The Concert Last Night.

The concert in aid of the orphans and poor, in St. Joseph's Hospital, was held in the Drill Shed last night. The attendance was very large, over a thousand we are informed being present. The active committee of management, however, were nabled to seat nearly the whole audier though quite a number were compelled The committee had thoughtfully put up a canopy over the platform, which not only set off the appearance of that part of the building greatly, but was of material service to the singers, as by confining the space it did not tax their vocal powers so nuch, and helped to carry the sound out through the building. But make whatever improvements you please, so long as the Drill Shed retains its present barnlike appearance, no singing, however good, will have any effect in it. The nost powerful notes are weakened, and st and finest passages lose their effect entirely. The audience does not feel at home, they lack enthusiasm, the pest efforts of performers fall dull on their ears, and the singers in turn catch the infection and lose heart. Guelph is miser bought at Jackson's Exchange House at fifty cents, and Commercial Bank bills for from fifty cents to sixty-five cents, but there is no demand for either.

Day Goods for the Season.—Intending purchasers of Dry Goods will find that Mr. A. O. Bucham has everything in the line which the wants of the season demand, and all of the latest fashions. His millinery department is up to the times, and any article can be purchased at his establishment at a rate fully as moderate as it can be bought at any other store in Town.

Houses Scarce in Galin.—The Poformer says that the scarcity of business stands and dwelling houses has been much felt in Galt since the fire occurred there three weeks ago, and adds that there is an excellent opportunity now for enterprising capitalists to invest their money with profit in erecting buildings to suit the requirements of the people.

The Tenni March.—We deem it right to mention the handsome way in which Messirs, C. & A. Sharpe, Seedamen, have acted with regard to the liberal prizes they offered early in the summer for the best field of turnips grown in the South Riding. Mr. Evan Macdonald, who was awarded the first prize, received the prize money in gold from Mr. A. Sharpe, and he takes this opportunity of publicly acknowledging the handsome way in which the Messirs, Sharpe have acted in the matter.

Sentence to Death.—The Assizes in Hamilton closed on Wednesday and aman named Richard Currie was sentenced to be executed on the 30th of December next. His crime was the murder of his wife. It is the old story of a druntical hubband quarrelling and growing externelly violent. He stabbed her in a fix of passion with a king's which he was using to cut tobacco. It is scarcely probable that the extreme penalty of the law will be inflicted; a petition will probably procure a commutation of the sentence in imprisonment for life in the peniterary.

The South Riding and Guelph Township ploughing match took place yesterday in a field of sod on the farm of Mr. F. W. Stone, about a couple of miles from Guelph. "You are fined $1 and costs, or ten days," asid his Worship. "How many days, sir?" said Jerry. "Ten." "Yes, sir. thank you, sir." returned the grateful and easily-satisfied Jerry, and he turned round with a cunning leer to the spectators, and stuck out his tongue, as much as tosay, "I showed better manners than he thought I possessed."

Mrs. Ogibly was charged with an offence similar to Jerry's, and it was in offence similar to Jerry's, and it was in company with this gay and festive old fellow that she was indulging in liquor and noisy mirth when the constable grabbed her. She was brought up for drunkenness a short time ago, and was dismissed on giving her promise to leave town immediately, and not return for a year. But her affections for Gueiph society and Gueiph whiskey overcame her resolution, and she was never able to get beyond the limits of the corporation. She was sent to her old quarters for 20 days.

The Hon. S. M. Tilley was married, on Wednesday last, to Miss Chapman of St. Stophens, N. B.

All the managers expressed themselves quite willing to come to the rescue, and assist the Commercial Bank in proportion to their capital; the Bank of Montreal alone This Bank had made an advance of $300,000 some weeks ago, upon a special security. It refused with all its capital and ability to do more, unless the other banks would guarantee; the other banks standing quite ready to do their share, could not consent to any special conditions of favor to the Bank of Montreal; and so, after holding during the day four protracted and anxious meetings, the entire matter had to come to a failure

The state of Italy has absorbed so much attention lately that the efforts of the Cretan insurgents to shake off the yoke of the Turks have been almost forgotten. The visit of the Sultan to England has not been without good results. He saw people living and exulting in freedom, and he rather liked the picture. It was useful journey to His Majesty, and it may be of immense benefit to the people over whom he sways despotic authority. It would appear to have rendered his mind usceptible to humane impulses, and in a Turkish Emperor whose title has toolong and too often been but a synonym for unrelenting cruelty and barbarity, that is one great thing accomplished. He saw the Cretan insurrection in a different light; he was not so indignant as formerty that the descendants of men who pretty hat the descendants of men who pretty that the descendants of the creating the patient, and as report saith, was attended to the bed, and as report saith, was attended to the bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed, and as report saith, was attended to her bed ly that the descendants of men who preferred death on the battle field to life under foreign despotism, should still evince the spirit of their progenitors, and struggle earnestly, energetically for the possession of political freedom. The Sultan has endeavored to treat with his Cretan subjects, but it is reported that they refuse to accept any terms short of annexation to Greece. It must be remarkated however, the the inhelitents. If report be true, Barnum's powers of humbugging mankind are suffering no deterioration by frequent use. We have all heard about his woolly horse and his ermaid, and his various other wonderena in the animal creation. The last proof of his enterprise that was bruited abroad was his having secured a real live gorilla, that amused himself tearing peo-ple's arms out of their sockets when he could get hold of them, and sportively snapping in twain bars of iron two inches square. He was confined within a certain circumference by a chain possessed of a resistant force of some tons—we don't recollect the exact number. It is now reported, somewhat to the further detri-ment of Mr Barnum's already sullied due to the bank, not included under regoing heads, $498,782; total, $9.-32. We hear that the Cretans regard the promises as delusory, and that hostilities have been renewed. Such a report is not incredible if we reflect on the former tyranny of the Porte, and on the spirit which must yet animate the descendants of the men who maintained their liberties against the millions of Persia.

