FATAL ACCIDENT

Fell Fifty Feet to Instant Death

A CARAQUET MAN

Ovide Landry, 24 Years old and Unmarried, is the Unfortunate

A shocking accident occurred on Saturday afternoon, by which Ovide Landry, 24 years of age, a native of Caraquet, N. B., who lived at 2019 Notre Dame street, met a violent death in the Earl's Ice Company's storehouse, at 138 Murray street.

The deceased fell a distance of 50 feet, his skull being fractured, and his legs and arms broken. Death was instantaneous.

Landry in order to reach the top of the ice house, had his comrades hoist him up by a rope. He was holding to the rope with both hands and had reached the top, when his hands were crushed in the pulley. In endeavoring to save himself he made a dive for the loophole. He was unsuccessful and fell head first to the ground.

His fellow employees tried to catch him and if possible, break the fall but it was impossible, as the descent was made with great rapidity. He struck the ground with great force and expired a few moments later. The Notre Dame Hospital ambulance was called, but medical aid was of no avail and the body was taken to the morgue, where an inquest was held.

The victim of the accident was married. —Staff

Another Accident on Locomotive No 239

I. C. R. locomotive No 239, the unlucky, hooded, haunted engine, which has gone through so many wrecks and smashups, and is now being repaired since her latest escape, was the scene of another accident in the I. C. R. shops this morning.

Shortly after the wreck at Oxford Junction, when Driver McKinley lost his life, and his engine No 239 was badly smashed up, the unfortunate locomotive was placed for repairs in the I. C. R. shops. This morning, Mr. Charles O'Neill, boiler-maker, assisted by helper Eliaire LeBlanc, was taking some rivets out of the boiler. In this operation, a heavy sledge hammer was being used, operated by LeBlanc. Suddenly the heavy hammer head became detached from the handle as LeBlanc swung it through the air, and flew directly for Mr. O'Neill, striking him a heavy blow on the forehead.

The unfortunate man was rendered unconscious, and a bad wound inflicted. He was conveyed to his home on Foundry street and Dr. Myers summoned. Several stitches were put in the wound. No serious results are anticipated. —Transcript

WINTER SPORT.

The Skating Season Opened Saturday Evening.

RINKS SELECTED.

And Everything in Readiness for Match for Skips Cup.

The skating season opened on Saturday evening in the C. G. Rink when a large number donned the steel blades to enjoy the first skate of the season under cover. The ice was in good condition and the management are to be congratulated on being the first rink in the province to secure ice this season.

The nights fixed upon for skating are the same as last year—Monday and Saturday with every third Friday for the Hockey Club. The hockey club will likely have some new men on the ice this year and some interesting sport is looked for.

In curling there is a decided interest awakened many of the veterans ghosting the rink already and getting into practice.

A meeting of the skips was recently held for the purpose of selecting rinks. The make-up of the rinks are given below with the skips to play in the first series in opposite columns—

Catarrah is Certainly Curable

In fact it is one of the most curable diseases if fragrant healing Catarrh-ozone is used. No matter how long you have suffered with Catarrh you can be perfectly cured by inhaling the antiseptic vapor of Catarrh-ozone, which strikes at the foundation of the trouble and establishes such a healthy condition in the system that catarrhal germs simply can't exist. "I suffered from catarrh of the nose and throat for years," writes S. H. Downie of Plattsville. "My nostrils were always stuffed up and I had a most disagreeable hacking cough. Catarrh-ozone cured me completely." Catarrh-ozone never fails. Two months treatment $1.00; trial size 25c.

THE NEW BOAT.

I. N. Company's Steamer Ready for Launching.

DECEMBER 21ST.

Such is the Word Received This Week From the Glasgow Builders.

Those interested in the Interprovincial Company, and the citizens generally will be glad to hear that the work of constructing the new steamer is progressing very rapidly. Word was received this week that the boat will be ready to put into the water on the 21st of this month. This is certainly rushing matters along at a lively rate, and hardly seems possible to the uninitiated, but is the general way of doing things with the big Glasgow firm who have the contract in hand. Indications are that the steamer will be ready for delivery in good time to commence work next season.

C. E. SOCIAL

The Christian Endeavor Society had Enjoyable Time Monday Evening

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church held a very enjoyable social in the W. C. T. U. hall on Monday evening. Nearly 120 persons were present. The following programme was well rendered, each number receiving well merited applause;

Address by W. F. Yonston
Chorus
Solo by W. M. McKenzie
Recitation by Miss Jean Morton
Solo by R. H. Anderson
Violin solo by Miss Lavellie
Recitation by Miss Mary Reid
Solo by Miss Sadie Fawcett

A novel feature of the evening and one that added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion, was the guessing contest. Each person present was given a card with a pictorial or other representation of some town or country upon it, and the person making the highest number of correct guesses was to be given a prize. The result showed that Mrs. Jas. Miller and Miss Irene Carrieff were ties and accordingly each received a prize. Lunch was served about ten o'clock, after which the gathering dispersed.

