GRANT PASSED FOR HOSPITAL

Council Will Ask Legislature To Legislate Payment—Other Business.

A meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening, His Worship Mayor Alexander in the chair, with Councillors McBeath, Chapman, Miller, Harquail, Patterson and Currie present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from the Hotel Dieu Hospital in reference to the protest which had been filed with the council against that body voting a grant to the Hotel Dieu. The communication contained practically the same statements as published in Ratepayer's letter which has already appeared in the local papers. Laid on table.

A communication was read from the Secretary of Agriculture asking the co-operation of the council in assisting to find men to help harvest the crops. Laid on table.

A communication was read from the town solicitor re the legality of the council voting a grant to the Hotel Dieu Hospital. The town solicitor held that under the town's Incorporation Act the council had not the power to vote money for such a purpose; that legislation would be required before such a grant could be legally given. Laid on table.

A communication was read from the McLennan Foundry & Machine Works with further reference to tax exemption. Laid on table.

The usual monthly accounts in the various departments were ordered paid.

Councillor Currie, from the Special Committee appointed to look into the matter of the general management of the town reported that the committee had consulted with the town solicitor regarding the necessary changes in the town's by-laws in order that same could be brought into effect, and read a lengthy report dealing with the changes asked for. This report was laid on table to be dealt with at next meeting of council.

Councillor Harquail then brought up the matter of the Hospital grant, and moved that $400 be voted the Hotel Dieu Hospital after having been approved of by the Legislative Assembly. His motion was seconded by Councillor Miller, and on being put to vote declared carried, Councillor Patterson voting nay.

Considerable discussion took place over the purchase of a Road Plant in which the Councillors were of the unanimous opinion should be procured. During this discussion the matter of permanent streets and sidewalks was gone into, also the manner in which they should be paid for—whether or not we should do a certain amount of permanent work each year out of the assessment, or whether we should issue bonds and do a larger amount of permanent work. It was finally decided that the Finance Committee interview our bankers with regard to the best means to be employed, regarding financing, etc.

Superintendent Farrer of the Electric Lighting Plant reported to the Council the urgent need of a boring bar for the electric lighting station, also the need of a boiler for the steam fire engine which had been condemned by the Boiler Inspector. The electric light committee was authorized to purchase a boring bar at the best possible price, and the Fire Committee authorized to take up the matter of the purchase of a boiler for the fire engine with the manufacturers, and report back to the council.

There being nothing further before the meeting the council adjourned.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR ALL CROPS

General Survey of Conditions in New Brunswick Show Big Increases.

Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 10.—A general survey of crop conditions in New Brunswick shows that, with few exceptions, agricultural products are making a good showing and excellent yields are promised. The labor situation is the only disquieting feature. No estimates of yields can be made yet, but it is probable that the federal department of agriculture will issue a statement containing figures, at an early date. Information has been gathered by the New Brunswick agricultural department, on which a general crop report is based.

In wheat there has been a greatly increased acreage. Last year the acreage sown to wheat was about 16,000 acres. This year the estimated acreage is about 50,000, an increase in the neighborhood of two hundred per cent. In all sections of the province wheat is looking well. Disease has shown itself in certain districts, but not to an alarming degree. Disease is not peculiar to New Brunswick, as all other provinces report its occurrence in their wheat fields.

Oats, which always have formed an important crop in this province, promise pretty well, except in districts where there is very heavy clay, so in the low lands. There the crop will be light. There was a considerable increase in the acreage in 1918.

The potato crop everywhere in New Brunswick is reported to be exceptionally good. Blight has made a slight showing in districts where spraying was not followed up properly. The yield in all parts promises to be high. The acreage of this important crop is not known exactly. In Carleton County, usually the most important potato growing section of the province, there was a reduction in acreage, but in other sections more land was planted to potatoes, so that it is possible that there will not be a reduction in the total.

There is a good average hay crop in all parts of the province, some, however, is getting too ripe before being cut. In the gathering of this important crop, the scarcity of labor is felt keenly.

The acreage of barley is increasing slowly. This year the crop looks well. Buckwheat, which some years ago was considered a very important crop in New Brunswick, is not very heavy, but is fairly good in quality. Frost did much damage to the buckwheat. Rye is little grown in this province. What is being raised is looking well.

TRAFFIC CONTROL AT THE FRONT

What It Means and How Traffic is Regulated—Responsible Position.

Mrs. Sullivan of Campbellton has received an interesting letter from her son, Pte. Elmer Sullivan parts of which are explaining his work in France, he also sent the following news item from a paper regarding this.

France, July 18th, 1918.

I suppose you often wonder what this traffic control is like, for any person who has not been here and see for themselves, would not have the slightest idea about it. Now I have the cuttings from a paper which will give you some idea what it is like. There used to be staff officers for this but now the traffic control is sort of a unit of its own. First they sent one man from each battalion but now there are hundreds more. A man has to be sober and careful on traffic. He can hold up a General's car or anyone who is breaking the traffic rules though that does not happen often. Sometimes they do things to try men to see what they are like. It is not a nice job by any means, but someone has to do it, and when a man is told to do a thing in the army, well he knows what he is up against if he refuses.

The following is the article mentioned above.

A SIDE SHOW.

A main road in a forward area, even during the periods of deadlock, is an amazing spectacle of bustle and life. But during an attack, with the tenfold weight of traffic, to a green spectator's eye it would present a sight of hopeless confusion.

Picture a long, crawling stream of mule-drawn ammunition limbers with the perspiring and cursing drivers urging the tired animals forward. Then, immediately behind, a seemingly endless column of shell-laden lorries and huge caterpillar tractors each drawing its mammoth howitzer.

Motor ambulance-cars jutting gently along, passing over the deepest ruts with the minimum of discomfort to the mud-and-blood-stained occupants.

Serious-looking staff officers hurrying along in private cars, overtaking the slow traffic where possible, occasionally turning into a gap to permit important transport of the opposing stream to pass, thereby conserving the continuous ebb and flow of traffic—a vital factor to success.

A marvel of the road is the despatch rider, who manipulates his machine in and out of this mass with wonderful dexterity, sometimes extricating himself from apparently impossible positions, always risking life and limbs—with amazing "sang froid."

Mounted patrols—both horse and cycle—are constantly on the alert, slowing and accelerating the columns to meet the demands of by-road traffic.

At each cross-roads stands the traffic man. Upon this individual rest great responsibilities. It is he who with a peremptory movement of the arm, momentarily holds up everything, when giving precedence to transport proceeding "line-wards." It is he who briefly answers the thousand-and-one questions regarding the positions of units, villages, etc., in his locality.

Occasionally it happens that a vehicle breaks down. Immediately a score or so of willing "Tommys" are requisitioned who speedily remove the obstacle from the road.

The word "Block" is a dread one with all concerned in this important activity of the war. Every possible precaution is taken to ensure a free-running of all traffic.

Thanks to a perfect system, combined with the fixed determination of all users of the road "to get there, and get there quickly," these blocks are few and far between.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT DALHOUSIE

Employee of PQ Lumber Company's New Mill Badly Injured.

A very serious accident occurred Wednesday morning at the new mill recently erected and put in operation by the PQ Lumber company at Dalhousie by which Edward Cannon an expert sawyer, who was in charge of the large band saw nearly lost his life.

It appears that something was not running just right about the large band saw, with which the mill is equipped to saw the logs, and the sawyer left his station to adjust the guide when the saw broke. The unfortunate man was caught and one leg and one arm severed. Medical aid was at once summoned, and later he was brought to the Hospital here.

To-day he is reported resting well.

PROVINCE AS DRY AS LAW CAN MAKE IT

Licensed Vendors Only Legitimate Channel Through Which Liquor Can be Secured.

Less than one year and a half ago it was possible for any one to secure as much liquor as they wished, providing they had the necessary cash. Today the story is a different one, caused by the enforcement of the New Brunswick prohibitory act. The purchase of a case of the "Oh be Joyful" is at present practically impossible and daily the purchase of quarts is becoming harder.

