Not Sure Yet Whether Wilson Or Hughes Has Been Elected

Situation Changes Over Night, President Making Gains In The West

Both Parties This Morning Claimed Victory—The Country Excited and There is Talk of Recount, of Deadlock and of Matter Having to go to Congress

New York, Nov. 8.—Chairman McCormack, of the Democratic national committee, claimed President Wilson's election with 288 electoral votes, a little after 11 o'clock this morning.

There were suggestions also that there might be in some states bitter contests over the integrity of the returns which might be drawn out for days with the result of a recount.

Chairman McCormack early today sent telegrams to every state and to the chief of each of the 48 states, commanding them to "personally see that the ballot boxes are guarded and protected."

At both headquarters the long distance telephones were busy with orders to the respective chairmen in the doubtful states to watch the count and the returns were being closely scrutinized.

New York, Nov. 8.—The result of the election still was officially in doubt early today with a decided drift toward the re-election of President Wilson.

Aside from the uncertainty of the result, the most remarkable thing about the election was the sudden change in the cast by the returns coming in from the West.

When the Republican landslide in New York became known and was quickly followed by the heavy Republican victories in New England there was a veritable stampede to announce the election of Hughes and the defeat of President Wilson.

Hundreds of thousands waiting in the streets saw the signal lights which indicated the coming of the news.

Congress returns were equally uncertain, but on their face at 8 a.m. today, the republican had not been able to overthrow the democratic majority although they did succeed in reducing it in the house.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning Mr. McCormack sent the following telegram to every state where the result appears to be close.

There was a chance that the determination of the final result, with so many states doubtful, might be prolonged perhaps for another day and there was some unofficial talk that the decision might eventually be thrown into the house of representatives.

MORE ST. JOHN MEN TODAY ARE IN THE LIST OF CASUALTIES

Reported missing since September 16, now reported believed to be dead, was the news received by the family of Private Charles Eugene McLaughlin, as reported yesterday in The Times.

Private McLaughlin of Pleasant Point received the official word that her son who had been reported missing is now at home.

PT. C. E. McLAUGHLIN

believed to be dead. He went overseas with the 55th Battalion and while in England was two stripes, but when transferred to the 42nd Highlanders, with which unit he was attached in France, had to give up his rank of corporal.

Private McLaughlin was twenty-three years old and was in the employ of the Partington Pulp & Paper Company. Besides his parents, there are two sisters, Misses Helen and Marion, at home.

Benjamin Fish of 187 Brussels street received word from Ottawa this morning to the effect that his son, Private Fred Fish, has been officially reported as missing.

Private Fish was wounded on October 23, on September 29, suffering from shrapnel wounds in the face.

The family is much puzzled by this notice as a letter had been received by the young soldier's mother only on Tuesday and in that letter, which was dated October 23, he told of being in the best of health. He then was out of the trenches and in billets back of the lines.

There has been a mistake somewhere for Private Fish evidently was not wounded on September 29. The question whether this is a case of mistaken identity and it was some other soldier who was wounded on that date, or whether the message should have read that Private Fish was wounded on October 29, instead of in September, is causing the family anxiety.

In his last letter Private Fish, who went over with a New Brunswick battalion, says "We are billeted in French houses and we are having a great time trying to speak French, but we make out all right. Things are very quiet now but the Somme was some fight getting killed. I was right beside him when he was killed. He did not know what struck him. And poor McNutt; he got killed at the Somme. He stuck it out for two years but got killed at last. You would not know the old battalion; I am the only one of the Marsh Bridge fellows left."

Sergeant H. B. Cooper, clerk in the chamberlain's office, City Hall, received a telegram this morning from Ottawa notifying him that his son, Sergeant H. Burton Cooper, had been admitted to No. 10 Field Ambulance Hospital on October 30, suffering from shell shock.

He left St. John when a well known New Brunswick Battalion and as a member of that unit went through many of the big engagements without receiving a scratch. Prior to leaving St. John he was employed with Scovil Bros. Ltd.

Gunner T. Williams of Moncton, has been wounded.

Offer Car Barns for Soldiers' Use

Accommodation There for Another Battalion—News of the Soldiers

The St. John Street Railway yesterday offered its North End Car barns to the military authorities for the purpose of quartering troops. The two barns will very easily accommodate a whole battalion.

Inspections
Yesterday afternoon Major Jones, general staff officer for military district No. 6, was in the city and inspected the 16th Battalion.

Captain W. C. Proudfoot, signalling officer for military district No. 6 was in the city yesterday and inspected the signalling section of the 16th battalion. Captain Proudfoot will remain in the city during the balance of the week and will inspect the signalling sections of all the other units.

Four Recruits
In the city yesterday four recruits were secured for overseas service. Thomas McCullough, St. John, Hospitals Commission; William Barpee, St. John; William Wallace, St. John and William Harris, St. John, for the naval service. Mr. McCullough is the first recruit secured in the province for this particular branch of the service.

Casualties
The names of three New Brunswick men appear in the midnight casualty list: Missing, Neil S. Goodin, Fredericton; died of wounds, Gunner Arthur Connolly, Sussex; wounded, Gunner William McCormack, Fredericton.

Private J. D. L. Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Montgomery of West St. John and Otto Logan of Nelson street, West St. John, arrived home from the front last evening, also John Kenney of Hampton. Private Montgomery was a member of the 28th battalion and in June last was severely wounded. Geo. McKinney, son of James McKinney of this city, also returned. It is understood that he may receive a commission with the 28th Kilties.

COMMON COUNCIL

That wholesale thieving of coal is being carried on along the waterfront was brought to the notice of the common council yesterday afternoon, when Commissioner H. R. McLellan asked the board to consider the feasibility of adding to the department of public safety harbor policemen and a motor boat for their use.

Mayor Hayes, commissioner of finance and public affairs, reported payments for the month of October amounting to $246,995.82, and recommended the following items to be paid on the departmental pay sheets: treasury department, $198.19; public works, $1,946.73; public safety, $887.60; water and sewerage, $2,220.87; harbors, ferries and public lands, $2,700.40. The recommendation was passed.

After some little discussion and questioning by Commissioner McLellan, the recommendation of Commissioner Fisher that the Canadian Government Railway be granted permission to build a spur to the westward of the track at the foot of Charlotte street was finally passed. On Mr. Fisher's recommendation permission was granted the N. B. Telephone Company to move a pole in Vulcan street sidewalk in order that it may be in line with existing poles on Charlotte street and give space for teams at the railway siding. His final recommendation was that the plan of Cedar Grove Crescent and First street, recently submitted, and not up to the present time objected to by property owners, be held to await further word from the town planning commission, which, it is understood is considering a change in the lines of Cedar Grove Crescent. The recommendation was passed.

Commissioner McLellan made known at the meeting the intention of the safety board to regulate traffic through both Market streets so that occupants of the market and easement payers may not be made to suffer the inconveniences that they are now being caused by the passing of automobiles and other vehicles that make short cut to King square and Charlotte street. He concluded his remarks by saying that it was the duty of the department to see that market tenants had the privileges, unannounced, that were originally intended for them.

Mayor Hayes was asked by the commissioner what progress had been made on the hearing of the assessment report. Contrary to the opinion of some, he said, he felt that the calling in of an expert to go over the report would be of little benefit to the city.

Such a man would not be familiar with the conditions, here, and this above everything else, was deemed of utmost importance. The commissioner felt that the people should understand. It should be made plain and comprehensive for them. They are the critics. In reply the mayor said he had been communicating with Prof. Eberhart, and hoped to bring him here next Wednesday.

WHY DO WOMEN WORRY?

A Sign of Failing Health

Worry is a disease—and it's more—produces other diseases, because it breaks down the nerves and saps the vitality of the body.

What a pity women don't realize that if they were well—if the blood was nutritious—if the nerves were strong—all the organs were active—then the little things that irritate and prey on the mind wouldn't receive a moment's thought.

The woman who worries has a poor appetite—she sleeps poorly. If it only lasted for a day or two it might be of small consequence—but she grows limp, miserable, unhappy—worse day by day. She needs Ferronone which cures worry by curing the conditions that render worry possible. For nervous, weak women, no tonic is so good; thousands of women have just like Mrs. M. E. Eberhart, of Troy, who writes: "I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferronone, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last spring I was in a very poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired, and completely worn out. No doubt it's quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferronone, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and in fact I have been in better health ever since I can heartily recommend Ferronone."

Ferronone cures by making good blood, strong nerves, and a healthy body. This is why it gives color, clearness to the skin, buoyancy to the step, brightness to the eyes—because with good digestion and activity of the body in all its parts there's health. Price 50c. per box at all dealers.

PANICKY CONSUMERS

One of the causes of inflated prices is clearly set forth by the New York Times in an article on the coal panic when it says that consumers can "moderate their demands to their necessities, and not seek to buy coal away from their neighbors."

This training is to embrace every man in the empire. It will be observed that Prof. Wolf takes no account of what other nations now at war with Germany may have to say about the future tasks of that country.