A motion was adopted instructing the Council to prepare a memorial to be forwarded to the Department of Public Works at Ottawa in regard to the need of proper terminal facilities at Campbellton for the Interprovincial Navigation Company's new steamer.

On motion it was decided to petition the Town Council for the use of their rooms in which to hold meetings.

Mr. Albert Stewart of Bathurst, who has been employed by the Harnsworth Company of London, Eng., in arranging for the transfer of extensive timber properties in Newfoundland which will be utilized by that company for pulp manufacturing purposes arrived home from the Ancient Colony last week. Mr. Stewart informs the Advocate that the negotiations with Mr. Whitney and his associates, the former owners of the properties, have been practically completed. In a few weeks Mr. Stewart will return to Newfoundland to meet the representatives of the English firm who are coming out to close the deal and start operations. A STORY WITH A MORAL

Recently in a popular weekly there appeared in two installments a short story, which in its appeal to the student of human character is scarcely less forcible than the realistic productions of the imaginative Balzac. The theme and characters, while not by any means original, are deftly and originally handled. In fact the novelty of treatment gives the story distinction. There are three characters and we will first deal with them separately. The most important one—if we accept his own estimation of himself—is a very wealthy young man of gentility. He is wedded to the form and convention of the ultra smart world and unwedded to any sort of manual labor. The next character in importance is his fiancée, whose chief conformity to good forms we take it, is found in her entrancing contours. Unlike her fiancée she is of a decidedly romantic turn of mind. The other character is a man servant who possesses many qualities not to be found in the average person of his station in life. He is handsome, educated, tactful and like the woman in this story is quite ready to meet the demands of a romantic situation. In short he is chiefly distinguished for his gallantry. Well, the rich young man, his fiancée and his servant as a result of a yacht wreck are cast away on an uninhabited island in the southern Pacific, far from the tracks for ocean vessels. Immediately the servant "gets busy" and in an incredible short time erects a suitable abode for the young woman. He also cooks good meals and makes himself generally useful. The rich young man does what he can, which is very little. He finds it extremely hard to reconcile himself to the exigencies of the situation. He attempts to treat his servant in the same manner as he would in civilization and even goes so far as to tip him for a slight favor. He regrets that he is without his evening clothes; declines to enter the hut of his fiancée because it is her "boudoir" and even excuses himself for fainting from over exertion. In fact he acts in a perfectly ridiculous, though conscientious manner. The woman chafes under the extreme restraint exercised by her affianced husband and longs to take advantage of the opportunity offered for extreme relaxation. She begins to admire the splendid physique and capacity for work of the servant. While the rich young man sleeps at night the servant steps up to the door of her hut. He sits on the stoop and she sits near him. The conversation invariably takes a romantic turn, and it does not take the servant long to discover that he can be happier on that island than he possibly could be in civilization. Under the influence of a full moon the girl tacitly agrees to marry the servant providing the trio form a government. On the following day the unsuspecting rich young man is a party to the formation of a government. Alas! Just as this ceremony is concluded a ship heaves in sight and in answer to a flag of distress a boat is lowered and sent to affect a rescue of the three castaways. On the arm of the rich young man the woman greets the rescuers. The servant follows at a respectable distance with the luggage in each hand. It will not be difficult to imagine the state of his feelings. There is plenty of food for thought in this story and we should like to have seen it followed to its logical conclusion. It would be well for prospective bridegrooms to profit by the moral and contrive to be cast away on a lonely island in company with their fiancée and a handsome young man.

No less than forty two hunters met death in the state of Wisconsin during the game season which closed on Nov 30. The deaths were due to carelessness. Wisconsin is evidently the state of careless people.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT.

"The darker the criminal, the lighter the punishment," writes a philosophic friend in commenting on our observations of last week on "crime and punishment." I quite agree with you, he says, "that a man reared amid the influence of refinement and respectability should not receive the same punishment for a crime committed in a moment of weakness as that which is meted out to a hardened and habitual criminal. There should indeed be a very great distinction made."

Yes, and we believe the time is drawing near when such distinction will be made. It is not a question as to whether the punishment fits the crime, but a question as to whether the punishment fits the criminal. This, it seems to us should be the all important law governing the conduct of jurists. There are at the present time in the province of Ontario, three or four men under indictment for a serious offence. Previous to the disclosures which brought about their arrest they were citizens in good standing. Doubtless they have already suffered much. Will the province of Ontario or Canada in general be at all benefited by these men undergoing lengthy terms of imprisonment? Again have these men violated an obligation to their fellow citizens, which if any greater than that which, if disclosed, merely disqualifies a member of parliament and does not imprison?