The difficulty of purchasing liquor at present comes to those who do not really need it, for the legitimate user of alcohol in any form can purchase it by securing a prescription duly signed by a medical practitioner which, on presentation to a vendor, will be speedily filled. The business of these vendors is supervised by the chief inspector, Rev. W. D. Wilson, to whom the vendors are required to send their prescriptions every month to be checked. Every time a vendor makes a sale the transaction is marked down in a record book. This book is sent to the chief inspector every three months to be audited.

Inspector Wilson said yesterday that the largest sales recorded by the vendors for any one month so far was $300. The average is much below this figure.

Such a business might appear to the observer to be a lucrative one and so it would had not the inspector opened channels by which the vendors have competition. Since prohibition the distillers' price have advanced considerably and with high freights and breakage the profits are somewhat reduced.

The vendors, explained Mr. Wilson, are doing everything in their power to prevent themselves from being duped in the presentation of fake orders. There have been some vendors in the province filling prescriptions somewhat freely but only for a short period, for so soon as the inspector became acquainted with conditions he at once took the matter up with both doctors and vendors. Since several of the doctors in the province had been before the courts there have been fewer prescriptions taken to vendors.

FARM LABOR SCARCE

The provincial government has received a great number of protests against farmers' laborers' excursions to the west being run during the present year and has been asked to make representations to the dominion government and to the railway authorities that the need of the laborers in New Brunswick is great and the necessity for gathering this harvest so pressing that no inducements should be held out for laborers to leave the province. The government has acted along that line.

Occasionally the first to propose a reform is the last to accept it.

BATHURST LUMBER CO. PICNIC SATURDAY A BIG SUCCESS.

Bathurst N. B., Aug. 11.—The monster picnic given by the Bathurst Lumber Company here Saturday for the benefit of their employees was a great success. About 5,000 people were in attendance and the day being fine the outing was greatly enjoyed. There were numerous attractions and all were well patronized.

Mr. Angus McLean, manager of the Bathurst Lumber Co., with Mrs. McLean, had charge of the arrangements and prepared an excellent programme for the day. The sports carried out included ball game, greased pole, three-legged race, nail driving contest, 100 yards dash, canoe tilting, log rolling contest, fat woman's race half mile, canoe race, tug-of-war, wrestling and boxing matches, wheelbarrow race and several other events.

Two dancing pavilions were erected on the grounds by the Bathurst Lumber Co., and were placed gratis at the disposal of the picnickers. One of the pavilions for square dancing, would accommodate about 200 couples and the other about 300 couples.

The Red Cross had a number of booths on the grounds and did a thriving business.

During the afternoon Miss Nan Synott, a favorite Canadian pianist, now of Boston, favored the large crowd with a number of piano selections and kindly responded to repeated entreaties.

The picnic on the whole was greatly enjoyed and the employees of the Bathurst Lumber Company feel deeply grateful to the manager, Mr. Angus McLean, for the day's entertainment, everything possible being done to make the occasion a memorable one.

This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of Frezzone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. ## WITNESS CONTRADICTS MURCHIE EVIDENCE

Says That Murchie Was Paid $100 to Reduce Total of Scale—Adjourned to Meet at Moncton Aug. 16th.

Arthur Culligan on Stand. Arthur Culligan, of J. & A. Culligan, lumber operators and mill owners, called by Mr. Copp, told of their operations. He had no negotiations with Murchie in the spring of 1916-17 regarding his returns on the government. Objection was taken to a question about Mr. Culligan's negotiations with another government scaler, Jos. Hachey, and the question was not pressed. Witness said that the arrangements with Murchie were left to Mr. Barbour. Their company scaler was Charles McPhee who had worked in that capacity for six or seven years. McPhee made his returns to witness. Witness had not brought these records with him. Mr. LeBlanc—Why did you not bring the records? Br. Culligan—I did not think that this inquiry had anything to do with us. Q.—You think you are a better judge of that than the commissioner? A.—I would not say that. Witness promised to produce what records he had on hand. Replying to objections by Mr. Baxter, Mr. LeBlanc said: "We want to show the system in vogue. If it can be said that there was any irregularity in one case while everything else was good and fine that one case would look different. If it were the system for the lumber scaler to go to the operator before making his returns and to ask how much he would soak him before sending in his report, it should be shown."

Dr. Baxter, at this point, drew attention to the fact that a certain amount of politics might be expected to creep in but he did not expect to find the counsel for the government in conference with and seeking guidance from, the accused. Mr. Copp denied this suggestion with vigor, saying that he had merely asked Mr. Currie about the name of a witness. Continuing his evidence, Mr. Culligan said that Murchie was in charge of a drive for them one spring but did no jobbing for them. The stumpage for the season 1916-17 for lumber scaled by Murchie was paid by check. He did not know if he signed the check sometimes his sister signed them. Chairman—Is this intended as a set off?

Supporter of Murchie. The witness, continuing, said that he had supported Murchie politically when he was running for election as county councillor, and worked hard to elect him but would not say that he had spent money to do so. George Annette was the next witness. He testified that he was employed by J. & A. Culligan as storekeeper and had been for three years. He had nothing to do with the lumber business and knew nothing of the operations. To Mr. LeBlanc witness said that some of the jobbers for Culligan dealt at the store. He did not see their survey bills and knew nothing of the size of the cut. Clement Fournier next testified that he was a storekeeper and farmer. He had worked for the Prescott Company for four years prior to last year. Hachey was the government scaler in the Elm Tree district where he worked. Witness had not kept his saw books. He had handed them over to the Culligans. This concluded the witnesses who were ready and the court took recess for lunch.

Afternoon Session. When the court resumed in the afternoon, Charles McPhee, of Bellefleur, took the stand and was examined by Mr. Copp. He said he was a lumber scaler working for J. & A. Culligan. He scaled the lumber in the district covered by Joseph Hachey, government scaler. He did not have anything to do with the lumber Murchie scaled. He kept his records at his work. He could not say if the government scaler Murchie ever went to the woods to do his work. He has not seen him since.

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again "FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC 8 Ottawa St., Hull, P. Q. "Fruit-a-lives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again. "One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-lives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it. The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me. I have ever since been in 'Fruit-a-lives' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism." LORENZO LEDUC. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. All dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Instructions were sent and had been sent to all scalers. This was agreed to. Make All He Could. James Wood, sworn, told of meeting Murchie in the winter of 1917 and talking with him about the scale. Murchie told witness that Richards would settle the scale. He said it would be his last year and he was going to make all he could out of it. He said he and Richards always settled the stumpage every year for the Continental Company.

To Mr. Baxter, witness said the conversation took place in March, 1917. After the election Murchie told him that since it was his last year he was going to make all he could and he hoped to make $500. Henry, W. Tapley, next called, and examined by Mr. LeBlanc, said he had been a lumber scaler for the last forty years. He was at the Continental mill at Charlo last week for five days scaling and surveying the logs as they entered the mill. The results were as follows: Spruce, pine and fir, 5,458 pieces, 199,160 feet; cedar, 867 pieces, 25,210 feet. The average were: Spruce, 36.49 feet per log and 27.6 pieces per thousand, and cedar, 2.08 per piece and 244 pieces per thousand. Applying this average to Mr. Purvis' count the results would be: Spruce, pine, and fir, 134,732 pieces, 4,916,390 superficial feet; cedar, 28,297 pieces, 822,875 feet; total, 163,029 pieces, 5,739,265 feet.

To Mr. Baxter, witness said the logs were being fed to the mill by employees of the company; but he did not think they were selecting them. They seemed to be a fair average. To Mr. LeBlanc, witness reiterated that there was no selection, that the logs were taken as they came. They would average about the same as those left in the pond. Mr. Purvis was called and also said that the logs were of average size. To Mr. Baxter, he said that on settling with the jobbers this year he might have taken off a greater discount than in other years owing to the fact that they were running poorer.

Mr. LeBlanc announced that he had no more witnesses available, as four others had not responded, neither had Mr. Culligan produced his books. Mr. h expressed his disappointment that he should take it upon himself to refuse to obey the instructions of the court. He did not wish to ask for an adjournment and so would close his case.