With two deaths from infantile paralysis in St. Stephen the provincial board of health does well to consider the situation.

Chaplain Hooper says Canada should not be content until 600,000 men have been recruited for active service. The need of more men is imperative.

A decline in the number of deaths from tuberculosis in St. John is a tribute to the success of the organized effort to reduce the ravages of this disease.

The men of the 168th Battalion were given a deserved tribute by the great audience at their concert in the Imperial last evening. Our Acadian fellow citizens are winning golden opinions by their character and conduct as a battalion.

There are said to be men peddling liquor who ought to be in khaki instead of trying to make a living out of the weakness of the men who are in uniform. No penalty is too severe for degenerates of that sort.

The French have captured more enemy positions on the Somme, making what are described as important gains. The Roumanians have regained the initiative in Dobruja, and a Russian advance on the Transylvanian front is reported from Petrograd and admitted by Vienna.

The Montreal Financial Times says: "The so-called settlement of the threatened C.P.R. trustees' strike is such as to leave an extremely bad taste in the mouth of investors in Canada. It is a railway is not saying much about it, and it is barely possible that there exists a quiet understanding with the government by which the sacrifices which it has been compelled to make will be compensated to it in some other way."

The pulp and paper industry of Canada is in line for important development. Not only is there talk of new pulp mills in this and other provinces, but paper manufacturing, which has not been extensively developed in the past, in view of the great supply of raw material, is now certain to receive a new impetus. Meantime paper prices have advanced more rapidly than the cost of production.

Before taking definite action, Com. McLellan and the council should consider whether there is not greater need of more policemen for the city beats than for the harbor. If property owners throughout the city would provide a proper service of watchmen for their premises and property it would help there; but the city police force is not only too small but is probably paid less than in any other city of St. John's size in Canada.

Of the world-wide coal situation an exchange says: "The United States is not the only country that with the approach of winter is viewing the coal situation with considerable anxiety. France is practically without coal in her own borders as the section in which coal is produced is held by the Germans. France is now being supplied by England and so is Italy. In England the production has been cut down by labor difficulties."

The Toronto Star says: "By a vote of 18 to 6 the board of education pronounced last night in favor of compulsory military drill in the schools, and adopted a resolution pointing out to the minister of education the advisability of altering the present regulations and introducing compulsory military drill into the third and fourth forms of the public schools and for all high school pupils. The action which the board took does not enact this compulsory military training, but recommends its adoption by the provincial government."

Canada is not the only country that is considering the manufacture of toys to take the place of Austrian and German goods. The Bangor Commercial says: "Japan appears to be making a determined effort to replace Germany as the chief supplier of toys to the juvenile world and its exports of toys during the first half of the present year amounted to nearly two millions of dollars, whereas before the war these exports were almost negligible. It is also reported that the Japanese are making material efforts in supplying confectionery to the outside world and their exports in this line to the United States are becoming considerable."

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

Subscribers to The Telegraph and The Evening Times frequently send in letters containing news, WITHOUT SIGNING THEIR NAMES. Such letters are never printed, and sometimes subscribers who have thus sent in personal or social news are offended when it is not published. All such letters should be signed with the name and address of the writer, AND IN CASES OF MARRIAGES OR ENGAGEMENTS THE NEWS SHOULD BE TRANSMITTED THROUGH THE LOCAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE PAPER IN THE TOWN OR VILLAGE IN WHICH THE SUBSCRIBER LIVES, OR THROUGH THE OFFICIATING CLERGYMAN IN CASES OF MARRIAGE OR DEATH NOTICES. It is absolutely essential that a newspaper should KNOW from whom any news has come. In some cases signatures have been found to be false or unauthorized. If subscribers will be guided by this notice a great deal of time and trouble will be saved. These precautions are quite as much in the interest of the subscribers as of the newspaper. The co-operation of Telegraph and Times readers in these matters is earnestly solicited.

Civic Welcome for the 222nd

Officers of Western Battalion Entertained by Mayor and City Commissioners An official civic welcome was tendered the 222nd Manitoba Battalion last evening when the officers of the unit were entertained at a banquet in Bond's restaurant by the mayor and city commissioners. Other guests included members of the citizens' welcome committee, Brigadier-General McLean and Lieutenant-Colonel A. H. H. Powell of the headquarters staff.

LIEUT.-COL. JAMES LIGHTFOOT, O. C. 222nd Battalion.

The mayor delivered a brief address of welcome to the officers assembled and assured them that everything possible would be done by the citizens to make the stay of the battalion in St. John as pleasant as possible. Other addresses of a similar tenor were delivered by others present. Lieut.-Colonel James Lightfoot responded on behalf of the battalion, and said that since coming to St. John he had been especially struck by the hospitality of its people, who made him and the other members of his unit feel at home from the first hour they landed. He did not know how long the unit would be quartered here but he felt that time long or short he felt certain that the 222nd would always remember with a great warmth of feeling the splendid hospitality of the people of St. John.

Brigadier-General McLean, Commissioner McLellan and A. O. Skinner expressed the sentiments of the people of St. John in welcoming the new battalion. Lieut.-Colonel Greer of the 180th also spoke, complimenting Lieut.-Colonel Lightfoot on his fine battalion. Capt. G. S. Miller, chaplain of the 222nd Battalion, also made a short and appropriate address. During the course of his speech Brigadier-General McLean said that next Sunday there would be a garrison church parade in which all the units quartered in the city would participate and on that occasion the citizens of St. John would have an opportunity of seeing all the men of the various C. E. F. battalions together.

Believes She Was Saved From Stroke of Paralysis

All One Side Was Cold and Powerless When She Began Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

A dead nerve cell can never be replaced. In this way it is different to other cells of the human body. But feeble, wasted nerve cells can be restored, and herein lies hope. In this fact is also a warning to take note of such symptoms as sleeplessness and loss of energy and ambition, and prevent serious developments. Nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia and paralysis are the natural results of neglecting to keep the nerves in healthful condition. The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when you suspect there is something wrong, will soon restore vitality to the nervous system, and thereby prevent serious developments. Mrs. Merritt Nichols, R. R. No. 3, Dundalk, Ont., writes: "I take pleasure in writing to tell you the great benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was so nervous I could not sleep, and found it hard to get my work done at all, but, having no help at the time, had to do the best I could. Finally my left arm became powerless and cold, and this continued to get worse until my whole side was affected, head and all. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and the first box helped me so much that I used several, and believe that this treatment saved me from having a paralytic stroke. It has built me up wonderfully, and I can recommend it most heartily, believing that if more Nerve Food were used there would be much less sickness." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures in nature's way by nourishing the feeble, wasted nerves back to health and vigor. Fifty cents a box, all dealers, or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or Catarrhal Deafness, cut out this formula, and hand it to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that Catarrhal Deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic that would quickly dissipate all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated, and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, is given below in understandable form, so that any one can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parment (Double Strength), about 75c. worth. Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, rapidly thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. Important Note: In ordering Parment always specify that you want double strength. Your druggist has it or he can easily get it for you. If not send 75c.—postal note or money order—to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Que., Can., and they will supply you.

The Leather to Make Shoes Out of cannot be obtained. Immense warehouses that formerly at this time of year would be brimful of all kinds of leather are empty. We were more fortunate than many dealers in getting delivery of our Fall Shoes, and as we had contracted for them months ago, are able to offer our customers Fall Boots today at less prices than makers are quoting for same. We do honestly believe that before long there will be no such thing as a fine boot at either $5.00 or $6.00.

THE BAPTIST MINISTERS
 (Maritime Baptist.)

Rev. N. A. McNeill, pastor of the Salisbury group of churches, is enjoying a belated holiday on "the Island." The church at Bequeac counts itself fortunate in having secured as pastor Rev. C. A. Britten, who recently resigned the church at North Sydney.

Rev. I. B. Colwell, who recently resigned the pastorate of the Jernise field, is taking up the work at Upper Gagetown.

Rev. I. A. Corbett has accepted a pressing and unanimous call extended to him by the Paradise and Clarence church. Dr. and Mrs. McLean, who have been spending their furlough with relatives and friends on the Washademoak, have started on their return journey to Africa, where they are engaged in mission work under the F. M. Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Rev. W. B. Crowell has resigned the pastorate of the First Harvey church, Albert county, after two years of very successful labor. During that time thirty have been added to the churches on the field, sixty-four of these by baptism. He goes at once to the church at Windsor, Carleton county.

THE WALTHAM CONVERTIBLE WRIST WATCH

HERE at least is fairly daintiness combined with abiding accuracy in a wrist watch. How you'll admire the exquisite grace with which it rests on your arm. How you'll appreciate the knowledge that it possesses the same degree of accuracy that has made Waltham famous the world over. Worn as a wrist watch or a regular watch, as you desire. Here at least is a watch you will grow fonder of as the years go by. No trouble whatever to try them on.

