Press Comment

IT SOMETIMES DOES.
Indianapolis News: It is said, and truly, that a tariff should never be levied in order to cover up inefficiency or to protect those who show lack of effort.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH
The Australasian: For the industrial and economic prospects of the Commonwealth there can be no more profitable investment than a well-directed department of scientific research.

LAND FOR SETTLERS.
Johannesburg Sunday Times: Great Britain need have no fear of her surplus population when the dola ceases to exist. Canada, Australasia, and South Africa between them can find room for all who are able and willing to work on the land.

BALDWIN AND BUSINESS
Leo Maxvise in the National Review: Without cultivating any of the arts of the demagogue, and probably on that account, as the British public are sick of demagogues and other charlatans, Mr. Baldwin made a great and some people think an abiding impression on the country by his unadorned and systematic treatment of industrial problems.

THE PROFESSIONAL FARMER
Sydney (N.S.W.) Bulletin: That slack farming methods do not pay is generally accepted; but that slack farming methods are a waste of national assets and an injury to the landless population must be the creed of the future. Already there are abundant signs that the farmer must be a scientist highly educated in his business and understanding to the last point the natural forces which he calls into play. As such he will take his place as a professional man—the most highly respected professional man of all.

PEACE IN THE PACIFIC.
Perth (Australia) Western Mail: Japan is neither financially nor industrially equipped for war with America. She has no steel, produces very little iron, and imports much rice and cotton; in short, she is not in immediate possession of the resources a modern nation requires to wage war. Japan could only acquire such resources by occupying China or Siberia, and to secure that her control must be so widely distributed as to hamper seriously her conflict with an outside power.

GRADE CROSSINGS
New York Herald-Tribune: The fact that the advertising campaign launched last year to awaken motorists to the danger of accident at railroad crossings has apparently reduced the number of such accidents has encouraged its promoters to redouble their efforts in this direction during the coming summer and autumn. It is well to keep the public alive to the menace that exists wherever it is possible for locomotives and automobiles to attempt to occupy the same space at the same time.

EMPIRE CO-OPERATION
London Daily News: The Dominions have acquired from their experience of the war, and subsequently from their membership of the League of Nations a new sense of nationhood and independence. They have learnt to think for themselves. And the greatest danger to the unity of the British Commonwealth will be in a failure, in the immediate future, to discover some simple method of direct and continuous contact between all parts of the Empire by which an agreed policy may be developed upon which in all emergencies common action is based.

NOVA SCOTIA ELECTIONS.

There is joy in Conservative circles all over Canada today over the almost total annihilation of the Liberals in Thursday's provincial election in Nova Scotia. The election of 40 Conservatives and only 3 Liberals makes that victory one of the most decisive in provincial political history and fully justifies whatever of party enthusiasm it may inspire. Joy expresses party satisfaction that forty-three years of Liberal rule is to end. It inspires party hopes that as Nova Scotia has voted in the provincial field, so Nova Scotia will vote when the federal election comes. But many precedents in Canadian political history prove that it is not wise to attract very great national significance to provincial contests. However that may be, the Conservatives have reason enough for joy over Thursday's victory. It matters not what causes contributed to the result, it is a signal and perhaps significant verdict. The turn over and many of the majorities indicate that the tide of popular opinion was strong against the government. Reasons for this were many. The desire for a change in the government's attitude toward the Cape Breton troubles, hard times, and a new premier very probably strongly influenced the popular mind. Under successive premiers, including Hon. E. H. Armstrong, the Liberal party has given Nova Scotia pretty good government, as that term is understood. Perhaps its greatest mistake, and the one which did it the greatest harm, was its failure to follow the splendid example set by New Brunswick in connection with its hydro development policy. Its leaders have enjoyed great personal popularity. There have been no scandals, such as have marred Conservative rule in this province. It was inevitable that an end must come to this long tenure of office, and the retirement of Hon. George H. Murray after the longest premiership in the history of any Empire administration probably did more to weaken the government's hold on the public than any other single thing. Mr. Armstrong was the hero of the years and he has to his credit the inauguration of a most successful Nova Scotia road policy. His successor, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, formerly Speaker of the House of Commons, enjoys the good opinion of all who know him. He is a man of ability. He will take up the reins of office facing many difficulties, and not all of them of provincial making. It may be that his large following will prove an embarrassing asset as did the similar following in New Brunswick. He has promised Nova Scotia much. The extent to which he can redeem those promises remains to be demonstrated.

ONTARIO PUBLICITY

Campaign Being Planned on Continental Scale.
Toronto: Publicity for Ontario up to a continental scale is planned by the Ontario Government, according to arrangements completed today. It is planned to bring famous radio entertainers to the province for three weeks' visit.
The troupe will arrive on July 1st and will spend three weeks tripping about the wild beauty spots of Ontario, such as Algonquin Park, Temagami and other resorts, and will send entertainment from a portable broadcaster which they will set up in their camp each evening. On Saturday evenings the party will return to the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, and will broadcast week-end concerts and talks upon the province's beauty spots. These week-end programmes will be carried over "the web" which is the radio circuit covering all of eastern United States.