The investigation adjourned to meet at Moncton on Thursday, Aug. 15th when counsel will argue.

New Compensation Act Commission. Premier Foster has made the announcement that John A. Sinclair, barrister, and James J. Segre, labor representative, have been appointed to the Workers' Compensation Act board; the third member of the board has not yet been named, but the Government has a leading business man who will represent the manufacturing interests, under consideration. The appointment was made at the meeting of the Government held at Fredericton Thursday night, but the names were withheld until the Premier could consult with them selected.

WHOLE C. G. R. TRAIN.

North Sydney Herald: The culmination of a daring liquor robbery on the Canadian Government Railway had its setting one day last week, when an entire train crew were dismissed from the service by Superintendent L. S. Brown, through whose efforts the crime was traced to the perpetrators.

On the second day of February last when the Snow King moved supreme and blocked highways and railroad lines, six barrels of bottled liquors were being conveyed from Montreal to Boisdale, where many a Camouflaged order to John Barleycorn found its way. The stuff was ordered by a certain Pond street, Sydney Mines, dealer, but in order to ward off suspicion and possible seizure by the liquor squad, he had a fictitious name as the consignee.

However, a rather strange coincidence happened when the label bearing the fictitious address turned out to be the very name of the brakeman, a young man named McKinnon, belonging to McKinnon's Harbor. The latter evidently liked the drop of the orator, and his conscientious scruples were such that he could not overcome the temptation to convert at least one barrel of the stuff for his own needs, so that only five barrels were rolled off at Boisdale, and the other was carried along to Sydney Mines, where it was dumped off.

A day or so later the Sydney Mines dealer wended his way to Boisdale, and from there proceeded to Bourladerie, where, according to arrangements the booze was conveyed to a certain farm homestead, so that it would be an easy matter for the owner to secure the stuff in convenient quantities.

Naturally, he was disappointed upon discovering the shortage, and he reported the affair to the railway authorities, allowing, of course, sufficient time to elapse so that the inspector could not take a hand in the affair. About this time considerable quantities of liquor were being stolen from the railway while in transit, and the railway people were perplexed over the wholesale carnival of robbery from the people's road. Thanks to the personal efforts of Superintendent Brown, he hit upon a clue that in time led to the criminal, and in May last, just four months after the robbery, the Superintendent gave the web that later proved to be Brakeman McKinnon's one and one others.

It turned out at the inquiry that when the barrel of liquor that was supposed to be delivered at Boisdale reached Sydney Mines, the agent at the latter place discovered it had been broached and several bottles abstracted. This, together with the fact that he had no bill of lading for the barrel, caused him to refuse delivery, and he placed it in a safe place on the station platform. In the meantime the train, which had proceeded to North Sydney, returned, and upon its arrival Brakeman McKinnon, carrying a bag, took possession of the liquor dumping the contents into the bag, which he placed on board of the west-bound train.

The stationmaster or his assistants believing the stuff belonged to McKinnon, as it bore his name on the label, were glad to rid of it, and even aided him in carrying the bag on board the train. These facts were all adduced at the hearing, which was held in camera, but which filtered into the scoop net of The North Sydney Herald and last week all those men implicated in the affair were dismissed from service by Superintendent Brown who is deserving of every praise for the way in which he conducted what at first seemed an impossible puzzle.

A WONDERFUL DAY WITH THE CANADIANS

Our Boys' Celebration of Canada's Birthday "Over There"

(By Lacey Amy, special correspondent of The Evening Times, with Canadian Forces in France.)

With Canadian Forces, France, July 2.—Take Regatta Day at Halifax, the grand stand performance at the Toronto Exhibition, a broncho-busting contest in Medicine Hat, a Northern League baseball game in Winnipeg in the days of leisure and money, hockey match in Montreal, with the Canadians one down but coming strong, and all the excitement ever produced between Sydney and Victoria. Squeeze them into a field of ten acres and a space of ten hours. Sprinkle with the pep of 35,000 Canadian fighting men out of the line. Flavor with Royalty and imposing gold braid. Liven with a scattering of nurses who know and love the boys. Add—but paper is short. That inadequate list of ingredients will give some slight conception of the recipe for the Dominion Day sports in the Canadian Corps, impossible of attainment elsewhere in the world, understandable only by Canadians.

The biggest, grandest, most superb spectacle ever collected in one aggregation. A galaxy of athletes, a bevy of beautiful women, a corps of incorrigible clowns. Patronized by royalty and titles and super-generals, and all the rest of it.

I have never seen a day like it, either in enthusiasm or visible numbers. More people may push through the gates of the Toronto exhibition but the sporting events in front of the grand stand never drew such a crowd, and certainly no event in Canada was ever so completely enjoyed.

Other days in France in the Canadian Corps have set up a record to the tune of their occurrence, but the final record must now be unequivocally established. Preparations had been going on for months. A suitable field was taken and turned by eager hands into a sports field fit for Montreal or Toronto or Winnipeg. Every item of equipment known to the best sports in Canada—and, take it from me, they are all here in France—was there, from a perfect quarter-mile track and championship tennis court to the sacks at the baseball diamond. There was no reason why records should not have been made, except that life in France does not lend itself to uninterrupted training.

From five in the morning all roads led to the Canadian Corps, largely out of the line at the time, was free to indulge its patriotism and love of sports. For forty miles they came in lorries and cars, in ambulances and busses, in private cars and motor cycles, by foot and horse. I rose at seven-thirty to a steady stream of decorated lorries passing my billet, each packed with a singing, laughing, eager bunch of enthusiasts. Whole companies trudged five miles and were there ahead of time. My forty-mile-an-hour race thereabouts was from beginning to end shrouded in a cloud of dust so thick at times that we were forced to slow down for the fog. Every man and nurse in the Canadian Corps who was unable to attend has earned the right to grouse for a month at least. And every imperial within reach was on hand in all the dialects from Scottish to Cornish, marvelling at the spirit of things, struggling to unravel the technique of baseball, almost as eager as the Canadians themselves.

It was a perfect day—Canadian to the last dying cheer of the weary picketers. The sun blazed as if on order. Most of us were thoroughly baked, browned on both sides, and pretty well done before it was over. But it will remain the One Big Day in the lighter life of the Canadian Corps in France.

Before it was under way an hour the line of lorries parked on the edge of the road extended far out of sight into the dim distance, and a field across the road was packed with private cars. A triumphal arch covered the entrance, a hand-painted affair of immense proportions, and topped by a large Maple Leaf and a family of beavers. All the tents of a three-ringed circus, with positions for Royalty, the G. O. C., the committee, judges, cantina, Red Cross hospital, a theatre, and so on. A grand stand seating a thousand or two was fronted by two private enclosures reserved for the big-wigs, the nurses and the guests; and all about the course was a natural rise of hills like the tiers of a gallery.

Exactly at ten the sports began, and throughout the day ran on such a schedule as only superb organization could accomplish. The only delay occurred at the end, when the contending baseball teams fought tooth-and-nail to eleven innings before breaking the two-all tie. And, by the way, two all-in't bad baseball for amateurs who have fighting to do between whiles. Even the Duke of Connaught who sat behind the catcher, seemed to consider it a rather absorbing struggle, and as for Sir Arthur Currie and Sir Robert Borden—well, they are Canadians.

From that you will see that we were favored by royalty, authority, and dignity of every sort. Shortly after noon the procession entered the grounds, headed by the Duke and Sir Arthur, the former smiling in the happy way that comes so natural to him among Canadians, and Sir Arthur, the competent, big leader who knows his men and knows they know him. Sir Robert and Mr. Rowell were unexpected to the majority and none the less welcome for that. A shell placed in the wrong spot that day would have robbed the Canadian corps of "sir" all its leaders, and the Canadian people of theirs.

But there was little danger of that. Overhead all day circled a company of fighting machines which would have welcomed the opportunity for fame, and scarcely a gun was audible for all day long. Yet a section of the grounds was set aside as a hospital, with sand-bag walls that would protect from everything but a direct hit.