BUY FLOUR BY CARLOAD AND BAKE OWN BREAD

Women Have Plan to Reduce Prices and Fight the Millers

Canvass is Taken in Toronto—Many Housewives Start to Bake it Themselves—Means a Great Saving

The Canadian Housewives' Economic Association plans to combat the 18-cent bread by importing flour in carload lots, and selling to their members for home baking. A canvass of members is now being made to secure names of those who will take a portion of the flour at wholesale rates.

"The women of Toronto must take an active step if bakers are to be forced to reduce the high price of bread," said Mrs. A. E. Huester, president of the Local Council of Women. "If a combine is formed by housewives of the city flour can be bought at a much lower price, and by every woman adopting the plan of baking bread in the home the solution of the problem is reached."

That this scheme has succeeded in other cities is evidenced by Mrs. L. J. Deachman, president of the Consumers' League, Calgary. Here the women banded together with a determination to break down high prices. Efforts were made to secure flour and fish, which were selling at abnormal prices, at a reduced rate by buying in larger quantities. The women joined together. Each one subscribed for a certain amount. Car loads were brought in from the outside and the women were thus enabled to purchase these articles at much lower prices. "The women of Toronto must do the same if they wish to solve the present difficulty," continued Mrs. Deachman. "Let them spend their money wherever they will receive the greatest value for it, even if it means going to the United States. This is the only way to show the millers and bakers they mean business."

President Endorses the Scheme. Mrs. S. S. Meares, president of the Housewives' Economic Association, expressed herself as being favorable to the above suggestion. "The league will be glad to lend every assistance we can, and if a certain number of women are willing and ready to adopt the above scheme I can see no reason why flour cannot be bought in this way."

"Home-made bread is not only more gratifying but healthier," said Mrs. W. S. Kirkland, vice-president of the league. "I have made bread for a number of years and find it most satisfactory. At the present price of flour there is not such a decided saving in the price of a loaf, but when it is considered that the home-baked bread is so much more satisfying and less biscuits and cakes are eaten it is well worth any woman's time to bake it in the home."

Mrsy Women Bake Own Bread. "There are a great number of women baking bread throughout the city," volunteered Mrs. F. W. Edgers, who has been baking for a great number of years. "It is a decided saving in every way, besides being more nourishing. Even as the price people are used to for flour now there is a saving of a few cents a loaf and there is less waste, as the home-made bread keeps moist so much longer."

"Bread can be baked at half the price the bakers are asking," said Mrs. D. McGill, who has been baking for years. "Of course this is reckoning on free labor, as I have always baked my own. A few batches of badly baked bread would certainly lessen the profit, but if an ordinary amount of care is used it is bound to be a success."

One energetic woman who is baking for the Red Cross sells several loaves a week at 15 and 20 cents a two-pound loaf. This is for the fancy bread. "If

Pure Rich Blood Prevents Disease

Bad blood—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale,—is responsible for more ailments than anything else.

It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh; in others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, languid feelings and woe-trend conditions, and is the most common cause of disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest purifier and enricher of the blood the world has ever known. It has been wonderfully successful in removing scrofula and other humors, increasing the red-blood corpuscles, and building up the whole system. Get it today.

some of the women would go into the business of baking bread and supplying their neighbors at a lower cost—which they could do when they would not have the price of delivery to contend with—this would do much to show the people we are taking it seriously," she said. "It is harder, of course, for the householder to sell bread very much cheaper, as the flour used is always the best, while that of the bakers is a mixture, and they get a reduced rate owing to the fact that they buy in larger quantities."

DOMINION JURISDICTION.

At the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association held last evening in the store of A. O. Skinner, King street, E. M. Trower and J. A. Beaudry, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the dominion board, addressed the members regarding the matter of organization. A plan was suggested, and finally approved, by the local association, whereby all organization work and certain other branches connected with the local body, will fall under the control of the dominion board. A. O. Skinner, president, and there was a large number of members present. The high cost of food, generally, also fell under discussion, and it was decided to make an effort to get at the bottom of the matter and find where the responsibility rested for the exorbitant increases in practically all materials.

We Are Introducing DUOFOLD The Ideal Health Underwear

Here's what it is:—It consists of two thin layers of fabric, soft cotton inside, next the skin, and warm wool outside, that keeps cold out and natural warmth in. Together they are lighter in weight than the usual heavy underwear.

DUOFOLD does not "itch" like all wool. It never feels "clammy" like all cotton. The wool is all on the outside. It absorbs bodily moisture from the cotton, and keeps the garment fresh, soft and dry. The air space between the two inter-knit layers provides ventilation.

We will show you gladly Union Suits $3.50 and $4.50

St. John Men in the Hospitals

Rev. Captain E. B. Hooper Tells of Local Soldiers and Officers Whom He is Meeting

In a letter from Rev. Captain E. B. Hooper, who still is located at Granville Canadian Special Hospital, Ramsgate, Kent, England, he tells of some of the St. John men he is meeting, as follows:

At the present time we have in the Granville, Kilron, Munro, Newton, Bishop and others whose names I do not at the moment recall, besides Captain George Keefe and Lieutenant Jenkins. A find lot of fellows they are. The experiences they have passed through have affected them for good, and physically they are all making most satisfactory progress.

Captain Keefe is well known in St. John. I cannot say what the future has in store for him, but if he gets what he has earned he will undoubtedly receive his majority before he is many weeks older. He has proved himself a gallant soldier and a very efficient officer.

Segeant Signaller Jenkins, as he was when I last saw him, has received his commission, and never was a commission more worthily bestowed. If Lieutenant Jenkins is able to return to active duty I am confident that it will not be long before he gains his next step. These two men have earned what they have received or may receive by splendid service rendered on the field of battle.

On Monday last I was obliged to go over to Folkestone on special duty. This duty took me to the orderly room tent of the 40th Reserve Battalion at Caesars Camp. To my utter astonishment and great delight I found there, acting as adjutant, Captain "Sandy" McMillan, one whom I would unhesitatingly describe as one of the best loved and respected officers in the 26th Battalion. We had a pleasant fifteen minutes and we parted hoping to spend a week-together in the very near future. McMillan looked well, and was in excellent spirits, and yet I trust and have some grounds for hoping that he will not be returning to the front, at least not for some time to come. A man carrying, as he does, a piece of shrapnel in his back, deserves relief from heavy marching, and from service in the trenches or on the field.

Canada Must Do Better.

Regarding Canada's contribution in men to the empire's need, I read the other day that the total of 350,000 had been reached. It is a grand contribution indeed, but in my opinion, not grand enough. SURELY CANADA WILL NOT BE CONTENT UNTIL 600,000 MEN

WEARING THE "MAPLE LEAF" ARE FOUND SERVING BENEATH THE GLORIOUS BATTLE FLAG OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE. I AM PERSUADED THAT OUR DEAR PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK WILL RISE TO HER FULL DUTY IN THIS RESPECT. TO BE FIT TO GO, ABLE TO GO, AND YET REMAIN AT HOME, IS NOT TO BE THOUGHT OF BY ANY ONE WHO VALUES HIS SELF-RESPECT OR HIS PRIVILEGES AS A CITIZEN OF THE EMPIRE. THE NEED FOR MORE MEN IS SO IMPERATIVE THAT IT CANNOT BE EXAGGERATED.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH BOYS

Forty 'teen-age boys of St. Luke's Sunday school met last night to discuss the Canadian Standard Efficiency Test. After partaking of a sumptuous supper, provided by ladies of the church, Miss Dunlop, Miss Crook, Miss Day and other young ladies kindly assisting, Rev. R. P. McKim, the rector, Mrs. Miller, the Sunday school superintendent, and Mr. Mowry, one of the teachers made appropriate speeches, encouraging the boys to enthusiastically take up the programme of the Canadian Standard Efficiency Test.

The Sunday school delegates to the conference, George Nase, Frank Ryley and Frank Taylor, reported in racy, short speeches what took place at each of the various meetings held in connection with the conference, and Rev. E. A. Green, curate of St. Luke's, supplemented their speeches with a fuller explanation, and chartered a boy to give those present an idea of the working of the Canadian Standard Efficiency Test programme. At the conclusion of the meeting eighteen young enthusiasts signified their desire to be chartered and join a class. A vote of thanks was tendered the ladies who provided the supper.

A Woman's Problem

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:—

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and backache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. MARGARET GRASSMAN, 769 N. Ringgold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—Mrs. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Roundy St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—Mrs. E. KISSLING, 931 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

ENTERPRISING.

A good story is told by one of the members of a collecting team for the Y. M. C. A. He had called on a prominent tradesman several times without success. At last the merchant caved in, and said: "Look here, sir, I'll give you five guineas on condition that you don't come into my office again unless I invite you." The offer was promptly accepted. Next morning the unabashed collector was on the scene again. He knocked at the merchant's door, and was told to "Come in!" Then—"What's the meaning of this?" demanded the merchant. "Didn't I give you a subscription yesterday on the express condition that you would not come here unless invited?" "True," was the answer; "but you asked me to come in when I knocked, and here I am. If you would like to help out the Y. M. C. A. again, please knock. And the merchant did.