The Death Shock.—The New Orleans Times relates an incident that illustrates the nervous susceptibility of yellow fever patients. On Saturday night last, Mr. F—was considered by the physicians as out of all danger, and was told hat he could have his cloths changed by unday morning. At a late hour in the ight, a Gulf steamer announced her arval, as usual, by firing a gun, and the port gave the patient a nervous shock inch caused him to expire in the course in minutes. The correspondent of the Loudon Times writing from St. Jean de Luz, in Spain, says:—

Fifty years ago St. Jean de Luz and Scoots were names familiar enough to English ears, the former as the head-quanters of the Duke of Wellington, the latter as the little port at which the stores and muritions of the British army were landed; subsequently their career has been so uneventful that you may not know of the existence of a breakwater which now runs out from Scoots point.—
Here last night happened an accident which involved the life of one poor fellow, but which might have been politically much more die strous. The Empress and the Prince Imp rial had been cruising towards the Spanish coast; but finding the sea would be too high to land at Biarritz, the royal yacht took shelter behind the breakwater, and the royel party, instead of landing at Socota, started in the yacht's boat for St. Jean de Luz. The pilot who had charge of the leading boat in which were the Empress and the young Prince, missed the entrance of the harbour, ran the boat among the rocks, fell overboard hi: elf, and was drowned. The royal party was carried through the surf and safely landed. The boats in which were the suite hit the entrance of the harbour, following, as they supposed, the royal gig. Great was their consternation when they found what had happened the Empress and he boy.

Murder in Own Sound.

About noon on Tuesday, a young man named Anthony Ford was travelling preventing too close an inspection, and of avoiding a probability of the deception being detected. It is now related that the gorilla was so imprudent lately as to address an acquaintance by name and extend a "paw" in salutation to the virtusco. On recollecting himself he earnestly entreated his friend, who was a Southern gentleman, not to tell what he had discovered, at least until he returned home. If the story of Barnum's imposture be true, the gentleman must have returned and told the story.

HAUNTED CASTLE

Having reached the bottom of the steps, Mary was led by her conductor behind the row of vats towards the passage along which Thady had carried her. No one observed them and their course was unimpeded. They reached the small circular cave, and Kathleen, stooping down at the aperture, drew aside the trailing plants, and passed out. Mary quickly followed; and they stood in the recess among the rocks with the fresh night air blowing in upon them.

4 Oh, how can I thank you for your kindness in enabling me to escape? whispered Mary, as she warmly pressed Kathleen's hand.

But the latter snatched her hand quickly away, and hastily said—

4 I want no thanks. I am entitled to none. What I have done was on my own behalf—not to serve you. But you are not yet safe from those in the cave. Oome.'

Not that way. My path lies up the mountain, said Mary, as Kathleen turned down the slope.

I and, seizing her firmly by the arm, she led her for a dozen yards to where ledge of rook jutted out upon the road.

But I am not going to the valley now, 'remonstrated Mary.

'Yes, you are,' said a deep voice close at her side, and at the samp moment Kathleen quitted her hold, and her place and they seemed to be there waiting for and expecting her.

Mary uttered a scream, and looked keenly at him through the darkness. It was Malvin Blantire.

Mike O'Rafferty was also by his side, and they seemed to be there waiting for rand expecting her.

Kathleen was and lad his hand on Mary's arm, she glided back and disappeared within the recess. Her motive in liberating Mary was now sufficiently manifest, It was indeed to serve hereelf, to preserve her position with Thady, and to prevent the introduction of a fival and her own degradation. Having heard the conversation of Mary and her England were in pursuit of Mary, and she Föxeldud were in pursuit of Mary, and she foxeldud were in pursuit of Mary, and where Mary making the condition of the content of the co

'You are the sole cause of all,' said Mary with a burst of indignation. 'Your meanness and baseness have brought every calamity upon me.'

'This is neither time nor place for recrimination,' returned Malvrin. 'If the smugglers discover your absence they may issue forth in numbers too strong for us. We should therefore be moving as quickly as we can down the slope.'

'I am in your power, sir, and will not resist.'

'I will walk,' she answered.

Malvrin bit his lip, and walked along close by her side. Mike followed behind, and kept his eye on the rear, lest Thady and his companions might pursue them. But they proceeded unmolested, and reached Pat Connor's inn, where Mary had given them the slip.

Here they had refreshment, and mounted their horses. Malvrin supported Mary on the saddle before him, and in a few hours they arrived at Kendal Castle.

We need not describe the meeting between father and daughter—the sternness of the one, and the coldness of the other. Suffice it to say that Mary was again made a prisoner in her own room, and was told that she should be strictly confined and guarded till the month was expired, when her answer yes or nay to her marriage with Malvrin would be demanded.

The days passed on, and still there manded.

The days passed on, and still there were no tidings of Hargreave; neither was there any news of Terry and Andrew.

The hope of Mary's heart grew fainter and there came stealing over it the dark shadow of an awful life sacrifice.

GENTLEMEN,—I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the great majority of Locomotive Engineers have found by experience that Waltham Watches are the most satisfactory of any for their uses. They run with the greatest accuracy and steadiness, notwithstanding the rough riding of an engine, and as I have never known one to wear out, they must be durable. I hope to see the time when Railway Companies will generally adopt your watches, and furnish them to all engineers and conductors. In my ôpinion safety.