The competitions were fought with a keenness unknown to ordinary sports. It was inter-divisional, with the corps troops a fifth section. A revolving scoreboard twenty feet high kept track of events and scores. The gladiators clad in their divisional colors, white, or green, or French grey or black, were cheered and urged by their mates with a partisanship that never savored of the disagreeable, but with an earnestness that spurred to the utmost. In addition to the usual athletic track events there were tennis, indoor baseball, football, lacrosse, volley ball, mass football (four balls at once with fifty men a side), boxing, wrestling, a gymnastic exhibition, tilting the bucket, pole pillow fighting. There was tight-rope walking and a dozen downs—from the Ruble with a hammer on his chest proclaiming himself the Press, to the Jew of the hunchback and colonial nose, who carried a "Black Book" a yard square and a sign declaring himself to be "one of the 47,000."

In the results of the sports there is less to interest than in the bigness of the day as an antidote to power and training. But when President runs only third in a quarter-mile race there is no loading on the track. The boys were there to uphold the honor of their divisions, and they stuck to it to the last ounce of energy and strength in them.

Everything ran like clockwork—everything that was Canadian. That the officers' mess fell down was merely the result of a misunderstanding by the imperial canteen authorities of what Dominion Day is to Canadians. It never entered into imperial appraisal that every officer out of hospital or the front lines would be there; and a rainy day might have meant waste.

In the evening The Volatiles, a show company of the boys themselves, put on a revue in an open-fronted theatre. No theatre ever built would have accommodated the thousands who wanted to see soldiers, nurses, and the French from the surrounding villages. Sir Robert, entering before the performance commenced, was called on for a speech. Standing on a shaky chair he delivered a message from Canada. "What about that leave?" enquired the boys. The premier laughed. "All I can say," he replied, "is that we all have leave to fight until the Hun is beaten—which does not mean there will be no other leave interspersed."

Save Food

In a time needing food economy many people are not getting all the nourishment they might from their food. It is not how much you eat, but how much you assimilate, that does you good.

The addition of a small teaspoonful of Bovril to the diet as a peptogenic before meals leads to more thorough digestion and assimilation and thus saves food, for you need less.

The comradeship between the men and their leaders was demonstrated during the performance. The G. O. C. entered at a moment when an actor was supposed to be in telephonic communication with Heaven—it would have been a catastrophe had his entry been delayed to the next minute, when the nether regions was at the other end of the line. The actor paused. "Yes," he called into the receiver, that was General Currie just came in. He's late, but—the rest was lost in the laugh.

The hour of the revue was something of a study in psychology. At first, as the opening was delayed by the extended baseball game, the waiting thousands were somewhat impatient, but always good-natured. The seats for the officers were backed by ranks of men extending far beyond the possibility of hearing. Chaffing, laughing, gasps at the M. P.'s and A. P. M.—who, by the way, handled the crowd beautifully—seemed to prophesy an interrupted performance. At first not a word of the actors was audible, the soldiers behind demanding that those in front sit down. But as the sun sank behind the canvas tent serving as a stage a hush fell. In the twilight 10,000 care-free soldiers stood or knelt or sat so silent that one might close his eyes and imagine none near but the speaking parts. Laughs broke in freely enough—for instance, when a black-faced comedian announced that he would sing "that old favorite of Sam Hughes, 'I'm feeling fine; I've been drinking Brasso'"—but the chaffing died away. Over the canvas wall an engine whistled where long lines of Red Cross trains stood. Along the road lorries of singing boys were starting for home. Stiffly at attention for the national anthem, and then mingled again in that cloud of dust that covered every road that led to Dominion Day, the Biggest, Grandest, Most Superb Spectacle ever collected in One Aggregation, was over—the end of a perfect day.

LEGISLATION RE BONUS FOGGED

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—The Government's legislation enacted at the last session of Parliament granting bonuses to lower grades of the Civil Service in part dependent upon them, and that they are entitled to the bonus.

There will need to be another ruling by the Treasury Board on this point, which affects a great number of people. In view of all the trouble which has resulted, when Parliament next votes money it is assumed that the terms will be less ambiguous than was the case this year.

An honest man thinks that a pretty woman is also a noble worker.

Canadian Masons In England

H. S. Carmichael, Passenger and Freight Manager of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, was installed W. M. of the Canada Lodge at the installation banquet held recently in London, England, attended by the Rt. Hon. Sir Edward Clarke, Sir Gilbert Parker, General J. G. Ross and many other Canadians and English representative men interested in Canada.

The Canada Lodge No. 3127 on the Register of the United Grand Lodge of England was founded in 1911 in order to provide a Masonic centre for Canadian residents in Great Britain and Brethren from the Dominion visiting the Old Country. The object of the founders was also to form a bond of union between the Brethren of the Dominion and the Brethren of the United Kingdom in the strong love and confidence that Freemasonry might so ever still further assist in the great work of forming these bonds of "indissoluble attachment" which shall forever unite the component parts of the British Empire. The Lodge has now 282 members, many of whom are Dominion members resident in all parts of Canada. No fewer than 150 are initiates of the Lodge. 200 members of the Lodge are on active service in H. M. Forces.

Mr. Hugh Strain Carmichael, the newly-elected W. M. of Canada Lodge, is a native of Glasgow. He has been connected with the Transatlantic steamship trade since 1888, when he joined the staff of the State Line, which in 1891 was taken over by the Allan Line. In 1892 he commenced his long connection with the Canadian Pacific Company at Glasgow, transferring to its Liverpool office in 1903, when the company established its transatlantic passenger service. In 1908 he was promoted to be general passenger agent for Great Britain and Europe. Since the establishment, in 1915-16, of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, Ltd., which manages the entire fleet of the C. P. R. and Allan Lines, Mr. Carmichael has occupied the position of passenger and freight manager, and has his headquarters at Waterloo Place, London, England.

"Can an honest man justify himself in stealing because it is said others steal? Decidedly not."—Tribune.

The good book says: "Let him who is without sin among you cast the first stone."

Our local contemporary asks "How long will Hon. Wm. Currie be permitted to hold his seat in the legislature?" We may say after hearing the opinions of independent citizens, many of them Conservatives who opposed Mr. Currie in his last election, that Hon. Mr. Currie will hold his seat just as long as the people of Restigouche want him and he will offer. So far Mr. Currie has come out of the investigation without a tittle of evidence to substantiate the charge of attempting to bribe a government official, while the evidence has all gone to discredit the leaders of this Conservative party of which Scaler Murchie has been only a poor tool, and as his usefulness is about over, even his friends are turning against him.

The Graphic does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed in this column.

To the Editor of the Graphic: In the last week's issue of The Graphic under the heading "Turned Down Proposal" (I) was said something about the "convent school" which was not correct, and should be rectified.

The motion which was voted down was as far as I can remember: "It was moved and seconded that the Campbellton School Board of Trustees rent from Sister Walsh, Superior of the Sisters of the Hotel Dieu five class rooms which would be the property of the Board during class hours, and that the Board engage a sufficient number of teachers to teach the children attending such classes, that the rent be $1500 a year for next year until new agreements are made, but that for this year, on account of lack of funds an offer of $1000 a month for the whole five rooms be made to the Superior, the rent to include janitor's, heating, etc."

You see there was no question of the Sisters as teachers for this school the question being entirely in the hands of the Board which would have been free to engage all teachers from outside if they had seen fit. The number of teachers was not regulated by either as there was an attendance of two hundred and fifty last year it was suggested that five teachers would be required and that five teachers would have to be engaged. It looks as if the Board has to provide at the school opening accommodation for at least two hundred and fifty new children, and those who voted this rental proposition down will have a hard time to find a better one to meet the emergency.

Yours truly, A CITIZEN.

DISCOURSES OF A HIGH ORDER. Northern Light, Bathurst: Rev. T. Stannage Boyle, D. D., president of King's College, Windsor, N. S., occupied the pulpit at St. George's church at bath services, Sunday, Aug. 4. Dr. Boyle's discourses were both of a very high order, and the large congregations present were deeply interested in his remarks. At the morning service he touched most eloquently upon the war, and in the evening he made an appeal on behalf of the college with which he is connected. While here Rev. Dr. Boyle was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. H. Stever.