GULLS FLY AROUND WORLD

That gulls and terns inhabiting the great lakes region scatter over a wide range during their migratory flights has been indicated by a check-up kept on banded birds, according to William I. Lyon of the Inland Bird Association, who marks more than 3,500 of the fowl yearly in an effort to learn their length of life, mating habits and traveling ability. Even those reared in the same neighborhoods of the northern climes have been found to follow different routes on their winter flights. A pair of terns released after capture and banding in Northern Lake Michigan, were trapped in Columbia, and another specimen, taken along the Niger River in Africa, bore a marker which had been attached to it on the coast of Maine. Others identified by bands were found to have traveled from the great lakes to points in

PROTESTED THE U. S. DUTY ON SILVER FOX FURS.
Maritime Provincialist at Fox Institute Meeting Held It Was "Unprecedented, Unwarranted and a Detriment to the Industry."
Montreal.—A protest against the United States duty on silver foxes and silver fox furs from Canada was lodged with directors of the American Fox Institute Saturday by Chester S. McClure, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., the dean of fox fur dealers in the Dominion.
Mr. McClure attacked the duty, which the United States fixes at 50 per cent. on silver fox pelts, as "unprecedented, unwarranted, and a detriment to the industry in the States, as well as Canada." A few "selfish ranchers in the States who had great political influence" caused Congress to legislate the duty, he said. The result, as Mr. McClure pictured it, was that the prices of Canadian furs became so prohibitive by the time they reached the United States markets that the retail demand was seriously affected.
Dr. D. B. Armstrong of Water-town, N. Y., one of the principal fox ranchers in the States, expressed a conviction that it would be next to impossible to influence Congress to abolish the duty. He said he thought that supporters of the fox duties would gain the ear of the Arabian bazaar in Congress and thus frustrate any move to lower or abolish the existing rates.
Louis Edward Rusch of Washington, D. C., President of the Institute, assured the Canadian delegation that the Institute would "co-operate to the full toward establishing the Canadian and American branches of the industry on a second economic basis."
Sessions of the Institute "directors" which had been in progress at the Mount Royal Hotel for three days, concluded Saturday with executive committees and "open meetings" attended by fox men from many cities as well as Dominion Government livestock experts. The directors decided to engage the services of six nationally known judges of foxes who will join the staff that will tour ranches of the continent during the fall and winter, scientifically scoring and charting foxes while their furs are in prime.
George Morrison of Seattle, Wash., who in the last year has traveled 25,000 miles inspecting hundreds of ranches throughout the continent, aroused a heated discussion on the subject of "the transmission of acquired characteristics" when he announced that fifty 80 per cent of the 120,000 so-called silver black foxes in America were tinged with brown at birth or acquired brown pelts after the first year. Mr. Morrison reported that it had been definitely established that this change of pelt color was due to faulty feeding, in many instances, but in the majority of cases to the effect of the sun's violent rays upon the fox's fur which became bleached if the animal was kept out of the shade.
The directors voted to undertake a thorough research with a view to correct these conditions.

ENDED BY TAKING LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Fussler, Sask.—"For two or three days every so often I would have such pains in my back and sides that I could not do anything—could not even lie quietly in bed, and my head ached, too. I was this way about three years, but was worse after I was married. I was on a farm with not a house nearer than five miles and there was not a person to advise me, as my folks live in Manitoba. My sister-in-law told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took her advice and have been thankful for it ever since. After taking the medicine for three months I can say it has helped me a lot and I am doing fine. I am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to others and you may publish my testimony."—Mrs. HELEN BALANOFF-Fussler, Saskatchewan.

Often some slight trouble will cause a general upset of the system. Such symptoms as nervousness, painful twinges, irregularity, backache and headache indicate some form of female weakness. Women who bothered should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. This dependable medicine has helped thousands of women and it is reasonable to expect that it will help you. Try it today. Your druggist sells this medicine.

PROTESTED THE U. S. DUTY ON SILVER FOX FURS.
Maritime Provincialist at Fox Institute Meeting Held It Was "Unprecedented, Unwarranted and a Detriment to the Industry."
Montreal.—A protest against the United States duty on silver foxes and silver fox furs from Canada was lodged with directors of the American Fox Institute Saturday by Chester S. McClure, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., the dean of fox fur dealers in the Dominion.
Mr. McClure attacked the duty, which the United States fixes at 50 per cent. on silver fox pelts, as "unprecedented, unwarranted, and a detriment to the industry in the States, as well as Canada." A few "selfish ranchers in the States who had great political influence" caused Congress to legislate the duty, he said. The result, as Mr. McClure pictured it, was that the prices of Canadian furs became so prohibitive by the time they reached the United States markets that the retail demand was seriously affected.
Dr. D. B. Armstrong of Water-town, N. Y., one of the principal fox ranchers in the States, expressed a conviction that it would be next to impossible to influence Congress to abolish the duty. He said he thought that supporters of the fox duties would gain the ear of the Arabian bazaar in Congress and thus frustrate any move to lower or abolish the existing rates.
Louis Edward Rusch of Washington, D. C., President of the Institute, assured the Canadian delegation that the Institute would "co-operate to the full toward establishing the Canadian and American branches of the industry on a second economic basis."
Sessions of the Institute "directors" which had been in progress at the Mount Royal Hotel for three days, concluded Saturday with executive committees and "open meetings" attended by fox men from many cities as well as Dominion Government livestock experts. The directors decided to engage the services of six nationally known judges of foxes who will join the staff that will tour ranches of the continent during the fall and winter, scientifically scoring and charting foxes while their furs are in prime.
George Morrison of Seattle, Wash., who in the last year has traveled 25,000 miles inspecting hundreds of ranches throughout the continent, aroused a heated discussion on the subject of "the transmission of acquired characteristics" when he announced that fifty 80 per cent of the 120,000 so-called silver black foxes in America were tinged with brown at birth or acquired brown pelts after the first year. Mr. Morrison reported that it had been definitely established that this change of pelt color was due to faulty feeding, in many instances, but in the majority of cases to the effect of the sun's violent rays upon the fox's fur which became bleached if the animal was kept out of the shade.
The directors voted to undertake a thorough research with a view to correct these conditions.

BUDGETING—OR LIVING WITHIN ONE'S INCOME.

Following is the interesting address delivered by Miss Florence A. Allen, of River John, at the closing exercises of the Household Science Department at Truro recently:

My subject is budgeting and throughout the talk I would like to show you how a budget may be planned and incidentally to point out how a budget may help solve financial problems.