Apologies of reciprocity between Canada and the United States, a conductor of the Boston elevated refused to accept a Canadian gold note from a fair Toronto passenger and addressed her in an extremely humiliating way. Again, six Sydney hotels refused lodging to Prof. Graham Bell's colored valet. Reciprocity! Ha, ha!

TREATMENT OF CONVICTS.

It is pleasing to note that such an eminent journal as "The Medical Press," inclines to our way of thinking on the subject of "crime and punishment." "The Medical Press" is peculiarly fitted to deal with the subject. The physician studies crime and vice from a scientific standpoint in a measure, as symptoms of a disease, and, therefore views them rather from a curative than a punitive point of view. "The Medical Press" says: "The desire for revenge and for punishment is now of the most elemental of human forces, and the sheer stupidity of giving it unrestricted play in dealing with delinquents has been demonstrated in the criminal annals of every country that possesses annals. Humanity in the treatment of offenders has shown itself to be not only the right but the wise course, and the old savage punishments are, happily, passing out of fashion."

The report of the British Directors of Convict prisons recently issued pays special attention to the treatment of juvenile prisoners. It dwells on the working of the so-called "Juvenile-Adult" system recently organized at Borstal. This system was inaugurated as an experiment to exploit the plan of treating young criminals with a view to curing, instead of merely punishing, them. From the London prisons were collected cases of youths sentenced to terms of imprisonment of six months and upwards, and these were put to learn useful trades, such as carpentering and brick-laying, under beneficent supervision, instead of performing the old routine of purposeless prison tasks. The conduct of prisoners under the new set of circumstances completely changed; they showed great anxiety to improve, and they were granted extra privileges, became great readers and good chess players. Nor was this improvement only temporary. So far, a hundred and twenty-two "juvenile-adults" have been discharged, and of these fifty-four are now known to be in employment and leading useful lives, whilst thirty have been lost sight of. Of the remainder only twenty-four have been reconvicted and fourteen are still unplaced.

It must be taken into account that the offenders included in the foregoing experiment are bred in the worse sections of London, under the worse possible conditions and many of them had already been convicted several times before and served time. If such results can be produced under such circumstances how much better results should be anticipated where boys do not belong to the vicious class and have, in nine out of ten cases, been led astray by bad example. Our whole contention is this, if you are going to correct, which of course you should, do it in such a way as not to make reform impossible and jeopardise their whole future.

NEW MATERIAL NEEDED.

The congregation of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, this city, has extended a call to Rev. A. M. Hubley, of Sussex, (N. B.) to become their pastor. Belleville, Ont. Despatch.

NOT BY ORDINARY MEANS.

We are told that Mrs. Leroy Chadwick, a leader of Cleveland's smart set, obtained fabulous sums of money as "loans" from wealthy bankers without giving any security. We have not yet been told how Mrs. Chadwick managed to obtain such loans. At this writing Herbert B. Newton, a Boston Banker, who loaned Mrs. Chadwick $190,000 and subsequently sued her in order to recover the amount, is likely to have his claim satisfied. We are inclined to believe that Mrs. Chadwick was in a position to give excellent security for all the loans she received and that her creditors were satisfied for a time with the knowledge of this fact. But after a time it seems that one or two began to get a trifle uneasy, hence the suits of Mr. Newton and others. We judge that Mrs. Chadwick's means of providing security for loans was not of the ordinary kind.

MR. RUSSELL'S SELFISHNESS.

David Russell of Montreal admits that he induced Mr. Blair to resign his position as Chairman of the Railway Commission. Mr. Russell does not offer an explanation to the Canadian public as to why he became the self appointed ruler of Mr. Blair's destinies. We are inclined to believe that the Canadian public should demand a satisfactory reason for Mr. Russell's action in tampering with public servants. We have been told that no one available possesses the capabilities of Mr. Blair for the position of Chairman of the Railway Commission. If such is the case the Canadian people have suffered a distinct loss through the personal ambition of one, David Russell. It certainly goes without saying that Mr. Russell's conduct was of a distinctly selfish nature and that the notorious promoter of Abbey's Salt is not in the least public spirited.

Let our newly organized board of trade inaugurate an energetic campaign on behalf of an extension of our telephone system.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONES
Supt Hoyt of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, who was here yesterday, was asked by a reporter of the Advocate if his company contemplated an extension of the long distance service to Campbellton. Mr. Hoyt stated that the matter was under consideration but that nothing definite had yet been decided upon.

We judge from the foregoing paragraphs that Campbellton will have direct telephone connection with St John within a reasonably short time. The fact that the project is now under consideration is a sufficient guarantee of the early establishment of such a service. The line would doubtless be constructed along the line of the I. C. R. from Newcastle to Bathurst and thence along the road leading to Petit Rocher, Belledune, Yacquet River, Nash's Creek, Black Point, New Mills, Charley, Eel River, Dalhousie, Jct. Dalhousie and Campbellton. We are inclined to think that the maintenance of a long distance telephone service which would tap the above points would prove highly remunerative to its promoters and we are confident that such a service will be established at an early date. It is a matter which our newly organized board of trade might profitably deal with.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK?