BRADSTREET'S ON TRADE

Active business, with little or no political excitement, superabundant activity and not enough materials to go around, animated industries with too few producers to get out needed supplies, farmers getting high prices and paying up old debts record railway earnings, acute car shortages, unparalleled railway tonnage, extraordinarily good collections, easy money, high cost of living and noteworthy speculation are the striking characteristics of the week's reports. The presidential campaign has been a negligible factor in relation to business, the volume of which is of unexampled proportions. Goods are in demand for immediate use and for delivery next spring and beyond. Overproduction is still out of the question, as the country's plants are undermanned and at the same time consumption is of enormous volume. The tendency to withdraw quotations on articles intended for forward delivery is spreading, and probably will proceed apace as the necessity for checking upholding as well as restricting demand is recognized. But while there is a good deal of talk about high prices—some articles being at city levels—reducing consumption, the efforts of buyers to get down orders denotes fear that the shortage of goods will be of long duration. As it is everything from trunks and traveling bags to jewelry, wearing apparel, dry goods, steel, pig iron, copper, coal, food and stocks and bonds is in demand. Talk of a hard coal famine is rife, though in this respect it is to be borne in mind that the volume of which is in demand is still out of the question, as the country's plants are undermanned and at the same time consumption is of enormous volume. CLOSE OF LUMBERING ON RIVER AT BANGOR

(Bangor Commercial)

The Bangor Boom Company conducted by William Belger and William Conners, finished work for the season on Saturday, delivering more than 800 cords of pulp wood to the Eastern Manufacturing Company at their plant in South Brewer. The men finished rafting the last drive of the year on Friday and then handled the pulp wood for the Eastern, this being something new in the history of the Penobscot. This pulp wood is always sent to the mills by rail but in some way this lot broke away into one of the waterways apriver and it was decided to drive it to Bangor. Upon its arrival into the Bangor boom it was handled by means of making booms around it, and delivered to the Eastern's plant. The wood is about four feet long. This has been a very good year for the Bangor Boom Company. They have had good weather, particularly in the fall and there has been no ice to handicap them in their work. The close this year on Nov. 4 is about two weeks earlier than the company finished operations last year, when the last drive was not all rafted until Nov. 17.

This year the company have handled a little less than 20,000,000 feet of logs which is 14,000,000 less than last year. A big factor in the decrease this year was in the closing of the Ayer mill which used about 9,710,000 feet of logs in 1915. The logs rafted at the Bangor boom this year were delivered to Morse & Co., Bangor Lumber Company, and Sterns Lumber Co. Cassidy & Son also had about 15,000 feet of cedar rafted at the boom.

The Bangor Lumber Company had about 800,000 feet more this year than last year and Morse & Company had about 800,000 feet more. The number of feet rafted for Sterns this year was about 5,000,000 feet less than a year ago.

Morse & Co. had more than 5,000,000 feet this year, the Bangor Lumber Co. more than 7,100,000 feet and Sterns better than 7,700,000 feet.

There have been seven drives at the Bangor boom this year in addition to the lot of pulp wood that came in after the last drive. The boom has employed twenty-seven men on an average all the year using practically the same crew driving and rafting. This is the first year that the logs have been handled this way, thus giving the men more steady employment.

Two or three days will now be required to take in the booms, put the steamer up and get everything put away for the winter.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—The post office department has issued a warning to the public not to enclose matches, solid alcoholic, other inflammable substances or liquids in parcels sent to the overseas troops.

Some of the parcels, which have been sent to the men at the front have been found to contain these materials for providing heat to the boys in the trenches but they are decidedly dangerous to other mail matter in transit. The department points out that it is against the law to enclose inflammable matter in parcels sent by mail.

Grape-Nuts Flavor

Grape-Nuts food is probably the most appetizing form in which honest whole wheat is utilized as food.

But to whole wheat is added malted barley in making Grape-Nuts, and the sense of taste quickens at once when a spoonful of the food is eaten with cream. For the barley has a rich, individual taste which, blended with the sweetness of wheat, creates a rare flavor recognized by the palate as unusually new and delicious.

Aside from its wonderfully vitalizing value as a food, Grape-Nuts has a flavor that has made it a favorite everywhere.

Game Warden Had Lively Journey

Into Wilderness After Dangerous Game Poachers

Took Them at Gun Point

Had Bad Time With Wolves Which Are Very Thick—Both Men Were Secured and Fined

Montreal, Nov. 6.—After two weeks' journey through the northern wilderness, during which he had to ward off wolves, meet many moose, and finally take his prisoners at the point of his revolver, W. H. Griffith, chief game warden of the Protection Association for the Protection of Fur and Game, returned to Montreal. He had had a hard trip, but had secured two of the most dangerous men the association had gone after in a dozen years.

The two men wanted were a couple of half-Indian guides, Louis Gill and Robert Paquet, who had been employed as guides by the Laurentian Club, and then turned poachers. Paquet had announced that if anyone went after him there would be a vacancy in the staff of game wardens that when he was finally faced by Mr. Griffith, with a dangerous looking revolver to back his arguments he yielded quickly. The other man was not a dangerous character, and gave in at once, when he found that the law reached beyond the Grand Am.

Both men had been spending some months in the northern wilds around the head waters of the Vermilion river, killing and trapping everything that wore fur. When they were landed by Warden Griffith the two were camped twenty miles apart, living in cabins, and shooting and trapping all the game they could get.

When Warden Griffith finally found Paquet's cabin he called with little ceremony, opening the door and covering the poacher with his revolver. Paquet lost no time in surrendering, and plenty of evidence was found that he has been killing moose, beaver, mink, martin and other fur-bearing animals.

As soon as he was secured, Warden Griffith went on with his guides and captured Louis Gill, who was a much less dangerous character. The two were then brought back to Grand Piles, where they were taken before Magistrate J. P. Lafontaine, and given a fine of $20 each with costs. In addition to this, each was fined $100 for the violation of the game laws which would mean an additional fine of $100 each, with twelve months' imprisonment. At the desire of the Laurentian Club the men were then let off on suspended sentence, it being considered that the lesson given the people in the district as to the effectiveness of the law was more than worth the money and trouble involved in the work.

Wolves Very Dangerous.

"It was one of the most difficult trips I ever had," said Warden Griffith yesterday. "The whole journey was made by canoe and portage through the wild country north of Grand Piles, some of the wildest country in Canada. It was bad weather, and we had to sleep in the open, in our sleeping bags, with the inches of snow on the ground, while the wolves were very troublesome.

"The Indians up there told me that never before had they known the wolves so bad. The brutes infested the whole country in bands, and none of the people there dared go out alone after dark."

Warden Griffith said that his game was also exceedingly plentiful all through the north country he traversed, he having seen a great many moose and other animals during his trip. In addition to securing the two poachers, he seized four beaver skins, four martlet skins, twenty-five muskrat, two minks and other valuable furs while he was unable to get the main supply secured by the poachers, which had been cached in the woods.

Carranza Men to Eliminate Villa

Force of 9,000 Concentrating at Jiminez

Move Gratifies America

U. S. Forces Will Be Withdrawn if Carranza Shows Himself Able to Cope With the Situation

Washington, Nov. 6.—Announcement has been made by Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate, that Carranza force of 9,000 men is being concentrated at Jiminez to be used in a movement which has for its purpose "the elimination of Villa." The announcement was based on advices received by Senor Arredondo from Andres Garcia, consul of Mexico at El Paso, who stated that General Marguia "is concentrating his forces at Jiminez, and in a few days he will have a force of 9,000 men, who will engage in the concentration for the elimination of Villa." Another despatch to Senor Arredondo asserts the report that the capture of Parral by Villa's irregulars is unconfirmed.

Jiminez is an important juncture point on the Mexican central railroad, about 140 miles southeast of Chihuahua City, and about 55 miles due east of Parral. It is also about forty miles south of Santa Rosalia, a point a hundred miles south of Chihuahua, which Villistas were reported several days ago to have captured after having cut the line south of Chihuahua City. According to El Paso reports, the Villistas turned southwestward up the river canyon from Santa Rosalia, with Parral as their objective. If Villa is actually in the region between Santa Rosalia and Parral, Jiminez would be ideal from the point of strategy as the starting point for one of several columns converging on the bandits. Last week it was officially reported that 8,000 de facto government soldiers had been sent to Chihuahua City as reinforcements for General Trevino for operations against the Villistas.

whenever Villa had been captured and punitive expedition from Mexican soil the de facto government shall have demonstrated its ability to master the situation in Chihuahua.

Considerable interest was shown here early tonight in a news report from Columbus, N.M., which was later cancelled, to the effect that the American forces were to resume the pursuit of Villa within a week under an agreement by which the Carranza forces were to retire southward and not hinder the Americans. Acting Secretary of State Polk said he knew of no such agreement, and stated he had no information upon which such a report could be confirmed. In view of the fact that the Pershing expedition did not move against Villa when he was in the vicinity of Santa Ysabel, which is some distance north of the region in which Villa is now reported as operating in the Parral terrain, and he has now moved farther south, it is not believed that orders would at this time be given to General Pershing to take the offensive against Villa, certainly not unless the Carranza "elimination movement" falls, and Villa stronger, should again come northward.