A few years ago a young boy went to work in a grocery firm during the Christmas vacation, he was assigned to the delivery wagon along with another young man. This new job increased his appetite to such an extent that he found it necessary to call at his home several times a day for something for himself and his pal to eat. One night as he called just at supper time, his mother asked him to bring his friend in to tea. He did so, and the friend, after eating heartily, explained that that was the best meal he had eaten since he was married two years before. He then went on to say how he had been married shortly after leaving school without dreaming of the future, of his parents' wrath, or of being turned out on his own resources, yet that was just what happened him.

He secured his present position for which he received only $10.00 per week. With this sum he found furnished rooms and he and his wife began light housekeeping. The young wife was no more prepared for her task than the husband for this, but she had no difficulty in starting a grocery charge account. Her first week's grocery bill was $12.00. "We got behind then and have never been able to catch up since," he concluded. Isn't it a tragedy for two young people thus to go through school without learning the best way of dividing a dollar. Probably this young housewife as well as many others would like to ask—"How can I make the income cover expenditures?" This is the most perplexing problem and has never been satisfactorily solved until "budget" cast a light upon the subject.

The Budget Plan
Every man and woman who wishes to keep clear of financial problems should be piloted by the budget plan. What would you think of a builder who could not tell you how much your house would cost but would say that he would build it as economically as he could, and when everything was completed he would tell you how much it had cost? You'd say he was a pretty poor business man and give the contract to one who could figure ahead! But think a minute isn't that exactly what we are doing when we spend every cent as soon as we get it without planning ahead—without budgeting our income.

Probably the question will arise in your minds, "What is Budgeting?" It is simply a plan of estimating expenses in relation to the income and being careful to keep within the limits of the income. Just like building a house. Estimating expenses before and not after we spend. Telling money where it should go and never asking it where it went. Many people jot down every cent which they spend and think they have the reins of economy in their hands when they do so, but at the end of the month they have saved nothing, what good has their expense recording done them? If we think we are just as economical now as we possibly can be, then we need the help of friend budget. It will be amazing to see how quickly budget will put its fingers on the leaks and how easily it can show us where and how we can save. It will help us save up money for the rainy day which few escape. Into every life some rain must fall and too few carry the "savings account umbrella." Instead of thoughtlessly spending every cent as it comes, hoping that there will be enough pennies to meet the demand, we will ask budget how much we may spend on this and that and budget will tell us truly. Planning ahead and saving money is the surest way of getting ahead and money spent is gone forever!

In making out a budget plan record the amount of the income and set aside the savings first. Few people are able to successfully save what is left over, usually there isn't any! So decide upon saving a reasonable sum each month and adhere to this in all but the most pressing emergencies. Learning to save is a habit and when rightly directed it is one of the most worth while habits which we can form!

Some money should be set aside each month to cover expenses connected with the repair and upkeep of the home. It is wise to have money in insurance in case anything should happen, e.g. Fire, Burglary or Sickness.

Money must always be saved for meals, out, board or purchasing groceries, light, etc. Much money may be uselessly spent due to a poor selection of stores. No one would think of getting a pound of good flour in the garbage can but few seem to be possessors in discard pieces of mouldy bread due to improper storage in the summer months. Buying out of season is a poor plan where it is necessary to economize.

The next thing under consideration is the amount of money to be set aside for clothing. When making out a clothing budget go through the wardrobe carefully and see what you really need. Buy with this aim in view, avoid novelties and fads and select the best materials for all garments which can be afforded. About one-sixth of the income is sufficient to set aside for clothes.

Of this amount 70 per cent may be spent on top clothing, 20 per cent for underclothes, 5 per cent for cleaning and repairs, and 5 per cent for accessories. These amounts should be carefully adjusted according to the needs of the individual and according to the amount of the income. The words of Franklin well express a thought which is well brought out—"Vessels large may venture more, but tiny ships should keep closer."

Money spent wisely in advance, church work, etc., is money invested in your own future. Wise spending is real thrift. Should you like to try the budget plan record all sources of income, decide upon the amount to be saved. And divide the remainder into sixths if you wish Savings, Clothing, Shelter, Food, Operating and Advancement respectively. These, of course, will be adjusted according to the income.

I believe any one could be more thrifty on the budget plan. It has been said that more people go to ruin through lack of budget than lack of income. It seems to be the steer wheel and safety brake of the household car. Try it next year if you do not run one now and see if it isn't just like living all over again!

A spring tonic: "To avoid that run down, feeling," cross crossings cautiously."

MINING TROUBLES

With the coal strike in Cape Breton nearing its sixth month and showing no signs of a near end, and with the Pennsylvania miners and the English miners talking strikes, the coal problem of the coming winter must strike the average householder as worthy of serious thought. An English author, in a recent volume on the story of mining in that country, traced the whole story of that enterprise down to present day combinations due to the absorption by one industry of others essential to it, such as coal by steel and iron, or vice versa, and large combinations in the same industry which were found distinctly profitable in the colliery business. The war stimulated the process and gave enhanced profits.

Many of these companies used part of their profits in the distribution of bonus shares ranking for all purposes pari passu with the original. Thus when the slump came the industry had to find dividends not on its original capital, but on the watered capital also, amounting—we quote from the volume—in the case of Guest, Keen, and Nettlefolds to 265 per cent of the original, and in many cases to 100 per cent or more. Much of the money for these bonus shares should have been reserved for new plant and general repairs of the pits. As a result of the way things were done the pitmen and the consumers are both called upon to pay for bonus shares which should never have been issued.

A reviewer who does not agree with the author's conclusion that nationalization is the only remedy admits that the author has proven up to the hilt the statement that mine workers and coal buyers are both the victims of the English development. Unfortunately the story of coal mining in England, is in this particular at least the story of mining in Nova Scotia and in the United States. A very large share of the responsibility for mining troubles lies at the door of those who have manipulated these enterprises for a larger profit than could be secured through ordinary business methods. It is unfortunate that in their adjustment, ways are not found to go below the surface.