The Austrian people may draw this consolation from the wreck: That the 45,000 prisoners won't be eating home food any longer.

IRELAND AND CONSCRIPTION.

American View Stated by Powerful New York Paper.

At the New York Roman Catholic Club Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, a distinguished man of letters and U. S. Minister at Copenhagen, said that "the greatest enemy of the Roman Catholic Church and of Christianity in Europe is the German Emperor." To the murderers of priests, to the ravishers of nuns, to the destroyers of churches and cathedrals, to the slayers of Catholics on Good Friday at the Mass at Paris, the Irish Catholic hierarchy now turns in friendship. By what monstrous delusion possessed, plunged in what unhappy remoteness from the agony of Belgium and the world, does the Irish Church tie at last to the Sinn Fein, the open friends of the Kaiser?

These sermons and pledges against conscription, this union or attempt to union against conscription, this Sunday devoted to organization, resistance, this combination of priest and politician, in the supreme peril of civilization, this aid and comfort to the enemy—all this is a page of history that cannot be read hereafter without sorrow and shame.

It is a strange attitude for the Roman Catholic Church of Ireland or anywhere else to counsel resistance to lawful authority and government, to advise Irishmen to ally themselves with public enemies. The Bishop of Cloyne tells a public meeting of Queenstown that the Irish have "a powerful and unscrupulous adversary, who is without heart or sympathy for long-suffering Ireland."

For a generation England has diligently striven to satisfy the desire of Ireland, to make Ireland prosperous, she has been treated in this way like a spoiled child. The long suffering has been on the part of England. What sacred privilege attaches to an Irishman in Ireland that he shall not be made to fight against Germany as Irishmen of Wales, or Scotland, or Canada are made to fight against Germany? Not in this country, not in any country that is civilized, will "the audacious preposterous" Ireland may still remain in England more than he loves freedom, may join hands with its insensate foes. Whether the opposition to conscription comes from a cardinal, archbishop, bishop, priest, or from those Sinn Fein ruffians who insulted American sailors and the American flag, Americans and all the other nations handed against Germany regard the enemies of Irish conscription as their enemies. Venerable ecclesiastical titles cannot shelter them. Whether from learned bishops or from frothing politicians, this resistance to conscription is a stab at freedom.

The depression of the Irish Catholic hierarchy into pro-Germanism is the more curious in that it synchronizes with expressions of disappointment and regret of the Vatican at the backing of the German Catholic, the Centre party, from their modern terms of peace of last July.

The resolution of fifty-five Irish members of Parliament to the effect that the enforcement of military service upon Ireland "constitutes one of the most brutal acts of tyranny and oppression which any Government can be guilty of" is a choice bit of lunacy. It is enough to remind these hollow patriots that if they talked in the United States they talk in Dublin they would get into a Federal penitentiary. Some of these politicians are said to be nursing the mad notion that the people of the United States sympathize with Irish slackers and Germanophiles. There was talk of sending the Lord Mayor of Dublin to solicit Mr. Wilson's good offices in regard to Irish conscription. It may be doubted that the Seaman's and Sailors' Union would permit any such emissary to travel on a steamer. It is not Mr. Wilson's friends in North America who would permit any such emissary to travel on a steamer. It is not Mr. Wilson's friends in North America who would permit any such emissary to travel on a steamer.

It would be impossible for Mr. Wilson to receive him. It is likely enough that he wouldn't be allowed to land. The Chief Burgomaster of Berlin would be easier to solicit and popular a personage at Washington.—The New York Times.

Vindicating Great Britain. The opinion that England caused the war is "prevalent among us today," von Jasow says. But it is not shared by the two men in Germany who are in the best position to know—the man who was Foreign Minister, and the man who was Ambassador at London. If these two men are right, then the "opinion prevalent among us" is wrong. Germany is wrong. How did Germany come to be wrong? She was certainly told that England "laid all the mines for the outbreak of the war." Those who told her this were men who wished to excite her hatred against England. "We have one foe and one alone," was the burden of what they told her. "French and Russian, they matter not." Did these men deliberately lie to her? They did, if the Foreign Minister and the Ambassador at London know what they are talking about; and on this point, though they disagree on everything else, they agree.

The Red Cross Necklace. What will be known as a Red Cross pearl necklace is being assembled at London as rapidly as possible. The pearls are being given by Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria and from various titled personages of the British Empire, also some are being sent from Canada and the United States. The object is to get together the finest string in the world and sell it for the highest bidder.

A Missionary College. A brass band and football and cricket teams are found among students of the missionary college at Lovedale, South Africa, the only institution in the dark continent that offers Africans a standard college education.

Will Know Soon. "This is a promiscuous sort of neighborhood. For instance, we know nothing whatever about the people next door."

"But we soon will, dear. I sent Ellen there this morning to borrow some baking-powder."

"Rocky but profitable," said the cradle manufacturer, describing his business.

On Wednesday evening the 7th inst. a very enjoyable dance was held at the Inch-Arran Hotel under the auspices of the G. W. V. A.

The large dining room in which the dance was held was patriotically decorated for the occasion. Besides a large number of guests at the Hotel, many persons motored from Campbellton and other places. During the evening a very pretty hand-crocheted yoke, which had been donated, was lotteried and Miss Maud Ramsay, of New York, was the winner. Miss Wilkinson of Quebec very kindly delighted the audience with two patriotic songs.

The Bazaar that is being held in the new Annex of the Convent is in full swing. The hall is prettily decorated. On Tuesday evening there was a large attendance of people belonging to the different denominations, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. COURAGE BELOW DECK. Would the Zebrugger victory have been what it was had her stokehold not been filled with heroes? An old ship with old boilers, but zeeling, above all things else, speed, especially on the home run, she was at the mercy of her stokers and engineers. A bump told them the Victivict had gained the Mole. Not much else was known about the fortunes of the day until home was reached. It is said that when the Engineer Commander entered the boiler room (after the party) and asked the Artificer Engineer what he had to say about his men the reply was what every one of them must have rejoiced: "I am not going to say anything for or against them; but if I was going toH—to-morrow night I would have the same men with me."

Admiral Sir David Beatty knows where to find heroes and he says that high up on the roll of British heroes must be placed the names of the engineers and their staffs on board ships of war. Equally heroic are the men below deck on merchant ships. With almost no chance of escape and with almost absolute certainty of being hit when the dastardly U-boat gets in its work these men, nevertheless, engage to transport troops and wounded, food-stuffs, merchandise, munitions—everything needed to carry on this war. Do we give them sufficient credit? Have we, up to this given them even a thought. Not until the war is over shall we know how many of these heroes have been sacrificed that their cause and our might triumph.

It is peculiarly fitting that these men, of whom most of us have never even thought should be remembered by the King. He has given his approval to a badge which speaks volumes. It is in the form of a torpedo to be worn on the left sleeve and is to be given to officers and seamen who have been on the articles of any British merchant or fishing vessel sunk or damaged during the present war by torpedo or mine and who have afterwards completed a further voyage on the articles of a British vessel.

Each subsequent experience will be shown by a bar. It is high time that the rest of us take a thought for the heroes below deck combatants and non-combatants alike.

HERE'S A CHANGE FOR FIGHTING MEN. A. C. E. F. contingent will be mobilized shortly for service in Siberia, military headquarters announced. It will include among other units an infantry battalion, two platoons of which have been allotted to this district. That is, M.D. No. 7 will be allowed to supply roughly 100 men for the Russian expedition.

The Siberian contingent will be raised by voluntary enlistment and the preference is accorded physically fit returned soldiers and others not at present affected by the Military Service Act. Later, subject to instructions from Ottawa, drafts will be allowed to volunteer.

The officers will be selected by Ottawa headquarters, but in the meantime, local headquarters will forward names of officers recommended as fit and competent for the important work.

Headquarters advises that the officers of the Siberian expedition should have had experience at the front.

KEEP CLOSE TAB ON CANADIAN ARMY

London, Aug. 10.—The war cabinet, with Sir Robert Borden attending, was sitting yesterday while the battle was in progress. Sir Robert and his colleagues received hourly bulletins on the progress of the battle, especially with reference to the progress made by the Canadians.