"What can I say that will please him most?" asked the doctor.

"You might just tell him, in an off-hand way, that the man as licked him is mighty bad in the 'ospital, and that they may have to hold a post-mortem on him any minute now," was the solemn suggestion.

Britain Has Solved The Rubber Riddle

Rubbers and Overshoes Are Cheap as Ever Today, While Other Necessities, Particularly Shoes, Have Nearly Doubled in Price.

Where Germany's Vaunted Chemists Fail British Empire Builders Succeed

Rubber has been one of the most insistent and intensely interesting problems of the twentieth century—and its solution is proving of vital importance to the Empire in this great war.

Until 1910 the world depended for its crude rubber on the forests of South and Central America and Africa. The supply increased slowly, if at all, while consumption, since the advent of the motor car, has grown enormously. From an average of $1.00 a pound in 1908, the price jumped to $3.00 in 1910. Manufacturers of rubber kept pace—no doubt you remember what rubbers cost for a year or two—and the situation looked alarming.

The search for synthetic rubber was redoubled in vigor. German chemists had been working on it, and the world seemed to expect them to come through with some ingenious process for manufacturing rubber from its known ingredients, on a commercial scale and at a low cost. But the world still waits—and so does the Kaiser, judging from his indignation over Britain's refusal to let him import rubber by registered mail.

Relief from a rubber famine came instead from the far-sighted development policy of Britain's Empire builders, who for years, in spite of general ridicule, had been encouraging the growth of plantation rubber on a large scale in Ceylon, Sumatra, Java and the Malay States. Money was advanced to planters to carry them through the seven-year period before the trees started to produce, and hundreds of thousands of acres were planted.

By 1910, when the pinch came, British plantations produced 8,200 tons—11% of the world's output. The next year saw 14,000 tons of plantation rubber—nearly 20%. In 1912 it had grown to 29%—in 1913 to 44%—in 1914 to 59%—last year to 68%—or 107,867 tons. This year's production is estimated at 150,000 tons, or 75% of the world's supply.

With three-quarters of the rubber production thus controlled by Great Britain, and the seas in the grip of her mighty fleet, the Allies are assured of an abundant supply for war purposes, while the Teutons' troubles from lack of it are growing daily more serious.

Having a practical monopoly of the supply, and the power to impose such prices as she chose, Great Britain has made it, except to her enemies, a benevolent monopoly, and has made the price of crude rubber lower than it was before the war.

To Canadians this is doubly important, because the climate makes rubbers and overshoes a necessity. Now, when shoe prices are soaring, while rubbers are as cheap as ever, it is clearly economy to protect expensive shoes to the limit by systematically wearing rubbers at every sign of bad weather. Even with heavy soled shoes this pays, for shoes so protected will wear far longer, saving the cost of the rubbers several times over. If different styles of shoes are worn it is easy and advisable to have rubbers to fit each pair. They look better, feel better, and wear longer.

Besides the big money saving, there is the valuable protection to health. Wet feet and colds go hand in hand, with a ghastly train of ills—easily avoided by wearing rubbers.

Then there is the patriotic side. Vast quantities of leather are absolutely necessary for the army, and the scarcity is growing. Every pair of shoes we save helps to ease the situation, and so serves the Empire to which we owe this welcome cheapness of rubbers.

Save your shoes and Serve the Empire

TEN MONTHS IN GERMANY

D. T. Curtin Contrasts The English People and The Germans—An Intimate View

(London Times.) (Mr. Curtin's fifth article describing his ten months' stay in Germany contrasts the attitudes of the German and English peoples toward each other. To Germans he attributes a greater knowledge of English personalities than Englishmen possess of personalities in Germany. To Englishmen he attributes too great a tendency to judge German menialty by their own.)

The Englishman is never the Briton, the Australian, the Canadian, the Scotman, or the Welshman. It is always the Englishman and the Germans see you it does not make a pretty picture. It is one with which I cordially disagree. To understand the ferocious hatred of German men and women (and especially the women) for England it is necessary that you should gain some idea of their views. The general views of the Englishman and his motives held throughout Germany—and what one German thinks of the Englishman is summed up in the single word "money."

The following conversation is typical. I remarked one evening in a circle where I was sufficiently intimate to express mild approbation of some feature of the Allies' cause that it was wonderful how all these young English civilians have volunteered for the army. The reply at the table was universal. It was that rubbing of the thumb and forefinger by which the Germans and other foreigners mean "money."

"You can hire any kind of scamp in England at one mark (1s.) a day, or in Canada at five (5s.)," said the father of the family pompously. That settled the question. He was an authority, having, like thousands of others, made the famous Hamburg-America round trip—Cuxhaven—Southampton—London—Wight—Hamburg.

The rich English lord, traveling always first class, accompanied by a horde of lackeys and spending money fearlessly, is still a legend among Germans. "Every Englishman has his price," continued the head of the table. Argument with Germans in England and the English character produces no result. If you tell them that London is half in ruins they do not believe you. If you ask them to explain why it is that English troops arrive in France through the German submarine blockade they reply "they travel in hospital ships—everybody knows that."

The Effect of Repetition Ten months of mixing with these people and reading their newspapers almost shook my belief, and it was with some relief that I arrived at Hull, which the Germans believe to be practically destroyed. I found that it was carrying on as usual—very much as usual.

On the subject of the English, German women from the higher ranks downward, are even more virulent and obstinate than the men. There is no pretence among the German general public of the military worth of Zeppelin raids. German men and women, especially German women, think that by killing a sufficient number of English people—men, women and children—their government will be forced by the populace to cry for peace. Nations are very much inclined to judge other nations by their own feelings, and the Germans, whom the English regard as a stolid people, are really highly emotional and easily downcast, uplifted, or scared.

When I told a Berlin acquaintance that having been present at one of the Zeppelin raids on London, I saw no sign of fear among the English, the reply was "Look what happened at Karlsruhe." The bombardment of the Baden capital gave the Germans a very bad fright indeed, and it is obvious to anyone who understands Prussian psychology that the German civilian population would soon stop Zeppelin raids in England.

One of their misconceptions of your use of your money-power is that you are American Schutzengeln (guardian angels) to travel abroad your steamships as safe havens for English passengers and munitions! It is generally believed that most of your colonial victories over the Germans have been achieved by having of the German black troops. The cries of "Business as Usual" and "War on German Trade" at the beginning of the conflict were accepted by the Germans as just what was to be expected from the money-grabbing English.

English Mistakes The indisputable fact about Germany is that whereas the German know a great deal about you and your system of government, your public men, their wives and connections, and make entirely wrong deductions, the average Englishman I meet knows nothing of the Germans, the German system of government, and German public men. You are inclined to ascribe to the German your own qualities. In nothing is this more obvious than the English idea that the fair treatment of Germans in England will best fair treatment of the English in Germany. The Prussians, who have many Oriental characteristics, and, as to many of them, a good deal of Oriental appearance, think Orientalism and attribute fair, or what you call sportsmanlike, treatment to fight and a desire to carry favor.

Some ill-informed English people seem to think that the Reichstag is something like the House of Commons, and that a vote in Germany has the same kind of influence possessed by a vote in England. No one in Germany was surprised when the Socialists joined the war party, though English and American Socialists were astonished. Every German is a German first, he is Socialist or he is not. The reason the Times is allowed to be sold freely all over Germany is because the German government knows that no German believes a word of its foreign newspaper. I have had English and American newspapers with me in the many parts of Germany I have been to, and Germans with whom I have mixed, did not take the trouble to look at them, or if they did read them, laughed heartily.

Such views are not, of course, the meaning and the Zeppelins. It is well known that the All-Highest War Lord has been seriously alarmed by the threat that in the event of defeat he may share the fate of Napoleon. Of the Crown Prince, who is such a great figure in England, very little is heard in Germany? Now and then, from the scandalous stories are whispered about his amours and tales of marital troubles. But he is not more prominent to the Germans than the...-precht of Bavaria.

I have seen references in the English and German newspapers since I returned here to the German businesses still being carried on in England. If this system is being carried out with the idea of appeasing the Germans—as the Germans think it is a mistaken policy. Every German well understands that if the whole of the German property in the British Empire were requisitioned the war would be appreciably nearer its close. They know well that whereas Great Britain and her colonies have, by comparison, a very small investment in Germany, Germany has very large holdings throughout the British Empire. When I come to deal with the prisoner question, which is studied on the spot, I shall have something to say of the weakness of the British policy in regard to the small handful of interned British in Germany and the great army of interned Germans in England. Your numerical superiority in prisoners places you in a prominent position if you exercise it. My four visits to Germany during the war convinced me that it is only your ignorance of German psychology and their ignorance of yours that prevent justice being done to the men at Ruhleben and elsewhere, who are losing their reason.