Press Comment

IT SOMETIMES DOES.
Indianapolis News: It is said, and truly, that a tariff should never be levied in order to cover up inefficiency or to protect those who show lack of effort.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH
The Australasian: For the industrial and economic prospects of the Commonwealth there can be no more profitable investment than a well-directed department of scientific research.

LAND FOR SETTLERS.
Johannesburg Sunday Times: Great Britain need have no fear of her surplus population when the role ceases to exist. Canada, Australasia and South Africa between them can find room for all who are able and willing to work on the land.

BALDWIN AND BUSINESS
Leo Massa in the National Review: Without cultivating any of the arts of the demagogue, and probably on that account, as the British public are sick of demagogues and other charlatans, Mr. Baldwin made a great deal of some people think, an abiding impression on the country by his unadorned and sympathetic treatment of industrial problems.

THE PROFESSIONAL FARMER
Sydney (N.S.W.) Bulletin: That slack farming methods do not pay is generally accepted; but that slack farming methods are a waste of national assets and an injury to the landless population must be the creed of the future. Already there are abundant signs that the farmer must be a scientist highly educated in his business and understanding to the last point the natural forces which he calls into play. As such he will take his place as a professional man—the most highly respected professional man of all.

PEACE IN THE PACIFIC.
Perth (Australia) Western Mail: Japan is neither financially nor industrially equipped for war with America. She has little iron, produces very little iron, and imports much rice and cotton; in short, she is not in immediate possession of the resources a modern nation requires to wage war. Japan could only acquire such resources by occupying China or Siberia, and to secure that her control must be so widely distributed as to hamper seriously her conflict with an outside power.

GRADE CROSSINGS
New York Herald-Tribune: The fact that the advertising campaign launched last year to awaken motorists to the danger of accident at railroad crossings has apparently reduced the number of such accidents has encouraged its promoters to redouble their efforts in this direction during the coming summer and autumn. It is well to keep the public alive to the menace that exists wherever it is possible for locomotives and automobiles to attempt to occupy the same space at the same time.

EMPIRE CO-OPERATION
London Daily News: The Dominions have acquired from their experience of the war, and subsequently from their membership of the League of Nations a new sense of nationhood and independence. They have learnt to think for themselves. And the greatest danger to the unity of the British Commonwealth will lie in a failure, in the immediate future, to discover some simple method of direct and continuous contact between all parts of the Empire by which an agreed policy may be developed upon which in all emergency common action is based.

NOVA SCOTIA ELECTIONS.
There is joy in Conservative circles all over Canada today over the almost total annihilation of the Liberals in Thursday's provincial election in Nova Scotia. The election of 40 Conservatives and only 3 Liberals makes that victory one of the most decisive in provincial political history and fully justifies whatever of party enthusiasm it may inspire. Joy expresses party satisfaction that forty-three years of Liberal rule is to end. It inspires party hopes that as Nova Scotia has voted in the provincial field, so Nova Scotia will vote when the federal election comes. But many precedents in Canadian political history prove that it is not wise to attract very great national significance to provincial contests. However that may be, the Conservatives have reason enough for joy over Thursday's victory. It matters not what causes contributed to the result; it is a signal and perhaps significant verdict. The turn over and many of the majorities indicate that the tide of popular opinion was strong against the government. Reasons for this were many. The desire for a change in the attitude toward the Cape Breton troubles, hard times, and a new premier very probably strongly influenced the popular mind. Under successive premiers, including Hon. E. H. Armstrong, the Liberal party has given Nova Scotia pretty good government, as that term is understood. Perhaps its greatest mistake, and the one which did it the greatest harm, was its failure to follow the splendid example set by New Brunswick in connection with its hydro development policy. Its leaders have enjoyed great personal popularity. There have been no scandals, such as have marred Conservative rule in this province. It was inevitable that an end must come to this long tenure of office, and the retirement of Hon. George H. Murray after the longest premiership in the history of any Empire administration probably did more to weaken the government's hold on the public than any other single thing. Mr. Armstrong was the heir of the years and he has to his credit the inauguration of a most successful Nova Scotia road policy. His successor, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, formerly Speaker of the House of Commons, enjoys the good opinion of all who know him. He is a man of ability. He will take up the reins of office facing many difficulties, and not all of them of provincial making. It may be that his large following will prove as embarrassing as did the similar following in New Brunswick. He has promised Nova Scotia much. The extent to which he can redeem those promises remains to be demonstrated.

PROTESTED THE U. S. DUTY ON SILVER FOX FURS.

Maritime Provincialist at Fox Institute Meeting Held It Was "Unprecedented, Unwarranted and a Detriment to the Industry."

Montreal.—A protest against the United States duty on silver foxes and silver fox furs from Canada was lodged with directors of the American Fox Institute Saturday by Chester S. McClure, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., the dean of fox fur dealers in the Dominion.
Mr. McClure attacked the duty, which the United States fixes at 50 per cent on silver fox pelts, as "unprecedented, unwarranted, and a detriment to the industry in the States, as well as Canada." A few "selfish ranchers in the States who Congress to legislate the duty, he said. The result, as Mr. McClure pictured it, was that the prices of Canadian furs became so prohibitive by the time they reached the United States markets that the retail demand was seriously affected.

Dr. D. B. Armstrong of Water- town, N. Y., one of the principal fox ranchers in the States, expressed a conviction that it would be next to impossible to influence Congress to abolish the duty. He said he thought that supporters of the fox duties would gain the ear of the Agrarian bloc in Congress and thus create any move to lower or abolish the existing rates.

Louis Edward Rusch of Washington, D. C., President of the Institute, assured the Canadian delegation that the Institute would "co-operate to the full toward establishing the Canadian and American branches of the industry on a second economic basis."