Let your morning urine stand for 24 hours in a glass or vessel, and then if it is milky or cloudy, or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased. If the kidneys are well they filter just so much blood, but if they are sick or weak from any cause, they leave the poison in the blood, and this poison affects the entire system.

It is natural to pass urine three times a day, but many who regard themselves as healthy are obliged to pass water six to ten times daily and are obliged to get up frequently during the night. They have sick kidneys and bladder and don't know it. Smith's Buchu Lithia Pills cure Rheumatism and all Kidney and Bladder diseases, and make new, rich blood.

We will send you a generous sample post paid free, together with our large book on the above mentioned diseases. Address, W. P. Smith Co., 185 St. James Street, Montreal, Canada.

Uncle Terry

CHARLES CLARK MUNN

Copyright, 1900, by LEE & SHEPARD

CHAPTER XXVI.

His one point of pride in Nicholas Fry's nature was his absolute belief in his own shrewdness. "They can't get the best of me," he would say to himself when he had won an unusually knotty case. He knew he was both hated and feared by his fellow members of the bar. Being hated he didn't mind, and being feared flattered his vanity to an intense degree. When Uncle Terry put himself in his power and, like a good natured old sheep, stood to be shorn, Fry only laughed at his client's stupidity and set out to continue the robbery as long as possible. Messrs. Thygeson & Co. of Stockholm, who had first employed him to hunt up an heir to the estate of old Eric Peterson, whose son Nels and his young wife had been lost on the coast of Maine, feared no better. To them he only stated that he had found several promising leads and was following them as rapidly as possible, but it all cost money, and they would "kindly" send a draft on account for necessary expenses, etc. When Albert had taken away his best client the old scoundrel suffered the worst blow to his vanity he ever received. "Curse the fellow," he would say to himself. "I'll pay him and have revenge if I live long enough. No man ever got the best of me, and in the long run no man ever shall."

But there is a Nemesis that follows evil doers in this world, ready to strike with an invisible hand all who are lost to the sense of right and just. In Fry's case the avenging goddess lurked in his inordinate belief in his own shrewdness, coupled with a fatuous vision of advancement. September when wheat was selling in Chicago at 90 cents, Fry bought 50,000 bushels on a margin. France and Germany growled, and wheat rose to 94. Fry sold, clearing $2,000. Then it dropped a cent, and Fry bought a hundred thousand bushels more. Once again the war cloud grey black, and wheat rose to 98. The papers were full of wild rumors, and the Wall Street Eagle said wheat would look cheap at a dollar and a half inside of a month. Then it advanced to $1, and Fry lost his head. His holdings showed a profit of $5,000, and giddy riches stared him in the face. Once more the two bellicose foreign powers growled and showed their teeth. Wheat rose another cent, and Fry doubled his holdings. Then the powers that had growled smiled faintly, and in one day wheat fell to 93 and was still falling. At every drop of a cent he was called upon for $2,000. Day by day it vibrated, now going up a cent and then dropping two, and when Uncle Terry and Albert were discussing how to checkmate his further robbing of the lightning-keeper he was, with muttered curses, watching his ill-gotten gains vanish to the tune of many thousands of dollars per diem. He neglected his business, went without his meals and forgot to shave. He had mortgaged his real estate for $20,000, and that was nearly gone. Wheat was now down to 80, and France and Germany were shaking hands. Fry could not sleep nights. His margins were almost exhausted and his resources as well. He had put up $40,000, and if wheat fell 3 cents more it would be all swept away. Then he executed a second mortgage at high interest and waited. It was the last shot in his locker, and all that stood between him and ruin, but wheat advanced 2 cents, and he began to hope. He had absolutely ignored business for two weeks, and now he went to work again. To collect the little due him and raise all the money he could was his sole thought. He wrote to Thygeson & Co. that he had at last found the heir they were in search of and described what proofs he held, at the same time stating that on receipt of his fee of a thousand dollars all and sufficient proofs of identity of the claimant would be forwarded. Then he wrote to Uncle Terry and demanded $200 more. September wheat had now fallen to 75.

CHAPTER XXVII.

BLANCH NASON, Frank's younger sister, was his good friend and sympathizer and in all the family discussions had usually taken his part. His elder sister, Edith, was, like her mother, rather arrogant and supercilious, and considered her brother as lacking in family pride and liable to disgrace them by some unfortunate alliance. It was to Blanch he always turned when he needed sympathy and help, and it was he appeared the day after he had left the Gypsy. His coming to the mountains surprised her not a little.

"Why, what has brought you here, Frank?" she asked. "I thought you were having high jinks down in Maine on the yacht with your cronies."