BOY SCOUT NOTES H. G. Hammond has gone to England and probably France on behalf of the Ontario Council of the Boy Scouts Association and will also be accredited on behalf of the movement at large throughout Canada in order that he may meet as many as possible of the former Canadian Boy Scouts overseas and carry to them personally the best wishes of the Canadian Brotherhood for their success and safety. He is the provincial secretary and assistant commissioner for Ontario. The English, troop lately volunteered for the duty of conducting a party of 300 Serbian boys, on their visit to the metropolis. On the same day the cry of St. Paul's Cathedral, the Archbishop of Canterbury inspected the boys and gave them a very kindly address. "I want to express my warmest praise of the Boy Scouts of America in general and of one little Boy Scout in particular," I writes a New York lady to the editor of the New York Times. "Several days ago I fell and injured my foot as I stepped from a shop to the pavement. I was assisted by the men and inside placed on a stool; my urgent request for a taxicab being refused, I was in absolute despair when a little boy rushed from the street and said: 'I'll get you a taxicab.' The boy soon returned with one. I managed to ask him for his name. He scribbled on a card and I thrust it without looking into my bag. A few days later I discovered that my little hero was a Boy Scout. I sent him a note of warmest appreciation and here is his reply, worthy of a true soldier: 'My dear Mrs. Hammond: I'm glad you last Tuesday was nothing more than my duty as a scout. We boys are taught to help others at all times and not think of ourselves. I've always tried to do my best to live up to my oath which I took in January, 1916.' Scout Orville Dunlop, aged 15, of Carleton Place, rescued his sister from the Mississippi River in last May. For this act he has been awarded the Gilt Medal of Merit for doing his duty exceptionally well in a case of emergency.

not happen to have seen anywhere here, but which is doing a great deal of harm in Germany. It suggests a state of affairs among the people here which I have not encountered. Since my arrival in England I have walked about London a great deal, in rich quarters and in poor, and the cry of the shops seems high (eggs at 3s. 6d. a dozen are dearer than anywhere in Germany a few weeks ago; butter at 2s. a pound cannot be called cheap). I see no signs in your streets of anything but prosperity. Indeed the contrast of your full shop windows and the absence of the long crowds of people with their tickets waiting outside the specialized shops in Germany is very striking. Also remarkable is the amount of German spoken in the street, which an ear like mine, quickly attuned by ten months' residence in Germany, detects. English is very rarely heard in Germany, and, if spoken must be under the breath. I was dining one night with a charming companion of mine, and she said with relief: "We can speak English, because the Germans are making good use of it." One of the treasures I have brought out of Germany is an eating guide-book to England—telling people how to avoid making noises with their lips, when not to eat peas with a knife, how to use a napkin so as to avoid looking like a being shaving at a barber's, and various little differences between English and German table manners. When I come to write of the discontent in Germany, and its various forms, I shall do so carefully, because I find that there is a clever feint on the part of the German general staff to draw off the English while Germany was preparing her fortifications on the Somme. You tell them there is no real submarine blockade of England, they do not believe you, and most firmly believe that your feet is hiding in Bantay Bay. It is stupid of them, because this sort of thing will, in the end, be their own undoing. I am a clever feint on the part of you and your position in the war. It has actually taken two years of the huge semi-blockade; two years of the huge German casualties; two years of the belief that the German rich are exploiting the German poor, to bring about any sort of cracking in the German governmental machine. Even now the least semblance of victory, such as the capture of foodstuffs of Roumania would, I believe, smooth over the bitter reminiscences of which I shall shortly speak.

Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. UNITED STATES AND THE U-53

Prominent American Calls It Direct Defiance

Flouting the President

If Wilson Kept Word, He Says Von Bernstorff Would be Given His Passports

Hon. James M. Beck, formerly assistant attorney-general of the United States and a lawyer of international repute, is of the opinion that the recent activity of the U-53 in American waters was a direct defiance of the American government, and he holds that if President Wilson keeps his word he will be obliged to give Ambassador Bernstorff his passports.

was hailed by a German submarine, and ordered to immediately put her passengers and crew in the lifeboats as a torpedo was about to be launched. The sea was still rough, after a recent storm, and in the darkness, the passengers were obliged to climb down the rope ladders to the rocking lifeboats.

Had the American war vessels not been present it is by no means improbable that some of the Stephano's passengers might have died of exposure before the lifeboats were able to make land.

He contrasts what he considers the unannounced action of the United States with that of Holland. One of the vessels sunk by the U-53 being a Dutch vessel, the Dutch foreign minister immediately announced that he expected the German government to disavow the deed and to tender reparation for an "absolutely unjustifiable act."

Count Ferri-Pisani, a member of a noble French family, who has been acting as correspondent to a Toulouse newspaper, published in the New York Times the substance of two interviews he had last January, one with Constantine and the other with Venizelos.

Venizelos a Royalist. In the course of their talk Venizelos deplored the attitude of Greece, and said that the only hope was that the Hellenic spirit would be awakened.

A Promise to the Kaiser. Count Ferri-Pisani observed that never in the course of the interview did the king refer to "my subjects" or "my people."

Pain in the Back and Kidney Trouble SINCE CHILDHOOD

When the kidneys get out of order the back is sure to become afflicted, and dull pains, sharp pains, quick twinges all point to the fact that the kidneys need attention.

Plasters and liniments will not cure the kidneys, for they cannot get to the back and kidney trouble. I have used several remedies but nothing did me any good. A friend advised me to take Doan's Kidney Pills so I tried a box and before I had finished it I felt relief.

Headaches are many and varying; but when the head starts to ache you may be sure there is some chief cause. THE SHIELDING SHADOW, AT UNIQUE THEATRE

Sixth Episode "The Disappearing Prisoner"—Other Good Things
Complications of a new and varied nature come to the fore in the sixth chapter of The Shielding Shadow, called The Disappearing Prisoner, which will be shown at the Unique Theatre for the last time tonight. In some mysterious manner, Ravenger evidently escapes from the cellar of the gambling house, but just how he accomplishes this is indeed a baffling mystery.
Among the thrilling scenes pictured was the runaway caravan having as passengers Leontine and Ravenger, but through the ingenuity of the latter an escape is effected at the psychological moment. One Lamp Louie does not appear in this episode, but the action is intense and interesting. The photographic settings and acting are of the usual standard of excellence which characterizes the Shielding Shadow.
A special feature of the Pathe News and an exceptionally interesting one is the animated war map, showing through the medium of trick photography the large area won by the Allied armies in and around the Somme. As usual a number of pictures depicting current events were contained in this film newspaper. The comedy yesterday was supplied by the Cub Company presenting George Ovey in Movie Struck.
Today and tomorrow, however, Charlie Chaplin will hold the centre of the comedy stage and will be seen in possibly what can be termed his funniest picture during the time he was under contract with the Essanay Company, entitled Shanghaied.

THE LYRIC FEATURES "HER AMERICAN PRINCE"

Stage Success Equally Interesting in Picture—Vaudeville Attraction Also
In a country that is not and never was, dealing with a kingdom that never could be, and telling a story of people created by the mind of the author, the Mutual Masterpicture, Her American Prince, as screened at the Lyric Theatre Monday and yesterday, and which will be shown for the last time today, tells a most interesting and decidedly novel story.
The fact that it deals with royalty allows considerable scope for elaborate stage settings, and costly costuming. Miss Orma Hawley, for many years a popular favorite on the legitimate stage on Broadway, appears as the Princess, the niece of King Thor. She is supported by Bradley Barker as Prince Felix, an American. The court of King Thor contains a number of conspirators whose one desire is to see the aged monarch dethroned, and it is on this account that the story leads to some exciting climaxes and unique situations.
Possibly the duel is one of the most spectacular ever seen in moving pictures, and the flight of the Princess with the American has a tendency to make one gasp for breath. This is an adaptation of Carl Herbert's famous novel and stage success. For many seasons it was played by the best stock and repertoire touring companies, and in the good old days was a standing feature at the Broadway Stock Theatre in New York. The vaudeville end of the programme was looked after by Leons and his dog.
Eighty-one per cent. of the population of Lowell is either foreign born or of foreign parentage. With the exception of one other city this is the highest percentage of residents of foreign extraction of any city in the United States.

