skirts are much fuller, both pleated and gored, and are worn very short.

As descriptions are quite impossible, we can only say that we carry the largest and smartest line of Ladies' Costumes in the city.

New Fall SUITINGS!

Within the next few weeks you are going to buy a new Fall Suit—that's certain. Perhaps to-day, perhaps to-morrow, perhaps in a month—but you're going to buy it.

We think you ought to know why it's wise to "Do it now." The best reason is that our stocks are complete—you're bound to get more style satisfaction out of a broad choice than a narrow one—you get the broad choice now—you may not get it later.

This is why we invite your inspection of the stylish patterns now on hand.