Sessions of the Institute directors, which had been in progress at the Mount Royal Hotel for three days, concluded Saturday with executive committees and open meetings, attended by fox men from many cities as well as Dominion Government livestock experts. The directors decided to engage the services of six nationally known judges of foxes who will join the staff that will tour ranches of the continent during the fall and winter, scientifically scoring and charting foxes while their furs are in prime.

George Morrison of Seattle, Wash., who in the last year has traveled 25,000 miles inspecting hundreds of ranches throughout the continent, aroused a heated discussion on the subject of "the transmission of acquired characteristics" when he announced that fully 80 per cent of the 120,000 so-called silver black foxes in America were tinged with brown at birth or acquired brown pelts after the first year. Mr. Morrison reported that it had been definitely established that this change of pelt color was due to faulty feeding, in many instances, but in the majority of cases to the effect of the sun's vibrant rays upon the fox's fur which became bleached if the animal was kept out of the shade.

PAINS IN BACK AND SIDES

Ended by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fussler, Sask.—"For two or three days every so often I would have such pains in my back and sides that I could not do anything—could not even lie quietly in bed, and my head ached, too. I was this way about three years, but was worse after I was married. I was on a farm with not a house nearer than five miles and there was not a person to advise me, as my folks live in Manitoba. My sister-in-law told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told me to try it. I took her advice and was thankful for it ever since. After taking the medicine for three months I can say it has helped me a lot and I am doing fine. I am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to others and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. HELEN BALANOFF, Fussler, Saskatchewan.

Often some slight trouble will cause a general upset of the system. Such symptoms as nervousness, painful times, irregularity, backache and headache indicate some form of female weakness. Women so bothered should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. This dependable medicine has helped thousands of women and it is reasonable to expect that it will help you. Try it today. ## BUDGETING—OR LIVING WITHIN ONE'S INCOME.

Following is the interesting address delivered by Miss Florence A. Allen, of River John, at the closing exercises of the Household Science Department at Truro recently:

My subject is budgeting and throughout the talk I would like to show you how a budget may be planned and incidentally to point out how a budget may help solve financial problems.

A few years ago a young boy went to work in a grocery firm during the Christmas vacation, he was assigned to the delivery wagon along with another young man. This new job increased his appetite to such an extent that he found it necessary to call at his home several times a day for something for himself and his pal to eat. One night as he called just at supper time, his mother asked him to bring his friend in to tea. He did so, and the friend, after eating heartily, explained that that was the best meal he had eaten since he was married two years before. He then went on to say how he had been married shortly after leaving school without dreaming of the future, of his parents' wrath, or of being turned out on his own resources, yet that was just what happened him.

He secured his present position for which he received only $10.00 per week. With this sum he found furnished rooms and he and his wife began light housekeeping. The young wife was no more prepared for her task than the husband for this,—but she had no difficulty in

CHECK 5¢ CIGAR

Enjoyment in Every Puff!

Money must always be saved for meals out, board or purchasing groceries. If it is possible to save money by buying cigars, it is a good idea. The price of a pack of good cigars is the same as a pack of good flour in the garbage can but it is not necessary to discard pieces of mouldy bread due to improper storage in the summer months. Buying out of season is a poor plan where it is necessary to economize.

The next thing under consideration is the amount of money to be set aside for clothing. When making out a clothing budget go through the wardrobe carefully and see what you really need. Buy with this aim in view, avoid novelties and fads and select the best materials for all garments which can be afforded. About one-sixth of the income is sufficient to set aside for clothes.

Of this amount 70 per cent may be spent on top clothing, 20 per cent for underclothes, 5 per cent for cleaning and repairs, and 5 per cent for accessories. These amounts should be carefully adjusted according to the needs of the individual and according to the amount of the income. The words of Franklin well express a thought which is well brought out—"Vessels large may venture more, but tiny ships should keep the shore."

Money spent wisely in advance, church work, etc., is money invested in your own future. Wise spending is real thrift. Should you like to try the budget plan record all sources of income, decide upon the amount to be saved. And divide the remainder into sixths if you wish Savings, Clothing, Shelter, Food, Operating and Advancement respectively. These, of course, will be adjusted according to the income.

I believe any one could be more thrifty on the budget plan. It has been said that more people go to ruin through lack of budget than lack of income. It seems to be the steering wheel and safety brake of the household car. Try it next year if you do not run one now and see if it isn't just like living all over again!

A spring tonic: "To avoid that run down, feeble," cross crossings "causally."

BUDGETING—OR LIVING WITHIN ONE'S INCOME.

Following is the interesting address delivered by Miss Florence A. Allen, of River John, at the closing exercises of the Household Science Department at Truro recently:

My subject is budgeting and throughout the talk I would like to show you how a budget may be planned and incidentally to point out how a budget may help solve financial problems.

A few years ago a young boy went to work in a grocery firm during the Christmas vacation, he was assigned to the delivery wagon along with another young man. This new job increased his appetite to such an extent that he found it necessary to call at his home several times a day for something for himself and his pal to eat. One night as he called just at supper time, his mother asked him to bring his friend in to tea. He did so, and the friend, after eating heartily, explained that that was the best meal he had eaten since he was married two years before. He then went on to say how he had been married shortly after leaving school without dreaming of the future, of his parents' wrath, or of being turned out on his own resources, yet that was just what happened him.

He secured his present position for which he received only $10.00 per week. With this sum he found furnished rooms and he and his wife began light housekeeping. The young wife was no more prepared for her task than the husband for this, but she had no difficulty in starting a grocery charge account. Her first week's grocery bill was $12.00. "We got behind then and have never been able to catch up since," he concluded. Isn't it a tragedy for two young people thus to go through school without learning the best way of dividing a dollar. Probably this young housewife as well as many others would like to ask—"How can I make the income cover expenditures?" This is the most perplexing problem and has never been satisfactorily solved until "budget" cast a light upon the subject.