A Year's Exciting Experiences of an Edinburgh Surgeon

A year's experiences on the Italian front formed the subject of a lecture recently delivered in Edinburgh by Dr. W. E. Thompson, surgeon to the First British Red Cross Unit for Italy.
Dr. Thompson, according to the Scotsman of Edinburgh, spoke of the efficacy of spaghnum moss as a surgical dressing. After using it with excellent results he was convinced that it was invaluable to the surgeon, as it possessed all the properties, antiseptic and otherwise, that a surgical dressing should have.
Proceeding, he gave an outline of the origin of the First British Hospital Unit which was sent to the Italian front in September, 1915. There were about fifty members of the unit, and they were immediately sent for service with the Eastern Italian army, the centre of the most active fighting along the front. There were now four British units serving in Italy. Last winter for about three months the motor cars of the first unit were about the only ambulances leading up to the important positions at their part of the line. It was only after about nine or ten months that there were sufficient cars to do the work properly.
A great change has come over all the operations on the Italian front since they went out. Italy was not fully prepared for war. In all the necessary equipment for waging modern warfare there was a shortage at this state of affairs had to a great extent been remedied, with results which were now apparent. Dealing with the work of the unit, he paid a tribute to the services rendered by the V. A. D.'s. They all went with the unit with the intention of doing well, and the result was that they did well.
On a recent occasion when the resources of the hospital were taxed to the utmost, 400 patients were through in three days and the sixteen V. A. D.'s with the four sisters, were able to do most of the dressings. That meant that they did hundreds of dressings, and they did them just as efficiently as if they had been the highest trained people. At present they had six wards, which served as a casualty clearing station in the rear of the fighting lines, and the total number of the patients carried by the cars of the unit was about 45,000. He mentioned that during the recent offensive the British Ambulance Unit was the first to enter Gorizia. There was only one bridgehead between the Italians and a crossing was successfully made under enemy fire, and shortly afterward they were able to bring back wounded. As to the fighting qualities of the Italians, he said our allies had been misunderstood to some extent. People here used to ask what the Italians were doing. For a long time there was quietness, but it was quietness which cloaked great preparations. The Albin and Bersaglieri were the best-known types of soldiers. The Alpini were wonderful men, big, strapping fellows, who did most of the mountain fighting.
Describing the capture of Gorizia, he said the storming of Sabotino demanded the highest courage. Four previous attempts had failed, and the task was beginning to look hopeless, but, advancing with wonderful rapidity, the Italians overcame the opposition. A huge tunnel bored into the solid rock was one of the accommodations for 1,500 soldiers. When the Italians bombarded the Austrian positions the defenders retired to this tunnel, and waited there in safety until the guns had lifted to permit the infantry to go forward. Coming from this retreat the Austrians were able on four occasions to stem the advancing infantry waves, but the Italians were too quick at the fifth attempt, and literally shut the door on the defenders. The troops in this tunnel were all taken prisoners.
Nelson a Game One.
Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Johnny Nelson of this city stayed six rounds last night at the Olympia with Charley White, of Chicago, but in doing so he took the count of nine eight times.
In the fifth he did not give White a chance to hit him, and in the sixth he clinched and stalled. The fifth was the only round in which Johnny did not take the count of nine.
Here are a few of the names invented for the "banks" used by the British: Land dreadnought, old ichthyosaurus, giant toad, motor monster, jabberwock, hush-hush (referring to the secrecy preceding its debut), touring fort, traveling turret, whale, aluz and boojum.

COOMBS AND DAUBERT WILL NOT HAVE TO SIGN

Rucker, Olsen and Cutshaw Are Slated to go — Recruits May Oust Johnson
New York, Nov. 5.—Jake Daubert and Jack Coombs are the only members of the Brooklyn National League champions who will not have to sign the papers again if they are members of the Dodgers when the 1917 flag chase starts.
And, if Wilbert Robinson has anything to do with it, there are a few of the other Dodgers who will be homeless.
Nap Rucker, veteran of many a campaign and for a long time the only asset of the Dodgers, is one of the many who has run out of his term with the Brooklyn. Nap may be back and he may be Robinson's regular catcher.
Robinson declared when he left for his home in Baltimore that there were weak points in his club which must be strengthened if the team is to make any kind of a showing next year, and it is more than probable that a couple of these changes will come in the infield.
Ivan Olson, despite his determination and his fighting spirit, seems booked for a new berth, and the same might be said of George Cutshaw, for George undoubtedly checked under the strain in the world's series.
Cutshaw's slip-up probably will get attention, if for no other reason than its mood effect on the Dodgers.
The outfield is destined to have at least one new performer. There are many who do not consider Jimmy Johnson of big league calibre and he probably will surrender his job to Hi Myers. There are several recruits who are expected to have the call over Johnson.

SPORT NEWS OF THE DAY HOME AND ABROAD

FOOTBALL
Will Drill Harvard.
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 5.—Tomorrow Percy Haughton will again take up his task of preparing the Harvard football team for next Saturday's game against the Princeton Tigers. Work for this game has been going on for a week already, the Virginia match Saturday revealing nothing new in the way of football on Harvard's part.
Snow, the Harvard right guard, was banged up a little, but Harter was not hurt, and that Wheeler and Sweeder came through the first half without being injured makes every one at Cambridge happy. The regular line had just enough work to round out the week's drill, and the substitutes picked up the play where the regulars left off. Murray's fine work as field general was a very encouraging feature of the game, while Minot and Wilcox showed extraordinary ability as open field runners.
Because of Snow's injury, Clark and Dadmun again will be the regular guards, although whether Clark will go back to the right wing will not be decided finally until later in the week. Harvard has plenty to do to get ready for Princeton, particularly on its defensive game, which, since the Tufts match a month ago, has not been tested in the least.
Princeton Getting Ready.
Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5.—Princeton will start hard work tomorrow in preparation for the Harvard game to be played next Saturday, and there is a little more confidence in the Tiger camp over the probable outcome. Although there were many flaws in the Tigers' play against Bucknell, there were signs of improvement, too, and Coach Rush expressed himself as more satisfied with the team's showing than with the stand made against Dartmouth on the previous Saturday. A week of hard work is in order for the entire squad and some improvement should be made by next Saturday.
No serious injuries were suffered by any of the Tigers in the Bucknell contest, and unless some one is hurt in the scrimmage this week, Rush should be able to send his strongest aggregation against the Crimson. Ames, who has not been in since the Dartmouth game, will be in shape to start practice this week, and his appearance will practically complete the squad of first string men. Eberstadt is still nursing some bruises and may not be able to play in the Harvard game.
Princeton will probably have three scrimmages this week and complete hard preparation on Thursday morning. In all probability the team will leave Princeton for Cambridge Friday morning.

CANADIAN CYCLE RIDERS FEARED IN BOSTON RACE

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—Promptly at four o'clock this afternoon a pistol shot sent eleven teams away in Boston's annual six day bike race, at the Boston Arena. For sixty hours thereafter these twenty-two bikers will vie for the plaudits of the crowd, snap every opportunity at lap stealing and gradually prepare themselves for the great and final sprints on next Saturday night. Sixed up individually or collectively, the field looms up as one of the best ever gathered together for a race of its kind in this city. Because of their past brilliant performances in long distance races, the Australian-American team of Alf. Grand and Al Goulet has been made the favorite. Goulet was born in Australia, but is now a naturalized American citizen, and as such he wants to be known. Hence the Australian-American team.
The Spencer brothers, Arthur and Willie, who hail from Toronto, are another double to be feared. If these boys stick through to the final day, Arthur will give them all a go in that final sprint. He has scored quite a few victories over Goulet and was considered a sensation at Newark last summer.
Racing will be held each day from four in the afternoon until two the following morning, except on Tuesday and Thursday nights, which will be known as Owl nights. Racing on Owl nights will commence at 7:00 and continue until 6:30 the next morning.

TENNIS
Nap Champion to U. S.
New York, Nov. 6.—Ichya Kumagai, the son of Nippon, who caused such a surprise in eastern tennis circles during the past season, will probably be an early contestant in the tournaments hereabouts next year. Kumagai is thinking seriously of taking up residence here and entering the field of business. He will probably come to this country early in April, and will therefore be a contestant in many of the early season fixtures. Last season he did not make his eastern debut until the playing of the New York state championship.
During the early season there was much doubt of Kumagai's real worth as a player, but later on his success stood out so prominently that he seems assured of a place in the first ten. His presence here for an entire season will give zest to the playing of the tournaments next year. As yet there is no word as to whether Kumagai's doubles partner, Mikami, will come to the United States.

BILLIARDS
Woman Will Compete for Title.
New York, Nov. 6.—Miss Clara Catherine Hayward, probably the most prominent woman billiardist in the country, may be a contestant in the National Amateur championship when that event is played during the coming season, and if her determination holds it will be the first time that a woman has ever contested for the chief honors among amateurs. Miss Hayward, who lives at Cynwyd, Penn., has been instructed by Harry F. Cline, and under his tutelage has advanced to the point where she can master some of the best of the men contestants. Her play in her home has thus far been confined to a 12 by 9 table, her only practice on the regulation 5 by 10 table having been in the academies.
Her father has now made arrangements to install the championship size table and if her practice measures up to the high standard which she has shown in exhibition matches Miss Hayward will undoubtedly test her skill against the leading men of the game in the championship event. Under the present rules of the championship there is nothing to prevent the competition of a woman, provided, of course, she can attain the mark in average set for Class A competition.
Recently, in this city, Miss Hayward gave an impressive exhibition at Daly's Academy, when she defeated both William Gerniel and Robert Weld in an 18.2 competition. Her average at this type of game is consistently 8, and at straight rail she can raise the average to 12. One who saw her play in the match at Daly's, himself an expert billiardist, says of her that it is marked by unusual skill, and that her stroke is more solid than would be expected of a woman.