Earlier Field-Marshal Borden and General Newburn visited the offices and depots of the Canadian Red Cross, and afterwards declared: "In no business establishments are administrative details more thoroughly and efficiently carried out."

Later Premier Borden and Hon. C. C. Balfour conferred with Lord Reading and Sir Thomas Royden.

BIGGER AND BETTER.

The Germans are retiring along the Montdidier-Neoyon front. This brief bulletin in Saturday morning's war news establishes the Franco-British drive as a major success. By driving practically half way across the great salient towards Chaules and Roye, in an operation remarkable because more rapid progress was made than in any German drive, the Allies are forcing the enemy out of all the areas which constituted a real menace to Amiens and Paris. In coming forward in March the Germans sustained heavy losses in this region, and now in going back, besides the losses in men killed, wounded and taken prisoners, they are losing heavily in cannon and all the necessary war material.

The defeat, now assuming the proportions of a second great disaster, may lead to a retreat from the whole salient. Following closely the Marne victory, where ground is still being gained, this Allied triumph will bring from Germany more dreadful signs of despair and increase and intensify the growing apprehension of defeat.

LENINE ARRESTS BRITISH COUNSEL

London, Aug. 10.—Robert H. B. Lockhart, acting consul general in Moscow, and six Britishers attached to his staff, and several French diplomatic agents, have been arrested in Moscow by the Bolsheviks, says the London Daily Mail. The newspaper attributes to the foreign office a statement that there is no reason to believe it is true that the British at Archangel shot representatives of the Soviet, and adds: "There was some shooting before Archangel incidental to the landing operations, but this could only have been in reply to shots fired at our forces by the Bolshevik forces. The arrest of Lockhart is, of course, an act of hostility in international law and will be so regarded by us. It is possibly a reprisal for our landing at Archangel and in the Murmansk region."

GERMAN WHO BARK LUSITANIA DEAD

London, Aug. 10.—Lieut. Commander Schweiger, who commanded the submarine which sank the Lusitania, is dead. His death occurred in September, 1917, but has only been admitted by the German Admiralty, according to reports received here.

Last September, Schweiger, in command of the U-boat 88, was in the Bight of Heligoland, with another submarine. Both U-boats submerged, and the other commander felt a chain sweeping along the side of his boat and believed he had run into an unknown British mine field. A terrific explosion under water followed. The second boat rose rapidly and signalled for the other. There was no reply.

HARVEST HANDS WANTED IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The Department of Agriculture, for war purposes, last spring urged Great-Britain to produce 108,772 bushels of seed grain were imported. The farmers have responded splendidly. The acreage under crop is in excess of any previous year. Climate conditions have been favorable, crops promise well.

Every acre of crop in this province must be promptly harvested this year. Many men have been called to the colors.

Under the conditions the Department fears that many crops will remain in the fields unless men from our towns and industrial plants become harvesters, and are setting up labor bureaus in different sections of the province to ascertain the farmers' labor needs and to register voluntary labor.

Every man in the towns or cities who has had farm experience should be ready to assist for a few days.

Every farmer should register his wants immediately at one of the following bureaus. A guarantee of help cannot be given by the Provincial Department of Agriculture but when the requirements are known after a certain date, if necessary, the Dominion authorities will be appealed to.

Give name, address, railway station, number of days help required and when. Approximate wages per day. Where wages cannot be satisfactorily arranged, an appeal to the Department of Agriculture may be made for adjustment.

Every man willing to help should be registered at one of the following places:

ST. JOHN—William Kerr, N. B. Government Office, Prince William St. FREDERICTON—A. B. Wilnot, Dom. Immigration Office, P. O. Bldg. SUSSEX—J. D. McKenna.

Record in C

THE double tracking of the North Toronto Sub-division of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Toronto and North Toronto is now nearing completion, and involves the replacement of bridges (beams as 13 and 15) which heretofore had been treated constructed of steel. Owing to the high price of steel and the difficulty of procuring it since the war began it was found that reinforced concrete completed successfully against steel.

The bridges were therefore constructed of this material and are a 4-tunnel of railway construction week No. 63 being 266 feet long and 50 feet high carrying two tracks and No. 18 of similar dimensions but a three track structure. The length of the individual spans and the details of their construction are unprecedented in the engineering world. Previous to this no reinforced concrete beam with a length of more than about 25 feet had been attempted; the spans of these two C. P. R. structures are each from 35 to 77 feet long. These spans have been made possible by the employment of cast-in-place concrete.

The concrete was poured in the usual manner by means of wooden forms built around a steel reinforcement which was previously assembled and securely wired together. Wire all was in readiness the concrete was poured by means of two T-shaped chutes which led in several directions from the main mixing tower. The pouring of the concrete was unattended continuously as possible until a whole tower was completed. At a time when the temperature was below freezing point it was performed in such a manner that the concrete was protected from the weather by means of a covering of straw and blankets.

These two structures are provided with narrow sidewalks and hand rails, which are a trademark to the conventional type of concrete bridge. The hand rails are made of steel and are painted a bright color, which is a striking feature of the structure, which are extremely

Record in Concrete Bridge-Building

The double tracking of the North Toronto Sub-division of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Toronto and North Toronto is now nearing completion, and involves the replacement of bridges (known as 03 and 103) which heretofore had been trusses constructed of steel. Owing to the high price of steel and the difficulty of procuring it since the war began it was found that reinforced concrete competed successfully against steel.

The bridges were therefore constructed of this material and are a "finish" of railway construction work, No. 03 being 388 feet long and 90 feet high carrying two tracks and No. 103 of similar dimensions but a three track structure. The length of the individual spans and the details of their construction are unprecedented in the engineering world. Previous to this no reinforced concrete beam with a length of more than about 25 feet had been attempted; the spans of these two C. P. R. structures are each from 75 to 117 feet long. These spans have been made possible by the employment of unit construction by which each span was designed as two T beams which, after being manufactured near the work, were laid side by side on the previously built reinforced concrete towers. The towers themselves are really reinforced concrete buildings constructed in the usual manner by means of wooden forms built around a steel reinforcement which was previously assembled and securely wired together. When all was in readiness the concrete was poured by means of long spouts which led in several directions from the main mixing tower. The pouring of the concrete was unattended continuously as possible until a whole tower was completed. This work was done during the winter at a time when no temperature was below freezing point; it was performed inside of what was virtually a building erected to maintain a suitable temperature around the newly deposited concrete until it was out of danger of being damaged by frost.

These two structures are provided with narrow sidewalks and hand rails, which are a feature to overcome the difficulty of riding on the tracks. The hand rails add, incidentally to the aesthetic appearance of the structures, which are extremely artistic in appearance and at the same time satisfactory from a general and utilitarian point of view, besides being absolutely permanent. Such are designed to carry the heaviest engines in existence with a considerable margin of safety, and are especially making in the art of bridge engineering. Inasmuch as they have demonstrated that reinforced concrete can take the place of steel for a very large number of permanent bridges. These two structures are an excellent example of the method employed in the construction of the reinforced concrete spans in a specially interesting feature of the structure. Each slab, as a unit, weighed 55 tons, which was the limit load that could be handled by the C. P. R. 100 ton standard wrecking cranes. The crane engaged handled no less than 110 slabs, each 45 tons in weight, or in all something like 6,000 tons, and all this was done without a single mishap to either men or material. Another remarkable feature is that both structures were built without interruption from June, 1917, to July, 1918, which was a shorter period than would have been required to manufacture and erect similar structures in steel. The method employed in the construction of the reinforced concrete spans is a specialty in general features of the structure. Each slab, as a unit,

GERMANS MUST RETREAT 20 MILES

London, Aug. 10.—The new attack by the French has extended the battle line some sixteen miles further to the southeast in the Montdidier area. In this movement the French scored on advance of four miles in six hours.

To the north the important junction of Chaumes is now quite untenable for the Germans, as it is well within the fire of the British field guns.