"Oh, that is played out," he answered. "The boys are at Bar Harbor, having a good time. Bert is at a little un-pleasant place saying sweet things to a pretty girl he found there, and I got homesick, so I came up here to see you and get you to help me."

"I thought so," answered Blanch, laughing. "You never did come to me unless you wanted help. Well, you are the girl now, and what do you want?"

"Frank looked surprised. 'How do you know it is a girl?' he asked."

"It usually is with you," she answered, "and you know it." "So out with it," he replied.

"What the girl you wanted us to invite to go on the yacht?" asked Blanch.

"That's the one, and, as you know, she wouldn't come."

"Which shows her good sense," inter-rupted. "Well, what can I do in the matter?"

"Much if you want to, and nothing if you don't," he answered. "The fact

All three sang.

"Yes, I want you to pack a trunk and go with me to call on her. She is mighty proud, and I imagine that is why she turned the cold shoulder on my efforts to get her to come to Boston to meet you all. Now, if you go there, if only for one night, the ice will be broken, and of course you will invite her to visit you and all will go well."

"A nice little scheme," responded Blanch, "but what will mamma and Edie say?"

"Oh, never mind them," answered the plotter. "They need never know it. Just tell them you are going to Sartoga with me for a few days. We will go there if you like, only we will stop off at Sandgate on the way. Now, do this for me, sis, and I'll buy you the earth when Christmas comes."

"Well, you will have to stay here until Monday," said Blanch, "and be real nice to mamma and Edie all the time, or I can't fix it. Lucky for you, Master Frank, that they are out driving now."

"But why must we wait four days?" asked Frank petulantly.

"Because, my love torn brother, in the first place I don't want to miss the Saturday night hop, and then we are booked for a backboard ride tomorrow. Another reason is I mean to pay you for turning your back on us and going off on the Gypsy."

That afternoon Frank wrote Alice the longest letter she had ever received, nine full pages. It was replete with some pleasure and a little vexation by Alice.

"Mr. Nason and his sister are coming here Monday," said she to Aunt Susan, "and we must put on our best bib and tucker. I suppose. But how is he contrived to entertain his sister beyond me?" Nevertheless, she was might pleased at the prospect of a visitation. Her school had been closed for over a month and her daily life was becoming decidedly monotonous. When Albert had written regarding the invitation the Nasons had extended, she believed it was due solely to Frank's influence, and when that young man tried to obtain her consent to join a yachting party, providing his mother and sister decided to go, she was morally sure of it. But it made no difference, for if the supposedly aristocratic Mrs. Nason had sent her a written invitation she was the last person in the world to accept it. To go out of her way for the possible opportunity of allowing the only son of a rich family to pay court to her was not characteristic of Alice Page. Rather a thousand times would she teach school in single blessedness all her life than be considered as putting herself in the way of a probable suitor. Of her own feelings toward Frank she was not at all sure. He was a good looking young fellow and no doubt stood well socially. At first she had felt a little contempt for him, due to his complaints that he had hard work to kill time. When she received the letter announcing his determination to study law and become a useful man in the world she thought better of him. When he came up in June it became clear that he was in love with her. So self evident were his feelings that she at that time felt compelled to avoid giving him a chance to express them. Her heart was sore, always had been entirely free from the pangs of love, and while his devotion was in a way quite flattering, the one insupportable barrier was his family. Had he been more diplomatic he would never have told her his mother frowned at him when he danced twice with a poor girl.

"Why, what has brought you here, Frank?" she asked. "I thought you were having high jinks down in Maine on the yacht with your cronies."

"Oh, that is played out," he answered. "The boys are at Bar Harbor, having a good time. Bert is at a little un-pleasant place saying sweet things to a pretty girl he found there, and I got homesick, so I came up here to see you and get you to help me."

"I thought so," answered Blanch, laughing. "You never did come to me unless you wanted help. Well, you are the girl now, and what do you want?"

"Frank looked surprised. 'How do you know it is a girl?' he asked."

"It usually is with you," she answered, "and you know it." "So out with it," he replied.

"What the girl you wanted us to invite to go on the yacht?" asked Blanch.

"That's the one, and, as you know, she wouldn't come."

"Which shows her good sense," inter-rupted. "Well, what can I do in the matter?"

"Much if you want to, and nothing if you don't," he answered. "The fact color rose in Alice's face, but she turned and played the prelude without a word. When she had sung the first verse, to her surprise Blanch was standing beside her and joined her voice in the next one. When it was finished Frank insisted on a repetition, and after that all three sang a dozen more of the sweet old time songs so familiar to all. Then Alice left the room to bring in a light lunch, and Frank seized the opportunity to say, "Well, sis, what do you think?"

"I think," she replied, "that you were foolish to go yachting at all. If I had been you I should have come up here in the first place, stayed at the hotel and courted her every chance I could. I am in love with her myself, and I haven't been here six hours."

Frank stepped up to her quickly and, taking her face in his hands, kissed her.