The Budget Plan
Every man and woman who wishes to keep clear of financial problems should be piloted by the budget plan. What would you think of a builder who could not tell you how much your house would cost but would say that he would build it as economically as he could, and when everything was completed he would tell you how much it had cost? You'd say he was a pretty poor business man and give the contract to one who could figure ahead! But think a minute isn't that exactly what we are doing when we spend every cent as soon as we get it without planning ahead—without budgeting our income.

Probably the question will arise in your minds, "What is Budgeting?" It is simply a plan of estimating expenses in relation to the income and being careful to keep within the limits of the income. Just like building a house. Estimating expenses before and not after we spend. Telling money where it should go and never asking it where it went. Many people jot down every penny which they spend and think they have the robes of economy in their hands when they do so, but if at the end of the month they have saved nothing, what good has their expense recording done them? If we think we are just as economical now as we possibly can be, then we need the help of friend budget. It will be amazing to see how quickly budget will put its fingers on the leaks and how easily it can show us where and how we can save. It will help us save up money for the rainy day which few escape. Into every life some rain must fall and too few carry the "savings account umbrella." Instead of thoughtlessly spending every cent as it comes, hoping that there will be enough pennies to meet the demand, we will ask budget how much we may spend on this and that and budget will tell us truly. Planning ahead and saving money is the surest way of getting ahead and money spent is gone forever!

In making out a budget plan record the amount of the income and set aside the savings first. Few people are able to successfully save what is left over, usually there isn't any! So decide upon saving a reasonable sum each month and adhere to this in all but the most pressing emergencies. Learning to save is a habit and when rightly directed it is one of the most worth while habits which we can form!

Some money should be set aside each month to cover expenses connected with the repair and upkeep of the home. It is wise to have money in insurance in case anything should happen, e. g. Fire, Burglary or Sickness.

CLEMENTSPORT

"THE QUEEN OF THE BASIN"

Mrs. Gray, who has been visiting Mrs. James McDonald returned on Tuesday, 29th ult., to her home in Halifax.

Mrs. Wm. Malcom and two daughters, of New York, arrived on Tuesday, 29th, and are spending the summer with her brother, Capt. Wm. Willett. Mrs. Malcom is having a log cabin built. The Sanford bros. have the work in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker, of Sandown, Isle of White, England, and family, called at the rectory on Thursday, 2nd en route to Digby, where they intend to spend the summer. They were delighted with the beauty of "The Queen of the Basin" and are found in their praise of the welcome extended to them since they reached the shores of this historic province. We trust they will eventually locate in this section of Nova Scotia.

Thursday was "Declaration Day." A number motored to Annapolis Royal to take part in the exercises of the day.

Mrs. Johnstone and son Leslie pass through on Thursday on their way to Granville, where they will spend several weeks with relatives. Returning they will spend the rest of the summer here at the "Lincorne Hotel."

Mr. J. H. Banks, Mrs. Banks and two nieces Nina and Harriett, are visiting Mr. Banks' brother, Mr. E. M. Banks. Later they leave for New Germany for a family reunion, where four brothers and a sister hope to meet after a separation of 40 years.

Miss Ethel Leigh, who has been in Halifax for over a month, visiting her sister Mrs. Woodberry, returned on Wednesday, bringing with her her little niece Daleid, who will spend her vacation here.

A very enjoyable bridge party of five tables was given by Mrs. L. V. Shaw on Friday afternoon. There were several out of town guests.

Mrs. John Shaw and two sons, Hugh and George, accompanied by her mother Mrs. George Corbett, spent Wednesday at her bungalow. They go to Digby for the summer.

Some ten days ago two St. John young ladies, Miss Ethel McFadden and Miss Louise Campbell took their canoe and camping outfit off the St. John boat and embarked at Digby, canoeing up the Basin, stopping at Clementsport, Annapolis Royal, Round Hill, Bridgetown, Paradise, Lawrenceton and Middleton, visiting the points of interest and sleeping under canvas. They passed through Clementsport on Thursday, calling at the Rectory, went on to Bear River staying there all night, canoed to Digby on Saturday and caught the boat for home. In spite of the most unusual wet weather the girls are loud in their praises of the trip and of the kindness of all whom they met, and were especially enthusiastic of the kindness of Mr. Hazel, our Indian guide and friend at Paradise. So far as we know these are the first young ladies who have made this trip. We trust many more will

CENTRAL CLARENCE

Dr. S. N. Miller and wife were guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Messenger on Sunday.

Miss Pauline Jackson and Miss Jennie Johnson arrived here from Boston on Thursday and are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jackson. Mrs. Sabie McNitch also spent a short time this week at the same home.

Mrs. Hattie Marshall returned on Thursday from Mt. Pleasant where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Vantassel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davies, M. V. Potter, Miss Lily Stevenson and C. H. Jackson motored to Kentville on Tuesday last. The gentlemen attended a meeting of the United Fruit Co's, V. B. Messenger and Fred Messenger, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fisk and C. C. Pariseau of Clarendon, motored to Musquodoboit and spent a few days with relatives there.

Miss Edna Kelley, from Halifax, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Kelley.

Miss Rene Finnimore entertained a few of her girl friends on Friday afternoon.

V. R. Leonard went to Kentville on Friday, returning in the evening.

Mrs. McKenna and daughter, Bertha returned to Boston on Friday enroute to their home in New Hampshire.

A pageant entitled "Women of the Bible" was given in the church on Thursday evening under the auspices of the W. M. A. S. The different parts were well taken and the various costumes made a very pleasing appearance. Pastor Smith gave a short address, and the choir furnished special music. Miss Ethel Harding favored us with a solo, "The Better Land." Ice cream was sold at the close of the entertainment. Net proceeds for the evening amounted to $25.00.

WEDDING

Munroe-ELIS.