The 100 guns added to the two hundred previously captured by the Allies were taken by the French in this morning's fighting.

The opinion in London today was that the enemy could not now possibly hold any sort of a line until he reached the Somme and the canal from Neule to Noyon. That would make a maximum retreat of twenty miles.

Roughly speaking, the Allied advance in two days on a front of twenty miles has been twelve miles.

On the British front splendid progress is being made, and the average twelve-mile progress forward was an infantry advance, with the cavalry, tanks and armored cars well ahead of the infantry and pressing the retreating enemy.

WATER POWERS OF ST. LAWRENCE

H. A. Powell returned Thursday from Ottawa, where he had been attending a sitting of the International Waterways Commission.

The United States, he said, in order to increase the production of aluminum for war purposes has requested permission to use the power in one of the channels of the St. Lawrence river opposite the Long Sault Rapids.

The commission, owing to the urgency of the request are to hold a meeting on August 15th. Owing to the illness of Governor Glenn, who is recruiting at Atlantic City, the meeting will be held there instead of at Montreal.

Mr. Powell said the province of Ontario is deeply interested in the development of power at Long Sault Rapids, is opposed to having the power developed piecemeal, but wants some comprehensive scheme worked out leading to the development of 750,000 horse power at an expenditure of from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. The Dominion and Ontario governments are alive to the necessity and great desirability of utilizing the magnificent water powers at present going to waste.

At the next meeting the Commission will take up the New York and Ontario Power Company's application to place a dam opposite Waddington, on the St. Lawrence, to increase the development of power at that place.

SPLENDID WORK BRITISH AIRMEN

London, Aug. 10.—The Admiralty communication dealing with aviation issued last evening says:

"A large amount of work has been done by the Royal Air Force contingents working with the navy during the period from August 1 to 7.

"On Monday last, as previously reported, our aircraft successfully attacked hostile Zeppelins, one of which was destroyed and another damaged.

"On another occasion a formation of our large seaplanes in the North Sea saw a Zeppelin at about four thousand feet. They climbed to the attack and apparently were not at first seen by the enemy. Later the crew of the Zeppelin sighted our machines, for all its bombs were dropped and the water ballast was released and the Zeppelin put up into practically a vertical position. By these tactics the Zeppelin was able to escape into the heavy clouds and was lost to sight. One of our machines was forced to land on the Dutch waters. The machine was destroyed and the crew interned.

"Convoy and anti-submarine patrols have been maintained. Enemy destroyers and submarines have been attacked and direct hits registered.

"Bad invisibility has interfered with bombing operations over Ostend and Zeebrugge, but many tons of explosives have been dropped with good results.

"During engagements that have taken place, three enemy machines have been shot down in flames and six driven down out of control. All of our machines have returned safely."

THE PREMIER'S SPEECH

Although Lloyd George, in a parliamentary speech on Wednesday, remarkable for the freedom and candor with which he discussed war conditions, took solid satisfaction out of the Entente successes in the Marne drive, he made it plain that military and political leaders see no prospect of an early end of the great struggle. Marshal Foch's brilliant triumph has made the Germans realize that a victory this year is impossible; but there is no reason to expect an early decision in favor of the Entente. Germany is still dominated by those who made the war. The will to conquer is still with them. Either they must be made by military force to realize the hopelessness of the mad dream of world dominion, or the deceived and deluded German people must take power and authority from them and set up a government on democratic lines, recognizing free institutions and the rights of free peoples, before there can be peace.

In repeating this declaration of Entente war aims, the British Premier let it be plainly understood that Entente leaders, while well satisfied with the present military situation, and more firmly convinced than ever of eventual victory, see no prospect that victory and peace will come soon. The indomitable courage of France, the splendid recovery of Italy and the wonderful energy of America make final victory a certainty of the future. Eloquent and enthusiastic were the Premier's expressions of our Allies, France, Italy, America; but more eloquent, more enthusiastic, was he in speaking of the wonderful war achievements of Great Britain and her colonies. The brief summary he gave of their achievements provided the justification for his tributes to the navy, the army and the colonies. The navy, which in 1914 represented a tonnage of two million five hundred thousand tons, and which has been the all-important factor in keeping the seas open and making land war possible, has to-day grown to eight million tons, and one of its most brilliant achievements has been the destruction of more than one hundred and fifty enemy submarines, more than half of them in the last year. The contemptible army of eighty-five thousand heroes who stemmed the flood tide of German strength at Mons, has since grown to more than five million men, while India has furnished one million two hundred and fifty thousand fighting men and the other colonies a million. The part the army and the navy has taken in the fighting in history, and history that every British subject, wherever he lives, can contemplate with as keen satisfaction as does Britain's Premier. One of the particularly gratifying features of the passage of this 4th of August was the splendid tributes paid to Great Britain by the foremost men of America, France and Italy. They know, as does Lloyd George, the big things Great Britain has done; and they realize, as he does, that they made the coming defeat of German militarism possible.

GERMANS OUTRAGE FRENCH CHURCHES

Paris, Aug. 9.—Father John J. O'Leary, of Scranton, Pa., chaplain of a regiment engaged on the Marne and Vesle fronts, has brought to Paris a silver ciborium and a gold chalice, such as are found in every Roman Catholic church in France, the former containing cigarette ashes and the latter some dregs of ill-smelling beer. These were placed on the desk of Monsignor Connolly, head of the Roman Catholic chaplains with the Knights of Columbia, and photographed as evidence of the outrages committed against French churches by the German invaders.

Father O'Leary said that Sergeant Hawkins, of Alabama, when he led a platoon into a captured dugout, found vestments, statues, candlebrabs, paintings and a ciborium, the latter having been used as a beer can. All about were unmistakable signs of the most cruel desecration. Many churches will show this exhibit as evidence of German depravity.

SEES NECESSITY

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—F. B. Carvell, Minister of Public Works, in an interview today takes a very serious view of the fuel situation in Canada and advocates strongly the temporary importation of coolie labor as the solution of the problem. The labor question has been before the cabinet repeatedly this summer, but there is ground for the belief that in methods for solving the difficulty which are presented the ministers do not exactly see eye to eye.

"There is likely to be untold suffering in the country next winter for lack of fuel," declared Mr. Carvell today. "The situation is that miners are working only about seventy-five per cent of the time, and getting such big wages that they can afford to loaf the rest of the time. There are industrial plants in Canada which do not know where their power is coming from next winter. This applies to steel plants.

"What is the remedy? I would put ten thousand Chinamen at work in coal mines, steel plants and rail construction gangs, put where they can be segregated, and of course have them under indenture to go back when the war is over. This is what they are doing in England and France. Why not Canada?

"There is time enough between now and next winter to do a lot and produce sufficient fuel to obviate a very threatening situation. It may not be popular to advocate action as I do, but this is no time for pussy footing."

LAD STRANGELY STRANGLED TO DEATH

Waterloo, Aug. 7.—Clarence Meyer, aged nineteen years, was found strangled to death on the top floor of the Waterloo Manufacturing Co.'s plant this afternoon with a rope about his neck. The manner in which the fatal accident occurred is a mystery. He was a son of Alfred Meyer, employed at the same place. Coroner J. H. Webb was called and decided that an inquest was unnecessary, but at the same time was satisfied that the young man had met his death accidentally while playing with the rope. There was nothing to indicate that he deliberately committed suicide. Fellow-employees declare that young Meyer habitually played with the rope which caused his death.

CONVERT PLANTS TO WORK OF WAR

Washington, Aug. 10.—Manufacturers of passenger automobiles were advised by the War Industries Board today to convert their plants to one hundred per cent war work as rapidly as possible and to place them on that basis no later than January 1, 1919, in a letter addressed to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. In no other way, the letter stated, could they be assured of the continuance of their industry or the preservation of their organization.

Intimation was given that non-compliance with the edict of the war industries board would result in the cutting off of the steel supply.

Public Notice

A great scarcity of fuel will exist in this province during the coming winter, due to the fact that the supply of Anthracite Coal depended upon from the United States will be very materially cut down, also on account of the demands of the war, the output from the Nova Scotia coal fields will be reduced by many thousands of tons, it will be necessary to have the greatest quantity of hardwood possible for fuel, to meet the requirements of the people of the Province.