CHAPTER XXVIII.
TWO days of Alice's visitation passed like a summer breeze. The first day they drove to the old mill and spent the entire forenoon gathering lilies and watching the great wheel that dripped and clattered between its moss grown walls. It was a curiosity to Blanch, for never in her life had she seen one of those old time landmarks, now so rare. That afternoon they drove to the mountain's top and saw the sunset, only to be late home to Aunt Susan's tea biscuit and cold chicken, and having a surprising appetite. The next day they made a picnic trip to another mountain, leaving the horse half-way and walking the rest of the way. At noon they returned, and beside a cold spring that bubbled beneath a rock they spread their lunch baskets. Then they picked flowers, hunted for wintergreen and decked the horse and wagon with ferns and wreaths of laurel—only simple country pleasures, it is true, but they at least had the charm of newness for two of the party. That evening they sang all sorts of songs from gospel hymns to country operas, and Blanch showed in so many ways that she admired her new found friend that there was no further restraint.

"I wish you would stay with me until my school begins," said Alice at the close of the evening. "If you knew how lonely I am, I am sure you would."

"I might be persuaded to make a longer visit next summer," was the answer. "If you will return this visit next winter. Will you?"

"I won't promise now," answered Alice. "I am afraid I should be out of place in your society. I'm only a country girl, you know."

"I shall feel hurt if you don't," responded Blanch.

"I should like to see that schoolhouse Frank has spoken of several times."

She said a little later, "and that barefoot girl he told about."

It was the first allusion to his interest in her that Blanch had made, and Alice smiled.

"We will drive by where that girl lives tomorrow," responded Alice, "and, if you like, will call and see her. She is the most original little old woman in my school."

I. C. R. COAL PLANT

An Up-to-date Method of Storing Coal

AT MONCTON,
Better Facilities Provided for Assorting Coal Used on Locomotives.

(Moncton Transcript.)
The new coal plant of the I. C. R. is now completed and ready for operation. When the machinery was installed a few months ago, test was made showing that coal could be handled conveniently, avoiding the necessity of shovelling it by hand. During the summer the building and equipment were completed, and this week is the first that the new plant has been used to any extent. The building is now ready for use and is expected to start up by the end of next week, coaling locomotives regularly. A number of carloads of coal have already been stored in the building, and several locomotives have received their supply of coal by the new apparatus. The coal plant machinery is working satisfactorily. There are several advantages in the new method of storing and handling fuel for the road has over the old way.

A Transcript representative visited the plant yesterday afternoon and saw the machinery in operation. From the time the coal is unloaded from the car on which it is brought from the mines, it is stored in large bins and loaded on the tenders without any shovelling. Sand that is used by locomotives is stored, dried and poured into the sand-boxes on the locomotives without any handling except by machinery. After locomotives are brought in from the road and given over to the "hostler," the ashes are washed out of them in a pit alongside of the coal plant. When the ashes are once taken from the locomotive, there is no more need of handling them by hand until taken out on the road on flat cars to be used for ballasting. The new coal plant substitutes a more modern and quicker way of loading tenders with coal than the former method of hauling carloads of coal up on a trestle and then shovelling it all over by hand into the tenders. Heretofore the ashes from locomotives were all shoveled by hand, a task that was not the most congenial to the employees, especially on a cold day in winter, when the ashes, after being washed out

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. If she would be all that she may, she must guard well against the signs of ill health. Mrs. Brown tells her story for the benefit of all wives and mothers.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was and the wonderful results she had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time, I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that, and built up my entire system, till I was indeed like a new woman. Sincerely yours, Mrs. CHAR. F. BROWN, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., Vice President Mothers Club.—40000 forget if signed about letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

would freeze solid with the water oozing out of them and hardening into ice. The new way will overcome inconveniences of that kind.

There is another benefit that will accrue from the handling of coal by the new way, and that is in the mixture of fuel for use on the road. There have been some adverse criticisms about the quality of coal used on the Intercolonial. The Transcript learns that it has not been so much the quality of the coal used as the need of proper facilities for handling it, that has been one drawback. With the new storage plant the coal is assorted according to quality. There are certain kinds of coal that blend well together and there are kinds which do not. As there are some twenty-two different varieties of bituminous coal used on the I. C. R. it will be readily seen that it is necessary to have it properly assorted. When the coal is now loaded in front of the bins, it is stored for use on either express or freight locomotives in two large bins holding about five hundred tons.

The machinery works somewhat on the principle of a grain elevator. Coal is dumped from the cars into a pit and falls in a tunnel underneath the building. Here, it runs into iron buckets, which carry it up sixty-five feet and dump it automatically into the bins. There are 114 of these buckets holding about two bushels each, and they are fastened to a continuous chain which makes one revolution every seven minutes.