BY-LAW MATTERS
Several by-law reports against citizens were taken up by the police magistrates this morning. William Daley was reported for going beyond the rail at the I. C. R. depot in soliciting passengers. Policeman Smith's evidence was denied by Daley. He was given time to summon witnesses. Philip Towson was reported in a like case, but on a different occasion. This case will come up again this afternoon.
George W. Slocum was reported for not sounding his automobile horn at the corner of Sydney and Waterloo streets. He was fined $10.
Daniel Doherty, reported for going beyond the rail at the station, was told that he would be fined the full amount, $20. He pleaded guilty.
J. Eldon Wilson was before the court on two charges, that of leaving his car standing in Germain street between 12 o'clock and 12:45 p.m. without any lights and also with driving around the square at

FROM BOMB. H. S. PHILLIPS
Mrs. Henry Phillips of 187 Brussels street, received a letter from her husband, Bombarrier H. S. Phillips, stating he was in the best of health and had gone to the firing line with a battery to which he was transferred from the 4th Siege Battery. He wishes to be remembered to his friends.
THE LATE WILFRID SHANNON
Many friends learned with regret of the death of Wilfred Shannon which occurred on Monday night after a lingering illness. Although he had been in poor health for some time the end was unexpected. He is survived by two brothers, Capt. Urban J. Shannon of the 1st Contingent and Roy at home, and two sisters, Misses Edna and Zita, also at home. Mrs. Gordon M. Caskill, Little River, is his aunt and James T. Shannon of Providence, R.I., an uncle.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON
On Tuesday evening the young ladies' class of the Victoria street Baptist church held its annual meeting at the home of Miss Wheaton, Metcalf street. The season just closed has been one of marked success for the class. The treasurer's report shows a deposit of $80 in the bank. The class voted to make a contribution to the Women's Missionary Society of the Victoria street church, and also a contribution to charity—either in their own church or some institution of the city. The officers for the season of 1916-1917 are: President, Mrs. E. H. Fiewelling (teacher of class); 1st vice-president, Eda Wheaton; 2nd vice-president, Hazel Reicker; secretary, Hilda Webb; treasurer, Jennie Starkey; auditors, Grace Fiewelling and Belle Vanward. On Thursday evening, Nov. 9, the class will hold a concert under the management of Miss Bertie Campbell. At the close of the session the hostess served delightful refreshments.

IS FINED $50 FOR SUPPLYING DRINK TO SOLDIERS
In the police court this morning Samuel Levine was charged with supplying liquor to soldiers in uniform. He pleaded not guilty. The policeman said that he had seen Levine hand a parcel to a soldier near the Christmas parcels depot of the King Edward Hotel last year. He had sold two bottles to the defendant yesterday afternoon. Two bottles were found in the parcel. The court imposed the full penalty of $50.
Winifred Hampton was remanded on a charge of drunkenness and refusing to pay for a meal in Robert Henderson restaurant in Market Square.
William Leonard, for being drunk in Main street and driving a motor car, was fined $5 for the first charge and $10 on the second.
Russel Kierstead, charged with theft of an overcoat from George Nutter, in Kings county, pleaded guilty, and also with the theft of trousers and shoes from the Warner mill in Chesley street. The evidence will be submitted this afternoon in this case. The coat was recovered by Detectives Barrett and Bridges.
Several other prisoners charged with drunkenness were before the court. Some were fined and some were remanded.

HEARS INDIRECTLY THAT SON IS ALIVE
Pte. Herman Ryan Was Reported Dead of Wounds
That Was Six Months Ago—Now Comrade Writes Home That He Has Seen Him in England, Just Out of the Hospital
To receive official word from Ottawa that a son had died of wounds, and then six months afterwards, indirectly find out that he was still alive, was the experience of Mrs. J. Sheehan of 8 St. Paul street with regard to her son, Private Herman Ryan, twenty-two years old. At the outbreak of the war he was among the first to don the uniform and crossed to England with the first contingent as a member of the 12th battalion, and was later transferred to the 14th, with which unit he was fighting on May 7, 1916, when he was supposed to have been struck by the fatal bullet.
The last letter received by the mother was written in April, about three weeks prior to the date of his being wounded. The word that Private Ryan was still alive and looking fairly well was received through Mrs. G. C. Pierce of Mill street, who had received a letter from her son, Private Howard Pierce, formerly of the 110th battalion, saying that he had met Private Ryan in England, and that he had just come out of hospital, and although badly scarred, yet was looking fairly well, and that he expected to return to Canada at an early date.
Private Ryan was in the employ of the Royal Hotel prior to going overseas and has many friends in the city who will be greatly overjoyed to hear of this news.

THE CATHOLIC INSTITUTE
Last evening in the Knights of Columbus' rooms, a meeting of the board of directors of the new Catholic Institute was held. An executive was appointed, consisting of Judge H. O. McInerney, R. O'Brien, George Cunningham, Alfred Dever and J. F. Owens. Several matters of importance were dealt with, including the matter of securing a physical director and the appointment of a permanent secretary, who would devote all his time to the position. There are several instructors in sight, but none has been selected yet.
A schedule of charges was arranged and the fees are—Boys, $1.25; junior members, $2.50; ordinary members, $5; associated members, $8; young men, $5; and business men, $10. Following the meeting all the members viewed the building and it was pronounced a fine, up-to-date and modern gymnasium in every respect. The formal opening will take place with the holding of the annual Cathedral high tea.

The Man In The Street
Without detracting from his admiration for the others, the Man in the Street is willing to admit that the 222nd Battalion is as fine a looking lot of soldiers as St. John has had the pleasure of welcoming.
After reading the report of Professor Prince's lecture last evening we venture to express the hope that St. John people will refrain from wasting any more whales.
The gang who stole a scow and made off with a hundred tons of coal evidently are qualifying for places in the ranks with the other coal barons.
If these gentlemen are still at large it might be a good plan to nail your house down before leaving it unguarded.
But their methods are a bit crude; the high-cost-of-living artists are taking all our money away from us and doing it without the risk of going to jail.
German battleship hit by dreadnought," is the Standard's way of telling that the enemy craft had been struck by a torpedo from a British submarine. Sound like "some collision." Don't they know the difference between a torpedo and a dreadnought?
If the Standard staff could profit by their evidently careful study of the columns of this paper they might learn how to get out a good paper.
By Easy Stages
He was standing outside a saloon with a wistful expression on his face as he gazed at the array of bottled goods displayed within.
"What's the matter? Haven't you got the price?" asked a friend.
"Yes, I've got the price and I've got the thirst, but I'm not taking anything this evening."
"On the water wagon now?"
"No, as a regular passenger, just for a little ride," was the answer. "You see, I've doped it out this way: I've been averaging half-a-dozen drinks a day and it struck me that I was going to miss that half-dozen when prohibition strikes St. John next May. Well, it's just six months till then so I figured out that if I cut out one a day this month, take one less next month and kept on at that rate, I'd be on the water wagon of my own accord by May and never feel the loss. The idea seems good enough, but I guess I'll have to save one or two of my morning drinks for the evenings."

Their Only Tune
The returned soldier was talking to a member of one of the local patriotic societies and the lady asked him if he got his parcel mail after we had sampled the cakes and the chocolates, we decided to have a little music and we started in, all together, to play 'O Canada' and, do you know those month thing those month organs would play was 'The Watch On the Rhine.'
"What do you mean?" asked the startled lady.
"Well, we didn't know what it meant any more than you do. We tried and tried and another band would those blessed month organs play. Then we began to examine them to find out what was the trouble and we found it. Every last one of them was marked 'Made in Germany.'"
Are We Friendly?
This story is told of a couple of young soldiers who arrived in the city with a battalion from another part of Canada. Evidently they had heard that St. John people are a friendly lot and always ready to welcome the soldiers, and they were prepared to take the city according to its reputation. They were a couple of nice looking boys with honesty and friendliness plainly portrayed on their countenance and they started out to meet the folk.
They were walking down King street and making experiments in friendliness. Two young ladies approached and the boys saluted in a most respectful manner and voiced a mild "hello." The girls glanced at them in a manner betokening surprise and kept on their way.
"That's not so awfully friendly," said one soldier to the other.
"Still they were not downhearted and, as two more young ladies came along, they were greeted with a friendly smile. This time they did not even get a glance.
"That's what I'd call the icy mitt," said Tommy to his pal.
Another group of ladies approached and again the boys attempted to show that they were ready for a display of the famous St. John brand of friendliness, but again the results were discouraging.
"Say," said one to the other, as a possible explanation struck him. "Perhaps you have to be introduced before you're allowed to speak to people in this town."
Where He Fitted
It was quite a different kind of approach which another chap made—and a more interesting reception he met—the other evening. A girl was standing at the corner of Charlotte street waiting for a car or something, when a would-be masher sidled up to her.
"Say, girly," he murmured with a leering grin, "Would you like to have my photograph?"
"Your photograph?" queried the girl, who evidently was accustomed to taking care of herself without any aid from the police. "Now, I don't want your photograph; my dog album is full already, and you'd better beat it before the dog-catcher takes you back to your kennel."