A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ellis of Litchfield, when their second daughter, Clara Collier became the bride of Lawrence Gordon, son of Mrs. Isabella Munroe of Lake Munroe, a very popular and well known guide. The bride and groom entered the room at the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. Ritson Longmire of Milford who afterwards sang a solo, "The Voice That Breathed Over Eden." Little Miss Ruby, sister of the bride, acted as flower girl, carrying a large basket of pink roses. The room was tastefully decorated with roses and poe'd plants. Rev. Mr. Gibson of Annapolis Royal performed the ceremony. The bride looked beautiful in a dress of white crepe-de-chene with all over lace veil and orange blossoms and carried a large bouquet of peonies. After the service and congratulations, a dainty luncheon was served by four of the brides' friends, Miss Annie Bell Ellis, Miss Violet Burnie, Miss Lillian Carr, and Miss Elsie Sheridan.

After lunch the happy couple left on a motor trip to Yarmouca and other towns, and on their return they will reside at Lake Munroe.

The brides' traveling suit was of navy tricotine with hat and scarf of sand. They left happily among showers of rice and confetti and best wishes.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold wrist watch. The many gifts included cheques, cut glass, silver, and linen. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. and Mrs. Ritson Longmire of Milford, Mr. Hamilton of Ontario, Mrs. Nettie Sheridan and daughter Elsie of Paradise and Miss Lillian Carr of Annapolis Royal.

WEDDING

Stronach-Chute

On June 22nd, the home of Deacon C. C. and Mrs. Chute was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their youngest daughter, Ruby, was united in marriage to Mr. Eugene Stronach, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Stronach.

Promptly at eleven o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Ellsworth Gates, the bride leaning on the arm of her father entered the room and took her place beside the groom who was waiting under a beautiful arch.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. McLeod.

Only the relatives of the bride and groom were present. At the close of the ceremony, a dainty luncheon was served. Shortly after the newly wedded couple, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John G. Masters went by auto to Halifax and other places of interest on the South Shore, returning home on Friday afternoon.

BRAVE LOVE.

He'd nothing but his violin,
I'd nothing but my song,
But we were wed when skies were blue
And summer days were long,
And when we rested by the hedge,
The robins came and told
How they had dared to woo and win
When early Spring was cold.

We sometimes supped on dewberries,
Or slept among the hay,
But oft the farmer's wives at eve
Came out to hear us play
The rare old tunes—the dear old tunes—
We could not starve for love
While my man had his violin
And I my sweet love song.

The world has aye gone well with us,
Old man, since we were one—
Our homeless wandering down the lanes—
It long ago was done.

But those who wait for gold or gear,
For houses and for kine,
Till youth's sweet Spring grows brown and sere,
And love and beauty pine,
Will never know the joy of hearts
That met without a fear,
When you had but your violin,
And I a song, my dear.

(James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet, was asked to name his favorite poem, and responded by giving this bit of luttive verse written many years ago, the author of which is unknown.)

BARRED FROM EMPLOYMENT

Toronto.—The people with children are the real people, and their welfare must be made an object of direct concern, says the Daily Star in an editorial. "It may not be possible to compel landlords to rent premises to a family with children, and it may not be feasible to forbid them to dispossess a tenant because of the birth of a child—for other pretexts for dispossessing the tenant would be invented. Yet, it will become necessary for the state to intervene in some manner, for the future of the race is suffering injury."

The foregoing was the Star's snuffing up of an "eviction" case which it described as follows: "A short time ago a young couple came to Toronto from the west, bringing with them a sturdy little son and last month another child was added to the population of the city. This young couple occupied a portion of a duplex house in a nice residential part of the city, and, while the young mother was convalescing, notice was received from their landlord that they must vacate the premises at the end of the month. Surprised at this, they enquired the reason and were informed that children were not wanted in a duplex—that if there were children in one half of the house it was almost impossible to get tenants for the other half. Had these particular children made any noise, done any mischief or been complained of by anybody? They had not. Simply they were children, and that was the sun of the matter."

"When one considers how important in the making of a nation children are, it seems sometimes that they are not sufficiently encouraged and provided for in the modern scheme of things. Parents in acquiring a family are confronted with obstacles and loaded with handicaps. A nurse nowadays is paid as much per day as a family doctor used to earn when the mayor of Toronto was a boy. It begins to be felt necessary now that a young couple must engage a baby specialist, and that a child cannot be wellborn except in a maternity hospital, so that the addition of a child to the family may mean a cash outlay of several hundred dollars. After such an experience young parents plan to get out of debt and keep out of it and must do considerable saving before the next addition to the family. There is a general tendency to shun the discussion of birth control, but economic pressure is already exerting control, of a decided sort. We society, the state has special interest in the cradle and the cot, for on these depend the welfare of the state."

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK GIRLS

Can be had through the Rich Red Blood Made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when weakness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is to great, and there comes headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness, heart palpitation, a constant weariness and a tendency to a decline. All these symptoms may not be present in any particular case, but the presence of any one of them shows the necessity for prompt treatment. And the very best treatment is through the blood-making tonic qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature years.

There is a bit of strong proof—Miss Matilda Breaky, King Highway, Newcastle, N. B., says:—"I was in an extremely run-down and nervous condition. I was losing flesh, had a poor appetite, always pale, and suffered frequently from headaches. In fact my condition can best be described as miserable. I had tried several treatments but they did not help me in the least. Then, reading one day about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to try them. After using three boxes I was much improved, but continued until I had taken six boxes, with the result that I am now well and strong, with good color and a hearty appetite. In view of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me I cannot recommend them too highly."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

This question, which has puzzled fishermen and otherwise since the famous controversy of 1877, may be solved within the next year or two according to an announcement made at Halifax by Dr. A. G. Huntsman, head of the Government biological station, who described how 825 mackerel had been caught and "ringed" and released near Yarmouth, N.S. The rings were placed about their tails and a reward of 25 cents will be paid to any returned to the department.