The machinery is operated by an engine at the top of the elevator, connected by pipes with the boiler house attached to the plant. The engine running at 110 pounds pressure is capable of driving the entire plant. There is a complete system of electric signals from the engineer to the man in the boiler house and the man in the tunnel where the coal is received in the buckets. Signals to start or stop can be given in an instant from one to the other. The building is fitted up with electric lights and will be open day and night. At night, however, there will be no coal taken up in the elevator. But locomotives can be run in on the tracks alongside of the plant and have the ashes removed from them and their tenders filled with coal.

When coal is wanted for a tender all that is required is to manipulate a large shovel or bucket above the tender. This is done by pulling a chain. The coal runs out of the bins, fills the bucket, and it holds a ton, the bucket.

Dumps the coal into the tender and refills automatically. It requires very few moments to load a tender or unload a car of coal by machinery.

There are three tracks alongside of the plant; one on which cars are run in for unloading, and the other two are used for picking up and supplying locomotives with coal one for express and the other for freight locomotives.

The elevator is capable of handling large pieces of coal. At the bottom of the pit through which the coal falls into the tunnel, there is an opening about 20 inches square. A piece of coal that can go through that aperture can be carried up in the elevator.

The coal plant is situated in the west end of the yard, in line with many of the improvements that have been made recently about the I. C. R. at Moncton.

The plant is now running under the supervision of Mr. Fred Seely, engineer.

Third Fleet for the Pacific Russians Begin Bombardment

Tokio, Dec. 3.—The first armistice between the combatants at Port Arthur was declared on Dec. 3 for the purpose of burying the dead. It lasted for a period of six hours.

In pursuance of instructions from the home government at London regarding opiating facilities to the Japanese, either directly or indirectly, notice has been issued that no vessels shall be supplied with coal without the permission of the local government.

Antwerp, Dec. 3.—Russia is expected to be again seeking steamers for the dispatch of provisions and ammunition to Vladivostok. It is stated in shipping circles here that the offers have been as high as $2250 a ton, including a risk of capture.

Tangier, Dec. 3.—The Russian cruiser Dniyver and two torpedo boats have arrived here from St. Petersburg. Dec. 3.—The press again this morning returns to the question of sending a third squadron to reinforce Admiral Rozhkovsky. The Novo Vremya is particularly vehement and declares that the best ships of the Black Sea fleet, the Rostislav, Knispolevkin, Tavrichesky and Frisavirtelina (three saints) should at once be dispatched to join the Pacific squadron and with an outposts known uncommon with Russian newspapers says:—"It is not believed that the fleet is in no condition to start, but if so its preparations should be put in the hands of those with energy and money to rush it to a successful conclusion, unhampered by officials of red tape."

Tokio, Dec. 3, Noon.—It is the general opinion here that the Port Arthur fleet will attempt to make a sortie when the harbor becomes untenable or when the Russian plans for escape mature. It is evident that most of the ships are badly damaged and unfit for service, but some have fighting power. The Russians continue mine clearing operations manifestly for the purpose of preserving a means of escape.

Mukden, via Pekin, Dec. 3.—The Russian siege artillery began a bombardment at noon in the region of the railway below Schistens station near Shakhe. The bombardment was continuing heavily throughout the afternoon. A large train of sick and wounded, part of whom were wounded in the light on the East flank went north yesterday indicating that the Russians were preparing for imminent casualties.

Earl and Countess Grey will then proceed to Government House where a state dinner will be given at 9.30 o'clock on Saturday night the Earl and Countess will hold a drawing room reception in the Legislative Council chambers. On Sunday the Governor-General and Countess Grey will attend divine service at Luke's Cathedral and Bishop Worrell will probably preach the sermon.

On Monday afternoon the distinguished visitors will leave on the maritime express for Ottawa. During their stay in Halifax Government House will be illuminated and the city will be decorated with flags.

Let it prove that it does what medicine cannot do. See what a tonic Ligozone—like an excess of oxygen—Then you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do.

This offer itself should convince you that Ligozone does as we claim. We would certainly not buy a bottle and give it to you if there was any doubt of results. You want those results; you want to be well and to keep well. And you can't do that—nobody can—without Ligozone.

We Paid $100,000

Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is this. Learn that it does kill germs. Ligozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter.

There lies the great value of Ligozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Ligozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

For the American rights to Ligozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of different cases, that Ligozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Sink one Russian Battleship at Port Arthur

ANOTHER DAMAGED

They Also Score on Land Fighting Near Mukden

TOKIO, Dec. 7, noon.—It is officially announced that the Russian battleship Poltava has been sunk in the harbor of Port Arthur as a result of the Japanese bombardment and that the battleship Retvizan has been seriously damaged.