It will add materially to the sale and distribution of available hardwood, and that which will be available for the fall and winter months, if holders or owners of such hardwood, ready for loading on cars or vessels, will communicate with this office stating amounts, prices and facilities for loading, so that those who are inquiring for this form of fuel, may have means of obtaining information. ## SHEEP ON EVERY HILL SIDE IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

The New Brunswick Government through the Department of Agriculture has arranged with the Chartered Banks to help the Farmers—where assistance is needed—to buy Sheep.

The Department will not only arrange to buy Sheep FOR the Farmers, but will also buy good breeders FROM the Farmers—in other words, this branch of the Agricultural Department WILL SUPERVISE ALL PURCHASES AND SALES OF SHEEP.

IF A FARMER NEEDS CREDIT TO BUY SHEEP he should consult his local banker who has the necessary forms.

If you cannot buy sheep in your locality, inform the nearest banker who will notify the Agricultural Department, or, better still, notify the Department yourself and say how many Sheep you want.

KEEP YOUR EWE LAMBS

Every Ewe Lamb, weighing 80 pounds and over and of reasonable quality, should be retained by farmers for breeding purposes. Sell the males and the inferior females for butcher purposes. If you have more ewe lambs than required, induce your neighbor to purchase.

THE VALUE OF WOOL

Unwashed Wool of the best quality brought 80 cents a pound this spring, or about $5.00 a fleece.

SIXTY MILLION SHEEP

Have been lost in Europe since the war started. Wool in enormous quantities is now required to clothe the soldiers, it will take an immense quantity to reclothe the returned men in civilian dress. Prices will likely be high for ten years.

New Brunswick has the pasture, hay, root and a climate suited to Sheep. Every farmer should consider investing in a small flock as a foundation. The first year will give approximately $4.00 worth of wool per sheep, the sheep will cost about $15.00. Is it not a good business proposition?

If you cannot purchase locally, place your order with your banker. Orders will be filled, if possible, in the order filed at this office through the banks.

J. E. SPENCEDALE, Minister of Agriculture.

MORE THAN 20,000 PRISONERS TAKEN

Paris, Aug. 10.—Many more than twenty thousand prisoners have been captured by the Allies, the Havas Agency reports the newspapers as saying.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 9. (By the Associated Press)

The French continued their progress northwest of Montdidier today, reaching the line Courtemanche-Pierpont-Hangest and increasing the number of prisoners to 4,000 including three colonels with their complete staffs.

So quick did the infantry push on with the supporting tanks that the colonels were caught while putting on their leggings. The soldiers, captured manifested joy that the war was over for them and pounced upon the provisions given them like famished men. The officers showed ill-humor, and grumbled because they had to walk to the rear and could not ride.

The resistance of the enemy infantry and machine gun detachments appeared stronger to-day on the French sector. The reaction of the enemy's artillery was relatively more feeble than on Thursday. The French took a number of guns, which at once were turned against the enemy. The booty captured by the French was large, but naturally less than that captured by the British.

Public Laws

In order to satisfy the demand by the public in general for information relative to the crown land, automobile and health laws, the provincial government has placed in the hands of J. B. Jones, registrar of vital statistics, a number of pamphlets, copies of which may be had by those interested.

THE IRISH BRIGADE.

Sir Roger Casement Could Not Secure Treason.

Karlton Hackett recently gave out details of the lamentable failure of the late Sir Roger Casement to recruit an army from Irish prisoners in German camps. Sir Roger was supplied with abundant money and empowered to offer the prisoners land, titles and anything else if they would join the invasion of England. After a long campaign, Sir Roger mustered a total of 46 men. These were provided with brilliant green uniforms and paraded through Berlin as "the advance guard of a mighty army" that was to co-operate with Germany in overthrowing the haughty Empire.

It was a hot day and the Irish "army" was hungry and thirsty. The parade had not moved a half-block until a beer stove hove in sight and the column of fours made a hasty break for it. They had been cooped up in prison camps, for months without air liquor and an opportunity was not to be overlooked. There were many such stops during the parade, which, by the way, was never allowed, for the Irish, after about the twelfth stop, showed rising temperature.

One gigantic red-headed Turk put the question to his fellows, who were no longer marching in columns by this time: "For why should we be doing the dirty work of the dirty Dutch when we are fact, respectable Irish boys? To hell with the Dutch and be damned to him."

The "army" staggered along a few steps further, with this idea sinking in and suddenly the Irish gathered in a circle in the middle of the street and with one accord and at the top of their voices yelled, "God Save the King." They continued to sing till the scandalized police arrested the entire "army" and hustled it back to the prison camps.

GIRLS WILL PICK SPHAGNUM MOSS

New Brunswick Samples Found to Grade Exceptionally High.

Mr. Wm. MacIntosh who is the chairman of the New Brunswick Branch of the Red Cross Committee on Sphagnum moss dressings, returned on Wednesday from Sussex. Mr. MacIntosh spent Thursday in St. George and vicinity looking for possible moss bogs. On Monday he will leave with a party of between fifty and sixty "pickers" who will go first to Ludgate Lake and then on to other bogs where the moss is known to exist in quantity and quality. The three thousand bags recently secured through the interest of several generous citizens, form part of the equipment of this unique camping party. The moss will be sent to St. John as rapidly as possible and it is hoped that every assistance possible will be extended these workers who are enlisted on behalf of the Red Cross.

It is of interest to know that in a letter recently received by Mr. MacIntosh from Dr. Porter, who is in charge of the entire work of the sphagnum moss committees in Canada, he wrote of the excellence of the moss sent from New Brunswick and also announced his intention of forwarding sufficient material at once for the manufacture of one hundred thousand dressings. This side of the work is already under way and the first lot of completed dressings will be before long shipped from St. John to Toronto for sterilization.—Clab.

DO NOT NEGLECT YOUR EYES

We hear much of people who sacrifice everything to sartorial splendor. They would go without dinner every day for a new pair of shoes.

Sacrificing health for appearance is not good policy—it does not make for health a real happiness.

Not only do you squint and frown when you neglect your eyes, but you seriously injure your health.

Better have a careful examination made.

(Sherbrooke, Que., Record Aug. 8.)
"On the French Invasion" was the subject of a sermon preached to the volunteers by the Rev. Sydney Smith in the summer of 1894. The worshippers were greatly troubled over the future of their native land, but Sydney Smith, in the name of the honor fast, and bade his hearers be of good cheer in the noble words of the following tribute to our country: "I believe more heroes will spring up in the hour of danger than all the military and naval heroes of modern Europe have ever produced. Into the hands of God then, and his ever-merciful Son, we cast ourselves, and walk in humble patience the result. First we ask for victory, but if that cannot be, we have only one other prayer—we implore for death."

Rhodes Scholarships.
The trustees of Oxford University have decided to postpone all further election to scholarships. This will not, however, interfere with the holding of the qualifying examination in the United States or in Canada where qualification is not obtained through affiliation of local universities with the University of Oxford.

For 1917-1918, there are at present eight Rhodes scholars in residence—six Colonial and two American.

Cancelled German Rhodes scholarships have been allotted, one to the Transvaal, one to the Orange Free State, one to Alberta and Saskatchewan, and one to Kimberley and Port Elizabeth alternately.

Tea is a Food.
In recent prosecutions of persons infringing the British Food and Drug Act, the Ministry of Food the London magistrates often found themselves in a quandary whether tea was food under the order, some convicted, while others refused to support the Ministry. A test case, where a child died that tea is not food, quashed the conviction. The Ministry has amended the order, making the expression: "Article of food to include every article used for food by man or entering into the composition of human food, including tea, coffee and cocoa."

MARITIME PREMIERS TO MEET.
In the course of his conversation with the new P. E. Island telephone wire Saturday morning, Premier Foster arranged with Premier Arsenault for a conference of Maritime Province premiers at Halifax on August 27th to consider matter of mutual interest. This was a peculiarly appropriate use to make of the new direct connection.