Indications are that 1925 will be one of the best tourist seasons ever experienced by Montreal. It is estimated that 750,000 people from all over the continent visited Montreal last year, while this year the number is placed at a million.

It is understood that a contract has been let for the laying of a submarine cable from Vancouver Island to Suva, Fiji Islands, by the Pacific Cable Board. This is part of the "All-red" cable and wireless route which is being established between British possessions the world over.

In order to facilitate the work of the air force patrol routes stations are being erected at the Pas, Norway House, Victoria beach, and Fort Osborne Barracks, Winnipeg. The stations will be completed shortly and will have, it is stated, a radius of communication all over Canada.

"Judging from the amount of sound business activity noticeable here, British Columbia is launching into an era of constructive development which augurs well for her future prosperity," comments Grant Hall, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who recently spent ten days on the Pacific Coast.

"So long as the Canadian Pacific Railway has a dollar left in its treasury, it will fight for the ideals, uphold the faith and maintain the precious heritage of confederation," said E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, when addressing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at their annual convention held at Hamilton recently.

Eleven hundred pounds of speckled trout, gray trout and pike were trophies taken back to New York recently by seven members of the Caughnawaga hunting and Fishing Club, private preserves near Montreal, after a two-week stay on the fishing grounds. The catch included a 19-lb. gray trout and the average weight worked out at around eight pounds.

Frank W. Ashby, secretary of the Australian Manufacturers' Association, visiting here recently, said the impression in Australia was that Canada was the back door to the North Pole. People in the Antipodes think that Herschell Island and Baffin's Bay are linked up municipally with Montreal and Winnipeg, he said. He was surprised to find the Dominion had a delightful climate and cities more modern than those in Australia.

What is stated to be the biggest log jam in sixty years recently occurred on the Montreal River in a gorge through which the river flows into Lake Temiskaming. 300,000 logs were piled up to a height of 80 feet with a width of 250 yards, choking the river for 300 yards down at the point where the jam took place. An army of 100 men, working night and day for three days, at last succeeded in breaking the jam with dynamite.

A three-week tour of Canada by teachers and their friends, under the auspices of Dean S. Laird, of Macdonald College, will leave Toronto July 20 on the Canadian Pacific Railway. The party will travel by train to Vancouver and Victoria, and will return by way of Southern British Columbia, across the northern end of the Prairie Provinces and by boat from Fort William east. Stops will be made at all the principal points of interest.

CANADA'S GREAT HARVEST OF SEA.

Catch For May Shows an Increase in Value of Millions Dollars.

Ottawa.—Canada's sea harvest increases in value. In May, 1925, 87,264,600 pounds of sea fish were landed on both coasts and the value of the catch, $2,832,165, is nearly a million dollars higher than in May, 1924.

On the Atlantic coast the catch of mackerel, shad and scallops was plentiful and the lobster fishing brought more than twice the catch in the previous year, in spite of rough weather towards the end of the month.

On the Pacific coast, 1,884,300 pounds of salmon were taken, compared with 277,400 pounds in May 1924. The bulk of the salmon catch was sold fresh.

Four fishermen lost their lives on the Atlantic coast during May, 1925.

Boston Cops Made a Big Capture on Carver Street.

Boston.—Five young men, natively dressed and wearing knickers, romped about Carver Street Saturday evening and attracted some attention. They were students on a lark, thought the crowd that gathered. Their gaiety lasted until they reached No. 90, a students' rendezvous.

Carlo Ferrari, proprietor, rubbed poking into every nook and cranny of the house. The front door was opened by one of their number and there stood Michael Crowley, Superintendent of Boston police.

Ferrari was advised to stand aside while the officers searched the place. Caches of various sorts were discovered and the contents were moved. In all the officers took 75 gallons of mixed liquors, along with Ferrari, who is 52 years old. He was put in the Tombs.

The Superintendent thought the situation was serious enough to warrant his personal supervision. The officers with him were Garrett, Daly, Wilby, Fortin and Lalonde.

On Sunday morning, Mr. G. Howard Shaw, Windsor's veteran bicyclist, left Windsor and rode to Chester. From there to Halifax, and from Halifax to Windsor, arriving in the evening. WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS
Broads Being Made by City Dailies, Says Speaker.

Winnipeg.—News gathering and advertising management were discussed from all angles at today's session of the sixth annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association here.

Harolds into the prestige, circulation and advertising revenues of the weekly papers were being made at the present time by the daily papers of the larger cities, declared S. N. Wynn, managing director of the Yorkton Enterprise. However, Mr. Wynn was of the opinion that it was impossible for the dailies to take the place of the country papers if the latter were efficiently managed.

The membership committee report recorded an increase, the association having 527 members, as compared with 408 in 1920.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was born in Litchfield, Conn., June 19th, 1812. Her father was Dr. Lyman Beecher, a distinguished clergyman. In 1833, with her father she removed to Cincinnati where in 1836 she was married to the Rev. Calvin E. Stowe. Several stories which she had written for the Cincinnati Gazette and other periodicals were collected and published in 1851. The story was afterwards published in two volumes. Its success was without a parallel in the literature of an age. Nearly half a million copies were sold in this country and a considerably larger number in England. It was translated into every language in Europe, and into Arabic and Armenian. It was then dramatized and acted in nearly every theatre in the world. All the characters were taken from life, even the scenes and incidents were culled from the daily papers and woven into the story, which gave the people a true picture of slavery. After the production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Mrs. Stowe visited Europe, and was received everywhere with gratifying attention. In 1856 appeared "Dred," a Tale of the Great Dismal Swamp, but this work produced but a light impression. The success of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" removed the charm of novelty in the subject of her story. No other book ever published (except the Holy Bible) has ever been read by as many people, or had as large a circulation as "Uncle Tom's Cabin." To be seen at Primrose Theatre, Friday, Novel street parade.