The Poltava was an armored turret ship of 10,960 tons displacement and 11,255 indicated horse power. She was built in St Petersburg in 1894 and went into commission in 1898. Her cost of construction was nearly six million dollars. Her armament consisted of four twelve inch, twelve 5.5 inch and thirtyfour smaller calibre breech-loading rifle guns of the Russian Krupp patent. She had a crew of seven hundred men. She had a speed of 16.2 knots. The Retvizan is a battleship of 12,700 tons displacement and 16,000 indicated horse power. She was built in Philadelphia in 1902. Her armament consisted of four 12 inch, twelve six inch, twenty 3 inch, twenty 3 pounder and six 1 pounder guns of the Russian Krupp pattern. Her speed was eighteen knots per hour.

TOKIO, Dec. 7, noon.—The Japanese troops occupied Akasaka Hill, fronting on Port Arthur, yesterday, Dec. 6. The Russian armored cruiser Bayan is reported to be aground.

The commander of the Japanese naval guns in front of Port Arthur telegraphing Dec. 8 says:

"An observation taken from 203 Metre Hill shows that the battleship Poltava is sunk and that the battleship Retvizan is listed heavily to port. Observations taken Dec. 6 covered the results of the bombardment of Dec. 5. Are now taking observations from a height near Shuishi Ying.

"Since Dec. 2 we have daily bombarded the enemy's fleet, lying south of Pat Yu mountain. From that point only the masts and funnel tops of the battleships Pobieda, Retvizan or the cruiser Palea could be seen, so that it is impossible to count the number of our shells taking effect.

"On other ships, explosions resulting from our shells could be seen, but owing to their positions behind hills it was difficult exactly to identify them.

"The total of our shells taking effect on the enemy's ships were as follows:

On a vessel of the Pobieda type, thirtyfour; on the battleship Retvizan or the cruiser Pallada, 34; on the battleship Poltava, eleven; besides these fifty other shells struck from which explosions followed.

"On Dec. 6 seven shells struck the battleship Pobieda and about 3 p. m. a big explosion was observed on the top of Paion mountain, resulting from the effect of our shells evidently on a powder magazine. The successful result of the bombardment is inspiring our men to even greater deeds."

The headquarters of the Japanese army in front of Port Arthur has reported, confirming the disabling of the battleships Poltava and Retvizan and that the cruiser Bayan is aground. The report goes on as follows: "Owing to the plunging fire from 203 Metre Hill the enemy has withdrawn to Akasaka Hill.

"On Dec 6th our forces occupied an entire fort at 1 p. m. Subsequently our forces, after dislodging the enemy, occupied an eminence south Sueth and two eminences north of Santlacham at 3 p. m.

"On Dec 6 at 4 p m in response to the appearance of the enemy's flag of truce, an armistice was granted for the removal of the dead.

P. E. I. ELECTIONS.

Liberals Sweep the Province with Big Majority.

NEW SOLICITOR GENERAL

Hon. F. J. Sweeney Appointed to Vacancy in Provincial Cabinet.

(Special to Events)

Charlottetown, Nov 7.—In the General Provincial Elections to-day the Liberals won by an overwhelming majority. So far as is known twenty-one Liberals and nine Conservatives are elected, but special votes may increase the Liberal majority. Prince County has gone solid Liberal, returning ten members, in some cases by largely increased majorities. Queens County returns eight Liberals and two Conservatives and Kings three Liberals and seven Conservatives. Charlottetown was practically a landslide for the Government, Warburton and Hughes taking the largest majorities ever known in the city. The leader of the Government narrowly escaped defeat, having only six votes to spare and special votes may make his seat still more precarious. Cumiskey, Commissioner of Public Works, is seven votes behind, but special votes may put him in.

New York, Dec 7th.—The climax in the affairs of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadrick came to-night when she was placed under arrest in her apartments at Hotel Beeslin charged with aiding and abetting a bank officer in embezzling $13,000. There was a scene in the woman's apartments when the officials announced to Mrs. Chadrick that she was under arrest.

"The secret service men engaged a room adjoining Mrs. Chadrick's suite and established themselves there for the night, while one of the marshal's men was posted in Mrs. Chadrick's bedroom outside her door, and another in the corridor. Marshall Hendel said he would remain in direct supervision of things all night.

Fredericton, N.B. Dec 7, (special)—At a meeting of the Government this afternoon, Hon Francis J. Sweeney, M. P. P. for Westmorland, who has for two years been a member of the Government, without portfolio, was appointed Solicitor General.

the railway, which began Dec 6 in the morning and reached its height from 3 to 5 in the afternoon. It was unlike anything of the kind heard before except at Port Arthur. The effect is due to the constantly increasing number of shells of large calibre, all of which seemed to be in use at the time. Rumors of a Japanese attack, set for various dates, have been current during the past two weeks, and it was the impression that the bombardment of Dec 6 was in anticipation of a Japanese offensive movement.

To-day the first sleet and snow fell. Tangier, Dec 7.—The Russian cruiser Dnieper, the transport Okean and two torpedo boats sailed eastward to-day. The Dnieper towed the destroyers in order to economize coal. The Russian war vessels have now all left this port.
